By-Laws, Southern Conference for Human Welfare

(Adopted January 26, 1946)

Article I. Name

Section 1. Name.

This corporation shall be known as the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, hereinafter referred to as "the corporation."

Article II. Purpose and Policy

Section 1. Purpose and policy.

The purpose of the corporation shall be to promote the general welfare and to improve the economic, social, political, cultural, and spiritual conditions of the people of the South without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin.

Article III. Authority

Section 1. Authority.

Authority for the corporation shall reside in its southwide membership.

Article IV. Membership

Section 1. Members.

Membership in the corporation shall be open to any resident of one of the following southern states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, South Carolina, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. Any such person may become a member of the corporation by joining a state committee affiliated with the corporation as provided in Article XVII. In those states where no such committee exists, any such person may become a member-at-large of the corporation by signing an application for membership, the form of which shall be determined by the Board of Representatives, and by paying dues as prescribed in Section 3 of this Article. Except in this Article both are referred to herein as "members."

Section 2. Associates.

Any person who is not a resident of one of the states enumerated in Section 1 of this Article may become an associate of the corporation by joining a committee for the South affiliated with the corporation as provided in Article XVIII. In those areas where no such committee exists, any such person may become an associate-at-large of the corporation in the same manner as that provided for members-at-large. Except in this Article both are referred to herein as "associates."

Section 3. Dues.

Per capita dues of members and associates of the corporation shall be one dollar ($1.00) annually, to be paid by affiliated committees. Per capita dues of members-at-large and associates-at-large shall be two dollars ($2.00) annually, to be paid directly to the corporation.

Section 4. Revocation of membership.

A member-at-large or an associate-at-large may be suspended or expelled from membership by the Board of Representatives, after due hearing by the Board, for violation of membership obligations subscribed to in his application for membership. Such member or associate shall have the right of appeal to the Conference under rules adopted by the Conference.

Article V. Membership Conferences

Section 1. Date, place, call, notification.

Southwide conferences of members of the corporation shall be held biennially. Special conferences may be held at the discretion of the Board of Representatives. The Board shall determine the date and place of each conference and shall mail notice thereof to each member, associate, and affiliated committee at the last known address of each at least sixty days prior to each Biennial Conference and thirty days prior to each Special Conference.

Section 2. Composition.

Conferences of the corporation shall be composed of members and associates.

Section 3. Participation.

Each member and associate of the corporation shall have the privilege of the floor. Members of the corporation, as of record in the headquarters of the corporation sixty days prior to a Biennial Conference and thirty days prior to a Special Conference, shall be entitled to vote through delegates of their choice as provided in Article VII. Associates shall be without vote.

Section 4. Program.

The Biennial Conference shall, in the manner provided in Article VIII, adopt a program to be supported by the corporation during the ensuing biennial period. The program shall consist of broad objectives, the detailed plans for carrying it forward to be left to the Board of Representatives.

Section 5. Budget.

The Biennial Conference shall adopt a budget for each of the ensuing two years in the manner provided in Article VIII. The Board of Representatives shall at all times have authority to enlarge the budget if increased funds become available to the corporation.

Section 6. Officers and Board of Representatives.

The Biennial Conference shall, in the manner provided in Article IX, elect a President, six Vice-Presidents, and 21 additional members to serve on the Board of Representatives of the corporation. Such conference may elect an honorary President.

Article VI. Nominating Committee

Section 1. Nominating committee.

A nominating committee of five, one of whom shall be designated as chairman, shall be appointed by the Board of Representatives at least sixty days in advance of each Biennial Conference. No member of the Board of Representatives or of the Staff shall be eligible to serve on this committee.

Article VII. Delegates and Alternates

Section 1. Enumeration.

Each southern state enumerated in Article IV, Section 1, shall be entitled to one delegate and an alternate for each 25, or fraction in excess thereof, members of the corporation in that state as of record in the headquarters of the corporation sixty days prior to a Biennial Conference and thirty days prior to a Special Conference; provided, however, this ratio may be changed by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Representatives of the corporation not less than sixty days prior to a Biennial Conference and thirty days prior to a Special Conference.

Section 2. Election.

In each state where a committee affiliated with the corporation exists, the delegates and alternates from that state to each Biennial Conference and Special Conference shall be elected by such committee. In each state where 25 or more members of the corporation reside and where no committee affiliated with the corporation exists, the Board of Representatives of the corporation shall assume the responsibility for having a meeting of the members in that state called before each Biennial Conference and Special Conference, in order that such members may have the opportunity to elect delegates and alternates from that state to such conferences, provided, however, no such meeting attended by less than ten such members shall conduct such an election.

Article VIII. Adoption of Program and Budget

Section 1. Proposed program.

A proposed program, as described in Article V, Section 4, shall be formulated by the Board of Representatives and submitted by it to each member, associate, and affiliated committee of the corporation not later than eight weeks before each Biennial Conference, inviting comment and proposed changes in writing not later than three weeks before such conference. The proposed program shall be reconsidered by the Board in advance of the Conference, in the light of such comments and proposed changes.

Section 2. Adoption of program.

The proposed program as finally agreed upon by the Board shall be posted in the meeting hall at the first session of the Conference and shall be submitted by the Board to the Conference at a session in advance of that at which it is up for adoption. The program shall be considered and voted upon item by item and adoption shall be by majority vote. The Conference itself may add items to the program which the Board has considered but rejected, provided 1) such reconsideration is ordered by a majority vote of the Conference, 2) at least one hour intervenes between the introduction of and the vote upon such items, and 3) each such item is adopted by majority vote.

Section 3. Adoption of budget.

A proposed budget, as described in Article V, Section 5, shall be formulated by the Board of Representatives. Such budget shall be posted in the meeting hall at the first session of the Conference and shall be submitted by the Board to the Conference at a session in advance of that at which it is up for adoption. The budget shall be considered item by item and adoption shall be by majority vote.

Article IX. Nomination and Election of Officers and Board Members

Section 1. Qualification.

Only members of the corporation shall be elected as officers of the corporation or to the Board of Representatives. No member of the staff shall serve on the Board.

Section 2. Nomination.

The nominating committee shall issue a call not later than eight weeks in advance of each Biennial Conference to all members and affiliated state committees of the corporation for nominations for President, six Vice-Presidents, and 21 members of the Board of Representatives, such nominations to be received not later than three weeks prior to the Conference. The nominating committee itself may make nominations. The committee shall ask all members so nominated to indicate whether they will serve if elected.

Section 3. Election.

A list of those members so nominated who have agreed to serve if elected shall be posted by the nominating committee in the meeting hall at the first session of the Conference. Nominations made by the nominating committee itself shall be so indicated, and shall include at least one nominee from each state not having ex officio representation on the Board of Representatives. The nominating committee shall present the list of nominees to the Conference, together with the committee's recommendations, at a session in advance of that at which the election is to be held. At the time of such presentation, call shall be made for additional nominations from the floor, such nominations to be limited to those who have agreed to serve if elected. The election shall be by secret ballot, under rules adopted by the Board, to determine the President, the six Vice-Presidents, and 21 members of the Board of Representatives. The Board of Representatives, as enumerated in Article XI, Section 1, shall itself elect a secretary, a treasurer, and a parliamentarian of the corporation from among those Board members elected by the Conference, as prescribed in Article X, Section 1. An honorary president of the corporation may be elected upon nomination by the Board of Representatives and a four-fifths vote of a Biennial Conference only.

Article X. Officers

Section 1. Enumeration.

The officers of the corporation shall consist of an honorary president, if any be chosen pursuant to Article IX, Section 3; a president; six vice-presidents; a secretary; a treasurer, and a parliamentarian. The President and the six Vice-Presidents shall be elected in accordance with Article IX. The Board of Representatives itself shall elect the Secretary, the Treasurer and the Parliamentarian from among its members elected by the Conference; the election shall be by secret ballot, the ballot to be furnished each voting member of the Board, who shall be given ten days to vote thereon.

Section 2. Terms.

The terms of officers shall run concurrently with the two-year interim between biennial meetings of the Conference and until their successors are elected. All officers shall be eligible for re-election.

Section 3. President.

The President shall preside at all meetings of the corporation and of the Board of Representatives, unless he shall designate some member of the Board to preside in his stead. Between such meetings, he shall have the responsibility of representing the corporation, of interpreting its policies, of advising with the administrator, of seeing that the corporation's policies are faithfully executed, and of reporting to the Board at the next meeting any deviations from such policies. He shall be, ex officio, a member of all committees and councils established by the corporation. He may, in the absence or disability of the Treasurer, sign or endorse checks, drafts, and notes.

Section 4. Vice-Presidents.

One of the Vice-Presidents, so designated in advance by the Board, shall, in the event of the absence, disability, or death of the President, possess all the powers and perform all the duties of that office until the office of President is filled. The Vice-Presidents shall perform such other duties as the Board of Representatives may designate.

Section 5. Secretary

The Secretary shall be responsible for the keeping of minutes of all Conferences and of all meetings of the Board of Representatives. He shall sign, with the President, all contracts and other legal instruments when so authorized by the Board of Representatives, and shall perform such other functions as may be assigned to his office.

Section 6. Treasurer.

The Treasurer shall receive and account for all monies. He shall be custodian of these funds and shall disburse the same only as authorized by the Board of Representatives. He shall present a financial statement to the Board of Representatives at each meeting of the Board, an annual report to members, associates, and affiliated committees, and a biennial report to the Biennial Conference. The books of the Treasurer shall be audited by a certified public accountant annually and immediately prior to each Biennial Conference. The Treasurer shall give bond in such amount as determined by the Board.

Section 7. Parliamentarian.

The parliamentarian shall rule on questions of parliamentary procedure and interpretation of the provisions of these by-laws. His rulings shall prevail unless overridden by majority vote of the body before which such a ruling is given. He shall be responsible for calling to the attention of the Board of Representatives any violation of these by-laws and for reporting same to the membership of the corporation at the next Conference if such violations are continued.

Section 8. Vacancies.

Vacancies occurring among the officers between Biennial Conferences shall by secret ballot be filled for the unexpired term by the remaining members of the Board of Representatives, the ballot to be furnished each voting member thereof, who shall be given 10 days to vote thereon.

Article XI. Board of Representatives

Section 1. Enumeration.

The Board of Representatives shall consist of the officers and the 21 members elected by the Conference in accordance with Article IX; and the chairman of each affiliated state committee, or in his stead someone selected by him, serving ex officio with vote. The Board itself may appoint not more than 10 associates to serve as members of the Board in an advisory capacity without vote. The officers of the corporation, enumerated in Article X, Section 1, shall serve also as officers of the Board.

Section 2. Authority.

The Board shall have power, between meetings of the Conference, to take any action not inconsistent with the charter and by-laws of the corporation and with the actions taken by the Conference. The Board shall have full charge of the property and business of the corporation, with power and authority to manage the same, subject to the instructions of the Conference.

Section 3. Terms.

The terms of members of the Board shall run concurrently with the two year interim between Biennial Conferences and until their successors are elected. Board members shall be eligible for re-election. When any member of the Board misses three consecutive regular Board meetings, his post on the Board shall automatically become vacant, and he shall thereupon be so notified by the Secretary.

Section 4. Meetings.

Regular meetings of the Board shall be held quarterly at a time established by the Board. Special meetings may be called by the President. A majority of the members of the Board may in writing request the President to hold a meeting of the Board within two weeks after receiving such request, and if he fails to do so may themselves, in his stead, convene the Board with notice as provided in Section 5 of this Article.

Section 5. Notice of meetings.

Notice of meetings shall be sent by the Secretary to each member of the Board not later than thirty days in advance of such meetings, except as further provided in this Section. In cases of emergency, notice of special meetings may be given by wire or telephone to each member of the Board and such meetings held if a quorum can attend. Notice of a meeting to be held immediately thereafter may be given at a Conference and the meeting held if a quorum can attend.

Section 6. Quorum.

One-fourth of the voting members of the Board present and voting shall constitute a quorum, and no official action except to adjourn shall be taken in the absence thereof. No proxies shall be recognized.

Section 7. Vacancies.

Vacancies on the Board occurring between Biennial Conferences shall by secret ballot be filled for the unexpired term by the remaining members of the Board, the ballot to be furnished each voting member thereof, who shall be given ten days to vote thereon.

Article XII. Staff

Section 1. Enumeration.

The staff of the corporation shall consist of an administrator and such administrative associates, administrative assistants, and secretarial and clerical personnel as may be consistent with the corporation's current budget.

Section 2. Authority.

Authority shall reside in the Administrator for administering the work of the corporation after plans therefor have been approved by the Board of Representatives. He shall be responsible to the Board, as a whole.

Section 3. Administrator, appointment, term, responsibility.

The Administrator shall be appointed by the Board of Representatives and shall serve during the pleasure of the Board. He shall have responsibility for administering the work of the corporation under the direction of the Board as a whole. He shall be expected to exercise leadership in making proposals to the Board for developing the work of the corporation. He shall appoint the administrative associates and assistants subject to confirmation by the Board. He shall have full authority in employing secretarial and clerical personnel consistent with the current budget of the corporation.

Section 4. Fiscal powers.

The Administrator may, upon the grant of such authority by the Board of Representatives, sign checks on behalf of the corporation against a special banking account established for that purpose. Upon his recommendation and favorable action by the Board, similar authority may be granted to administrative associates designated by him. Each person granted such authority shall give bond in the same manner required of the Treasurer in Article X, Section 6.

Article XIII. Financial Administration

Section 1. Fiscal year.

The fiscal year of the corporation shall be the calendar year.

Section 2. Administration of funds.

All funds and assets of the corporation shall be in the custody of the Treasurer, who shall administer them in accordance with Article X, Section 6, except as provided in Article XII, Section 4.

Article XIV. Headquarters

Section 1. Headquarters.

The headquarters of the corporation shall be located in one of the southern states enumerated in Article IV, Section 1, the city to be selected by the Board of Representatives. Branch offices may be established in the discretion of the Board.

Article XV. Special Committees

Section 1. Special committees.

Special committees may be created either by the Board of Representatives or by the Conference itself. The resolution establishing such a committee shall define its function, the period of time it shall exist, and the manner in which its members shall be appointed.

Article XVI. Advisory Council

Section 1. Advisory council.

The Board of Representatives may appoint an advisory council of not more than 150 members. Their terms shall run concurrently with those of members of the Board. Meetings of the Council may be held upon call of the President.

Article XVII. Affiliated State Committees

Section 1. Enumeration.

One state committee in each of the southern states enumerated in Article IV, Section 1, may become recognized as an affiliate of the corporation in the manner prescribed in Section 5 of this Article. Each member of such committee, by virtue of such membership, shall be a member of the corporation and dues therefor shall be paid by the affiliated state committee as prescribed in Article IV, Section 3.

Section 2. Ex officio representation.

The chairman of each affiliated state committee, or in his stead someone selected by him, shall serve ex officio, with vote, on the Board of Representatives of the Corporation. The administrator of each such committee shall serve ex officio on the staff of the corporation.

Section 3. Responsibility of the corporation to affiliated state committees.

The corporation may assist affiliated state committees by making annual grants to them, the amount of such grants to be determined by the Board of Representatives. It shall offer such other assistance to affiliated state committees as may be determined by the Board of Representatives.

Section 4. Responsibility of affiliated state committees to the corporation.

A state committee shall adopt the general principles and purposes of the corporation upon affiliation with it. The objectives adopted by members of the corporation at a Biennial Conference and placed by them on the corporation's active program, as well as action taken on specific legislation by the Board of Representatives in implementation thereof, shall not be publicly opposed by an affiliated state committee, though such committee shall not be required to give its support to each such objective and Board action.

Section 5. Recognition of affiliation.

Affiliation of a state committee shall become effective upon written request by the governing body of such committee to the Board of Representatives of the corporation and the Board's issuance of a certificate of affiliation. Such request shall be accompanied by the constitution and by-laws of the state committee. A condition of affiliation shall be agreement by the state committee to the following: a) its membership shall be open to any resident of such state; b) it shall not incorporate without approval of the Board of Representatives of the corporation, and any amendment to its charter shall be subject to such approval; c) amendments to its constitution and by-laws shall be subject to review and approval by the Board of Representatives of the corporation; d) appointment of its administrator shall be subject to such approval; and e) in case of severance of affiliation with the corporation, it shall adhere to the provisions contained in Sections 7 and 8 of this Article.

Section 6. Termination of affiliation by the corporation.

The Board of Representatives of the corporation may revoke the certificate of affiliation of a state committee for non-fulfillment of the affiliation provisions contained in these by-laws or of other written agreements mutually arrived at by the corporation and affiliated state committees, or for ineffectiveness of a state committee in the opinion of the Board of Representatives of the corporation; provided, however, such Board action shall require a two-thirds vote of the entire Board. Representatives of the governing body of an affiliated state committee shall be given sixty days notice in writing and the right to appear before the Board of Representatives of the corporation if revocation of the certificate of affiliation of such committee is to be considered by the Board, and in case of such revocation shall have the right of appeal to the membership of the corporation at the next Conference. Termination of affiliation shall not become effective until a state committee has had the opportunity of such appeal.

Section 7. Termination of affiliation by a State Committee.

A state committee may sever its affiliation with the corporation at any annual meeting of such committee, provided that notice of such proposal has been contained in the call of such meeting. Representatives of the Board of the corporation shall be permitted to appear before the governing body of such committee and before its membership at any meeting to consider such severance.

Section 8. Effect of termination of affiliation.

A state committee whose affiliation with the corporation has been terminated shall no longer use the name under which it has operated as an affiliate of the corporation, and individual members in the affected state shall automatically become members at large of the corporation. Upon such termination of affiliation, title to all tangible property acquired by the affected state committee shall be vested in the corporation, unless otherwise specifically authorized by the Board of Representatives of the corporation.

Section 9. Youth Chapters.

The Board of Representatives shall encourage state committees to establish youth chapters on campuses, in high schools, and in other community groups, membership in which shall not be denied to any person because of race, creed, color, or national origin.

Article XVIII. Committees for the South

Section 1. Committees for the South.

Where a number of associates of the corporation reside in a particular area, they shall be encouraged to form a committee for the South in that area, affiliated with the corporation. Such committee shall assist in financing the work conducted by the corporation in the South and undertake promotional projects to this end; may render assistance in the field of research and in compiling and supplying materials to the Board of Representatives on projects undertaken by the corporation; and may undertake such other activities as the Board of Representatives may request or approve. Such committee shall operate under by-laws approved by the Board of Representatives of the corporation. Sections 1, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of Article XVII shall apply to committees for the South in the same manner as they apply to affiliated state committees.

Article XIX. Limitation of Authority

Section 1. Limitation of authority.

No committee or council established in the manner provided in Articles XV, XVI, XVII, and XVIII shall have authority to act in the name of the corporation except as provided in said Articles.

Article XX. Dissolution

Section 1. Dissolution.

In the event of a dissolution of the corporation, all property of the corporation, of whatsoever nature, shall be disposed of by the Board of Representatives in such manner as it deems appropriate.

Article XXI. Parliamentary Authority

Section 1. Parliamentary authority.

The rules contained in Robert's Rules of Order Revised shall govern the corporation wherever applicable and not inconsistent with its charter and these by-laws.

Article XXII. Amendments

Section 1. Amendments.

Any amendment to these by-laws may be proposed by any ten members of the corporation, who shall submit in writing the text thereof to the President. The President shall forthwith transmit the same to the Board of Representatives, who shall consider it at a meeting held within ninety days after the President receives it. After such meeting, if the proposed amendment has been approved by four of the voting members of the Board, the Board shall send the proposed amendment, with a recommendation that it should or should not be passed, to each member, associate, and affiliated committee of the corporation at least thirty days prior to the next Conference occurring more than forty-five days after such meeting of the Board. Such Conference may by a two-thirds vote adopt such amendment.

Article XXIII. Effective Date

Section 1. Effective date.

These by-laws shall become immediately effective upon adoption, except that the first officers provided for in Article X, Section 1, and the first Board of Representatives provided for in Article XI, Section 1, shall at once be nominated from the floor and elected by voice vote of the members present to serve until a Biennial Conference can be held hereunder.

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

212½ Union St. • Nashville 3, Tennessee • Telephone 6-2447

Officers: DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM, Honorary President; DR. CLARK H. FOREMAN, President; PAUL R. CHRISTOPHER, ROSCOE DUNGEE, MRS. CLIFFORD S. DURR, WILLIAM MITCH, HOLLIS V. REID, Vice-Chairman; TARLETON COLLIER, Secretary; DR. ALVA W. TAYLOR, Treasurer; MISS JOSEPHINE WILKINS, Parliamentarian; DR. JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI, Administrator.

Board of Representatives: MRS. MARY MCLEOD BETHUNE, LOUIS BURNHAM, MRS. CHARLOTTE HAWKINS BROWN, JOHN P. DAVIS, HELEN FULLER, REV. F. CLYDE HELMS, DR. CHARLES S. JOHNSON, ROY R. LAWRENCE, MISS LUCY R. MASON, DR. GEORGE S. MITCHELL, REV. A. T. MOLLEGEN, MORTIMER MAY, DR. F. D. PATTERSON, M. C. PLUNK, FRANK PROHL, DR. IRA DE A. REID, MISS LILLIAN E. SMITH, REV. JOHN B. THOMPSON. Associates: SAMUEL RODMAN, DR. CHANNING TOBIAS, DR. PALMER WEBER. Ex-Officio: REV. CARTER H. HARRISON, REV. LEE C. SHEPPARD, REV. ARNOLD SLATER, COMMANDER FRANK W. SPENCER.

The Committee for Alabama
921 Massey Building
Birmingham, Alabama

Officers and Executive Board: SAM J. HALL, Chairman; MALCOLM COTTON DOBBS, Executive Secretary; LOUIS BURNHAM, MRS. MARY LEE EMERSON, CAREY HAIGLER, EDWARD HUNVALD, MRS. ADA LEE HOWELL, WILLIAM MITCH, REV. CARSON PRITCHARD, REV. ANDREW TURNIPSEED, REV. WILLIAM VARNADO, HOMER WILSON.

The Committee for Georgia
502 Chamber of Commerce Building
Atlanta, Georgia

Officers and Board of Representatives: COMMANDER FRANK W. SPENCER, Chairman; MRS. HARRY M. GERSHON, DR. BENJAMIN E. MAYS, GLENN W. RAINEY, Vice Chairmen; H. H. DUDLEY, DR. D. F. FOLGER, BISHOP W. A. FOUNTAIN, SR., DR. F. D. FUNDERBURG, DR. RALPH MARK GILBERT, CHARLES H. GILLMAN, JOHN A. GRIFFIN, MRS. GRACE TOWNS HAMILTON, CHAUNCEY R. HUDSON, THOMAS W. JOHNSON, REV. M. ASHBY JONES, ARMAND MAY, FRANK PROHL, MRS. HATTIE M. REESE, REV. WALTER D. ROBERTS, LILLIAN SMITH, RABBI SYLVAN D. SCHWARTZMAN, MRS. W. A. SCOTT, SR., DR. H. B. TRIMBLE, DR. C. V. TROUP, MAJOR RAY B. WARE, REV. DAVID CADY WRIGHT.

The Committee for Louisiana (In formation)

Acting Executive Committee: FRANK C. BANCROFT, FERDINAND L. ROUSSEVE, Co-Chairmen; HASKET DERBY, ISAAC HELLER, ROBERT D. FEILD, CARMELITA JANVIER, ALVIN H. JONES, JACK KAMAIKO, HAROLD N. LEE, LOUISE MEYERS, FRED PEIPER, ELIZABETH RAYMOND, MARY RAYMOND, BERNARD F. ROBINSON, PAUL SCHULER. Nominating Committee: DR. A. E. MACDONALD, MRS. IRVING GOLDSTEIN, DR. B. V. BARANCO, MRS. PAUL BLANCHARD, PROF. E. DUN, MRS. J. S. MAY, CLIFTON MOUTON, PROF. J. K. HAYNES, DR. J. C. ROY, MRS. A. W. DENT, MRS. MOISE CAHN, CLAYTON FRITCHEY, ARTHUR PERRAULT, ERNEST DELPIT, MRS. ISOBEL GRAY, RAYMOND TILLMAN, RABIN MONROE, CLAUDE PITCHFORD, DR. A. C. TERRENCE, DR. DEWEY DONATA, DR. FELTON G. CLARK, DR. FRANCIS HAMMOND, E. LIEGE WILLIAMS, DR. E. W. DUNCAN, RABBI E. W. LEIPZIGER, MRS. BARBARA THEIS, GEORGIA MITCHELL, Executive Secretary.

The Committee for Virginia
2 North 9th Street
Richmond, Virginia

Officers and Executive Board: REV. CARTER HARRISON, Chairman; DR. LUTHER P. JACKSON, MRS. CLIFFORD S. DURR, Vice-Chairman; MRS. VIVIAN CARTER MASON, Secretary; ALFRED R. LEISERSON, Treasurer; MRS. VIRGINIA BEECHER, Executive Secretary; DR. GERALD AKERS, MISS MARTHA J. COLEMAN, PROFFESSOR W. M. COOPER, DR. L. C. DOWNING, EDGAR S. FRALEY, JERRY O. GILLIAM, RABBI ARIEL GOLDBERG, MRS. ELSIE GREEN, GEORGE HARDMAN, MISS RUTH D. KOLLING, C. V. KELLEY, REV. JOHN G. MACKINNON, DR. L. F. PALMER, DAVID LEVINE, BOYD PAYTON, REV. W. L. RANSOME, DR. OREEN RUEDI, HOWARD ROBINSON, HORACE W. SHARP, MRS. ARNOLD STRAUSS, REV. CHARLES SYDNOR, JR., MISS LUCINDA TERRY, RAYMOND VALENTINE, MRS. REGINA WERMIEL, REV. WM. ARCHER WRIGHT, JR., P. B. YOUNG, RABBI BERNARD ZEIGER, CLIFFORD DOWDEY, JOE C. SPEIDEL, HENRY FOWLER.

The Committee for North Carolina
115 Church Street
Greensboro, North Carolina

Officers and Executive Council: REV. LEE C. SHEPPARD, Chairman; CHARLOTTE HAWKINS BROWN, SEN. LAWRENCE H. WALLACE, Vice-Chairmen; MISS MARY PRICE, Secretary-Treasurer; PRES. ROBERT P. DANIEL, C. A. FINK, PRES. FRANK P. GRAHAM, H. D. LISK, GERTRUDE WEIL, H. E. WITHERS.

The Committee for Tennessee
212½ Union Street
Nashville, Tennessee

Officers and Executive Board: REV. ARNOLD SLATER, Chairman; DR. O. B. TAYLOR, Vice-Chairman; WILLIAM G. CORNELIUS, Secretary-Treasurer; PROF. GODFREY TIETZE, REV. RICHARD R. BEASLEY, JAMES F. ESTES, RABBI JULIUS MARK, REV. EUGENE SMATHERS, MRS. BERNICE MORRISON.

The New York Committee
112 Park Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Officers and Executive Committee: MRS. JOHN HAMMOND, JR., DR. CHANNING H. TOBIAS, Co-Chairmen; MICHAEL M. NISSELSON, Treasurer; MRS. PAUL TISHMAN, Secretary; MISS BRANSON PRICE Executive Secretary; C. B. BALDWIN, FRANK C. BANCROFT, LEONARD BERNSTEIN, DR. W. RUSSELL BOWIE, MRS. CHARLES BUCHANAN, HENRIETTA BUCKMASTER, MRS. LEONARD CARL CARTWRIGHT, DR. DAN W. DODSON, WILLIAM FEINBERG, MRS. MARSHALL FIELD, CURTICE HITCHCOCK, DR. BRYN J. HOVDE, FRANK E. KARELSEN, JR., DR. WILLIAM H. KILPATRICK, MRS. MAX LERNER, EDWARD S. LEWIS, DR. EDUARD C. LINDEMAN, CLARENCE H. LOW, MRS. WILLIAM MCCLEERY, REV. JACK MCMICHAEL, MRS. HENRY LEE MOON, JEAN MUIR, DOROTHY PARKER, MRS. MARION PERRY, JACOB S. POTOFSKY, PAUL ROBESON, MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, MORRIS S. ROSENTHAL, THELMA STEVENS, W. J. TRENT, JR., JEROME UDELL, MRS. EDWARD M. M. WARBURG, F. PALMER WEBER.

The Washington Committee
935 G. Place, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Officers and Executive Committee: DR. JOSEPH L. JOHNSON, Chairman; JOHN BEECHER, Vice-Chairman; MRS. MADELINE DONNER, Secretary; JOHN P. ANDERSON, Treasurer; DR. RALPH BUNCHE, MRS. DOROTHY BOWLES, MRS. VIRGINIA DURR, MRS. LUCILLE EZEKIEL, DR. E. FRANKLIN FRAZIER, DR. DOROTHY BOULDING FEREBEE, MRS. MAME MASON HIGGINS, MRS. KATHRYN JOHNSON, BELFORD V. LAWSON, DR. R. E. R. LOVELL, MALCOLM ROSS, MRS. CARMELITE SMITH, ALFRED E. SMITH, MRS. ELIZABETH SASULY, SAMUEL RODMAN, MRS. MICHAEL STRAUS, CARLTON SKINNER, MRS. LUKE I. WILSON, ANN BERENSEN, HENRY BEITCHER, MRS. GERTRUDE RODMAN.

SCHW

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, Inc.

212½ Union Street

Nashville 3, Tennessee

July 30, 1946

President
Clark H. Foreman

Vice-Presidents
Rufus E. Clement
Helen Fuller

Secretary-Treasurer
Alva W. Taylor

Executive Secretary
James A. Dombrowski

Mary McLeod Bethune
Charlotte Hawkins Brown
Louis Burnham
Tarleton Collier
John P. Davis
F. Clyde Helms
Charles S. Johnson
Roy R. Lawrence
Lucy R. Mason
Mortimer May
George S. Mitchell
A. T. Mollegen
F. D. Patterson
M.C. Plunk
Frank Prohl
Ira DeA. Reid
Lillian Smith
John B. Thompson
Paul R. Christopher
Virginia Durr
Roscoe Dunjee
William Mitch
Hollis V. Reid

Memorandum to: Members of the Executive Board.

From: James A. Dombrowski

Subject: Executive Committee.

We have received 11 replies to our recent communication asking Board members to express their preference as to the number of members of the executive committee authorized by the Board of the SCEF at the Nashville meeting on May 28, 1946.

The returns were as follows:

3 members - 3 votes.
5 members - 7 votes.
7 members - 1 vote.

Will you kindly check 5 names on the list of Board members appearing down the side of this sheet, and thus cast your ballot for 5 members of an executive committee.

(Our auditor has completed his work on (our accounts for the period January 27-
(June 30 and a copy will be sent to you
(when it has been mimeographed.)

Check 5 names and return to
212½ Union Street

Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
Balance Sheets
June 30, 1946

Exhibit 1

ASSETS			SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Current Assets
Cash on Hand and in Banks:
Petty Cash			20.00		20.00
General Fund Bank Account			330.16		330.16
Legal Fund Bank Account			5.00		5.00
Special Fund Bank Account			5.80		5.80
New York Bank Account			888.98		888.98
Educational Fund Bank Account				1,414.44	1,414.44
Total Cash			1,249.94	1,414.44	2,664.38
Other Current Assets:
Accounts Receivable			300.00		300.00
Due From Other Funds			4,473.96
Total Current Assets			6,023.90	1,414.44	2,964.38
Fixed Assets
Office Furniture and Equipment:
	Cost	Depreciation
Nashville	2,531.47	247.22	2,284.25		2,284.25
New York	337.65	24.94	312.71		312.71
North Carolina	55.62	6.19	49.43		49.43
	2,294.74	278.35
Office Renovation		630.11
Amortization Reserve		101.64	578.47		578.47
Assets-Nat'l Comm. to Abolish Poll Tax			1,000.00		1,000.00
Total Fixed Assets			4,224.86		4,224.86
Deferred Assets:
Prepaid Bond Expense			70.84		70.84
Electrical Deposit			10.00		10.00
Deposit with Airlines			425.00		425.00
Total Deferred Assets			505.84		505.84
Total Assets			10,754.60	1,414.44	7,695.08

LIABILITIES AND NET WORTH

Liabilities
Accounts Payable	1,623.02	352.19	1,980.21
Outstanding Deposits	50.00		50.00
Accrued Salaries and Wages	104.17		104.17
Accrued Withholding Tax	595.40	23.80	619.20
Liabilities-Nat'l Comm. Abolish Poll Tax	7,024.16		7,024.16
Due Other Funds		4,473.96
	9,401.75	4,849.95	9,777.74
Surplus-See Schedule A	1,352.85	(-3,435.51)	(-2,082.66)
	10,754.60	1,414.44	7,695.08

Statement of Changes in Surplus
From January 26, 1946 to June 30, 1946

Schedule A

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Surplus Per Books-January 26,1946	7,679.51	69.36	7,748.87
Adjustments:
Additional Accounts Payable as of January 26,1946 found upon audit	1,862.82		1,862.82
Adjusted Surplus-January 26,1946	5,816.69	69.36	5,886.05
Assets and Liabilities of National Committee to Abolish Poll Tax assumed	6,024.16		6,024.16
Deficit before Operations	(-207.47)	69.36	(-138.11)
Operations:
Revenues:
Nashville-See Schedule B	19,413.54	1,601.16	21,014.70
New York-See Schedule C	11,762.79	5,820.53	17,583.32
State Committees -See Schedule D	3,074.91	1,150.00	4,224.91
Total Revenues	34,251.24	8,571.69	42,822.93
Expenditures:
Nashville	16,094.17	10,492.78	26,586.95
New York	3,430.60	1,521.31	4,951.91
State Committees	13,166.15	62.47	13,228.62
Total Expenditures	32,690.92	12,076.56	44,767.48
Results of Operations	1,560.32	(-3,504.87)	(-1,944.55)
Net Deficit on June 30, 1946	1,352.85	(-3,435.51)	(-2,082.66)

Nashville Revenues and Expenditures
For The Period January 27 - June 30, 1946

Schedule B

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Revenues
Contributions and Subscriptions-
Regular Receipts	6,950.37	100.00	7,050.37
Renewals	1,095.17		1,095.17
Bethune Meeting	118.00		118.00
Bilbo Appeal	125.00		125.00
Foundations and Funds	2,375.00	1,000.00	3,375.00
Unions	8,750.00		8,750.00
Total Regular Revenues	19,413.54	1,100.00	20,513.54
Special Revenues
Columbia Project-Receipts		3,528.70	3,528.70
Sale of Cards		140.76	140.76
Sale of Pamphlets		856.18	856.18
		4,525.64	4,525.64
Less-Expenditures		4,024.48	4,024.48
Net Special Revenues		501.16	501.16
Total Revenues	19,413.54	1,601.16	21,014.70
Expenditures
Administrative Expenses-See Schedule B-1	5,973.08	2,473.96	8,447.04
General Office Expense-See Schedule B-2	4,370.71	2,184.68	6,555.39
Promotion Expenses-See Schedule B-3	1,961.93	3,701.53	5,663.46
Activities Expenses-See Schedule B-4	3,788.45	2,132.61	5,921.06
Total Expenditures	16,094.17	10,492.78	26,586.95
Excess Revenues over Expenditures	3,319.37	(-8,891.62)	(-5,572.25)

Statement of Administrative Expenses
For The Period From January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule B-1

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
President's Fee	83.34		83.34
President's Salary	2,222.20	1,152.76	3,374.96
President's Expenses	739.52	369.70	1,109.22
Administrator's Salary	2,126.74	1,095.91	3,222.65
Administrator's Expenses	108.49	54.24	162.73
Travel Expense	442.48	220.73	663.21
Membership Meetings	5.50	5.50	11.00
Board Meeting Expense	135.13	196.49	331.62
Fidelity Bonds	8.05	4.01	12.06
Charter Recording	1.63	9.62	11.25
Auditing Expense	100.00	50.00	150.00
Total Administrative Expenses	5,973.08	3,158.96	9,132.04
Less-Amount Chargeable to Columbia Project:
Administrative Salaries		600.00
Administrative Travel		85.00
Total Credits		685.00	685.00
Net Administrative Expense	5,973.08	2,473.96	8,447.04

Statement of General Office Expenses-Nashville Office
For the Period from January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule B-2

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Salaries-See Schedule E-1	2,847.92	1,423.41	4,271.33
Rent	206.46	103.22	309.68
Janitor	88.00	44.00	132.00
Janitors Supplies	9.06	4.52	13.58
Other Cleaning	2.67	1.33	4.00
Electricity	22.69	11.34	34.03
Oil	12.77	6.37	19.14
Repairs	31.20	15.60	46.80
Office Supplies and Printing	157.15	78.58	235.73
Addressograph Supplies and Costs	175.04	87.51	262.55
Mimeograph Supplies and Costs	38.84	19.41	58.25
Postage and Expense	259.39	129.68	389.07
Telephone	394.60	197.30	591.90
Telegraph	29.44	14.71	44.15
Rental of Office Machines	8.67	4.33	13.00
Repairs to Office Equipment	7.34	3.66	11.00
Miscellaneous	(-28.58)	(-14.29)	(-42.87)
Books and Periodicals	30.00	15.00	45.00
Addressing Service Rendered	(-45.65)	(-22.82)	(-68.47)
Depreciation:
Furniture and Fixtures-Nashville	65.34	32.66	98.00
Office Renovation Amortization	58.36	29.16	87.52
Total General Office	4,370.71	2,184.68	6,555.39

Statement of Promotion Costs-Nashville Office
For The Period January 27 to June 30,1946

Schedule B-3

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Special Letters	43.74	204.87	248.61
Printing	105.68	52.83	158.51
Postage	28.00	14.00	42.00
Witherspoon Dodge:
Salary	1,088.53	544.25	1,632.78
Expenses	695.98	347.98	1,043.96
Osceola McKaine
Salary		1,632.78	1,632.78
Expenses		904.82	904.82
Total Promotion Costs	1,961.93	3,701.53	5,663.46

Statement of Activities Cost
For Period January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule B-4

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Southern Patriot
Printing	1,657.25		1,657.25
Postage	560.27		560.27
Art Work	3.48		3.48
Miscellaneous	56.10		56.10
	2,277.10		2,277.10
Less-Sales	68.00		68.00
Net Patriot Costs	2,209.10		2,209.10
Publications
Filibuster	16.00		16.00
Look Him In The Eye		308.93	308.93
Belief in Brotherhood of Man	20.50		20.50
65¢ Letter		75.00	75.00
There Are No Master Races		34.00	34.00
Would You Smile		1,703.00	1,703.00
	36.50	2,120.93	2,157.43
Special Projects
F.E.P.C. Filibuster	35.00		35.00
Bethune Meeting	23.35	11.68	35.03
T.D. Davis	9.08		9.08
	67.43	11.68	79.11
Salaries of Field Workers
Murdock Martin	474.99		474.99
Ben V. Ramey	758.31		758.31
	1,233.30		1,233.30
Expenses of Field Workers
Murdock Martin	264.21		264.21
Ben V. Ramey	124.71		124.71
	388.92		388.92
Total Activities Expenditures	3,935.25	2,132.61	6,067.86
Less-Sales of Literature
Miscellaneous Sales	114.00		114.00
For Your Children Too	32.80		32.80
Total Literature Sales	146.80		146.80
Net Activities Costs	3,788.45	2,132.61	5,921.06

New York Revenues and Expenditures
For Period from January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule C

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Revenues
Contributions and Subscriptions-General	3,022.19	50.00	3,072.19
Income from Dinners and Parties
See Schedule E-3	7,699.10	5,770.53	13,469.63
Foundations and Funds	250.00		250.00
Other Contributions
P.M.	172.50		172.50
Halperin Appeal	1.00		1.00
Mississippi	608.00		608.00
Bilbo Appeal	7.00		7.00
Columbia Appeal	3.00		3.00
Total New York Revenues	11,762.79	5,820.53	17,583.32
New York Expenditures
Salaries-See Schedule E-2	2,254.63	1,127.26	3,381.89
Office Supplies and Printing	97.15	48.52	145.67
Rent	275.01	137.49	412.50
Telephone and Telegraph	234.74	117.37	352.11
Postage	70.84	35.41	106.25
Contractual Services	28.77	14.38	43.15
Travel	155.62	77.81	233.43
Petty Cash	4.50	2.25	6.75
Miscellaneous	69.49	34.74	104.23
New York Reports out of Balance	(-180.58)	(-90.29)	(-270.87)
Refund Items	75.12	37.55	112.67
Depreciation on Furniture and Fixtures	7.66	3.82	11.48
Publications	40.00		40.00
Coin Cards	358.00		358.00
Total New York Expenditures	3,490.95	1,546.31	5,037.26
Less-Sales of Literature
Miscellaneous	60.35		60.35
Would You Smile		25.00	25.00
Total for New York Expenditures	60.35	25.00	85.35
Net New York Expenditures	3,430.60	1,521.31	4,951.91
Excess-Revenues over Expenditures	8,332.19	4,299.22	12,631.41

Advances to State Committees
For Period January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule D

	Salaries	Expenses	Expense Returns	Net Advances
Advances
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
Georgia	2,786.63	250.00	587.32	2,449.31
Alabama	2,601.59	1,118.70	500.00	3,290.29
North Carolina	2,780.20	554.24	1,153.34	2,181.10
Florida	60.00			60.00
Virginia	2,225.08	1,120.11	440.00	2,905.19
Tennessee	1,023.98	1,156.69	31.80	2,148.87
Louisiana		125.00		125.00
Mississippi		6.39		6.39
Total Advances	11,477.48	4,401.13	2,712.46	13,166.15
Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.
Tennessee		62.30
North Carolina		.17
		62.47		62.47

Net Advances Over Revenues

	Revenues from State	Revenues to State	Excess Advances
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
Georgia	663.00	2,449.31	1,786.31
Alabama	257.00	3,290.29	3,033.29
North Carolina	545.00	2,181.20	1,636.20
Washington, D.C.	1,128.70		(-1,128.70)
Virginia	221.00	2,905.19	2,684.19
Tennessee	35.00	2,148.87	2,113.87
South Carolina	135.21		(-135.21)
Florida	90.00	60.00	(-30.00)
Louisiana		125.00	125.00
Mississippi		6.39	6.39
	3,074.91	13,166.25	10,091.34
Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.
Washington, D.C.	1,150.00		(-1,150.00)
Tennessee		62.30	62.30
North Carolina		.17	.17
	1,150.00	62.47	(-1,087.53)

Note-Three Committees are in both Funds:

	SCHW	SCEF	Total
Washington, D.C.	(-1,128.70)	(-1,150.00)	(-2,278.70)
Tennessee	2,113.87	62.30	2,176.17
North Carolina	1,636.20	.17	1,636.37

Statement of Office Salaries
For the Period January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule E-1

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Mary Borders	744.77	372.38	1,117.15
Margaret Frantz	859.38	428.68	1,289.06
Evelyn Sadler	10.16	5.07	15.23
Meta Windmiller	521.26	260.11	781.37
Lois N. Chandler	336.90	168.44	505.34
Ada L. Crossett	142.93	71.46	214.39
Gloria Hager	213.93	106.96	320.89
Harry Kahn	99.33	49.67	149.00
Miscellaneous	35.93	17.97	53.90
	2,964.59	1,481.74	4,446.33
Less Amount Apportioned to Columbia Project	116.67	58.33	175.00
Net Office Salaries	2,847.92	1,423.41	4,271.33

Salaries - New York Office
Period from January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule E-2

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Dorothy Chappelle	617.09	308.48	925.57
Branson Price	1,074.21	537.12	1,611.33
Ellen Karelsen	433.33	216.66	649.99
Juliette K. Sheppard	130.00	65.00	195.00
	2,254.63	1,127.26	3,381.89

Statement of Revenues from Dinners and Parties
Period January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule E-3

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Net Revenues
Natchez Party	571.00	75.00	646.00
Muir Party	335.25		335.25
Tishman Party	98.00		98.00
Schiffelin Party	266.00	60.00	326.00
Karelsen Tea	189.15	78.50	267.65
Nisselson Party	148.00		148.00
Mezerik Party	106.40	5.00	111.40
*Nathanson Party	445.48	131.37	576.85
*Moon Party	420.89	94.00	421.83
Lindon Party	749.00	115.00	864.00
Marshall Party	300.00	20.00	320.00
*Hart Party	76.00		76.00
*Tobias Dinner	3,540.37	4,026.43	7,566.80
Burnett and Norman Parties	183.06	340.00	523.06
Masters Party	118.00	10.00	128.00
Miscellaneous Parties	152.50		152.50
*Theater Benefit		908.29	908.29
	7,699.10	5,770.53	13,469.63

*Analyzed on Schedule E-4

Analysis of Certain Party Revenues
Period January 27-June 30, 1946

Schedule E-4

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Nathanson Party
Revenues-Contributions	482.75	150.00	632.75
Less-Costs	37.27	18.63	55.90
Net Revenue	445.48	131.37	576.85
Moon Party
Revenues-Contributions	479.00	30.00	509.00
Less-Costs	58.11	29.06	87.17
Net Revenue	420.89	.94	421.83
Hart Party
Revenues-Contributions	86.00		86.00
Less-Costs	10.00		10.00
Net Revenues	76.00		76.00
Tobias Dinner
Revenues-Contributions	4,587.50	4,550.00	9,137.50
-Fees	2,565.34	1,282.66	3,848.00
Total Receipts	7,152.84	5,832.66	12,985.50
Less-Costs	3,612.47	1,806.23	5,418.70
Net Revenues	3,540.37	4,026.43	7,566.80
Theater Benefit
Tickets Sold		3,479.70	3,479.70
Contributions		212.00	212.00
Total Receipts		3,691.70	3,691.70
Less-Costs		2,783.41	2,783.41
Net Revenues		908.29	908.29

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Publishers of
The Southern PATRIOT

808 Perdido St. New Orleans, Louisiana

COPY

December 6, 1946

Mr. Clark Foreman, President
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
127 "B" Street, SE
Washington D.C.

Dear Clark:

As the retiring Administrator of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare I am taking the liberty of asking that I have the privilege of attending the next meeting of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, scheduled I believe for February 2 in Columbia, S.C.

I am confident that each Board member will know that I make this request with the best interest of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare at heart. Also, I wish to make it quite clear that I have definitely accepted the action of the Board in replacing me as Administrator as of January 1st, 1947, and that this letter is not to be interpreted as a request for reconsideration of that action.

My major concern in this entire matter is first, that the Southern Conference for Human Welfare c ntinue to grow as a strong, unified and fighting organization; second, that the Conference work out the best possible administrative procedure; and third that the democratic procedures advocated by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare be meticulously safeguarded in its own operations.

I do not wish in any way to impugn the motives of the splendid Board members present at the meeting on December first. Rather I was particularly gratified by the earnest and aggressive manner in which the new Board members tackled the present problems of the organization. However, of the nine voting members present, six are new members who consequently did not know of the past requests on the part of the Board that the full Board be given an opportunity to consider personnel actions.

For myself, I am confused about the following:

1. Should not the full Board of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare have been notified of the major personnel change contemplated?

2. Should not the matter have been discussed with the present Administrator before the action was an accomplished fact?

3. Should not the present Administrator be advised of the reasons for this change and be given an opportunity to speak?

4. Did the Board clearly understand that the Conference Educational Fund is a separate agency, operating under its own Board, that the Board of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare has no jurisdiction over the Southern Conference Educational Fund, and that in suggesting expansion of the work and presumably of the budget of the Southern Conference Educational Fund the Board was making a proposal that was not within its authority?

Again I wish to state that I have the utmost confidence in the good faith of every member of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare Board. And regardless of my severance from the agency, my deep interest in the program of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is unshaken. I am more interested in the future than in the past, and it is my firm conviction that an analysis by the entire Board of the procedure followed in this instance may serve as a useful guide for the future.

Sincerely yours,

James A. Dombrowski
Administrator.

CC: To all members of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Publishers of
The Southern PATRIOT

~~212½ Union St. • Nashville 3, Tennessee • Telephone 6-2447~~
808 Perdido St. New Orleans 12, Louisiana CAnal 7326

Honorary President
Frank Graham

President
Clark Foreman

Vice-Presidents
Paul R. Christopher
Roscoe Dunjee
Virginia Foster Durr
William Mitch
Hollis V. Reid

Secretary
Tarleton Collier

Parliamentarian
Josephine Wilkins

Treasurer
Alva W. Taylor

Administrator
James A. Dombrowski

Executive Board
Mary McLeod Bethune
Charlotte Hawkins Brown
Louis Burnham
John P. Davis
Helen Fuller
Carter H. Harrison
F. Clyde Helms
Charles S. Johnson
Roy R. Lawrence
Lucy R. Mason
Mortimer May
Geroge S. Mitchell
A. T. Mollegen
F. D. Patterson
M. C. Plunk
Frank Prohl
Samuel Rodman
Ira De A. Reid
Lillian E. Smith
Frank W. Spencer
Lee C. Sheppard
Arnold Slater
John B. Thompson
Channing H. Tobias
Palmer Webber

December 5, 1946

Dear George:

I am very glad to have the privilege of advising you that at the membership meeting of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare on November 29, you were elected a member of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

I enclose a copy of the minutes of the first meeting of the new Board, held Sunday, December 1, 1946.

Sincerely yours,

Jim

James A. Dombrowski

Mr. George S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Ave NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF BOARD OF REPRESENTATIVES
SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE

Sunday, December 2, 1946

Present: Clark Foreman, Lucy Mason, Myles Horton, Samuel Rodman, John B. Thompson, Daniel Weitzman, Mrs. Gershon, Lewis Jones, Joseph Johnson; advisory associate Palmer Weber.

1. Motion by Thompson, seconded by Johnson, that the Advisory Committee be re-elected. Passed.

2. Elected: Tarleton Collier - Secretary
Daniel Weitzman - Treasurer
Lewis Jones - Parliamentarian

3. Motion by Myles Horton - that Miss Branson Price, now secretary of the New York Committee, be asked to take over the position of Administrator of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare as of January 1st. That the Board express its great appreciation of Mr. Dombrowski's work and its hopes that he will enlarge and expand the position of Executive Secretary of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, having charge of the Southern Patriot, all publications, educational work, and organization of religious contacts. As all work expands it was hoped this division of labor would allow Dombrowski to use his creative talents more constantly. Passed.

4. Motion by Samuel Rodman that the Administrator notify the chairman of the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax that as of January 1 the SCHW is not in a position to carry the salaries of the Washington office but will be happy for the committee to leave records in the office and to have volunteers use the office. If the poll tax activities become urgent again the situation to be reconsidered. Passed.

5. Motion by Samuel Rodman that the position of Assistant Administrator be eliminated as of January 1. Passed.

6. Motion by Samuel Rodman that $5,000 be borrowed from J.D. Weitzman immediately and that all salaries be paid up to date now and be paid promptly in the future. Passed.

7. Motion by Samuel Rodman that the New Orleans committee make every effort to capitalize upon the impact of the convention and that Bancroft assist Carothers in an attempt to raise $3,000 in Louisiana in the next month. Passed.

8. Mr. Foreman instructed the Administrator to notify the Board that they will meet Sunday February 2 in Columbia, S.C.

Meeting adjourned.

Myles Horton, Secretary pro tem
Prepared by John B. Thompson

CONFIDENTIAL

738 Myrtle Street, N.E., Atlanta, Ga.

December 8, 1946

Dr. Clark H. Foreman, President
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
127 B. Street, S. E.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Clark:

Returning from Mississippi yesterday afternoon, this is my first opportunity to again take up with you the Board's action at its post-convention meeting, December 1, in dispensing with the services of Jim Dombrowski as Administrator of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

The more I have thought about this during the past week, the more firmly I am convinced that a terrible mistake was made. If the Conference is to continue as a useful agency in the South, I believe we must undo the wrong we have done.

I am confident that neither the full Board nor the membership of the Conference would be in accord with the action or the manner in which it was taken. In my opinion the action itself was unsound. Further, a great injustice was done the man, who, more than anyone else, held the Conference together at its lowest ebb and brought it to its present strong position.

I accept full responsibility for my part in this action by the Board. As a member of the Board for a number of years, and particularly as one who had in previous meetings insisted that the Board be given ample opportunity to carefully consider personnel matters, I am culpable in not realizing and protesting the gravity of our action. However, it was a great mistake to propose action on such a fundamental matter without giving the Board advance knowledge of what was contemplated and opportunity to think it through.

This letter is to urge you as President of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare to make immediate contact with those Board members who were present and ask that the action taken on December 1 in connection with the Administrator be held in abeyance until the meeting called for February 2.

If this is not done, I am now asking that a special meeting be called as quickly as possible, to be held in a central spot in the South. Every effort should be made to get a full and representative Board meeting. Those who are unable to attend should be requested to send in their comments and suggestions for presentation at the meeting.

Specifically, my reasons for urging a reconsideration are as follows:

1. Any proposal of such vital importance and affecting the future of the Conference so profoundly should have been laid before the full Board, in writing and in advance of the meeting.

2. After much discussion, the pre-convention board meeting on November 28 approved a proposed budget for the next two years which was adopted by the Conference. Throughout consideration of the budget there was no suggestion of the contemplated change in personnel, at variance with that portion of the budget dealing with personnel, which was proposed to the Board less than twenty-four hours after the Conference's approval of the budget.

3. ,The Board meeting on December 1, following the convention, was attended by a bare quorum - nine voting members being present. The associate member present did not have a vote and did not affect the quorum. Five of those present were newly elected members, and one had attended only one previous Board meeting. Consequently, six members were without intimate knowledge of the Conference or past Board discussions/

4. Apparently only two Board members and the one associate member knew in advance that it would be proposed to dispense with the services of Dr. Dombrowski. Certainly, to most of us this proposal affecting the very heart of the Conference came as a complete surprise.

5. The matter should have been thoroughly discussed with Dr. Dombrowski in advance of the meeting. Without any prior consultation with him, the Board dispensed with the services of a man who had served the Conference with utmost devotion, energy and selflessness for more than five years.

6. The Southern Conference for Human Welfare Board has no authority whatever to make plans for the Southern Conference Educational Fund; yet actually the Board did attempt to plan for a full-time Administrator, to set his salary, and to outline his duties with the Fund. Only three of the nine persons present are members of the Fund Board, and of course had no power to act for the Fund at the Conference Board meeting. It was not clear to those present that such was the case.

Because I believe that the prestige and future usefulness of the Conference are at stake, and because my own responsibility weighs so heavily upon me, I am sending a copy of this letter to every Board member.

Sincerely yours,

Lucy R. Mason

Copies to all SCHW
Board members.

December 9, 1946

Mr. Clark Foreman
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
955 G Place, NW
Washington, D. C.

Dear Clark:

I am in disagreement with the action of the Board following the New Orleans conference.

I should like to express my hope that the changes approved there be held in abeyance until the earliest practicable date for a meeting of the Board of the Educational Fund and of the Board of the Conference.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

GSM:w

906 Lullwater Rd., NE
Atlanta, Georgia

gsm - pers

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE OFFICERS AND BOARD OF REPRESENTATIVES
Elected at New Orleans, La., Nov. 30, 1946

Honorary President:
1. Dr. Frank P. Graham, University of N. C., Chapel Hill, N. C.

President:
2. Dr. Clark Foreman, 127 B Street S.E., Washington, D.C.

Secretary:
Tarleton Collier, Associate Editor, Louisville Courier Journal, Louisville, Ky.

Treasurer:
J. Daniel Weitzman, DuPont Circle Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Vice-Presidents:
3. Paul R. Christopher, 423½ West Depot Ave., Knoxville, Tenn.
4. Roscoe Dungee, Editor and Publisher, Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City, Okla.
5. Virginia Foster Durr, Seminary Road, Alexandria, Va.
6. Lewis W. Jones, Editor, The Informer Papers, 2418 Leland (Box 3086) Houston, Tex
7. William Mitch, President, District 20, U.M.W.A. Comer Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.
8. Harry W. Schacter, President, Kaufman-Straus Company, Louisville, Ky.

Parliamentarian:
Lewis W. Jones

9. E. L. Abercrombie, Southern Director, Laundry Workers, AF of L., 85 Popular St N.E., Atlanta, Ga.
10. Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, President-Emeritus, Bethune Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Fla., Pres. Natl. Council of Negro Women, 1318 Vermont Ave., Washington, D. C.
11. Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, President, Palmer Institute, Sedalia, N. C.
12. Louis Burnham, Secretary, Southern Negro Youth Congress, Masonic Temple Building., Birmingham, Ala.
13. Tarleton, Collier, Associate Editor, Louisville Courier Journal.
14. Rev. Samuel F. Freeman, Pulaski Heights Christian Church, Little Rock, Ark.
15. Miss Helen Fuller, Washington Representative, New Republic, Kellog Bldg., Washington, D. C.
16. Percy Green, Editor-Manager, The Jackson Advocate, 125½ N. Farish Street., Jackson, Miss.
17. R. L. Hickman, Legislative Representative, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Alexandria, La.
18. Myles Horton, Director, Highlander Folk School, Monteagle, Tenn.
19. J. C. Jacques, Dennison, Texas.
20. Miss Lucy Randolph Mason, Southern Public Relations Representative, CIO, 75 Ivy St., Atlanta, Ga.
21. Montimer May, May Hosiery Mills, Nashville, Tenn.
22. Dr. George Mitchell, Director of Veterans' Services., Southern Regional Council, 63 Auburn Ave., NE., Atlanta, Ga.
23. Frank Prohl, Chairman Southern Conference of Teamsters, 203 Spring St., Atlanta., Ga.
24. Samuel Rodman, (J) 3700 Massachusetts Ave., Washington, D.C.
25. Mrs. A. W. Simpkins, (Andrew W.) 2025 Marion Ave., Columbia., S. C.
26. Dr. Alva W. Taylor, 101 Bowling Ave., Nashville, Tenn.
27. Dr. John B. Thompson, Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Norman, Okla.
28. Charles Weber, 110½ N. 8th St., Richmond Va.
29. J. Daniel Weitzman, DuPont Circle Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Ex-Officio
30. Henry Fowler, Queens St., Alexandria, Va.
31. Mrs. Harry W. Gershon, 1590 Harvard Rd., Atlanta, Ga.
32. Dr. Joseph L. Johnson, 127 B Street., S.E., Washington, D. C.
33. Rev. Lee C. Sheppard, Pullen Memorial Church, Raleigh, N. C.
34. Aubrey Williams, Publisher, Southern Farmer, Montgomery, Ala.

Associate Advisory Members (re-elected by the Board on Dec. 1, 1946)
1. Melvyn Douglas, 7141 Senalda Rd., Los Angeles 28, Calif.
2. Mrs. Marshall Field., 740 Park Av., New York, N.Y.
3. Rev. Kenneth deP. Hughes, St. Bartholemew's Ch., 64 Gorham St., Boston, Mass.
4. Michael M. Nisselson, President Amalgamated Bank 15 Union SQ., New York NY
5. Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Director Phelps-Stokes Fund 101 Park Ave N.Y. City
6. Henry A. Wallace, Editor New Republic, 40 East 49th St. New York, N.Y.
7. Dr. Palmer Weber, Director of Reserch CIO-PAC, 205 E. 42nd St., New York NY

Dec. 9, 1946

Dear George:

Thanks for the letters. I was mighty sorry you were not on hand for the Board meeting. I feel things would not have happened as they did.

As ever,

P.S. You were right. The plat as inthe Board members file had you listed at Ivy St. Sorry.

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Publishers of
The Southern PATRIOT

808 Perdido St. New Orleans, Louisiana

December 10, 1946

MEMORANDUM TO: All Members of the Board of Representatives.

FROM: James A. Dombrowski.

SUBJECT: Mailing List of Board Members.

Enclosed is a list of the membership of the new Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. Will you kindly advise me if your address or title is not listed correctly.

I am happy to announce that R. L. Hickman, Alexandria, Louisiana, Legislative Representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for the state of Louisiana, has agreed to serve on the Board as the representative of the Railway Brotherhoods. This gives us our full complement of 34 voting members of the Board, as provided for in the bylaws--21 Representatives at large, 6 Vice-presidents, the President and Honorary President, and five ex-officio members. (The Committee for Louisiana has not yet elected a chairman and the Committee for Tennessee's chairman has resigned, leaving two vacancies among the ex-officio members.) In addition we have 7 Associate Advisory members.

The December PATRIOT is now on the press and will be devoted entirely to a report of the New Orleans convention. I hope to be able to send you an advance copy the last of the week.

WASHINGTON COMMITTEE

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

127 B Street, S. E., Washington 3, D. C. LIncoln 4820

December 11, 1946

Dr. George Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, NE
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear George:

I was very sorry that you were not able to stay for the Board meeting following the Convention. As you will have noted from other correspondence and a copy of the letter, which I am enclosing, to Jim the Board faced very seriously the question of using the members of the staff to best advantage. In view of the fact that neither the officers nor the Board could know in advance of the Convention that they were going to be elected, it seems to me quite unrealistic for Lucy Mason to contend that notice should have been given in advance of the action proposed.

Actually, no one came into the meeting, I believe, with the solution, which was arrived at in discussion. This seems to me to be absolutely the democratic way of solving our problems, and certainly it was the way least likely to embarrass Jim Dombrowski.

I think this new arrangement will greatly improve the effectiveness of our organization.

Yours sincerely,

Clark Foreman

Clark Foreman

CF/gkl
Incl.

Washington Committee—Executive Board: Dr. Joseph L. Johnson, Chairman; Mrs. Madeline Donner, Secretary; John Anderson, Treasurer; John Beecher; Henry Beitcher; Anna Berenson; Mrs. Dorothy S. Bowles; Dr. Ralph Bunche; Mrs. Virginia Durr; Mrs. Lucille Ezekiel; Dr. Dorothy B. Ferebee; Dr. E. Franklin Frazier; Mrs. Mame Mason Higgins; Mrs. George M. Johnson; Belford V. Lawson; Dr. R. E. R. Lovell; Mrs. Morris Rodman; Samuel Rodman; Malcolm Ross; Mrs. Elizabeth Sasuly; Carlton Skinner; Mrs. Carmelite Smith; Alfred E. Smith; Mrs. Michael Straus; Mrs. J. Daniel Weitzman; Mrs. Luke I. Wilson; Myrtle Powell, Executive Secretary.

National Officers: Dr. Frank P. Graham, Honorary President; Dr. Clark Foreman, President; Paul R. Christopher, Roscoe Dunjee, Mrs. Virginia Durr, William Mitch, Hollis V. Reid, Vice-Presidents; Tarleton Collier, Secretary; Josephine Wilkins, Parliamentarian; Dr. Alva W. Taylor, Treasurer; Dr. James A. Dombrowski, Administrator.

December 9, 1946

Mr. James Dombrowski
808 Perdido Street
New Orleans 12, Louisiana

Dear Jim:

In answer to your letter of December 6th, I should like to say first how happy I am, and how happy I believe the Board is, with your acceptance of the rearrangement of the assignments passed by the Board at its December 1st meeting. I am sure that under the new arrangement your contribution to the work to which we are all dedicated can be even more effective than it has been in the past.

We, of course, want you to attend the next meeting of the Board, and in calling it I specifically suggested that Sunday, February 2nd, the Board of the Conference meet with the Board of the Educational Fund in joint session. I hope by February 1st at the meeting of the Educational Fund Board in Columbia you will have had an opportunity to work out a budget and plan for the fund's work for the coming year. The job of editing the Patriot, supervising publications and helping the state organizations with their educational program, as well as meeting with religious and educational groups, is one of tremendous importance. I feel that it is very fortunate that the Board has worked out an arrangement whereby you can devote your talents to the job of moral leadership in the South.

With respect to the points that you raise, I am sorry that the minutes of the Board meeting on Thursday, November 28th, were not sent to the Board along with the minutes of the meeting of December 1st. The minutes of the Thursday meeting would have made clearer to the Board why the actions were taken on December 1st. You will recall the great emphasis which you and the chairman of the Budget Committee both placed on our present financial crisis. The Board decided that I should spend the greater part of my time in the months ahead in money raising. This will mean that the burden on the New Orleans office will be even greater than in the past, and it was in the light of this situation that the Board felt unwilling to continue the work of two very important offices in one man.

The Board assumed responsibility itself for meeting the condition in a positive fashion. The need of getting our message over to the people of the South, particularly at this time when there is increasing opposition to all progressive groups, is vital to the success of our work. All of us felt that you were preeminently qualified for this job. At the same time, in order to free you for the educational work it was decided unanimously to ask Miss Branson Price of North Carolina, and now the Secretary of our New York Committee, to take over the job of Administrator beginning January 1st. Miss Price is eminently qualified for this work and has consented to take the job.

I hope that none of the Board members will interpret your letter to mean that you were not advised of the reason for this change and that you were not given an opportunity to speak. You will recall that on Sunday morning you were advised of the Board's decision and the reasons for it, which have been summarized above. Your advice was also sought by the Board in the morning and throughout the meeting in the afternoon. Nothing was said by you or anyone else to cause the Board to reconsider its decision.

In view of these facts, I do not understand how anyone can say that the Board acted undemocraticly. Certainly neither you nor anyone else raised the point during the Board meeting, nor did you in proposing the severance of Mr. Cornelius as the Executive Secretary of the Committee for Tennessee seem to feel the need of advance conversation with him or a hearing by the Board. Similarly, your endorsement of the severance of the Assistant Administrator without previous discussion or hearing indicates no feeling on your part that democratic procedure required something different. The Board has full responsibility for determining the business of the Conference, and the new Board, meeting as usual immediately following the Convention, acted as you well say in an "earnest and aggressive manner" in meeting the critical problems which face us.

I feel personally that the Board has acted in the best interest of the organization and the work to which we are devoted. Under the new arrangement there is every reason to expect much more effective results ~~for~~ from all of us.

Again, I am delighted that you have accepted the decision and that you will continue to make the great contribution which all of us are sure you can make.

Yours sincerely,

CF

Clark Foreman

P.S. Will you please notify all members of the Board of the Southern Conference Educational Fund that there will be a Board meeting in Columbia, South Carolina, on Saturday, February 1, and that on Sunday, February 2, I strongly urge that the Board meet in joint session with the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

CC: To all members of the Board of Representatives

SCHW - Contro

The INFORMER Group of Newspapers

FAIRFAX 8347

THE DALLAS EXPRESS · NEW ORLEANS INFORMER · SAN ANTONIO INFORMER · THE INFORMER · MEMBER A.B.C.

★

P.O. BOX 3086
2418 LEELAND
HOUSTON 3, TEXAS

December 12, 1946

Dr. George Mitchell,
Director of Veterans' Services.,
Southern Regional Council,
63 Auburn Ave., NE.,
Atlanta, Ga.

My Dear Dr. Mitchell:

At the last meeting of the board of representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, I was elected parliamentarian of the organization. At that time I was instructed by the president, Dr. Foreman, that my reponsibility is to safeguard the democracy of the organization by keeping its deliberations and action consonant with the By-laws and Robert's Rules of Order.

I take that responsibility seriously and this letter comes to you in exercise of the duty given to me.

At the meeting of the board of representatives in New Orleans on Sunday, December 1, action was taken by a bare quorum of 9 members of the board relieving Dr. James A. Dombrowski of the duties of administrator and creating for him a new post.

Study of the By-laws, Articles Xll shows that the regulations for the staff of the Conference are explicit:

Section 1. Enumeration.
The staff of the corporation shall soncist of an administrator and such administrative associates, administrative assistants, and secretarial and clerical personnel as may be sonsistent with the corporation's current budget.

Section 2. Authority.
Authority shall reside in the administrator for administering the work of the corporation after plans therefore have been approved by the board of representatives. He shall be responsible to the board as a whole.

Section 3. Administrator, appointment, term, responsibility.
The administrator shall be appointed by the board of representatives and shall serve during the pleasure of the board. He shall have the responsibility for administering the work of the corporation under the direction of the board as a whole. He shall be expected to exercise leadership in making proposals to the board for developing the work of the corporation. He shall

THE MARKET
• 2,800,000 PEOPLE
• PLENTY MONEY
• WILLING TO BUY
• AWAITING INVITATION

appoint the administrative associates and assistants subject to confirmation by the board. He shall have full authority in employing secreterial and clerical personnel consistent with the current budget of the corporation.

According to the foregoing provisions of the By-laws, the board of representatives could replace Dr. Dombrowski as administrator. The board had and has no authority to create a new staff post without amending the By-laws.

Therefore, the actions of the board at New Orleans, by which there was creation of a new post and redefinition of Dr. Dombrowski's duties, is beyond the authority of the board. There is legally no such position in the Southern Conference and the board exceeded its perogatives in creating one.

Since the creation of the new post may not be divorced from the selection of a new administrator whose duties and privleges are restricted by the delegation of duties to the newly created post, the board again exceeded the authority given it.

It is my considered judgment that the action of the board at its December 1st meeting in New Orleans, which altered the functions of the administrator and created a new staff position, was illegal and therefore void. It violated the By-laws of the organization and the basic principles of Robert's Rules of Order.

Therefore, at the meeting of the board at Columbia, S.C. on February 2nd, the board must, in keeping with the By-laws, re-elect Dr. Dombrowski as administrator or choose a replacement for him. Should there be a desire to create another staff post in the SCHW an amendment to the By-laws must be made in accordance with the provisions of Article XXll of our By-laws.

I apologize to the members of the board who were present at the December 1st meeting for my failure to functinn in the capacity in which I was chosen to serve. Had I been familiar with the By-laws of the conference, I might have saved the board from the embarrasment with which it is now faced.

By calling to your attention the laws of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, I believe the board of representatives meeting in Columbia, S.C. on February 2nd, may act in a judicious manner in the provision of a staff for the organization.

The spirit of Dr. Dombrowski and the staff of the Conference is such that I have confidence that the work of the organization will not suffer during the time which will elapse before the Columbia meeting.

Sincerely yours,

Lewis Jones.

Lewis Jones

Received your expression of disagreement today. The people who oppose the action have every right to do it. Couldn't be done legally. Lewis.

SCHW - Copiero

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE
Financial Report

November 1 - December 12, 1946

REVENUES

On Hand November 1
Cash	22.65
Bank	1,443.89
	1,466.54	1,466.54
Revenues
November	7,520.53
December	7,450.47
	14,971.00	14,971.00
Total To Be Accounted For		16,437.54

EXPENDITURES

On Hand December 12		1,055.96
Expenses
November	4,573.44
December	10,808.14
	15,381.58	15,381.58
Total To Be Accounted For		16,437.54

REVENUES NOVEMBER 1 - DECEMBER 12, 1946

		November	December	Total
Contributions & Memberships		814.80	786.31	1,601.11
Unions		1,000.00		1,000.00
Special appeals		43.00		43.00
New Orleans convention
Collection		2,799.01	549.00	3,348.01
Registration		746.00	41.00	787.00
Sale of litarature		7.40		7.40
Refunds		44.32	69.16	113.48
From state committees
Alabama	33.00
Tennessee	5.00
Louisiana	10.00
D.C.	15.00
NCAPT	3.00	66.00	5.00	71.00
From New York office		2,000.00		2,000.00
Loans			5,000.00	5,000.00
Southern Conference Educational Fund			1,000.00	1,000.00
Total Revenues		7,520.53	7,450.47	14,971.00

EXPENDITURES NOVEMBER 1 - DECEMBER 12, 1946

	November	December to Dec.12	Total
Administrative Expenses
Administrative Salaries	895.83	2,833.32	3,729.15
President's expenses		428.15	428.15
Travel (M. Fisher to Calif.)		576.08	576.08
	895.83	3,837.55	4,733.38
General Office Expenses
Office salaries	240.83	247.83	488.66
Office expenses, incl. postage	370.46	195.93	566.39
	611.29	443.76	1,055.05
Activities and Publications
Field Workers expenses		608.25	608.25
Southern Patriot	340.95	253.60	594.55
Publications & printing	58.65	311.80	370.45
	399.60	1,173.65	1,573.25
Outside Committees
5 state committees	975.00	2,000.00	2,975.00
D.C. legislative ofc. salaries	120.00	388.05	508.05
NCAPT old accounts		200.00	200.00
New York salaries		1,962.15	1,962.15
	1,095.00	4,550.20	5,645.20
Other Expenditures
Office moving and renovation	608.33	372.00	980.33
Thanksgiving convention	637.61	970.76	1,608.37
Withholding tax	423.77	141.90	565.67
Misc.	43.91	10.00	53.91
	1,713.62	1,494.66	3,208.28
Total Expenses	4,715.34	11,499.82	16,215.16
Less Withholding Tax	141.90	691.68	833.58
Net Expense	4,573.44	10,808.14	15,381.58

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE BOARD OF REPRESENTATIVES
SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE

New Orleans, Louisiana November 28, 1946

The Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare met at 2:00 P.M. on Thursday, November 28, 1946, in the offices of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, 808 Perdido Street, New Orleans.

The meeting was called to order by the President. Present were President Clark Foreman, Mary Bethune, Tarleton Collier, Frank Prohl, Percy Greene, John B. Thompson, Louis Burnham, Lucy R. Mason, Mrs. Harry M. Gershon, Lewis Jones, and Associate Member Palmer Weber.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

In the absence of the Treasurer, the Administrator read a financial report covering the period July 1 - October 31.

Mrs. Bethune commented on the nationwide work the Southern Conference had done with such small funds, and inquired if a money-raising program was planned.

Mr. Foreman explained how the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax had been taken over in May with an indebtedness of $10,000. A question was asked about the exact nature of the obligation assumed by taking over the NCAPT. Mr. Dombrowski read an itemized list of debts owed by this organization.

Thanksgiving Convention: Program. It was moved that the suggested program adopted by the Board at the Richmond Board meeting be presented to the convention. Carried.

Nominating Committee. Mr. Dombrowski made the report of the nominating committee, consisting of Jennings Perry, Dr. Benjamin Mays, W. T. Adcock, Phil Whitehead, and ex-officio members Clark Foreman and James A. Dombrowski, for officers and a Board of Representatives for the biennium 1947-48. The report was received for presentation to the convention.

The Board discussed the handling of nominations in the convention. Mr. Foreman suggested that the Board should present to the convention for adoption, a rule that nominations from the floor for officers be made during business session on Friday, but that none would be accepted on Saturday. Passed.

Resolutions. Mr. Foreman suggested for the consideration of the convention a rule that all resolutions should be submitted to the resolutions committee by Friday night for action by the convention on Saturday. Passed.

Mr. Foreman asked the Board whether he should serve on an Oust Bilbo Committee. A discussion followed of what grounds might be effective in opposing the seating of Bilbo in the Senate. Mr. Prohl moved that Mr. Foreman should be approved in serving on such a committee as an individual. Carried.

Budget: Mr. Weber, chairman of the finance committee of the Board, presented a budget for the period 1947-48, for approval by the Board, as follows:

Minimum Budget per year - $102,000

(a)	New Orleans office	$40,000	(to cover office expenses, salaries of Administrator, assistant administrator, stenographer, and 2 file clerks, travel, and publication of the Southern Patriot)
(b)	7 state committees	42,000	(to Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, $6,000 per year each as a guaranteed minimum)
(c)	Washington office	20,000	(to cover salary and expenses of the President, 3 office salaries, and mailings).
		$102,000

Mr. Weber emphasized that the budget of $102,000 was a minimum one, and suggested that additional money if raised should be used first for further organization, up to $30,000, and then for the state committees, preferably to be used in publications.

Mr. Weber presented a fund-raising plan outlined by the finance committee, to include funds from the following sources:

West Coast	$ 20,000	net
Chicago	5,000	"
Cleveland	5,000	"
Philadelphia	5,000	"
Boston	5,000	"
New York	50,000	"
Unions	25,000	"
	$115,000

He suggested that the New York committee should be directed by the President, its personnel to include an executive secretary, 2 assistants, 2 stenographers, a file clerk, and other necessary staff. The New York office to handle its own expenses, and remit only net proceeds to the New Orleans office.

The finance committee further suggested that the President's duties should consist entirely of raising funds and working on legislative matters, and that the Administrator care for the work in the Southern states.

There was a discussion of the allocation to the national office. The Assistant Administrator expressed his belief that the duties of the national office could not be carried out with a staff of 5 people, and suggested that at least 2 more clerical positions should be provided.

Mr. Burnham moved that the Board adopt the budget with the amendment that the New Orleans office should be allocated $45,000 rather than $40,000, and that the Administrator be instructed to submit an itemized budget for the national office at the next meeting of the board. Passed.

Thomas Jefferson Award: Miss Mason read a suggested resolution to the Board, amplifying the reasons for the choice of Governor Arnall to receive the Jefferson Award. Adopted.

Public Meetings: Mr. Foreman informed the Board that on the previous day, (Nov. 27) the day before the convention was to open, the Municipal Auditorium Commission of New Orleans had refused to allow unsegregated meetings of the Conference. Mr. Foreman announced the move to Carpenters Hall.

Housing: Mr. Foreman announced that Wilson Wyatt was preparing to resign from the national housing program, and suggested a resolution in support of Mr. Wyatt. Adopted.

State Committees: The Administrator reported the receipt of letters from the Committees of the District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana, asking for recognition by the Board as affiliated committees of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. Motion to grant such recognition as provided by the by-laws. Passed.

The meeting adjourned.

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Publishers of
The Southern PATRIOT

808 Perdido St. New Orleans, Louisiana

COPY

December 12, 1946

Mr. Clark Foreman, President
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
127 "B" Street, SE
Washington, D.C.

Dear Clark:

Thank you for your letter of the 9th and I appreciate the kind personal references; however, I find certain statements of fact which seem important enough to warrant some clarification.

If you will refer to my letter of the 6th you will find that it reads as follows: ".....I have definitely accepted the action of the Board in replacing me as Administrator as of January 1st, 1947..." I did not accept, as you state, "The rearrangements of the assignments passed by the Board at its December 1st meeting." I am withholding my decision in this matter until I have consulted with the Board of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, which has the authority to make such an assignment.

You state that you hope no member of the Board will interpret my letter of the 6th to mean that I was not advised of the reason for this change in personnel and that I was not given an opportunity to speak. The fact remains that previous to the Board meeting on December 1st, no member of the Board gave me the slightest indication that a change was contemplated, and that my first knowledge of it was when I was recalled to the Board meeting and was told that the Board had replaced me as Administrator. Only after the action had been taken was I given an opportunity to speak. Naturally I was shocked and stunned by the information and found myself at a loss for words. In any event since I was told the action of the Board was final, words on my part seemed quite useless at that moment.

Incidentally the only reason given to me for the change was the stated desire on the part of the Board to relieve me of the arduous duties of a managerial nature, which, I can assure you, would be most agreeable to me. However, I gather from your letter of the 9th that the financial situation of the Conference was a primary factor in the entire matter. No intimation of this was given when the action of the Board was reported to me.

In the case of the Assistant Administrator and the Secretary of the Committee for Tennessee, my advice in the matter of eliminating the office of Assistant Administrator was not asked, and the secretary of the Committee for Tennessee had himself raised the question of his continuing with the Conference, which I duly reported to the Board.

Finally, may I ask if it was an oversight on your part or if you deem it of only secondary importance that you failed to answer the query that I placed at the head of my list of questions, "Should not the full Board of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare have been notified of the major personnel change contemplated?"

I agree with you wholeheartedly as to "the need of getting our message over to the people of the South, particularly at this time..." However, I am sure you also will agree that our message will fall on stony soil if we by our own operation give just cause of questioning the democratic procedures of the Conference.

Finally, I wish to reiterate my complete confidence in the good faith, integrity, and sincerity first of all of our President who has rendered such distinguished and unselfish service in the Conference since its inception, and in the personnel of our Board; a finer or more democratic group could not be assembled. Nevertheless my conviction is likewise firm and unshaken that a review and analysis of the procedure and issues involved in this action may serve the Conference well as a guide for the future and as a means of evolving the type of procedure and structure best calculated to insure the continued growth of the Conference as the instrument of the progressive South.

Faithfully yours,

James A. Dombrowski
Administrator.

CC: All Members of the Board of Representatives

NEW ORLEANS STATES

ISSUED EVERY WEEK-DAY EVENING
(FOUNDED JANUARY 3, 1880)

W. H. FITZPATRICK, Editor — WALTER A. VALOIS, Associate Editor

Entered at the United States Postoffice, New Orleans, as second-class matter; issued daily by The Times-Picayune Publishing Co., 615 North street, New Orleans, La.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dispatches are also reserved.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVE: Jann & Kelley, Inc., 366 Madison avenue, New York 17, N. Y.; 360 N. Michigan Blvd., Chicago 1, Ill.; General Motors Building, Detroit 2, Mich.; 323-327 Palmer Building, Atlanta 3, Ga.; 111 Sutter street, San Francisco 4, Cal.; 2404 W. Seventh street, Los Angeles 5, Cal.

THE NEW ORLEANS STATES IS AN AFTERNOON NEWSPAPER. IT PRINTS THE NEWS IMPARTIALLY. IT SUPPORTS WHAT IT BELIEVES TO BE RIGHT. IT OPPOSES WHAT IT BELIEVES TO BE WRONG, WITHOUT REGARD TO PARTY POLITICS.

Wallace, Wynken, Blynken and Nod

We learn from the New York Times special service the States brings you daily that Henry A. Wallace, editor of the New Republic, hints in his first editorial as editor of that magazine, esteemed in Moscow as elsewhere, that there may be a third party should the Democrats prove "incapable of change."

This is the best news we have heard for some time. We hope that Wallace is successful in his endeavor. We say that because we hope, sincerely, that the Democratic party will prove to be the sort of party Wallace must break away from, just as he was forced out of his secretary of commerce post by his betrayal of this country's avowed foreign policy.

We would like to see the Democratic party forever freed of Wallace and his kind. They do not represent the Democratic party. Wallace, Pepper, Marcantonio and the PAC have long been inmates of the same political harem. They ought to marry openly. They have our blessing.

For flower-girls and ring-bearers we suggest the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. This group of do-gooders, with a New York city committee for the South, mind you, has succeeded magnificently in alienating many who would ordinarily be found working for some of the things they stand for by their endorsement of objectives the South will not submit to.

These people and the SCHW are fellow-travelers on a road they have labeled "liberal," with signposts pointing to the land of Never-Never whose capital is that well-known place, the Better World.

These Wynken, Blynken and Nods don't tell you where the signs really point: To Reaction and Dictatorship. It is quite probable that many members of the SCHW don't know this. The kindest, most honest people in the world are sometimes taken in by occasional mountebanks who would have them believe that a Ph. D. is not a degree, but in reality a philosopher's stone.

Let us tell you where this "liberalism" would lead if the Fair Employment Practices Commission, which each of the individuals and groups noted herein are heartily in favor of, were enacted into law.

The FEPC would tell you whom you had to hire if there were a job open in your business and you employed more than six persons. Is that "Liberalism"? Is that fair?

The FEPC would deny to violators of its bureaucratic rulings the right to TRIAL BY JURY. Is that "Liberalism"? Is that fair?

That's the sort of "liberalism" the English-speaking peoples began to rid themselves of more than 700 years ago at Runnymede.

Instead of trying to mislead the people—including many of their members who have listened wide-eyed to these soothing promises of a better world no later than tomorrow by noon — the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, the PAC, the Wallaces, the Peppers and the Marcantonios ought to come out with a third party and make themselves known for what they are: Dreamers and would-be dictators who would tell you how to run your lives, your business, your households; how many children you ought to have, when and where, and what their names ought to be, or, even possibly, their numbers.

And how will they make out with this third party? Why, not too well, according to the Gallup Poll. We know them well, here in New Orleans, and they are known elsewhere for what they foster. Dr. Gallup says that to the question:

"If a third party is formed in this country by Henry Wallace, Claude Pepper, the CIO and other labor groups, do you think you would vote for that party"?

Only 10 per cent of those polled favored a third party.

They're Just Walking in That Direction, That's All

Marquis Childs — Washington Calling

Washington — Potatoes are a glut on today's market. The price of cotton has dropped sharply. Commodity futures are down. Those are storm warnings that a break in the wartime prosperity of agriculture is near.

It is a warning that we are going back to the old order of an overflowing abundance in one country and scarcity in the country next door. The old order meant business as usual and government as usual while farmers' incomes dwindled and people went hungry.

That is the folly which a group of men sitting around a conference table in New York are trying to cure. They are delegates to a 16-nation preparatory food commission. They hope to agree on an international organization which would pool surpluses [illegible] channel them where the ne[illegible] greatest.

All this began [illegible] of Sir John B[illegible] of UN's f[illegible] ganiza[illegible] mise, the 16 delegates to the conference in New York hope to agree. Under the British proposal, food surpluses would be accumulated by an international authority, but "no buffer stock could be set up without the consent of the countries concerned." Such an authority would have the right to sell surpluses under certain restrictions.

While this plan's method would be complicated, the essence of it is simple. It would be aimed at preventing poverty and hunger in the midst of plenty.

Strachey, in his speech at [illegible] penhagen, quoted the [illegible] "Here lies the [illegible] Pete[illegible] Who [illegible] mand.

But Britain's Laborites believe that planning—both on the national and the world scale—can do much to modify the cruel working of those "laws." On their side the British have most of the nations of Europe and the British Commonwealth. If we stand out for completely untrammeled free enterprise, we run the ri[illegible] of standing alone.

Acceptance of [illegible] as the Briti[illegible] much [illegible]

That Bomb Again — Our State in Pub[illegible]

PAUL R. CHRISTOPHER
STATE DIRECTOR, TENNESSEE

PHONE 2-9714

Schw-Contro

Organizing Committee

423½ W. DEPOT AVENUE
KNOXVILLE 17, TENN.

VAN A. BITTNER
NATIONAL DIRECTOR

SHERMAN H. DALRYMPLE
SECRETARY-TREASURER

December 17, 1946

Dr. George S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear George:

The enclosed copy of my letter to President Clark Foreman of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is self-explanatory, and is being sent to you purely for your information.

While writing this note, please allow me to express a sincere hope that you will have an enjoyable holiday season.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

Paul R. Christopher

Paul R. Christopher

PRC:k
enc

December 17, 1946

Mr. Clark Foreman, President
Southern Conference for Human Welfare
Murray Hill Hotel
New York, New York

Dear Clark:

I know that a Board member who doesn't attend Board meetings has but little real right to complain about actions of the Board.

I know very little about the motive or motives behind the action of the Board at the post-New Orleans Conference meeting, although it appears definite that Jim Donbrowski was removed from office as Administrator and replaced.

However, I am interested in the Southern Conference for Human Welfare because of what it can do to help the southern people and the nation as a whole. It would seem clear that achievement of our maximum effectiveness requires as near 100 per cent unanimity of agreement on the part of members of the Board as may be practicable.

There is no disputing the fact that considerable disagreement now exists within the Board, even on the part of members who participated in the last Board meeting, as to the wisdom of removing Jim from his position as Administrator. Frankly, I also question the wisdom of this action, even after talking briefly over the past week-end with Palmer Weber in Nashville.

I realize full well that I may not, and probably will not be able to attend the next meeting of the Board, because it will not be held in the State of Tennessee. But I do want to put in my two cents' worth by letter. Meanwhile, I sincerely hope the action of the Board at the last meeting will be held in obeyance as far as Jim's removal from office is concerned, pending reconsideration and further action at the next meeting.

With all good wishes and kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Paul R. Christopher
423½ West Depot Avenue
Knoxville 17, Tennessee

PRC:me
CC:All Members of Board of Representatives

SCHW controversy

gm

December 21, 1946

Dr. Clark Foreman
127 B. Street, Southeast
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dr. Foreman:

We have received a telegram today from Mr. Tarleton Collier about the board meeting to be held in Greensboro on January 5th.

Dr. Mitchell is out of town, and I will call this to his attention when he returns on December 26th. So far as I know, he will be able to attend the meeting.

Sincerely,

Anna S. Warwick
Secretary to George S. Mitchell

CLASS OF SERVICE

This is a full-rate Telegram or Cablegram unless its deferred character is indicated by a suitable symbol above or preceding the address.

WESTERN UNION

A. N. WILLIAMS
PRESIDENT

1201

SYMBOLS

DL = Day Letter
NL = Night Letter
LC = Deferred Cable
NLT = Cable Night Letter
Ship Radiogram

The filing time shown in the date line on telegrams and day letters is STANDARD TIME at point of origin. Time of receipt is STANDARD TIME at point of destination

QAO 5

Q. WA273-255 NL PD=WASHINGTON DC 20 1946 DEC 21 AM 6 17

DR GEORGE MITCHELL=
63 AUBURN AVE NORTH EAST CARE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL ATLA=..

AT THE REQUEST OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE I AM CALLING A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD FOR SUNDAY, JANUARY 5, AT ELEVEN AM IN THE OFFICE OF THE COMMITTEE FOR NORTH CAROLINA, 115 CHURCH STREET, GREENSBORO NORTH CAROLINA. PLEASE NOTIFY CLARK FOREMAN, 127 B STREET SOUTHEAST, WASHINGTON DC WHETHER OR NOT YOU WILL BE ABLE TO ATTEND=

TARLETON COLLIER SECRETARY SCHW.

IONS CONCERNING ITS SERVICE

SCHW 1946

WASHINGTON COMMITTEE

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

127 B Street, S. E., Washington 3, D. C. LIncoln 4820

December 23, 1946

TO BOARD MEMBERS, SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE:

As you are no doubt aware, the Board of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare at its meeting in New Orleans on December 1 decided unanimously that it would be inadvisable to continue the administration of both the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the Southern Conference Educational Fund by the same person.

Believing that Dr. Dombrowski's talents could better be used for the ~~board~~ broad work of the Educational Fund, which has always been considered a complementary though separate part of our general program, the Board appointed Miss Branson Price to serve as Administrator of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare beginning January 1, 1947.

Several members of the Board have requested the deferment of the appointment of Miss Price so that the Board meeting on February 2 could review the whole matter. In view of the specific language in Section 3 of Article XII of the By-Laws of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, I am bound to proceed in accordance with the Board's decision.

However, as President of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, I feel that it is desirable for the Board to have an early opportunity to review its decision. Accordingly I have requested the Secretary to call a special meeting of the Board at the earliest possible date after the holiday season. Notices have gone out to you calling the meeting for Greensboro, North Carolina for January 5 at 11:00 A.M. in the office of the Committee for North Carolina, 115 Church Street.

I hope you will attend the meeting in order that this and other matters can be resolved in the best interests of the organization.

With kindest regards.

Sincerely yours,

Clark Foreman

Clark Foreman, President
Southern Conference for Human Welfare

P.S. Your telegram has arrived. Glad you are going to be at meeting. C.F.

CF/gkl

Washington Committee—Executive Board: Dr. Joseph D. Johnson, Chairman; Mrs. Madeline Donner, Secretary; John Anderson, Treasurer; John Beecher; Henry Beitcher; Anna Berenson; Mrs. Dorothy S. Bowles; Dr. Ralph Bunche; Mrs. Virginia Durr; Mrs. Lucille Ezekiel; Dr. Dorothy B. Ferebee; Dr. E. Franklin Frazier; Mrs. Mame Mason Higgins; Mrs. George M. Johnson; Belford V. Lawson; Dr. R. E. R. Lovell; Mrs. Morris Rodman; Samuel Rodman; Malcolm Ross; Mrs. Elizabeth Sasuly; Carlton Skinner; Mrs. Carmelite Smith; Alfred E. Smith; Mrs. Michael Straus; Mrs. J. Daniel Weitzman; Mrs. Luke I. Wilson; Myrtle Powell, Executive Secretary.

National Officers: Dr. Frank P. Graham, Honorary President; Dr. Clark Foreman, President; Paul R. Christopher, Roscoe Dunjee, Mrs. Virginia Durr, William Mitch, Hollis V. Reid, Vice-Presidents; Tarleton Collier, Secretary; Josephine Wilkins, Parliamentarian; Dr. Alva W. Taylor, Treasurer; Dr. James A. Dombrowski, Administrator.

December 24, 1946

MEMORANDUM TO: Members of the Board of Representatives
Southern Conference for Human Welfare

FROM: James A. Dombrowski

SUBJECT: Finances - Analysis of Revenues 1946

For the guidance of the Board in the meeting on January 5th I have prepared a financial report for the past six months, from July 1st to December 12th. (Our last auditor's report covered the period from January 27 to June 30.)

Also I have made an analysis of the total revenues received by the National Office from January 27th to December 12th which is included in this memorandum.

Revenues July 1 - December 12

1. For the past 6 months (July 1 - Dec. 12) SCHW received a net total of 34,549.13 and the Southern Conference Educational Fund received 33,216.41, a total of 67,765.54.

2. Of this total (67,765.54) 7,971.39 was received from SCHW committees and 59,794.15 was received directly in the National Office. Of the total received by the National Office approximately 17,000 was raised on the west coast.

3. Of the total received from committees (7,971.39), 1,061.55 was received from state committees including Washington, and 6,909.84 net was received from the New York committee. (Total received from New York was 16,350.09 and total sent to New York for expenses was 9,440.25).

Total Revenues for the Year January 27 - December 12

4. Total revenues received in the National Office January 27-December 12 by SCHW and SCEF were 116,844.97.

5. Of the above total (116,844.97) 32,571 was received from SCHW committees and 84,277.81 was received directly in the National Office.

6. Of the total from SCHW committees (32,571) 6,329.28 came from the Washington committee; 6,608.46 from state committees other than Washington; and 19,633.95 net came from the New York committee.

Gross amount raised in the name of SCHW and SCEF

7. The gross amount raised by our various committees which did not pass through the National Office and by the National Office itself was approximately 180,688.32.

8. Of this total (180,688.32) 21,331.69 was received by the Washington committee, approximately 23,253.70 by the other state committees; 51,825.12 by the New York committee; and 84,277.81 by the National Office. (Note: the figure for Washington includes the month of January while the figure for New York does not).

9. Washington committee: Total revenues 21,331.69; total expenses 19,656.02 (including 1,054.03 to Nat'l office for per capita fees, and 5,275.25 to Nat'l office budget).

10. New York committee: Total revenues 51,825.12; expenses were 10,459.09 for salaries and 21,219.74 general office expense, a total of 31,679.03; a net gain of 20,145.79 of which 19,633.95 applied to budget of National office. (Note: this report is as of Dec. 12 and does not include returns of Lewis dinner not yet received in this office.)

REVENUES AND EXPENSES
July 1 - December 12, 1946

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE

Revenues
Individual memberships and contributions	8,380.96
Unions	5,245.00 (1)
Conventions	4,168.01
State committees	1,061.55
New York committee (net)	6,909.84 (2)
All other sources	2,783.77
Loans	6,000.00
SCEF	8,416.17
Total Revenues		42,965.30
On hand July 1		499.39
Total to be accounted for			43,464.69

Expenses
Administrative (including salaries of President, Administrator, Assistant Administrator, travel, convention expense)	12,928.74
General office expense, ofc. assistants	8,374.08
Activities and promotion	4,604.12
Subsidies to state committees	16,263.01
Misc.	85.82
Office moving and renovation	2,549.98
	44,805.75
-Withholding tax included twice	2,920.27
Total Expenses		41,885.48
On hand December 12		1,579.21
Total to be accounted for		43,464.69	43,464.69

(1) Additional $2,000 contributed by unions appears in N.Y. sum.

(2)	Received from N.Y.	16,350.09
	Sent to N.Y.	9,440.25
	N.Y. net	6,909.84

REVENUES AND EXPENSES
July 1 - December 12, 1946

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, Inc.

Revenues
Individual contributions	6,920.00
Foundations	7,000.00
All other sources	576.91
For special projects	18,619.50
Total revenues		33,216.41
On hand July 1		1,414.44
Total to be accounted for			34,630.85

Expenses
Travel	200.00
General office expense	276.84
Special projects	22,031.61
Electrical deposit	20.00
To SCHW (SCEF share gen'l ofc. expense)	8,416.17
Office moving and renovation	363.78
	31,308.40
-Withholding tax included twice	142.80
Total expenses		31,165.60
On hand December 12		3,465.25
Total to be accounted for			34,630.85

TOTAL OF SCHW AND SCEF

	SCHW	SCEF	TOTAL
Revenues	42,965.30	33,216.41	76,181.71*
On hand July 1	499.39	1,414.44	1,913.83
To be accounted for	43,464.69	34,630.85	78,095.54
Expenses	41,885.48	31,165.60	73,051.08*
On hand December 12	1,579.21	3,465.25	5,044.46
	43,464.69	34,630.85	78,095.54

*For net revenues and expenses deduct $8,416.17 (SCEF share general office expenses) from each total.

SCHW Controversy

The attached is submitted for your consideration in connection with the problems which are to be discussed at the special Board meeting January 5 in Grandmere.

James A. Dombrowski
Administrator.

Organizational, administrative and financial problems confronting

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare

As now constituted, the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is:

1. A Southwide progressive educational and social action membership organization, with associate membership in the North.
2. The coordinating agency of affiliated state bodies in six Southern states.
3. An influential factor in national political life through its Legislative Office in Washington D.C.
4. The publisher of a monthly magazine and of other educational and political action literature.
5. A non-profit business with a gross annual income for 1945 of about $100,000; by the close of 1946, about $200,000.

(The above includes the work both of the Conference and the Southern Conference Educational Fund. As used hereinafter, the term "the Conference" refers to the total undertaking described above).

The scope of the Conference's activities and the impact of its influence have increased sharply during the past two years. This growth has been due in large measure to the unusual amount of unity of purpose of its membership, its board, its state committee, and its staff. It has opened up wide vistas for future usefulness. At the same time, it has naturally revealed a number of 1)organizational, 2)administrative and 3)financial problems which must be grappled with immediately and realistically if the growth is to be successfully assimilated and further growth achieved.

The present outline does not attempt to offer detailed "solutions" for these problems. Intensive consideration by both Board and staff will be necessary for that. Certain broad principles can be suggested, however, around which this task can be approached.

I Organizational

The Conference should devote equal emphasis to maintaining a strong central Headquarters in the South and to strengthening existing state groups and creating additional ones as rapidly as feasible, organizationally and financially. Neither can be effective at the expense of the other. The program as a whole gets its grass-roots vitality from the state committees and, through their activities, comes to hrips with the local and state problems of the South. These operations must be strengthened and coordinated by Headquarters in order to have their maximum effectiveness; new state operations must be developed by Headquarters. The total impact of the Conference upon Southern and national developments must come through the coordination of all Conference activities by Headquarters.

Complex problems of program, administration and finance have arisen in this relationship, as they do in all comparable organizations during periods of rapid expansion. These have often been approached in the Conference, however, under the pressure of immediate program and organizational objectives, or of financial needs, without sufficient attention being devoted to to laying the basis of a stable and effective pattern of relationships. Differences of opinion as to the relative importance of the Southwide and state operations have not been sufficiently defined and clearly enough settled. There have, likewise, been sharp, unresolved differences of opinion as to the rapidity with which additional state units could be set into motion and assimilated into the whole.

There has also been insufficient clarity as to the relationship between Washington and New York operations and Headquarters.

The following broad principles are suggested as a basis for working out detailed plans and procedures for clarifying these relationships:

1. That the maintenance and further development of a strong Headquarters and publishing center be seen as the paramount organizational objective; and that all Conference activities be coordinated through this instrumentality, operating under the direction of the Board through the Administrator.

2. That immediate and concentrated attention be devoted to stabilizing the existing state committees as to program, administration and finance; and as to their relation to Headquarters.

3. That realistic plans and schedules be made for developing state Committees in the remaining Southern states.

4. That activities of the Washington and New York Offices be closely coordinated with Headquarters.

5. That the New York Office perform three principal functions:

   a. Broadening understanding in the North of the importance of Southern progressivism to the Nation as a whole.

   b. Raising funds for the Conference to supplement those raised in the South.

   c. Developing similar committees in such centers as Chicago, Detroit, Hollywood, Miami, etc.

II Administrative

An undertaking of this scope and importance requires the following as to staff:

1. Excellent qualifications, experience and devotion to the job.
2. Sufficient number to get the job done over a period of time without unfairly heavy responsibility; and with sufficient pay, and regularity of pay, to provide the basis for minimum personal and family security. Overstaffing and understaffing, overpay and underpay, are equally extravagant and unproductive.

Regarding division of responsibilities and lines of authority, the following is suggested:

1. The President, through his elective office, is responsible for carrying all the responsibilities usually associable with that position. As a salaried employee it is suggested that he be responsible for the following, with the understanding that all activities of the Conference be coordinated by the Administrator:

a) Representing the Conference at national legislative hearings.

b) Representing the Conference with progressive bodies, whose cooperation is sought, in Washington and the North.

c) Raising supplementary financial support for the Conference in the North.

d) Providing consultation to the Washington and New York, and other Northern, offices of the Conference.

e) Consulting with the Administrator concerning basically important decisions which need to be made between Board meetings.

2. The Administrator should be responsible for all Conference program, procedures and finance, and should, in addition, give his own detailed attention to:

a) Representing the Conference at all important conventions and gatherings in the South where its message can be heard and its support increased.

b) Raising money in the South and stimulating the state committees' activities in this connection.

c) Conferring with state committees concerning their program emphases

d) Supervising the work of two associate administrators, as below.

3. Associate Administrator in charge of program coordination, office management, personnel, fiscal procedures, etc. This person should be responsible for:

a) Financial and budget-control of all operations.

b) Control and renewal of membership, subscription, contribution lists.

c) Control of monthly narrative anf financial reports from all Conference units.

d) Office management of Headquarters.

e) Preparing reports for Board Meetings on the above.

4. Associate Administrator in charge of publications, education and expansion. This person should be responsible for:

a) Editing "The Patriot." (With time for research, planning, writing and editing, this activity requires a minimum of two weeks per month.)

b) Editing all Conference publications.

c) Coordinating the education and publication work of all Conference units.

d) Press releases and public relations.

e) Laying the basis for the establishment of Conference committees in unorganized states.

It is seen as being imperative that at least one of the above three offices at Headquarters be held by a Negro. It is held, without question, that the Headquarters administrative job cannot be done by two persons in a way that will realize the full organizational and financial potentialities of the Conference. However, if only two administrative persons are employed, it is strongly desirable that one of them should be a Negro.

5. Headquarters staff must, in addition, include:

a) An experienced bookkeeper-accountant with no other duties.

b) Two full-time secretaries for the three administrative workers.

c) One or more circulation, membership and file clerks.

6. State Committees: A comparably detailed suggestion for staffing of state committees and the Washington and New York offices is not made at this time. It is suggested as a principle, however, that state secretaries be made administratively responsible to Headquarters, while remaining responsible to the boards of the various state committees. In other words, they should be employed by Headquarters with the approval of the state committees, rather than the other way around. It is also strongly recommended that none of them try to function without at least one full-time clerical assistant.

No.

III
Financial

Immediate, unusual and intensive effort must be devoted to the current financial needs of the Conference by the entire Conference, staff and membership. Until this critical situation is met realistically, the continued existence of the Conference is in grave danger. Before discussing plans for meeting the crisis, however, let us set down a few of the factors which have contributed to it and some of the principles around which its recurrence can be prevented.

Factors contributing to the crisis:

1) The inherent difficulty of raising money for such a progressive program.

2) The very rapid recent expansion (due to growth) in the Conference's overall gross cost.

3) The reluctance of many members, Board members and staff members to devote the needed emphasis, time, energy and planning to fund-raising.

4) The lack of sufficiently detailed budgeting and budget-control.

5) The rising cost of living, leading to additional operating costs, on the one hand, and less surplus wealth to be contributed, on the other.

6) Lack of sufficient clarity as to the population groupings (and thus of the proper dues) from which membership is mainly drawn.

7) Insufficiently exact definition of the correct relative financial responsibility (as between Headquarters and the States) for state committee development.

Principles ofor stabilizing Conference finances:

OK 1) Gross and net budgets should be set up for all SCHW operations; they should be controlled monthly; this control should be coordinated by Headquarters.

OK 2) State committees should be guaranteed, from Headquarters, only the salary of the state executive secretary, all other program, maintenance and staff expenses being raised in the state. (Under extraordinary circumstances, and if Headquarters has the surplus, loans could be made, in addition, to state committees).

OK 3) Financial, as well as narrative, reports should be sent to Headquarters by the states promptly at monthly intervals, along with form reports as to memberships, contributions, fund-raising events, social and political activities, etc.

Doubtful 4) Especially during the present crisis, but probably on a regular basis, each state secretary should spend at least a month in a Northern or Western city raising funds. Another month should be devoted by each state committee to concentrated fund-raising, with regular fund-raising activities being spread out during the entire year. (The fund-raising in the North and West should be coordinated and facilitated by the New York Committee.)

OK 5) The minimum membership fee should be increased to $5.00, of which $3.00 should remain in states which have committees; subscription to "The Patriot" should be increased to $2.00; "Patriot" subscriptions in groups of 25 or more at one time and in one organization, $1.00 each.

6) Quarterly budget-control reports should be sent all Board members, covering all Conference units.

The Immediate Financial Crisis

1) This crisis must be defined as to scope and intensity; definite objectives must be set, and reasonable time limits established, for all Conference units.

2) Major attention of all Conference board members, staff and members must be concentrated upon this crisis until it is removed.

3) The campaign to accomplish this should be carried out in accordance with the principles outlined above.

4) Reasonable minimum reserves should be established and the Conference put upon a solvent fiscal basis as quickly as possible. Future political action, as as well as organizational and staff committments, should be made on the basis of money actually available or conservatively attainable. These committments should be made by a finance committee of the board advising the Administrator.

C
O
P
Y

December 28, 1946

My dear Aubrey:

I am glad that you wrote frankly your views on the present situation in the Conference, for I va ue your judgment as I do few others; also I am mindful of the fact that one with your long experience in administrative work gives your opinion special weight in this instance.

We are in complete accord that there is only one issue at stake--what is best for the future of the Conference. If I were certain that by adopting the new arrangement the best interests of the Conference would be served, I would accept it without question. You apparently think it would. I am now, as always, I trust, open to reason and would be glad to have you share your reasoning with me. Meanwhile May I take the liberty of giving you some of my own thoughts on the matter.

May I say first that personal consideration, however important to our friends, should be forgotten in this case. Thus, the point that you make in your letter to Lucy concerning the fact that there had been no consultation with me concerning my replacement as Administrator is of little consequence to me and really not too important, aside from what value personnel relations may have in any organization.

As I see it, there are two major issues involved. First, the manner in which this action was taken and its significance in terms of democratic procedure.

It is a fact that 9 (6 of them new members) out of 34 Board members took action about as important as any action that can be imagined, without permitting the rest of the Board to express their views. The action taken involved the dismissal of the chief administrative official, the appointment of his successor, and a major change in the structure of the organization.

Is this the kind of procedure that builds confidence on the part of the Board and the membership in the democratic intent and procedure of the Conference? Can such procedure be justified? In my letter to the Board the first and most important point that I raised was"...should not the full Board of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare have been notified of the major personnel change contemplated?"

Thus far no one to my knowledge has attempted to justify the manner in which the Board acted in this instance.

The second important issue, as I see it, concerns the wisdom of the action taken. The action clearly was intended to change the duties and responsibilities of the Administrator, from those defined in the by-laws, Article XII, Section 3. This was made clear in the conversation I had with the Board member who said he was responsible for the new arrangement, subsequent to the Board's action. He said there was no thought in any one's mind that the new Administrator would perform all of the functions previously associated with the office, and indicated that the office would be a purely managerial nature. Passing over the fact that it certainly is not a proper function of the Board arbitrarily to change the by-laws or to act contrary to their provisions in so important a matter, consider the full significance of this change. It seems to me obvious that an organization with 5 offices, with gross revenues close to $200,000 this year, must require some central direction and focus of responsibility. Under this new arrangement, that would be in Washington or New York, wherever the president resided.

Bear in mind that the Board spent the better part of a year formulating the new bylaws, with many meetings for that express purpose, one of them, with Dr Frank Graham present, lasting for 14 consecutive hours; that this question of whether or not the Conference should have its principal administrative official in the South or not was a question that received long and tedious discussion and it was decided that the Board wanted such an official in the South; that the question of whether the Administrator was really to be an Administrator in name andin fact also was carefully canvassed and the results recorded in plain English in Article XII, Section.2. "Authority shall reside in the Administrator for administering the work of the corporation."

I have elaborated my view on the importance of a strong Southwide headquarters office and its relationship to the state committees and other offices in the mimeographed statement which you have received.

The above covers the two major issues in this controversy. However, I would like to refer briefly to the financial problem. Clark Foreman has stated in his letter to me of the 9th, copies of which were sent to the Board, that the financial situation was a factor of considerable importance in the decision of the Board. As a matter of fact, it probably was the crucial one. Since you have been serving on the Board only a short time, you may not be familiar with the financial picture and a few observations may help you to better understand the situation.

First, I refer you to the analysis of revenues for 1946 which was mailed to you December 24. I would be interested to know your reaction to it.

A few members of the Board have been led to believe that this office has been relying on the New York office for its revenues, and was perhaps falling down in the matter of fund raising. Now it is not the function of the Administrator to assume responsibility for financing the organization, and such was not the intent of the Board. Nevertheless this office has always been entirely self-supporting. In 1946 this office received only 17% of its revenues from the New York office, carrying not only the administrative and office expense but the program expense as well, with the exception of the subsidies to the state committees. Also the Administrator personally solicited the largest single contribution of the year, $10,000 from the UAW-CIO. I do not mention this to minimize the work of the New York office, of which we are all proud, but to correct a wrong impression as to this office. The difficulty here is that the Conference has expanded too rapidly for its income and has failed to work with proper budget controls and a sound fiscal policy. As Administrator I of course must assume a share of the responsibility for our present indebtedness but it is a matter of record that I have consistently advised against and opposed this rapid expansion and the assuming of ever larger obligations when we were failing to meet current obligations. (The chairman of our finance committee appeared to have a horror of a bank balance while I have a horror of debts).

In meeting the financial problems, the Board should act only after a careful analysis of all the available information, and profiting by past experience. I know that the Board did not have such information at hand in making its decisions on December 1.

Finally, may I point out that this office has been woefully understaffed for the tasks assigned to it and the Administrator has been carrying about three persons' jobs because with the ever larger commitments to the state committees, f r one thing, and the assumption of a ten thousand dollar indebtedness of the NCAFT, he did not see his way clear to make further demands upon the budget. Without doubt we need a person here to take over the managerial functions of the office. I refer you to my mimeographed statement for my views on the staff requirements for the Southwide headquarters. But I do not understand the logic in taking our most experienced money raiser out of the field and giving her this office assignment at a time when we should be launching our most intensive fund raising drive to meet the present emergency, a campaign in which her full energies and abilities should be demanded.

Please pardon my dragging you through such a long letter. When a man in whom I have so much confidence does not agree with me, I find it necessary to review carefully my own ground. Please do let me have your further reactions when you have had time to consider this and the mimeographed material.

With best wishes for the New Year.

Affectionately,

Controversy

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

Publishers of
The Southern PATRIOT

808 Perdido St. New Orleans, Louisiana

December 28, 1946

Dear George:

I believe my letter to Aubrey Williams will interest you and may help to clarify some of the issues.

I look forward to seeing you at Greensboro. I leave here the morning of the 2nd and will arrive at the O'Henry Hotel, Greensboro, the night of the 2nd or the morning of the 3rd.

Sincerely,

Jim

A Declaration OF Civil Rights

This Declaration was approved at a Conference on Civil Rights at Madison Hall, University of Virginia, November 20, 1948, and formally adopted the same day at Monticello, Virginia.

A Declaration of Civil Rights

We make the following declaration as Americans deeply committed to our form of government and our way of life:

It is useful at any time to re-examine day-to-day practices in the light of professed beliefs. Such an examination seems especially appropriate today, because: Many fellow citizens, especially in our Southern States, are unashamedly advocating ideas of racism and white supremacy contrary to American democracy; Truth and justice are not bounded or divided by parallels of latitude — this is one country and one people, governed under one constitution; A rapidly changing world requires a new analysis of the meaning of equality and freedom adequate for new conditions; Finally, the United States today is bidding for world leadership. Practice at home of what we advocate abroad is the only road to effective leadership.

With these ideas in mind, we, the undersigned citizens of the Southern States and of the United States, have taken a fresh look at our American heritage of freedom and equality for all, and how it works out in actual practice. We present here our findings and conclusions in all sincerity, hopeful that our efforts may stimulate others to undertake a similar discipline.

We still believe all men are created equal, and are endowed as men with certain rights which each must respect and guard to the other.

We take these rights to include equality before the law, and freedom from any discrimination bolstered by law; a right to vote; freedom of expression; an unrestricted access to all institutions supported by taxes for the public welfare, schools and hospitals not excepted; equal pay for equal work, and equal opportunity to receive training and to gain employment; and the right of unsegregated transportation, housing and assembly.

For many of our citizens enjoyment of these rights is denied and abridged by laws and conventions contrary to justice, and to the aims and purposes of this republic. We recognize the habitual and cultivated prejudices upon which such discriminations are sustained; we recognize the need of protections in law, and in the enforcement of law, to these rights, in our day.

While we are gratified at what progress has been made, past achievements should serve as an incentive to greater progress and not as an excuse for our failure to meet present obligations.

This nation was founded with the declaration that all men are created equal and are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights.

We are proud that these words were given to the world by a Southerner, Thomas Jefferson.

Closely associated with the idea of equality and the political democracy built upon it is another concept basic to American culture, the idea of the brotherhood of all mankind. It was given to us many centuries ago in the Hebrew-Christian tradition — "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

We understand the historic conditions that gave rise to our present plight. However, those conditions long ago ceased to exist, although their effects endure.

Discrimination inevitably means lower living standards for those who discriminate as well as for those who are victims of discrimination. Although the South is one of the richest regions in the United States in natural resources, the average citizen in a Southern State has an income forty percent lower than that of a citizen in a non-Southern state.

Today we are bound by economic, political and ethical demands to abolish segregation and discrimination against racial, religious, and national groups.

To bring American ideals and deeds into closer harmony, we offer the following proposals:

I. For Voluntary Individual Action: To speak out against discrimination when it is confronted in a particular case; to guard against prejudice in thought, word, and deed; to cultivate the habit of thinking of all persons as individuals, rather than as members of a group.

II. For Voluntary Group Action: (By educational, religious, fraternal, labor, business, professional, civic, and other groups.) To inform and educate their members as to present inequities and injustices, and to secure their consent and approval of changes in constitutions, by-laws and practices needed to establish these rights.

III. For Legislation: (a) Repeal of existing laws in violation of these principles, notably all laws that force public distinction based on color, religion, or national origin. (b) Passage of new legislation at federal, State and local levels to serve as a shield to the civil rights of the citizens, including the rights outlined above.

Adopted at Monticello, Virginia November 20, 1948

The above Declaration was endorsed by 200 citizens of the Southern States, including:

ALABAMA

A. D. BEITTEL, President, Talledega College

OLIVER C. COX, Prof. of Sociology, Tuskegee Institute

ALTON LAWRENCE, Rep. M.M. & S.W.U.-C.I.O., Bessemer

TOM LUDWIG, Mgr., Farmers Union Fertilizer Cooperative, Andalusia

AUBREY WILLIAMS, Publisher, Southern Farmer, Montgomery

REV. DAN WHITSETT, First Methodist Church Sylacauga

ARKANSAS

FRANZ ADLER, Asst. Prof. University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

JOHN BROSS, Head, Dept. of Bible, College of the Ozarks, Clarksville

ALBERT H. CARTER, Prof. of English, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

WESLEY DAVIS, Instructor, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

DEAN H. W. KLAEPFER, College of the Ozarks, Clarksville

MARCELL CHANCELLOR LEATH, Author, Camden

DEE POTTS, Danforth Graduate Fellow, University of Arkansas

BUCKLEY RUDD, Prof. of Religion, College of the Ozarks, Clarksville

FLORIDA

REV. HENRY W. BLACKBURN, Supt. Miami District, The Methodist Church, Miami

CARROLL F. CUMBEE, Head, Dept. of Educational Psychological Measurement, Univerversity of Florida, Gainesville

MISS BERTHA E. DAVIS, Retired Missionary, Orlando

ROYAL A. FRANCE, Prof. of Economics, Rollins College, Winter Park

MARION I. MANLEY, Architect, Coconut Grove

JAMES J. MARSHALL, Attorney, Miami

A. R. MEADE, Director, Bureau of Educational Research, University of Florida, Gainesville

CHARLES EUGENE MOUNTS, Assoc. Prof. of English, University of Florida, Gainesville

AUDREY L. PACKHAM, Prof. of Education, Rollins College, Winter Park

DR. MARK WALDMAN, Miami Beach

GEORGIA

RUFUS E. CLEMENT, President, Atlanta University

LAVINIA B. GEORGE, Organizer, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Atlanta

MRS. LOUIS HOLSEY, Social Worker, Macon

DAVID N. HOWELL, Atlanta

THOMAS W. JOHNSON, Attorney, Macon

BENJAMIN E. MAYS, President, Morehouse College, Atlanta

E. C. PETERS, President, Paine College, Augusta

HELEN POPE, Social Worker, Augusta

CHARLES E. SHERMAN, Student Religious Worker, Atlanta

KENTUCKY

DEAN JULIA F. ALLEN, Berea College

REV. C. MORTON, Presbyterian Seminary, Louisville

MYRON TAGGERT HOPPER, Prof. of Religious Education, College of the Bible, Lexington

MRS. EMMET F. HORINE, Brooks

JULIAN P. LOVE, Prof. Biblical Theology, Presbyterian Seminary, Louisville

DOUGLAS H. MORRISON, Pres., Christian Assoc., Union College, Barbourville

DORCAS RUTHENBURG, Writer & Producer, Radio Station WHAS, Louisville

ANNA H. SETTLE, Louisville

LOUISIANA

MIRIAM BARRANGER, Artist, Covington

THEODORE S. BEHRE, Secy.-Treas., Pelican Ice. Co., New Orleans

REV. EDWIN L. BROCK, Ponchatoula

WARNER DUBOSE, JR., Third Presbyterian Church, New Orleans

RABBI JULIAN B. FEIBLEMAN, New Orleans

ROBERT D. FEILD, Dean, Art School, Newcomb College, New Orleans

ELWOOD GRISCOM, American Veterans Committee, New Orleans

H. HORNE HUGGINS, M.D., Baton Rouge

JAMES E. LEWIS, President, Peoples Life Insurance Co., New Orleans

RUDOLPH MOSES, Prof. of English and Head, Dept., of Fine Arts, Dillard University, New Orleans

MARYLAND

CLIFFORD T. MORGAN, Prof. of Psychology, Baltimore

MISSISSIPPI

FRANK ARMSTEAD, Newton

EARL B. BROWN, Jackson College

J. A. BURNS, Attorney, Meridan

J. LEWIS HENDERSON, Bay St. Louis

A. J. NOEL, Jackson

MISSOURI

REV. LEON R. ROBINSON, Second Baptist Church, St. Louis

REV. LEE C. SHEPPARD, First Baptist Church, Columbia

Please clip and mail to: SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.
808 Perdido Street. New Orleans, La.

We invite you to add your name to the group that has endorsed this Declaration.

☐ You may add my name to the Declaration.

☐ Send me without charge _____ copies of the Declaration.

☐ I enclose $_____ as my contribution to help with the distribution of the Declaration.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

TITLE _____

(For identification only)

NORTH CAROLINA

L. E. AUSTIN, Editor, The Carolina Times, Durham

DR. WALDO BEACH, Assoc. Prof. of Christian Ethics, Duke University, Durham

W. L. GREEN, Exec. Sec., North Carolina Teachers Assoc., Raleigh

C. HORACE HAMILTON, Head, Dept. of Rural Sociology, State College, Raleigh

REV. J. C. HERRIN, First Baptist Church, Chapel Hill

REV. CHARLES M. JONES, Presbyterian Church, Chapel Hill

HENRY KAMPHOEFNER, Dean, School of Design, State College, Raleigh

REV. JAMES W. RAY, State Secretary, Baptist Student Union, Raleigh

J. B. RHINE, Duke University, Durham

OSCAR K. RICE, Prof. of Chemistry, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

MARION A. WRIGHT, Attorney, Linville Falls

A. B. YEOMANS, Southern Pines

OKLAHOMA

REV. GEORGE B. BAKER, The Methodist Church, Weatherford

REV. DONALD BLACK, Pres., Oklahoma Council of Churches, Oklahoma City

ARTHUR N. BRAGG, Asst. Prof. of Zoology, University of Oklahoma, Norman

REV. E. N. COMFORT, Formerly Dean, School of Religion, University of Oklahoma

CORTEZ A. M. EWING, Prof. of Government, University of Oklahoma, Norman

HENRY H. FOSTER, JR., Prof. of Law, University of Oklahoma, Norman

JOHN W. HUNT, Pres., Westminister Foundation, University of Oklahoma, Norman

J. R. NIELSON, Research Prof. of Physics, University of Oklahoma, Norman

LAWRENCE H. SNYDER, Dean of the Graduate School, University of Oklahoma, Norman

SOUTH CAROLINA

A. T. BUTLER, Secy., Palmetto State Teachers Assoc., Columbia

J. R. ROY COOPER, Assoc. Secy., YMCA, Clemson College, Clemson

JAMES MCBRIDE DABBS, Mayesville

B. J. DRAKE, Bennettsville

REV. JOHN B. ISOM, Saxon Baptist Church, Spartanburg

J. M. LOFTON, JR., Writer, McClellanville

THE RT. REV. F. MADISON REID, Bishop A.M.E. Church, Columbia

REBECCA REID, Retired, Natl. Secy. for Colleges of YWCA, Sumter

MRS. A. W. SIMKINS, Columbia

TENNESSEE

H. D. BOLLINGER, Methodist Board of Education, Nashville

JOHN L. ESSARY, Editor, The East Tennessee Labor News (A.F. of L.), Knoxville

FYKE FARMER, Attorney, Nashville

GEORGE HARPER, Secy., Natl. Methodist Youth Fellowship, Nashville

H. N. HATLEY, Tennessee Farmers Union, Greeneville

MYLES HORTON, Director, Highland Folk School, Monteagle

LARRY LARSEN, Regional Director, FTA-CIO, Memphis

ROBERT M. METCALF, M.D., Pleasant Hill

JENNINGS PERRY, Formerly Editor, The Nashville Tennessean, Nashville

C. C. REED, Business Agent, Carpenters Union, Knoxville

RONALD SLAYTON, Assoc. Prof. of Arts and Crafts, University of Tenn., Knoxville

REV. EUGENE SMATHERS, Pastor, Calvary Church, Big Lick

ALVA W. TAYLOR, Formerly Prof. of Religion, Vanderbilt University, Nashville

TEXAS

KATHERINE S. ARNOLD, Head Resident, Wesley Community House, San Antonio

REGINA BOYD, El Paso

RABBI HENRY COHEN, Galveston

REV. FRED E. COLE, University Community Church, Austin

C. FRANK COUNCIL, Corpus Christi

REV. SHERWOOD DAVIS, Pastor, Los Angeles Heights Methodist Church, San Antonio

MARGARET FISHER, Student Religious Worker, Dallas

DR. JOHN C. GRANBERY, Editor, The Emancipator, San Antonio

MARY GUARISCO, Houston

LEO HUGHES, Assoc. Prof. of English, University of Texas, Austin

ALEX D. KRIEGER, Prof. of Archaeology, University of Texas, Austin

ARTHUR MANDELL, Attorney, Houston

REV. H. M. RATLIFF, Mission

E. A. RIPPERGER, Asst. Prof. Engineering Mechanics, University of Texas, Austin

W. A. SMITH, Secy., University YMCA, University of Texas, Austin

RALPH L. STIRMAN, Architect, Abilene

G. J. SUTTON, Board Member, San Antonio Junior College

LULU WHITE, Exec. Secy., NAACP, Houston

VIRGINIA

MRS. R. R. BARRETT, Warrenton

REV. B. F. BUNN, First Baptist Church, Charlottesville

EDWARD S. CARDOZA, Richmond

FRANK DANIEL, M.D., Charlottesville

OSCAR H. DARTER, Prof., Mary Washington College of Univ. of Virginia

VIRGINA DURR, Alexandria

FRANK W. FINGER, Assoc. Prof. of Psychology, University of Virginia, Charlottesville

EDWARD B. HARRIS, M.D., Crewe

OLIVER W. HILL, Attorney, Richmond

JOSEPH B. HUNTER, Assoc. Prof. of Religion, Lynchburg College

L. P. JACKSON, Prof. of History, Virginia State College, Petersburg

BROWNIE LEE JONES, Director, Southern School for Workers, Richmond

LAURA ANN KING, President, YWCA, Hollins College

MR. & MRS. JACK P. MARASH, Richmond

L. F. PALMER, Prof., Hampton Institute

REV. MARVIN G. PALMERLEE, First Unitarian Church, Richmond

MARVIN CAPLAN, Editor, Southern Jewish Outlook, Richmond

MRS. A. H. STRAUS, Exec. Secy., Richmond Public Forum

REV. MALCOLM R. SUTHERLAND, Thomas Jefferson Unitarian Church, Charlottesville

CHARLES C. WEBBER, President, Virginia CIO Council, Richmond

REV. OSCAR B. WOOLDRIDGE, JR., Gen. Secy., YMCA, University of Virginia

Titles are given for identification only

The Southern Conference Educational Fund is a non-partisan, non-profit educational agency concerned with the elimination of discrimination and segregation based on race, religion, and nationality in the Southern States. OFFICERS: AUBREY WILLIAMS, President; HELEN FULLER, Vice-President; BENJAMIN E. MAYS, Vice-President; ALVA W. TAYLOR, Secretary-Treasurer; JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI, Director.

THE JOURNAL OF NEGRO EDUCATION

VOL. XIX WINTER, 1950 No. 1

Attitudes of Southern University Professors Toward the Elimination of Segregation in Graduate and Professional Schools in the South

A POLL OF SOUTHERN COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS has just been completed by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. The returns reveal that seven out of every ten teachers who replied favor immediate admission of Negroes to the graduate and professional schools of the South, without segregation.

THE POLL AND PERSONS POLLED

The purpose of the poll was to ascertain the opinion of college and university professors on the question of the elimination of segregated graduate and professional education for Negroes in the South, in order to provide equal educational opportunities for Negroes in these fields. The professors were requested to check any one of the following alternatives as indicating their attitude upon the question:

Plan A.—"Open existing graduate and professional schools to Negroes without segregation."

Plan B.—"Open existing graduate schools with segregation."

Plan C.—"Establish new graduate schools for Negroes."

Plan D.—"Establish regional, segregated graduate schools for Negroes (The Southern Governors' Plan)."

Using the catalogs of 155 higher institutions in 14 Southern and border states as a source, ballots were sent to approximately 15,000 teachers in these institutions. With one exception, the University of West Virginia, no state university was included in the list of 130 institutions for white students covered by the poll. State universities were not included because they were covered by a similar poll last year.

The University of West Virginia was included for two reasons. It was not included in the previous poll, and it is one of the seven states where separate schools are maintained by law, but where the racial bar has been lowered in the graduate schools of the state university. Thus, it provides a laboratory check on the attitudes of a faculty which has had practical experience with mixed classes.

Some 3422 usable replies were received. (Of the 3422 replies received, 3,134—91%—were from teachers in 130 "white" institutions and 288—9%—were from teachers in 25 "Negro" institutions.) The replies were generally representative of the schools polled. And, as will be noted later, the trend in this poll approximated very closely the results of a similar poll of "white" state university teachers last year (1948).

(This is a reprint of the first)
(two pages of a sixteen-page article)

Results of the Poll

Table I indicates the number and per cent of votes in each state cast for each of the four alternatives.

TABLE I

NUMBER AND PER CENT OF SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS IN 14 SOUTHERN STATES AND THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA FAVORING EACH OF FOUR ALTERNATIVES RELATIVE TO THE ELIMINATION OF RACIAL SEGREGATION IN GRADUATE AND PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS IN THE SOUTH, BY STATES

	Plan A		Plan B		Plan C		Plan D
State	No.	Per Cent	No.	Per Cent	No.	Per Cent	No.	Per Cent	Total
Alabama	126	50%	10	4%	6	2%	110	44%	252
Arkansas	37	73	2	4	1	2	11	21	51
Florida	286	70	7	2	7	2	109	26	409
Georgia	111	58	4	2	2	1	76	39	193
Kentucky	240	84	5	2	6	2	35	12	286
Mississippi	28	39	7	10	6	8	31	43	72
N. Carolina	318	74	10	2	6	2	96	22	430
S. Carolina	121	53	6	3	5	2	95	42	227
Tennessee	155	68	7	3	2	1	63	28	227
Texas	441	69	25	4	33	5	143	22	642
Virginia	208	80	3	1	3	1	48	18	262
W. Virginia	126	97	0	0	0	0	4	3	130
Maryland	121	92	1	1	3	2	5	5	131
Delaware	7	100	0	0	0	0	0		7
Dist. Columbia	49	83	1	1	0		9	16	59
State Unknown	38	86	0	0	0		6	14	44
Total	2,412	70.5%	88	3%	80	2%	842	24.5%	3,422

NEW DAY DAWNING

The Negro and Medicine . . by Alfred Maund

Livingston, Ala.

I believe in strekt segregation. It is better for bothe races. The average negroe is incapable of competing, mentally, with the average white person. Neither is the average white person capable of competing, physically, with the average negroe. Each will do better when associated with his own race. A few extry smart negros and a few low minded whites would like to amalgamate the two races and that is really what non-segregation means.

When a white doctor in Oklahoma sends you this comment, with its quaint spelling, it is hard not to think he is kidding. But serious or not, his views appear charmingly naive in comparison with the following statement from an internal-medicine specialist in the District of Columbia:

ALFRED MAUND is on the faculty of State Teachers College at Livingston, Alabama.

How about the health needs of our racial germ plasm? Do we know enough in this direction to be leaping into the dark, literally as well as figuratively? Non-segregation on the social level . . . will provoke miscegenation and hasten the fusion of two widely distinguished races. Does anyone know just what this might mean? No one does. I shudder before the possibilities.

The letters of both physicians were comments on a questionnaire mailed to the 42,500 white doctors listed in the A. M. A. Directory for seventeen Southern and border states and the District of Columbia by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, an anti-discrimination organization with headquarters in New Orleans. These were the questions:

1. Which of the following plans do you think best serves the health needs of the entire community? (A) Admit patients to hospitals without segregation. (B) Admit Negro and white patients to the same hospital with segregation. (C) Maintain separate hospitals for Negro and white patients.

2. Would you favor the admission of Negro physicians to your county medical society?

3. Would you favor granting hospital privileges to Negro physicians in hospitals in which you practice?

Replies were received from 5,750 physicians, of which 3,928 were signed. Racial segregation of patients was strongly supported. Plan B was favored by 64 per cent of the voters, Plan C by 11 per cent, Plan A by 17 per cent. The other 8 per cent either did not answer the question or suggested other arrangements. A Delaware doctor summed up the sentiments of a sizable number of his colleagues when he wrote: "In theory I favor Plan A. However, in actual practice admission without segregation in this locality would meet with overwhelming lay criticism at the present time."

The vote on the admission of Negro doctors to county medical societies and hospital staffs was overwhelmingly affirmative—71 per cent in favor, with another 3 per cent giving qualified approval.

THIS FIGURE indicates a grass-roots sentiment directly counter to the general practice of the medical societies in the states surveyed. Too often, even where Negro doctors are admitted to membership, they enjoy only the privilege of attending scientific meetings and are not eligible for appointment as hospital staff members. It should be noted, however, that Florida has had full integration for more than two years; the District of Columbia society opened its rolls last July; and in the past few months county societies in Charleston (S. C.), Macon (Ga.), and Little Rock (Ark.) have accepted Negroes as full members.

What motivated this group of Southern doctors, with their strong concern for regional mores, to vote so consistently for liberalization of their organizations? The counsel of a district medical society in Arkansas wrote: "As a medical society is a scientific organization and not a social organization, I see no reason to limit its membership on either race, color, or creed; it should be limited only by character, moral standing, educational background, etc." (One of his colleagues in the state queried: "If you admit colored people, what about the auxiliary? When the auxiliary has a party, would you want your wife to dance with a colored doctor?")

A Texas surgeon declared: "A Negro physician is usually a well-qualified gentleman; regardless of the color . . . I had rather have a fine Negro doctor than the jealous jackass that we so often contact." (A Mississippian countered: "In so far as I know, none of the Negro physicians practicing here are eligible for membership . . . because of their inadequate training. I have a number of good colored patients. All tell me the colored doctors are 'plain no-count.'")

"Although I am of the opinion that the admission of Negro physicians will be bitterly opposed," said an Alabama doctor, "unless we admit them voluntarily they can go to court and force us to admit them, since they will have to gain admission for qualification as members of various specialty boards, societies, etc." Another Alabamian added, "I do believe that in order to raise the standards of practice of Negro physicians and encourage migration of competent Negro physicians and surgeons to a given community, some sort of hospital affiliation is in order."

These doctors are working in states which have the worst public-health records in the United States. The national average of rejections in Selective Service examinations is around 30 per cent; in only three of the states polled is the rate less than 40 per cent, and all are above the average. Local Selective Service officials will admit, privately, that the great majority of those rejected are Negro. Conditions in Atlanta were described succinctly by one doctor: "There are twenty Negro physicians to help serve a Negro population of 100,000. Mortality rates are unreasonably high in our local Negro hospitals. The medical background of many of these Negro physicians is shallow." In Baltimore, said another, "there is a great shortage of all types of hospital beds for Negro patients, but particularly obstetrical beds. Yet there are 'white' beds empty which could be used for them."

Southern laymen who believe that medical facilities ought to be shared according to need regardless of race should be aroused by these returns to take direct action. They should encourage the liberal minority in the medical profession and bring pressure to bear on its conservative leadership. Some Southerners have already taken up the gauntlet.

The Southern Conference Educational Fund has begun a series of projects designed to alert the public to the inequities of segregated medical care. Aubrey Williams, Alabama publisher and writer, is president of this organization, and six college presidents and deans are on its board. Its funds are supplied by some 3,000 individual contributors over the country. Besides taking the poll described above, it has investigated other aspects of the subject.

The Interracial Hospital Movement of Kentucky has presented to the governor a petition with 10,000 signatures demanding that equal hospital facilities be made available to all citizens. As a result, the last session of the Kentucky Senate passed unanimously a bill to rescind the operating license of any institution denying treatment to a patient because of race or creed. Although the House later modified the measure to read "denying emergency treatment," the law is a big step forward.

BUT AS IN THE CASE of the public schools, the ultimate solution may lie with the courts. If integration of tax-supported hospital wards were enforced by judicial edict, the various religious denominations would be shamed into adopting similar policies in their hospitals—just as they are now opening the doors of their seminaries. The Veterans' Administration would be emboldened to adopt a consistently democratic attitude toward its patients. Congress might even put teeth in the Hill-Burton act, which gives federal funds for the construction of hospitals and allows the states to set up the rule of Jim Crow.

Then, perhaps, a Fourteenth Amendment would be appended to the Oath of Hippocrates.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

FIRING LINE

Prepared and Distributed By The National Americanism Commission, P. O. Box 1055, Indianapolis, Indiana

Subscription rate $3.00 per year

FILE COPY

VOL. NO. IV, NO. 15 July 1, 1955

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

Legionnaires should have the facts about the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF), located at 822 Perdido Street, in New Orleans, Louisiana. This organization was thoroughly investigated by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1954.

According to the testimony of IVOR A. TRAPOLIN before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on March 18, 1954, when the Southern Conference For Human Welfare went out of existence in New Orleans in August of 1949, it merely "changed their name to the Southern Conference Educational Fund, which was a subcommittee actually in existence long before the death of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, one and the same group," only the names were changed. (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, page 3).

In 1947 the House Committee On Un-American Activities cited the Southern Conference For Human Welfare as "a Communist-front" organization, which seeks to attract "southern liberals on the basis of its seeming interest in the problems of the South although its professed interest in southern welfare (was) simply an expedient for larger aims serving the Soviet Union and its subservient Communist Party in the United States." (See HUAC, Guide To Subversive Organizations and Publications, 1951, page 104).

TRAPOLIN testified that both the Southern Conference For Human Welfare and the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. have published the same periodical entitled The Southern Patriot. On the same day, JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI, Executive Director of the SCEF appeared before the Internal Security Subcommittee and testified that the SCEF was not a membership organization, however but had been supported by 3,000 contributors. DOMBROWSKI stated that he became Executive Director of the SCEF about the middle of 1947. DOMBROWSKI was also listed as an Administrator of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare for the years 1947-1948.(See HUAC, Report, Southern Conference For Human Welfare, 1947, page 1 and Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, pages 2, 3, 32 and 33).

For a better understanding of this organization, let us examine the individuals who are currently officers of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.:

AUBREY WILLIAMS (Alabama), President and member of the Board of Directors was identified as a "secret member" of the Communist Party, U.S.A. by a Government witness before the Internal Security Subcommittee on March 19, 1954. Editor and Publisher of The Southern Farm & Home, WILLIAMS' full record of subversion was exposed in the May 1, 1955 issue of The Firing Line (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, pages 121-122).

On March 23, 1945, the United States Senate rejected the nomination of AUBREY W. WILLIAMS to become Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration for a term of 10 years. The nomination was defeated on a record roll call vote after prolonged debates on the Senate floor and hearings before the Committee On Agriculture and Forestry. (See "Congressional Record", Volume 91, Part 2, page 2652).

ALVA W. TAYLOR (Tennessee) Secretary and member of the Board of Directors, has been affiliated with 13 organizations and publications that have been cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General and the House Committee On Un-American Activities. He was listed as a signer of statements on behalf of the American Council On Soviet Relations, National Federation For Constitutional Liberties and the Schappes Defense Committee. In 1942, TAYLOR was listed as an Editorial Advisor of the Protestant. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 370, 1257, 1455 and 1562).

In 1941, TAYLOR was a sponsor of the People's Institute of Applied Religion; and was an Executive Board member of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. He was listed as having signed a statement in the early 1930's urging immediate recognition of the "Soviet Government of Russia by the United States." He sponsored the 15th Anniversary National Conference of the American Committee For Protection of Foreign Born in 1948 and the same year signed a statement in praise of HENRY A. WALLACE'S Open Letter to STALIN under the auspices of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 1464 and 1585; HUAC, Expose of the Communist Party of Western Pennsylvania, Part 2, 1950, page 2498; and California Legislature, Eleventh Report, Senate Investigating Committee On Education, 1953, page 176).

WALTER S. STEELE testified before the House Committee On Un-American Activities in 1947 that TAYLOR wrote the introduction to a "communist booklet" entitled A Southerner Looks At Negro Discrimination, which was published by International Publishers of 381 Fourth Avenue, New York City. This organization "has been identified as a CPUSA publishing house by the U.S. Attorney General in 1942, and also identified as an important publishing organization of the Communist Party." (See HUAC, Testimony of Walter S. Steele Regarding Communist Activities In The United States, 1947, page 91; and "The Firing Line" 8-1-54, page 4).

TAYLOR sponsored the Bill of Rights Conference in 1949, and the same year, signed a statement on behalf of the Committee For Peaceful Alternatives To The Atlantic Pact. The following year, he sponsored the National Committee To Defeat The Mundt Bill, American Continental Congress For Peace and the Mid-Century Conference For Peace. In 1952, TAYLOR signed an appeal to the President asking for amnesty for the Communist Party leaders convicted under the Smith Act, under the auspices of the National Committee To Win Amnesty For The Smith Act Victims. (See HUAC, Report On The National Committee To Defeat The Mundt Bill, 1950, page 12; HUAC, Report On The Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, page 117 and 151; and leaflets).

RUDOLPH MOSES (Louisiana), Treasurer, signed a statement to the President in 1942 on behalf of the Citizens Committee To Free Earl Browder. In 1947, he was listed as Vice Chairman of the New Orleans Council of American-Soviet Friendship, an affiliate of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. This organization was fully exposed in the October 1, 1954 issue of The Firing Line. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, page 619; and Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, page 81).

MOSES signed a statement in 1948 defending the Communist Party, and the following year sponsored the Bill of Rights Conference in New York City. In 1951, MOSES signed a petition to the President and the Attorney General to pardon WILLIAM APHAEUS HUNTON, who was serving a jail sentence for Contempt of Court. This petition was sponsored by the Council On African Affairs, a subversive and Communist organization. (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, page 4; "Daily Worker", 11-9-51, page 3; and Leaflet).

JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI, (Louisiana) Executive Director and member of the Board of Directors has been affiliated with 16 subversive and Communist organizations. DOMBROWSKI was identified as a member of the Communist Party, U.S.A. by JOHN BUTLER before the Internal Security Subcommittee on March 18, 1954. PAUL CROUCH also testified before the Subcommittee on the same day, that DOMBROWSKI accepted Communist Party discipline "...to the extent that all instructions that were given him (DOMBROWSKI) by the subcommittee by the district bureau of Tennessee (Communist Party) were carried out by DR. DOMBROWSKI regarding the administration of the Highlander Folk School, and my conversations with him (DOMBROWSKI) when we were traveling together by automobile from Miami, Florida to Winter Haven, Florida...in April 1947...his (DOMBROWSKI'S) discussions of the revolutionary movement..." (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, pages 46 and 48).

When DOMBROWSKI testified before the Internal Security Subcommittee in 1954, he stated that he was not a present nor past member of the Communist Party, however he refused to answer the Subcommittee whether or not LEO SHEINER was a Contributor to the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, pages 39 and 42).

In 1941, DOMBROWSKI signed a statement urging the President and Congress to defend the rights of the Communist Party. Two years later he signed a "Message to the House of Representatives," opposing renewal of the Special Committee On Un-American Activities, under the auspices of the National Federation For Constitutional Liberties. In 1942 he sponsored the People's Institute of Applied Religion, and the same year was listed as the Executive Secretary of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 647, 1245, 1470 and 1585).

An Executive Council member of the Highlander Folk School of Monteagle, Tennessee, DOMBROWSKI sponsored the 10th Convention of the National Negro Congress, and was listed as a member of the Advisory Board of the Southern Negro Youth Congress. He endorsed the American Committee For Indonesian Independence, and in 1945 and 1947 was listed on nomination ballots of the Methodist Federation For Social Service, and Methodist Federation For Social Action respectively. (See HUAC, Testimony of Walter S. Steele Regarding Communist Activities In The United States, 1947, pages 56, 94, 96 and 132; and HUAC, Review of the Methodist Federation For Social Action, 1952, pages 77 and 83).

DOMBROWSKI has supported the Committee For Peaceful Alternatives To The Atlantic Pact, and sponsored the American Continental Congress For Peace, Stockholm Appeal and the American Peace Crusade. In 1948, he sponsored the 15th Anniversary National Conference of the American Committee For Protection of Foreign Born. DOMBROWSKI signed an Amicus Curiae Brief with the New York

Supreme Court in 1951, asking for dismissal of the New York Insurance Superintendent's petition to liquidate the International Workers Order. (See HUAC, Report On The Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, page 57, 116, 128, and 135; HUAC, Expose of the Communist Party of Western Pennsylvania, Part 2, 1950, page 2498; and "Daily Worker", 6-18-51, page 8).

CHARLOTTE HAWKINS BROWN (North Carolina), Member of the Board of Directors, has been affiliated with 21 subversive organizations. She has sponsored the American Youth For Democracy and was a Council Member of the Council On African Affairs in 1943. She signed a statement on behalf of the National Federation For Constitutional Liberties, Schappes Defense Committee, and the Communist Party, U.S.A. in 1947. In 1948, she was listed as a Member of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 566, 671, 1242,1558; and HUAC, Report of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, 1947, pages 1 and 14).

CHARLOTTE BROWN was a member of the Initiating Committee of the Civil Rights Congress in 1946, and was listed as Vice President of the Congress of American Women in 1949. This organization was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General in 1948, and by the House Committee On Un-American Activities the following year. She was also listed in 1949 as having sponsored the World Congress For Peace In Paris, and was a Delegate to the First Congress of the Women's International Democratic Federation. (See HUAC, Report On The Congress of American Women, 1949, page 79; HUAC, Report On The Civil Rights Congress, 1947, page 12).

A 1951 sponsor of the American Peace Crusade, she supported the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Southern Negro Youth Congress, Committee For A Democratic Far Eastern Policy, United Negro and Allied Veterans of America, and the American Continental Congress For Peace. In 1945, she signed a statement favoring Army commissions to Communists and was later listed as a sponsor of the Stockholm Appeal. (See HUAC, Report On The Congress of American Women, 1949, page 79; HUAC, Report On The Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, pages 132 and 135).

CHARLOTTE BROWN was listed as Vice Chairman of the Committee For Peaceful Alternatives To The Atlantic Pact in 1950, and the same year sponsored the Mid-Century Conference For Peace. She also sponsored the International Workers Order and the China Conference Arrangements Committee. In a signed statement appearing in the "Daily Worker" of September 21, 1950, page 9, she asked for a Presidential veto of the Internal Security Act of 1950. (See HUAC, Report on the Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, pages 56 and 143; HUAC, Testimony of Walter S. Steele Regarding Communist Activities In The United States, 1947, page 125; California Legislature, Fourth Report of the Senate Fact-Finding Committee On Un-American Activities, 1948, page 198).

ROSCOE DUNJEE (Oklahoma), another member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., has been affiliated with the Communist periodical "New Masses", now known as "Masses and Mainstream". DUNJEE was affiliated with the Schappes Defense Committee, the United Front For Herndon, Southern Negro Youth Congress and was listed as a 1948 Vice President of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 1350, 1555 and 1600; and HUAC, Report On Southern Conference For Human Welfare, 1947, page 1).

DUNJEE was a member of the Council On African Affairs and sponsored the Civil Rights Congress in 1946. He was listed as a co-sponsor of the Delegation of the National Non-Partisan Delegation To Washington For Passage of Civil Rights Legislation, and sponsored the Bill of Rights Conference in 1949. (See HUAC, Testimony of Walter S. Steele Regarding Communist Activities In The United States, 1947, page 135; HUAC, Report On The Civil Rights Congress, 1947, page 22; and HUAC, Expose of the Communist Party of Western Pennsylvania, Part 2, 1950, page 2536).

DR. E. FRANKLIN FRAZIER (Washington, D.C.), member of the Board of Directors, has been affiliated with 12 subversive organizations. He was affiliated with the American Youth Congress, Citizens Committee To Free Earl Browder, and in 1943, was listed as a Council Member of the Council On African Affairs. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 525, 615 and 671).

FRAZIER was also affiliated with the Negro People's Committee To Aid Spanish Democracy and the Communist periodical "New Masses." In 1944, he was listed as a Contributing Editor to "Science & Society", which was cited by the Special Committee On Un-American Activities the same year as a Communist publication. FRAZIER was affiliated with the Washington Committee For Democratic Action, Southern Negro Youth Congress and was listed as a 1940 and 1941 Cooperator of "Social Work Today", another Communist periodical. (See HUAC, Appendix IX, 1944, pages 1346, 1350, 1456, 1600, 1693, 1782 and 1789; HUAC, Guide To Subversive Organizations and Publications, 1951, pages 149 and 150).

In 1949, FRAZIER was listed as a member of the National Non-Partisan Committee To Defend The Rights of the 12 Communist Leaders, and the following year sponsored the Mid-Century Conference For Peace. During 1950, he became a member of the American Sponsoring Committee For Representation of the Second World Peace Congress. FRAZIER sponsored the Stockholm Appeal and was listed in 1951 as a founder of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee. This organization was fully exposed in the April 15, 1955 issue of The Firing Line. (See HUAC, Report On The Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, pages 59, 118 and 125; and "Daily Worker", 10-8-51, page 6).

PERCY GREENE (Mississippi), member of the Board of Directors, was a member of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare in 1948. In 1949, he sponsored the Bill of Rights Conference and the American Continental Congress For Peace. GREENE was also a sponsor of the African Aid Committee. (See HUAC, Report On The Southern Conference For Human Welfare, 1947, page 1; HUAC, Report On The Communist Peace Offensive, 1951, page 116; and Leaflets).

GREENE sponsored the National Committee To Defeat The Mundt Bill in 1950, and according to statements filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, Congress of The United States, under the lobbying Act, the Civil Rights Congress paid GREENE $410 for travel expenses during October 1946, and $45 for telephone expenses for January 1947. The Civil Rights Congress was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General the same year. (See HUAC, Report On The National Committee To Defeat The Mundt Bill, 1950, page 11; and HUAC, Report On The Civil Rights Congress, 1947, pages 41 and 42).

MYLES HORTON (Tennessee), another SCEF Board of Directors Member and Teacher and founder of the Highlander Folk School, located in Monteagle, Tennessee, was a 1948 member of the Board of Representatives of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. PAUL CROUCH testified before the Internal Security Subcommittee in 1954, that when he (CROUCH) asked HORTON to become a member of the Communist Party, HORTON replied...."I'm doing you just as much good now as I would if I were a member of the Communist Party. I am often asked if I am a Communist Party member and I always say no. I feel much safer in having no fear that evidence might be uncovered to link me with the Communist Party, and therefore I prefer not to become a member of the Communist Party." (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, page 136).

HORTON appeared before the Internal Security Subcommittee on March 20, 1954, and was forcibly escorted from the hearing room by a United States Marshall after refusing to answer a question dealing with JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI'S affiliation with the Highlander Folk School. (See Internal Security Subcommittee, Hearings on Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., 1954, page 151).

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Legionnaires should immediately write to the United States Attorney General, Department of Justice Building, Washington 25, D. C. Ask him to petition the Subversive Activities Control Board for an order requiring the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. of 822 Perdido Street, New Orleans, Louisiana, to register as a Communist Front under the Internal Security Act of 1950. Write to the Honorable JAMES O. EASTLAND, Chairman of the Internal Security Subcommittee, Room 411, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., and demand that the full 1954 hearings on the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. be printed for normal distribution. ACT NOW!

I M P O R T A N T N O T I C E

In the past American Legion publications have not been copyrighted in order that Patriotic publications could reproduce them without formal request. Hereafter all counter-subversive publications of The American Legion will be copyrighted and permission must be obtained in order to reproduce any portion of them.

This action is necessitated by the fact that the National Americanism Commission document entitled "Preliminary Report On The Society For The Prevention of World War III, Inc." has been reproduced in the June 1955 issue of the anti-semitic publication "The Cross And The Flag".

The American Legion has previously denounced anti-semitism. (See National Adjutants Letter of January 14, 1954; "Firing Line", 2-1-54, and 2-15-54). Reproduction of The American Legion document was without permission or authorization of any kind.

File SCEF

SEP 24 1955

MOST WORSHIPFUL PRINCE HALL GRAND LODGE

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS, JURISDICTION OF GEORGIA
JOHN WESLEY DOBBS, GRAND MASTER

X. L. NEAL, D. G. M.
1052 HARWELL ST., N. W.
ATLANTA, GA.

L. P. BOHLER, S. G. W.
BOX 232
AUGUSTA, GA.

D. P. NESBITT, J. G. W.
BOX 1242
COLUMBUS, GA.

DONALD THOMAS, G. TREAS.
312 JEFFERSON ST.
SAVANNAH, GA.

OFFICE OF THE GRAND MASTER
JOHN WESLEY DOBBS
MASONIC TEMPLE
AUBURN AVE. AT HILLIARD ST.
PHONE: WALNUT 1358
ATLANTA, GA.

E. C. BLACKSHEAR, G. SECY.
514 E. ANDERSON ST.
SAVANNAH, GA.

A. McCLENDON
SEC.-TREAS. M. R. A.
330 AUBURN AVE., N. E.
ATLANTA, GA.

R. W. GADSDEN, CHMN. COM. F. C.
608 W. 36TH STREET
SAVANNAH, GA.

Copy

September 23, 1955

Mr. James A. Dombrowski, Secretary
Southern Educational Fund
822 Perdido Street
New Orleans, Louisiana

In Re: Mattiwilda Dobbs Recital
Atlanta, Ga., Nov.21,1955

My dear Mr. Dombrowski:

I am writing this letter concerning the proposed Recital of Matti wilda Dobbs scheduled for Atlanta, Ga., Nov.21, 1955. Our obstacles and difficulties have multiplied to the extent that I simply do not see how we will be able to go forward with the recital this year.

Bishop S. L. Greene, Chairman of the Southwide Conference, presided at a meeting of our local committee last week. The project was discussed pro and con, by all present, with utmost frankness and sincerity.. After all was said and done, both Bishop Greene and I have come to the conclusion that it would not be wise to attempt the recita at this time. I regret very much to have to inform you about our conclusions.

First, and foremost in our minds, is the unfavorable effect it might have on the future career of Mattiwilda Dobbs, a young and promising artist. We feel that she should, under no circumstances, be subjected to a political or controversial issue that might damage her future career in any way. When it was first discussed and agreed to present Mattiwilda in recital, the Federal Investigation, by Senato Eastland, had not created such a controversy. Now that it has, we think and feel that the whole thing should be cleared up before Mattiwilda should be presented by the organization. We realize that the Southwide Conference is but a creature of the Southern Educational Fund. I am one of the directors of the Fund, and am perfectly willing to continue my help and support until the issues are decided by the U.S. Attorney General. I think I have demonstrated my willingness to do that. But, on the other hand, I do not think that Mattiwilda should be subjected to possible unfavorable criticism, of any kind, because of her father's views and activities. My wife and family share these views with me. Bishop Greene, and members of the local committee, were also unanimous in their agreement with this opinion. I am certainly very sorry to be forced to come to this conclusion in view of the time and efforts already put forth by so many people. Especially am I sorry because of the time and effort put forth by Mr. William Grant Still, the Composer, in writing special music for this occasion.

In view of all the facts and difficulties, I am sure that it would be best to hold the proposition over for atleast another year. By that time, conditions no doubt will be changed and improved. We must of necessity consider and respect the attitude of the public. For, after all, they are the ones that we are trying to reach.

I hope to discuss this more fully with you next week at our meeting here in Atlanta. In the meantime, I am sending copies of this letter to the principal parties involved in this promotional idea.

Very Cordially and Sincerely yours,

John Wesley Dobbs

John Wesley Dobbs

Here Is 'Report from the South'

The Southern PATRIOT

Vol. 16. No. 5 Published by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. May, 1958

Stories of Voting Restrictions Stir Washington

By Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—All of Washington was stirred by reports on voting restrictions presented at a conference here April 27.

An interracial audience of more than 1,000 heard first-hand accounts by leaders in the civil rights movement from nine states in the South.

Washington newspapers and broadcasters gave full coverage to the event, while the news services carried long articles for use throughout the nation.

A delegation took copies of the reports to the Civil Rights Commission and the Department of Justice on April 28. Delegates to the Conference visited their Senators and Representatives to urge speedy action to end violations of voting and registration rights.

Copies of the reports were also made available to labor, religious, civic, youth and fraternal groups that expressed great interest in them. (Summaries and excerpts from the reports are on Pages 2 and 3 of this issue of The Patriot.)

The conference, which was coordinated by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, was held at Asbury Methodist Church. Those attending adopted resolutions pledging full support to the men and women who made the reports—and who are working in their home states to win full voting rights.

The delegation from the conference met with Gordon Tiffany, who at that time was awaiting Senate confirmation as staff director for the Civil Rights Commission.

Tiffany told the delegation he was encouraged by the interest shown by the Conference on Voting Restrictions in Southern States. He said he and his staff would be happy to cooperate with those making the reports. He urged members

(Continued on back page)

The success of the Washington Conference was due, in large part, to the efforts of the hard-working Committee on Local Arrangements and to many other organizations in the Washington area which helped publicize it. SCEF takes this opportunity to thank all these people and organizations for the contribution they made.

REPORTS ON VOTING RESTRICTIONS in eight Southern states are presented to Gordon Tiffany, staff director for the Civil Rights Commission in Washington, by the Rev. John LaBauve, left, pastor of St. Gabriel Roman Catholic Church, Mound Bayou, Miss., along with a letter urging speedy action by the Commission. Others are, from left, Mrs. Eleanor Chandler, Cambridge, Mass., former Democratic National Committeewoman and a leader in the National Council of Negro Women; Bishop Edgar A. Love, SCEF vice-president and chairman of the Washington Conference on Voting Restrictions, and the Rev. Ben F. Wyland, executive secretary of the Florida Council for Racial Cooperation and SCEF board member who made the report from Florida. About 25 people, including representatives from most of the Southern states as well as New York and Massachusetts, formed the delegation to Tiffany's office on April 28.

Political Realignment Predicted

The struggle of Southern Negroes to win the right to vote could be the activating agent which will bring about a "long-delayed political realignment of the two political parties on all the great issues of the day," Aubrey Williams told the Conference on Voting Restrictions in Washington.

In the conference keynote address, Williams noted that the Republican Party at present has its "moderate" wing and its "conservative" wing, whereas the Democratic party is divided between the "liberals" and the Southern "oligarchy."

"The right wing of the Republican Party and the Southern oligarchy have everything in common except the names by which they are called," he said. "The results for the American people . . . are that the reactionaries in the two parties always effectively get together on anything really important to their interest and the "liberals" in both parties either split over political lines or are unable to put together a sufficiently large number of votes to pass legislation in line with their respective professions and promises."

Once enough congressmen see how great is their personal interest in the issue of full citizenship rights for the Negro, Williams went on, they must take the only course open to them—which is simply full-fledged support of the Supreme Court's position.

"They will seal the doom of the Southern oligarchy or drive them into the Republican Party where they really belong," he said. "By the same token, the 'liberals' in the Republican Party will be forced in the interest of self-preservation to support the Court and will face the necessity of finding working relationships with the 'liberals' in the Democratic Party."

"We must recognize the Negro's struggle for what it is—the spearhead which

(Continued on Back Page.)

Reports Summarized

Southern Registration Proceeds, Despite Obstacles

Following are summaries and excerpts from reports made at the Conference on Voting Restrictions in Southern States, held April 27 in Washington, D.C.:

Alabama

Trickery and delaying tactics by Boards of Registrars, along with threats of economic reprisals and physical harm, keep the numbers of registered Negro voters low in Alabama, Charles G. Gomillion, president of the Tuskegee, Ala., Civic Association, reported.

He cited the following devices by Boards of Registrars :

Each registration applicant is required to fill out a questionnaire with 21 questions; in some counties, if he makes a single mistake, his application is not approved and he is never notified.

In some counties, boards of Registrars do not work full days or they fail to meet for weeks at a time. Sometimes registrars retard the process by holding conversations with applicants. Some boards have resigned rather than register Negro applicants.

Some boards require Negro applicants to secure white voters to vouch for them; often Negroes find it impossible to find white vouchers. Where Negro vouchers are allowed, they are sometimes allowed to vouch for only two or four applicants per month.

Many Negroes who do succeed in registering fail to vote. Sometimes this is because of their own lack of awareness of the importance of voting, Gomillion said. More often it is because those who work for whites are not allowed time off to go to the polls, or because they have been threatened that harm will befall them and their families. Negro businessmen who vote have often been forced out of business because wholesale dealers refuse to sell them commodities.

In 1956, Negroes represented 30% of Alabama's population but only 6% of its registered voters.

Louisiana

Purges of Negro voters from the rolls in Louisiana have often been effective because they are carried out strictly according to ancient laws, reported Kenneth Walker, publisher of the Colfax, La., Chronicle. Old and tricky stipulations on the filling out of registration blanks are simply enforced.

It is possible to render the purges ineffective if people know they are going on—as the law provides for fairly simple means of reinstatement on the rolls. In Walker's own parish, Grant, his newspaper covered such a purge honestly and fully, and 64 per cent of those purged were reinstated in time to vote.

The purges have been politically as well as racially inspired. Generally speaking, the Long faction in Louisiana politics gets the Negro vote, and the opposition to Negro voting comes from the anti-Long faction.

Despite the purges, Negro registration in Louisiana is increasing and now represents 16 per cent of the white vote. In 1952, 23 out of 64 parishes had no Negro registrants. Now there are just four such parishes. Hot segregationist candidates have fared badly recently in Louisiana elections.

Baltimore

What can be done—at least in a Border state—when people are determined to increase their voting strength has been demonstrated by a successful voter-registration drive in Baltimore.

In a report prepared for the Conference on Voting Restrictions, Dr. John L. Tilley stated that more than 15,000 voters have been added to the rolls in that city in 12 months. Dr. Tilley is pastor of the New Metropolitan Baptist Church, Baltimore, and served as chairman of the registration campaign.

Dr. Tilley said the drive was set off by refusal of the Baltimore City Council and the Maryland State Legislature to pass civil rights legislation presented to them. It was spurred by statements that councilmen and legislators considered the Negro vote of no significance.

The campaign was conducted under the leadership of the churches and carried out by house-to-house canvassing on a ward and precinct basis. Dr. Tilley said his committee plans to follow up with a similar thorough drive to acquaint registered voters with the importance of using their ballot and with the record of candidates and the issues involved in each election.

Dr. Tilley's report was read to the Conference by Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore when Dr. Tilley was unable to attend in person.

Florida

"Go ahead and register if you can take what comes afterward."

This is what courthouse loungers tell prospective Negro registrants in one north Florida county, according to a report from the Rev. Ben F. Wyland, executive secretary of the Florida Council for Racial Cooperation.

Wyland said there are five north Florida counties where only 110 of 16,533 Negroes of voting age have been able to register. In Florida as a whole, 148,636 out of 369,463 Negroes of voting age are registered.

Wyland quoted a letter from the Rev. Dee Hawkins, who registered in Liberty County. "They are causing me to leave home," Hawkins wrote. "I was bombed-shot out of my home." He fled Liberty County, Wyland said.

By contrast, in Madison County there are now over 1,000 Negro voters whereas 15 years ago there were none. The change occurred after 586 Negroes went to the courthouse in a body to register. One white man who flourished a gun was restrained by other more sensible white citizens.

In Jacksonville, when a highly qualified Negro attorney, Ernest D. Jackson, ran for justice of the peace he led the field of three candidates. He might have become the first Negro to hold office in Florida in modern times--but the Florida courts invalidated the election by holding the justice-of-the-peace set-up was illegal.

Mississippi

Negroes may register and vote freely in only six of the 82 counties in Mississippi, the Rev. John LaBauve, pastor of St. Gabriel Roman Catholic Church, reported.

As an example of what happens when they try to register, Father LaBauve cited Sunflower County. There Negroes were told by the registrar: "We'll have to wait until the state legislature adjourns; then we'll see about it."

In Humphreys County Mr. A. approached the registrar. The registrar informed him that the "registration problem" had caused bloodshed once in Humphreys County and advised him not to try.

In other areas, Negroes are afraid of loss of employment and loss of credit if they try to register.

The Mississippi report was prepared by Father LaBauve, Aaron Henry, executive secretary of the Mississippi Regional Council of Negro Leadership, Albert L. Powell, president of the Mississippi Progressive Voters League, and other leaders in the Mississippi right-to-vote movement.

Georgia

Denial of voting rights to Negroes in Georgia is a problem mainly in the rural areas, reported Austin T. Walden, noted Atlanta civil rights attorney. He said about 160,000 out of a potential 650,000 Negroes are registered throughout the state, with registration concentrated in the urban areas.

Speaking of the rural sections, he said:

"In the immediate past, lives have been lost and property practically confiscated. Negroes have been driven out of the community, their homes fired into at night, because of their efforts to register and vote. . .

"Candor and fairness demand that it be stated that the evils complained of are not really sanctioned by the great majority of the people of our state. It is the political demagogues who cause the trouble. . .

"It should be said that the greatest obstacle in the way of registration of Negroes arises from the indifference and timidity on the part of too large a segment of the Negro people of Georgia. . ."

South Carolina

Determined court action by the NAACP has practically eliminated voting restrictions in South Carolina, reported Mrs. Modjeska Simkins, long-time civil rights leader and former secretary of the NAACP conference in that state.

Even in the historic trouble spots—for example Abbeville County, site of the most atrocious lynching in the history of South Carolina—leaders of the voter-registration drives anticipate no trouble.

Mrs. Simkins said at least two white leaders had explained the change to her by saying: "These people have been sued so much that they are afraid of being carried to court."

She said the chief blocks to registration now are disinterest and a carry-over of a fear of reprisal because of the situation in previous years.

In one county, Williamsburg, restrictions still exist. There a graduate of Howard University, numerous teachers, and other educated Negroes have been turned down on a literacy test. If this situation does not change, Mrs. Simkins said, officials can be sure they will get another lawsuit.

THIS IS PART OF CROWD, estimated by Washington newspapers at more than 1,000, at the Conference on Voting Restrictions. They listen as Charles G. Gomillion makes the report for Alabama. At right, Eastland Committee investigator hides face.

Virginia

Of approximately 750,000 Negroes in Virginia, only slightly more than 80,000 are qualified to vote, but the greatest restrictions against voting are not legal but sociological and psychological.

This was reported by W. Hale Thompson from Newport News, Va., one of the state's leading civil rights attorneys. He is on the legal staff of the Virginia Conference of NAACP.

Thompson told of a Mr. J., a Negro who was a leader in the fight first for school equalization and later for integrated schools and in efforts to get his people qualified to vote. After the 1954 Supreme Court decision, he was ordered to leave the farm he had rented and worked for 20 years. He was able to rent another farm, but after two years the same thing happened. He finally had to leave the county but is still working to get Negroes registered.

In another county in Southside Virginia, Mr. W. was a prominent preacher and farmer. Each year he borrowed money to operate his farm and repaid it after the crops were sold. Then Mr. W. announced he was going to run for one of three seats on the County Board of Supervisors; the next day he was asked to pay his creditors over $8,000. Mr. W. aged 20 years within a few weeks and finally withdrew from the race.

Despite the handicaps, Thompson pointed out that a greater percentage of qualified Negroes usually go to the polls in Virginia than do the qualified whites.

North Carolina

Voting restrictions are not nearly so prevalent in North Carolina as in some other Southern states, and there is little or no problem in the larger cities, reported Miss Willson Whitman, author and editor of Southern Pines, N.C.

But in some rural areas, obstacles to registration still exist. Miss Whitman cited cases in the northeastern part of the state, notably in Northhampton and Halifax Counties, where so-called literacy tests have been used to disqualify Negro voters. Miss Whitman pointed out that such tests are never used with white registrants. The tests are now being challenged in the courts.

"The great trouble is not winning such cases on appeal," Miss Whitman said. "It is the need for litigation and appeal, the expenditure of time and money required to invoke the whole machinery of the law. Now it's being said that action in current cases can't be expected before May, and in May registration in North Carolina ends for the fall elections."

SCEF plans to publish the reports on voting restrictions in pamphlet form. Put together, the nine reports present a comprehensive and dramatic picture of the current situation on voting restrictions throughout the region. Publication date will be announced later.

If you would like to help defray the cost of publishing this important document, please send a contribution earmarked for this purpose to SCEF, 822 Perdido St., New Orleans 12, La.

SOME OF THE OUTSTANDING LEADERS of the South were among principals and speakers at the Washington Conference on Voting Restrictions in Southern States. They are, from left, front row: Kenneth Walker, who made the report for Louisiana; Dr. James L. Hupp, SCEF secretary; Miss Willson Whitman, who reported for North Carolina; Bishop Edgar A. Love, chairman of the Conference; Mrs. Modjeska Simkins, reporter for South Carolina; Aubrey W. Williams, keynote speaker; James A. Dombrowski, SCEF executive director, and the Rev. Clarence H. Snelling, Jr., Methodist chaplain at Tulane University, chairman of Resolutions Committee; second row, Father John LaBauve, reporter for Mississippi; Austin T. Walden, reporter for Georgia, and the Rev. Benjamin F. Wyland, who reported for Florida; back row, the Rev. James D. Foy, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, host to the Conference; the Rev. Ralph W. Stutzman, acting minister of All Souls Unitarian Church, Washington, who gave the invocation; W. Hale Thompson, reporter for Virginia; Charles G. Gomillion, reporter for Alabama; Dr. James M. Nabrit, Jr., who summarized the reports, and Francis A. Gregory, assistant superintendent of Washington schools, chairman of the Committee on Local Arrangements for the Voting Conference.

James Nabrit Outlines Plan for Action

Dr. James M. Nabrit, Jr., secretary of Howard University, closed the Washington Conference on Voting Restrictions with a call for a "strong campaign to increase the registration of Negroes."

Summarizing the reports from the nine states, Dr. Nabrit said a need for three types of action was indicated:

1. Political action to enlist national party support of a strong and decisive report by the Civil Rights Commission.

2. A Southwide state-by-state campaign to get Negroes to register.

3. An educational campaign to instruct Negroes in the value of the vote, the use of the ballot, how to register, how to vote, and that voting is a federal right.

"The very existence of a vast number of registered Negroes may have an astonishing result," Nabrit said. "The Negro must be aroused until he seeks registration by the tens of thousands. It is much easier to deny registration to 1 or 10 than it is to 100 or 1000."

Capital Stirred

(Continued from Page 1)

of the delegation to continue to supply information to the Commission.

St. John Barrett, executive assistant to W. Wilson White, assistant attorney general in charge of the Civil Rights Division, received the reports on behalf of the Justice Department. He said the material would help the Department in its efforts to enforce the Civil Rights Act of 1957 and other laws pertaining to voting rights.

Congressmen and Senators were urged to push for the immediate confirmation of Tiffany so the Civil Rights Commission could get something done before its life expires in September, 1959. They were also urged to put teeth into the Civil Rights Act.

Chairman of the Conference on Voting Restrictions was Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore area, Methodist Church. Those assembled voted special thanks to him and to the Committee on Local Arrangements, headed by Francis A. Gregory, assistant superintendent of Washington schools.

Realignment Seen

(Continued from Page 1)

is challenging the hypocrisy of American political party alignment and which, if it succeeds, can clear the ground of creeping fascism and totalitarianism which is inherent in the thinking of the power elite and their supporters, the conservatives and reactionaries of both parties."

THE SOUTHERN PATRIOT, published monthly except July and August by The Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. Office of publication, 150 Tenth Ave., N., Nashville, Tenn. Editorial and Executive Offices, Room 404, 822 Perdido Street, New Orleans 12, La. Twenty-five cents a copy, $2.00 a year. Entered as second-class mail matter, Nashville, Tennessee.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

AUBREY WILLIAMS ---------- President
DR. HERMAN H. LONG -------- Vice-Pres.
BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE ----- Vice-Pres.
MRS. ANDREW W. SIMKINS --- Vice-Pres.
DR. JAMES L. HUPP ---------- Secretary
HERMAN MIDLO ---------- Treasurer
DR. JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI --- Director
CARL & ANNE BRADEN ----------
---------- Field Secretaries

Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.
822 Perdido Street, New Orleans 12, Louisiana

MEMORANDUM

FROM REB GERSHON

Grace tells me that you wanted to see this -

It strikes me as very bad judgment - I can not see any possible good to be accomplished by such technique.

Needless to say I have not written nor gotten any signatures.

PMG.

File SCEF

July 10, 1958

MEMORANDUM TO: Members of the Board of Directors and Advisory Committee

FROM: Jim Dombrowski

Open Letter

We would be glad to have your help in adding one or two more signatures of Negro leaders in your community to the enclosed "Open Letter to the U. S. House of Representatives".

For greater effectiveness, as you will note, the letter was drafted for the signatures of members of the Negro community.

Also, you will note that immediate action is indicated.

AN OPEN LETTER

TO THE U. S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

We are informed that the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives is planning to hold hearings in Atlanta, Ga., at an early date.

As Southern Negroes, all deeply involved in the struggle to secure full and equal rights for our people, we are very much concerned by this developement.

We are acutely aware of the fact that there is at the present time a shocking amount of un-American activity in our Southern states. To cite only a few examples, there are the bombings of the homes, schools, and houses of worship of not only Negroes but also of our Jewish citizens; the terror against Negroes in Dawson, Ga.; the continued refusal of boards of registrars in many Southern communities to allow Negroes to register and vote; and the activities of White Citizens Councils encouraging open defiance of the United States Supreme Court.

However, there is nothing in the record of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to indicate that, if it comes South, it will investigate these things. On the contrary, all of its activities in recent years suggest that it is much more interested in harassing and labeling as "subversive" any citizen who is inclined to be liberal or an independent thinker.

For this reason, we are alarmed at the prospect of this committee coming South to follow the lead of Senator Eastland, as well as several state investigating committees, in trying to attach the "subversive" label to any liberal white Southerner who dares to raise his voice in support of our democratic ideals.

It was recently pointed out by four Negro leaders who met with President Eisenhower that one of our great needs in the South is to build lines of communication between Negro and white Southerners. Many people in the South are seeking to do this. But if white people who support integration are labeled "subversive" by congressional committees, terror is spread among our white citizens and it becomes increasingly difficult to find white people who are willing to support our efforts for full citizenship. Southerners, white and Negro, who strive today for full democracy must work at best against tremendous odds. They need the support of every agency of our Federal Government. It is unthinkable that they should instead be harassed by committees of the United States Congress.

We therefore urge you to use your influence to see that the House Committee on Un-American Activities stays out of the South - unless it can be persuaded to come to our region to help defend us against those subversives who oppose our Supreme Court, our Federal policy of civil rights for all, and our American ideals of equality and brotherhood.

Name_____ Address_____

Name_____ Address_____

Use other side, if necessary, for additional signatures

July 9, 1958

MEMORANDUM FROM: Dr. Herman H. Long, Nashville; Bishop Edgar A. Love, Baltimore; Mrs. Andrew W. Simkins, Columbia, S. C.; C. Herbert Marshall, Jr., M.D., Washington, D.C.; E. D. Nixon, Montgomery; Arthur D. Shores, Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham; Rev. S. P. Spottswood, Warren, Arkansas; Rev. C. K. Steele, Rev. David H. Brooks, Tallahassee; James A. Burns, Meridian, Miss.; Carter Wesley, Houston; James E. Gayle, Frederick Rhodes, M.D., New Orleans; Rev. Robert H. Wilson, Jacksonville; Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, Washington, D. C.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has scheduled hearings in Atlanta on July 29th.

It is obvious from the record of this committee that these hearings will follow the pattern of Senator Eastland's hearings in the South by trying to label the integration movement as "communistic". The same thing has been done recently by state investigating committees in Florida and Louisiana. The general theme of all such investigations was stated recently by a member of the Louisiana Legislature when he said publicly that "integration is the Southern expression of communism".

Such red-baiting attacks are usually directed primarily at white integrationists in an effort to weaken us by creating a division between Negroes and liberal white Southerners. We therefore feel that it is urgent that there be at this time a strong statement from the Negro leadership in the South letting the nation know that we will not quietly tolerate this tactic of "divide and conquer".

Will you help by joining in signing an open letter to the U. S. House of Representatives, a proposed draft of which is enclosed. This letter will be coordinated by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, and will be circulated among a large list of Southern leaders. We hope you will return the letter, with your signature as soon as possible, as it is important that we move quickly in this matter. We will be glad to have you invite others to sign with you.

* * *

The House Un-American Activities Committee is "sordid, flagrantly unfair, and un-American".

--- Franklin D. Roosevelt

"Nothing is so un-American as the Committee's own activities".

--- American Civil Liberties Union

The Committee "abridges freedom of speech and inflicts punishment without trial".

--- Judge Henry W. Edgerton

Chairman Francis E. Walter and Richard Arens, the Committee's staff director, are guilty of "despicable, un-American tactics", ... of "attempting to intimidate, bully, and push citizens around".

--- Cyrus Easton, Multimillionaire utilities and railroad magnate.

T E L E G R A M

MONTGOMERY, ALA.
JULY 1, 1958

HON. EMMANUEL CELLER, MEMBER
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.

DEAR CONGRESSMAN CELLER:

I NOTE YOU RECENTLY TESTIFIED BEFORE HOUSE JUDICIARY SUB-COMMITTEE RE: MOUNTING VIOLENCE AGAINST CERTAIN RACES IN THE SOUTH. I FULLY AGREE WITH YOU. WHAT MYSTIFIES ME,HOWEVER, IS THAT WHILE YOU AND REP. KEATING ARE WORKING TO THROW PROTECTION OF LOCAL, STATE AND FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AROUND CERTAIN RACES AND THEIR RIGHTS, ARENS, COUNSEL OF HOUSE UN-AMERICAN COMMITTEE, ANNOUNCES "HEARINGS" IN ATLANTA FOR JULY 29. A PRESS NOTICE ANNOUNCING THE HEARINGS STATES " LEADING INTEGRATIONISTS WILL BE SUBPOENED". IT IS APPARENTLY THE OPEN AIM OF ARENS AND THE WALTERS COMMITTEE TO PUBLICLY PILLORY ANY WHITE PERSON, JEW OR GENTILE, WHO OPENLY FAVORS AND WORKS FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE COURT'S MANDATES WITH RESPECT TO THE RIGHTS OF MINORITIES. USING OF COURSE THE OLD WHEEZE OF FINDING SOME PAUL CROUCH OR ELIZABETH BENTLY WHO WILL PUT THE FINGER OF COMMUNISM ON THEM. INCIDENTALLY, SHERMAN ADAMS SHOULD ALSO BE INTERESTED IN WHAT ARENS IS DOING. HE IS GETTING SOME OF THAT SORT OF TREATMENT BY THIS MAN FOX. BUT THIS THING DOWN HERE MAKES SOME OF YOU FELLOWS LOOK RATHER FOOLISH. IN THE "HEARINGS" IN ATLANTA THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL CLEARLY BE USED TO HARASS AND DESTROY THOSE WHO ARE TRYING TO UPHOLD THE RIGHTS OF PEOPLE AS SET FORTH BY THE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT. THEY CAN'T PUT THEM IN PRISON ANY MORE, BUT THEY CAN GET THEM FIRED FROM ANY JOB THEY MAY HAVE AND THEREBY SERVE EFFECTIVE NOTICE ON ALL OTHERS THAT THIS IS WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO YOU IF YOU COME OUT IN THE OPEN AND SHOW YOUR HAND. I THINK YOU SHOULD BRING THIS TO THE ATTENTION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND FORCE A SHOW DOWN.

SIGNED,
AUBREY W. WILLIAMS

WHY

THE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE:

CONTEMPT CASES UPHELD 3 JOIN JUSTICE BLACK IN STIRRING DISSENT

THESE JUSTICES DEFEND FREE SPEECH

CHIEF JUSTICE WARREN

JUSTICE DOUGLAS

JUSTICE BRENNAN

JUSTICE BLACK

In the eyes of four Justices of the Supreme Court the issue was whether any person had the right to criticise or question the Un-American Activities Committee or actively favor integration.

Five Justices didn't think that was the issue.

As a result two men, Carl Braden and Frank Wilkinson will spend a year in jail for "contempt of Congress."

What did these two men do that their right of free speech as guaranteed by the First Amendment was judged neither a valid defense nor a right that they were entitled to?

What The Un-American Committee Called "Contempt"

Frank Wilkinson was born in Charlevoix, Michigan. Thereafter, at the age of 10 his family moved to Beverly Hills, California, where he lived until he was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1936. Upon graduation he planned to become a minister, but decided to take a world tour before entering religious studies. In the course of this trip he saw American slums for the first time and upon returning to Los Angeles, abandoned his plan for religious studies and embarked instead on a career in public housing. During the next fourteen years, while he worked with the Los Angeles Citizens Housing Council and the Los Angeles City Housing Authority, Wilkinson became one of the nation's experts on slum clearance and public housing. He was abruptly removed from work in this field in 1952 when, in the course of a slum condemnation proceeding, he was asked to name all the organizations he had belonged to since 1935. When he refused to answer this question, he was dismissed from his position with the Los Angeles City Housing Authority.

In 1953 Wilkinson became executive secretary of the Citizen's Committee to preserve American Freedoms, a Los Angeles group organized in 1952 to seek abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Several years later, as a member of the staff of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, Wilkinson sparked a national campaign to abolish the un-American Committee, traveling around the country to every city where the House Un-American Activities Committee was scheduled to hold hearings in order to help those subpoenaed by the House Un-American Activities Committee understand their legal rights and to help them organize community support on their behalf. In the course of this work in 1958, the Southern Conference Educational Fund invited Wilkinson to come to Atlanta to help organize resistance to a proposed House Committee appearance there. He received a subpoena to appear before the Committee within an hour after he arrived in Atlanta.

Wilkinson was legally represented in this Constitutional challenge of the Un-American Activities Committee by the National Office of the American Civil Liberties Union. (Counsel: Rowland Watts & Nanette Dembitz).

Carl Braden, a Louisville, Kentucky newspaperman, and his wife Anne helped a Negro family buy a house in a segregated suburb of Louisville in 1954. Racists blew up the house with dynamite and narrowly missed killing several persons. Braden was accused of participating in a seditious plot to stir up racial strife and thus bring about a political revolution that would result in the overthrow of the governments of Kentucky and the U.S.A.

He was sentenced to 15 years in prison and served eight months. In 1956 Kentucky's highest court reversed his conviction after the U. S. Supreme Court nullified all state sedition laws. The story of this case is told in detail in "The Wall Between" by Anne Braden (Monthly Review Press, 1958).

Thereafter, Carl and Anne Braden went to work as field secretaries for the Southern Conference Educational Fund, a southwide interracial organization working to end segregation. They also serve as editors of The Southern Patriot, published by the SCEF.

The circumstances of Braden's subpoena before the House Un-American Activities Committee were described by Justice Black as follows:

"The petitioner in this case . . . has for some time been at odds with strong sentiment favoring racial segregation in his home state of Kentucky. A white man himself, the petitioner has nonetheless spoken out strongly against that sentiment. This activity, which once before resulted in his being charged with a serious crime, seems also to have been the primary reason for his being called before the Un-American Activities Committee. The reason the Committee questioned him appears from the record to have been the circulation of two letters, both in the nature of petitions to Congress, urging that certain legislative actions be taken, which, in the view of the signers of the petitions, would help those working against segregation."

Two of the nation's most noted Negro attorneys are among the five who contributed their services in carrying Braden's case to the Supreme Court. They are the Rt. Rev. C. Ewbank Tucker, Louisville, bishop of the 7th Episcopal District of the A.M.E. Zion Church and Conrad J. Lynn of New York City. The other lawyers are John M. Coe, Pensacola, Fla., and Leonard B. Boudin and Victor Rabinowitz of New York City.

Reprinted from NY TIMES.

High Court Backs House Red Panel In Contempt Cases

5-4 Rulings Broadly Upheld Investigating Power and Sustain 2 Convictions

BLACK IN SHARP DISSENT

Finds Freedom Imperiled by Decisions Jailing Critics of Congress Committee

By ANTHONY LEWIS
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — A bitterly divided Supreme Court upheld in broad terms today the investigating power of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

By votes of 5 to 4 the court affirmed the contempt convictions of two critics of the House group who refused to testify about possible Communist affiliations They were Frank Wilkinson of Los Angeles and Carl Braden of Louisville, Ky.

The dissenters charged that the court had opened the way for the House committee to intimidate its critics by investigating them. The majority said the mere fact that a man was a critic did not immunize him from inquiry if the committee had reason to think he had Communist affiliations.

Justice Hugo L. Black, in two passionate and despairing dissents, accused the majority of following "a constitutional doctrine that is steadily sacrificing individual control."

Finds Freedom Imperiled

"It is already past the time," Justice Black said, "when people who recognize and cherish the life-giving and life-preserving qualities of the freedoms protected by the Bill of Rights can afford to sit complacently by while those freedoms are be-

(Continued on Page 5)

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT:

Clemency Petition for Carl Braden

DATE: May 5, 1961

SEE:
NAME OR SUBJECT:

Ltr. to Messrs Dabbs and Wright whose signatures appear on petition - Ltr. from LWD to both dated May 5, filed in Dabbs personal folder under Board.

April 22, 1961

The enclosed letter and petition are sent to you for your personal attention, in the hope that you will add your signature, but they are not for publication at this time. We request that there be no publicity on this matter at this moment. When the list of signatures to the petition is complete, a news release will be issued, and you will be sent a copy immediately.

The Hon. John F. Kennedy
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C.

PETITION FOR CLEMENCY

We, the undersigned, petition for clemency in the matter of the U.S.Supreme Court Court decision in the case of Carl Braden vs. the United States, which causes the one-year imprisonment of Carl Braden for contempt of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Mr. Braden, a Southern integration worker, was subpoenaed to appear before the Committee in Atlanta, Ga., during 1958, and was questioned about his activities in the integration movement and his personal beliefs and associations. He took the position that the very asking of such questions by a governmental committee denies a citizen the freedom of speech and association guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and he declined to answer the questions.

The Supreme Court voted 5-4 to uphold his conviction. In a dissenting opinion, Justice Hugo Black stated: "The petitioner has for some time been at odds with strong sentiment favoring racial segregation in his home state of Kentucky. A white man himself, the petitioner has nonetheless spoken out strongly against that sentiment. This activity....seems also to have been the primary reason for his being called before the Un-American Committee.... (This is) a decision which may well strip the Negro of the aid of many of the white people who have been willing to speak up in his behalf. If the Un-American Activities Committee is to have the power to interrogate everyone who is called a Communist, there is one thing certain beyond the peradventure of a doubt---no legislative committee, state or federal, will have trouble finding cause to subpoena all persons who take a stand for or against segregation..."

It is of some concern to us that Carl Braden has already spent eight months in prison in Kentucky for his stand for integration--- a case in which his conviction was reversed and for which he was never compensated by the State of Kentucky. However, our main concern in this matter is not the welfare of this one man but our fear that the entire cause of integration will suffer as a result of the precedent set in this case.

The House Un-American Activities Committee, Senator Eastland's Internal Security Subcommittee, and various Southern state committees modeled after them claim to look for subversive activity, but actually they seem to be used in the South to try to destroy people and organizations working for integration. Their principal targets are white people who stand against segregation, but they are beginning also to attack Negroes, as in the case of the Rev. Theodore Gibson of Florida, who was sentenced to six months in prison for contempt of the Florida Committee. The simple act of subpoena has become a method of intimidation.

We are witnessing today a revival of McCarthyism in the South, because all other weapons of the segregationists are failing. The success of the Un-American Activities Committee in jailing Carl Braden will create fear and thin the ranks of the white people who would join with the Negro in the struggle for a democratic South and may well serve as a springboard to a new wave of repression in the Southern states.

We therefore urge Presidential clemency on behalf of this man to reaffirm the position of the Federal Government supporting peaceful and orderly integration in the South.

_____
(Please sign here)

Please indicate how you wish to be identified:

_____

_____

584 Alfred Rd., N.W.
Atlanta 18, Ga.

Dear Friend:

Enclosed is a copy of a petition for executive clemency in the case of Carl Braden. It will be presented to President Kennedy as soon as possible, if the U. S. Supreme Court denies Mr. Braden's petition for a rehearing, which is now pending.

As Southerners working for progress in our region, we are all concerned about the precedent being set in this case and its effect on the integration movement. All indications point to increased use by the segregationists of this kind of intimidation.

We urge you to join us as a signer of this petition.

Sincerely,

Ralph D. Abernathy
(The Rev.) Ralph D. Abernathy,
Montgomery, Ala.

Edgar A. Love
(Bishop) Edgar A. Love,
Baltimore, Md.

William B. Abbot
(The Rev.) William B. Abbot,
Norfolk, Va.

Dorcas Ruthenburg
Dorcas Ruthenburg,
Louisville, Ky.

Sarah Patton Boyle
Sarah Patton Boyle,
Charlottesville, Va.

Rev F. L. Shuttlesworth
(The Rev.) Fred L. Shuttlesworth,
Birmingham, Ala.

Carl P. Brannin
Carl P. Brannin,
Dallas, Texas

Rev. C. K. Steele Sr.
(The Rev.) C.K. Steele, Sr.,
Tallahassee, Fla.

J. M. Dabbs
James McBride Dabbs,
Mayesville, S.C.

Charles Ewbank Tucker
(Bishop) Charles Ewbank Tucker,
Louisville, Ky.

W. W. Finlator
(The Rev.) W.W. Finlator,
Raleigh, N.C.

W. Tee Walker
(The Rev.) Wyatt Tee Walker,
Atlanta, Ga.

Clarence Jordan
(The Rev.) Clarence Jordan,
Americus, Ga.

Aubrey W. Williams
Aubrey W. Williams,
Montgomery, Ala.

Martin Luther King Jr.
(The Rev.) Martin Luther King, Jr.,
Atlanta, Ga.

Marion A. Wright
Marion A. Wright,
Linville Falls, N.C.

James Morris Lawson, Jr.
(The Rev.) James Morris Lawson, Jr.
Shelbyville, Tenn.

bc: Miss Josephine Wilkins

April 10, 1962

Mr. Aubrey W. Williams, President
Southern Farmer, Inc.
Montgomery 1, Alabama

Dear Mr. Williams:

It was very kind of you to write to me recently. I suspect that holding the reins -- and the spurs -- of the Southern Regional Council was never, for any of my predecessors, a simple job. Certainly it is not now. I think I am very fortunate, however, to have the chance at this time.

Enclosed is a piece of mine which you might like to look at some time.

With best regards,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj
Enclosure - 1. (Annealing of the South)

Bc to U. Wilkins

SOUTHERN FARMER, INC.

MONTGOMERY 1, ALABAMA

AUBREY W. WILLIAMS
PRESIDENT

Montgomery, Ala
Feb. 12, 1962

Mr. Leslie W.Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

Mrs Clifford Durr has passed on to me a letter you wrote Nat Welch.

I thank you for your kind remarks with regards to myself. I also wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your much appreciated letter of some time back regarding my health. I should have answered and thanked you sooner.

I think your leadership of the Council has made it into a very strong organization. I congratulate you. It enjoys a splendid reputation among a large and enfluencial number of Southerners. I am happy to witness your responsible employment of it for unequivocal ends.

With evry good wish,

Yours sincerely,

Aubrey W. Williams

Aubrey W.Williams.

"Our concern in this matter is . . . our fear that the entire cause of integration will suffer as a result of the precedent set in this case . . . ."

A Petition for Clemency

THE HON. JOHN F. KENNEDY
PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

We, the undersigned, petition for clemency in the matter of the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the case of Carl Braden vs. the United States, which causes the one-year imprisonment of Carl Braden for contempt of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Mr. Braden, a Southern integration worker, was subpoenaed to appear before the Committee in Atlanta, Georgia, during 1958, and was questioned about his activities in the integration movement and his personal beliefs and associations. He took the position that the very asking of such questions by a governmental committee denies a citizen the freedom of speech and association guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, and he declined to answer the questions.

The Supreme Court voted 5-4 to uphold his conviction. In a dissenting opinion, Justice Hugo Black stated: "The petitioner has for some time been at odds with strong sentiment favoring racial segregation in his home state of Kentucky. A white man himself, the petitioner has nonetheless spoken out strongly against that sentiment. This activity . . . . seems also to have been the primary reason for his being called before the Un-American Committee . . . . (This is) a decision which may well strip the Negro of the aid of many of the white people who have been willing to speak up in his behalf. If the Un-American Activities Committee is to have the power to interrogate everyone who is called a Communist, there is one thing certain beyond the peradventure of a doubt—no legislative committee, state or federal, will have trouble finding cause to subpoena all persons who take a stand for or against segregation . . ."

It is of some concern to us that Carl Braden has already spent eight months in prison in Kentucky for his stand for integration—a case in which the conviction was reversed and for which he was never compensated by the State of Kentucky. However, our main concern in this matter is not the welfare of this one man but our fear that the entire cause of integration will suffer as a result of the precedent set in this case.

The House Un-American Activities Committee, Senator Eastland's Internal Security Subcommittee, and various Southern state committees modeled after them claim to look for subversive activity, but actually they seem to be used in the South to try to destroy people and organizations working for integration. Their principal targets are white people who stand against segregation, but they are beginning also to attack Negroes, as in the case of the Rev. Theodore Gibson of Florida, who was sentenced to six months in prison for contempt of the Florida Committee. The simple act of subpoena has become a method of intimidation.

We are witnessing today a revival of McCarthyism in the South, because all other weapons of the segregationists are failing. The success of the Un-American Activities Committee in jailing Carl Braden will create fear and thin the ranks of the white people who would join with the Negro in the struggle for a democratic South and may well serve as a springboard to a new wave of repression in the Southern states.

We therefore urge Presidential clemency on behalf of this man to reaffirm the position of the Federal Government supporting peaceful and orderly integration in the South.

Initiating Signers

THE REV. WILLIAM B. ABBOT, Norfolk, Va.
THE REV. RALPH D. ABERNATHY, Montgomery, Ala.
SARAH PATTON BOYLE, Charlottesville, Va.
CARL P. BRANNIN, Dallas, Tex.
JAMES McBRIDE DABBS, Mayesville, S. C.
THE REV. W. W. FINLATOR, Raleigh, N. C.
THE REV. CLARENCE JORDAN, Americus, Ga.
THE REV. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., Atlanta, Ga.
THE REV. JAMES M. LAWSON, JR., Shelbyville, Tenn.
BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE, Baltimore, Md.
DORCAS RUTHENBURG, Louisville, Ky.
THE REV. FRED L. SHUTTLESWORTH, Birmingham, Ala.
THE REV. C. K. STEELE, Tallahassee, Fla.
BISHOP C. EWBANK TUCKER, Louisville, Ky.
THE REV. WYATT TEE WALKER, Atlanta, Ga.
AUBREY W. WILLIAMS, Montgomery, Ala.
MARION A. WRIGHT, Linville Falls, N. C.

Signers

(Partial List)

ALABAMA:
JOHN R. BROSS, professor
MRS. W. C. CRAVNER
CLARENCE E. CRAYTON
THE REV. A. M. FREEMAN
DR. C. G. GOMILLION
JESSIE P. GUZMAN
J. L. LEFLORE
ALMENA LOMAX
THE REV. J. E. LOWERY
E. D. NIXON
THE REV. C. HERBERT OLIVER
MRS. EWING POTEET
ALFRED SCHUHMANN, professor
DANIEL W. WYNN

ALASKA:
OWEN C. RADEMACHER
THE REV. JOHN C. STOKES

ARIZONA:
PROF. JAMES A. BEATSON
ELDON DENNIS, geologist
EMMETT MCLOUGHLIN, Supt., Phoenix Mem. Hospital

ARKANSAS:
RALPH CREGER, author
THE REV. THOMAS O. MCJUNKENS
BISHOP O. L. SHERMAN
THE REV. WARREN STRICKLAND, SR.

CALIFORNIA:
THE REV. CHARLES R. BELL, JR.
JOHN CAUGHEY, historian
GEORGE DANGERFIELD, historian
C. L. DELLUMS, labor official
JOSEPHINE DUVENECK
W. H. FERRY
CARLTON B. GOODLET, M.D.
MRS. KATHLEEN JOHNSON
DR. AND MRS. HENRY MAYER
ALEXANDER MEIKLEJOHN
THE RT. REV. WALTER MITCHELL
JESSICA MITFORD
THOMAS NEUSOM, attorney
GIFFORD PHILLIPS
ANNIE J. PITOU
HELEN SALZ
MRS. ALICE F. SCHOTT
GUY EMERY SHIPLER, editor
MRS. MARNESBA TACKETT

COLORADO:
DOROTHY HOWARD, social worker
RUTH G. KNIGHT, teacher
PROF. R. D. LAKIN
MARION ULMER

CONNECTICUT:
KAY BOYLE, writer
GEORGE DE F. LORD, professor
JAMES A. MONSONIS, president, Nat'l Student Christian Fed.
MALCOLM PITT, professor
GEORGE D. PRATT, JR.

DELAWARE:
ELMER PAUL BROCK, past pres., Catholic Interracial Council of Delaware
RABBI HERBERT E. DROOZ
LOUIS L. REDDING, attorney
DONALD STEPHENS, educator

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA:
RUTH BENEDICT
IRVING BRANT, author and editor
MARVIN CAPLAN, writer
DION T. DIAMOND, D.C. Non-Violent Movement
THE REV. JAMES D. FOY
C. HERBERT MARSHALL, M.D., former president, National Medical Association
BISHOP W. W. MATTHEWS, retired
E. C. MAZIQUE, M.D.
EDWARD PEEKS, journalist
BISHOP FRANK MADISON REID

FLORIDA:
THE REV. EDWARD M. BERCKMAN
DAVID H. BROOKS, D.D.
ALBERT HOWARD CARTER, professor
JOHN M. COE, attorney
EDWARD D. DAVIS, president, Florida Voters League
THOMAS DREIER, editor and writer
RICHARD FINCHELL
THE REV. THEODORE GIBSON
HENRY HOKE
THE REV. JAMES HUDSON
FLOYD M. IRVIN
ERNEST JACKSON, attorney
H. DANIEL LANG, executive director, Greater Miami Urban League
HAL G. LEWIS, professor
THE REV. A. LEON LOWRY
THE REV. OSCAR M. MCADAMS
THE REV. H. MCDONALD NELSON, president, Interdenominational Alliance, St. Petersburg

GEORGIA:
ELLA J. BAKER
RUBY BERKLEY
BURR BLACKBURN, former state welfare director of Georgia
G. MURRAY BRANCH, professor
THE REV. EDWARD A. CAHILL
WILLIAM A. CALDER
JOHN WESLEY DOBBS, president, Georgia Voters League
THE REV. BENJAMIN GAY, president, Interdenominational Alliance, Albany
BISHOP S. L. GREENE, SR.
RICHARD HOCKING, professor
JOSEPHINE D. MURPHY, president, Atlanta branch, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom
RICHARD STENHOUSE
JOSEPHINE WILKINS
JAMES R. WOOD, public relations dir., Southern Christian Leadership Conference
HOWARD ZINN

HAWAII:
HARRIET BONSLOG, attorney

IDAHO:
E. P. SOLOMON

ILLINOIS:
WILLOUGHBY ABNER, education & citizenship director, Region 4, United Auto Workers
THE REV. J. C. AUSTIN, SR.
THE REV. HAROLD A. BOSLEY
KERMIT EBY, professor
ARTHUR G. FALLS, M.D.
CURTIS D. MACDOUGALL
THE REV. HOWARD SCHOMER
ROLAND P. MACKAY, M.D.
ENOCH P. WATERS, JR., journalist

INDIANA:
THOMAS BARTON, professor
PAUL A. LAPRAD, student
ANDREW SCHULZE, executive secretary, Lutheran Human Relations Association of America
BISHOP A. W. WOMACK

IOWA:
THE REV. JAY T. ALLEN
THE REV. HUGH B. FOUKE
FLOYD MOECKLY
PROF. & MRS. HOWARD L. PARSONS
C. H. WERKMAN, professor

KANSAS:
THE REV. PAUL W. BURRES
W. CECIL FINDLEY, chairman, Manhattan Committee on Human Relations
PROF. BEN FUSON
ROBERT I. LONG, psychologist
CAPT. BOLIVER E. WATKINS

KENTUCKY:
JULIA F. ALLEN, professor
THE REV. E. DEEDOM ALSTON
ROSCOE GIFFIN, professor
JOHN BENJAMIN HORTON, editor
THE REV. DANIEL J. HUGHLETT
GEORGE KIMBROUGH, M.D.
PATRICK S. KIRWAN, teacher
THE REV. W. F. OWENS
MARION PEARSALL
DR. M. M. D. PERDUE
J. E. REEVES, assoc. professor
DR. LEWIS S. C. SMYTHE
FRANK STANLEY, JR.
HENRY WALLACE
HARVEY CURTIS WEBSTER, professor

LOUISIANA:
J. N. BLANKENSHIP, professor, member of State NAACP Board
EDWIN J. BOUTTEE, New Orleans, NAACP board
C. C. DEJOIE, publisher
DAVID DENNIS, member New Orleans CORE, student
THE REV. ALBERT D'ORLANDO
THE REV. SAMUEL L. GANDY
S. LANGSTON GOLDFINCH, student
BISHOP FREDERICK D. JORDAN
JOHN M. KYPERS
FREDERICK RHODES, M.D.
BENJAMIN E. SMITH
PHILIP G. WILTZ, SR.

MAINE:
ROBERT J. FENDERSON
JACOB MELNICK, M.D.
BERTRAM D. SCOTT
THE REV. BURTON H. THROCKMORTON, JR.

MARYLAND:
CHARIS E. R. CROSSE, co-chairman, Student Appeal for Equality, Maryland State College
ROBERT L. GILL, professor
SIDNEY HOLLANDER
KENNETH L. LEE
NATHAN SMITH, assoc. professor

MASSACHUSETTS:
GORDON W. ALLPORT
WILLIAM M. DIETEL, ass't. dean, Amherst College
BARBARA DEMING, writer
OSCAR HANDLIN
THE REV. S. RALPH HARLOW
J. TIM PARSONS, president, Amherst College Students for Racial Equality
LOUISE PETTIBONE SMITH
HARRY L. SOUTHARD
THE REV. DANIEL C. WHITSETT

MICHIGAN:
PROF. RUSSELL BROADHEAD
THE REV. HENRY HITT CRANE
HAROLD CRANEFIELD, labor lawyer
LEWIS FRANK
RUTH FRANK
CARL HAESSLER
THOMAS E. HAYDEN, editor
ANNA HOLDEN
ALBERT W. MARBLE
SCIPIO MURPHY, M.D.
GUY NUNN, broadcaster
MRS. ROSA PARKS, formerly of Montgomery, Ala.
MARVEL RASKIN, executive sec., Michigan Friends of the South
LAWRENCE F. READ, superintendent of schools, Inkster
THE REV. S. D. ROSS
EUGENE WILSON, United Auto Workers representative

MINNESOTA:
BIRDEEN BIRKELAND
PATRICK J. GLEASON
TERESINA R. HAVENS
GEORGE HEDLUND, attorney
WILLIAM HENDERSON, JR., co-chairman Student Action for Human Rights, Macalester College

MISSISSIPPI:
JAMES A. BURNS, attorney
THE REV. MURRAY COX
A. L. FIELDER, SR., pharmacist
JAMES C. GILLIAM
W. A. JONES, president, Lauderdale County Democratic Club
JOHN C. MELCHOR, president, Coahoma Branch, NAACP
THE REV. R. L. STANTON, president, Meridian Branch, NAACP

MISSOURI:
OLIVER C. COX, professor
THE REV. ALLEN HACKETT
R. CLYDE MINOR, professor
STUART MOORE
PARK J. WHITE, M.D.

MONTANA:
D. W. CHAPMAN
RONALD W. HOLTZ
ERNEST O. REDLIN, JR.
A. N. WANKEL

NEBRASKA:
PROF. LEON E. AYLSWORTH
PROF. FREDERICK K. BEUTEL
PROF. E. DAVID CRONON

NEVADA:
FRANZ FRANK

NEW HAMPSHIRE:
GRENVILLE CLARK, lawyer, author

Signers

(Partial List)

NEW JERSEY:

STRINGFELLOW BARR, professor
JOHN CIARDI, poet
BENJAMIN A. COLLIER, executive director, Commission on Human Relations, Paterson
DAVID DELLINGER, editor
LAWRENCE H. KELLMER, JR.
MORTON STAVIS
MRS. W. H. SCHEIDE
PROF. PAUL TILLETT

NEW MEXICO:

WITTER BYNNER, writer
MRS. ARTHUR F. MUSGRAVE
THE REV. J. PAUL STEVENS

NEW YORK:

JAMES BALDWIN, writer
VIOLA W. BERNARD, M.D.
ALGERNON D. BLACK
JANE M. BOLIN
WARREN BOWER, asst. dean, New York University
DR. ESTHER LUCILLE BROWN
BISHOP WILLIAM C. BROWN
GORDON R. CAREY
OSSIE DAVIS, actor
PHILIP EVERGOOD, artist
WALDO FRANK, author
MAXWELL GEISMAR, author & critic
F. P. GRAHAM
RICHARD B. GREGG, writer
ROBERT ALAN HABER, nat'l. chair., Students for a Democratic Society
ALFRED HASSLER, exec. secretary, Fellowship of Reconciliation
B. W. HUEBSCH, publisher
SOPHIE YARNALL JACOBS
HERLUF JENSEN, gen'l sec., National Student Christian Federation
ALFRED KAZIN, writer
FREDA KIRCHWEY
J. W. KNEDLER, JR., dean, University College, New York Univ.
BREWSTER B. KNEEN
WILLIAM M. KUNSTLER, professor
MARK LANE, Member of the Assembly, State of New York
GOODHUE LIVINGSTON, member, New York City Planning Commission
CAREY MCWILLIAMS, author
A. G. MEZERIK, author
WILLIAM ROBERT MILLER, man. editor, Fellowship Magazine
HENRY NEUMAN, emeritus leader, Brooklyn Ethical Society
ROBERT BARRON NEMIROF, producer
REINHOLD NIEBUHR
THE REV. WALTER P. OFFUTT, JR.
JUSTINE WISE POLIER
FRANK ROSENBLUM, sec.-treas., Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America
ROGER L. SHINN, professor
THE REV. GLENN E. SMILEY
ELLEN M. STEINBERG, psychiatric social worker
ORDWAY TEAD, editor
BISHOP W. J. WALLS
J. WATIES WARING
MARY HAYS WEIK, editor
MRS. LOUIS S. WEISS
THE REV. DAVID RHYS WILLIAMS

NORTH CAROLINA:

LEO BELL, JR., New Bern Youth Council, NAACP
G. K. BUTTERFIELD
DEAN GRADY W. DAVIS
MARION R. DAVIS, secretary, Community Church, Chapel Hill
THE REV. N. K. DUNN
GEORGE R. GREENE, chairman, Raleigh NAACP Legal Redress Committee
CHARLES M. JONES, minister
JOSEPH O'BRIEN, Episcopal chaplain, Duke University
DR. J. B. RHINE
OSCAR K. RICE, professor
GEORGE C. SIMKINS, JR., D.D.S.

NORTH DAKOTA:

PROF. ROBERT M. WHITE

OHIO:

THE REV. MAURICE F. MCCRACKIN
ALFRED MAUND, author
DOROTHY MAUND, social worker
THE REV. CLARENCE T. R. NELSON
JAMES D. NOBEL & RUTH NOBEL
HARLAND RANDOLPH, teacher
WILLIAM B. SPAGNOLA, exec, dir., Youngstown FEPC
DR. RALPH T. TEMPLIN, professor
C. EVERETT TILSON, author
OFFIE C. WORTHAM, president, Antioch College NAACP

OKLAHOMA:

CHARLES N. ATKINS, M.D.
ARTHUR N. BRAGG, professor
CORINNE BREEDING
DONALD S. LEHMAN, M.D.
T. D. MOON, exec. sec. Oklahoma Association of Teachers
THE REV. CALVIN E. STALNAKER
JAMES E. STEWART, writer

OREGON:

MRS. IVAN BELLINGER
MR. AND MRS. MARK CHAMBERLIN
LESTER A. KIRKENDALL, professor

PENNSYLVANIA:

KATHARINE M. ARNET, assoc. sec., Women's International League for Peace and Freedom
E. CAROL BAUER, community worker, Mayors Commission on Human Relations, Pittsburgh
ROBERT W. BLACKBURN, exec. director, Citizens Committee on Public Education, Philadelphia
LUCY P. CARNER
GEORGE W. CULBERSON, Pittsburgh Methodist Board of Christian Social Concerns
OLIVER FEIN, past sec., Swarthmore College Student Council
LILLIAN A. FRIEDBERG, exec. dir. Jewish Community Relations Council
WALTER C. LONGSTRETH, chairman, Frankford Friends Forum
STEWART MEACHAM
MILDRED SCOTT OLMSTED
MARJORIE PENNEY, director, Fellowship House
P. L. PRATTIS
GLADYS D. RAWLINS, exec. director, Committee on Race Relations, Society of Friends
E. WASHINGTON RHODES, attorney
LENERTE ROBERTS

RHODE ISLAND:

HARVEY O'CONNOR
THOMAS PERRY
NANCY A. SIMONS

SOUTH CAROLINA:

ARTHUR W. CALHOUN, sociologist
JOHN BOLT CULBERTSON, attorney
ROBERT K. GORDON, M.D.
CHARLES F. NESBITT, professor
MRS. MODJESKA SIMKINS
ELLEN B. TALBOT, prof. emeritus

SOUTH DAKOTA:

LINCOLN BARKER, professor
PAULINE HOFF
CHARLES L. YOUNG

TENNESSEE:

MARION S. BARRY, member Student Nonviolent Coordinating Comm.
THE REV. CHARLES A. BOYLES
THE REV. HENRY C. BUNTON
WASHINGTON BUTLER, JR., city councilman, Oak Ridge
SEPTIMA CLARK
DORIS DENNISON
DAVID E. DENTON, chairman, Guidance Dept., Oak Ridge High School
ERLANDER FORD, JR., president, NAACP youth organization, Memphis and Shelby County
GEORGE GRAVES, pres., Haywood County Civic & Welfare League
ROBERT HELM, pastor
MYLES HORTON
C. L. HYATTE, editor
THE REV. R. E. JAMES
DR. ARTHUR W. JONES
DR. HERMAN H. LONG
JOHN ROBERT LEWIS, Nashville non-violent movement
JOHN H. MARION
DR. HUGH J. MORGAN, M.D.
THE REV. ROBERT C. PALMER
C. M. PROUDFOOT, professor
J. M. ROLLINS, JR., field dir., regional office, Dept. of Church & Society, United Presbyterian Church
ODELL SANDERS, Haywood County Civic Welfare League
O. B. TAYLOR, M.D.

TEXAS:

SANDRA CASON, student
R. A. CHILDERS, manufacturer
FRANKLIN C. DAVIDSON, chairman, Students for Direct Action, University of Texas
THE REV. SHERWOOD S. DAVIS
J. FRANK DOBIE, writer
RONNIE DUGGER, journalist
VIVIEN FRANKLIN, secretary, Young Democrats, University of Texas
JOHN HADEN, editor
THE REV. H. RHETT JAMES
THE REV. BRANDOCH L. LOVELY
C. H. MAYER, organizer, United Furniture Workers
HENRY C. MUNRO, professor
DOROTHY MUNRO, ass't. professor
DR. ROBERT RAIBLE
PROF. GEORGE I. SANCHEZ
THE REV. PHILIP SCHUG
JAMES STRIPLING, organizer, Hotel & Restaurant Workers
THE REV. TODD JAMES TAYLOR, Unitarian, Ft. Worth
CARTER WESLEY, publisher
A. E. WARNER, president, Negro Chamber of Commerce, Houston

UTAH:

THE REV. C. SUMPTER LOGAN
MRS. SARAH T. OTTO, psychiatric social worker

VERMONT:

THE REV. PERCY C. LADD
WILLIAM JAY SMITH, state legis'tor
KENNETH WEBB
NORMAN R. WILLIAMS

VIRGINIA:

WILMA STRAUS ALEXANDER
THE REV. W. CARROLL BROOKE
MRS. GERALDINE DAVIS
FRANK W. FINGER
HARRIET FITZGERALD, artist
EDGAR S. FRALEY
RABBI EMMET FRANK
THE REV. L. FRANCIS GRIFFIN, pres., Prince Edward County Christian Association
JUNE PURCELL GUILD
EDWIN B. HENDERSON, state board member of NAACP and Virginia Council on Human Relations
LEONARD B. HOLT
THE REV. ROBERT O. KEVIN
MARTIN A. MARTIN, attorney
MRS. BARBARA M. MARX
SAMUEL NEWMAN, M.D.
THE REV. W. L. RANSOME
DAVID SCULL
BARBARA A. THOMAS, student
W. HALE THOMPSON
VIRGINIUS B. THORNTON, student
OTTO L. TUCKER, attorney

WASHINGTON:

PROF. GEORGE H. BALL
JOHN CAUGHLAN, attorney
PROF. GORDON GRIFFITHS
PROF. ALEX D. KRIEGER
LEONARD A. WALKER

WEST VIRGINIA:

YOLANDE M. GEHRI
CHARLOTTE P. GOLDSBOROUGH
DR. JAMES L. HUPP, professor
THE REV. EDMUND J. LEE
THE REV. DUNBAR H. OGDEN, JR.
LELAND H. TAYLOR, professor
WILLIAM J. L. WALLACE, educator

WISCONSIN:

M. MICHAEL ESSIN, attorney
RABBI OSCAR FLEISHAKER
HUGH P. GREELEY, M.D.
WILLIAM G. RICE, professor of law
OSCAR RADEMACHER, attorney
EARL F. SCHUMACKER, attorney

WYOMING:

SYDNEY B. SPIEGEL

Additional Signatures

NAME	ADDRESS	CITY & STATE

Several different petitions asking freedom for Carl Braden are circulating throughout the country. You are invited to sign this one even if you have signed others, but do not sign this one twice.

Return to

Braden Clemency Appeal

584 Alfred Ave., N.W.

Atlanta 18, Ga.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

822 Perdido Street, New Orleans 12, Louisiana

POLICY STATEMENT

(Adopted at a meeting of the Board of Directors, Atlanta, Ga., June 12, 1954)

The Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the public schools has reunited legality and morality in the South. Racial discrimination and exclusion have lost their last vestige of respectability, and the double standard that harassed and thwarted implementation of basic ethical and religious teachings has disappeared.

The Board of Directors of the Southern Conference Educational Fund welcomes this bold reaffirmation of the historic American ideal. As Southerners, we urge our fellow citizens to recognize this opportunity to build for a regional future of unprecedented amity and prosperity.

For the past decade the Fund has devoted its efforts to the elimination of racial segregation and discrimination. It now offers this background of research and regional action to all Southerners who see that quick compliance with the court decision is feasible, just, and mutually advantageous to all citizens.

The task of securing integration in the public schools is no longer a legal problem. The problem now lies in the minds of private citizens and local officials. Parents, both white and Negro, must be convinced that the health of their children's minds and the hope of their becoming normal, mature persons, depends on the leveling of the barrier that blocks out half the world and blights their adult behavior.

School officials and administrators must be reminded that their oaths of office and their professional training prescribe their compliance with this new system—and they should be reassured that they will be the better public servants for doing so.

The SCEF believes that nearly every Southern community has persons with the courage and moral vision to challenge and to convince their fellows. The Fund pledges itself to seeking out and supporting these individuals.

A major premise underlying the Supreme Court decision was the assumption that education is not an end in itself. Democracy in the schools can only have meaning if there is democracy in the adult society outside. Therefore, the SCEF declares the following additional objectives to be part of the obligation America has to its children:

1. Final and complete establishment of a single standard of requirements for voting and jury service.
2. Integration of medical and hospital facilities, with access being determined on the basis of need.
3. Availability of housing on the basis of individual choice and ability to pay, without legal or extra-legal restrictions aimed at minority groups.
4. Integration of the congregations and institutions of those religious assemblies who accept the brotherhood of man under God.
5. Enactment of federal fair employment practices legislation.
6. Enactment of state fair educational practices legislation banning discrimination in all educational institutions, private as well as public.

The Southern Conference Educational Fund does not claim that its program is unique; contrariwise, it is convinced that its views have been inherent in every progressive step the South has taken. What distinction there may be lies in the SCEF's determination to achieve its goals expeditiously, and thus forestall further human suffering and waste.

Give Decency A Chance in the South . . .

We need to take some chances in behalf of decency.

We need to set up advance positions, and make a try at supporting them.

We need to believe a little more in the decency of the common man.

—AUBREY WILLIAMS

FOR MORE THAN A DECADE,
THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE
EDUCATIONAL FUND
HAS BEEN WORKING,
WITHOUT SURCEASE OR COMPROMISE,
TOWARD A SINGLE GOAL:

The elimination of all forms of racial segregation in the Southern and border States.

WE WORK TOWARD THAT DAY

When second-class citizenship will be a thing of the past in the United States of America.

When racial segregation will no longer place its life-long blight on the bodies of Negroes and the spirit of white people.

When Negro and white Southerners will build together, like the children on the cover of this booklet, toward greater opportunity for all.

THIS IS OUR PAST . . .

Prior to 1946, the Southern Conference Educational Fund operated as a part of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which was formed in 1938 to seek the way toward economic and social progress for the South. The SCHW turned its energies and its work toward many crucial problems facing the region. Operating as an independent agency since 1946, SCEF has applied itself to only one of these—the elimination of segregation; we believe that herein lies the key to every other problem the South faces.

Always our emphasis has been on interracial activity in pursuit of our goal. We firmly believe that segregation destroys the white people in the South as much as it does the Negroes, corrupting them in subtle ways. We have always been sure that there are many Southern white people who will help to conquer this evil if they can find the way. We have sought to find these people and to bring them together.

We have felt that the struggle for equal rights must not be carried on by the Negro people alone. Not only because it is morally wrong that they should have to bear the burden without help, but also because it is only through joint effort of Negro and white in this endeavor that we can lay the basis for a brotherly society in the future.

The elimination of all forms of racial segregation in the Southern and border States.

WE WORK TOWARD THAT DAY

THIS IS OUR PAST . . .

Prior to 1946, the Southern Conference Educational Fund operated as a part of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which was formed in 1938 to seek the way toward economic and social progress for the South. The SCHW turned its energies and its work toward many crucial problems facing the region. Operating as an independent agency since 1946, SCEF has applied itself to only one of these—the elimination of segregation; we believe that herein lies the key to every other problem the South faces.

Always our emphasis has been on interracial activity in pursuit of our goal. We firmly believe that segregation destroys the white people in the South as much as it does the Negroes, corrupting them in subtle ways. We have always been sure that there are many Southern white people who will help to conquer this evil if they can find the way. We have sought to find these people and to bring them together.

We have felt that the struggle for equal rights must not be carried on by the Negro people alone. Not only because it is morally wrong that they should have to bear the burden without help, but also because it is only through joint effort of Negro and white in this endeavor that we can lay the basis for a brotherly society in the future.

AND THESE OUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Long before the Supreme Court decision of 1954, long before it was the law of the land, we worked for an ending of segregation in the schools, as well as in other areas of life.

Here are a few of the things we have done in the past decade:

- Underwrote a test case challenging the constitutionality of the Georgia county-unit voting system (1948).

- Distributed 125,000 copies of a graphic study of the effect of segregation in education (1947).

- Conducted a conference of prominent Southerners at the University of Virginia to draw up and adopt a Declaration of Civil Rights (1948).

- Served as coordinator for an amicus curiae brief in the Sweatt case, which broke segregation at the college graduate level (1949).

- Brought together educators and students from all over the South for a conference on Discrimination in Higher Education (1950).

- Conducted a series of studies into discrimination in the field of medicine and distributed 25,000 copies of a pamphlet on hospital discrimination, "The Untouchables" (1951-52).

- Conducted an interracial youth conference at Columbia, S. C., bringing together teachers and students from 48 southern colleges (1952).

- Launched a series of regional conferences on compliance with the Supreme Court school decision (1954-55).

- Presented a petition, signed by 2,600 citizens, to the Senate Subcommittee on Civil Rights urging hearings in Mississippi (1956).

- Published an advertisement in the Washington Post-Times Herald, opposing crippling amendments to the civil rights bill, sponsored and signed by 82 citizens from all of the 13 Southern States (1957).

- Contributed more than $2,000.00 to help the fight against bus segregation in Tallahassee, and contributed $1,000.00 to help with a registration campaign in Alabama (1957).

THIS IS OUR PRESENT

Today the SCEF has the support of people, white and Negro, in all of the 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia. The affairs of the organization are managed by a 65-member board of directors from this region. In addition, 107 prominent citizens from these states serve on an advisory committee and on a medical advisory committee.

AND THESE OUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Long before the Supreme Court decision of 1954, long before it was the law of the land, we worked for an ending of segregation in the schools, as well as in other areas of life.

Here are a few of the things we have done in the past decade:

- Underwrote a test case challenging the constitutionality of the Georgia county-unit voting system (1948).

- Distributed 125,000 copies of a graphic study of the effect of segregation in education (1947).

- Conducted a conference of prominent Southerners at the University of Virginia to draw up and adopt a Declaration of Civil Rights (1948).

- Served as coordinator for an amicus curiae brief in the Sweatt case, which broke segregation at the college graduate level (1949).

- Brought together educators and students from all over the South for a conference on Discrimination in Higher Education (1950).

- Conducted a series of studies into discrimination in the field of medicine and distributed 25,000 copies of a pamphlet on hospital discrimination, "The Untouchables" (1951-52).

- Conducted an interracial youth conference at Columbia, S. C., bringing together teachers and students from 48 southern colleges (1952).

- Launched a series of regional conferences on compliance with the Supreme Court school decision (1954-55).

- Presented a petition, signed by 2,600 citizens, to the Senate Subcommittee on Civil Rights urging hearings in Mississippi (1956).

- Published an advertisement in the Washington Post-Times Herald, opposing crippling amendments to the civil rights bill, sponsored and signed by 82 citizens from all of the 13 Southern States (1957).

- Contributed more than $2,000.00 to help the fight against bus segregation in Tallahassee, and contributed $1,000.00 to help with a registration campaign in Alabama (1957).

THIS IS OUR PRESENT

Today the SCEF has the support of people, white and Negro, in all of the 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia. The affairs of the organization are managed by a 65-member board of directors from this region. In addition, 107 prominent citizens from these states serve on an advisory committee and on a medical advisory committee.

OFFICERS

President
Aubrey W. Williams

Vice-Presidents
Bishop Edgar A. Love
Dr. Herman H. Long
Modjeska M. Simkins

Treasurer
Herman L. Midlo

Secretary
Dr. James L. Hupp

Assistant Secretary
Mrs. Fred Zengel

Executive Director
James A. Dombrowski

Field Secretaries
Anne Braden
Carl Braden

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

L. E. Austin, N. C.
Angela Bambace, Md.
Dr. Lincoln Barker, Tenn.
Dr. Albert E. Barnett, Ga.
L. C. Bates, Ark.
Dr. Paul F. Boller, Jr., Tex.
Sarah Patton Boyle, Va.
Dr. G. Murray Branch, Ga.
Dr. James P. Brawley, Ga.
Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, N. C.
Dr. George K. Butterfield, N.C.
Dr. William A. Calder, Ga.
Dr. Albert H. Carter, Ark.
John M. Coe, Fla.
John Wesley Dobbs, Ga.
Katherine Dodd, M.D., Ky.
James A. Dombrowski, La.
Roscoe Dunjee, Okla.
The Rev. E. C. Estell, Tex.
Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, Washington, D. C.
A. G. Gaston, Ala.
James E. Gayle, La.
Mrs. Harry M. Gershon, Ga.
Charles G. Gomillion, Ala.
Jessie P. Guzman, Ala.
Bishop S. L. Greene, Ga.
The Rev. E. A. Henry, La.
William E. Hogan, Tex.
Dr. James L. Hupp, W. Va.
The Rev. Albert J. Kinsling, Fla.
Mrs. S. S. Labouisse, La.
Marcelle C. Leath, Ark.
Bishop F. L. Lewis, La.
Dr. Hal G. Lewis, Fla.
Dr. Herman H. Long, Tenn.
Bishop Edgar A. Love, Md.
C. Herbert Marshall II, M.D. Washington, D. C.
Herman L. Midlo, La.
Rudolph Moses, W. Va.
E. D. Nixon, Ala.
Naomi Parnell, La.
Dr. M. M. D. Perdue, Ky.
Dr. Richard H. Powers, Tex.
Louis L. Redding, Dela.
Frederick Rhodes, M.D., La.
Ellen Fetter Roberts, Fla.
Bishop Herbert Bell Shaw, N.C.
Modjeska M. Simkins, S. C.
Benjamin E. Smith, La.
The Rev. Clarence H. Snelling, Jr., La.
The Rev. Stephen P. Spottswood, Ark.
The Rev. C. K. Steele, Fla.
Donald Stephens, Dela.
Dr. Carl C. Taylor, Va.
Dr. Leland H. Taylor, W. Va.
O. B. Taylor, M.D., Tenn.
Franklin W. Thomas, Okla.
Dr. Charles H. Thompson, Washington, D.C.
Bishop C. Ewbank Tucker, Ky.
Dr. William J. L. Wallace, W. Va.
Willson Whitman, N. C.
Aubrey W. Williams, Ala.
Arthur Wright, La.
The Rev. Ben F. Wyland, Fla.
Mrs. Fred Zengel, La.

"Such organizations as the SCEF will really bring about the change all of us hope for, not only in the South but throughout our country."

—MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

"In helping to eliminate segregation the SCEF is making an indispensable contribution to the cause of freedom and peace."

—MADAME VIJAHA LAKSHMI PANDIT

"I applaud the commitment of your organization to the great principle of human dignity for all men which stems from the Judeo-Christian ethic of the brotherhood of man,—the negation of racism, communism and fascism."

—A. PHILIP RANDOLPH

"The SCEF is one of the valuable assets in our American life, North and South, which helps us to move with a rapidly changing world in an orderly and creative direction."

—CLARENCE PICKETT

"The SCEF angers nobody except those who are not angered by injustice."

—IRVING BRANT

" . . . . That the SCEF is comprised of citizens of the South actively engaged in the fight for freedom and equality of all people, strengthens our faith that the achievement of the highest ideals of democracy is on America's threshold."

CHARLES C. DIGGS, JR.
Member of Congress

a policy statement saying morality and legality had been reunited in the South. We saw the coming period as one of the greatest opportunity, when we could work for our goals with the law of the land on our side.

In the interim since that decision, we have found that it is also a period of great difficulty. Not enough white Southerners have yet risen to the demands of history, and as a result we have seen a determined minority of rabid segregationists fasten new repressions on the South and create a new climate of fear.

But in the decency of most white southerners, we maintain our faith. The white South is grappling and groping and searching as it has never had to do before. Out of the turmoil, we firmly believe, will come our region's time of greatest achievement.

AND THESE OUR PLANS

To hasten the coming of that day, the SCEF is now in the process of expanding its program of activities.

We intend to increase our efforts to reach and bring together the Southern people who are groping for a way to meet the challenge of the times.

In the area of education, we will continue and expand our work of providing people with the facts they need in this time of searching.

In the area of action, we will continue and expand our efforts to break the silence where it now exists, to strengthen the voice of decency where it now speaks.

Specifically, we plan:

To organize interracial groups to work for civil rights legislation in every Southern and border state. These will work at both the national and state level—for positive civil rights legislation in the border states now, against pro-segregation legislation in the deep South at the present time. Eventually, we envision the day when we can work for positive civil rights legislation at the state level throughout the region.

To organize interracial support for the drive of the Negro people to increase their vote in the South and to assist them in breaking down voting restrictions.

To continue, as we have in the past, organizing community support for all moves against segregation, in the schools, hospitals, libraries, and elsewhere.

AND SCEF NEEDS YOU . . .

If it is to do the gigantic job that must be done, SCEF needs the help of many people.

If you live in the South, it needs your ideas, your suggestions, your time and your energy, your hands and your pen and your heart—whatever and as much as you are in a position to give; and it needs your financial contribution.

If you live in the North, it also needs your ideas and your suggestions, and your time and energy in letting others know about our program and seeking their support; and it needs your financial contribution.

Wherever you live, write to SCEF now. Send a contribution to help carry on this work, and tell us what else you may be able to do. Address all communications to:

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

822 PERDIDO STREET

NEW ORLEANS 12, LOUISIANA

(SCEF is financed by voluntary contributions from individuals and organizations. An annual audit of all accounts is made by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company, New Orleans.)

20

THIS WE BELIEVE

". . . HAVE WE NOT ALL ONE FATHER?"

—Malachi 2:10

". . . LOVE THY NEIGHBOR AS THYSELF."

—Leviticus 19:18

—Matthew 22:37-39

". . . ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL."

—Declaration of Independence

". . . SEPARATE FACILITIES ARE INHERENTLY UNEQUAL."

—U. S. Supreme Court

WE STILL believe all men are created equal . . . And that all are endowed with certain rights. We take these rights to include equality before the law and freedom from any discrimination bolstered by law; a right to vote; freedom of expression; unrestricted access to all institutions supported by taxes for the public welfare; equal pay for equal work and equal opportunity for training and employment; and the right of unsegregated transportation, housing and assembly.

For the past decade the Southern Conference Educational Fund has devoted its efforts to securing these rights for everyone—to the elimination of second-class citizenship. It now offers this background of research and regional action to all Southerners who believe that prompt compliance with the Supreme Court decision on segregation in public schools is feasible, just and advantageous to all of us.

WE'RE PROUD OF THESE

AMONG OUR RECENT

ACCOMPLISHMENTS . . .

A conference* at the University of Virginia and the adoption at the home of Thomas Jefferson of a "Declaration of Civil Rights" signed by 200 Southerners. ➤

A Southwide conference* at Columbia, S. C., on "Youth and Racial Unity Through Equality of Educational Opportunity," sponsored by 500 representative Southerners, white and colored, including professors from 150 Southern colleges and universities. ➤

Opinion polls* on racial attitudes of 15 thousand college teachers 24 hundred hospital administrators, and 42.5 thousand doctors in 17 Southern and border states.

the untouchables

Publication of* 25 thousand copies of a pamphlet, "The Untouchables, The Meaning of Segregation in Hospitals," written by Alfred Maund, with illustrations contributed by the noted artist, Ben Shahn.

. . . Such organizations as the SCEF will really bring about the change all of us hope for, not only in the South but throughout our country.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

. . . Every right-minded person will be grateful to you for having united to fight this evil that so grievously injures the dignity and repute of our country . . . Your fight is not easy, but in the end, you will succeed.

ALBERT EINSTEIN

. . . I have a deep and abiding faith and interest in all that the Fund is doing and hopes to do.

MRS. MARY MCLEOD BETHUNE

. . . In helping to eliminate segregation the SCEF is making an indispensable contribution to the cause of freedom and peace.

MADAME VIJAHA LAKSHMI PANDIT

. . . It stands for equal rights and equal opportunities for all American citizens.

JOHN WESLEY DOBBS

. . . Careful ascertainment of the facts, penetrating interpretation of what the facts mean, control of all procedures by a highly intelligent grasp of how social change is effected combine to make the SCEF truly "educational." As an educator, I naturally like to support a program so well conceived and executed.

DR. ALBERT E. BARNETT

. . . No organization in America today is doing a more effective work in bettering human relations, than the SCEF.

BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE

. . . Few organizations have proved themselves a more constructive friend to the South and hence to all America than has the SCEF.

DR. ESTHER LUCILE BROWN

. . . I applaud the commitment of your organization to the great principle of human dignity for all men which stems from the Judeo-Christian ethic of the brotherhood of man,—the negation of racism, communism and fascism.

A. PHILIP RANDOLPH

. . . The SCEF is one of the valuable assets in our American life, North and South, which helps us to move with a rapidly changing world in an orderly and creative direction.

CLARENCE E. PICKETT

. . . That the SCEF is comprised of citizens of the South actively engaged in the fight for freedom and equality of all people, strengthens our faith that the achievement of the highest ideals of democracy is on America's threshold.

CHARLES C. DIGGS, JR.
Member of Congress

. . . The American Way is the way which opens equal opportunities to all Americans in every field of life. Let us all help point the way.

BORIS SHISHKIN

. . . The SCEF challenges the best that is in southern leadership, in the interest of the best that the South itself can be, in lifting the burden of racial segregation from the mind and spirit of its people.

DR. HERMAN H. LONG

. . . The SCEF angers nobody except those who are angered by injustice.

IRVING BRANT

. . . It is trying to bring about peace, justice, and good will among all persons in the South, regardless of race, creed or color.

ROBERT A. CHILDERS

THIS COUNTRY will not be a good place for any of us to live in unless we make it a good place for all of us to live in. Our cause is the cause of justice for all in the interest of all.

These beliefs are translated into action by the SCEF's Board of Directors, all living in the Southern and border states and the District of Columbia. The Board includes 22 college and university professors (including 6 presidents and deans); 6 editors and writers; 4 business men and women; 2 labor officials; 7 ministers; 4 lawyers; 5 doctors and dentists, and 2 YMCA secretaries.

The Fund is financed by voluntary individual contributions from about 3,000 persons. An annual audit of all accounts is made by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company.

If you would like to take part in this movement for truth and decency, address your contribution to

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.
822 Perdido Street, New Orleans, Louisiana

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

Officers

President

AUBREY W. WILLIAMS

Vice-Presidents

MRS. ANDREW W. SIMKINS

BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE

HERMAN H. LONG

Secretary

ALVA W. TAYLOR

Treasurer

HERMAN MIDLO

Executive Director

JAMES A. DOMBROWSKI

Board of Directors

WILMA S. ALEXANDER, Virginia

REV. JAMES ARMSTRONG, Florida

L. E. AUSTIN, North Carolina

ANGELA BAMBACE, Maryland

DR. LINCOLN BARKER, Tennessee

DR. ALBERT E. BARNETT, Georgia

L. C. BATES, Arkansas

DR. JAMES P. BRAWLEY, Georgia

DR. CHARLOTTE HAWKINS BROWN, North Carolina

Dr. William A. Calder, Georgia

Dr. Albert H. Carter, Arkansas

John M. Coe, Florida

Dr. E. T. M. Devore, Louisiana

John Wesley Dobbs, Georgia

Dr. James A. Dombrowski, Louisiana

Roscoe Dunjee, Oklahoma

Robert D. Feild, Louisiana

Dr. E. Franklin Frazier,
Washington, D. C.

A. G. Gaston, Alabama

James E. Gayle, Louisiana

Mrs. Harry M. Gershon, Georgia

Charles G. Gomillion, Alabama

Mrs. J. P. Guzman, Alabama

Bishop S. L. Greene, Georgia

Dr. M. L. Harris, Arkansas

William E. Hogan, Texas

Myles Horton, Tennessee

H. H. Huggins, M.D., Louisiana

Dr. James L. Hupp, West Virginia

Mrs. S. S. Labouisse, Louisiana

Marcelle C. Leath, Arkansas

Bishop F. L. Lewis, Louisiana

Dr. Hal G. Lewis, Florida

Dr. Herman H. Long, Tennessee

Bishop Edgar A. Love, Maryland

C. Herbert Marshall II, M.D.,
Washington, D. C.

Herman Midlo, Louisiana

Rudolph Moses, West Virginia

E. D. Nixon, Alabama

Dr. Howard L. Parsons, Tennessee

Rev. M. M. D. Perdue, Kentucky

Louis L. Redding, Delaware

Frederick Rhodes, M.D., Louisiana

Bishop Herbert Bell Shaw, North Carolina

Mrs. A. W. Simkins, South Carolina

Benjamin E. Smith, Louisiana

Dr. Lewis S. C. Smythe, Kentucky

Donald Stephens, Delaware

Dr. A. W. Taylor, Kentucky

Dr. Leland H. Taylor, West Virginia

O. B. Taylor, M.D., Tennessee

Franklin W. Thomas, Oklahoma

Dr. Chas. H. Thompson, Washington, D. C.

Dr. William J. L. Wallace, West Virginia

Mrs. Lulu B. White, Texas

Willson Whitman, North Carolina

Aubrey W. Williams, Alabama

Arthur Wright, Louisiana

Mrs. Fred Zengel, Louisiana

the untouchables

THE MEANING OF SEGREGATION IN HOSPITALS

Until men learn to love one another as brothers, pain, with its disregard for race and color, remains the strongest bond between man and man. Suffering is not competitive. Epidemic and accident ignore social station. Yet precedent and present policy in many medical institutions treat the Negro, so long a second-class citizen, as if his bodily afflictions were also secondary.

The Southern Conference Educational Fund recently polled the 2414 medical institutions listed in the American Hospital Directory for 18 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia. From 711 replies —a 29 per cent return—it was learned that 584 (82 per cent) admit Negroes as patients and that 33,451 beds (32 per cent) of a total of 102,969 beds are available to them.

While the amount of bed space seemingly follows census figures for the region, more than two-thirds of this space is fixed by quota, with no allowance made for degree of need or special contingencies. By virtue of segregation practices then, the Negro, whose generally depressed economic status tends to increase his need for hospitalization, is often turned back by an inflexible, arbitrary barrier.

The hospital administrators were also asked what racial policy they considered best suited for the health needs of their communities. Approximately 62 per cent favored the admission of Negroes on a segregated basis; 10 per cent favored the maintenance of separate hospitals for whites and Negroes. But how does this approved order of things work out in practice?

The administrative machinery of a segregated or "lily-white" hospital is always taxed by emergency cases. A prospective patient, lying bleeding and unconscious on a stretcher, cannot be crisply told to go to an institution that serves "his own people." Yet, in essence, that has been done, is being done, and will be done—even though the rejected one dies as a result. Such brutality derives unthinkingly from the premise to which a Jim Crow hospital is dedicated. If routine medical and surgery cases are to be treated only on the basis of a person's skin color, the healing hand suffers atrophy and is fumbling at a time of undiscriminating crisis.

Consider this log of accidents and emergencies, extending over a period of 20 years, which ended in inexcusable suffering and tragedy.

1/ In the fall of 1930, George S. Moore, Jr., son of a noted physician, was motoring from Nashville to Tuskegee to attend the Fisk-Tuskegee football game. Then, according to W. Dickerson Donnelly—now alumni secretary at Fisk—who was in the car, the following events took place:

About 2 1/2 miles out of Huntsville, Alabama, the automobile in which six of us were riding overturned and all escaped serious injury except Moore who was found to have a broken back.

Moore was carried to Huntsville for treatment, but on arriving in Huntsville, we were told there were no hospital facilities available for Negroes and the best thing to do would be to take him to Athens, Alabama, approximately ten miles away, for treatment.

When we inquired about ambulance facilities, there were none in which Negroes could ride. But with a great deal of persuasion and seeing the condition of Moore, we were able to get the white people to let us use a hearse to make the journey.

During the ride . . . Moore contracted pneumonia and with other complications died before Dr. Moore, Sr., his father, could reach him.

Dr. Moore grieved over the condition, I am told, because the ailment which afflicted his son was one that he had been most successful in curing during that time.

2/ On the afternoon of November 6, 1931, Miss Juliette Derricotte, a nationally known dean at Fisk University, and three students became involved in an auto accident on the outskirts of Dalton, Georgia. Miss Derricotte and Miss Nina Johnson, a Fisk senior, were critically injured.

Three white physicians administered first aid treatment in their homes, then took the women to a "house where Negroes are sent in emergencies."

Completely unconsidered was the modern, publicly supported Hamilton Memorial Hospital at Dalton. When asked if any effort had been made to gain admission at that institution, one of the white doctors replied in surprise, "Oh, no, ma'am. You see, we don't have any wards for them there."

Subsequently, although the injured women were clearly in a grave condition, an ambulance had to be summoned from Chattanooga, 66 miles away, to take them to a hospital there.

Miss Johnson died that night; Miss Derricotte the next day. (Source: The Crisis, March, 1932.)

3/ In March, 1932, a 17-year-old Negro girl, with a bullet wound in her head, was denied admission to two hospitals in Washington, D. C.: Sibley Hospital and Homeopathic Hospital.

Finally she was taken to Freedman's Hospital, but was dead on arrival. (Sources: Washington Tribune, March 4, 1932: Negro World, New York, March 19, 1932.)

Thirteen years later Sibley Hospital, a church-supported institution, was the scene of another unseemly episode. A Negro woman, in labor, was denied admission to the emergency ward. As a result, her child was delivered on the cold windswept sidewalk outside.

The hospital staff did supply a sheet to cover the mother and child until the municipal ambulance arrived to take them off. (Source: Survey Graphic, January, 1947.)

4/ In March, 1937, the wife of W. C. Handy, "Father of the Blues", was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital in New York City, suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage. Her admission was delayed, however, while the following phone conversation took place between a hospital business office representative and Mrs. Handy's physician, Dr. Farrow R. Allen:

"Doctor, you did not tell us that the patient was colored."

"Color has nothing whatsoever to do with it. I gave the diagnosis and symptoms over the telephone and that was all that was necessary.

"We do not accept colored patients in our private wards, and since you did not tell me that she was colored, you misrepresented the case."

"I do not think you are capable of thinking and I hope you would not put a person at the point of death out into the street."

After Mrs. Handy had been left alone in the ambulance for nearly an hour, the hospital finally accepted her. She died a short time later. (Source: Amsterdam News, March 20, 1935.)

5/ On April 25, 1947, the Clark College track team was traveling to Nashville for a meet. At Pelham, Tennessee, one of the two cars in which they were riding was struck by a truck and completely demolished. Two students were seriously injured.

An ambulance took the pair to Manchester, Tennessee, about 14 miles away, where they were denied admission to the city hospital on the ground that the hospital was full. They were carried back through Pelham to the hospital at the University of the South, a distance of 30 miles.

Here, because "the hospital was full . . . the Negro wards were occupied—there being but one bed in the maternity ward vacant in the hospital," they received only first aid.

Finally, in Fayetteville, some 50 miles from the scene of the accident, space was found for them in a Negro hospital. And, nearly four hours after the accident, they received adequate medical attention for the first time.

One of the boys died an hour after reaching the Fayetteville institution. The second remained unconscious for two weeks, but recovered. (Source: Report of President Brawley of Clark College, December 18, 1947.)

6/ In December of 1949, a Puerto Rican-born author, Eric Hercules, was struck down by an auto in Chicago. An ambulance took him to Woodlawn Hospital, where, an hour and forty-five minutes later, he was transferred to the Cook County Hospital. Three hours later he was dead of a fractured skull.

The supervisor at Woodlawn was quoted as offering this reason for refusing Hercules admission: "I don't think we had a bedroom at the time. We could have set up a bed in the hallway, but did not want to assume the responsibility for the man." Woodlawn generally only accepts Negroes as out-patients. (Source: The Chicago Defender, December 17, 1949.)

7/ On August 27, 1950, three victims of an auto accident were denied beds in Breckinridge County Hospital, Hardinsburg, Kentucky, because the establishment had "no facilities for colored people." They were left lying on the floor of the emergency room for three hours. Their wounds were untended and the only medication given them was morphine.

One of the men died on the floor—and, ironically, his family later received a bill for "services rendered." The others were removed to Louisville General Hospital where they eventually recovered—one sustaining permanent partial paralysis as the result of a broken back. (Source: Interracial Hospital Movement, Louisville, Kentucky.)

8/ On December 6, 1950, Matthew Avery, a 24-year-old World War II veteran attending North Carolina A. & T. College, was critically injured in an automobile accident near Mebane, North Carolina. He was brought to Alamance General Hospital, where it was learned he had sustained fractures of the skull, cheekbone, jaw, leg, and arm.

But every one of Alamance's five Negro beds was full so he was shunted on to Duke Hospital at Durham. Here, according to the account of the superintendent, "our regular facilities were filled" (i.e., the Negro ward was filled) and the question whether Avery would stand the best chance "from treatment in our emergency room or by transfer to Lincoln Hospital" (a Negro institution) was debated.

The latter course of action was decided upon and Avery was sent to Lincoln where he died an hour after admission. Despite Duke's apparent solicitude, the ambulance driver's request that someone phone ahead to Lincoln went unheeded. Attaches there reported no such call had been received and they had been unable to make any preparations for the patient's arrival. (Sources: Afro-American, December 16, 1950; Carolina Times, December 9, 1950; North Carolina A. & T. Register, January, 1951.)

9/ In February, 1951, an 18-year-old boy, suffering from sugar diabetes, died after being refused admission to the Akron (O.) City Hospital. When the lad, Robert Hudson, a star high school basketball player, became seriously ill, his physician tried to place him in one of the city's three hospitals. But the best he could do was to get him on the "waiting list" where he remained for 27 hours. When Hudson lapsed into a coma about midnight, his mother called an ambulance, took him to City Hospital and sought a room without success. Hudson died in the emergency room five hours later.

The hospital could not provide a bed because they claimed they were "all filled up." What was meant was that all the Negro beds were filled. While the wards were not segregated, it was the hospital's policy not to "mix" its semi-private rooms, their being occupied on either an all-white or an all-Negro basis.

While Hudson lay dying, there was an empty bed—but it was in a room occupied by a white man. (Sources: Cleveland Beacon-Journal, February 16, 1951, et passim; Cleveland Call-Post, February 24, 1951.)

10/ On March 6, 1951, Mrs. Emma Dangerfield, critically ill, was brought to Jefferson-Hillman Hospital in Birmingham, Alabama. Her Negro doctor, not allowed to practice there, had made arrangements with a white doctor to meet her. Both physicians understood there was a bed available. Her husband brought money for admission fees—and the patient had insurance.

But, "then began a series of tragic happenings," to quote the Birmingham News of March 25.

"The husband was informed that he must make a cash deposit of $100 before his wife could be admitted. He had $50 in cash with him, but was told he must produce $50 more. He called his employer, explained the situation. The concern informed the hospital that it would stand good for the second $50 and that a check for that amount would be delivered to the hospital the next morning.

"Nevertheless the patient was refused admittance. It was the understanding of her doctors, of her husband and of her friend that she was refused because her husband could not produce $100 in cash at the moment."

After lying in the stretcher for over two hours, the patient "was put back in the ambulance and taken home. Her husband was told to bring her back to the hospital the next morning when he was to have $100 in cash.

"The patient was never returned to the hospital. She died at approximately 8 o'clock the same night . . . little more than an hour after being returned to her home."

The News interviewed the hospital administrator.

He "made the point that Jefferson-Hillman already had unpaid accounts on its books of more than $300,000 and it does not wish that sum to be enlarged if it can help it."

He denied that there was a bed available for Mrs. Dangerfield. "There is, he says, a limit to all things . . . There are approximately 175 beds for Negroes . . . Of that number 27 are for private pay patients. On . . . the day in question, (he) indicates there were 47 private Negro patients in the space normally taken by 27."

The News reporter apparently did not think to ask if there were any beds available in the white wards "on the day in question."

11/ In October, 1951, Mrs. Sinia Donaldson of Memphis, Tennessee, was sent home by John Gaston Hospital after a doctor there had informed her she was "in the early stages of labor." She didn't even have time to reach her bed. On the front porch of her home she gave birth to twins, one of which died of strangulation by umbilical cord. It was three hours before help arrived from the hospital. This was the bitter fruit of a policy by the city-owned institution which decrees that Negro maternity cases be only treated as out-patients.

Indeed, Lawrence Dean, the hospital administrator, was anything but contrite about the incident. "She disregarded previous instructions by coming to the hospital," he declared. "She had been told that her baby would be delivered at home and that when the time came she was to call for a home delivery team at the hospital . . . There is no indication of medical negligence." (Sources: Memphis Commercial-Appeal, October 9, 1951; Associated Negro Press.)

12/ On November 10, 1951, Robert Dorsey Smith was struck down by an automobile in Galveston, Texas. He was taken to John Sealy Hospital, a unit of the School of Medicine of the University of Texas.

After examination and treatment Smith was discharged, although he was unable "to get fully dressed" when he left—his shoes and wallet were later found in the hospital. The police started to drive him home but half-way there they let him off with about nine blocks to walk.

Early the next morning he was found dead in an alley not far from where he had got out of the police car—his face swollen, large bruises on his legs and back, naked except for his trousers. "Accidental death due to skull fracture, multiple fractures of the pelvis, and internal injuries," read the autopsy report.

The medical student and intern at Sealy had previously diagnosed a "small minor hip injury and intoxication." The police declared that the arrangement of Smith's clothes and the nature of his injuries precluded the possibility that he had been assaulted on the way home. Robert Dorsey Smith was a Negro. (Source: The Nation, February 16, 1952.)

These twelve cases, ranging over two decades and touching almost every sector of the country where there is a large Negro population, represents only a sampling. Others, many others, lie veiled behind the tight lips of evasive officials and fearful witnesses.

These cases show that racial segregation, in any degree, presents a rigid calculus terribly inappropriate for an institution responsible to the unforeseeable demands of human misfortune.

They show, by their extension to the present, that the atrocities of Jim Crow provoke no spontaneous, repentant remedies.

But will these conditions prevail unto eternity?

In Wilmington, Delaware, a group of conscientious citizens, of all faiths and walks of life, decided they had had enough.

They formed the Delaware Fellowship Commission. And from this membership they chose a Citizens Committee on Hospitals. This committee studied all available surveys of Delaware health facilities. They sought out witnesses and made personal inquiries. Then they drew up a list of the most glaring racial inequalities.

The list was sent to 300 civic, service, church and fraternal organizations and their support was solicited in the fight to abolish these bad practices. The boards of directors of the various hospitals were visited.

So far, one hospital has appointed Negro physicians to its courtesy staff for the first time and the labeling of lavatories and equipment as "Colored" or "White" has been discontinued. A beginning has been made. The citizens are still pressing for their other objectives.

In Kentucky, the brutal incident at Breckinridge County Hospital related above led to the formation of the Interracial Hospital Movement, and a petition containing more than 10,000 names was submitted to the governor of Kentucky demanding that steps be taken to provide hospital facilities for all citizens, regardless of race.

And last February, the Kentucky State Senate passed, by unanimous vote, a bill forbidding all licensed medical institutions to deny care to any person on the basis of color or creed.

In at least six cities similar citizen movements combatting Jim Crow medical care are under way.

Such local action will, if persevered in, undoubtedly prevail. For the opposition, however entrenched, has no moral or legal standing. Hospital facilities are in increasing short supply the nation over, and the only humane and democratic way to meet the situation is to share what there is according to need and not on the basis of racial fiat.

THE UNTOUCHABLES, written by ALFRED MAUND, designed and illustrated by BEN SHAHN, lithographed by CRAFTON GRAPHIC COMPANY, Inc., has been published by the SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC., 822 Perdido Street, New Orleans 12, Louisiana

COLOGY
COLORED
WHITE

Fil - SCEF

How legislative inquisitions stifle integration and social progress

"My beliefs and my associations are none of the business of this committee."

Make file: "Scientific Resources, Incorporated"

September 29, 1967

Mr. Irving Goldaber
Director of Programs
Scientific Resources, Inc.
1191 Morris Avenue
Union, New Jersey 07083

Dear Irving:

Please forgive me this delay in answering your letter, but to be of any value we have had to think about it considerably here and to talk to a few other people. We even gave a little consideration to making an exception to our policy in having SRC as recipient of the federal money. But, we have now determined that the principle is too valid from our point of view to make an exception, even for such a good program as this.

One thing that occurs to me -- both the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Congress have strong interests in this field, and both would be appropriate sponsors of such a program. What do you think of approaching them with this idea? Certainly, any program that was developed, while we could not formally be a sponsor or recipient of the funds, we could be a cooperating agency -- without financial remuneration -- and would be happy to do so.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

SRI

SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES
INCORPORATED

1191 MORRIS AVENUE
UNION, NEW JERSEY 07083
TEL. 201-687-2100

August 29, 1967

Mr. Paul Anthony, Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Paul:

Herewith the letter you requested in your conversation with Marjorie Cohen. First, though, I want to add my thanks for the extraordinary help the SRC was to us in our recent foray to the South. We were delighted with the caliber of the groups set up for our meeting and realize that it would have taken months of work on our part to achieve results even approaching those we were handed on a platter.

Most important was having John Boone with us. He is an outstanding person and I can't exaggerate his helpfulness.

Now to the matter at hand. The SRI Executive Committee heard my report on our southern trip and the opinion of the group is that the piece-meal approach to police-community training in the South will be costly and less productive than would a regional approach. If we should get the green light from a couple of cities, there would be problems. We would first have to prepare the applications for federal assistance. Then, if that were successful, send the staff to survey the needs and follow them with trainers and programmers. Because we are a business concern, the staff time and travel expenses would necessarily come from the total project, to the detriment of the training program itself.

If, on the other hand, we could apply for grants for 10 or 20 cities at the same time, the staff time for preparing the application for grant would be greatly diminished. Equally, would be our ability to arrange for staff members to travel from one city to the other in the South with far less travel expenses and time involved. In short, we feel we could provide far more training at far less cost with a regional plan. We feel, too, that the authorities in Washington would look favorably upon a plan involving a number of southern cities.

Marjorie told me the reasons that SRC is not able to sponsor such a program. The validity of your reasoning cannot, of course, be questioned. If, however, you and John Boone can come up with any alternatives, we would be eager to discuss it with you. We feel that the expertise and the reputation of SRC are essential to the building of a successful program.

Please let me hear from you soon and maybe together we can formulate feasible plans. Thanks for your help. It was good to see you and I hope for many such opportunities.

Sincerely,

SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES INCORPORATED

Irving Goldaber, Ph.D.
Director of Programs

IG/kmc

THE Seabury Press

TELEPHONE TOwnsend 9-7400

HAVEMEYER PLACE • GREENWICH, CONNECTICUT

September 30, 1958

Mr. Harold C. Fleming, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

We are sending you separately a copy of BIGGER THAN LITTLE ROCK by Robert R. Brown, Bishop of Arkansas -- a book we believe to be an important contribution to the dialogue now taking place on the South's problems.

Mrs. Alexander generously referred your name to us as one who would be vitally interested in this book. We shall be very happy to receive any comments you may wish to make after your reading.

Cordially yours,

A. R. Buckley

Arthur R. Buckley
Associate Editor

ARB:es

September 18, 1958

Mr. Arthur R. Buckley
Associate Editor
The Seabury Press
Havemeyer Place
Greenwich, Connecticut

Dear Mr. Buckley:

Mrs. Alexander has asked me to reply to your letter of the 15th. We are indeed anxious to see Bishop Brown's book and will do whatever we can to see that it is called to the attention of the appropriate persons.

For SRC you might send a copy to the following persons:

James M. Dabbs
(SRC President)
Rip Raps Plantation
Mayesville, S. C.

Marion A. Wright
(SRC Vice-President)
"Top Knot"
Linville Falls, N. C.

Dr. Rufus E. Clement
President
Atlanta University
Atlanta, Georgia

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
63 Auburn Ave., N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

John Constable, Dir. of Information and
Editor, NEW SOUTH
Southern Regional Council

Ralph McGill, Editor
The Atlanta Constitution
Atlanta, Georgia

There are a number of other persons, whom you may or may not have on your mailing list, who might profitably receive a copy of the book. These are mainly persons in the social action departments of the major denominations active in Southern race relations. A list of such persons is attached.

If we can be of additional help, please let us know.

Sincerely yours,

Paul Anthony
Administrative Assistant

PA/mf
Enclosure - 1 (List)

L I S T

Nathaniel Griswold
Executive Director
Arkansas Council on Human Relations
1220 West Capitol
Little Rock, Arkansas

Dr. A. C. Miller
The Christian Life
Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention
161 Eighth Avenue, N.
Nashville, Tennessee

Tartt Bell
American Friends Service
Committee
P. O. Box 1307
High Point, N. C.

A. Dudley Ward
Board of Social and Economic Relations
The Methodist Church
740 Rush Street
Chicago 11, Illinois

H. Ben Sissel
Associate Secretary
The Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, USA
830 Witherspoon Building
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Will D. Campbell
National Council of Churches of Christ
1716 West End Avenue
Nashville, Tennessee

Rev. Cornelius C. Tarplee
National Council of the Protestant
Episcopal Church
P. O. Box 853
Lynchburg, Virginia

Mr. John R. Marion
Presbyterian Church in U.S.A.
1409 Chowan Road
Richmond, Virginia

Herman Long
Congregational Christian Churches
Fisk University
Nashville, Tennessee

Miss Thelma Stevens
Woman's Division of Christian Service
The Methodist Church
150 Fifth Avenue
New York 11, New York

Rev. Colbert S. Cartwright
Pulaski Heights Christian Church
Hillcrest and Spruce
Little Rock, Arkansas

THE Seabury Press

TELEPHONE TOWNSEND 9-7400

HAVEMEYER PLACE · GREENWICH, CONNECTICUT

September 15, 1958

Miss Ruth H. Alexander, Secretary
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

My dear Miss Alexander:

The Seabury Press is publishing on October 7 BIGGER THAN LITTLE ROCK by Robert R. Brown, Bishop of Arkansas, who has played an important role in developing the Church's Ministry of Reconciliation in Little Rock. This is an important study which will be of great interest to everyone, but we think perhaps of special interest to some of your officers and members. Therefore, if you would be so kind as to send us some half dozen names of officers and members to whom this study will be of special interest, the Press will be happy to send them gratis copies. We should also appreciate having the address of Mr. James McBride Dabbs who, I believe, is one of your officers.

Thanking you for your cooperation in this,

Respectfully yours,

A. R. Buckley

Arthur R. Buckley
Associate Editor

ARB:es

Dabbs
Fleming
MAW
Constable
Clement
McGill

Ashmore
Cartwright
Coriswold
Campbell
Tarplee
Soc action

February 29, 1960

Mr. Robert Alan Seigel
685 North Crescent Avenue
Cincinnati 29, Illinois

Dear Mr. Seigel:

Since Mr. Routh is no longer with the Council, I am responding to your letter of the 17th.

Enclosed is an article prepared by SRC on the resistance groups of the South.

I think you would find it interesting to write directly to the Citizens' Councils for further information.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Assistant

PA/mf

P. S. The address of the Citizens' Council is: 1014 Plaza Building, Jackson, Mississippi.

PA

685 North Crescent Ave.
Cincinnati 29, Ohio
February 17, 1960

Mr. Frederick Routh
Assistant Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Routh:

I am in needs of some information and have no idea from where I may receive it. Perhaps you will be able to help me.

I am writing a paper on the Citizens Council and would like to have all the information I can obtain. It would be greatly appreciated if you could help me with this and perhaps suggest where I might be able to obtain additional information.

Any information you could supply me with would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Robert Alan Seigel

Robert Alan Seigel

Memo FROM THE DESK OF MILDRED FLOWERS

March 1, 1960

MEMO TO J.CONSTABLE

At HCF's request Mr. Jacob Seidenberg, 1511 Cavalier Corridor, Falls Church, Va. should be placed on your "all purpose" list. He is already receiving N.S.

March 1, 1960

Mr. Jacob Seidenberg
1511 Cavalier Corridor
Falls Church, Virginia

Dear Mr. Seidenberg:

We will be happy to see that you receive our press releases and other reports.

Any time we can be of assistance to you in your new work, let me know.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Seidenberg
1511 Cavalier Corridor
Falls Church, Va.

February 22, 1960

Mr Harold Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
68 Auburn Ave. N.E.
Atlanta 3. Ga

Dear Mr Fleming:

You may learned that I recently resigned as Executive Director of the President's Committee on Government Contracts to enter the field of private consultant in area of race relations.

I would appreciate receiving your press release. I already receive "The New South"

Thank you.

Jacob Seidenberg

January 20, 1961

Mr. R. H. L. Sexton
444 West Chestnut Avenue
Chestnut Hill
Philadelphia 18, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Sexton:

We are happy to send you, under separate cover, some of our material which may help meet the needs of your exchange student.

There are, of course, many books on American race relations that might be read with profit. The bibliographical materials in our separate mailing give you some idea of the range of reading material available, depending on how thorough a study the visiting student might care to make. Among the best are those by Ashmore, Dabbs, William Peters, James Stokely, and an older but still valuable one by W. J. Cash. The titles and publishers of these are given in the material we are sending.

If we can be of any further help to you in this matter, you have only to let me know.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
cc: Mr. Hodding Carter

R. H. L. SEXTON
444 WEST CHESTNUT AVENUE
CHESTNUT HILL
PHILADELPHIA 18, PENNA.

17th January 1961

Mr Harold Fleming, Director,
The Southern Regional Council,
5 Forsyth Street, N.W.,
Atlanta, 3, Georgia.

Dear Mr Fleming:

I am writing to you at the suggestion of Mr Hodding Carter who tells me that you will be able to help me by recommending suitable books, pamphlets or other material for the purpose which follows. I have at present living with me a french foreign exchange student and in the course of inevitable questions and answers about our life in these United States the racial problems of the negro has come up. I am most anxious to give him an unbiased description of the background and also the current status of this national problem of ours, and it was with this in mind that I wrote Mr Carter knowing that he could and would advise me how to proceed. His first piece of advice was to write you and ask for your suggestions of suitable reading material. Also he asked me to ask you for "the more pertinent pamphlets which the Council itself has published". If you will be kind enough to let me know the cost of these pamphlets I will send the suitable sum to cover the price and the postage.

I find it remarkably difficult to give what I think is a clear and balanced description of the negro situation to a foreigner, and as I have just written Mr Carter, I suspect that I will learn more than my visiting french boy before we finish this particular bit of research!

Should this letter reach you at a time when other and more important matters are pressing please do not hesitate to delay answering it until you are relatively free of pressure for the student will be staying with me for several months to come. For what help you do give me in suggested reading for him (and myself) I shall be most grateful as well as for your time and trouble.

Sincerely yours,

R. H. L. Sexton

R. H. L. Sexton

Encl: HCF's Reporter Article"The Price of a Cup of Coffee"
May 1960

February 24, 1961

Miss Margaret Seidl
17 Roosevelt Drive
Valhalla, New York

Dear Miss Seidl:

The question you pose is a very timely and significant one.

I am sending you separately several pieces of our material which deal with the sit-in protest. I refer you particularly to the report entitled, "The Student Protest Movement, Winter 1960." The view of the sit-ins expressed in that document coincide with my own personal views. I have had various occasions to speak to this question in articles or before audiences. I am enclosing a copy of an article reported in The Reporter magazine which you may find of interest.

To state briefly here what is said in greater length in this material, the sit-in demonstrations have had great value in dramatizing for both Negroes and whites, North and South, the growing impatience with injustice and segregation among Negro Americans, particularly younger Negroes. Of course, this value derives largely from the orderly non-violent quality of the protest movement.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Margaret Seidl
17 Roosevelt Drive
Valhalla, New York
February 20, 1961

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Ave. N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Sir:

As a senior attending White Plains High School, I am presently engaged in writing a problem-solving research paper. Your opinion on the question "Is there a value for the sit-in demonstrations which have occurred recently in the South?" would be of extreme interest to both myself and my fellow classmates. I believe that your comments on this subject are necessary for the completion of my paper, and I am therefore anxious to receive your reply. Any information which the Southern Regional Council has printed concerning this subject would also be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Margaret Seidl

March 8, 1961

Miss Joan Seaver
Joel O'Brian Productions
225 East 46th Street
New York, New York

Dear Miss Seaver:

As to suggestions for a person for the position that the South is moving quite fast enough in the matter of school desegregation, the best candidate seems to be Everett Tucker, a member of the Little Rock, Arkansas, School Board. I think he would fit most of your requirements.

Another less likely candidate would be Albertis Harrison, present Attorney General of the State of Virginia, probably the next Governor of that state. Another suggestion of a person from Virgin ia has been a Richmond attorney, Carlton Denny, Jr. From the enclosed clipping you can determine Denny's position. It sounds, however, as if Denny is opposed to any speed.

Don't say that I sent you. Best Wishes,

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
~~Administrative Assistant~~
EXEC ASST

PMA/sm
Enc.

March 21, 1961

Miss Joan Seaver
Joel O'Brian Productions
225 East 46th Street
New York, New York

Dear Miss Seaver:

I am enclosing, as you requested, biographical data for Mr. Fleming. I am not able, at the moment, to send you a glossy print since our supply is exhausted. However, I will do my best to see that Mr. Fleming takes care of this matter and if this is done in time for your purpose, I will send one along to you.

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Mildred Flowers
Secretary to the Director

MF/mf
Enclosure - 1.

January 9, 1969

Mr. William Seaborn
1703 Taylor Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20011

Dear Bill:

Enclosed is a summary of information which one of our researchers has taken from the morgue of the Atlanta newspapers.

I hope it will be of help.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj
Enclosure - 1.

MARION A. WRIGHT, LINVILLE FALLS
PRESIDENT
CARTER WESLEY, HOUSTON
VICE-PRESIDENT
GORDON B. HANCOCK, RICHMOND
VICE-PRESIDENT
ALFRED MYNDERS, CHATTANOOGA
VICE-PRESIDENT
ALBERT W. DENT, NEW ORLEANS
VICE-PRESIDENT
GEORGE S. MITCHELL
EXECUTIVE-DIRECTOR
KATHERINE STONEY
SECRETARY-TREASURER
HAROLD C. FLEMING
DIRECTOR OF INFORMATION
MRS. M. E. TILLY
IN CHARGE OF WOMEN'S WORK

Not sent

Segr. in '61

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

January 9, 1953

Southern Passenger Association
Terminal Station Bldg.
Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen;

Our Council noted the November action of the Supreme Court in refusing to upset a lower court decision that railroads may no longer forbid Negroes to travel in the same cars with white people.

I write to urge that Railroad Companies in the Southern States speedily come over to acceptance of this doctrine and cease to make distinctions among passengers on the basis of race.

Those Companies which have offered no barrier to unsegregated seating have, in my observation, met with general acceptance of their practice.

The present devices, too frequently in use, under which Negroes are segregated, wholly or partly, cannot be in accordance with the spirit of the Supreme Court's various rulings, and we hope that the Companies will now abandon these practices.

Sincerely,
George S. Mitchell

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:ec

transportation

January 20, 1953

Rev. George E. Clary
631 Victory Dr.
Savannah, Ga.

Dear Mr. Clary:

We duly wrote a letter, copy enclosed, to the Southern Passenger Association. Before I mailed it, I took a trip over to their office and inquired about a bit as to whether they were an appropriate body to act upon it. They turned out to be railway clerks without any policy authority, limited to the carrying out of stated arrangements as to reduced fares for military personnel and clergymen. They denied having any knowledge of, jurisdiction over, or particular interest in matters of segregation in passenger transport. They also said that, so far as they knew, no inter-railway organization was in existence with policy authority in that field, and agreed that the only way to get at that would be to write individually to the presidents of all of the various railways serving Southern territory.

So when I came back, I did not mail the letter.

We have thought of an alternative proposal. We will be reviewing in this year's issues of NEW SOUTH various fields of progress and controversy in the South. One of these is transportation. We thought perhaps we could write out to all the Board members of the Council and to other informed individuals and ask them to give us an account of their own observations of the status of segregation on railways and buses in their own area. Then we could fit that together in a round-up article on the present situation in both forms of transportation. We think we could do that in a spring issue. That seems more promising than a letter to all the various railway presidents. What do you advise in the matter?

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:ec
Encl.

Segr. — 161

February 18, 1953

Mr. Herman H. Long
Race Relations Department
American Missionary Association
Fist University
Nashville 8, Tenn.

Dear Herman:

Many thanks for the SEGREGATION IN INTERSTATE RAILWAY COACH TRAVEL. It's a useful job and is going to do a lot of good. It came opportunely for us, because we were wondering how in the world we could collect the facts on which to base insistent notice to the South that the era of segregation in coach travel is over.

With your permission, we would like to use your study as the basis of an early issue of NEW SOUTH. Accepting your findings, we would like to cast our effort mainly on the history of legal development. We would lay out the regulation of the ICC and show the Mitchell Case and the Morgan Case and the Henderson Case and lastly the Chance Case, as successfully blocking off different areas. We would try to make it simple, so that a railway trainman could get it.

I went recently to talk with the office here in Atlanta which for various Southern carriers regulates clergy tickets and military fares, and hoping that they had something to do with regulation in seating. The minor official in charge, when I told him about the Chance Case, said, "Is that so? I thought they were still going on 'separate but equal.'" It seems to me the next job is to make it clear to guys like him that the old doctrine is no longer valid. I think we could get some help on getting our issue distributed to members, or at least to locals, of the Order of Railway Conductors and perhaps to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Meanwhile, it seems to me your study in full ought to be sent to two officers of each of our State organizations. That would be 26 people. We ought to have a small reserve supply. Could you send me for pay thirty copies?

Is it all right also if we make generous use of your study in an early NEW SOUTH article?

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:ec

copies

RACE RELATIONS DEPARTMENT
AMERICAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION DIVISION
BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS, CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN CHURCHES
FISK UNIVERSITY OFFICE
NASHVILLE 8, TENNESSEE

HERMAN H. LONG, DIRECTOR

February 12, 1953

RECEIVED
FEB 16
Southern Regional Council

Dr. George Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

I am enclosing a copy of the findings of our study "Segregation in Interstate Railway Coach Travel." I hope that in some way the study can be made useful to your own program in the larger civil rights field. I consider this to be the most opportune area for immediate modification of segregation practices. As you know, Senator Humphrey has proposed legislation in the Senate which will penalize the railroads for continued segregation of Negro passengers; and Representative Adam C. Powell is introducing a bill in the lower house. Judge Soper's decision in the William Chance case, which the Supreme Court refused to review in November, clearly ruled that segregation regulations effected by trains were an unconstitutional burden upon interstate commerce. The issue of the state segregation laws had already been disposed of by Irene Morgan case.

With best of wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Herman H. Long

Herman H. Long

Enclosure
HHL:ma

February 24, 1953

Mr. Herman H. Long
Race Relations Department
American Missionary Association
Fisk University
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Herman:

I like greatly your plans about Segregation in Interstate Coach Travel. Do save and send us the thirty copies, and we will find the money to pay for them.

I expect we will go ahead and make use of it in NEW SOUTH.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:ec

Segr. - 61

RACE RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

AMERICAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION DIVISION
BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS, CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

FISK UNIVERSITY OFFICE
NASHVILLE 8, TENNESSEE

HERMAN H. LONG, DIRECTOR

February 21, 1953

RECEIVED
FEB 24
NASHVILLE
Regional Council

Dr. George S. Mitchell
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
Room 432 -- 63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear George:

I very much appreciate your recent letter reacting to our study SEGREGATION IN INTERSTATE RAILWAY COACH TRAVEL. I am glad that you have found it useful and that you are going to make direct use of it in Atlanta and through your state organizations.

I regret very much that we do not have copies on hand that we could send to you now. We only had a limited number, about 200, and the supply already has been exhausted. We did this small number because we were primarily aiming at the Interstate Commerce Commission, the special committes in the House and Senate, and other members of Congress. As you know, there are two bills in process -- one introduced by Senator Humphrey and the other by Representative Powell. I do not expect too much from the legislative approach but Senator Humphrey believes that the findings we have may serve as an additional point of persuasion. I have sugested to him that, if possible, he use his office as a basis of effecting a direct conference with the Interstate Commerce Commission, involving some of the railroads and representatives from such organizations as ours, and the general public, as a means of discussing exactly what kind of orders the Commission can put into effect that would lead toward elimination of segregation practices. Our thinking was that if the President himself, or certain responsible members of the Republican Party could be interested in this approach, it would provide an opportunity of getting something done through direct administrative channels. I believe that this really is an opportunity for the President, inasmuch as he has made certain rather general promises about civil rights and as yet does not appear to be certain at what points he will be able to do anything effective. I will let you know of developments in this direction, and hope that in some way it will be possible for you to participate if such a conference matures.

Because of the rather immediate demand which has come from other quarters for copies of the study, we are having 500 additional copies reproduced by offset process. The printer here will probably have these copies ready for us in the next two weeks. However, since we have had to get these extra copies, I am afraid that we will have to place a charge upon them. I will reserve 30 copies for you and send them as soon as they are off the press. I know at the present time how much we will charge for these, but I will reduce the cost in your case to the bare price of the cost of reproduction. You are rendering us a valuable service in this way and we certainly appreciate it.

Please feel free to use any of the findings of the study in any way that you find valuable, whether it be in the NEW SOUTH or in reproduction of any sections in which you may be interested.

With appreciation and best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Herman

Herman H. Long

rw - 161

April 14, 1953

Miss Louise R. McKinney
Stillman College
Tuscaloose, Ala.

Dear Miss McKinney:

I do appreciate your letter of April 10, and my warmest sympathies go out to you for the distress and heavinessof heart caused you.

It so happens that the next issue of our little magazine NEW SOUTH, which will be out now in lessthan two weeks, has a lead article on just this general subject. We took Herman Long's report (copy of which I send you separately) and made it the basis of a general discussion of the problem. I think we will probably send copies of our article to all the railroads in the South and will try to get it distributed to minor railway officials if we can.

The Council has no way of getting at these matters except through building public opinion. We are not equipped to make the various incidents into legal cases. We do, however, know that Mr. Robert Carter of the NAACP, at 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, was recently in Birmingham at a meeting which touched on this general subject, and said he would like to be informed of cases suitable for prosecution. You may care to send him the accounts of incidents that you sent to me.

Our general experience has been that such an article as we will be doing in the March-April NEW SOUTH brings wide attention and discussion in the South. I can't promise that it will get prompt action, but we have reason to believe that it will do a good deal of good. I will be at pains to send you some copies of it when it comes out.

Meanwhile, if there is some further step you would like us to take, let me know.

With the warmest wishes,

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:ec

RECEIVED
APR 13
Southern Regional Council

April 10, 1953

Mr. George Mitchell
Executive Secretary
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

This letter has to do with segregation on the railroads, and does not need your personal attention if there is a committee working on this.

I am writing for suggestions of action to be taken in the case of subtle or indirect violations of the inter-state travel decisions as regards segregation of passengers. The situation itself is bad; doing nothing about it is unbearable. A personal letter to the railroad gets a polite, evasive answer; protest on the spot is not effective as you will see from the enclosed accounts of incidents.

I took a roomette on the L.and N. from Birmingham to the meeting of student personnel workers in Chicago last week. This meeting was important to me in my comparatively new work and I needed to be rested and emotionally fit when I arrived. I could give up something and "afford" a roomette whenever I travel in the South - this is the most comfortable way out for a Negro, but I don't like evading issues. (Although as a person I love travelling in comparative luxury on a train.)

Coming back, I took the Illinois Central Seminole, a non-reserve seat through train. I ran into the trick which I am sure the Council is aware of. (When boarding a very long train one does need help since not all the cars go to the same destination.)

One thing I should like to be able to do, or to know that someone else is doing it, is to get in touch with the porters' union (if there is one separate from the Brotherhood of Sleeping-car Porters) and urge them to embolden the Negro porters to be men and refuse to be used. They could say their piece as ordered and then add, "But this car is going to _____ too." Or in some way circumvent the subterfuge of the railroad.

I am including also an incident which illustrates the subterfuges used on reserve-seat trains. Please advise me.

Sincerely yours,

Louise R. McKinney

Louise R. McKinney
Stillman College
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

A CAREFULLY-WORKED OUT PLAN TO AVOID REFUSAL BY NEGROES
TO BE SEGREGATED IN INTERSTATE COACH TRAVEL

Like the Seaboard Airline Railroad even before the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in interstate travel, the Illinois Central Railroad places (or at least it did place on April 2, 1953) its Negro porters at the coach steps where passengers board the Seminole (Chicago to points south).

I had already told the "red-cap" that I did not want him to take my bags to the "jim-crow" car if one was on. He understood and was sympathetic, but his reply was typical of the change in "red-cap" behavior. (They used to carry the bags on ahead and wait for the passenger at a seat. Increased volume of baggage may partly explain this change - as witness the cart, but it also removes from the "red-cap" any responsibility either for segregation of the passenger or for not segregating him.) "You go wherever you want to and I'll bring the bags to you.

There were two places for entering the coaches and a Negro porter was at each of them. (I interpret this use of Negro porters to mean that the railroad, if questioned, can always say, "We're sorry. Our porter made a mistake.") I stepped up to the nearer one and, when asked, said I was going to Birmingham. I wish I had been smart enough to say I was going to Columbus, Georgia as did the white woman just in front of me. The porter then could not have told me to go to the next coach since he had just let her on. And as recently as Christmas I had boarded the Seminole in Birmingham on its way to Columbus. I had been going to a near-by town in Alabama, but I knew back in the recesses of my mind that a coach on the Seminole going to Columbus, Georgia had to pass through Birmingham.

When I got inside, although five or six white persons were in the car, I recognized it as the divided car used for jim-crow purposes, and I began to remember this as the train I had ridden on at Christmas. In the meantime, more and more Negroes were coming in.

I went back and looked into the coach behind me and saw not one Negro, so I spoke to the porter. I asked him if that car behind was not going to Birmingham also. "No", he said, hurrying along. "It's going to cut off. It's not going all the way." I had come up on a train which divided at Nashville, some cars going to Cincinnati and some to Chicago, so I was undecided what to do.

I remembered the "red-cap" who certainly would not be looking for me in the "later-to-be-jim-crow" car, so I went to the door to look for him. The porter noticed me and cut loose. "Do you want to go in that car?" (with a sneer) "You told me it wasn't going to Birmingham". "Yes, it's going to Birmingham and the one behind it too. I was just trying to save you trouble. When you get across the river (Cairo, I learned later) you would have to move anyhow, and all the seats might be taken".

As a matter of fact, most of the seats were already taken in both coaches I could see into and people were still coming, so there was practically nothing to do but let the "red-cap" put my bags where I had a seat.

Most of the white persons in my car came and went, and were going short distances and when I went to sleep only four were left. Sometime during the night, they disappeared and we became completely a Negro coach.

When I came back to the car from breakfast, the new porter said, "While you were back there we did some moving around. I moved your things up in the next section just inside the partition." White people were occupying the section I had been in (one of the two sections of this divided car). I assumed they were the ones who were going on beyond Birmingham. When I asked the porter why he had moved me since I wasn't occupying any more space back there than I was up here, he said those were his instructions and he hadn't known I was getting off at Birmingham. (As a matter of fact, all the Negroes - getting off and staying on - were in this front section now.)

I knew that the porter was acting on orders, so I looked for the conductor. He was nowhere to be found. I never saw him even after I got off the train.

Louise R. McKinney
Stillman College
Tuscaloosa, Alabama
4/9/53

HOW, IN SEPTEMBER 1952, THE CLEVELAND, OHIO, TERMINAL WAS HELPING THE L.AND N. SEGREGATE NEGRO PASSENGERS

In the terminal station in Cleveland, I was told by a ticket-seller that a seat reservation was no longer necessary on the Humming Bird out of Cincinnati. Looking back, I could understand wh why he engaged in a little "smart" talk. "Of course I wanted a seat. Everybody wants a seat." I thought it odd that a ticket-seller should be so pedantic - want me to say "seat reservation" rather than just "seat". He was engaged in a trick and it made him uneasy.

Since the time-table said "All seats reserved", I asked another ticket-seller the day I was leaving. ("Information" would have been more logical, but would not have let me know that two ticket-sellers said the same thing - "No longer necessary.")

That night in Cincinnati, when I told the "red-cap" I was taking the Humming Bird, he said, "You can get your reservation right over there." "Do I have to have one?" "Oh yes." (Observe that he knew I would not already have it.

So, although I bought my ticket on Monday, I did not get my reservation until Thursday, one hour before train time. This did make a difference, for seats are assigned from the back forward and the late-comers are nearest the engine.

On the train, I met another woman who had bought her ticket in Cleveland and had had the same experience. This means , of course, the Cleveland officials will not let their men assign Negroes to a jim-crow car, but they will cooperate with the L.and N. Railroad to the extent of not selling Negroes any reservations.

(I hope that in all these months this situation has been cleared up, but since I had not recorded it before, it seemed well to do so at this time.)

Louise R. McKinney
Stillman College
Tuscaloosa, Alabama
4/9/53

File
D. Si -- gen-corresp

August 16, 1965

Mr. John Seiler
637 "C" Street, N. E.
Washington 2, D. C.

Dear Mr. Seiler:

The draft research proposal which you sent to Dr. Leslie Dunbar has been brought to my attention. The proposed study is very much in our scope of interest, but we cannot budget it at this time.

We might consider being involved as sponsor and take the responsibility of publishing and distributing the report, provided you are able to raise the money from Carnegie or elsewhere to conduct the research. You did not include publication costs in your budget. That, if added, would double the amount of your budget estimate. While seeking support from Carnegie, perhaps you might like to include publication cost.

Our interest in your proposal may be greatly increased in a few months, depending on the outcome of certain project proposals for which we hope to obtain foundation support. We will maintain an interest in your efforts, and we hope to hear from you regarding this research.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel L. Adams
Director of Research

SLA:js

Rec'd 8/11/65

637 C Street, N.E.
Washington 2, D.C.
10 August 1965

SAY TA
Comments please

Dear Les,

Enclosed is the draft research proposal which I discussed briefly with you over the phone. I am sorry a previous writing commitment kept me from getting it to you sooner.

Implicit in it, if SRC can take on formal sponsorship, is open discussion about the choice of districts and approaches which yield information most relevant to SRC.

As for funding, I have sent a carbon to a friend at Carnegie Corporation with the request that he check out both its resources and any indirect ones he or his associates may have at hand. I would welcome any degree of financial support SRC could give. If doing the study depends on it, I could and would cut about $200 of my income figure; more than that would not make sense.

I'd welcome your reaction to this as soon as possible. I saw the press notice yesterday of your new job. I hope to find out more about it and to meet your successor at SRC soon, regardless of the outcome of this immediate proposal.

Sincerely,

John Seiler

John Seiler

Fred Mosher is the Carnegie man. I asked that he consider channeling the money directly to you. Therefore, he might contact you, or you might get in touch with him.

JS

FREE CHOICE REGISTRATION AND ASSIGNMENT IN GEORGIA

A Draft Research Proposal

A. Purpose of Research.

The freedom of choice option for voluntary desegregation plans is the most basic issue in the Office of Education's implementation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Free choice, as it is more commonly called, is intended by OE to be a transitional process by which Southern and Border school districts may move from the traditional dual system to some more permanent form of desegregated educational system. OE has set forth and held to relatively precise formal requirements and procedures for those districts adopting free choice plans for the school year 1965-1966. Most accepted plans do take this option. OE has said nothing about how long free choice plans may continue and what might appropriately follow them. Its General Statement of Policies, or guidelines, sets September 1967 as the date for desegregation of all grades; either geographic attendance areas (zoning), freedom of choice, or some combination of the two, would be an acceptable way to meet this deadline. Since free choice is transitional and zoning is not, there is ambiguity in assessing how full or final desegregation is expected to be by the deadline. That nothing is said of what follows free choice is more understandable: this gives OE greater freedom in policy development.

Evaluation of free choice plans is vital. The Civil Rights Commission has just begun an overall evaluation of school desegregation under Title VI; free choice plans will certainly be an important part of its study; it is not clear just how intensive its work will be, since it is obliged to deal with over 5000 school districts in the seventeen states involved. The Commission staff will probably not get into the field until Fall. It will have to rely on retrospective interviews for its judgment about the free choice registration process and initial reactions to desegregation in communities and classrooms. OE itself will probably carry on some evaluation, although nothing substantial is underway and the press of compliance problems will leave little time.

B. Approach.

The basic aim of this research proposal is to examine a few of the hypotheses either already in common usage and/or likely to shed insight on the free choice registration decision-making process. Georgia is selected both for its greater accessibility and my contacts with a number of Atlanta-based organizations. The three-five districts to be observed would be chosen with the advice of the Southern Regional Council, the Georgia Human Relations Council, the American Friends Service Committee, and other knowledgeable individuals. The districts would share the common factor of professional staff effort by these organizations to encourage Negro student registration in formerly white schools; they would differ in their rural-urban composition and, to some extent, in the proportion of Negro students. Field visits would be preceded by a close reading of local newspapers and consultation with Atlanta people who know the districts. Optimal use of limited time would entail some shuttling from one district to another. Interviews and observation of meetings would be basic techniques. No strict methodology is involved; it would overweight this study, whose aim is simply to sort out conclusions and suggest tentative explanatory hypotheses.

The most general hypothesis is that school desegregation in its initial phases can be appraised only in the overall context of the community's history of racial relations and especially its experience with and reaction to the desegregation of other facilities and services. White attitudes are obviously vital; at the same time, it would be wrong to discount the inertial tendencies of Negro communities. AFSC staff suggest that the crucial assumption of their registration drive is that a small infusion of professional staff assistance can trigger a substantial initiative by the Negro community. This hypothesis needs examination: some variation in response might be expected from rural to urban districts; it contains an unvoiced corollary about minimal negative reaction by the white community. My own preferred hypothesis, extrapolated from negotiatory experience with Texas school officials, is that the district superintendent (and, to a lesser degree, principals) is the key catalytic agent in getting substantial Negro student registration in formerly white schools; this has an obvious negative corollary. Other hypotheses will grow out of the research itself.

The immediate focus of this research is on the actual exercise of free choice: the assumptions, attitudes, and actions of school administrators; the nature of public and parental notification; the registration campaign; the reaction of both Negro and white students, parents, teachers, and community leaders; the resultant registration distribution. As far as practicable, some secondary attention will be given to a more descriptive picture of the first days in desegregated classrooms.

Generalizations drawn from the research might be useful in evaluation of free choice plans in other Georgia districts, or, even more tentatively, in making larger generalizations across the entire seventeen state area. Both the substantive conclusions and the discussion of the practical difficulties of meaningful evaluation should prove useful to the Office of Education, the Civil Rights Commission, the National Education Association and its affiliate state associations, and a wide range of human relations, educational, and civil rights organizations with an active concern in school desegregation.

C. Costs.

Costs are estimated only for the field research period. Analysis and writing would take some additional weeks, for which neither expenses nor income is asked, with the understanding that some flexibility would be necessary in setting deadlines for final reports or monographic material. The research period would extend over one month, ideally from 16 August to 15 September. Expenses would be as follows:

1.	Salary, at $200/week	$800.
2.	Transportation, round-trip, Washington-Atlanta	80.
3.	Intrastate transport	150.
4.	Room, 20 days, $8/day	160.
	TOTAL	$1190.

Arrangements have been made for free lodging for a part of the time actually spent in Atlanta. Food cost is not budgeted and would be taken from salary; it would be about $150.

D. Sponsorship and Distribution of Research Results.

I would welcome formal sponsorship by the Southern Regional Council. SRC would retain control over distribution of the research, whatever form it might take. I would want to be free to write articles growing out of the research.

E. Background and Relevant Experience.

I have most recently been working as consultant to the Office of Education in final review of school desegregation plans submitted under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. I anticipate continuing work in this area on completion of the research project. The enclosed resume should make clear my overall research, writing, and editing background.

Resume

Name: John Joseph Seiler

Address: 637 C Street, N.E., Washington 2, D.C.

Telephone: (202) 543-9389

Date of Birth: 18 October 1933 Place of Birth: New York, New York

Citizenship: United States Marital Status: Single

Education: Ossining High School, Ossining, New York
Massachusetts Institute of Technology (B.S., Economics and Engineering, 1955)
Boston University (M.A., Government and African Studies, 1961)

A. Research.

U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Policy Review and Research Staff (Dr. James A. Moss): contract study, Southern African Students in the United States, 1964.

U.S. Government: political analyst, Nigerian and African affairs, 1962.

Office of Senator Hubert H. Humphrey: survey report, "AID Reorganization and Coordination in International Educational Development", January 1962.

David Owen, Executive Chairman, U.N. Technical Assistance Board: survey report, "U.S. Activities in African Affairs", Fall 1961.

Boston University, Center for Development Research and Training (Dr. John D. Montgomery): research assistant; research and writing case studies of ICA projects in Liberia (Gbedin Swamp Rice), Sierra Leone (vocational technical education), and Ethiopia (Gondar Public Health College and Training Center); preliminary research on ICA projects in Ghana and Nigeria; revision handbook of basic data on African political, social, and economic development; 1960-1961.

B. Publications and Papers.

African Studies Association, conference, San Francisco, October 1963: "The Politics of Crisis: Nigeria, 1962-1963".

Africa Report: December 1963, review of Post's The Nigerian Federal Election of 1959;
August 1963, review of Odumosu's The Nigerian Constitution: History and Development;
February 1963, "Nigeria's Tangled Web";
November 1962, "The 'New Wave' of Soviet Africanists".

C. Editing.

Operations and Policy Research, Inc. (Richard T. Greer, executive director), for USIA distribution: Goldschmidt, The United States and Africa, 1964;
McKay, Africa in World Politics, 1963.

Africa Report (Helen Kitchen, editor): May 1963, special issue on African socialism.

D. Reviewing.

Operations and Policy Research, Inc., for USIA distribution: thirty books on African and general international affairs, 1962-1965.

E. Curriculum and Program Development; General Administration.

U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Education, Equal Educational Opportunities Program (David S. Seeley, director): final review of Southern school district desegregation plans submitted under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; preliminary development of research and evaluation program; May 1965 to date.

St. Albans School, International Seminars, Africa (John Davis, director): development of overall curriculum and selection of guest speakers, films, and other resources; Summers 1963, 1964.

U.S. Department of State, Foreign Service Institute, School of Language and Area Studies: acting chairman, African Regional Program, Winter 1963.

Harvard University, Graduate School of Education (Leo E. Klopfer): writing teachers guide on diffraction of light for History of Science Cases Instruction Project, Fall 1960.

Physical Science Study Committee, Educational Services, Inc. (Dr. Elbert P. Little, Dr. Gilbert C. Finlay): assistant to executive director (Dr. Little), general administrative responsibilities with special attention to teacher-training programs; under Dr. Finlay, administrative development and coordination of two Boston-area inservice teacher-training programs and participation in evaluation of classroom use of PSSC materials via 125 visits to secondary schools in New England and the Middle Atlantic states; 1958-1959.

F. Teaching.

St. Albans School, International Seminars, Africa: Summer 1963, West African history, African social-political change; Summer 1964, African history, African social-political change.

The Buckingham School, Cambridge, Mass. (Miss Marian Vaillant, principal): taught PSSC physics curriculum to senior girls, 1959-1960.

The Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. (Paul Juliff): taught general science and physics, 1955-1957.

G. Intercultural and International Activities.

U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, leader grant program: escort; Kebede Anissa, editor, Voice of Ethiopia (Amharic edition), Fall 1964; Gabriel Idigo, editor, Nigerian Outlook Fall 1963; four Nigerian student leaders, Summer 1963 (Kebede and students programmed by African-American Institute; Idigo by Governmental Affairs Institute).

International Students Association of Greater Boston (George Pettengill, director): volunteer; programmed first Boston visit of Soviet student exchangees, Summer 1959; programmed Africa Month, Spring 1960.

World University Service (Wilmer J. Kitchen, executive secretary): field secretary; visited 75 colleges in sixteen midwestern and southern states to discuss students' role in international affairs and to assist in campus international programming; 1958.

Young Adult Council of the National Social Welfare Assembly (U.S. member of World Assembly of Youth; now U.S. Youth Council; Miss Bernice Bridges): USNSA representative, 1955; chairman, 1956; member, WAY Council delegation, West Berlin, 1956; chairman, delegation to NATO Consultative Conference for Youth Leaders, Paris, 1956; ex-oficio member, Executive Committee, 1956-1957.

United States National Student Association; chairman, New England region; member, National Executive Committee; member, International Advisory Board; 1954-1956.

H. References.

Dr. William O. Brown, African Studies Program, Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts.

Richard T. Greer, Executive Director, Operations and Policy Research, Inc., 4000 Albemarle Street, N.W., Washington 16, D.C.

Dr. C. Walter Howe, Staff Associate, Liaison Committee on African Education, American Council on Education, 1785 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C.

637 C Street, N.E.
Washington 2, D.C.
28 August 1965

Dear Mr. Anthony:

I spoke to Mr. Adams on the phone yesterday. We agreed that I should mail this revised proposal directly to your home for your consideration and hopefully for your approval. I regret that the revisions involved made it impossible for me to get it to you while Mr. Adams was still in Atlanta. He and I have made tentative plans to get together in Washington this next week which should help to speed the proposal's quick acceptance if, in fact, OE does have questions of substance or of finances.

Before I get to details, let me outline the overall schedule which appears feasible. Assuming your approval and your completion of the several small substantive and budgetary items I've left open and will cite below, I'd assume you could get back to me at the above address by Tuesday morning, 31 August, eight or nine copies of the proposal, one original and the rest verifax perhaps rather than carbon, all signed and dated on the cover sheet. I'd sign all six copies for OE submission (the rest are handy for me in discussion with other OE staff when I discuss selection of districts, etc) and carry them over to the Bureau of Research, Research Development Branch, on Tuesday. Dr John Blue there has promised a decision in a week. I think he can get one by Friday, 3 September, if he hand carries the proposal, as he promised to do. Excluding Labor Day, by the end of Tuesday, 7 September, if approval is given, substantive and budgetary points would be negotiated and amended, if necessary. The contract could be ready in another day or two; I admit to not knowing how long it would take for the flow of money to start. I'd be ready to leave on the 8th. If money is the only hindrance then, perhaps SRC could make an advance for plane fare, etc.

I am enclosing the mimeod guidelines I've used to prepare the proposal. In retyping there are only a few points to watch: I've inked in on the pages for the cover sheet and the budget and items 6 and 8 points on which I rely on you for either inclusions or amendments. Will there be an editor, what will he be paid, what is his background? What are publication and duplicating costs? What percentage overhead do you want, up to 20%, remembering only that the total must be no more than $7500? What are standard secretarial rates? How much secretarial time will you need for report & publication preparation?

As for the retyping itself, the guidelines call for singlespacing, which I think cramped for a short proposal, with the single problem that item 1, the abstract would then run over the single separate page allowed it. The budget and the cover sheet are the only other sections given distinct pages. The other sections are to run consecutively from page to page, in contrary to my setup.

I will be at home most of Sunday, except for dinner. My phone is 202-543-9389. Please call if there are questions. I do appreciate your willingness to deal with this quickly and I hope it will meet with your approval.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

John Seiler

John Seiler

David Seeley
Allen Lesser

SMALL CONTRACT PROPOSAL

Submitted to the U.S. Commissioner of Education
Under the Provisions of Public Law 531

Project Title: Free Choice Registration and Assignment in Selected Georgia School Districts: Community Response to Voluntary Desegregation Under the Provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Submitted by: Southern Regional Council, Inc., 5 Forsyth Street, N.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

Initiated by: John J. Seiler

637 C Street, N.E.
Washington 2, D.C.
(202) 543-9389

(my signature)

Transmitted by: (full name, position, & signature of the official approving the transmittal of the application. He must have the authority to commit the institution or agency to the proposed project)

Date Trabsmitted: (you completed)

1. Abstract.

The freedom of choice option for voluntary desegregation plans is the focus of the most basic questions about the immediate impact of the Office of Education's implementation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. As an open-ended transitional phase from the traditional dual system to some yet undefined more permanent form of desegregation, free choice plans have been half of all submissions and 86 of 92 Georgia submissions accepted by OE. Compliance machinery can evaluate the completion of required procedures for student registration and assignment; it cannot get at the underlying network of community traditions, relationships, attitudes, and expectations, which profoundly influence the registration choice.

The nexus of community response is the focus of this exploratory study which could make an important contribution to policy development and serve as stimulus for more studies into the social change involved in this crucial phase of educational desegregation.

Student registration is the basic act under examination. Three related central questions will focus the study: What kinds of organizational and individual influences brought to bear from outside the community are instrumental in determining community response to free choice desegregation? What kinds of organizational and individual influences within the community are similarly instrumental? What is the inter-relationship and relative impact of these two kinds of influence?

This study treats the community as a distinct social system under the general influence of a number of external stimuli variously concerned with school desegregation and under the particular influence of the Office of Education requirement of an acceptable voluntary desegregation plan. Community groups receive various external "messages"; their perceptions and responses vary. In turn, they interact on one another to influence the immediate focal and symbolic act of student registration. Interviews with representatives of both external and community groups would be the primary research tool; primary documents and press material would be used as supplemental sources. Four districts would be selected: two would be urban and two rural; one of each would have had an active Negro student registration campaign.

1. Abstract (continued).

The time schedule calls for preliminary discussions with pertinent staff of OE in Washington before 7 September 1965; field research in Atlanta and in the four districts from 7 September to 4 October 1965; analysis, writing, and editing of the final report for OE to be submitted on 1 December 1965; and any additional editing required for preparation for publication of a Southern Regional Council monograph following 1 December 1965.

2. Problem.

The freedom of choice option for voluntary desegregation plans is the focus of the most basic questions about the immediate impact of the Office of Education's implementation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Free choice, as it is more commonly called, is intended by OE to provide a transition for Southern and Border state school districts from their traditional dual systems to a more permanent form of desegregated education. 521 of the 1035 voluntary desegregation plans accepted by OE as of 18 August 1965 are free choice plans. Georgia's proportion is much higher: as of 25 August 1965, 86 of its 92 accepted plans are free choice plans.

OE set forth and has held to stringently precise legal requirements for free choice plan procedures. The registration of students, and particularly of Negro students, is the single key act in free choice plans. OE has insisted that school districts give full publicity to their plans once accepted and well in advance of the registration period. Registration procedures must be simple and free of any possibility of suasion: at least two weeks must be given for the return of a checklist form, usually by mail; this form requires minimal information about the student and has no racial connotations; school officials are not to offer any suggestion toward the completion of the form; the dismissal or threatened dismissal of Negro teachers if a sizeable number of Negro students choose the formerly white school is taken to be an infringement on the students' free choice. The precision of these requirements makes them especially amenable to subsequent compliance investigation based for the most part on complaints filed with OE, other federal agencies, or private organizations.

The completion of these procedures without incident or complaint does not guarantee that any considerable number of Negro students will take the opportunity of desegregated education. This decision will be profoundly influenced by an interlocked network of community traditions, relationships, attitudes, and expectations, which are not easily accessible to the procedures and perspective of formal compliance investigation. The Civil Rights Commission recognizes this limitation. It has just begun an overall survey of school desegregation under Title VI in which an evaluation of free choice plans will certainly be an important focus; but it is unlikely that intensive examination of community response will be feasible with a small staff of lawyers, an obligation to generalize in some way about the entire seventeen-state area, and a January 1966 deadline for submission of a final report to the President and to Congress as the basis for administrative and legislative modification of the program.

2. (continued)

The nexus of community response is the focus of this exploratory study. The study could make an important contribution to the policy development ~~of policy~~ of both public and private agencies. It should serve as a stimulus for more detailed studies into the social change involved in this crucial phase of educational desegregation.

3. Project Rationale.

Meyer Weinberg suggested recently that one important and neglected focus for desegregation research is "an analysis of the decision-making process in communities faced with problems of school desegregation." (Research on School Desegregation: Review and Prospect, p.25) Weinberg's voluminous bibliography cites only nine papers relevant to this study; they deal variously with the aspects of open enrollment, the role of the family, and the acceptance of separation.

The basic intellectual model of this study is that of a social system responding to externally-applied factors of change. At this level, the study draws from the whole body of sociological theory focused on systemic change and structural-functional change.

The case study approach to be used is especially powerful for comparative analyses of systemic change; it has many precedents, more often drawn from developing societies in other continents than from the United States; it is strengthened in this usage by the existence of common external factors of change and the common focal event of student registration. Fewer extrapolations should be necessary to generalize about the school district sample under study than in most comparative studies; to the extent that the districts selected are representative of other Georgia districts and, more diffusedly, of Southern districts under free choice plans, some tentative broader generalizations should come out of the study.

4. Objectives.

The basic act under examination in this study is the student registration under free choice desegregation plans. The description of what happens before, during, and immediately after registration is the skeletal structure of the study. Three related central questions will focus the study: What kinds of organizational and individual influences brought to bear from outside the community are instrumental in determining community response to free choice desegregation? What kinds of organizational and individual influences within the community are similarly instrumental? What is the inter-relationship and relative impact of these two kinds of influences?

The study must seek answers to these related subsidiary questions:

What external influences have been brought to bear on the community?

Where and in what way within the community have these external influences been recognized and responded to?

In what way have these recognitions and responses been affected by the recent history of community racial relations and desegregation of other facilities and services?

In what way have these recognitions and responses been affected by the social distinctness of white and Negro subcommunities within the larger community?

What role has been played by community leaders, by school officials, by teachers, by parents, and by students?

Does the community have some sense of the next steps and ultimate aims of educational desegregation?

5. Procedures.

(a) General Design.

This study treats the community as a distinct social system under the general influence of a number of external stimuli variously concerned with school desegregation and under the particular influence of the Office of Education requirement of an acceptable voluntary desegregation plan. Community groups receive various external "messages"; their perceptions and responses vary. In turn, they interact on one another to influence the immediate focal and symbolic act of student registration.

The external stimuli come from the Office of Education, state agencies, national and regional communication media, education organizations, civil rights organizations, religious and fraternal organizations.

The community response may be divided functionally into:

1. the interpretation of external stimuli;
2. the development of attitude orientations;
3. action on the immediate issue of free choice registration;
4. the formulation of attitudes and programs toward the long-term resolution of the desegregation issue.

Within the community, attention must be given to the essentially distinct white and Negro subcommunities. External stimuli will come to bear on subcommunity leaders, local media, local government and education officials, teachers, parents, and students.

(b) Research Methods.

Interviews with selected representatives of both external and community groups would be the primary research tool. These would be supplemented by the use of primary documents and press material, whenever available. Sampling would be irrelevant, except for interviews with parents and students. Given the substantial overall number of interviews to be held, some kind of sampling would be necessary based on place of residence and socio-economic status. If the number of Negro students choosing formerly white schools is small, as is probable, and if there is enough time, interviews with all of them and their parents would be useful, but not vital to the overall objectives of the study. All interviews ~~will~~ would be developed so as to bring out the four general functional aspects of community response; they would be relatively unstructured, since their purpose is clarification of process rather than the production of comparability from interview to interview.

5 (b) (continued)

(c) District Selection.

There are 196 school districts in Georgia. By 25 August 1965, 92 had submitted accepted voluntary desegregation plans to the Office of Education; of this total, 87 were free choice plans. Most of the free choice plans provided for twelve-grades desegregation in the school year 1965-1966.

Four districts will be selected for this study. They will share these characteristics:

1. a twelve-grade free choice plan accepted by the Office of Education;
2. no complaints about educational discrimination filed with OE, the Justice Department, or the Civil Rights Commission;
3. no operative court orders dealing with school desegregation;
4. no school desegregation prior to OE implementation of Title VI.

Two of the four districts will be essentially urban; the other two will be essentially rural. One urban district and one rural district will be selected from those in which active Negro student registration campaigns were conducted by the Georgia Human Relations Council and the American Friends Service Committee. Final selection will be made after consultation with appropriate officials of OE, the Southern Regional Council, and other Atlanta-based organizations.

5(c) (continued)

(d) Time Schedule.

1. before 7 September 1965: preliminary discussions with Office of Education staff responsible for Georgia desegregation plans.

2. 7 September-4 October 1965: field research, Atlanta and four selected districts.

3. 4 October-1 December 1965: interview analysis; report writing; editing and preparation of OE final report for submission on 1 December 1965.

4. following 1 December 1965: any necessary further editing toward publication of Southern Regional Council monograph.

6. Personnel.

Investigator: John J. Seiler is a political scientist educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Boston University. He was most recently a consultant to the Office of Education doing final review of voluntary desegregation plans submitted under the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. As a result of this work, he is intimately knowledgeable about the overall pattern of community response to the OE program and the detailed free choice procedures required by OE. He has good working contacts with OE, the Civil Rights Commission, and the several sponsors of the Georgia student registration campaigns. He has extensive research, writing, and editing experience. Among other research, he did a series of case studies on the administrative evolution of foreign aid projects (for the International Cooperation Administration) and an evaluation of the situations of Southern African students in U.S. colleges and universities (for the Department of State). He has traveled throughout the South on a number of occasions, most recently for the Department of State study.

Editor: ?

7. Facilities.

The Council has access to a wide range of individuals, organizations, communication media, and public agencies, in Georgia and throughout the entire South.

8. Other Information.

(a) There is no other source of support for this project.

(b) Preliminary drafts of this proposal were submitted informally by Mr. Seiler to the Carnegie Corporation and to the Taconic (Foundation). No commitments were made by either, since no funds would be available until after Board meetings in October. Mr. Seiler posed the general possibility of support at that time for the publication costs of the proposal.

or is it Institute?

? (c) This proposal is not an extension of or addition to any previous or current project supported by the Office of Education or any other group or agency.

? (d) There has been no previous submission to OE of this proposal or any similar one.

9. Budget.

Investigator: John J. Seiler

Organization: Southern Regional Council, Inc.

Duration: Three Months.

Beginning: 7 September 1965.

Ending: 1 December 1965.

Category	Federal Funds Requested
Personnel:
Investigator, salary, 4wks, fulltime, $200/wk	$800
8 wks, halftime, $100/wk	800
per diem, 28days, $16/day	448
Editor, salary, - - - - - - - - -	xxx
Secretary, salary, typing interview transcriptions (160hours of interviews), 240 hours, $x.xx/hr	xxx
preparation of final report, — hrs, $x/hr	xxx
preparation of SRC publication, — hrs $x/hr	xxx
Supplies and Materials:
Tape recorder, rental, one month	30
Tape magazines, one hour capacity each, sixteen (two day supply), at $13	208
Paper, postage	100
Telephone	100
Services:
Duplicating, final report, 50 copies	xxx
Printing, SRC monograph, xxxx copies	xxx
Travel:
Interstate, Washington, D.C.-Atlanta, Georgia, two roundtrips, jet coach, plus airport limousines in Washington	150
Intrastate, car rental, 28 days, at $10/day	280
SUBTOTAL	$xxxx
Overhead: (no more than 20% of subtotal)	xxxx
TOTAL	$xxxx

OE-2105-4

BOB CLEARANCE # 51-R267.3
APPROVAL EXPIRES 6/30/65

John Seibe

SMALL CONTRACT PROGRAM
(Reprinted from Application Instructions for Research Contracts: Cooperative Research Program, OE 12017)

Division of Educational Research
Office of Education
U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SMALL CONTRACT PROGRAM

The Small Contract Program is designed to provide support for small-scale research or development with a minimum of delay for proposal review. The following are a few examples of the wide range of activities that may be supported by this program:

1. Experimental research, surveys, demonstrations, and curriculum studies.

2. Pilot or exploratory studies designed to obtain a clear indication of the feasibility and potential value of a more extensive research or development effort on the same or similar problems.

3. Analysis of existing data or materials to which access has been assured.

Special Conditions.

1. The funds requested may not exceed $7500.

2. The research or development must either be conducted or sponsored by a staff member of a college, university, or State education agency. A project which is to be conducted by an undergraduate or graduate student must be sponsored by a faculty member who will assume the responsibility for seeing the project to completion according to the terms of the contract.

3. The funds requested may not be used primarily for (a) preparing or publishing a book, or (b) conducting meetings, conferences, and seminars.

Review Procedures. All small contract proposals are evaluated by field readers competent in the subject matter and techniques embodied in the proposal. A review of the recommendations of these readers is made by the Research Advisory Council, and final recommendations are submitted to the Commissioner of Education. When a project has been approved by the Commissioner, a contract is negotiated with the institution which submitted the proposal.

Deadlines. There are no deadlines for submitting small contract proposals; they may be submitted at any time. Ordinarily an applicant will be notified within two months after he submits a proposal as to whether or not it has been approved.

Length of Proposal. A proposal should be complete enough to communicate all the information necessary for sound evaluation. The usual length is from six to eight single-spaced pages.

Number of Copies. Six copies of the proposal are required, each typed or otherwise reproduced on one side of letter-size, white paper.

Mailing Address: Small Contract Program
Division of Educational Research
U.S. Office of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW.
Washington, D.C. 20202.

Proposal Format

The cover page of the proposal must contain only the following information in the order indicated:

SMALL CONTRACT PROPOSAL

Submitted to the U.S. Commissioner of Education
Under the Provisions of Public Law 531

Project Title : (Be concise, descriptive, and as specific as possible. Avoid obscure, technical terms.)

Submitted by : (Name of institution or State agency and address)

Initiated by : (Full name, position or student status, and signature of the individual who will direct the project. Include the telephone area code, number, and extension.)

Sponsored by : (Full name, position, and signature of the faculty member who will sponsor the project if the initiator is a student. Include the telephone area code, number, and extension. Omit this item if the initiator is a faculty member.)

Transmitted by : (Full name, position, and signature of the official approving the transmittal of the application. He must have the authority to commit the institution or agency to the proposed project.)

Date Transmitted:

In preparing the remainder of the application, the initiator should use the following format, identifying each section with the number and underlined word(s) given below.

1. Abstract. On a single, separate page present a summary of the proposal using two headings: (a) Objectives and (b) Procedures. Place the abstract immediately after the cover page.

2. Problem. Give a brief statement of the problem, explaining its significance to education.

3. Related Literature. Summarize the most pertinent related literature, and describe the rationale which serves as a basis for the proposed research or development projects.

4. Objectives. State the objectives to be achieved, the hypotheses to be tested, or the specific questions to be answered.

5. Procedures. Describe the procedures in detail, listing the steps to be followed. When appropriate, provide specific information about each of the following:

(a) General Design -- Describe the general design of the study and indicate why this design appears particularly appropriate for achieving the stated objectives. In experimental research, for example, the independent and dependent variables should be stated with the rationale for their selection.

(b) Population and Sample -- Describe the group of subjects from which the sample will be drawn and indicate why the sample is to be drawn from this group. Explain the sampling method, and the number and characteristics of the subjects to be chosen. Indicate how experimental and control groups will be equated.

(c) Data and Instrumentation -- Indicate the data to be gathered and the collection methods to be used.

(d) Analysis -- Indicate the specific methods of analysis to be used in achieving the objectives, answering the questions, or testing the hypotheses. (When several hypotheses are to be tested or several questions are to be answered, it is usually helpful to specify the analysis in relation to each hypothesis or question.)

(e) Time Schedule -- Indicate in chronological order the approximate length of time required for each major aspect of the study.

6. Personnel. Give the name, title or student status, and a brief statement of the pertinent experience and unique qualifications of key personnel. Indicate the individuals who have tentatively agreed to serve on the project.

7. Facilities. Indicate any special facilities and similar advantages available to your institution or agency which will aid in the conduct of the project. When the cooperation of other schools or agencies is essential to the conduct of the study, indicate the extent to which such cooperation has been assured.

8. Other Information. Make a brief statement concerning each of the following items. The information given here will in no way jeopardize approval of the project.

(a) The amount of support available for this project from sources other than the transmitting institution.

(b) Whether this proposal has been submitted to any other agency or organization.

(c) Whether this is a proposed extension of, or addition to, a previous or current project supported by the Office of Education or any other group or agency.

(d) Whether this or a similar proposal was previously submitted to the Office of Education.

9. Budget. (Start this section on a new page.)
In a tabular presentation similar to the illustration shown on page 26, give the estimated cost of the project. Round all amounts to the nearest dollar. In the first column list the items of expenditure, using the categories shown. After each line item, add a brief parenthetical statement which explains how the cost of the item was computed. For example: Secretary (½ time for 3 months at $380 per month). In the second column list the funds requested from the Office of Education for each line item. Fill in the information regarding the duration of the project in the space provided on the budget page. Do not plan to start the project sooner than 3 months following the proposal submission, nor 1 year following approval.

10. Attachments. Where any of the following items apply to the proposal being submitted, provide the information requested in each instance. Each attachment is to appear as a separate item on a separate page(s).

a. Instruments. Any applicant who plans to use an unpublished instrument (e.g. a questionnaire or interview guide) in his study should include a copy; if an instrument is not as yet developed or only partially completed, a page of sample items should be submitted.

b. Revisions. If an application is being resubmitted to the Program, a statement should be appended describing the major revisions which have been made. This does not apply to those applications which have been submitted previously in draft form for informal review.

c. Status Report of Current Projects. If an applicant (or any of the key personnel of the proposed project) has a current project with the Program, the status of this project should be indicated. Included in this should be a statement of the amount of time that the person(s) is (are) devoting to the current project. If the proposed study is an extension of the current project or proposes work in the same area, specify the most pertinent results available from the previous project.

d. Completed Projects. If any of the key personnel of the proposed project have completed a Cooperative Research project, give the title and Cooperative Research serial number of the completed project. It is not necessary to attach reports of projects previously completed. If any of the findings are particularly important to the current application, they may be summarized briefly in an appended statement.

EVALUATIVE CRITERIA

Educational Significance

The information to be obtained, or the technique, method, or instrument to be developed should have potential value to educational research or practice.

Research Plan

1. The problem, background, objective(s), and procedures are clearly stated with an appropriate amount of detail.

2. The problem and objective(s) are appropriately delimited.

3. The objective(s) and procedures are technically sound.

4. The relationship between the problem, objective(s), and procedures is clear.

5. The related literature section reflects sufficient familiarity with the previous research in this problem area.

Personnel and Facilities

1. The principal investigator(s) is (are) competent to carry out the research.

2. The facilities available to the investigator(s) are adequate for carrying out the research.

Economic Efficiency

The relationship between the anticipated outcome and the cost of the project is highly favorable.

BUDGET

Investigator: _____

Institution: _____

Duration: _____ yrs. _____ mos.

Beginning Date: _____. Ending Date.

Category	Federal Funds Requested
Personnel (List all position titles, such as director, research assistant, secretary, consultants. State percent of time on project and per annum salary of each person.)	$_____
Supplies and Materials (No capital equipment to be purchased with Federal funds.)
Research materials (Itemize)	_____
Office Supplies (Include paper, telephone, postage, etc.)	_____
Services
Statistical	_____
Mimeographing (Include 25 mimeographed copies of final report.)	_____
Other (List essential travel and other items not covered above.)	_____
SUBTOTAL	$_____
Overhead (Federal funds for overhead may not exceed 20% of the total Federal cost shown on the SUBTOTAL above.)	_____
TOTAL	$_____

Note: Salaries, service charges, travel costs, etc. must conform to the standard rate of the institution.

S A M P L E

Cooperative Research Project
BUDGET WORKSHEET

S A M P L E

Investigator: Dr. John Doe
Location: University of America
Coordinator: C. R. Program

Project No: XXXX
Date: XX November 19XX

Starting Date: X January 19XX Ending Date: XX August 19XX

Categories	FY XX		FY XX		FY XX		FY XX		All Years
	6 months		12 months		12 months		2 months		TOTAL
	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local
Personnel
Project Director (1/x time at $XX,XXX per annum)	$ XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		$ XXXX
Research Associate (1/x time at $XXXX per annum)	$ XXXX		XXXX
Graduate Assistants (2 for 1/x time each at $XXXX per annum)		XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		$ XXXX
Secretary (½ time at $XXXX per annum)	$ XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		XXXX		$ XXXX
Fringe benefits (x% of Salaries of secretary, director, and research associate.)		XX		XX		XX		XX		$ XXX
Supplies and Materials
Test forms (300 at 30¢ each)	$ XXXX		XXX						XXX

For contracts of ~~18~~ 12 months or less, all of the Federal funds are obligated from one fiscal year. In such contracts only one column should be used for listing the Federal funds and likewise for the local funds.

Note: Salary rates and other charges in the computation of this budget are at the local rate of the institution or agency.

Signature: (Fiscal Officer at institution or agency)

Budget Worksheet (Continuation) Project No: XXXX

Categories	FY XX 6 months		FY XX 12 months		FY XX 12 months		FY XX 2 months		All Years TOTAL
	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local	Federal	Local
Office supplies		XX		XX		XX		XX		$ XXX
Communications	$ XX		XX		XX		XX		$ XXX
Services
Statistical services (IBM XXXX at $xxx per hr. for x hours.)			XXXX		XXXX				$ XXXX
Duplicating research materials							XXX		$ XXX
Preparation of final report							XXX		$ XXX
Other
Travel (X people at an average of $xxx/trip. [Or, xxx miles at x¢/mile])	$ XXX		XXX		XXX		XXX		$ XXXX
Overhead
Federal (up to 20% of sub-total)	$ X,XXX		X,XXX		X,XXX		XXX		$ X,XXX
University (xx% of salaries, less Federal contribution)		X,XXX		X,XXX		X,XXX		XXX		$XX,XXX
TOTAL	$XX,XXX	X,XXX	XX,XXX	X,XXX	XX,XXX	X,XXX	X,XXX	XXX	$XX,XXX	$XX,XXX

BR-27B(64)

SAINT AUGUSTINE'S COLLEGE
RALEIGH, N. C.

OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

February 6, 1948

RECEIVED
FEB 7 1948
SRC

Miss Margaret Price
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Miss Price:

I thank you for the full name of Judge Favrot and also the courageous stand you took with the man who wants to go to Washington with false ideas about sex crimes in the South. I am enclosing my files on this question, including two columns which I wrote. I do not have any other copies and would be grateful if you would ask the gentleman not to take these from the office.

He should know that similar happenings come daily in any of the southern states but that newspapers lack the courage to report them. Many of these items come from the colored papers because of the fact that only three white papers in the South have the courage to publish instances of violence by white men against colored women. It might do him good to investigate some of these cases. The one from Jackson, Tennessee never got into the paper. The three white men who broke into the colored preacher's house at Collins, Mississippi were fined $10.00--this was a joke. This news item was flashed over the wires of the press; AP no white papers had the courage to publish it even though it was a case of record. If the gentleman intends to present evidence in Washington to show that sex violence in the South is a male Negro crime, I shall prepare evidence to the contrary and present it in refutation. He is either asleep or blind.

Please guard these clippings and my own notes carefully since I have no other. I will get them when I see you on February 25.

SAINT AUGUSTINE'S COLLEGE
RALEIGH, N. C.

OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

Miss Margaret Price
February 6, 1948
Page 2

With every good wish, I remain

Yours very sincerely,

Harold L. Trigg
PRESIDENT

HLT:jc
Enclosures

Sex Crimes
copy in Trigg, article & letter
2/24/48

Dr. Harold L. Trigg
Notes on sex crimes in the South

The wave of rape hysteria which engulfs the southeast is an example of the emotional reaction to the problems involved in regional human inter-relations when the sex factor is uppermost.

Men apply the processes of critical thinking to cotton, cane, and rice production, but in some affairs involving the races thinking is limited to the printed page and the book is closed with a bang.

In these periods of tension the strangest distorted conceptions come forth from persons of all classes

The editor of an old and established southern newspaper says that the "abolition of slavery halted amalgamation . . . in the South . . . Almost it has come to an end insofar as Southern white people are concerned."

Another commentator thinks that "the victim of a lynch mob is usually guilty of a capital crime while his victims are as a rule, innocent white girls, women and men," and that so long as the Negro is guilty of such acts of violence lynching will continue.

Still another reaction is stated in the words of a person close to a "trouble spot," "Until the Negroes are educated to the fact that they were brought here as servants and are not to be placed on a basis of equality with whites, I fear we shall have trouble in this country."

A chief of police in an area of tension thinks 19 alleged sex crimes in his immediate vicinity are due to Negro soldiers mixing with white women in the European war theatre, and to lewd pictures of white women which seem to have received wide distribution.

One unique contribution to the general comment comes from a man who has studied alleged Negro rapists two years and finds that they come from homes without father, have low I Q's, are non-church goers, did not belong to boys' clubs, have had up to five grades of schooling, and are of low economic status.

A substantial proportion of southerners are of the same belief expressed in the first four comments. These reactions are old and unmodified. They come to the surface whenever there is a crime of violence in which the Negro is the alleged criminal and a white person the victim.

Emotionized attitudes and stock reactions are the problem of race relations. They stem from personality conflicts. To eliminate the conflicts one must begin with the cause. This is a slow process, and, at the present time, there is little understanding of the problem and no organized effort to solve it.

The picture which is so tragic on the surface has one bright spot which deserves the consistent attention of those who watch for signs of change, and who would give some intelligent direction to evolving trends.

It is the changing conception of applied justice, the struggle to elevate the administration of justice to a level that is closer to the ideal in which race, creed, color, sex and socio-economic status are not factors in the due process of rendering to the individual what is due or deserved in the form of reward or punishment.

This struggle to a higher level of justice in the South is spearheaded by top jurists when free from the restrictions of the "twelve peers".

Sacredness of personality, inviolability of the person, freedom from violence to the body is a fundamental concept of democracy. It is within recent years, however, that Negro women were included in the category of inviolability. Formerly the woman of color could not be raped. The act was always by consent. Evidences of widening the principle to include all women are accumulation. The following instances come from press reports.

Two white police officers of Richmond, Virginia, who raped a colored woman in October, 1946, were convicted and sentenced to 7 years each.

A white man who raped a 5 year old girl, daughter of a Negro minister at Laurel, Mississippi, in March, 1947, received a life sentence.

A white man who raped a pregnant Negro woman in November, 1946, near Baltimore, Maryland, was convicted by an all-white jury.

A white man who raped a Negro woman at Apex, North Carolina, in 1945 was convicted and sentenced to 10-15 years.

In Florida a white man who raped a Negro woman in 1938 was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

In August, 1947, three white men posing as police officers entered the home of a Negro preacher during his absence at Collins, Mississippi, and, while one held a gun on an aunt, the other two took the two daughters out. The minister returned shortly and prevented the rape. The men were fined $10 each.

There were also two cases in South Carolina in the past five years in which white rapists of Negro women were convicted.

It need not be said that punishment meted in many cases was light. Nor have all such cases involved convictions and punishment.

A white taxi driver raped an 80 year old woman at Jackson, Tennessee, on a cold night in February, 1947. He was indicted and held without bond. The cab company published an apology in a local Negro newspaper. A local jury's verdict was "not guilty."

A wealthy landowner took a Negro veteran's wife from him (according to the statement of the veteran) in February, 1947, and had the husband driven out of the community.

In March, 1947, a white youth of Collins, Mississippi vied with a Negro [illegible] for the affections of a Negro girl, and the white youth won young Negro for the affections of a Negro girl, and (the white youth) won out by having his friends assist him in castrating the colored boy.

In Williamsburg County, South Carolina, a white storekeeper raped a 13 year old Negro girl in April, 1947. The magistrate to whome the offense was reported upbraided the father of the girl and refused to issue a warrant.

At Burlington, North Carolina, on June 2, 1947, a 12 year old Negro girl was raped by a white man. No arrests had been made at the last report.

The important fact is that the courts have finally recognized the broad principle of personal inviolability in some southern states. It is probable that a very small percentage of the cases involving Negro women subjected to violence by white men are even reported because of the conviction on the part of colored people that nothing will be done, or because of the ignorance of what constitutes rape. The North Carolina Supreme Court ruled on December 11, 1946 that "force necessary to constitute rape need not be actual physical force. Fear, fright, or coercion may take the place of force."

A further advance in the concept of justice which is about to become evident is that sex violence is not racial but emotional immaturity. Many people are certain that rape and race (Negro male) are synonomous. The facts show that there is no connection between the two. Emotional control on the infant level provides the same results regardless of the skin color. "Our innocent women and children" is an expression which could well come from any many in America if the discussion involved the wolves of all colors who cruise the highways and byways, day and night. Those who are yet unaware of this fact are naive, blind, or conscious self-deceivers.

So long as the public conceives of every male (Negro only) as a potential rapist, crimes of sex violence will continue in North, East, West, and South.

Community functions which provide for maturing the personality--physically, mentally, socially, and emotionally are the only sure preventives of crime of this type.

Progress in broadening the principle of inviolability to inclue all women should be recognized and encouraged. Rape is the most revolting of all crimes. It is the surpeme instance of disregard for the sacredness of personality. It should be punished summarily. It is rape if the skin of the victim is white and that of the perpetrator black. It is equally rape if the skin of the victim is black or brown, and that of the perpetrator white. The recognition of this principle is essential to the effective treatment of the problem.

Mass rape hysteria stems from some traditional causes which can be eliminated by the cooperative thinking and action of white and Negro leaders.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

(A second set of notes.)

1. Amalgamation halted with abolition. Naive. e.g.
   a. Two white police officers of Richmond, Va. convicted of raping Negro woman. Sentenced to 7 years each. Crime: Oct. 20, 1946. Defender, 1/25/47.

   b. Three white men posing as officers entered Negro preacher's home at Collins, Miss. One held gun on 40 year old aunt while other two took preacher's two daughters out, attempted to rape them. Fined $10 each. August 16, 1947. Guide 8/31/46; Defender 8/31/46.

   c. Jackson, Tenn. White taxi driver raped 80 year old colored woman. Arrested and held without bond. Jackson Citizen printed apology. 2/15/47. (Alleged crime--2/15/47/.

   d. Wealthy white land owner took Negro vet's wife and had him run out of community. Windy Hill, Miss, Feb. '47. Afro-American 2/22/47

   e. White youth competed with Negro youth for Negro girl. Sheriff refused to do anything. Collins, Miss., March '47. Defender 3/8/47.

   f. White man raped 5 year old Negro girl, daughter of minister. Sentenced to life. Laurel, Miss. March '47. Defender 3/29/47.

   g. Kingstree, S.C. White storekeeper attempted to rape 13 year old Negro girl. Magistrate refused to issue warrant and upbraided father for reporting it. Williamsburg County. Lighthouse and Informer 4/6/47.

   h. White man raped pregnant Negro woman Nov. 13, '46 near Baltimore, Md. Conviction was first in Maryland in such a case. Atlanta World 3/21/47.

   i. White man raped Negro woman, Apex, N.C. Aug. 20 '45. Sentence 10-15 years.

   (j. 1938 Florida case)

Miscegenation
Louisiana

LAW OFFICES
COCO AND BENNETT
JOFFRION BLDG.
MARKSVILLE, LOUISIANA

CHESTER J. COCO
B. C. BENNETT, JR.

February 25, 1953

RECEIVED
FEB 27
Southern Regional Council

Dr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

Father Marvin Bordelon has asked that I write you concerning some details of a miscegenation case which arose in his parish.

The case is simply that a white woman had a child by a negro man. Both parties admitted the possibility that the child was born of their union. The white woman was married at the time to a man considerably older than herself. She was the mother of three children, the father of whom was not her husband.

Immediately after the birth of the child, its father pleaded guilty to the crime of miscegenation and was sentenced to serve a period of five years in the State Penitentiary at Angola, Louisiana. The details of his arraignment and sentence are unknown to me since I knew nothing of the case until after the child's father was taken to serve his sentence.

We have discussed this case among ourselves and find as stumbling blocks to the development of clear-cut issue the following facts:

1. The child's mother has a very poor reputation for fidelity to her husband.

2. We want to thoroughly consider the public attitude toward an adulterer, in view of the many forces (religious and otherwise) which tend to make the race question complicated.

Strangely enough, the opinion of a great number of responsible people here is that the father of the child should not have been punished in the absence of a statute making adultery a crime.

I have given you these facts so that you may be prepared to give us the benefit of your experience in this field.

We are all looking forward to being with you on your visit to Avoyelles Parish.

Yours very truly,

B. C. BENNETT, JR.

BCB/fcn

"GETTING READY FOR DESEGREGATION IN SEPTEMBER" is the subject for consideration at the next meeting of Shands-Rohrer Group, being held at

Luckie Street YMCA - Room 210
Tuesday, May 16th -----Supper at 6:00 P.M.

Dr. H.A. Bowen, with Atlanta School System, will open the discussion.

Phone supper reservation to:

H. W. Rohrer - DR 7-6844
of Mrs. Bertrand at "Y"- JA 5-5401

4/27/'61

Following are summaries from our files of sample cases of sex crimes involving white men and Negro women. Several convictions brought by all-white, Southern juries indicate that such crimes do take place, but in many cases sentences are light, or no conviction is made.

1. In Laurel, Mississippi, a white man was found guilty of attacking a five year old colored girl, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Chicago Defender, March 29, 1947.

2. An all-white jury in Baltimore, Maryland, convicted a white man of raping a pregnant Negro woman. Atlanta World, Mardh 21, 1947.

3. Two white police officers found guilty by an all-white jury in Richmond, Virginia, of attacking a 32-year-old Negro mother. The policemen were each given a 7 year prison term. Chicago Defender, January 25, 1947.

4. In Collins, Mississippi, two white men were charged with attempted rape of two sisters, 18 and 20, daughters of a Negro minister. The men were convicted of lesser charges and fined $10 each. Chicago Defender, Aug. 31, '46

5. At Apex, North Carolina, a white man pleaded guilty to assault with attempt to commit rape against a 20-year-old Negro girl. He was given a 10-15 year imprisonment penalty. News and Observer (Raleigh, N.C.)

6. An 80 year old Negro woman charged whe was raped by a taxi driver in Jackson, Tennessee, February 15, 1947. The taxi company published a full page, paid advertisement in a Jackson Negro paper (Jackson Advocate), apologizing "for the unfortunate conduct of one of our drivers." The man was found not guilty by a local jury.

The following exerpt from an article by Dr. Harold Trigg helps explain the fact that these cases, and others like them, are sometimes not widely know among Southern white citizens, and helps show how racial tensions develop from reports of sex crimes.

"Race relations in the South are placed under strain which in many cases is altogether unnecessary by headlines which identify the Negro as the assailant either when there has been no rape, or when there was no Negro involved.

"The problem of human relations in the South is too important to be subjected to pressure which could be avoided by a modified policy in publicity.

The white and Negro press are not together on the publicizing of violence to person. Both publish incidents involving colored men and white women, or colored men and colored men and colored women. The white press reports incidents involving white men and white women, but seldom or never of white men and Negro women. The Negro press reports cases involving white men and colored women, but seldom of white men and white women. The Negro reads the white papers, but few white people read the Negro papers.

Some dangerous misconceptions could be destroyed or modified and tensions could be reduced and eliminated:

1. If no publicity is given an incident until there is substantial evidence that there has been at least the attempt to rape. If a community gives out "scare" headlines every time a frightened white woman meets a Negro man on a public street after dark and the latter runs from her, that community necessarily lays itself wide open for "foreign" needling.

2. If the alleged assailant is not identified as to race until his race is established. The headline says "Negro Rages White Woman". Too frequently there is no rape, or rape and no Negro, but no headline follows up with this correction. The harm to race relations is done.

3. If the same type of publicity is given white man-colored woman rape as is given colored man-white woman rape. This will enable the public to see the problem of rape as personality maladjustment in white and black instead of predatory Negro male."

CITY OF GARY
FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICE COMMISSION
ROOM 306 - CITY HALL
GARY, INDIANA
PHONE 5-8441
PETER MANDICH, MAYOR

COMMISSION MEMBERS
ELI MANDICH, CHAIRMAN
ADOLPH J. FEINBERG, VICE CHAIRMAN
THELMA E. MARSHALL, SECRETARY
EDWARD J. EVANS
GEORGE ZUDAK

WAITSTILL H. SHARP
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
BESSYE C. ATKINS
SECRETARY TO COMMISSION

RECEIVED
SEP 18
Southern Region

September 16, 1953

Mr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

RE: MARQUETTE BEACH INCIDENT

Dear George Mitchell:

I have been egregiously negligent in replying to Virginia's August 11 request for a resume of this summer's most important local violation of the civil rights of dissimilar people. I am to blame that the letter was mislaid at my house. Regrets!

These several enclosures to each of you are not the boiled-down summary desired so earnestly by George Mitchell. But they will so clarify the immediate (1953) Incident, that it can be concisely retold by an old hand like George. If I tried to write the whole story afresh, there's no telling when it would be completed; how much local trouble it would entail for the FEPC functions of this Commission. But much more important, the entire story of the 1953 Marquette Beach Incident, and its background here and its parallels here and in other cities, ought to be protected from over-simplification. This 1953 malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance ought to be assured of the interpretation which it deserves as one more warning posted for municipal officials, for private human relations agencies, for church leadership in our industrial cities with large ethnic blocs and a rapidly-expanding Negro proportion.

The Urban League of Gary turned in an excellent job of observation, spotting of ring-leaders, reporting, interpretation, enlistment of public opinion. Out of this good work of Mr. Clifford E. Minton, Executive Secretary of the Gary Urban League, may

AMERICANS ASK:
"Is he a good worker?"
NOT
"What's his Race or Religion?"
Support FAIR EMPLOYMENT Practices

Mr. George Mitchell
September 16, 1953
Page Two

Look up II

emerge a Gary Commission on Human Relations.

I send each of you in this same mail these following materials:

1. A complete set of Mr. Minton's factual releases.
2. Circular Order 482, 12/2/49, of Chicago Police Commissioner John Prendergast, issued after the Peoria Street Riot, 11/8-11/49
3. Sharp to Minton, Backemeyer, Snyder, 7/28/53
4. Sharp to Race Affairs Committee, Chamber of Commerce, 7/29/53
5. II Sharp to Charles E. Decker, 8/27/53

Gary is learning the hard way, but is learning (hoffentlich!)

Sincerely yours,

Waitstill H. Sharp
Executive Director

WHS/ofj

cc/ Mr. Clifford E. Minton, Ex. Secretary Urban League, Gary Miss Virginia Huebner, Director Fair Employment Division, Wis.

AMERICANS ASK:
"Is he a good worker?"
NOT
"What's his Race or Religion?"
Support FAIR EMPLOYMENT Practices

Letter sentto: Hotel Raleigh
Richmond, Virginia
where Mr. Shand will be for a few weeks

June 29, 1954

Mr. Gadsden E. Shand, Jr.
112 South Saluda Avenue
Columbia, South Carolina

Mail not delivered

Dear Mr. Shand:

Nice to hear from you; we have been missing you.

More money brings more problems and particularly it seems to bring a plague of people who jump on us and call us a bunch of Communists. The latest is Roy Harris who jumped on us in his weekly sheet.

I am sending some dope to Mr. C. Pinckney Layton*. Distressingly, we haven't got any proper literature about the Council to hand out to prospects. The Board is all changed around and there are so many new factors and so much change that we have not printed anything, and the last mimeographed edition is way out of date. The best I can send you is some application blanks, and you will have to rely for the rest on your own rich persuasiveness.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab
Encls.

* material to Pinckney Layton returned "unclaimed" sent to Gadsden Shand for forwarding

$3.00 - check + membership form to Ruth for processing

Gadsden E. Shand, Jr.
112 So. Saluda Ave
Columbia, S.C.

RECEIVED
JUN 28 1954
Southern Regional Council

June 25, 1954

Dear George -

I have been in W. Va. for 3 months setting up an office and organizing the work for Small Business Admin. I am now leaving for Richmond where they want to keep me but I intend to get back to the Carolinas before long, probably other work.

I am sorry that I have not had an opportunity to talk to you and Marion for so long. However I have been doing a lot of observing and thinking and as soon as I get settled down here again I will have some things to say.

Please send literature and several application blanks to C. Pinckney Layton, P.O. Box 782, Charlotte, N.C.

I would like to have some information about So. Reg. and application blanks to give to prospects.

I will see Dr. Thos. Carroll, Asso. Dir. of Ford Foundation, in Chapel Hill Monday. I think that his field is strictly economic but I will put in a plug for So. Reg. Council.

For the next few weeks I will be in Richmond, Hotel Raleigh.

Sincerely
Gardner

August 12, '54

Dear Mr. Shank,

Bad luck! I've promised to be teaching at an AF of L Southern Labor School at Charlottesville, Va. August 29 - September 3. I may be able to get back down here in the course of Saturday, September 4, and certainly by the morning of the 5th. So please calle me, at home (Dearborn 5961), and we can get together, belatedly.

Sincerely,

George S Mitchell

You'll be most welcome at this office at any time during your stay, and Harlod Fleming or Grace Hamilton here could be helpful. GSM

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI
CINCINNATI 21, OHIO

DEAN OF THE SUMMER SCHOOL

incoming of 7/29 and your reply to mr. Bragdon attached. GL

RECEIVED
AUG 9 1954
Southern Regional Council

6 August 1954

My dear Mr. Mitchell:

This brief note is sent to follow the letter of 29 July which was dispatched to you by Mr. Marshall Bragdon of our local Mayor's Friendly Relations Committee. Mr. Bragdon's communication is of sincere interest to the faculty and friends of the Summer School of the University of Cincinnati. I should be very glad to follow through on Mr. Bragdon's suggestion and confer with you on the subject, if you so desire.

I will be in Atlanta beginning with Monday, 30 August and will remain through Sunday, 5 September. I am attending a national convention of a college fraternity, whose sessions will be held on the campus of the Georgia Institute of Technology. While in Atlanta I shall be stopping at the Hotel Biltmore. Although my time is mostly obligated I feel certain we should be able to find a mutually free hour for our conversation. I await your judgement on the matter.

Very sincerely yours,

Spencer Shank

Spencer Shank
Dean, Summer School

Mr. George Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

SS:pm

August 13, 1954

Mr. Spencer Shank
Dean
Summer School
University of Cincinnati
Cincinnati, Ohio

Dear Dean Shank:

All straight about meeting you at the Biltmore Hotel late Sunday afternoon or Sunday evening, September 5.

Suppose we set 5:00 p.m. now as the time, and I will shopw up at your room then unless you otherwise propose by telephone to me. My home telephone is Dearborn 5961.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab

September 10, 1954

Mr. Spencer Shank
Box 467
Pineville, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Shank:

I explored with care the matter we discussed on Monday.

I am sorry to say I got no encouragement toward any arrangement under which the State Superintendents of Instruction in the South would request an arrangement for the training of select teachers for assistance in the problem of integration in the schools. It is judged that people in authority in most of the Southern states have persuaded themselves that integration can be postponed for a long time, and whether or not that supposition is correct, few of them are now disposed to take steps which identify them with voluntary and pre-planned compliance with the decision of the Court.

There is some thought, also, that when and if the time comes that officialdom within the public school system of the South seeks training of this kind, they will wish to arrange it at this or that institution or several institutions well within the borders of the South.

I, myself, think this is short-sighted, and that it is a part of statesmanship to prepare painstakingly, at just this stage, for easy transition to unsegregated education.

My recommendation would be that the Summer session of the University of Cincinnati proceed with as lengthy and as substantial a training program as it can devise and get financed. And that it make known to teachers in the South the availability of instruction in this new and needed skill. I think that quite a number of teachers would go on their own; their prescience being greater than that of the officials above them.

I am sorry to report this conclusion, as I had hoped that some quasi-official request could be made on behalf of the state school officers for the particular kind of training you are prepared to offer. I believe my information is correct that such a request will not be forthcoming, and, again, I can only recommend that you proceed, as all of us must, to do by voluntary and unofficial devices what so greatly does need to be done.

We, in this Council, stand ready to help you in any way we can. It may be that a few weeks from now a further conference on the matter would see some ray of hope.

In any case, I am strongly of the opinion that whatever you can do toward offering organized instruction in this matter will turn out to be greatly beneficial to the South and to the nation.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

cc: Mr. J. Curtis Dixon
GSM/eab

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI
SUMMER SCHOOL
CINCINNATI 21, OHIO

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

5 PM - Biltmore - Sun. Sep 5
e, 5 PM to go.

17 August 1954

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

Thank you for your kind and prompt reply to my inquiry of 6 August. I note that life in Atlanta, as in Cincinnati, refuses to be direct and simple when one would most want it that way.

Although I should very much like to discuss certain proposals with your Mr. Fleming and your Miss Hamilton, I feel that the point which should be thoroughly laid before us needs to be given direct presentation to you as well as to your staff members. Hence I make the following proposals insofar as your own time and availability are concerned:

I suggest that I confer with you late on Sunday afternoon or on Sunday evening of the 5th September. I believe that our Convention meetings and conferences will be ended by one o'clock on that date.

Mrs. Shank and I will be staying at the Biltmore Hotel. I should appreciate having you call me sometime during the morning or noon hour of the 5th that we might make more specific arrangements.

In the foregoing I in no wise mean to suggest that Mr. Fleming and Miss Hamilton not sit in on the conferences; I do mean to suggest that my own time will be rather heavily obligated until late in the day of 5 September.

Very sincerely yours,

Spencer Shank

Spencer Shank
Dean, Summer School

Mr. George S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council, Inc.,
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.,
Atlanta 3, Georgia

SS:pm

RECEIVED
AUG 19 1954
Southern Regional Council

file

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI
SUMMER SCHOOL
CINCINNATI 21, OHIO

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

RECEIVED
11/6/54
Southern Regional Council

4 November 1954

My dear Mr. Mitchell:

At long last I am prepared to give you something of a conclusive response to your kind and helpful letter of 10 September. My delay in writing has been due to the usual work that attends the Autumn months. We have been completely engrossed in the work of planning for our 1955 Summer School.

Faced with the story that you so frankly laid before us, we concluded that any effort we should make towards having a workshop or other unit in the field of Integration should be designed for local application, and not especially as something which should serve more distant parts. We have, therefore, surveyed our community needs and have concluded that we had better not schedule a unit in this field for next summer. I do not now foresee any change in this decision, although the gate is not so tightly locked that it could not be opened should there be valid reason for doing so.

I write not only to thank you, but to express my sincere appreciation of your time and your efforts on behalf of what seemed to be a very reasonable and very timely proposal. I trust that I shall have the pleasure of meeting you and talking with you in the future, either here or in your own part of the country.

Very sincerely yours,

Spencer Shank

Spencer Shank
Dean, Summer School

Mr. George S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

cc: Mr. Marshall Bragdon

SS:pm

May 3, 1955

Mr. A. C. Shropshire
Director
Division of Education
Langston University
Langston, Oklahoma

Dear Mr. Shropshire:

We would be happy to supply, without charge, at the appropriate time, samples of various of SRC's currently available publications for the Intercultural Workshop at Langston in June.

Please write us ahead of time.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab

cc: KS

Langston University
Langston, Oklahoma

DIVISION OF EDUCATION

April 23, 1955

MAY 2 1955

Dr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Sir:

The first week in June, Langston University is conducting an Intercultural Workshop. Dr. William Van Til is directing this project. We are interested in securing all the free and lending resource materials at your disposal.

Please indicate whether you will be in a position to render this service.

Very truly yours,

A. C. Shropshire

~~A. C.~~ Shropshire
Director
Division of Education

ACS/mjj

Contributions-
general

January 4, 1956

Mrs. Inez R. Shearer
297 Linwood Avenue
Buffalo 9, New York

Dear Mrs. Shearer:

I have been trying to find out how that business in the Bible about the one and three talents applies to you. I can't quite hook it up, but you know what I mean.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:mef

Encl.

GADSDEN E. SHAND, JR.
112 SO SALUDA AVE. PHONE 2-8925
COLUMBIA 5, S C

Oct. 2, 1956.

Mr. Marion Wright
Linville Falls, N.C.

Dear Marion -

Last spring I wrote an article Who Shot Jim Crow which I gave to Horace Carter. He gladly accepted it and tried to place it with several magazines wi thout success, under his name (confidential of course). He recently returned it to me to use or destroy. I fully appreciate that I am no writer and that the magazines do not want editorial types of articles. As a matter of fact I would rather not publish anything on the current controversy under my name at this time.

However I do think that there are some points in this paper that should be brought to the attention of authorities in both North and South. Southern legislators particularly need to consider these facts.

If you or George can make use of this paper or any part of it you are welcome to it.

Unfortunately I still have to work fora living and I cannot afford to give up my present job now but I will get back to the Carolinas some day, and I will take up where I left off.

Rosa is at Randolph-Macon again this year and there is no one home but Mary Boykin and myself so we have plenty of room for you and would love to have you stay with us if you come to Washington. I would certainly like to see you again.

I am now in charge of screening all Gov't procurements, both military and civilian, in the Washington area in the interest of small business but my net income is less than it was in Columbia.

Sincerely

January 9, 1957

Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel
Detroit 31, Michigan

Gentlemen:

I was surprised to get your bill for room for my stay December 28, 1956. I was a guest and on the program of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Convention and was told to sign the hotel bill. My first impulse was to immediately mail you a check, but there is a possibility of a mix-up somewhere, so I am referring the bill to the sorority and am sure you or I one will hear from the national office and the matter will be most assuredly taken care of at an early date.

In this connection I wish to say that I, as a Southern white woman, was deeply appreciative of the hospitality and courtesy that you extend to all the people and I long for the day when this will be the pattern of every hotel in our nation.

Yours very truly,

(Mrs.) M. E. Tilly
Director of Women's Work

MET:mm

cc: Miss Dorothy Height, President, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority

March 7, 1957

Mr. Gadsden E. Shand, Jr.,
1518 44th St. N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Gadsden:

I sent the article which you forwarded me on October 2nd to the Atlanta office and hope very much that it has not been misplaced since you would like to have it returned.

I am sending a copy of this letter to the Office with the request that your excellent article be sent back to you.

You ask about Mrs. Spearman. She is still in Columbia and I had the pleasure of seeing her at a recent meeting of the Penn Community Services Board.

With kind regards, I am

Yours sincerely,

M. A. Wright

M. A. Wright

MAW:ejg

c. c. to Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Ave. N.E.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

1518 44th St N.W.
Washington, D.C.

GADSDEN E. SHAND, JR.
~~112 SO. SALUDA AVE. PHONE 2-5925~~
~~COLUMBIA 5, S.C.~~

Sunday
March 3, 1957

Dear Marion -

Please return the article that I sent to you on October 2nd. I expect to make use of most of this in another form.

You will hear from me before long.

I have no reply to my last two letters to Alice. Is she still in Columbia.

Sincerely
Gadsden

May 27, 1957

Dr. O. L. Shelton, Dean
School of Religion
Butler University
Indianapolis 7, Indiana

Dear Dr. Shelton:

Thank you for your letter of May 22nd inviting me to participate in the institute "The Church in a Multi-racial Society." I note the date you suggest is June 19th at 2:00 p.m., and the topic will be "The South and Desegregation." Fortunately, I am to be up that way near that time and will be glad to be with you for the proposed date.

My expenses will be paid by another organization, but an honorarium of $50.00 to the Southern Regional Council will make possible future travel by our staff members. Though we do not like to base participation on financial requirements, our limited travel budget makes this request necessary.

I note from the little pamphlet that you sent that Lewis Deer is participating and he and I have been friends for some time.

I look forward to hearing from you in the near future indicating whether the arrangements suggested are acceptable.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick B. Routh
Assistant Director

FBR/mf

June 10, 1957

Dean O. L. Shelton
School of Religion
Butler University
Indianapolis 7, Indiana

Dear Dean Shelton:

Thank you for your letter of June 5th and I shall turn up at your workshop some time prior to 2:00 P.M., June 19th. The check for the honorarium should be made out to "The Southern Regional Council, Inc."

Thanks for your cooperation in this matter.

With all good wishes,

Cordially,

Frederick B. Routh
Assistant Director

FBR:mm

School of Religion

Butler University

A Graduate Theological Seminary

INDIANAPOLIS 7, INDIANA

O. L. SHELTON
DEAN

B. A. NORRIS
ASSISTANT DEAN

BIBLICAL FIELD

Old Testament
Semitic Languages
Toyozo W. Nakarai

New Testament
Greek
S. Marion Smith

Biblical Theology
Inter-Testamental Literature
Hebrew-Greek
David C. Pellett

DOCTRINAL FIELD

Christian Doctrine
Theology
James G. Clague

Historical Theology
Frank J. Albert

Ecumenical Theology
Robert Tobias

Philosophy of Religion
Christian Ethics
Psychology of Religion
Walter W. Sikes

HISTORICAL FIELD

Church History
Disciples' History
Ronald E. Osborn

Historical Theology
Frank J. Albert

Ecumenical History
Robert Tobias

History of Religions
Missions
Joseph M. Smith

PRACTICAL FIELD

Administration
Worship
O. L. Shelton

Pastoral Work
City Church
Counseling
Preaching
B. A. Norris

Town and Country
Church
F. E. Rector

Religious Education
J. B. Miller

Speech and Drama
Radio and Television
A. R. Edyvean

Church Music
James Carley

June 5, 1957

Mr. Frederick B. Routh, Assistant Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Routh:

We shall be very happy to have you coming for June 19 at 2:00 p.m. and will pay the $50.00 honorarium which you suggest to be the proper remuneration.

Looking forward to seeing you, I am

Cordially yours,

O. L. Shelton, Dean

OLS:ss

July 8, 1957

Mr. O. L. Shelton, Dean
School of Religion
Butler University
Indianapolis 7, Indiana

Dear Dean Shelton:

I was happy to participate in the workshop while at Butler University. The group with which I met was alert and interested in what is happening in the South. I met with another group that same evening at Lewis Deer's house. Both groups I found to be stimulating.

We have received a check for $50.00 for the expenses incurred by me in coming to the institution.

Thanks for the kind words in the letter which accompanied the check.

Cordially,

Frederick B. Routh
Assistant Director

FBR:lcc

School of Religion

Butler University

A Graduate Theological Seminary

INDIANAPOLIS 7, INDIANA

O. L. SHELTON
DEAN

B. A. NORRIS
ASSISTANT DEAN

BIBLICAL FIELD

Old Testament
Semitic Languages
Toyozo W. Nakarai

New Testament
Greek
S. Marion Smith

Biblical Theology
Inter-Testamental Literature
Hebrew-Greek
David C. Pollett

DOCTRINAL FIELD

Christian Doctrine
Theology
James G. Clague

Historical Theology
Frank J. Albert

Ecumenical Theology
Robert Tobias

Philosophy of Religion
Christian Ethics
Psychology of Religion
Walter W. Sikes

HISTORICAL FIELD

Church History
Disciples' History
Ronald E. Osborn

Historical Theology
Frank J. Albert

Ecumenical History
Robert Tobias

History of Religions
Missions
Joseph M. Smith

PRACTICAL FIELD

Administration
Worship
O. L. Shelton

Pastoral Work
City Church
Counseling
Preaching
B. A. Norris

Town and Country
Church
F. E. Rector

Religious Education
J. B. Miller

Speech and Drama
Radio and Television
A. R. Edyvean

Church Music
James Carley

June 29, 1957

Mr. Fred Routh
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Routh:

RHA 7/1/57

According to our agreement, I am enclosing the check for $50 for the expense incurred by your coming here. We want to express our very deep appreciation for your participation in this conference and for the contribution you rendered. We feel that this is a very important and significant area for study, and we shall continue to try to help our church leaders find their way through it.

Thanking you again for your participation, I am,

Cordially yours,

O. L. Shelton
Dean

OLS:md

Enclosure

December 17, 1958

Mr. Donald R. Shepherd
1446 B Street
Apt. A
San Diego 2, California

Dear Mr. Shepherd:

Under separate cover I am sending you some materials relating to the "right to work" laws. Mrs. Hurley knew of my interest in matters related to unions and asked if I could send some materials to you.

The Southern Regional Council is not specifically interested in "right to work" or other legislation affecting unions. However, in my role as labor consultant I do receive a number of publications related to the various interests of the labor movement. Some of these I am passing on to you for your use.

Sincerely,

Emory F. Via
Labor Consultant
(Dictated by Mr. Via, but signed in his absence.)

EFV:ls

bc to John Griffin and copy of Brown's ltr. to HCF

December 29, 1958

Mr. Paul E. X. Brown
Imperial Publicist and Editor - Pyramid
2356 Beach Way, S. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Brown:

We appreciated your letter advising us of your organization's contribution to the Emory University's School of Medicine.

This is, indeed, a significant gift, and we congratulate you and your colleagues on this generous and statesmanlike gesture.

We should aporeciate being informed of future developments in this and similar matters.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
cc: Mr. John Wesley Dobbs

Organized June 10, 1893, Chicago, Ill.
Incorporated Nov. 13, 1901
Washington, D. C.

ANCIENT EGYPTIAN ARABIC ORDER NOBLES OF THE MYSTIC SHRINE OF NORTH & SOUTH AMERICA & ITS JURISDICTIONS, INC.

BOOKER T. ALEXANDER
Imperial Potentate
Tobin Building—1308 Broadway
Detroit 26, Michigan

GENOA S. WASHINGTON
Deputy Imperial Potentate
5020 So. Michigan Avenue
Chicago 15, Illinois

THOMAS F. POAG
Imperial Chief Rabban
1124 N. Highland Avenue
Winston-Salem, N. C.

ROSCOE C. WASHINGTON
Imperial Assistant Rabban
240 South Avenue Nineteen
Los Angeles 31, California

REV. JOHN HENRY HESTER
Imperial High Priest and Prophet
400 No. Ohio Avenue
Atlantic City, New Jersey

CHARLES A. DARGAN
Imperial Oriental Guide
40 St. Nicholas Place
New York 31, N. Y.

ALVIN RENO
Imperial Treasurer
941 W. 28th Street
Indianapolis, Ind.

MACEO C. MARTIN
Imperial Recorder
330 North Union Street
Danville, Va.

WILLIAM HOWE
Imperial 1st Ceremonial Master
6117 Callowhill Avenue
Philadelphia 31, Pa.

RUDOLPH A. STEWART
Imperial 2nd Ceremonial Master
619 Quincy Street N. W.
Washington 11, D. C.

ALFRED A. DIXON
Imperial Captain of the Guard
1117 Whitelock Street
Baltimore, Maryland

MARSHALL S. JOHNSON
Imperial Outer Guard
1104 Larimer Avenue
Pittsburgh 6, Pa.

GEORGE CRISUP
Imperial Auditor
6822 Langley Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

G. STEVEN MARCHMAN
Imperial Auditor
7517 Cottage Grove Avenue
Chicago 19, Illinois

R. G. SCHUSTER
Imperial Auditor
446 East Warren Street
Detroit, Michigan

OFFICE OF
IMPERIAL PUBLICIST AND EDITOR — PYRAMID
2356 Beach Way South West

Oasis of Atlanta — Desert of Georgia

18 day of month JOMADI I which corresponds to Hegira 1378 — 29 November 1958

The Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, Northeast
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Sir:

The Emory University School of Medicine has been granted a medical research award of $5,000 from the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The grant is the results of an application made to the Imperial Council during its 1958 Convention at Chicago last August.

The grant to the Emory University Medical School is unique in that this is prehaps the first time an all-colored national organization has provided such funds to a Deep South all white institution.

The funds are part of some $33,500 being distributed this fiscal year by the Shriners to educational institutions and hospitals throughout the nation. The grant is made from the Shriners' Tuberculosis and Cancer Research Foundation, a charity organization supported by the Shriners and their Daughters of Isis.

The Shriners' grant will be given to University officials and the qualified research student in formal ceremonies to be mutually agreed upon with the Honorable John Wesley Dobbs, 330 Auburn Avenue, N. E., and representatives of Atlanta's Nabbar Temple.

Very truly yours,

Paul E. X. Brown

Paul E. X. Brown
Imperial Publicist

Contribute to the Shrine Tuberculosis and Cancer Research Foundation . . . Give Today . . . and Save a Life Tomorrow!
Make all Checks or Money Orders payable to Imperial Council, A. E. A. O. N. M. S.

HERE IS A COMPLETE LISTING OF INSTITUTIONS AND HOSPITALS RECEIVING AWARDS FROM THE SHRINERS FOR 1958:

1.	St. Mary's Infirmary Galveston, Texas Cancer Research	$7,000
2.	The College of Medical Evangelists Los Angeles, California Medical Research	$6,000
3;	Homer G. Phillips Hospital St. Louis, Missouri Cancer Research	$5,000
4.	Howard University Washington, D. C. Research in Medicine	$7,000
5.	Meharry Medical College Nashville, Tennessee Cancer Research	$3,500
6.	Emory University Emory University, Georgia Tuberculosis and Cancer Research	$5,000
	TOTAL	$33,500

June 23, 1959

Mr. Gregory E. Shinert
Executive Director
Missouri Commission on Human Rights
Room 102, State Capitol Building
Jefferson City, Missouri

Dear Mr. Shinert:

Since Harold is on vacation this week, I am taking the liberty of answering your letter to him concerning material for your Human Relations Conference.

In answer to an earlier request from your office, we mailed you some material on June 17 for the conference. The material and your recent letter probably crossed in the mail. If there is additional material you would like to have for your conference, please let me know.

Thank you for writing us about the answer to the Putnam letter which appeared in the CALL. We are writing Miss Bluford for a copy.

With best wishes.

Sincerely,

John Constable
Director of Information

JC:lec

JC - Please handle in my absence. HCF

GREGORY E. SHINERT
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
PHONE 5-5726

MISSOURI COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS

ROOM 102 STATE CAPITOL BLDG.
JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI

JAMES T. BLAIR, JR.
GOVERNOR

REV. TRAFFORD P. MAHER, S. J.
CHAIRMAN
ST. LOUIS

SAMUEL S. WHITE
VICE-CHAIRMAN
KANSAS CITY

DR. JAMES N. FREEMAN
SECRETARY-TREASURER
JEFFERSON CITY

MISS LUCILE BLUFORD
KANSAS CITY

PERRY HENDERSON
CLAYTON

RABBI ERNEST I. JACOB
SPRINGFIELD

MILTON LITVAK
ST. JOSEPH

DR. F. L. McCLUER
ST. CHARLES

REV. LEE F. SOXMAN
ROLLA

LYNN TWITTY
SIKESTON

HOWARD B. WOODS
ST. LOUIS

June 17, 1959

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta, 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

Thank you for your kind letter of June 12th--please pardon the delay, but I have been out of the state since June 2nd--just returning yesterday.

Thank you for the material sent--especially the article by John Lofton on the Putnam letters. You might be interested in a long, and logically well informed, answer to the Putnam letter, published in the Kansas City CALL some time back, by four priests of the Kansas City diocese. I do not have the date of the issue--but I am sure Miss Lucile Bluford, editor of the CALL and member of the Commission, might supply you with re-prints. It is one of the few answers (intelligent and easy reading) that I have ever read in reply to Putnam--and the only newspaper answer ever printed in Missouri--although all our Missouri metropolitian papers carried Putnam's letter! ((Her address: 1715 East 18th. Street, Kansas City, 8, Mo.))

The Commission on Human Rights, now a permanent state agency--thanks to Governor Blair's signature of House Bill 266 on June 8th--is co-sponsoring a Human Relations Conference (in conjunction with the Central Missouri State College and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith) on the campus of the college in Warrensburg, this July 15-16-17th.

If your Council has any type of exhibit it might wish to show--or materials, publications, maps, etc--and wishes to send them to the Commission free--we will be happy to set up and man such an exhibit at the Conference for you.

With kindest personal regards, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

G. E. Shinert

Gregory E. Shinert
Executive Director

MISSOURI STATE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS
Jefferson City, Mo.

Room 102
State Capitol

RESUME OF ACTIVITIES FROM JULY 1, 1958---May 10, 1959

The State Commission was created by Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 125, enacted by the 69th. General Assembly, 1957.

Governor James T. Blair swore in the Commission on April 14, 1958--and the Commission held its first brief meeting on that date.

The first organizational meeting was held at St. Louis University, St. Louis, June 7,1958, at which time an Executive Director was hired, to begin duties July 1, 1958.

The initial quarterly meeting was held in Kansas City, September 25, 1958.
The second quarterly meeting was held in Jefferson City, December 4, 1958, and the third quarterly meeting was held in Springfield, April 2, 1959.

The fourth quarterly meeting will be held in St. Joseph, June 25, 1959.

Some specific activities of the Commission may be discerned in the following:

1) Investigated 16 complaints sent to the Commission.
In four cases, probable cause was found, and the Commission is attempting by menas of conference, conciliation and moral persuasion to eliminate the discriminatory practices complained of.
In one case, the complaintant withdrew her complaint.
After due investigation of facts pertaining to eleven cases, it was determined that either no probable cause existed, or the matter fell beyond the jurisdiction of the Commission.

2) Began a STUDY OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN MISSOURI. A 29-page questionnaire was compiled and distributed to informed and interested persons in each of the 114 counties of Missouri, in an effort to discover the facts about discrimination as it exists in Missouri. Responses from 54 counties have been received, to date.
The results of this STUDY will form the basis of a Report to the Governor and General Assembly.

3) Submitted a Preliminary Report to the Governor and General Assembly on March 1,1959, covering the first seven months of operation , the initial findings of the STUDY, recommendations, and program for 1959-1961.

4) Cooperated with the State Advisory Committee of the Federal Civil Rights Commission, which was established in Missouri in December, 1958. The Chairman of this Committtee is a member of the Missouri Commission on Human Rights.

5) Sent to the Federal Civil Rights Commission in Washington,D.C. 50 copies of the 29-page questionnaire--at their request-- to be used by the State Advisory Committees in each of the 50 States.

6) Sponsored a meeting of interested citizens and community leaders in Jefferson City on December 5,1958. The meeting was attended by members of four human relations councils, thirty-four organizations, three state agencies, and twenty representatives from labor, church groups, education, social work, law, housing, employers, and State Representatives.
These citizens, approximately sixty in number, met with the Commission to plan long-range programs and suggest ways the Commission might function in a prudent way for the first two years.

The program included discussion of human and civil rights in the fields of employment, education, public accommodations, housing, medical facilities, health and welfare services, recreation, community organizations, and related areas of human and civil rights.

The program ended with a suggestion from one of the participants that the group go formally on record in support of the Commission, and urge the General Assembly to make the Commission a permanent state agency, and appropriate it enough money for the next biennium to enable the Commission to satisfactorily perform the duties assigned to it by the General Assembly.

This suggestion was unanimously approved by all present.

7) Prepared a pamphlet on the work, functions and duties of the Commission--with suggestions on how all citizens might assist the Commission in its task. This pamphlet will be distributed to all the public schools, to members of the General Assembly, and to all interested persons and organizations, as soon as budgetary funds permit.

8) Is co-sponsoring a Human Relations Seminar (in conjunction with the Center For Human Relations, Warrensburg; the Central Missouri State College; and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith) this July 15, 16, and 17th. on the campus of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg.

9) Is preparing a Teaching Unit on Human Rights, in co-operation with the State Dept. of Education. This Unit will be distributed to all the senior public high schools this August, and is planned to integrate with existing social studies curriculum.

10) Answered approximately 100 requests from state agencies in and out of Missouri for information and materials on the Commission; and some 400 private organizations and individuals.

The Commission has mailed out some 2,500 letters of inquiry, information, and general communication since July 1, 1958.

11) Co-operated with a number of other organizations in Missouri to discourage discrimination, as directed by the Act bringing the Commission into being.

On several occasions the Commission has actively assisted local public and private organizations in eliminating or modifying existing discrimination.

12) Used TV, radio and the press to bring the work of the Commission to the attention of the people of Missouri.

13) Adopted a set of By-Laws, a Procedure for the Handling of Complaints, and a Statement of Philosophy.

14) Obtained three "advisory" letters of opinion from the Attorney General in regard to matters before the Commission, and established a close liaison with his office.

15) Adopted a proposal to promote the observance of December 10th. each year as HUMAN RIGHTS DAY--and have the Commission give support to said observance.
a) Endorsed the observance of Human Rights Week (Dec. 10-17) each year.
b) Endorsed the observance of Equal Opportunity Day, Nov. 19th. each year.
c) Endorsed the observance of Race Relations Day, Sunday, Feb. 8, 1959.

16) Received a Report from each of the eleven Commissioners on the human rights picture in each of their eleven Congressional Districts.

17) Instituted a Study of Migratory Labor and associated problems, to ascertain the Commission's area of responsibility in this regard.

18) Elected a slate of Officers (Vice-Chairman, Secretary-Treasurer) for the fiscal year July 1959-June 1960.

19) Instructed the Executive Director to print and distribute a bi-monthly NEWSLETTER throughout Missouri, as soon as budgetary funds permit.
Copies of this NEWSLETTER are to be sent to the Governor, members of the General Assembly, the twenty-five Civil Rights States, to the Secretary of the Governor's Conference on Civil Rights, the National Association of Inter-Group Relations Officials, and such other national organizations as request same.

20) Planned a schedule of future meetings for the Commission, which rotate the quarterly meetings among the eleven Congressional Districts.

21) Prepared a budget for the 1959-1961 Biennium.

22) Appeared before the Governor to present the biennium budget.
Appeared before the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on four occasions to submit the Emergency and biennium budgets.

23) Appeared before various House and Senate Committees in support of House Bills 62, 81, 123, 266, 273, and 502.

24) Staff and Commission members traveled some 20,000 miles on Commission business within the State (Installation, organizational meeting, three regular meetings, appearances before the Governor, House and Senate Committee hearings, appearances before other organizations, investigative work.)
Traveled 3,342 miles outside of the State on official business.

25) Through the co-operation of the Governor, opened an office in Room 102, State Capitol; furnished it from state surplus and performed the day-to-day operations of the Commission.
There is maintained in this office an Official Journal and Ledger, containing the financial records of the Commission, along with the Official Minutes Book, containing the proceedings of all meetings.

26) The Executive Director has been guest speaker at some 25 meetings of various organizations and groups, pertaining to the work, functions and duties of the Commission.
Each Commissioner, in his own District, has performed like duties.

27) The Executive Director has attended, by invitation, two National Conventions to represent the Commission, acting as Consultant on Employment on one occasion.

28) The Chairman, Father Trafford P. Maher,S.J., at the request of the Governor, attended the Governor's Conference on Civil Rights in Detroit, Michigan, January 30-31, 1959, as the personal representative of the Governor.
At this Conference, there were some 25 Governors or their personal representatives.

The Commission on Human Rights envisions a comprehensive program for the next two years, in the areas of employment, education, public accommodations, housing, medical facilities, recreation, community organizations and related fields of human and civil rights.

Our purpose embraces equal rights and opportunities for all Missouri citizens, irrespective of race, ethnic origin or nationality. However, the Commission has been specifically delegated to concern itself with discrimination against certain minorities, to foster mutual understanding and respect among all groups. The encouragement of fair treatment for all persons is our primary goal.

The Commission is essentially an educational commission, with no enforcement powers, no power to hold public hearings, no subpoena powers. The methods used are those of education, conciliation, mediation and moral persuasion to effect what changes are possible,

*** **** *** *** *** **** **** **** **** **** ***** *** ***** ***

October 4, 1962

Miss Pat Sheriff
Television Age
1270 Avenue of the Americas
New York 20, New York

Dear Pat:

I should have written to you earlier this week, but things have just been hectic. Now I am afraid you will be off to London before this can reach you. I signed for the bill at the hotel except for the tax and telephone calls which I paid for in cash; receipt is enclosed. This was very grand of you to arrange on short notice.

I was wearied and preoccupied when I saw you last week. I'll be better company another time. Peggy joins me in sending our best to you and your mother, and I hope you have a fine time in Europe.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar

LWD:a
Enclosure

January 2, 1964

file: "S" & Ipu Corresp.

Mr. Charles M. Sherrod
c/o The Albany Movement
5045 Madison Street
Albany, Georgia

Dear Charles:

I doubt that there is anything I can do, but give me a little more time and I'll be writing to you again.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

December 13, 1963
Albany, Georgia

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

It has been quite some time since I have seen you but I can still remember a tall gentleman. Let me congradulate you on the stand you took in Atlanta concerning future gatherings of the Southern Regional Council.

Now let me tell you of my troubles. I want desperately to return to school in (this typewriter doesn't have a bell) school in September of 1964. I want to enter Union Theological Seminary in New York, although I was refused entrance in 1961. If I remember correctly, there was some mention made of high standards and the numerous applicats of high academic achievement attempting matriculation. I maintained only a "C plus" at Virginia Union University School of Religion. It was here that I obtained the Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1961. I was leader in the movement then and working at a hospital from 11-7. I've had French in High School, two years of German in college, and two years of Greek in Seminary(two languages are required I believe), but the fact remains that I don't have the grades needed to get into the school of my choice.

I went to a conference in B lack Mountain this past week where I met Dr. John Oliver Nelson of Yale Divinity School. (he's leaving Yale this next year. He advised me to write the Rockefellow brothers Fund, the Danforth Foundation, and a Dr. Lawrence DeBoer. But, even if I got finances from these groups I would still have to get accepted into Union.

Finally, I talked also with Jim Laue and with the understanding that I wanted to go to Union for work on a Phd. in Social Ethics or Sociology and Religion or Religion and Society, knowing also of my problems, he advised me to plead my case to you. Well, this is it.

You may not know that my ambition is to teach in the Seminary(which, incidently will be the basis for the next stage of the Revolution). These days one must get that degree and of course one must also be prepared, unfortunately in that order. Please do what you can for me. I'll be willing to do anything-take subjects for no credit; enroll on a trial basis; take few subjects and stay longer-anything. I want to study under the best men in the country. All I want is a chance; I'm ready to study!

Your brother in the Lord,

Charles M. Sherrod

File "Sh" gen
Cr. ref.
Sec. gen re: "Shapiro Dissertation with parts being devoted to foundation support for SRC"

MS - file important talked on phone

385 EAST EIGHTEENTH STREET - BROOKLYN, N. Y. 11226

AREA CODE 212
BUCKMINSTER 4-7788

June 25, 1966

Dear Mr. Anthony:

I am a graduate student at Columbia University, preparing my Ph.D. dissertation in the Department of Public Law and Government, under the guidance of David B. Truman. The subject of my study is a relatively uncharted course of social science research -- the impact of national philanthropic foundation programs on public policy. I recently spoke with Leslie Dunbar and David Freeman about my project, and it is with their encouragment that I am writing to you.

If it is convenient for you and the research staff of the Council, I should like to focus part of my study on foundation-support for the SRC. Both Mr. Dunbar and Mr. Freeman suggested that I concentrate my research on the SRC as a governmental watchdog and critic and also as a reliable source of data on race relations in the South. Given the scope of the SRC's operations, I am not quite certain which specific aspects of the SRC's program would be the most fruitful focus for my attention. Two possible approaches that come to mind are:

1. History and analysis of reports critical of governmental programs, with particular attention to the 1961 and 1963 reports on the federal executive; governmental reaction to the reports; ways in which the SRC helped governmental agencies to implement the findings of the reports.

2. Analysis of the ways in which the SRC helped to implement the 1954 Supreme Court decision and subsequent federal civil rights legislation, including public education, providing reliable data to the federal governmental agencies, and mediating in southern communities. I would concentrate primarily on school desegregation, and, in this connection, Mr. Dunbar suggested that I might wish to examine the work of the SRC and Georgia Council in Atlanta, 1960-1961.

In addition to examining the specific work of the Council, I would like to read through the clip files and articles that the research division has collected on the work of the SRC. Also, Mr. Dunbar described the SRC as a training ground for individuals who assumed governmental positions, and it would be very useful if I could assemble examples of consultations of the SRC staff with agencies of the federal government and perhaps prepare a list of SRC personnel who have worked or are now working for the federal government. Finally, and this is fundamental to my research, I would want to describe the history of foundation support for the Southern Regional Council, with particular attention to the support after the terminal grant from the Fund for the Republic up-to but not including the recent Ford Foundation grant.

I spoke with Miss Bartley about the possibility of my visiting Atlanta. However, I realize that my request for data is still somewhat vague. Could you give me a call, collect, at (212) 284-7788 some time this week so that we could discuss the aspects of the Council's program which might be a fruitful focus for my study?

I am enclosing a personal resumé, which I thought might be of interest and am looking forward to hearing from you at your convenience.

Sincerely yours,

Marilyn Shapiro

Marilyn Shapiro

Mr. Paul Anthony
Executive Director
The Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street
Atlanta, Georgia

NAME: Marilyn Linda Shapiro DATE OF BIRTH: September 10, 1941

ADDRESS: 385 East 18 Street, Brooklyn, New York 11226 TELEPHONE: BU. 4-7787
BU. 4-7788

EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND

HIGH SCHOOL: Packer Collegiate Institute 1955-1958
170 Joralemon Street
Brooklyn, New York

COLLEGE: Wellesley College 1958-1962
Wellesley 81, Massachusetts B.A. June 1962

Major Subject: Political Science
Minor Subjects: History, Sociology, Music

GRADUATE SCHOOL: Columbia University September 1962--
New York, New York M.A. February 1964
M.A. essay advisor:
Vice President
Lawrence Chamberlain
Dissertation advisor:
Dean David B. Truman

Major Field: American Politics
Minor Fields: British Government and French Government

ACADEMIC HONORS

HIGH SCHOOL: Valedictorian (J.H.S.), graduated first in class, various character and scholarship awards

COLLEGE: Freshman Honors
Durant Scholar (awarded to students who attain over a B+ average)
Phi Beta Kappa (elected junior year)
Graduated with Special Honors in Political Science
Wellesley Collge Trustee Scholar 1962-63
Woodrow Wilson Fellow (Honorary) 1962-63
National Defense Education Act Fellow September 1962-June 1965

RELEVANT WORK EXPERIENCE

Summer 1961: Staff member, U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor (Frederick R. Blackwell, Chief Counsel, U.S. Senate, New Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.)

Summer 1962: Research Assistant, Brookings Institution New York Manpower Study (David T. Stanley, Brookings Institution, 1775 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.)

Summers '63 and '64: Research Assistant, Rockefeller Brothers Fund Special Studies Project (Miss Nancy Hanks, 1290 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10019)

Author: "Foundation Support for the Performing Arts," (107pp.) This paper was prepared for the 30-member Rockefeller Panel as background for its 18-month study of the performing arts. The study was based on interviews and correspondence with more than 70 foundation executives and representatives of performing arts organizations.

Bring up July 29

File - "Sh" gen.

~~Reto~~ Return to files mj

July 18, 1966

Miss Marilyn Shapiro
385 East 18th Street
Brooklyn, New York 11226

Dear Miss Shapiro:

The week of August 1 is fine with us, and we look forward to seeing you then.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

MARILYN L. SHAPIRO
385 EAST 18TH STREET
BROOKLYN, N. Y. 11226

AREA CODE 212
BUCKMINSTER 4-7788

(2)

July 13, 1966

Dear Mr. Anthony:

I am planning to arrive in Atlanta over the weekend of July thirty-first -- airplane machinists permitting, and I am looking forward to meeting with you on Monday, August first. I will assume that this will be convenient for you. If you prefer that I delay my trip a week or so, do not hesitate to let me know.

I appreciate your interest and your help.

Sincerely yours,

Marilyn Shapiro

Marilyn Shapiro

Mr. Paul Anthony
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303

Jim
-Sh" gm

MARILYN L. SHAPIRO
385 EAST 18TH STREET
BROOKLYN, N. Y. 11226

AREA CODE 212
BUCKMINSTER 4-7788

August 8, 1966

Dear Mildred:

Just a quick note to thank you so very much for being so helpful during my Atlanta visit -- particularly the Xerox duty which I know is a tedious business at best.

I hope that the final product justifies the kindness of the staff to me.

Sincerely,

Marilyn

Marilyn Shapiro

Mrs. Mildred Johnson
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

file
"Sh" gen.

August 10, 1966

Miss Marilyn Shapiro
385 East 18th Street
Brooklyn, New York 11226

Dear Marilyn:

I finally got around to xeroxing the whole mess and here it 'tis.

It was great getting to know you, and if we can be of any further assistance, please do let us know.

Come again when you can.

Sincerely,

Mildred M. Johnson
Secretary to the Director

MMJ
Enclosures

P. S. -- You're getting on the mailing list right away. In the meantime, I'm enclosing a recently done report on SRC program for the last six months, and a report to the Development Committee in April.

File "Sh" gen.

August 15, 1966

Miss Marilyn Shapiro
385 East 18th Street
Brooklyn, New York 11225

Dear Marilyn:

It was a real pleasure having you visit for a week, and I have complete confidence in the job you'll do. In fact, I really look forward to reading it.

If we can be of any further help, please let us know.

Undoubtedly, I will be on the money circuit come September or early October, and if so I will let you know when I'm coming to New York in case you have need for us to get together.

Best.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

385 EAST EIGHTEENTH STREET - BROOKLYN, N. Y. 11226

AREA CODE 212
BUCKMINSTER 4-7788

(2)

August 8, 1966

Dear Paul:

There is no doubt that your kindness to me in Atlanta will facilitate my coming up with a study that will be of some use to someone -- other than the dissertation secretary at Columbia University. I appreciate your letting me indulge in the Xerox machine which saved me many days work and also will guarantee more accurate research.

I particularly enjoyed our talk on Thursday. You and Paul Ylvisaker are two of the few people who really understand what I am up to. Because of your generosity with your time and the data available at SRC, I feel an increasing responsibility to come up with something creative, and I am looking forward to your reactions to the final product.

Sincerely,

Marilyn

Marilyn Shapiro

Mr. Paul Anthony
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

file "Sh" Gen

MARILYN L. SHAPIRO
385 EAST 18TH STREET
BROOKLYN, N. Y. 11226

AREA CODE 212
BUCKMINSTER 4-7788

August 19, 1966

Dear Mildred:

Again, thanks for your help.

I particularly enjoyed the SRC six-month report.

Sincerely,

Marilyn

Mrs. Mildred M. Johnson
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303

See "Sh" Gen.

December 28, 1966

Mr. Phil Sherburne
516 Green Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139

Dear Phil:

Thank you for your card and the information contained in it. I am delighted to know you are finally on your way to becoming a lawyer and I know you will make a great one. Just stay away from corporations!

Every good wish for the New Year.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/km

File
"Sh" "Gen"

Taylor. Female
C.W.R.
S.N.Y.

December 30, 1966

Miss Marilyn Shapiro
385 East 18th Street
Brooklyn, New York 11226

Dear Marilyn:

Thanks for the card and for the report on your life and times.

Do keep us informed on how your work is progressing.

Every good wish for the New Year.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

See
Pub. gen.
Cr. ref. gen.
JU gen.

April 3, 1967

Mr. Cliff Tuck
Shelby County Development Coordinator
Office of Shelby County Commissioners
Shelby County Courthouse
Memphis, Tennessee 38130

Dear Mr. Tuck:

While we will be happy to be of any possible assistance to you in the very important efforts to create and find funds for a Community Liaison Officer, I am doubtful if we can be of much help.

A somewhat similar situation was developed here in Atlanta with a one-year grant being given to the mayor's office from the Stern Family Fund, 21 East 40th Street, New York, New York 10016. I doubt seriously, however, that the Fund is prepared at this time to make a second grant. You might, however, write it to determine if there is any possibility of this. If you do so, please do not mention that I have suggested this, since foundations can become justifiably irritated at recipients who creat more work for them.

You might also write to Mr. John Feild, Director of the Community Relations Service, U. S. Conference of Mayors, 1707 "H" Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20006. Mr. Feild has a particular interest in this area, and has substantial contacts with foundations and other sources of private funds. I know he will be helpful if at all possible.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

JACK RAMSAY, CHAIRMAN
COMMISSIONER OF
PURCHASING AND FINANCE

JAMES W. MOORE, SECRETARY
COMMISSIONER OF
HEALTH AND INSTITUTIONS

LEE HYDEN
COMMISSIONER OF
ROADS, BRIDGES AND PENAL FARM

SHELBY COUNTY COURTHOUSE

OFFICE OF

SHELBY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

MEMPHIS, TENN. 38103

March 23, 1967

Mr. Paul Anthony
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsythe Street
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Anthony:

Mr. Washington Butler, Director of the War On Poverty for Memphis and Shelby County, Tennessee, has referred your name to me in connection with a possible establishment of an office under the direction of the Shelby County Commissioners for Community Liaison Officer.

It is the intention of the Shelby County Commissioners that we create a post tentatively to be called "Community Liaison Officer" for the following reasons:

1. To serve as liaison between various segments of this community, considered to be of an impoverished nature and a breeding place for possible inter-racial conflict.

2. To help in evaluating and developing the comprehensive program of applicant testing based on socio-economic conditions in the surrounding areas for Shelby County Government.

3. To develope through an analytical study a comprehensive program of on-the-job training for under-employed and chronic unemployed segments of this community as they relate to existing and future Shelby County employment needs.

Mr. Butler is of the opinion that your office may be able to afford counseling and information pertaining to the possibility of receiving financial assistance to help in the initial steps of this demonstration project.

OFFICE OF SHELBY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
MEMPHIS 3, TENNESSEE

Great progress has been made in Shelby County Government in the past several months. Much of this progress, unfortunately, has been very costly in terms of funds available and while we feel this pressing need for a Community Liaison Officer, we are handicapped because of the lack of finances available during the next fiscal year.

We will greatly appreciate any assistance your office may afford us through information pertaining to the availability of funds and the public or private foundations or institutions engaged in this activity.

Sincerely,

Cliff Tuck

Cliff Tuck
Shelby County Development Coordinator

CT/jb

Grace Methodist Church

THREE NOTCH-KRONER ROAD
MOBILE, ALABAMA 36619

JACK R. SHEARER, B.D.
Minister

CHURCH OFFICE: 661-4951

PARSONAGE: 661-3559

MRS. ROY HOWARD
SECRETARY
C. JACK STEVENS
CHURCH TREASURER
MRS. CARL WILLIAMS
FINANCIAL SECRETARY
MRS. J. W. RAWSON
CHOIR DIRECTOR

CLAUDE CURRY
CHRM. BD. OF TRUSTEES
HARDING COID
CHRM. OFFICIAL BOARD
WYMAN D. STEVENS
LAY LEADER
MRS. VIOLA WILLIAMS
PRESIDENT, W.S.C.S.
MRS. FLOYD TWILLEY
SEC., OFFICIAL BOARD

MARTIN BYARS
MEMBERSHIP AND EVANGELISM
MRS. JERRY DEAKLE
EDUCATION
FRANKLIN HOWELL
SUPT. CHURCH SCHOOL
MRS. PAUL HANNON
MISSIONS
LESTER TAYLOR
STEWARDSHIP AND FINANCE
MRS. CLAUDE CURRY
CHRISTIAN SOCIAL CONCERNS
MRS. ROY McCLELLAN
WORSHIP
MRS. ROY EVERETT
PARSONAGE COMMITTEE
FRED KRONER, SR.
BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS
MRS. DEAN MILES
PASTORAL RELATIONS

March 9, 1968

~~ES~~ MJ-/b

file "Sh" general

Mr. Paul Anthony and
Mr. Ed Stanfield
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Paul and Ed:

Please forgive this late thank-you note for your hospitality and assistance when I was in Atlanta. I appreciate your giving me so much of your time. I have not followed up on any of the government positions because I have had two other offers in field of counseling: one, an interdenominational position, and another, a comprehensive mental health center. The information and materials I got from you I passed on to some other ministers; so your assistance has benefited others besides me.

Things have been mighty hectic lately. I haven't seen Hollis since I got back but talked to him once over the phone and gave him your regards, Paul.

Please remember me to the Woods. Thank you again for your assistance.

Cordially,

Jack

Jack R. Shearer

JS/sj

April 1, 1970

Dr. Robert C. Shuman
Suite 7
Lewis Drive
Marietta, Georgia

Dear Dr. Shuman:

In response to your inquiry about Mr. Aubrey Williams, while I cannot be positive, I strongly suspect the confusion about Mr. Williams being associated with the Southern Regional Council comes from the fact that he was long associated with the Southern Conference on Human Welfare. Mr. Williams was a well known liberal who for a long number of years published a southern farm magazine in Montgomery, Alabama, and I believe at one point, served as President of the Southern Conference. I also seem to recall that he died several years ago having been largely inactive during the 60's because of poor health.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA:jb

TELEPHONE 422-4343 SUITE 7, LEWIS DR.

ROBT. C. SHUMAN, M. D.
SPECIALIZED IN ANESTHESIOLOGY
MARIETTA, GEORGIA

3/13/70

So. Reg. Council
Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Mr. Anthony,

In a recent radio interview you disowned completely a Mr. Aubrey Williams who was said to have been a part of the Southern Regional Council (and on its letterhead).

Who is this fellow? I vaguely recall some association with civil rights) Is he negro? Has he yet been found by you to have been a part of the So. Reg. C.?

Thank you for the information furnished regarding Mr. Manning Johnson.

Yours truly
Robt. C. Shuman

January 2, 1962

Miss Mina P. Shaughnessy
1 Gracie Terrace
New York 28, N.Y.

Dear Mina:

This will be a long, loose letter. I have felt recently as if the deadline I set for us is strangling me and the kind of preliminary work which I hoped to get done before you went to Washington is being badly neglected. We are, however, accumulating a great mass of stuff, which I shall work through as soon as I can. The principal value of your trip, however, is not to track down details, but to conduct some broad-gauge discussions. I have already written to Burke Marshall and John Feild that you are coming and I shall drop a note immediately to Harris Wofford. Perhaps it would be well for you to telephone or otherwise communicate with these people from New York to set up appointments. (Incidentally, please keep track of your expenses; would you want a travel advance?) In the paragraphs below I will list the people we would like for you to see, and run out the questions we would like to have you take up with them. I think it would be a good idea, after you have had a chance to mull this letter over, for you to call me -- collect. I think we will probably need a fairly leisurely talk so if when you call it's a bad time for me, I will tell the operator that we'll call you back. Also I sent you a carbon of a letter to Dan Pollitt which contained the request that Dan make himself available to you for advice if and when you need it. Dan, besides being a good friend, did the spade work for us last year on The Federal Executive and Civil Rights. Why don't you set up a lunch with him after you get to town.

I. If you can arrange it I wish you would see Harris Wofford first. Harris is the White House

Assistant on Civil Rights and so this is a logical place to start. These are the things we would principally like for you to discuss with him:

A. Many persons, including us, (see Recommendation 3 of The Federal Executive and Civil Rights) have thought the President should issue some sort of ringing public statement about the national problem of race relations. He has never done so. Does the President, as Wofford would interpret him, this this unnecessary, inadvisable? Does Harris think that the President by incidental paragraphs or sentences of other speeches, etc., has accomplished the same end? If so, ask him for citations.

Also, we and others have urged full and explicit endorsement not only of the Supreme Court decision, but of the values of school integration (see Recommendation 7.) What would Harris think on this point?

B. We, and many others, urge a continual use of persuasion by the national government with the political and business leaders of the South (see Recommendation 2, 7 and 18). A good bit of this has been done by officers of the Department of Justice. Would Wofford have opinions or evidence contrary to our impression that just about nobody in the Administration outside of the Justice Department has worked at this? What is his thinking on the question, which may be both a question of practicality and of propriety, of whether the law enforcing arm of the government is the appropriate instrument for persuasion, conciliation and even -- as it reportedly offered to supply in the Albany affair -- mediation.

C. What are the White House views and plans regarding issuance of a housing order banning discrimination? In regard to this question you should tell Harris to let us know clearly what he is saying for the record and what he wants off the record. I am enclosing a thermo of a little poop sheet from the National Committee against Discrimination in Housing, which may be helpful background for you.

D. Tell Harris how long you will be in town and where you will be staying, whom you are planning to see and ask him if there are other people he would like for you to see.

II. Burke Marshall, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division.

Most of Burke's activities we know about and they represent, as far as I am concerned, the high point of this Administration's record. As to Burke personally, I think he is the best thing to come along in this field in a long, long time. So this is our bias. There is really very little which I think we need for you to get from him.

A. Ask him for his evaluation of the results of the Department's many efforts in the field of persuasion. You might confront him with, as a lever for discussion, this question:

> The Sit-Ins of 1960 occurred during the Eisenhower Administration, which simply watched, if it did that. Nevertheless, in a great many cities of the South, the Sit-In lead to amicable breakthroughts. Does Marshall think this fact has any implications for the value of omnipresent Federal interest?

B. What is the situation re employment of Negroes in the FBI? As U.S. Attorneys, as U.S. Marshalls, in the Civil Rights Division? (See Recommendation 5.)

III. John Feild.

A. Can we get data on complaints more recent than that in the enclosed newsletter? Is there anything wrong with the complaint procedure? Or what is the explanation for only 121 out of 443, and only 70 out of 593 complaints having been disposed of?

B. See the paragraph in the newsletter caption "Making Headway". (This newsletter, incidentally, was received via U.S. mail on January 2 and is the latest). Get elaboration on the various points in that paragraph. What has been the role of the Committee and of Federal agencies?

C. What progress has been made in discussion with unions?

D. Has the Bureau of the Budget yet approved the Compliance Report Form? I think it has. Get a copy.

E. Ask John for his evaluation of the Plans for Progress program (tell John at this point that I would prefer he speak on the record.) This is the program headed by Robert Troutman of Atlanta which has secured the voluntary signing of agreements with about 20 of the super-big contractors. These agreements not only stipulate non-discrimination but commit the companies to take positive steps toward recruiting and training Negroes. If you will look into the Executive Order No. 10925, you will find that concerns which do this are exempted from some of the reporting burdens of that order.

F.1)Ask him generally about his evaluation of the effectiveness of the committee in the light of the following factors:

The absence of statutory authority --is he apprehensive about the effect of this on money for committee operations?

2) The effectiveness of policy making under supervision by a committee?

3) The value and administrative utility of the Atlanta office? Please tell him at this point that I would prefer he speak on the record only. The Atlanta office is Robert Troutman's now an official part of the committee's structure. The question is how this office, headed by a member of the committee himself, can make administrative sense.

G. What is Feild's evaluation of the effectiveness of the work done since the committee was established?

IV. HHFA. Ask Wofford whom you should ask to see there and , if possible, get him to help you set up' an appointment. Tell him that I wrote for information to Jack Conway and have gotten none. With whomever you talk you should, of course, discuss the question of issuance of a presidential order banning housing discrimination. I would like also for you to pose this question:

Does HHFa think it has done things this year to strengthen the housing position of Negroes? What?

V. Health, Education and Welfare. Again ask Harris whom you should see. Tell him that I wrote to James Quigley for information and have had no reply. With whomever you talk, please pose this general question:

> Does the Department have plans to make any contribution in the field of school desegregation? Has it done anything in this field? (See Recommendations 7,8,9). Also, see Recommendation 14 and get some discussion of it.

VI. Adam Yarmolinsky. He is Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense and I would hope he could be your appointment in the Defense Department. As a matter of protocol, however, you may have to see James Evans who is the Councilor on Minority Affairs, or some such thing, and if this is the way you are directed I suspect you had better go along, although if you can maneuver yourself into Yarmolinsky it would be much better.

There are two things which I would like to have you raise with the Defense Department. One is the question of Negroes in the National Guard (see Recommendation 13). The other is a qu4stion about schooling for children of military personnel. We are trying right now to get the facts from a number of southern military installations and until we do there is nothing for you to ask. I hope, however, to get these data to you in time.

Please call me.

Very truly yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:jl
enc.

December 11, 1961

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N.W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Leslie:

Sorry for the delay in answering your letter of December 1. I have been working my way out of some schedule complications that I did not foresee when I last wrote you. I think everything is clear now and I can plan to leave for Washington on the morning of the 9th, which will give me at least a day and a half before you arrive. I may have to fly back to New York for a few hours on the 15th. This, of course, I shall do at my own expense.

The assignment is an interesting one and the pay quite satisfactory. Thank you again for thinking of me.

I need as much background material as you can send me. I have had one foot in Elizabethan England for the past semester and feel somewhat out of touch with the Kennedy administration. So pour it on!

Sincerely yours,

Mina

Mina P. Shaughnessy

1 Gracie Terrace
New York 28, New York

Pending

December 1, 1961
Air Mail

Mrs. Mina Shaughnessy
#1 Gracie Terrace
New York, New York

Dear Mina:

I think our schedules can fit fine. Will $30.00 a day plus expenses be all right?

This is what we want to do: As I recall, you were kind enough to read the Federal Executive and Civil Rights. We intend to put out a report, along about next February first, on the record of the Administration during it's first year. We have a great mass of clippings, orders, etc., here which we are pulling together and which should be the basic raw material for our report. We have informed Harris Wofford, who is the White House advisor on civil rights, what we intend to do. We have written to someone in each agency and department, nominated by Harris, asking for any reports, etc., that they want to make available to us.

I am certain, however, that we shall need to do some face to face questioning in the nature of running down loose ends. In one field, I think we shall want to do some interviewing that will get us behind published or written documentation that may be made available to us; this is the field of the President's Employment Committee. In, perhaps, some instances we shall want to do some interviewing to get statements, such as in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, as to why an agency or department has done nothing. It is all this which I thought we might persuade you to do for us.

We would do the writing here.

I think this would probably not require two week's time but it is good to know that you might have that much time available. What we can do, is to send you all the notes you may need, suggestions as to people for you to see, and then turn you loose with our questions.

Jim Moss and I are expecting to be in Washington January 11-12. If you could get started on January 8 or 9, you would have a couple of days to work before we came up and we could touch base then. How does this sound?

Give my regards to Don.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:mbb

Nov. 20, 1961
Air Mail

Dear Leslie:

Thanks you for your note. I'm interested in the assignment. The only problem is the time. Does "night after New Year" mean January 2? Or could it be a week or so later?

I'm teaching at Hunter College this semester and my last class meets on January 8. Following that, I would be free for at least two weeks. Before that, I might be able to get away from Jan. 2 through 5, but it would be a squeeze.

Don joins me in sending best regards –

Mina Shaughnessy

January 18, 1962

Dear Leslie:

I enclose the following:

1. Report on Interviews plus illustrative material

2. Material from SRC files

A few remarks about the interviews themselves:

1. I picked up numbers whenever they were dropped, but only to give you a rough idea of the scope of some project or problem. The statistics, in other words, are unverified and full of gaps.

2. I occasionally quote someone directly. When I do, I am quoting from a verbatim note taken during the interview. However, I should feel rather sneaky if any of this were used as direct quotation, since the person being interviewed did not know I was taking close notes.

3. Wofford recommended that I see Conway (HHFA), Quigley (HEW), Fox(State), Wallace (Treasury), Clinchy (Civil Service), and Bookbinder (Commerce). Clinchy was away so I spoke with Wolk in his stead. I didn't get to Bookbinder or his agency, but I understand he got to you via mail. Hopefully, then, you have what you need from him.

I was not able to get anything on the FBI. I checked back with Dan Pollitt on this and he suggested your writing to Walter Lewis at the Urban League in Washington, D.C.

You should by now have material from HHFA, HEW, and the State Dept. And Field's office agreed to send you more recent complaint statistics.

May I also remind you of Yarmolinsky's remark that someone should make out complaints about the discriminatory conditions described in the SRC Memo of Jan. 8, 1962 (enclosed) so that they could be investigated.

I think that takes care of all the loose ends. I am sorry to burden you with more material. Only a small part of it, I fear, will be of use to you.

My over-all impression: All the agencies I visited are, in Fox's words, "tooling up." They - or at least the presidential appointees - are eager to do a good job. They're the "good guys," as Harold Flemming would say. But I wonder if the machinery they are fashioning isn't already antiquated, like the early automobiles that looked very much like horse-drawn carriages. The nation, it seems to me, needs more speed and more power than this machinery can generate. But then, I'm a bad politician and a relative stranger to this field. I shall be most interested in your judgment on the matter.

I continue to be grateful to you for having thought of me for this assignment.

Sincerely,

Max

Interviews

John Field (President's Committee 1

Dan Pollitt (NLRB) 8

Bill Taylor (Civil Rights Comm.) 9

Harris Wofford 10

Adam Yarmolinsky (Defense) 12

Samuel Wolk (Civil Service) 15

Burke Marshall (Justice) 18

Bob Wallace (Treasury) 20

for State 22

Don Slaiman (AFL-CIO) 25

Jack Conway (HHFA) 28

James Quigley (HEW) 29

John G. Field
President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity

January 9, 1962

Negro staff members on President's Committee

You asked Field by letter about this. His answer:

	White	Negro	Oriental	Total
Clerical...	14	14	—	28
Prof.....	15	6	1	22
	29	20	1	50

Negro employment among contractors

Not known. Information probably available in a year.

Complaint procedure

The Committee has no active program of soliciting complaints. Individuals hear about the channel through "various organizations" and send in their complaints. Most complaints are filed directly with the Committee; government agencies send to the Committee copies of complaints they receive first.

Section 60-1.23 of the Committee's Rules and Regulations for government contract employment (see Append. 1, p. 10) states that employees of government contractors who are making complaints must supply the name of the contractor or subcontractor, a description of the discriminatory act, and "any other pertinent information which will assist in the investigation and resolution of the complaint."

At this point the complaint procedure seems to bog down. ~~The~~

The complainants themselves seldom give enough information to get the investigation under way and the Committee is stuck with the job of determining whether the offending company has a government contract and, if so, which agency is involved. Generally more than one agency has contracts with the company and it then becomes necessary to determine which of these agencies has "administrative cognizance" (administrative responsibility for procurement). This, says Field, can take from a week to a month. (Companies can usually identify the agencies with whom they have contracts, but they do not often k now about administrative cognizance.)

Next, the agency assigns the complaint to the appropriate unit, which in turn assigns someone to investigate in the local plant. The investigation is reported to the Committee after it has been reviewed by the agency, and the Committee is then free to conduct further investigations if it is dissatisfied with the agency report. Over half the complaints investigated by the agencies have been re-investigated by the Committee (usually because the agency investigation seems to be a white-wash).

Field agrees that the present method of processing complaints is inadequate. On the average, he said, a man would probably not get action on a complaint for about 3 months. (After making this estimate, Field backed down a bit - said there were exceptions, etc. I'm certain he wouldn't want to be quoted on it.) The process, however, will soon be improved, he feels, by:

1. The completion of a master list of prime contractors doing over $50,000 business with the government. This list, which will include about 6,000 companies, should be completed within a month.

2. The assignment of administrative cognizance to all administrative agencies doing business with these prime contractors. (Does he mean there will be a list of those having administrative cognizance or that cognizance will be assigned? My notes are not clear on this.)

3. Compilation of a list of first-tier subcontractors. This list, which will include 40,000 to 50,000 companies, should be completed in three months.

4. The addition of specialists to agency staffs. This has already begun. Six specialists have been added to Defense, GSA has a couple, Employment Service will have four soon, as will the Bureau of Apprenticeships and Training.

We did not discuss the complaint procedure for federal employees. The NLRB Manual Letter (Append. 2, paragraph 4362) describes what is probably the standard procedure in most agencies.

Complaint data

You asked for more recent complaint data of the sort given in the Sept.-Oct. Newsletter 3. I did not get this from Field, but a Mr. Williams in the Committee office agreed to send you the information this week. Field did mention that the Committee has received in 9 months (April 6 -Jan. 5) about half as many complaints (605) as the Nixon Committee received in eight years (1,042).

Progress with companies

You asked for an expansion of the "Making Headway" paragraph in Newsletter 3, but Field seemed reluctant to discuss the details of these "quiet" changes. He said the Committee had been largely responsible for the changes. He mentioned the textile industry as being the most difficult to persuade. In fact, half the industry, he says, has stopped doing business with the government. By exempting plants with less than 50 employees from compliance obligations, the Committee has been able to buy a little "political time," he said, in which to persuade the textile industry to change its policies. (According to Field, many southern textile plants have under 50 employees.) *

Slaiman (p. 26) says that the textile company in South Carolina referred to in the newsletter was the Manhattan Shirt Company, and the "vulnerability" which made them come around consisted of a 2 million dollar market in Harlem.

Progress with unions

Industrial unions, Field says, have given no real problems as yet, but the craft unions have. Asked what the Committee can do about unions that refuse to comply, Field said not much. They could try to get an injunction, but no decision has been made on this as yet. He mentioned a special program in apprenticeships at the local, joint-

---

*Off the record. I have not found any statement in the Rules or Regulations that mentions exemption on the basis of number of employees. Perhaps this is a recent - or unwritten - accommodation.

apprenticeship level.

Plans for Progress

I found Field's description of the beginning of Plans for Progress somewhat bland. He said that the earlier Government Contract Committee had "not been as demanding" as the new Committee and that Lockheed had taken on the contract last spring under the impression that it was already meeting the anti-discrimination provisions of the federal contract. When it was pointed out to them that they were not, they instituted changes in their policy. This, of course, led to the idea of approaching other large contractors. By the end of this month the fifty largest defense contractors will have signed Plans for Progress.

The compliance report form which you requested has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget but is not yet available. I attach (Append. 3) a copy of the self-analysis questionnaire given to contractors - a device, I gather, for getting the company's measurements for a custom job on its employment policy.

On the question of policy making under supervision by a committee, Field says there is no problem. So far the Committee has not been concerned with "broader issues" but rather with questions of this order: who should fill out compliance reports, should there be separate reporting for construction industries, etc. The Committee agrees that it must concentrate on affecting policy rather than processing ~~pk~~ complaints. So far it has stressed compliance reporting; later it hopes to do more in education.

So far, no contracts have been withdrawn. Several companies have been told to change their practices and they have complied (no names given). (Note: Slaiman contradicts this in his remark about Southern Bell Telephone.) No company has received a Certificate of Merit and I got the impression from Field that few will. He feels, however, that the idea is sound - i.e., a company that fulfills the provisions deserves to get out of the onerous form-filling. Complaints would of course be investigated.

The Atlanta office, says Field, is purely a service office, a "convenience for a member of a sub-committee." And, he added somewhat hesitantly, it may not be there much longer.

His general comment on the effectiveness of the Committee: It is off to a very good beginning. Programs not solely dependent upon complaints are already under way and will ultimately embrace some 20 million private workers and 2,100,000 government workers. A federal employee survey has been completed and a progress survey is now under way. Agency support has been most encouraging. "We are doing things that have never been done before, things that will show an impact in the coming year."

He favors statutory authority but says the Committee is not in agreement. He would not say that he was "apprehensive"about the lack of this authority but only that the Committee would be on firmer ground.

You may be interested in pursuing the information mentioned in the two clippings below:

Dan Pollitt, NLRB
January 10, 1962

Pollitt checked with the personnel man at NLRB about their employment policy. Not much information - no data on racial distribution of employees.

The NLRB can do little, he says, to influence union policy. In cases where employers use anti-racial propaganda to discourage employees from joining unions, the NLRB has so far taken the position that it can do nothing that will interfere with freedom of speech (he referred particularly to the publication "Militant Truth").

Pollitt criticized the administration for its failure, as yet, to develop any "institutional policy" on civil rights. He recognizes the effectiveness of behind-the-scenes diplomacy - the quick trips, the crisis phone calls, the conciliatory talks - but he feels that the nation itself has been left in the dark about the way the administration intends to deal institutionally with the problem of racial injustice.

Bill Taylor, Civil Rights Commission (Admin. Asst. to Exec. Director)
January 10, 1962

Taylor commented generally on the Administration's achievements so far. He praised the work of the Civil Rights Subcabinet Group (of which, of course, he is a member). The Committee begins, he says, with a better order and a mandate for an affirmative program (Plans for Progress). It needs, however, statutory authority and will doubtless not get it.

He expects the census study to reveal substantial improvement in the number of Negro employees in Grades 12 and above.

He considers the most outstanding achievement so far to be the imaginative use of the law (he mentioned Louisiana, the litigation growing out of the Freedom Riders, the suits in Montgomery, etc.) But he believes the Attorney General should move one step further and initiate action where there is no statutory backing. On the whole matter of desegregation, he praised the administration for its skill in averting crises like Little Rock but criticized it for not stepping in before an order or crisis and for making too few attempts to accelerate the whole process of desegregation.

Harris Wofford

January 10, 1962

Presidential statement on race relations

Wofford agreed, privately, that "we" (he avoided saying the President) have not made full use of "our" moral influence. There should have been some sort of "ringing public statement" in Wofford's judgment, but the President has not deemed the time ripe. "The occasion didn't arise," said Wofford. The problem with ringing statements, he added, is that you can only make them a few times. The President has chosen to encourage a "process of acceptance" and withhold the weapon of direct appeal to the people until it is more urgently needed.

He also suggested offhandedly that perhaps the President does not want to enter the arena while the Attorney General is so vigorously engaged there, lest the whole civil rights problem appear to be something the Kennedy brothers are pushing on their own.

Persuasion in the South

Wofford agrees with you that almost all the persuading has been done by the Department of Justice, although he mentioned in passing the work of the HHFA in trying to support integrated housing projects and of the Labor Department in trying to improve employment policies (I don't know if he referred here to the work of the President's Committee or to something the Labor Department is doing independently of the Committee.)

As to the propriety of the justice-persuader combination, he has no qualms. Practically, it makes a good combination. Considering the circumstances, it is probably best that persuasion go hand-in-hand with powerful sanction. Even without these special circumstances, however, the lawyer is not solely a litigation man. He should not be involved in persecution only but also in persuasion and conciliation.

Housing Order Ban

Industry opposition is mild, he said. The major reason is probably the "precarious" congress. Wofford feels, off the record, that the order should have been signed, but he adds, "I trust the President's political timing more than my own. I've been wrong before."

Subcabinet group on civil rights

Wofford spoke highly of this group. Every member is genuinely concerned, he feels, and the meetings have been fruitful. He mentioned Conway (HHFA) and Bookbinder (Commerce) as being particularly "lively" members.

President's Committee and statutory authority

Wofford doesn't consider it worth the struggle. He further questions whether the annual appropriation from Congress would provide as much as the Committee now gets through the agencies.

Adam Yarmolinsky, Department of Defense

January 10, 1962

Defense Department and President's Committee

I asked what changes have taken place since the formation of the Committee. As for employment within the Department, there is the recent directive assuring equal employment opportunities within the Department:

NEW YORK TIMES, SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1962.

PENTAGON WIDENS ITS JOB BIAS BAN

2 Million Workers Affected by Directive on Equality

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 — The Defense Department issued a directive today to assure employment opportunities within the department and among defense contractors without discrimination as to race, creed, color or national origin.

The Pentagon said that the directive "strengthened" existing policies covering 1,000,000 civilian employes of the department and 1,000,000 employes of military contractors.

The new directive specifies that qualified persons seeking employment or already employed by the Defense Department or its contractors would have equal opportunities for jobs, promotion and training programs.

In addition, the directive stresses "positive steps" that should be undertaken by the service secretaries and other defense officials to assure that employes and applicants for employment are aware of their rights. It aims also "to eliminate any barriers to achieving full equality of opportunity."

A Defense Department spokesman said that the new directive was drafted with the assistance of the Department of Labor and other interested Government agencies.

He said its provisions were intended to emphasize "positive steps" to implement within the Defense Department the rules and regulations of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. The committee is headed by Vice President Johnson.

Adam Yarmolinsky, special assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, was designated as the official liaison with the President's committee. His office will be responsible for coordinating the activities of all Department of Defense employment policy and contract compliance officers.

Today's directive contains extensive details on how persons who consider themselves aggrieved may complain and appeal any instances of discrimination.

The directive also stresses that full publicity should be given to the antidiscrimination policies to apprise defense employes and employes of contractors of their rights.

There have been no staff additions to investigate complaints within the department. Specialists are being added to the staffs of line officers (civilian and military) responsible for government contracts. The Air Force is putting 9 inter-group-relations specialists on its procurement staff "to make equal employment a matter of routine." The other services are about three months behind - a part of the plan.

Academy cadets

"Extraordinary efforts" are being made, says Yarmolinsky, to get Negro boys into the academies. James Evans of the Defense Department is responsible for this program, which I gather consists largely of touring colleges to find likely applicants. Yarmolinsky had no report on the number of Negroes enrolled in the service academies, but Evans may be able to give you some help on this.

ROTC

"We could insist on desegregated units," said Yarmolinsky, "but the schools would simply withdraw the units." And this leads to the problem of priority - whether it is more important for the Defense Department to build and maintain a national defense system or to assume responsibility for the social condition of the nation. On this issue, the Defense Department has no real uncertainty.

National Guard

National Guard units remain segregated and Yarmolinsky does not see how desegregation can be achieved without losing the units. When the two divisions (Texas and Wisconsin) were called up during the Berlin crisis, however, less-than-strength units were brought up to strength with fillers off the IBM machine.

"They are working on the organized reserve," said Yarmolinsky, "but not very hard."

Schooling for children of military personnel

The Department is now making a study of the allocation of quarters on military bases in response to complaints that Negro families have been moved off-base just before their children reach school age. So far, he says, the investigation shows the complaints to be groundless. The allocation of quarters is based on seniority.

As for off-base problems, "Defense and HEW have not taken the position that impacted-area support is denied if a school is segregated." The Defense Department is, however, on the verge (next week or two) of appointing an outside commission of private persons to review the progress of integration, particularly in off-base situations. (I'm sorry I didn't get the names of some of these people - he did mention that they had served on the "original commission." I failed to ask which original commission, but perhaps you know.)

I asked who would normally investigate a complaint about military-base discrimination and Yarmolinsky said it would fall on some officer's shoulders at the base. There is no staff person assigned specifically to such investigations. And, he added, there are not many complaints.

I brought up each case of alleged discrimination listed in the SRC Memo of January 8, 1962 (enclosed) and Yarmolinsky said he knew nothing about them but that it someone would submit them as complaints, they would be investigated.

Samuel N. Wolk, Director, College Relations and Recruitment, U.S. Civil Service
January 11, 1962

Ross Clinchy, the man whom Wofford suggested I see in this office, was out of town. As you probably know, he has been recently assigned to this post and has special responsibility for expanding the recruitment program so as to include more Negro applicants and reviewing the testing methods so as to make certain that potentially qualified applicants are not being overlooked.

Wolk began by saying that the federal government has, for a long time, been involved in the attempt to expand employment opportunities for women, the physically handicapped, and minority groups. Under this administration there is more money, more staff, and more backing from the President than in recent years and he expects more to be accomplished in minority-group employment.

One of the biggest problems is alerting the Negro community to opportunities in federal service. It is only within the last two years or so that any attempt has been made, for example, to recruit applicants from the predominantly Negro colleges. (hereafter referred to as "Negro colleges" - too much trouble the other way). The number of students taking and passing the exam has increased, but the record is still bad. About 4% of the applicants from the Negro colleges of the eighth region (Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana) passed the exam in 1960. In 1961, 9 to 12% passed, meaning evidently that more capable students were applying. (Regional average - 27 to 28%; National average - 35 to 40%)

I asked him to describe the working of the merit system. First, he said, the college senior fills out a card indicating where he wants to take the test (120 questions, machine-scored). He is assigned a time and takes the test (Append. 4 is a sample). Within the last year, buildings where tests are given have been desegregated. If he passes the test, he next fills out an application giving information on his experience, education, etc. The application is rated and, with the test, transmuted into a numerical score. Any applicant whose score falls within 70 to 100 is added to a Register according to his score. When an agency comes to the Service with a requisition, three names are chosen for the vacancy and submitted to the selecting officer (this "rule of three" comes out of the Veterans Preference Act of 1944 which provides that a non-veteran with a lower or equal score cannot be chosen for an opening in preference to a veteran). This means, of course, that a regional officer can often exercise prejudice in his hiring of a civil servant.

The Washington office can control the staffing of regional offices - it could, for example, send a Negro officer to Atlanta. "But this creates many problems," said Mr. Wolk. Within the last year, government-owned buildings have been required to offer single facilities; where government offices are in non-government buildings, double facilities are still in use - in some places. (No places given.)

Traditionally, Negroes have been employed in crafts and custodians, or the postal branches of the government. Within the last three or four years, they have begun moving into higher-grade positions. The increase, however, has not been substantial. "There have been no significant changes in the South." HHFA has taken the lead in this area, Wolk says, by adding a few Negroes to its Atlanta office. He mentioned in closing the problem of promotion from within and the number of individuals who are trapped within the promotion system.

Burke Marshall, Department of Justice

January 12, 1962

Results in the field of persua sion

"I think I might say that our efforts did some good, that we have made some headway." H spoke of the impact their efforts have had on local authorities, who now seem "a little more ready to meet their responsibilities."

He is not bothered by the "mediation - law enforcement" combination. In some cases, he added, where there are no federal policemen, it is mediation. Then he wondered in passing if that were the right word.

Employment within Department

The statistics from the March census (for the entire government) are, he understands, "just terrible." The Justice Department had no reputation for hiring Negroes - there were 10 Negro lawyers in the Department when R. Kennedy came in. He has hired 40 (see Append. 5, Attorney General's Report; also Append. 6 for names of outstanding Negroes appointed to policy-making jobs in all agencies). The Attorney General has also been trying to recruit Negro secretaries.

FBI

No information. It operates as a separate unit pretty much, he said. (Append. 6 lists one man, William E. Fowler, in the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Justice Department. That's all I could find.)

Attorneys, etc.

Two U.S. Attorneys
U.S. Asst. Attorneys - one in Nashville, one in Huston, will be one in Memphis and probably one in N. Carolina.

In some states - South Carolina to Louisiana - it just doesn't seem possible yet. "We will be able to break through some time. The Attorney General has made a great effort."

Marshalls - there will be Negro deputy marshalls in even more difficult places.

Bob Wallace, Employment Policy Officer, Treasury Department

January 12, 1962

Coast Guard

Wallace told the story about the inauguration parade and the President's query about Negroes in the academy. The Coast Guard Academy, it was discovered, had never had a Negro student, although it "had no policy of discrimination." Appointments are strictly and highly competitive - about 42,000 took exams last year. From the top 800, automatic appointments were given to 120. An additional 150 were appointed on the basis of interviews, etc.

Exams are given in mid-February, so it was too late to do any recruitment of Negro applicants for 1961. During the past year, however, the Coast Guard and Treasury officials have had conferences with college leaders, members of Urban League, and other groups in order to broaden the recruitment program and make certain that Negroes of ability apply. There may not be a greater number of applicants this year, says Wallace, but hopefully they will be of a higher calibre.

During the year a Negro chemistry teacher (Howard) was added to the Academy's staff, breaking the color-line there.

Within the Treasury Department Wallace estimates an increase of about 20% in the past year of Negro employees from GS 5 and above. The Office of the Secretary had no Negroes except janitors. They have added eight - four on a professional and four on a secretarial level. The big problem is finding qualified people. For example, a person can be hired in Internal Revenue with 24 hours of college accounting - no exam - but it is difficult to find a Negro applicant with this much accounting (most Negro colleges, for example, do not offer this much accounting).

New Orleans now has Negro internal revenue agents for the first time. Six automatic data processing computors (people, not machines!) have been added to the Atlanta service center. A Negro collector of customs has been appointed to the Virgin Islands and Illinois has a director of saving bonds whose area is not confined to Negro communities. Two Negroes are now on the White House police - none before.

I asked how he is able to keep in touch with the regional offices and he said that the regional meetings of the President's Committee are "a waste of time" but they do give him a chance to keep on the heels of his regional directors. He finds that the Executive Order has given him great leverage in getting his people to cooperate.

Wallace seems to know and care about what is happening in his Department. A full-time Deputy Employment Policy officer has also been added to Internal Revenue.

Dick Fox, Special Asst. to Deputy Asst. Secretary, State Department

January 12, 1962

By now you should have received material from the State Department. They were waiting for clearance on a few items.

Fox, a Negro, has the operational responsibility for the Department's employment program.

The State Department has dual career services - foreign and civil - and the low Negro representation is primarily in the Foreign Service (see Append. 7, pp. 37-38 for statistics from February census). The solution seems to lie in finding top Negro students, informing them of the opportunities in the State Department, and, in the process, changing their image of the Department as a place where Negroes don't go far.

The career-service exam is difficult - 5½ hours on English expression, general ability, general background. (Designed by Educational Testing Service and on a level with the Graduate Record Exam.) The Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues (Otto Kleinberg) is now in the process of meeting with people in the State Department to determine whether a bias factor is present in the examination and whether the examination can be improved (see also Kenneth Clark's remarks on testing in Append. 7, pp. 25-26).

In order to find good Negro applicants, the Department is now carrying its college program to the Negro colleges. In the past, about 30 to 40 foreign service officers have gone each year to about 285 colleges to recruit. In 1958, seven Negro schools were included. Seventeen in 1960. Twenty-six in 1961. This is no real solution, however, since the scores of the students in these colleges is, so far, very poor.

1959 - Of the 59 candidates from the Negro colleges, all flunked

1960 - All 44 candidates flunked

1961 - Six passed written exam; of these 3 were eliminated subsequently because the examining panel felt they were not sufficiently mature. Of the remaining 3, one will be the first Negro female foreign officer. The second is now in training. The third has not been acted upon yet. (Unfortunately, I didn't get the total number who took the 1961 exam. Perhaps Fox has included it in the material he sent you.)

The race of an applicant is not recorded so it is difficult to get any statistics on national Negro participation in the examination. A head count at the sites of the December 1961 exams gave 119 (a net increase of 10 over last year). Participation, even in areas with heavy Negro population, was light (Chicago - 7; Detroit - 3; Cincinnati - 2). The Department is adding Negroes to its examining panel.

This spring the Department plans to call in representatives from the big 10 colleges to ask for help in recruitment.

Fox is sending material on Foreign Service Officers - how many there are and where they are. He said that Spain, France, and Monrovia were the main foreign office posts for Negroes in the past.

Evaluation

Four people from the August conference on equal employment opportunity are coming in soon to evaluate the work done in the past six months. Fox says they have done three things: defined the nature and scope of the problem; developed the beginnings of a methodology; and made institutional contacts. They have "tooled up," in other words.

I asked about intra-departmental resistance. All the presidential appointees, he says, are behind the program. Whatever "negative attitudes" existed in the past are being nullified by this shift in the administration.

Don Slaiman, AFL-CIO

January 12, 1962

Slaiman strongly recommended that you write Ray Marshall of Louisiana State for a copy of a speech he recently gave for the Industrial Relations Research Association (Sterling Hall, Madison, Wisc.). He considers it the best thing that has been written on labor unions and civil rights - best in that it cuts out the ballyhoo and gets down to an analysis of the varying ideologies and structures of the unions.

In general, Slaiman says, both industry and unions have blinded their eyes to non-union competition where it is peripheral. So far, he says, the only way to get around this has been through some complaint procedure. And yet in the twenty states with FEP, he would be surprised if there are more than twenty cases in a decade. And yet, he added, complaints are important. In both the industrial and craft unions the biggest barrier is the first person who comes in. There are a few with show pieces, but for the most part fear and resistance tend to disappear after a breakthrough.

He discussed at some length the recent accomplishment of the California State Department of Industrial Relations in getting a non-discrimination rule into its Apprenticeship code (see Append. 8).

President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity

I asked what power the Committee has over a balky union. It can 1) contact the AFL-CIO, 2) publicize the offense, 3) recommend further legislation (a real threat, says Slaiman). He mentioned the non-discrimination clause written into the apprenticeship regulations of the IBEW, Bricklayers, and Contractors (see Committee Newsletter 3, Append. 9).

What, I asked, happens to that clause in Birmingham? Somebody, he said, can file a complaint. The industrial unions are more centralized and are thus in a better position to influence local policy. In the Harvester plant in Memphis, for example, the UAW put a trustee over the local until its union hall was desegrated. But if the international hadn't had control of the contract, nothing could have been done.

He discussed the Manhattan Shirt Company case in S. Carolina. The NAACP filed a complaint and the President's Committee met with the company. The company, says Slaiman, finally went to the state and asked if the law prohibiting desegregation would be enforced. If so, they would move the company. The state decided not to enforce the law. Slaiman says that one of the company men told Field that they weren't going to risk losing a 2 million dollar market for shirts in Harlem.

As for the Textile Workers' Union, it is desegrated, but weak and attached to a declining industry. Companies have been quite effective in using the race issue to prevent organization.

What, I asked, about the limitations of the President's Committee. First, he said, it has no legal standing and it has budget pressures. Second, it has power only over government contracts and is thus not industry-wide. Third, the power to cancel contracts is not enough. In many cases where large contracts in heavy industries are involved, he said, it would not be easy for the government to cancel - there are not many places to turn. Or in some cases a company can simply say, "O.k., we don't want your contract," as, he says, Southern Bell Telephone recently did.

A Federal FEP law, he concluded, could do more with a little Cease and Desist Order than the Committee can with its power of contract cancellation.

Jack Conway, Housing and Home Finance

January 12, 1962

They are sending you material on 1) contract compliance and 2) agency employment.

The department was adjusted internally to the possibility of an executive order, he said, and in fact they wish it had come even before they began. (He would not venture an explanation of why the President did not sign the order.) Now they are in the awkward position ot having to administer agency programs according to commitments ~~ade~~ made in the past while at the same time trying to bring about changes more in line with the executive order or legislation that is expected for the future. On the whole, he says, they have been responding to complaints rather than changing things. They have made some improvements in relocation housing; they have "strengthened" the Voluntary Home Mortgage and Credit Program; and they have been pursuing FHA complaints.

Within the department, they have had some success in getting Negroes appointed to regional offices - particularly in Atlanta. Eight Negroes, for example, have been added to the "Fanny May" office in the last six months. (He said he would include material on this in his report to you.) Regional appointments are made locally through Civil Service, and HHFA's success in getting Negroes placed there has been of interest to the Civil Service and other agencies.

James Quigley, Asst. Secretary, Health Education, and Welfare

Lisle C. Carter, Deputy Asst. Secretary

January 12, 1962

They are also sending material.

This was an interesting interview. As you remember, it was only with Burke Marshall's help that I was able to get in to see Quigley. At the outself both Quigley and Carter were jocular and uneasy. They apologized for not answering your letter and fumbled for an explanation.

Then we got on to the questions. First, I asked about the Hill-Burton hospitals. The Department has two types of hospitals, said Quigley, the Public Health Service Hospitals (in port cities), which have long been integrated - staff and patients - even in the South, and the Hill-Burton hospitals, which are a real problem. There are about 4,000 or more of these hospitals and less than 100 have taken advantage of the "equal facilities" clause of the act. "We've had a lot of discussion about this in the last nine months," said Quigley. "We recognize the problem."

For a hospital to qualify, it must assure the state administration that it will not discriminate in the admission of patients. They get the money, build the hospital, admit patients, and discriminate inside the front door. So far, he added, the Department has not taken the position that it can interfere with the internal operations of the hospitals. I asked if there has been any discussion about testing the Hill-Burton Act. Quigley hesitated and then laughed, "Well yes, there has been a lot of talk. We don't know what we're doing in this area right now. Let's say we're aware of the problem. That's all."

Pre-desegregation counseling in schools

Are they planning any? No definite plans. Under study. We may have a responsibility we should face here. It's in the exploration stage.

Grants-in-aid

Again, they are aware of the problem, Quigley said. They have had resistance among educators who are taking the line that you don't train people for jobs that don't exist. "But we are trying to set up a program where we can make sure that, regardless of tradition, a Negro student can study what he wants."

At this point Quigley laughed uncomfortably and said, "If you came in with the impression that we are a couple of white supremacists you would be right, judging from what we've said so far!" Mr. Carter, a very dark Negro, nodded sympathetically.

The problem, Quigley went on to explain, is that they have had to move so cautiously that what little progress they have made cannot be publicized. The one real achievement so far, he said, they are not at liberty to announce. It involves the Language Institutes for teachers provided for under the National Defense Education Act. With White House help they have been able to get an anti-discrimination clause in. A few schools have dropped out, but otherwise nothing has happened. It was all done quietly and the White House has not chosen to announce it as yet.

The only other real achievement, said Quigley, was getting Carter on the staff. "We're trying," said Quigley. "I don't think the White House thought so at first, but they do now."

I asked what the forces were within the Department that make it so difficult to move ahead. First, he answered, there is a built-in timidity about seeming to push federal control. The department is so sensitive about seeming to "pry" or "interfere" he said that they have never instituted good follow-up procedures in situations where they are perfectly justified in doing so. Secondly, the Department is full of M.D.'s and teachers, both of whom have given a strong conservative stamp to the department. I asked if there were any Negro doctors in the department. "We are told there are some," said Quigley, "but I've never seen any."

Promotion from within the department is very difficult and slow. It would have been impossible, Quigley thought, to get a man like Carter into his present position through promotion.

I came away with the impression of two well-meaning, nervous men astride Tyrannosaurus Rex.

#

January 26, 1962

Mrs. Mina P. Shaughnessy
1 Gracie Terrace
New York 28, New York

Dear Mina:

Your reports and materials were received in good order. You did an excellent job and I don't know how you wrote it all up so quickly.

Besides the valuable information which you unearthed, your notes are going to be a really great help to me in setting the tone of what we say. This business of choosing a tone, and then bringing it off as you want, is the hardest part of any writing, I think. Your notes, and I think especially those on Yarmolinsky, Conway, and Quigley are going to be of more help to me than you can imagine because they have pretty well determined the attitude we will take in reporting on these agencies.

Our check is enclosed; even with a couple of free ones, how you managed to eat in Washington for four days on $7.00 is something I wish you would teach those of our staff, except me, who travel.

With my very best wishes and thanks for a job well done,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:mbb
Enc. Check [redacted]
120.00
96.90

Corrected address as of: 4/30/64
33 East End Ave., N.Y. 28, N.Y.

November 28, 1962

Mrs. Mina P. Shaughnessy
#1 Gracie Terrace
New York 28, New York

Dear Mina:

You asked me to let you know how we made out with Baldwin, and I should have written days ago. I was in sick bay from the time you called until the 18th, and last week was dominated by the meeting and the holidays; sorry.

True to his promise to you, Baldwin's agent did call the next day and with great and I believe sincere apologies told me that Baldwin could not come. This was of course a disappointment, as you know. But, like a cat, I got to my feet and within a few hours dragooned three friends to make up what turned out to be a pretty exciting panel.

Thank you again and so much for all the telephoning you must have done. It was very good of you.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

LWD:A

Leslie W. Dunbar

P.S. The Rockefeller Foundation sent me a copy of Adventure in Giving. I haven't had a chance to do more than scan it, but I did notice the handsome acknowledgment to you.

December fifteen, 1953

Mrs Sue R Slaughter
522 Mowbray Arch
Norfolk 7, Virginia

Dear Mrs Slaughter:

Many thanks for your letter with its fine check for SRC dues.

I don't know anything more about the "Committee of 100" than its letterhead tells although I have had two or three letters of a similar nature from them myself. I don't see anybody listed who looks doubtful, and like you I see a great many people whose views and concern I respect. Neither do I know anything about the Dukes case itself. The form of appeal is not to my taste but the object of the appeal is to get money for the NAACP to continue its legal efforts on behalf of aggrieved individuals and on behalf of the whole Negro people. With that object and with the methods of the NAACP itself I have complete sympathy.

As for the leaflet on the Dukes case, there are some omissions that a social historian would have put in had he been writing it. Ellis Arnall did reform the prison camp system of Georgia. Stripes are no longer worn except by prisoners who have been involved in escapes and the prison camps are reduced in number and conduct in a way far more humane than was the case ten years ago. The truth is that Ellis Arnall alarted the conscience of the State about its prison camps and that there is a goodish roar of resentment whenever an incident reaches the knowledge of the public of brutality in the camps - as does continue to happen.

We continue to have the most encouraging success with getting QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS out. The Southern Presbyterians have sent a copy of each minister in the denomination and their Board of Women's Work has sent out additional hundreds to Presbyterian women leaders. The list of orders from remarkably useful organizations would run to pages and the pamphlet has already sold more copies than any SRC has heretofore turned out. I cannot say the South is preternaturally calm on the subject, but I think for what calmness there is we can claim a little credit.

By the way, Mrs Vivian Carter Mason ~~as~~ new President of the National Council of Negro Women has been at pains to work the pamphlet into the grooves of that organization in a most helpful way.

My warm regards to my friends in Norfolk.

Sincerely yours

George S Mitchell
Executive Director

gsm-t

$13.00 / 18

522 MOWBRAY ARCH
NORFOLK 7, VIRGINIA

Dec. 7, 1953

RECEIVED
DEC 10
Southern Regional Council

Dr Geo S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Ave, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

Dear Dr Mitchell:

I have had some previous appeals from the Committee of 100 which I have questioned. Today comes one in behalf of Jesse Dukes on which I would like your opinion.

Do you have any first-hand information about either the "Committee" or Dukes? Do you believe this is a cause that should be supported? I am hazy about the material that the Committee has previously addressed to me but my impression was that the statements contained were of a radical rabble-rousing nature which did not real good to the Negro.
I have, too, been amazed at how little some people know about the organizations which use their names so that, while this particular Committee lists many names I know and of people I think are "sound", still I no longer believe that the mere printing of a name on a letter-head is a guarantee that the organization is one I wish to support.
So, your opinion and advice will be welcomed.

We enjoyed having Mr Flemming here last month and learned a great deal from him.

Sincerely yours, Gene R Slaughter

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

THE STORY OF JESSE DUKES

Jesse Dukes was sentenced to 15 to 25 years on the chain gang when he was twelve years old, at a trial that lasted a few minutes, without a lawyer, without defense. He escaped and is now in a New Jersey prison awaiting extradition to the State of Georgia.

THE "COMMITTEE OF 100"
20 West 40th Street
New York 18, N. Y.

JESSE DUKES' OWN STORY

JESSE DUKES, now 25, tells of his arrest in the early morning hours of May 14, 1940 on a plantation 13 miles from Waynesboro, Burke County, Georgia.

> "They broke in the door and come in the house and snatched me out of bed. I fell on the floor and they hit me on the back of the head so it bled. There was four of them, the sheriff and his deputy, the jailer—he's dead now—a town policeman and the man from the plantation. They started beating me right then, saying, 'you stole those cars, you know you did,' and they kicked me down the steps."

Five automobiles had been stolen in the town of Waynesboro (population 4500) three days before on Saturday, May 11. Provided with five undated indictments, the law enforcement officers travelled up a country road to Frank K—'s plantation, to the sharecropper shack where Jim and Rosa Dukes lived with eight of their twelve children. Jesse, twelve, was the tenth child and small for his age. He had never been to school and he says he cannot drive a car to this day.

> "They put me in the car and rode me for nearly two hours, beating me all the time. It took nearly two hours to ride only 13 miles. It was 3:30 in the morning when we got to the jail. They handcuffed me and strung me up to the door, my hands above my head and they beat me with a rubber hose. '*You know

A Georgia Chain Gang

Excerpts from the Brief of Petitioner in the Matter of JESSE DUKES filed in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The Governor of the State of Georgia has demanded the return of the petitioner to Georgia as an escaped convict . . .

The demanding papers show five indictments of the petitioner in May 1940 (date not stated) for larceny of five automobiles on 11 May 1940 . . . and sentences on 14 May 1940 to hard labor for three to five years on each indictment, the sentences to run consecutively.

At the time of arrest and sentence, petitioner, a Negro with no schooling, was twelve years old . . .

THE EVIDENCE

1. Petitioner was arrested about one o'clock in the morning, and about 8:30 or 9 o'clock of that same morning was sentenced. No friends or relatives were present in court, nor was he represented by counsel or advised of his right to counsel. On the advice of either a jailer or warden, and with out consultation of either counsel or friend, he pleaded guilty when his name was called.

2. Petitioner was sentenced to Burke County jail where he was hit with a rubber hose, beaten with axe handles and made to wear iron clamps on his legs. He was put in a sweat box, which consists of a very narrow box about six or eight feet high, enclosed with a door and containing no article of furniture whatever. Petitioner was obliged to sleep on the floor, stand on the floor, sit on the floor and take care of himself at the call of nature right on the floor. He was fed one meal every five days, and received two cups of water daily, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

3. While confined at Reidsville State Penitentiary, to which he was transferred from Burke County in about 1942, petitioner was beaten with a bull whip. Once, when he left the line to speak to the warden he was beaten severely with a hose without an opportunity to tell the warden what he wanted to see him about.

4. From Reidsville, petitioner was moved to a prison in Cobb County, from where he escaped in 1948. Upon his return to Cobb County prison camp in 1951, he was immediately taken into a room, held by four persons and mercilessly beaten by a fifth. He was then put in one of the sweat boxes, previously described, for twelve days. Because of his escape, a half inch of water was put on the floor, so that the feces which he had to deposit there would not settle in one corner but would float around . . .

5. Petitioner has marks on his body as a result of the shots and of the beatings he took. There are pellets from a shotgun in petitioner's leg, other bruises and scars on his head and back, and a metal plate in his leg.

6. If returned to Georgia, petitioner would live under constant fear because of the experience he had in leaving the line and being beaten by the warden. He would be afraid to leave the line to make inquiry about an attorney because he would be beaten severely . . .

you took those cars.' I told them, I didn't. 'We'll kill you if you don't say you took them.' They kept on beating me and beating me. Finally they felt sorry for me and gave me some water and some bread. I think it was about 5 o'clock. But they left me hanging on the door till after 7.

"At 8 o'clock they brought me into the court room. Judge Franklin was the judge. There wasn't anybody there but the judge and the prosecutor and the jailer. There was six prisoners. I was the second one called: 'Jesse Dukes, stand up and hold up your right hand.' I stood up. 'Do you plead guilty or not guilty?' I started to say I didn't do anything, but before I could say it the jailer said: 'Guilty. He pleads guilty.' The judge sentenced me to three to five years at hard labor on each count. That was 15 to 25 years."

Less than eight hours after he had been picked up, Jesse had been 'tried' and sentenced to a quarter of a century in prison. He had seen no friend or relative, no one had told him he had a right to counsel. The hearing could not have lasted more than ten minutes. The prosecutor preferred charges and, except for the sheriff, no witnesses appeared against him.

"They was taking me down the steps from the court as my mother and the others come up. They come to see what they was going to do with me. They didn't let me speak to my mother. I saw her the next Sunday at the chain gang camp."

Could an unlettered back country boy of 12 have taken five cars in one afternoon? According to Jesse's account, he was 10 miles away at the time the alleged crimes were committed.

"I'd asked my mother if I could go spend the night with my Uncle Sam that Saturday. He was overseer at a plantation near Gough, Georgia, where there was two commissary stores. Saturday night they went in to town to buy food. [Gough is about 10 miles from Waynesboro where the thefts occurred.] My mother said I could go. I knocked off work at 12. We was chopping cotton. It was 15 miles to my uncle's. My little brother rode me 7 miles on the mule and I had 8 miles to go. I hitchhiked 5 miles on a wagon and walked the rest of the way. I got there about 4:30. My uncle took me to Gough and we got back about 7. I helped my uncle feed the stock. He had about a hundred mules to take care of that belonged to the plantation. Next day I went to church, over near my mother's place. Church let out at 3 and I walked home. I got near the house and my mother come out to meet me. 'Little Boy', (That's what they called me.) 'I want to talk to you. What you been doing? The police been here looking for you.'"

It was early Tuesday morning, a day and a half later, that the police came back and took Jesse.

On May 18, 1940, four days after his arrest and conviction, Jesse Dukes was officially enrolled on the Burke County chain gang. He was given a striped suit. The camp blacksmith welded iron "picks" on his legs—long iron spikes, extending one foot in front and one foot behind, attached by an iron anklet on each leg (see picture below). They can not be taken off.

Jesse worked with pick-axe and shovel with the adult convicts on the road gang, from sunup to sundown. Those who fell behind were beaten with axe handles and rubber hoses. At night they were locked in the crowded wooden bunkhouses, boys and veteran criminals. That was where they spent Sundays and Christmas. Rosa Dukes came often to see her son. Sometimes they would not let her see him, "because she'd see they had been beating me."

Before he was 14, Jesse was put in the "sweat box". There had been a killing in the prison camp. A guard shot a prisoner who refused to obey and Jesse was a witness. He refused to answer the warden's questions satisfactorily. The sweat box was made of concrete, six or eight feet high, with a steel door and no windows. "You couldn't see your hand in front of your face." There were openings for air and space to pass a cup through when the outer door was opened, barely room to lie on the concrete floor. Twice a day he received a cup of water, no meal for five days. [The year before, in 1941, there had been a public scandal when a Negro prisoner at Lookout Mountain in Northwest Georgia was found suffocated to death after twenty-one men had been locked for 11 hours in a sweat box seven and a half feet square.]

Governor Ellis Arnall, who for two years headed Georgia's shortlived reform administration, described prison conditions in the State:

"We have denied prisoners the treatment any man must have. We have caged them like wild animals. We have let them thirst and hunger. We have chained them. We have forged iron bands upon their legs. We have denied them the solace of religion, and when I think of boys huddled with professional criminals, obtaining no education and no religious instruction, I am disgusted."

—New York Times, September 28, 1943

"Picks" of the type used on Jessie Dukes in 1942

In January 1942, eighteen months after his arrest, Jesse was on the back of a truck, carrying prisoners to work, when it overturned. His right thigh was crushed. So that the doctor at the Waynesboro hospital could operate, the iron picks were removed from his legs, for the first time since his arrest. Six weeks later, Jesse was back at the chain gang camp with 32 stitches in his leg and a metal plate. By April, the plaster cast off, Jesse was on the road gang again, but without picks. He wasn't strong enough to work with several pounds of iron on his legs.

> "They was hauling great big logs then, a man on one end and another man on the other end. I was disable to pick up that log. I just couldn't pick it up. The guard started to beat me. That was when I left. They shot after me, but they missed."

That was Jesse's first escape. He was picked up a few miles away the next day and brought back for a beating. Several weeks later he escaped again, but was caught before night.

Jesse was transferred to Georgia's new high security prison, the State Penitentiary at Reidsville, in the summer of 1942. Escape wasn't possible from the modern steel and concrete fortress. Prison gangs working in the fields were surrounded by guards, their shotguns ready. Jesse tells that a number of young prisoners decided to run, but he watched the nearest guard take aim at a bird flying high in the sky. He brought it down. Jesse decided against escape. "They don't shoot to stop you, they shoot to kill."

Five prisoners, including Jesse, resolved to let the warden know how the guard had refused them water in the fields in the broiling Georgia sun and had beaten them with a bull whip. In the prison they stepped out of line together to speak to the warden. They had no chance to say what they wanted. The whips came down on their shoulders.

After five years at the Reidsville State Penitentiary, in 1947, Jesse with other prisoners was moved to the Cobb County prison camp at Marietta, where the prisoners worked in the quarries, breaking rocks with 40 pound sledge hammers. He tells of his arrival.

> "After we got there, one of the guards said. 'We're going to send the little nigger up there.' That was me. He meant, up to work in the quarry. The boss man said: 'Let me see the little nigger. Come here, Little Nigger. You ain't big enough to bust rocks'. I thought they wasn't going to send me, but they put me to work on Saturday morning . . . One day I started to give out. I told the guard my leg had been broken and I wasn't strong enough to raise that big sledge hammer. He said: 'We'll break it again. If you don't go back to work, I'll beat you.'"

Picks had been abolished at the Cobb County camp. Jesse looked for a chance to escape. Twice in the fall of 1947 he got away. Both times he was found and returned within twenty-four hours. In January 1948, the prisoners were loading gravel on railroad cars on a siding. A guard sat on the side of the car just loaded, a gun across his lap. An empty car was moved in on the next track. Jesse timed his dash when the locomotive would block the guard's vision, climbed up under the loaded car and ran. A shot hit him in his left thigh. It was not serious; he kept on running. The bloodhounds found his trail to the river, but he had doubled back on his own path and guards and dogs searched in vain for his scent on the other side of the river.

"I dug me a hole under the bridge. I stayed holed up there from 11 o'clock till night. I could hear the dogs and the guards going over the bridge. They were saying, 'he must have drownded.'"

The sister of a prison friend gave him clothes, food and a little money. Her father, a truck driver, took him across the state line the same night. In a strange city he found friends who kept him till he could get railroad fare from relatives in the North.

The State of Georgia located Jesse Dukes in New Jersey and asked his extradition. Two prison officials were sent North to bring him back, but not before Jesse Dukes had been taught to read and write while being held in a New Jersey prison.

He got back to the Cobb County camp in October 1951. Jesse tells of his return.

"On the way back they called me names and threatened me. When we got there, they gave me my stripes [prison suit] and I had my breakfast. I thought I was going to work with the others. But the man said I wasn't going to work that day. They carried me into a room and four men held me and another man beat me, till I was nearly dead. Then they put me in the sweat box. There was half an inch of water on the floor of the sweat box. That's all I had to drink. It was cold in there and dark. They kept me there twelve days."

Eighty-seven days after he was returned to the Cobb County prison camp, Jesse Dukes escaped again and made his way North. Now he is in the Passaic County Jail in Paterson, New Jersey, waiting to be sent back again. He is 25 years old, nearly 12 years of his life have been spent in prisons for a crime of which he is innocent.

JESSE DUKES is not in a Georgia prison today, only because the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Paterson, New Jersey, went into court to halt his extradition. At the suggestion of the N.A.C.C.P., Mr. Mendon Morrill, a prominent Paterson attorney, has argued Jesse Dukes' case before the courts of New Jersey, up to the Supreme Court of the State, and has placed the facts before New Jersey's Governor, Alfred E. Driscoll. The courts have refused to move against extradition. Governor Driscoll has not yet acted.

THE N.A.A.C.P. LEGAL DEFENSE AND EDUCATIONAL FUND will now appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. Its attorneys will exhaust every legal resource to save this young man. Jesse Dukes was extradited from New Jersey to Georgia once before. In 1951, vengeful jailers beat and tortured the returned fugitive mercilessly. Another time they may kill him.

Governor Herman Talmadge and the prison officials of the State have no right to demand Jesse Dukes' return to serve out his sentence, because Georgia officials had no right to convict and hold him thirteen years ago. Their action at that time was a flagrant denial of every elementary safeguard provided in our Constitution. Accused of a preposterous crime, he was tried and convicted without counsel or knowledge he had a right to counsel.

Jesse Dukes is not the only helpless Negro boy in our country to be victimized by vicious police and court officials steeped in racial prejudice and hatred. Unless Americans act, there will be other Jesse Dukes. In defending this young man, we help prevent other violations of the edict in our Bill of Rights, forbidding "cruel and unusual punishment". We serve notice that decent people, North and South, will not tolerate an archaic and brutal system of racial injustice.

THE N.A.A.C.P. LEGAL DEFENSE AND EDUCATIONAL FUND needs our help to provide defense for Jesse Dukes and other helpless victims of racial injustice.
Please send your contribution today.

DR. ALLAN KNIGHT CHALMERS, Chairman
"COMMITTEE OF 100"
20 West 40th Street
New York 18, N. Y.

I enclose my contribution of $ ..... to assist the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

Name .....

Address .....

City .....

Please make checks payable to Allan Knight Chalmers, Chairman.
Contributions are tax exempt

98

WILL YOU HELP?

MEMBERS
William Agar
Mrs. Ernest R. Alexander
Roger N. Baldwin
Tallulah Bankhead
Robbins W. Barstow
Justice Jane M. Bolin
Abbott Book
Van Wyck Brooks
Fred L. Brownlee
T. T. Brumbaugh
Charles Bunn
Mrs. Samuel McRae Cavert
Allan Knight Chalmers
Mrs. Richard S. Childs
Bernard C. Clausen
W. M. Cleaveland
Rufus E. Clement
Fanny Travis Cochran
Henry S. Coffin
James Bryant Conant
Albert Sprague Coolidge
Mrs. Elizabeth S. Coolidge
George S. Counts
Henry Hitt Crane
John Warren Davis
Albert Edward Day
Albert S. Dieffenbach
J. Frank Dobie
Caxton Doggett
Dorothy Canfield Fisher
William Fitelson
Harry Emerson Fosdick
Harry D. Gideonse
Joseph F. Guffey
Herman Hailperin
S. Ralph Harlow
Earl G. Harrison
Hornell Hart
Arthur Garfield Hays
James G. Heller
Harrison Hires
Bishop Henry W. Hobson
John Haynes Holmes
Sidney Hook
Paul Hutchinson
Mrs. Raymond V. Ingersoll
Mrs. Henry A. Ingraham
Ruth Ellington James
D. V. Jemison
Charles S. Johnson
Mordecai W. Johnson
Horace M. Kallen
Helen Keller
Paul Kellogg
Frank Kingdon
Freda Kirchwey
John Howland Lathrop
Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence
W. Earl Ledden
Henry Smith Leiper
Alfred Baker Lewis
Howard Lindsay
Alain Locke
Archibald MacLeish
Bishop Francis J. McConnell
Robert J. McCracken
Karl Menninger
Paul Moore, Jr.
Carl Murphy
Harold E. Nicely
Reinhold Niebuhr
Robert Lincoln O'Brien
Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam
George L. Paine
Bishop Edward L. Parsons
Palfrey Perkins
Ralph Barton Perry
Irving Pflaum
James A. Pike
Edwin McNeil Poteat
Gordon Poteat
A. Philip Randolph
Frederick E. Reissig
J. J. Runyan
John L. Saltonstall, Jr.
Guy Emery Shipler
James T. Shotwell
George N. Shuster
Mrs. Harper Sibley
Lillian Smith
Arthur B. Spingarn
Anson Phelps Stokes
Norman Thomas
Channing H. Tobias
William H. Vanderbilt
Bruno Walter
Carter Wesley
David H. Wice
Justice James H. Wolfe
Bradford Young

The "Committee of 100"

Founded by WILLIAM ALLAN NEILSON

Dedicated to the Creation of an America of Justice and Equality for Our Negro Fellow Citizens

20 WEST 40th STREET • NEW YORK 18, N.Y.
LACKAWANNA 4-2521

RECEIVED
DEC 10
Southern Regional Council

ALLAN KNIGHT CHALMERS
Chairman

FRANCIS J. McCONNELL
Honorary Chairman

EDWARD L. PARSONS
Pacific Coast Chairman

December 2, 1953

Dear Miss Slaughter:

Jesse Dukes was convicted in 1940, at the age of 12, allegedly for stealing five automobiles. He was sentenced to fifteen to twenty-five years at hard labor. He has been tortured and hunted for thirteen of his 25 years of life. Today this young man is a fugitive, facing extradition from New Jersey to serve out his lengthy term in a Georgia prison.

Two weeks ago, in the Passaic County Jail in Paterson, New Jersey, he told me the tragic story retold in the enclosed folder.

Because the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has come to his defense, there is yet hope to save him. Attorneys of the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund appealed last week to the Supreme Court of the United States to stay his extradition. We will take every necessary legal step to free young Dukes.

This young man has suffered and faces continued suffering, simply because he is a Negro. I know of no example in Georgia justice of a 12-year-old white boy being condemned to a life in chains. Our society cannot tolerate one standard of justice for those whose skins are white and another standard for those who are colored.

Please send your contribution today to enable us to save Jesse Dukes from further suffering. He was convicted without benefit of counsel at the age of 12 for a crime of which he is innocent. In this travesty of justice, the guilty party is not only the State which convicted him, but every man and woman who stands by while this innocent young man suffers.

Sincerely yours,

Allan Knight Chalmers

Allan Knight Chalmers
Chairman

The "Committee of 100" sponsors an annual appeal for $150,000 toward the budget of the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. All contributions are deductible for U. S. Income Tax Purposes.

RUTH SLOAN ASSOCIATES, Inc.
GENERAL CONSULTANTS
AFRICA AND NEAR EASTERN AFFAIRS
4201 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE, N. W., WASHINGTON 16, D. C. • EMERSON 2-4503

RECEIVED
FEB 16 1954
Southern Regional Council

February 13, 1954

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

Thank you for your warm letter of February 5, and thank you for suggesting the additional people who might be interested in the newsletter.

Sincerely,

Ruth Sloan

Ruth Sloan
Executive Director

Mr. George S. Mitchell
Executive-Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

February 5, 1954

Miss Ruth Sloan
4201 Massachusetts Ave., N.W.
Washington 16, D. C.

Dear Miss Sloan:

Very many thanks indeed for your first welcome issue of AFRICAN NEWS. I look forward gratefully to receiving it regularly. It is grand that you are doing it.

I list below some other people who might be interested:

Mr. L. D. Reddick, Librarian, Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia
Mr. Benjamin Mays, President, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia
Mr. Nathaniel O. Olaku, 611 West 113th Street, New York 25, N. Y.
Mr. Victor Kotun, Muhlenburg College, Allentown, Pennsylvania
Mr. Frank Loescher, 1 East 54th Street, New York 22, N. Y.
Mr. Kendall Weisiger, Palmer Bldg., Marietta St., Atlanta 3, Georgia

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive-Director

GSM:hh
Encl. Check

July 26, 1954

Mrs. H. M. Silverman
1016 Larchmont Crescent
Norfolk, Virginia

Feb.?

Dear Mrs. Silverman:

The Southern Regional Council would be delighted to join with the Women's Council for Interracial Cooperation in sponsoring the workshop proposed for early next June.

Let me know from time to time of what you may need from us.

Here's a helpful new pamphlet, the use of which I hope will spread.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab
Answers for Action sent under separate cover
Dictated by Dr. Mitchell/signed in his absence.

Copy to: Harold C. Fleming

THE WOMEN'S COUNCIL FOR INTERRACIAL COOPERATION

•

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

July 21, 1954

Mr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

Our Council would like to undertake a more ambitious type of program next year — something in the way of a workshop on Techniques in Handling Bigotry. We have tentatively selected February as a possible time for this workshop, but the date is still open.

We need a co-sponsor and hope that the Southern Regional Council would assume that role. We would, or course, contact all local groups for representation at our workshop, which we think of in terms of two or three sessions. (Evening - Morning - Possibly Afternoon).

I would greatly appreciate your prompt reply and any suggestions that you can offer.

Sincerely,

Susan B. Silverman

Program Chairman

Mrs. H. M. Silverman
1016 Larchmont Crescent
Norfolk, Virginia

RECEIVED
JUL 23 1954
Southern Regional Council

January 2, 1957

Mr. Frank T. Simpson
Executive Secretary
State of Connecticut Commission on Civil Rights
500 Capitol Avenue
Hartford 15, Connecticut

Dear Frank:

It was a real pleasure to get your letter of December 28, and we would be honored and pleased by a visit from you at our offices. They are located in the Wesley Memorial Church Building, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E., and the phone number is JAckson 2-7963.

I would suggest that you make your visit on the 15th, for that is George Mitchell's last day in the office.

Best regards in the New Year.

Cordially,

Frederick B. Routh
Assistant Director

FBR:mm

RUTH SLOAN ASSOCIATES, Inc.
GENERAL CONSULTANTS
AFRICAN AND NEAR EASTERN AFFAIRS
4200 CATHEDRAL AVENUE, N. W., WASHINGTON 16, D. C. • EMERSON 2-4503

January 27, 1957

Mr. Harold C. Fleming, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue NE, Room 432
Atlanta, 3 Georgia

Dear Mr.Fleming:

Enclosed please find 40¢ in refund for the amount due you on your unexpired portion of the subscription to Afrian News . Thank you for your past cooperation.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth Sloan

Ruth C. Sloan
Executive Director

0.40 CR
RHA
1/30/57

Atlanta Professional Chapter
Sigma Delta Chi

DON CARTER, President
Atlanta Journal
DOZIER CADE, Vice-President
Georgia State College
ED THOMAS, Secretary
Southern Bell Telephone Co.
GEORGE HATCHER, Treasurer
Atlanta Journal-Constitution
EUGENE PHILLIPS, Program Chairman
Delta Air Lines

Card returned 8/15/57 indicating Mr. Flemmer will not be able to attend on account of vacation

August 1, 1957

FUN! FROLIC! FRIVOLITY! 'FRESHMENTS! FREE! (almost)

The August meeting--Tuesday, August 13--will be a non-speaker, non-business, non-ordinary, non-sensical affair.

You've heard about it. You've read about it. But just as a reminder--

The Atlanta Paper Co. will turn over its lodge facilities on Allatoona Lake to us that afternoon and night. Get up there any time you want to, but the "official" starting time is 5 p.m. with "dinner" served at 7, and no "official" going-home time.

Ted Atwood, advertising and public relations director of APACO, said that the lodge is "ours" for that afternoon and night. We can swim, boat, fish, or recreate in any way we want to. There will be no Variety Club liquarium up there, but you can bring your own liquid entertainment.

As for the food--it'll be good.

We'll have an old-fashioned, sumptuous, barbecue dinner featuring barbecue beef and pork and brunswick stew with such accessories as cole slaw, potato chips, pickles, bread and ice tea. The dinner will be served by the staff of J. V. Melear, who runs Melear's Barbecue in Union City. The price will be $1.50 per plate, with "seconds" for the gluttons (a polite word for gourmets).

If you don't like the food, blame Dozier Cade, who is arranging for it. He said he ate a barbecue dinner prepared by Mr. Melear recently, and that it was the "best" barbecue he had ever eaten.

Bring as many adult guests as you like--including your wife and/or girl friend. At $1.50 a plate, it's almost a "two-for-the-price-of-one" dinner compared with the Variety Club $2.50 per.

Mr. Melear has been "guaranteed" at least 50 persons, but we ought to have at least 100 up there. So that we can let Mr. Melear know how much of the 'cue and stew to whomp up--he has to buy the ingredients in advance, and the preparation is more complicated than an ordinary meal--PLEASE LET THE SECRETARY KNOW (BY SENDING IN YOUR RESERVATION CARD) AS SOON AS POSSIBLE IF YOU ARE (OR ARE NOT) COMING AND HOW MANY GUESTS YOU'LL BRING. Don't just "show up" without a reservation, because the food might give out and all will suffer as a result. And please don't wait until the last day or two to SEND IN THE ATTACHED RESERVATION CARD, because that would be too late for food-preparing purposes.

The attached sketch-map should get you up there without any trouble. If you drink too much ice tea, it might be a mite more difficult to retrace your route back.

Get off from work early August 13, pick up your gal(s) and pal(s), and come on up. Chow time is 7 p. m., play time is before and after.

SIGMA DELTA CHI NEWS NOTES

A Report from the Atlanta Professional Chapter

IT WAS "U. P." NITE
AT THE JULY MEETING

A large turnout of members greeted William C. (Bill) Payette when he spoke to the chapter July 9. Among the 48 present were 10 UP staffers--including the speaker--and 4 former UP men.

After a Bill-Emerson-type of introduction by Rhea Eskew, revealing some of the speaker's lurid past, Mr. Payette spoke about the highlights and personalities in the history of the United Press since its founding 50 years ago.

Among the "firsts" credited to UP were: first bylines for press association staffers; first "human interest" stories in press association reports (starting with Marlen Pew's reporting of a labor strike in 1912 in terms of the strikers as "people"); interview from overseas via radio (with Trotsky in 1919, followed by interview with Lenin); first financial wire, first sports wire, first teletypewriter wire, first radio wire, first script wire for TV film, first facsimile newspicture wire.

The officers were conspicuous by their absences. President Don Carter was winging his way to Germany; Secretary Ed Thomas was on vacation; Treasurer George Hatcher -- wonder where George was, or is? Vice-President Dozier Cade presided, Dick Hodges subbed for Hatcher, and Gene Phillips (as usual) provided a fine program.

IF YOU'VE BEEN WONDERING
ABOUT THE QUILL, AND WHY

We haven't been getting our Atlanta Chapter activities publicized in the "Sigma Delta Chi News" section of the magazine--don't blame Dick Hodges, our publicity and scrapbook chairman. Dick has been sending in material to Quill regularly. After seeing his stuff left out for two issues, he wrote Vic Bluedorn, executive director, to find out why.

Incidentally, Dick also has been sending stories to Editor & Publisher about our activities, and some of them have been published.

ONE VOLUNTEER--
ARE THERE MORE?

Frank Chappell, in charge of the Atlanta public relations office for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., has volunteered to serve as consultant for the Druid Hills High School newspaper in connection with our plans to help high school journalists in the Greater Atlanta area. His son will be working on the paper, so Frank has a personal as well as professional interest in the publication.

Frank is a new member of the Atlanta Chapter, having recently transferred from the Dallas (Tex.) Chapter. That chapter is wide-awake and quite active. Maybe Frank can add some of that Texas enthusiasm to our already active Atlanta Chapter.

If you are interested in being consultant to one of the local high school newspapers, write or phone Dozier Cade at Georgia State College.

SPEAKING OF HIGH SCHOOL
JOURNALISTS --

The date and place for the annual fall workshop of the Atlanta Scholastic Press Association will be either October 7 or 8 at Georgia State College. Our Chapter will provide speakers and specialists for the one-day session.. You may be called on to help out. Again, volunteers are in order.

The Association is an organization of the editors of high school newspapers and yearbooks from 24 schools in the Greater Atlanta area. We hope through our work with the high school journalists to encourage talented young people to enter the profession of Journalism. Maybe in the process we can also spot bright young prospects and keep an eye on them with the object of hiring them after college. This activity is in line with the national SDX theme and effort this year: "SEEK TALENT--NURTURE IT."

AND IN CONCLUSION--
LEST WE FORGET--

(1) Initiation of new members will take place at an early fall meeting. If you have candidates in mind, keep them in mind, and let us know about them when we ask for names and qualifications of candidates. If you don't have any in mind, start some heavy thinking and looking around and put some names down that come to your mind.

(2) Send in your reservations for the Allatoona Outing by filling in and mailing the attached postcard--NOW.

TO CARTERSVILLE
TO ACWORTH
BALL FIELD STORE
41
SIGN UNDERPASS
41
TO ATLANTA
HWY 92
NEW ROAD
STORE
HWY 92
A-PAC-O
ALLATOONA LAKE
N

Cr. ref

VIA AIR MAIL June 11, 1959

Miss Sue R. Slaughter
522 Mowbray Arch
Norfolk 7, Virginia

Dear Miss Slaughter:

My apologies for this delay in answering your recent letter, but I thought it best to check with the Alabama Council on Human Relations as to the best local contact in Mobile. I have finally heard from the Rev. Robert Hughes, executive of the Alabama Council. There are a number of members of that organization in Mobile, but he suggests the following as a couple whom your niece might find particularly congenial:

Mr. & Mrs. John McConnell
205 Ridgewood Place
Mobile, Alabama

Let me add that I am sorry for the confusion over your New South subscription. We discovered that we had never received a full list of the Virginia life members, and so this status was not reflected on our subscription records. In any event, the correction has been made in your case, and I trust you will not be troubled with any further routine renewal notices.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

RECEIVED MAY 25 1959

522 MOWBRAY ARCH
NORFOLK 7, VIRGINIA

May 22, 1959

Dear Mr Fleming:

Is there any interracial group in Mobile?

I have a niece rather recently moved there from Birmingham and concerned about the race problem and especially about the fact that it cannot be mentioned. She has four young children so could not be an active member but I would like to put her in touch with people who speak her language.

I shall appreciate your sending me the name and address of someone with whom she might helpfully communicate.

Sincerely yours,

Sue R Slaughter

522 MOWBRAY ARCH
NORFOLK 7, VIRGINIA

June 29, 1959

Dear Mr Flemming:

Thank you very much for sending me the names of Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell as contacts for my niece in Mobile. I have forwarded the names to her along with that of Fr. Albert Foley.

We are all so distressed that Paul Rilling is leaving the Richmond office although we rejoice in his promotion. He is a fine and most helpful person.

I'm glad my name has been entered on the "life subscribers" roll for The New South. I'm sure I'll receive no further renewal notices.

Yours most sincerely,

Sue R Slaughter

RECEIVED JUL 1 1959

December 24, 1959

Mr. Charles H. Slayman, Jr.
Chief Counsel and Staff Director
Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights
U. S. Senate
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Slayman:

Nothing very satisfactory has been done by way of collecting foreign press comment or other evidence of overseas attitudes toward discrimination in this country. Although we can't find a copy in our files, I recall that several years ago the American Jewish Committee reproduced some editorials -- from French newspapers, I believe -- on racial incidents in the United States. We have a mimeographed report called "American Civil Liberties in the Foreign Press" prepared under the direction of Professor Douglas Waples of the University of Chicago. But this is a scholarly rather than a popular treatment.

A publication of the sort you suggest would be useful. The problem is to survey enough foreign newspapers over a sufficient period to get an effective and representative collection. For a private agency, this would be an expensive and time-consuming project. The USIA, however, presumably monitors the press of other countries and might have already in its files the kind of material needed. (The New York Times of October 14, 1957 reported that the USIA was carrying on a "global study" of the damage to the United States resulting from the Little Rock difficulties; the announcement referred to "sensationalized news stories.")

Perhaps the USIA could be persuaded to do the job itself or, more likely, to make the appropriate material available to an interested private agency. We would be very much interested in seeing such a publication prepared -- and perhaps in assisting with publication -- but we don't feel that the Southern Regional Council is equipped to do the job.

If you get any encouraging reactions from Herman Edelsberg or others, I will appreciate your keeping us informed.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

United States Senate

MEMORANDUM

12/16/59

Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Ave., N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Has this been done? If not, is it worth doing?

Who should do it?

Charles H. Slayman, Jr.
Chief Counsel and
Staff Director
Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights

COPY

December 16, 1959

Mr. Herman Edelsberg
Director, Washington Office
Anti-Defamation League
B'nai B'rith
1640 Rhode Island Ave., N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Herman:

A thought occurs to me for a research project concerning American civil rights.

Perhaps it has been done.

Or maybe it is in process somewhere at the moment.

I just don't know and thought you might or would have some thoughts about how to accomplish this if it really should be undertaken.

I think it would be highly desirable to have in a handy form a substantial collection of editorial and other comments by people in other countries about American race relations and religious or racial discrimination practices.

What do you think?

Sincerely,

Charles H. Slayman, Jr.
Chief Counsel and Staff Director

CHS:z

April 20, 1960

Rabbi William B. Silverman
The Temple
Congregation Ohabai Sholom
5015 Harding Road
Nashville 5, Tennessee

My dear Rabbi Silverman:

The quotation in which you are interested -- used originally, I believe, in the Wall Street Journal -- causes us a slight embarrassment. We don't know who on our staff was the unnamed spokesman, or whether the quotation is exactly as given. However, the statement gives the impression that the Southern Regional Council has played a major role as a relocation agency. This is not the case; we have counselled a few of the "DPs" and referred a few to appropriate religious organizations.

If the change wouldn't be too inconvenient, we should much prefer to revise one phrase, as follows: "....Since 1954, we have been in touch with at least a dozen ministers who lost...," etc. With that slight change, you may, if you wish, attribute the quotation to me. If it is too late for the revision to be made, the quotation should be attributed, as it was in the Wall Street Journal (and later New York Times) to an unnamed spokesman.

With kindest regards and good wishes for the forthcoming book, I am

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

The Temple
CONGREGATION OHABAI SHOLOM
NASHVILLE 5, TENNESSEE
DR. WILLIAM B. SILVERMAN, RABBI
5015 HARDING ROAD

PA

April 12th, 1960

The Southern Regional Council,
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Gentlemen:

This is to request permission to use the following quotation from a statement made by an official of your organization: "In the South we have a new class of D.P.'s - displaced parsons. Since 1954, we've helped relocate about fifteen ministers who lost their churches for supporting the Supreme Court decision, or for protesting against violence."

This permission is requested for use of this material in my manuscript with the tentative title "God Help Me", to be published by The Macmillan Company.

Naturally full credit will be given to the author if you will advise me who made this statement.

Thanking you for the consideration you may give this matter, and with every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

Wm B. Silverman

Rabbi William B. Silverman

WBS/wh

July 1, 1960

Mr. Tobias Simon
706 Ainsley Building
14 N. E. First Avenue
Miami 32, Florida

Dear Tobey:

This is to prolong our correspondence chain by a brief word of thanks for your last letter. Needless to say, I am content to let Hawes' inept smears lie.

Your comparison of yourself to Nixon awaiting the nomination is flattering -- if not to you, then to SRC and Nixon. Of course, these august positions are not granted overnight. SRC has a selection machinery almost as slow and complex as that of the Republican Party -- though more efficient in outcome, I hope. The difference is that we are hardly besieged by people seeking the honor. You're unique.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

LAW OFFICES

TOBIAS SIMON

706 AINSLEY BUILDING, 14 N. E. FIRST AVENUE
MIAMI 32, FLORIDA
TELEPHONES FR 3-6383 · FR 9-5687

PLEASE REPLY NUMBER: 1544-C

June 7, 1960

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

This chain reaction of correspondence should probably have stopped long ere this. The Tallahassee crew is really incapable of any mass smear. Their efforts to impute subversion or Communism to various organizations in the state have all failed to even make a prima facie case by reason of the fact that the persons involved have not even taken the trouble to investigate the sources of their information. I do not believe that that crew could prove that the Communist party was subversive. Therefore, I don't feel that there is anything to concern yourself with. I feel that any remarks made by the Court (as against the ACLU) and by Hawes (as against the Southern Regional Council), should not be dignified by comment.

I feel at the present moment like Richard Nixon, waiting in the wings for news of my nomination. When I received your letter I had expected it to contain the news of my immediate appointment to the Southern Regional Council. I was not disappointed, hardly at all. I just know that I will hear from you. I believe it. Really.

Sincerely yours,

SIMON & ROSEN

By: _____
For the Firm

TS:mf

December 6, 1960

Sigma Delta Chi Awards in Journalism
35 East Wacker Drive
Suite 856
Chicago 1, Illinois

Gentlemen:

Pleasessend to Mr. Harold C. Fleming, at the above address, several forms for nomination for the Sigma Delta Chi Awards in Journalism.

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Mildred Flowers
Secretary to Mr. Fleming

MF

The Daily Times

Press-Radio Center, Telephone LEnox 2-6211
Gainesville, Georgia

Dec. 5

Dear Les,

This is the competition I mentioned. What do you think?

Sylvan

Thanks for coming to our meeting

5

Sigma Delta Chi Awards

For distinguished service in Journalism

General Information

The Sigma Delta Chi Awards for Distinguished Service in Journalism have been awarded annually since 1932 for outstanding achievements in journalism during a calendar year and winners are usually announced in April.

The awards proper consist of bronze medallions and accompanying plaques.

NOMINATIONS

Nominations for any one of the Sigma Delta Chi Awards may be made by the author or any other party. Forms are available on request. These awards are open to both members and non-members of Sigma Delta Chi and may be either men or women. They must, however, be Americans.

February 1, 1961 is the deadline for nominations. Nominations postmarked on that date will be accepted. Mail or express entries to:

Sigma Delta Chi Awards in Journalism
35 East Wacker Drive—Suite 856
Chicago 1, Illinois

EXHIBITS

All awards are offered for specific work done during the calendar year 1960.

Each nomination must be accompanied by an exhibit and nomination form, filled out by typewriter or print.

A brief biography and photograph of nominee must accompany each nomination for categories 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 13, and 15. The awards are made to individuals. Also for 11 and 13 if nomination is for an individual.

A nomination intended for more than one category requires a separate exhibit for each.

Each nomination and nomination form must be clearly marked to show category in which it is entered. Several nominations may be sent in one package, but each should be identified and accompanied by separate nomination form.

Exhibits cannot be returned. All become the property of Sigma Delta Chi.

RULES

Exhibits in press divisions should be in scrapbook form, measuring not larger than 15 inches by 20 inches, and should include clippings or photostats. Those who want to enter full pages, to show display, should fold them in half. Radio and television reporting exhibits should consist of recordings, tapes, or film, clearly labeled, and a typewritten summary.

Radio or television newswriting exhibits are limited to typescripts. Radio public service exhibits should consist of recordings or tapes with a typewritten summary. Television public service exhibits should include film (if available) and a typewritten summary.

Research exhibit should consist of manuscript, galley proofs, or printed book.

NOMINATIONS NOT MEETING THE ABOVE SPECIFICATIONS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED FOR JUDGING.

JUDGING

The material submitted for consideration for the awards will be judged by a jury of veteran and distinguished journalists. All decisions will be final. Any award may be withheld in case the judges decide that none of the material submitted is worthy of special recognition.

Awards Categories

PRESS (Newspapers)

1. General Reporting: For a distinguished example of a reporter's work, either a single article or a series on a related subject, published during the year, the test being readability, accuracy and completeness, interest, enterprise and resourcefulness of the reporter in overcoming obstacles.

2. Editorial Writing: For a distinguished example of an editor's work, either a single editorial or a series relating to the same subject, published during the year; editorials by any one writer being limited to three, a series on a single topic counting as one entry.

3. Washington Correspondence: For a distinguished example of reporting national affairs by a Washington, D. C., correspondent, either a single article or a series on the same or related subject, published during the year.

4. Foreign Correspondence: For a distinguished example of reporting international affairs by a foreign correspondent, either a single article or a series on the same or related subject, published during the year.

5. News Picture: For an outstanding example of a news photographer's work, either a single picture, or sequence or series of pictures, published during the year; photographs by any one person being limited to six, a series on a single topic counting as one entry.

6. Editorial Cartoon: For a distinguished example of a cartoonist's work, a single cartoon published during the year, the determining qualities being craftsmanship, interest, forcefulness and general worth; cartoons by any one person being limited to six.

7. Public Service in Newspaper Journalism: For an outstanding public service rendered by a newspaper in which exceptional courage or initiative is displayed in face of opposition from antisocial forces, political, or other discouraging or hampering forces. Nominations are to be accompanied by a complete file of clippings or photostats, together with a statement of facts concerning the circumstances which prompted the newspaper in its undertaking and the results obtained. Those who want to enter full pages, to show display, should fold them in half since exhibit should not be larger than 15 inches by 20 inches.

PRESS (Magazines)

8. Magazine Reporting: For a distinguished example of current events reporting by a magazine writer, either a single article or series related to the same subject, published in a magazine of general circulation during the year.

9. Public Service in Magazine Journalism: For an exceptionally noteworthy example of public service rendered editorially or pictorially by a magazine of general circulation, special consideraiton being given to leadership or service achieved in the face of antisocial, political or other hampering forces, other tests being extent of good accomplished, enterprise, initiative, and effectiveness of presentation through pictures, articles, editorials and other graphic means; nominations being accompanied by a complete file of clippings together with a statement of facts concerning the circumstances which prompted the magazine in its undertaking and the results obtained.

RADIO OR TELEVISION

10. Radio or Television Newswriting: For a distinguished example of newswriting or commentary for radio or television; nominations consisting of either a partial or complete script, broadcast or telecast during the year.

RADIO

11. Radio Reporting: For the most distinguished example of spot news reporting of a single news event, scheduled or unscheduled, broadcast by radio as it happened or soon after it happened; exhibits consisting of a typewritten summary and recordings or tapes, running time not longer than thirty minutes. This award may go to an individual, station, or network.

12. Public Service in Radio Journalism: For an outstanding example of public service by an individual radio station or network through radio journalism, the test being the worth of the public service, the effectiveness of the presentation by the station or network, and the unselfish or public-spirited motives, bearing in mind that the broadcasts must be journalistic in nature, not entertainment; commercially sponsored radio programs not being eligible unless produced and controlled by the broadcasting station; exhibits consisting of a typewritten summary, disc recordings, or tapes, not to exceed thirty minutes.

TELEVISION

13. Television Reporting: For the most distinguished example of spot news reporting of a single news event, scheduled or unscheduled; broadcast by television as it happened or soon after it happened; exhibits consisting of typewritten summary and if available, a segment or summary of 16 mm film or kinescope, not longer than thirty minutes. This award may go to an individual, station, or network.

14. Public Service in Television Journalism: For an outstanding example of public service by an individual television station or network through television journalism, the test being the worth of the public service, the effectiveness of the presentation by the station or network, and the unselfish or public-spirited motives, bearing in mind that the broadcasts must be journalistic in nature and not entertainment; commercially sponsored programs not being eligible unless produced and controlled by the broadcasting station; entries consisting of a typewritten summary and if available, a segment or summary of 16 mm film or kinescope, not longer than thirty minutes.

RESEARCH

15. Research About Journalism: For an outstanding investigative study about some phase of journalism based upon original research, either published or unpublished, and completed during the year.

1961 Awards Announcement

What do you know about newspapers

WHO started his newspaper career by sending a basketball story to his hometown weekly?
SEE PAGE 44—E&P—NOVEMBER 5, 1960

WHAT percentage of the nation's press backed each candidate in the presidential elections?
SEE PAGE 9—E&P—NOVEMBER 5, 1960

WHERE are three dozen newsmen being flown by the U. S. Navy this fall?
SEE PAGE 79—E&P—NOVEMBER 12, 1960

WHEN did Dr. George Gallup start his famous public opinion poll?
SEE PAGE 62—E&P—NOVEMBER 5, 1960

WHY did AP general manager Frank Starzel say printing the rumor on Khrushchev was justifiable?
SEE PAGE 78—E&P—NOVEMBER 12, 1960

Who, what, where, when or why . . . if you want to know what's going on in the newspaper business, there's no place for finding out like EDITOR & PUBLISHER. Order your own personal subscription now — use the coupon below.

Editor & Publisher

The SPOT NEWS paper of the newspaper and advertising fields

Subscription rates — $6.50 in U.S., possessions and Canada; all other countries $10.00

MAIL THIS COUPON TODAY!

Editor & Publisher
Times Tower, 1475 Broadway
New York 36, N. Y.

Please enter my subscription to EDITOR & PUBLISHER for 1 year, effective with the earliest possible issue.
( ) Check for $6.50 enclosed. ( ) Please bill me later.

Name.....

Position.....

Newspaper or Company.....

Address.....

.....

Sylvan Meyer
Daily Times
Gainesville, Ga.

file

File Silverman

Leslie Dunbar

Southern Regional Council

Saul Silverman
1404 Sharon Rd.,Tallahassee

Working on doctoral program at FSU, till June 1962.

hall
7-25-61

October 4, 1961

Mr. Allen Early, Jr.
801 Barfield Building
Amarillo, Texas

Dear Mr. Early:

We would like to thank you for your letter notifying us of the recent action taken by the national convention of Sigma Chi in dropping the designation "white" from its membership requirements.

We have been aware of this long-standing tradition of Sigma Chi and other college fraternities and I am sure Sigma Chi's leadership will accelerate the growing movement towards the fuller integration of minorities into the social as well as the academic life in our colleges across the country.

Again, thank you for bringing this information to our attention.

Very truly yours,

James A. Moss
Director of Research

JAM:A

ALLEN EARLY, Jr.
801 BARFIELD BUILDING
Amarillo, Texas

September 30, 1961

Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth St., N.W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Friends:

Recently I received the September issue of THE MAGAZINE OF SIGMA CHI, the college social fraternity of which I am a member. It reported that the Grand Chapter (national convention) in Miami Beach in June voted to remove the word "white" from the constitutional provisions for membership.

Perhaps this has come to your attention, but it does seem noteworthy, as this is one of the outstanding college fraternities in the national picture. (it also has chapters in Canada) Perhaps others have taken this step, but I am not personally aware of it.

If you desire further information, I suggest you contact William P. Huffman, Grand Consul, at the fraternity's headquarters, 2603 Sheridan Road, Evanston, Illinois.

Cordially yours,

Allen Early, Jr.

Allen Early, Jr.

January 16, 1962

Mr. John Silard
Rauth and Silard
1625 K Street, N.W.
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear John:

I am sorry I did not get to see you again while in Washington. I did call Friday but you were at lunch. My stay got very crowded, as always seems to happen.

I'll be more than glad to see you. Please let me know when you can make it. In the meantime, I am enclosing a few of our publications that have dealt with the protest movement.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:mbb
Enc. Waiting Room Practices in 21 Southern Cities 7/17/59
Toward A Solution of the Sit-In Controversy by Margaret Price 5/31/60
The Student Protest Movement [redacted] 2/25/60
Lunch-Counter Desegregation in Corpus Christi, Galveston, and San Antonio, Texas, Kenneth Morland 5/10/60
The Freedom Ride, May, 1960
The Student Protest Movement: A Recapitulation Sept.,1961
L Reports 20-22-28
New South, July/August, September,1961
Racial Violence
Civil Disobedience - Dunbar

LAW OFFICES
RAUH AND SILARD
1625 K STREET, NORTHWEST
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

JOSEPH L. RAUH, JR.
JOHN SILARD
DANIEL H. POLLITT
HARRIETT R. TAYLOR

737-7795

January 10, 1962

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

The United States Civil Rights Commission has contracted for a special project which I am preparing in the next few weeks and with which I hope that you might be of some assistance. The project involves the preparation of a private "pilot study" for the Commission of the problem of discrimination in places of public service, which has evoked the recent "sit-in" movement. This preliminary study will survey potential lines of governmental action to foster abandonment of discrimination in public places, action both by the courts, the legislative and the executive departments.

As one who is a close observer of these matters and has doubtless some valuable suggestions to make in this area, I hope that you will be free to meet with me briefly sometime before the middle of February for an informal private conversation on this subject. I will assume this to be the case unless I hear from you to the contrary and my secretary will then make arrangements for a convenient time for our talk.

Sincerely yours,

John Silard

John Silard

file
Silard

LAW OFFICES
RAUH AND SILARD
1625 K STREET, NORTHWEST
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

JOSEPH L. RAUH, JR.
JOHN SILARD
DANIEL H. POLLITT
HARRIETT R. TAYLOR

737-7795

February 5, 1962

VIA AIR MAIL

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

Thank you for sending me valuable materials concerning the sit-ins. My original plans to come to Atlanta this month have somewhat changed. I am now planning to submit my report in interim form to the Civil Rights Commission at the end of this month and possibly to come to Atlanta toward the middle or end of March. I would hope that you will still be available then to meet with me and if, in the meantime, you should be coming to Washington that we could have a brief meeting here.

Sincerely,

John Silard

John Silard

BCC: Wiley Branton
plus copy of Silver's letter

November 27, 1962

Professor James W. Silver
College of Liberal Arts
The University of Mississippi
University, Mississippi

Dear Jim:

The check for your expenses is enclosed.

You did a tremendous job and were altogether the star of the meeting.

Thank you for your letter. I was glad to get the reassuring note about Meredith.

The next issue of New South will have something in about voter registration difficulties in Mississippi, and we shall send it to you. Enclosed is an older New South which also had a piece. Had you been at the meeting Monday afternoon you would have heard Wiley Branton giving a lurid description of some events out there which will be covered in less detail in the forthcoming New South. I am passing your letter on to Wiley with the request that he write to you further if he has anything to send off.

I am putting you on our mailing list as of now and entering also a one year gift subscription for New South.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar

LWD:A
Enclosures:
New South, Oct. 1961
Hayden, Revolution in Mississippi
L-38
Check

THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI
COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS
UNIVERSITY, MISSISSIPPI

Department of History

November 21, 1962

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Atreet, N. W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Leslie:

My main report to you is that this morning I had a long talk with Jim Meredith and I am now convinced, even more than I was at the meeting, that he has the brains and the will to complete his school work here without serious trouble. He has been in a little trouble but most of the reports of his scholastic failure have been the result of poor reporting and harassing tactics.

I enjoyed my visit with you very much. Tuesday morning I went out to Emory to talk to a class or two and to renew acquaintanceship there.

If you have any sort of report on difficulties in voter registration in Mississippi, I would like to have it very much. For my next year's address at the Southern Historical Association meeting, I am going to review the efforts at thought control in Mississippi and I need information regarding various pressure tactics, etc. As a matter of fact, I would appreciate being put on your mailing list.

Enclosed is my statement of expenses for the trip to Atlanta.

Sincerely,

James W. Silver

James W. Silver

December 13, 1962

Mr. Tobias Simon
Simon & Rosen
706 Ainsley Building
14 N. E. First Avenue
Miami 32, Florida

Dear Mr. Simon: #1281-ss

I read your letter of December 10 with great interest and shared it with a couple of others here. I hope you will keep us informed on the developments in Tallahassee and Orlando. Do I infer correctly that you are representing the plaintiffs?

I agree with you completely about the desirability of more civil suits. We have been baffled over the failure of Mr. C. B. King in Albany to bring such a suit after his caning by the Sheriff, though I am given to understand he may yet do so. I was told, as a matter of fact, the other day that several civil suits in the southwest Georgia area are being discussed; whether anything will come of them I simply could not guess.

There are, of course, some practical considerations which operate here. One is the shortage of Negro lawyers and, for that matter, the even more restricted number of Negro lawyers who will undertake a civil rights case. And secondly, there is the deplorable shortage of white lawyers in the South who will represent either plaintiffs or defendents in unpopular causes.

On top of these practical considerations, there is another factor keeping down the number of plaintiffs who might come forward. Though by no means a universal sentiment, there is a strong philosophical conviction among some of the Negroes committed to non-violence, especially among the student cadres, against suing. They have, as a matter of fact, in their conferences and bull sessions had long talks about this, and there is a school of thought which sees a suit as a form of retaliation inconsistent with the philosophy of non-violence. As one of the students once put it to me, "you don't sue your brother." In a couple of instances which I know of personally, pickets who had been physically attacked have even declined, despite urging, to swear out warrents. So this adds to the problem.

With very best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

LWD:A

Leslie W. Dunbar

Simon

PA – he sounds like a good man. I wonder if our Fla friends ~~have to~~ know him

LAW OFFICES

SIMON & ROSEN

706 AINSLEY BUILDING, 14 N. E. FIRST AVENUE
MIAMI 32, FLORIDA
TELEPHONES FR 3-6383 · FR 9-5687

TOBIAS SIMON
MAURICE ROSEN

December 10, 1962 PLEASE REPLY NUMBER: 1281-ss

Leslie W. Dunbar
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Five Forsythe Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

I have your kind letter of November 29, 1962, together with the enclosures. I have read all of them thoroughly and with great interest. I am obliged to state that your criticism that the United States Government did not act officially (or unofficially) is more than justified; it is an understatement of the truth.

Nevertheless, I continue to be plagued with one question: Why have not suits been brought against the city officials seeking damages under the civil provisions of the Civil Rights Act? Much has been said about the failure of the Government to bring criminal action under the criminal provisions of the same act, although admittedly the same are merely misdemeanors, and at best, convictions would be exceptionally difficult.

On the other hand, the burden of proof in a civil action is considerably less, and if there has been a civil rights violation, the Negro victim is entitled to a trial in the United States District Court. Anyone who has been sued will relate that the defense of an action for damages gives one much room for thought and it is exceedingly possible that the provoking action might not be repeated.

Such was the situation in Tallahassee on recent date. Negro students engaged in a sit-in demonstration, were arrested at the request of the proprietor of a bus station restaurant. This was subsequently followed by a trial, conviction and fine. It was also followed by a suit against the lessee of the restaurant as well as against the city officials for violating the rights of the Negro sit-in demonstrators as are protected by the Civil Rights Act. As of this writing, the proprietor of the restaurant has agreed to cease and desist from all discriminatory practices if he can be released from the lawsuit; for the first time in recent memory, sit-in demonstrators in McCrory's and Woolworth's in Tallahassee were not arrested (although it is true that the lunch counters were closed down). A similar suit is being undertaken, as of this writing, against the proprietor of a municipally-owned restaurant at the Orlando airport. I personally, am satisfied that a civil suit is far more efficacious in bringing sense to the unenlightened than a pious bleating that the Federal Government institute an inoffensive misdemeanor action against the perpetrator.

I will be pleased to keep you advised on subsequent developments if you are interested. In a sense, this is the type of direct action that I had in mind when I wrote to you at first, and suggested that it might not be fair simply to criticize the Government; such criticism, coupled with a few offensive weapons of one's own, will, I think, more likely lead to best results.

With kindest personal regards.

Very truly yours,

Tobias Simon

TOBIAS SIMON

TS:ev

Memo from JAMES A. MOSS

Les —

File Sigma Delta Chi

Has Bob Baker or Claude Sitton written any series of articles that could qualify.

Sigma Delta Chi Awards

For distinguished service in Journalism...

35 EAST WACKER DRIVE : CHICAGO 1, ILLINOIS : TELEPHONE CENTRAL 6-6577

SPECIAL BULLETIN

1962 SIGMA DELTA CHI AWARDS NOMINATION FORMS ENCLOSED

Here are official forms for use in making nominations for the Sigma Delta Chi Awards for Distinguished Service in Journalism.

Rules covering prizes, nominations, exhibits and other information are given with the forms.

If you know of some work done during 1961 by a man or woman you believe qualifies for nomination for this distinguished journalism honor, use the enclosed forms.

You have until February 1, 1962 to send it in. However, we would suggest that you consider now -- rather than wait until too late.

Additional forms may be obtained from National Headquarters, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Illinois.

NOTE: (From the Manual of Procedure and Information)

With respect to the National Sigma Delta Chi Awards for Distinguished Service in Journalism, chapters should make eligible community participants conscious of the various divisions and urge entries as soon as The QUILL carries the first announcement of the competition. (December 1961)

Chapters can help National publicize this contest in all its phases by taking upon themselves the responsibility for publicizing the event locally. National assists by supplying a quantity of rules and nomination forms to each Professional and Undergraduate Chapter. These should be widely distributed.

While award publicity and advertising in the past has been very good in The QUILL and in the trade press generally, it needs to be even more widespread. This does not mean that The QUILL is an ineffective medium, nor that the trade press is ineffectual. It simply points up the fact that both QUILL and other trade publications reach a limited readership, one that does not bother to tear out notices and post them. Even if this was done, one notice - or several in a newspaper office or radio-TV station, would be insufficient. In addition to the posted notices, those eligible must be personally approached and asked to compete.

Sigma Delta Chi Awards

For distinguished service in Journalism...

1962 AWARDS ANNOUNCEMENT

General Information

AWARDS

The Sigma Delta Chi Awards for Distinguished Service in Journalism have been awarded annually since 1932 for outstanding achievements in journalism during a calendar year and winners are usually announced in April.

The awards proper consist of bronze medallions and accompanying plaques.

NOMINATIONS

Nominations may be made by the author or any other party. Awards are open to both members and non-members of Sigma Delta Chi and may be either men or women.

DEADLINE

February 1, 1962, is the deadline for nominations. Entries postmarked on that date will be accepted. Do not send entries after that date. Mail entries to:

Sigma Delta Chi Awards in Journalism
35 East Wacker Drive — Suite 856
Chicago 1, Illinois

GENERAL RULES

All awards are offered for specific work done during the calendar year 1961.

Exhibits cannot be returned and become the property of Sigma Delta Chi.

Each nomination must be accompanied by an exhibit and nomination form filled out by typewriter or printed. Additional forms are available or may be duplicated by any method.

A brief biography and photograph of nominee must accompany each nomination for categories 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 13, and 15. The awards are made to individuals. Also for 11 and 13 if nomination is for an individual.

A nomination intended for more than one category requires a separate exhibit and nomination form for each.

Each nomination form must be clearly marked to show category name and number in space provided. Tapes and films must be clearly labeled with title, category name and number.

Nomination forms must be attached firmly to outside of exhibit scrapbook or notebook. For category 5, attach form firmly to back upper left hand corner of mounting.

CATEGORY RULES

Categories 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, and 9 — in scrapbook or notebook form, measuring not larger than 15 inches by 20 inches. Bulk and weight kept to minimum. Full page displays folded in half.

Category 5 — mounted no larger than 16 inches by 20 inches. Nomination form attached firmly to back upper left hand corner of mounting. Series counting as one entry tied together.

Category 10 — limited to typescripts.

Categories 11 and 13 — consist of recordings, tapes or film, and a typewritten summary.

Category 12—consists of recordings or tapes with typewritten summary.

Category 14—consists of film (if available) and/or typewritten summary.

Category 15—consists of manuscript, printed book or galley proofs. Five copies (if available).

NOMINATIONS NOT MEETING THE ABOVE SPECIFICATIONS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED FOR JUDGING.

JUDGING

The material submitted for consideration for the awards will be judged by a jury of veteran and distinguished journalists. All decisions will be final. Any award may be withheld in case the judges decide that none of the material submitted is worthy of special recognition.

Awards Categories

PRESS (Newspapers)

1. General Reporting: For a distinguished example of a reporter's work, either a single story, or a series on a related subject, published during the year, the test being readability, accuracy and completeness, interest, enterprise and resourcefulness of the reporter in overcoming obstacles.

2. Editorial Writing: For a distinguished example of an editor's work, either a single editorial or a series relating to the same subject, published during the year; editorials by any one writer being limited to three, a series on a single topic counting as one entry.

3. Washington Correspondence: For a distinguished example of a Washington, D. C., correspondent's work, either a single article or dispatch, or a series of articles on the same or related subject matter, published during the year.

4. Foreign Correspondence: For a distinguished example of a foreign correspondent's work, either a single dispatch or a series related to the same subject matter, published during the year.

5. News Photography: For an outstanding example of a news photographer's work, either a single picture, or sequence or series of pictures, published during the year; photographs by any one person being limited to six, a series on a single topic counting as one entry. Either staff photographers or free lance.

6. Editorial Cartoon: For a distinguished example of a cartoonist's work, a single cartoon published during the year, the determining qualities being craftsmanship, interest, forcefulness and general worth; cartoons by any one person being limited to six (do not send more).

7. Public Service in Newspaper Journalism: For an outstanding public service rendered by a newspaper in which exceptional courage or initiative is displayed in face of opposition from anti-social forces, political, or other discouraging or hampering forces. Nominations are to be accompanied by a complete file of clippings together with a statement of facts concerning the circumstances which prompted the newspaper in its undertaking and the results obtained. Those who want to enter full pages, to show display, should fold them in half.

PRESS (Magazines)

8. Magazine Reporting: For a distinguished example of current events reporting by a magazine writer, either a single article or series related to the same subject, published in a magazine of general circulation during the year.

9. Public Service in Magazine Journalism: For an exceptionally noteworthy example of public service rendered editorially or pictorially by a magazine of general circulation, special consideration being given to leadership or service achieved in the face of anti social, political or other hampering forces, other tests being extent of good accomplished, enterprise, initiative, and effectiveness of presentation through pictures, articles, editorials and other graphic means; nominations being accompanied by a complete file of clippings together with a statement of facts concerning the circumstances which prompted the magazine in its undertaking and the results obtained.

RADIO OR TELEVISION

10. Radio or Television Commentary: For a distinguished example of effective editorial analyses and other such expressions of opinion by a station or individual; nominations consisting of a complete script.

RADIO

11. Radio Reporting: For the most distinguished example of spot news reporting of a single news event, scheduled or unscheduled, broadcast by radio as it happened or soon after it happened; exhibits consisting of a typewritten summary and recordings or tapes, running time not longer than thirty minutes. This award may go to an individual, a station, or a network.

12. Public Service in Radio Journalism: For an outstanding example of public service by an individual radio station or network through radio journalism, the test being the worth of the public service, the effectiveness of the presentation by the station or network, and the unselfish or public-spirited motives, bearing in mind that the broadcasts must be journalistic in nature, not entertainment; commercially sponsored radio programs not being eligible unless produced and controlled by the broadcasting station; exhibits consisting of a typewritten summary, disc recordings or tapes not to exceed thirty minutes.

TELEVISION

13. Television Reporting: For the most distinguished example of spot news reporting of a single news event, scheduled or unscheduled; broadcast by television as it happened or soon after it happened; exhibits consisting of typewritten summary and if available, a segment or summary of 16 mm film or kinescope, not longer than thirty minutes. This award may go to an individual, station, or a network.

14. Public Service in Television Journalism: For an outstanding example of public service by an individual television station or network through television journalism, the test being the worth of the public service, the effectiveness of the presentation by the station or network, and the unselfish or public-spirited motives, bearing in mind that the broadcasts must be journalistic in nature and not entertainment; commercially sponsored programs not being eligible unless produced and controlled by the broadcasting station; entries consisting of a typewritten summary and if available, a segment or summary of 16 mm film or kinescope, not longer than thirty minutes.

RESEARCH

15. Research About Journalism: For an outstanding investigative study about some phase of journalism based upon original research, either published or unpublished, and completed during the year. A copy for each of five judges is requested, if available.

NOMINATION FORM

1962 Sigma Delta Chi Awards

Using typewriter or print, please fill out carefully and completely. Send before February 1, 1962, to:

SIGMA DELTA CHI AWARDS IN JOURNALISM
35 East Wacker Drive, Suite 856 • Chicago 1, Illinois

Name of Category: _____ Category No. _____

Nominee: _____
(in Public Service Entries give name of Newspaper, Magazine, Radio or TV Station.)

Nominee's occupation-title: _____
(In Public Service Entries give name of publisher, president, etc.)

Nominee's address: _____

Submitted by: _____

Address: _____

City and State: _____

Exhibit material consists of the following:

PRESS	☐ Clippings	☐ Photos	☐ Photostats	RADIO	☐ Recordings	☐ Tape (clearly labeled)	☐ Script
	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)		_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)
RESEARCH	☐ Book	☐ Manuscript	☐ Proofs	TELEVISION	☐ Film (16mm)	☐ Kinescope (clearly labeled)	☐ Script
	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)		_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)	_____ (Quantity)

THIS NOMINATION FORM MUST ACCOMPANY EXHIBIT MATERIAL CHECKED ABOVE.

Do Not Send Separately!
Use space below for a brief biography of Nominee and attach photo (except Public Service categories) unless included in exhibit material.

If additional forms are needed for additional nominations, this form may be duplicated by any method.

PREVIOUS WINNERS

Sigma Delta Chi Distinguished Service Awards

Dates given here indicate year during which the work was done

RESEARCH ABOUT JOURNALISM:

1935 Oscar W. Riegel
1936 Ralph O. Nafziger
1937 Alfred McClung Lee
1938 Frank Luther Mott
1939 Norval Neil Luxon
1940 Paul F. Lazarsfeld
1944 Earl English
1945 Frank Thayer
1946 Ralph D. Case, Bruce Lannes Smith and Harold D. Lasswell
1947 James E. Pollard
1948 J. Edward Gerald
1949 Edwin Emery
1950 Robert S. Harper
1952 Curtis D. MacDougall
1953 Harold L. Cross
1954 Edwin Emery and Henry Ladd Smith
1956 Theodore B. Peterson
1957 Frank Luther Mott
1958 L. John Martin
1959 Warren C. Price
1960 Leonard W. Levy

GENERAL REPORTING:

1939 Meigs O. Frost
1940 Basil Brewer
1942 Jack Vincent
1943 Julius M. Klein and Ralph S. O'Leary
1944 Edward J. Doherty
1945 James P. McGuire and John J. McPhaul
1946 John M. McCullough
1947 George Goodwin
1948 Richard C. Looman
1949 Bob Considine
1950 Edward B. Simmons
1951 Victor Cohn
1952 Chalmer M. Roberts
1953 Carl T. Rowan
1954 Richard Hyer and William P. Walsh
1955 Victor Cohn
1956 Alfred Kuettner
1957 Pierre J. Huss
1958 Victor Cohn
1959 Saul Pett
1960 Robert Colby Nelson

EDITORIAL WRITING:

1939 W. W. Waymack
1940 Allen Drury
1942 Alexander Kendrick
1943 Milton Lehman
1944 Felix R. McKnight
1945 Francis P. Locke
1946 John W. Hillman
1947 Alan Barth
1948 Virginius Dabney
1949 John Crider
1950 Bradley L. Morison
1951 Robert M. White II
1952 Virginius Dabney
1953 John N. Reddin
1954 Robert Estabrook
1955 James Jackson Kilpatrick
1956 Sylvan Meyer
1957 Vermont Royster
1958 J. D. Maurice
1959 Cecil Prince
1960 Hodding Carter III

EDITORIAL CARTOONING:

1942 Jacob Burck
1943 Charles Werner
1944 Henry Barrow
1945 Reuben L. Goldberg
1946 Dorman H. Smith
1947 Bruce Russell
1948 Herbert Block
1949 Herbert Block
1950 Bruce Russell
1951 Herbert Block and Bruce Russell
1952 Cecil Jensen
1953 John Fischetti
1954 Calvin Alley
1955 John Fischetti
1956 Herbert Block
1957 Scott Long
1958 Clifford H. Baldowski
1959 Charles Gordon Brooks
1960 Dan Dowling

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE:

1939 Kenneth T. Downs
1940 Leland Stowe
1942 Keith Wheeler
1943 Frederick Kuh
1944 Frederick Kuh
1945 Arnaldo Cortesi
1946 Charles Gratke
1947 Daniel DeLuce
1948 Nat Barrows
1949 Kingsbury Smith
1950 Keyes Beech
Don Whitehead
1951 Ferdinand Kuhn
1952 Ernest S. Pisko
1953 Alexander Campbell
1954 Carl T. Rowan
1955 Carl T. Rowan
1956 Russell Jones
1957 Harrison E. Salisbury
1958 John Strohm
1959 William H. Stringer
1960 Smith Hempstone, Jr.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE:

1942 Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen
1943 Sam O'Neal
1944 Marquis W. Childs
1945 Peter Edson
1946 Wallace R. Deuel
1947 Bert Andrews
1948 W. McNeil Lowry
1949 Jack Steele
1950 William K. Hutchinson
1951 John Hightower
1952 Clark R. Mollenhoff
1953 Richard L. Wilson
1954 Clark R. Mollenhoff
1955 Joseph and Stewart Alsop
1956 Bem Price
1957 Robert T. Hartmann
1958 James Reston
1959 Vance Trimble
1960 James Clayton, Julius Duscha, Murrey Marder and Bernard Nossiter

RADIO OR TV NEWSWRITING:

1939 Albert Warner
1940 Cecil Brown
1942 Fulton Lewis, Jr.
1946 Harry M. Cochran
1947 Alex Dreier
1948 Merrill Mueller
1949 Elmer Davis
1950 Leo O'Brien and Howard Maschmeier
1951 William E. Griffith, Jr.
1952 Clifton Utley
1953 Charles J. Chatfield
1954 Reuben Frank
1955 Charles Shaw
1956 Howard K. Smith
1957 Jerry Rosholt
1958 Harold R. Meier
1959 Gene Marine
1960 David Brinkley

RADIO REPORTING:

1946 Allen Stout
1947 James C. McNamara
1948 George J. O'Connor
1949 Sid Pletzsch
1950 Jack E. Krueger
1951 Jim Monroe
1953 Gordon Gammack
1954 Richard Chapman
1955 John Chancellor
1956 Edward J. Green
1957 Dave Muhlstein
1958 Winston Burdett
1959 Donald H. Weston
1960 Frederick A. Goerner

TELEVISION REPORTING:

1952 Charles and Eugene Jones
1954 Spencer Allen
1955 Paul Alexander and Gael Boden
1956 Ernest Leiser — Jerry Schwartzkoff and Julian B. Hoshal — Dick Hance
1957 Jim Bennett
1958 WBBM-TV News Department
1959 WGN-TV News Department
1960 WTVJ-TV News Department

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHY:

1946 Frank Q. Brown
1947 Paul Calvert
1948 Frank Jurkoski
1949 Chicago Daily News
1950 David Douglas Duncan
1951 Edward DeLuga and Roger Wrenn
1952 Robert I. Wendlinger
1953 Bill Wilson
1954 Leslie Dodds
1955 Richard B. Yager
1956 Dan Tompkins
1957 Eldred C. Reaney
1958 Andrew St. George
1959 Andrew Lopez
1960 J. Parke Randall

MAGAZINE REPORTING:

1949 Lester Velie
1950 Gordon Schendel
1951 Bill Davidson
1952 Bill Davidson
1953 James P. O'Donnell
1954 Marshall MacDuffie
1955 Fletcher Knebel
1956 John Bartlow Martin
1957 Harold H. Martin
1958 John L. Cobbs
1959 John Robert Coughlan
1960 Hobart Rowen

PUBLIC SERVICE IN NEWSPAPER JOURNALISM:

1949 Star-Gazette, Moose Lake, Minnesota
1950 Atlanta (Ga.) Journal
1951 Chicago Sun-Times
1952 Wall Street Journal
1953 Chicago Daily News
Houston Post
1954 Cleveland Plain Dealer
1955 The Register-Pajaronian
Watsonville, California
1956 The Oregonian, Portland, Oregon
1957 Des Moines (Ia.) Register and Tribune
Minneapolis (Minn.) Star and Tribune
1958 Tampa (Fla.) Tribune
1959 Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution
1960 Leesburg (Fla.) Daily Commercial

PUBLIC SERVICE IN RADIO JOURNALISM:

1949 Station WTTS, Bloomington, Indiana
1950 Station WAVZ, New Haven, Connecticut
1951 Station WMAQ, Chicago, Illinois
1952 Station WMT, Cedar Rapids, Iowa
1953 CBS Radio Network
1954 CBS Radio Network
1955 Station WMAQ, Chicago, Illinois
1956 CBS Radio Network
1957 Station KNX, Los Angeles, Calif.
1958 CBS Radio Network
1959 WIP Radio, Philadelphia, Pa.
1960 WBT Radio, Charlotte, N.C.

PUBLIC SERVICE IN TELEVISION JOURNALISM:

1952 WBNS-TV, Columbus, Ohio
1953 WHAS-TV, Louisville, Kentucky
1954 Dumont Television Network
American Broadcasting Company
1955 Station KAKE-TV, Wichita, Kansas
1956 Station KPIX, San Francisco, Calif.
1957 Station WBZ-TV, Boston, Mass.
1958 Station KNXT, Hollywood, Calif.
1959 Station WBZ-TV, Boston, Mass.
1960 NBC Television Network, N.Y.

PUBLIC SERVICE IN MAGAZINE JOURNALISM:

1949 Collier's
1950 Collier's
1951 McCall's
1952 LOOK
1953 LOOK
1954 Saturday Evening Post
1955 LOOK
1956 Life
1957 The Reporter
1958 Life
1959 Saturday Evening Post
1960 The Saturday Review

(Following award categories discontinued):

COURAGE IN JOURNALISM:

1939 New Orleans (La.) States
1942 Guthrie County Vedette, Panora, Iowa
1943 Lowell (Mass.) Sunday Telegram
1944 Milwaukee Journal
1945 New Orleans (La.) States
1946 Kansas City (Mo.) Star
1947 Memphis Press-Scimitar
1948 Philadelphia Inquirer

(This category became "Public Service in Newspaper Journalism" in 1949)

NEWSPAPER CARTOONING:

1948 Ed Dodd
1950 Milton Caniff

SPECIAL AWARDS:

1943 Raymond Clapper (Posthumous) "William Allen White Memorial Award"

WAR CORRESPONDENCE:

1943 Ernie Pyle (Raymond Clapper Memorial Award)
1944 Ernie Pyle (Human Interest)
Henry T. Gorrell (Spot News)
1945 John Graham Dowling

GOLD KEY
AWARDS OF 1932
Paul Scott Mowrer
Philip Hale
Franklin P. Adams
Alexander Dana Noyes
Jay N. (Ding) Darling
Casper S. Yost

THE POTOMAC INSTITUTE, INC.
1501 18TH ST., N.W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

12/4/61

PA - pls check with Ball, Jim, Maggie for suggestions

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N. W., Rm. 201
Atlanta 3, Georgia

No ideas

How about Maggie for shirts + Frets?

April 4, 1963

Mr. John Silard
Rauh and Silard
1625 "K" Street, N. W.
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear John:

I have finished reading State Executive Authority Promotes Civil Rights, and you did a good job. You are writing about things which nobody down here has yet thought about. But we will.

All the best.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj
cc, H. C. Fleming

June 5, 1963

Mr. Tobias Simon
Simon & Rosen Law Offices
706 Ainsley Building
14 N. E. First Avenue
Miami 32, Florida

Dear Mr. Simon:

Just a word of appreciation for the magnificent job you did in the Tallahassee picketing.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

June 6, 1963

Mr. Tobias Simon
Simon & Rosen Law Offices
706 Ainsley Building
14 N. E. First Avenue
Miami 32, Florida

Dear Mr. Simon:

Just a word of appreciation for the magnificent job you did in the Tallahassee picketing case.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

WB ✓ you may be interested in seeing the complaint

VJ

SB - file

~~LD~~

LAW OFFICES

TOBIAS SIMON

INGRAHAM BUILDING ANNEX
223 SOUTHEAST FIRST STREET
MIAMI 32, FLORIDA

TELEPHONE FRANKLIN 7-4627

PLEASE REPLY NUMBER:

June 11, 1963

MJ - file letter

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Five Forsyth Street, N.W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Leslie:

Thank you for your kind words--but the people to be thanked are the college students who had the courage to demonstrate. I really don't know where they get it from.

enclosed!

Under separate cover, I enclose a copy of the complaint which we are filing on their behalf against the theatres. Your comments will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

TOBIAS SIMON

TS:ev

14
16

Hobart Ballou
Sent Reg

July 31, 1963

Mr. Tobias Simon
Ingraham Building Annex
223 Southeast First Street
Miami 32, Florida

Dear Tobias:

You were good enough, in your letter of June 11, to ask for my comments on the complaint you filed in behalf of Patricia Due and others in Tallahassee. Being a non-lawyer, all that I can say is that I read it with great admiration. Wiley Branton, who is a lawyer, read it with professional appreciation.

Best of luck, and I hope that sometime you will get up to Atlanta and we can have a chat.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

File "Si" Gen. Corresp.

July 8, 1964

Miss Jeanne Simmons
239 East 79th Street
New York, New York

Dear Miss Simmons:

Thank you so much for your letter of June 26.

I hope that you will come to see us when you are in the South, and I wish you all success in your work for the Lawyers' Constitutional Defense Committee.

We are sending Dr. Graham another copy of the magazine.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

RHA
LD

√ 00 CR
6/30/64
RHA

Miss Jeanne Simmons
239 East 79th Street
New York, N.Y. 10021

26 June

Dear Mr Dunbar,

I am enclosing my check for a subscription to New South, to which our mutual friend, Frank Graham has introduced me.

6-30-64 ✓

Incidentally, Frank gave me his copy of Vol. 19, No. 5, dated May 1964 on condition that I ~~give~~ get him another. Would you please start my subscription with the May issue and send it to Mr. Graham?

Send F. P. Graham

I shall visit the South in a few weeks in the interest of the Lawyers' Constitutional Defense Committee, to record and write their summer saga. Hopefully, my journey will bring me to Atlanta where, of course, I would want to visit the Council, and particularly, to meet and talk with you.

Most sincerely,

Jeanne Simmons

Original ltr to Janet Smith for change of address

Re-file "Si" gen.

Note as of Sept. 1: Ex. Dir. Community Relc. Bd. Dade County Courthouse Miami, Fla.

July 18, 1966

Mr. H. B. Sissel
110 Maryland Avenue, N. E.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Ben:

This will acknowledge receipt of your request for a change of address, and at least express our hopes of doing do. These things do get complicated at times.

This appointment comes as quite a surprise to me, but congratulations! It's very good to have you in the South, even the Miami South, and I hope we can work very closely together.

Every good wish,

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

January 29, 1969

Mr. Samuel J. Simmons
7244 - 15th Place, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20012

Dear Sam:

This is to extend, from all of us here, our enthusiastic congratulations on your appointment.

Needless to say, I hope you will give us an opportunity to be of assistance whenever we can.

Best.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

November 14, 1969

Mr. & Mrs. Courtney Siceloff
Penn Community Services
St. Helena Island
Frogmore, South Carolina

Dear Courtney and Lib:

If I could not make it to South Carolina, I can hardly make it to Afghanistan.

All of us here share this thought, but selfishly, I want you to know particularly that our deep affection and great admiration go with you both.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

NOTES ON THE WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE
"TO FULFILL THESE RIGHTS"
June 1 and 2, 1966
Washington, D.C.

Frogmore, SC 29920
October 28, 1969

Dear Paul-

To avoid vacuuming I'm excavating a bit on my desk. Among other treasures I turned up this lovely pad of note-paper (can you believe there ever was a 1966 as a White House conf on civil rights?) and the copy of that talk you made at Tuskegee, which I really can believe that I read and liked.

Now, old sport, you have put off writing that book at the beach house too long, and we have gone & rented the house for 18 months. As I see it the only alternative is for us to find an Afghan for you to sit upon and meditate.

Address as of 12/15/69: Courtney Sixteff
Peace Corps
c/o American Embassy
KABUL
Afghanistan

Will meet you at the Khyber Pass. Bring peanut butter and booze; I hear both are scarce.

LOVE

Lib + Courtney

Dr. James V. Silver
4534 W. Hanna
Ave
Tampa, Florida

Put on Mailing list

November 14, 1969

Dr. James V. Silver
4534 West Hanna Avenue
Tampa, Florida

Dear Jim:

Having interrupted myself first for our annual meeting and than a mild illness (an inevitable part of the annual meeting) I now get to the note I made on your telephone call relative to Meredith and your research. I find, however, that I am very vague as to just what you had hoped to get from us since, of course, our clipping file for that period relative to Meredith and the University are very thick. My sincere apologies both for this delay and confusion.

Iffyou would be good enough to outline briefly in writing what you wish us to do to help you we will get about it/

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

Atlanta Constitution
Sibley Article

June 21, 1944

Rev. G. E. Clary, Superintendent
The Methodist Church
111 Lamar Street
Macon, Georgia

Dear Mr. Clary:

Thank you for your letter of June 20 and for the copy of your letter to the Atlanta Constitution. I hope that the Constitution gets many such letters and that it will publish some of them.

I am looking forward to a long talk with you about the Georgia Committee on Interracial Cooperation. Will you be coming to Atlanta some time during the next few weeks? I shall be away from June 28 through July 2 and from July 13 through July 15.

Sincerely yours,

GUY B. JOHNSON
Executive Director

GBJ:m

THE METHODIST CHURCH

RESIDENCE:
111 LAMAR STREET

G. E. CLARY, SUPERINTENDENT
MACON DISTRICT
MACON, GEORGIA

OFFICE:
MULBERRY ST. CHURCH

June 20, 1944.

Dr. Guy B. Johnson,
710 Standard Building,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Doctor Johnson:

I appreciate very much your kindness in sending me the article by Cellestine Sibly appearing in the Atlanta Constitution. I am enclosing for your information a copy of my letter to the editor. I certainly agree with you that we should commend the press for a fair stand on the question of race. It is so easy at times like this for the press to keep quiet if not to actually inflame public sentiment.

I hope to have a chance to talk with you about the Georgia Committee on Interracail Cooperation. I am convinced that what ever we do must be a vital part of the work which is being done by the Southern Regional Council.

With sincere good wishes, I am

Yours very cordially,

G. E. Clary

G. E. Clary

June 20, 1944.

The Editor,
Atlanta Constituion,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Sir:

Allow me to take this occasion to thank you for Cellestine Sibley's article, "Negroes Train For Citizenship" in the June 19th issue of your paper. This is a splendid article and will, I am sure, do much to further racial understanding and appreciation. I trust that this type of news story may become more general in our public press. I commend you most sincerely for this service.

With continued good wishes for the success of your undertaking, I am

Yours very cordially,

G. E. Clary

Paine College

ESTABLISHED 1882

AUSPICES METHODIST CHURCH AND COLORED METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

E.C. PETERS, PRESIDENT

Augusta, Georgia

June 24, 1944.

Mr. Guy B. Johnson, Executive Director
SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL, Inc.,
710 Standard Building
Atlanta, 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Johnson:

Thank you so much for your letter of June 19 enclosing clipping from the June 19 Atlanta Constitution on NEGROES TRAIN FOR CITIZENSHIP, an article written by Miss Celestine Sibley.

No, I had not seen this article and would not have seen it if you had not very kindly sent me this clipping. I do not see the Constitution often, although I do enjoy reading it very much and from time to time purchase copies since I am not a regular subscriber. I am very glad to comply with your suggestion to write Mr. Ralph McGill a letter of appreciation for having this article printed in the Constitution. Also, I am writing Miss Sibley.

There is a great deal of work in Negro Citizenship goong on here in Augusta, although not in as organized was as in Atlanta. I think it will be possible by September or October to get an article on this work written and published in the papers here in Augusta. I think both the Chronicle and the Herald are interested in work of this nature and would cooperate in a very helpful way.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

E C Peters

ECP:G

Columbia Theological Seminary

Decatur, Georgia

June 22 1944

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Guy B. Johnson, Executive Director
710 Standard Bldg.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I wish to thank you for your letter of June 21st with reference to Celestine Sibley's article in Monday's Atlanta Constitution under the heading "Negroes Train for Citizenship."

I read the article with very great pleasure and was glad to see the number of commendatory letters in the correspondence column of today's Constitution. I think that this kind of publicity is an exceedingly fine contribution to racial understanding in the South, and I wish to congratulate you upon interesting the newspaper in publishing such a story. I feel that the Constitution is also to be congratulated and thanked for publishing it.

Cordially yours,

J. McDowell Richards

J. McDowell Richards

R:H

This letter also sent to:
Mr. E. C. Peters, Augusta, Ga.
Msgr. T. James McNamara, Savannah, Ga.
Rev. G. E. Clary, Macon, Ga.

June 19, 1944

Mrs. Audley Morton
279 Henderson Avenue
Athens, Georgia

Dear Mrs. Morton:

In today's ATLANTA CONSTITUTION there is a special article by Miss Celestine Sibley entitled "Negroes Train for Citizenship." Perhpps you have seen it, but in order to make sure that you have a chance to read it, I am enclosing a copy. I believe that Miss Sibley's article is a good example of the sort of constructive publicity which a newspaper can do when it gives a good reporter a chance to dig beneath the surface.

Ordinarily, when the CONSTITUTION prints anything of a liberal nature on the Negro, it receives more letters of condemnation than of commendation. Apparently, men of good will are not as quick to express their approval as the prejudiced are to express their disapproval. We hope that if you are so inclined you will write a note of appreciation to the editors. They are very much in need of moral support, particularly at this time when there is so much tension arising from the political situation in Georgia.

I wonder whether there is any citizenship training program going on in Athens similar to that which is described in Miss Sibley's article. I hope that there is, and that a local newspaper might become interested in reporting on it in a constructive way.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

GUY B. JOHNSON
Executive Director

GBJ:m

Agnes Scott College
Decatur, Georgia

ECONOMICS AND SOCIOLOGY

June 24, 1944.

Dr. Guy Johnson,
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

I have written to The Constitution congratulating them on the publication of Miss Sibley's excellent article. The paper was more or less pioneering in two ways - giving space to Negro activities, and not "segregating" the article. The Journal gives space every Sunday to news which is almost always of general interest, but it is "segregated" and headed "News of Atlanta's Negro Community". Maybe something could be done to give The Journal a new viewpoint.

It is good news that you have found a house and that the family will be coming soon.

Sincerely,

Mildred R. Mell

Mildred R. Mell

file "Sl" Gen
~~Sec gen. Corref~~
1965
Cr. ref. Sec gen.

MJ - file

111 Mitchel Avenue
Long Beach, New York
October 22, 1965

Executive Director
The Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N.W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Sir:

First, please don't let me impose on your traditional Southern hospitality with this letter and the enclosed questions. I know what it is to be busy and not have enough time. Therefore, any small part of your day and thoughts will not be taken for granted.

The classic "Do you have any information?" letter, as this one, was written to the State Department by a curious, incisive 10-year-old. "Dear Sir," she penned. "Please tell me all about our foreign policy in 50 words or less."

Well, at Columbia University, where class members have been given the names of specific interest groups and asked to report on them, we are still as curious as the 10-year-old, but we aren't required to be as brief.

Whether brief or long, this term paper, I hope, will accurately and fairly report on the Southern Regional Council. I shall be grateful for any information and direction that you can give.

Best regards.

Sincerely,
Thomas Slinkard
Thomas Slinkard

enc.

#1. What is the Southern Regional Council as it operates today? Specifically, what job does it do?

#2. When was it organized? By whom? Where?

#3. Why was it organized?

#4. Has there been any change between questions one and three over the years -- that is, was the Council formed for one purpose but now finds itself in a different role? If true, how so?

#5. Does the Southern Regional Council have offices outside Atlanta? If so, what other cities?

#6. What is the Council's estimated membership? Do these members affect, mold, or shape the Council's policy? If so, how? Are there specific examples of such instances? Are the Council's members limited to the South? What states do they represent?

#7. Who finances the Southern Regional Council and how?

#8. Who are the officers -- both elected and administrative? How many day-to-day administrative officers, or technicians, are there and what are some typical salaries?

#9. How does a regular work day unfold for the Council? At day's end, what policy would have been decided, what actions taken; in short, what would have been accomplished?

#10. How does the Council work to achieve its aims -- that is, does it influence public opinion, and either in public or private lobby, preach, orate, testify, cajole, threaten, lead, bargain, compromise? Are there examples you know of and can relate of how the Council worked to change policy?

#11. What role has the Council played in the civil rights struggle in the Nation? In the South alone?

#12. As you see it and can define it, what is the future of the Southern Regional Council?

#13. Are there any other remarks, directions, examples, insights that you can give that would help readers better understand the purpose and accomplishments of the Southern Regional Council?

Rec'd 1/24/66

MJ

111 Mitchel Avenue
Long Beach, New York

January 21, 1966

Mr. Paul M. Anthony
Executive Director
The Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, Northwest
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Anthony:

The Southern Regional Council report on which you kindly gave me so much help is now in the hands of the professor.

It's a better report because of your gracious help, and may I take this occasion to say thank you.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Thomas Slinkard

Thomas Slinkard

December 16, 1953

Mrs Lucy Hart Smith, Principal
Booker T Washington High School
Lexington, Kentucky

Dear Mrs Smith:

When Mr William Vastine talked with you six weeks or so ago, you thought it might be possible to get the Federated Women's Clubs to buy a good stack of the QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS pamphlet and get them out. Since then we are aware that Mrs Robinson in Louisville ordered a goodly number for the Kentucky teachers and the Kentucky Press Association has sent out a number of them. But we would like to program distribution of them through the Federated Women's Clubs. Do you think that could still be managed?

The Southern Presbyterians sent them out to each minister in that denomination from Virginia to Texas, and the Mississippi State Board of Education got a thousand of the QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS and a thousand of the CHECK LIST, and so on and so on. Object is not to sell pamphlets but to get local discussion groups going. Mrs Vivian Carter Mason, new president of the National Council of Negro Women, has had copies sent out with a letter urging discussion groups to all of their leading groups. So you can see what we are after. Do see what you can do.

Sincerely yours

George S Mitchell
Executive Director

gsm-t

August 28, 1954

Jeannette Smith
Chairman
Committee on Peace and Social Concern
23 Appian Way
West Barrington, Rhode Island

Dear Jeanette Smith:

Edward Manice, for the New England Yearly Meeting, wrote and asked us to send "a good assortment" of our materials to you, as being helpful for your consideration this year of race relations.

I send a list of our published things, and a couple of copies of our latest item, called Answers for Action: Schools in the South. It compresses the main findings of the big Ashmore Report on the Negro and the Schools, gives the whole of the Court's decision, tells things to do, and has a useful, if in this edition not too well-printed map, giving population ratios county by county in the South. It's our best foot forward, and likely to be the best item for your people to use. We intend it for local discussion groups, interracial wherever possible, as a textlet. Available at $15.00 a hundred, twenty cents each, plus postage. Do get some.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab
Material sent under separate cover this date.

August 29, 1955

Mr. William M. Cooper
Box 203
Hampton Institute
Hampton, Virginia

Dear Mr. Cooper:

I am pleased and delighted to be asked to speak on Friday evening, November 11th, at the Zion Baptist Church in Portsmouth for the Negro Organization Society on "New Opportunities in Human Relations." Of course I accept!

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab

Box 203 Hampton Institute
Hampton, Virginia
August 24, 1955

Dr. George S. Mitchell, Director
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Georgia

AUG 26 1955

Dear Dr. Mitchell,

The program committee of the Negro Organization Society has asked me to invite you to speak at its annual meeting Friday evening November 11 at the Zion Baptist Church in Portsmouth. The society will pay travel costs plus an honorarium. Please accept if you can since our theme is "New Opportunities in Human Relations" and since we will be near Norfolk and the beginning of the "Black Belt".

Will write you soon as to outlook in Virginia.

Very Sincerely
William M. Cooper

Sure! SR

September 23, 1955

Mr. E. E. Smith, Jr.
Field Secretary
Negro Organization Society, Inc.
214 East Clay Street
Room 404
Richmond 19, Virginia

Dear Mr. Smith:

Many thanks for your letter of September 21st. I will be on hand November 11th at 7:30 p.m., at the church at Portsmouth to talk about "New Opportunities in Human Relations."

My arrangement with Mr. Cooper was that you would carry my travel expenses and an honorarium.

I would be in hopes that the Society could find $100 for the Southern Regional Council. But I am perfectly willing to come for a lesser sum, if only a lesser sum is in the coffers.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab
(Dictated by Dr. Mitchell/signed in his absence)

TELEPHONE 3-6082

NEGRO ORGANIZATION SOCIETY, INC.

214 EAST CLAY STREET
ROOM 404
RICHMOND 19, VIRGINIA

OFFICE OF FIELD SECRETARY

BETTER BUSINESS
BETTER CIVICS BETTER FARMS
BETTER JOBS
BETTER HEALTH
BETTER HOMES
BETTER SCHOOLS

September 21, 1955

SEP 23 1955

Mr. George Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Alburne Avenue
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

We are indeed very appreciative and grateful to you for accepting our invitation to speak at our forty-third annual meeting.

Our theme this year is: "New Opportunities in Human Relations." Our meetings will be held at the Zion Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Virginia, November 9, 10 and 11, 1955. You are scheduled to appear on Friday, November 11 at 7:30 P.M. Please let me know the expected honorarium or fee.

Accept our best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

E. E. Smith, Jr.

E. E. Smith, Jr.
Field Secretary

EES Jr:ehj

July 5, 1956

Mr. Asa Spalding
North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co.
Durham, North Carolina

Dear Mr. Spalding:

Dr. Mitchell and others here read with interest the copy of your recent speech on Negro business, but while in circulation the copy was mislaid.

We receive a goodly number of requests for information on this subject, and would greatly appreciate it if you could send us two or three additional copies of this speech.

With all good wishes.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Assistant Director

HCF:mbo

Materials sent to Mr. Mark A. Smith

New South (1955, '56, '57, '58)
Three Views
What the Supreme Court Said
Next Steps
Public Ethics and the Integration Question
Publication Listings (25)
Special Reports:
- Pro-Segregation Groups in the South
- The Move to Disenfranchise the Negro Voter
- Report on Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Report on Nashville, Tenn.
- Religious Bodies and the Supreme Court Decision

NORMAN O. NILSEN
COMMISSIONER OF LABOR

Rec'd 4/28/58

1216 S. W. HALL ST.
PORTLAND 1, OREGON

STATE OF OREGON
BUREAU OF LABOR

CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION
MARK A. SMITH, ADMINISTRATOR

April 22, 1958

Mr. Harold Flemming, Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Ave., N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Flemming:

The Eighth Annual Oregon Forum on Intergroup Relations, sponsored by the Civil Rights Division and Civil Rights Advisory Committee, Oregon Bureau of Labor, is scheduled for Saturday, June 7, 1958.

As one feature of the Forum, we seek to display copies of as many different pamphlets in the area of racial and cultural relations as possible.

I would appreciate it very much if you could send me copies of any material of this nature you have recently published and are currently distributing to the public.

Your cooperation will be very much appreciated.

Yours very truly,

Mark A. Smith

Mark A. Smith, Administrator
Civil Rights Division
Bureau of Labor

MAS:dvr

July 21, 1959

Mr. Howard E. Smith
1812 G Street, N.W.
Washington 6, D.C.

Dear Howard:

This is a belated word of thanks for your letter of several weeks ago. It is good to know of your latest move and current interests.

Very, very little has been done on the dollar significance of the integration issue. If you should take that on -- or any other article involving The Subject, I hope you will call on us for any information we can furnish.

All the best to you.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/sl

1812 G St., N. W.
Wash. 6, D. C.
May 31, 1959

Dear Harold:

Congratulations on the Little Rock vote!

Maybe the Council's influence, direct or indirect, tipped the balance. Sounds fine to have the businessmen organizing for progress.

Here in Washington, I feel the pinch thru African friends who have trouble getting convenient housing.

I'm working on some articles on India and setting up housekeeping here in Washington at present. Want to do serious article comparing race relations and minority relations in U. S. and India sooner or later. At that time, might tackle the story, "The Dollar Costs of Delayed Integration in Business" if it hasn't been done.

Sincerely,

Howard E. Smith

Howard E. Smith

P.S. Florida was almost as nice as Georgia.

HES

Encls: Jules Cohen's summary on "Tax Exemption and Private Intergroup Relations Agencies"

Theodore Leskes (AJCttee.) memo on ...Proposed Regulations of the Internal Revenue Service... dtd. March 12, 1959

Wall Street Journal article "Tax Crackdown" dtd: December 9, 1958

National Social Welfare Assembly - Committee on Tax Policy - "New Regulations on Section 501 of Internal Revenue Code" - March 2, 1959.

SRC Publications List (mimeographed)

February 17, 1961

Mr. James A. Smith
Augustine, Smith & Warren
Attorneys at Law
1470 N. Claiborne Avenue
New Orleans 16, Louisiana

Dear Mr. Smith:

Enclosed is the Jules Cohen memorandum on tax-exemption and several other pieces of information on this subject which may be of some value to you. Also enclosed is a recent listing of SRC publications.

Thank you for your kind words about the Council's work.

If we can be of additional help, please call on us.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Assistant

PA/mf
Enclosures - 4.

✓ HCF
PA - Please handle
HCF

AUGUSTINE, SMITH & WARREN
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
1470 N. CLAIBORNE AVE.
NEW ORLEANS 16, LOUISIANA

ISRAEL M. AUGUSTINE, JR.
JAMES A. SMITH
FREDDIE B. WARREN, JR.
NATHAN K. OWENS, JR. (1921-60)

WH 9-3381

February 13, 1961

Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Gentlemen:

First, allow us to introduce ourselves; we are general counsel for Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Several years ago you were kind enough to give us, through Atty. Robert F. Collins who was then a member of our firm, some very valuable information regarding tax-exempt and would be tax-exempt organizations. This information was in the form of a summary prepared by Jules Cohen. This material inadvertantly slipped away from us.

We are now faced with the problem of trying to secure for SCLC a status whereby contributions made to the organization would be tax deductible by the donor. This must be accomplished, if the work of the Conference is to be expanded and made effective, either through the present organization or a comparison organization similar to the NAACP Education and Legal Defense Fund. The work of the organization would be principally in the area of education and would compliment the work of the organization of the NAACP and other similar organizations.

We were wondering if you would have a copy of this summary or any more recent tax material of a similar nature. If you should have such material, we would appreciate any that you could make availabe to us.

We have all closely followed the work of your organization here in the South and compliment you on the tremendous job you have done in the past and continue to do.

AUGUSTINE, SMITH & WARREN
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
1470 N. CLAIBORNE AVE.
NEW ORLEANS 16, LOUISIANA

ISRAEL M. AUGUSTINE, JR.
JAMES A. SMITH
FREDDIE B. WARREN, JR.
NATHAN K. OWENS, JR. (1921-60)

WH 9-3381

February 13, 1961

Another thing we would appreciate, if it is available, is a catalogue of your many fine publications.

We appreciate your help in the past and again implore your generosity.

Sincerely yours,

James A. Smith

of
AUGUSTINE, SMITH & WARREN
General Counsel
SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

JAS:db

January 30, 1962

Mr. Moreland G. Smith, Jr.
P. O. Box 1662
Brown University
Providence 12, Rhode Island

Dear Moreland:

Ronald Green delivered your letter yesterday and he and I had a short talk. He, with the other Brown students, had a longer visit with James Moss, our Research Director. I enjoyed seeing Green, brief as was the opportunity.

Thank you for your letter and for the enclosed contribution to SRC. An official receipt is enclosed. We have entered two New South subscriptions - one for you and the other for Mr. Baldwin. You are generous to a fault and we do feel grateful to you and very warmly appreciative.

Of course, I was interested in your experience in Baltimore. I think you are justified in being concerned for what this could mean to your parents but I rather suspect they are proud of what you are doing. I hope I may see them this Saturday when I shall be at Tuskegee speaking at the meeting of the Alabama Council.

Linda's address is Willetts Hall, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania.

Let us hear from you again, and stop by when you are in Atlanta.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:mbb
Enc. Receipt

$20.00 CR
1/29/62
RHA

MORELAND G. SMITH, JR.
P. O. BOX 1662, BROWN UNIVERSITY
PROVIDENCE 12, RHODE ISLAND

Jan 23, 196

Dear Dr. Dunbar,

I have been ~~intending~~ for the past month to write you and also send you a check. However, exams have kept me under, but this afternoon I finished the semester.

I have sent this letter with a student from Brown who is a newspaper reporter and a news director of the Brown Daily Herald. The reason he is in Atlanta is that Canon John Crocker Episcopal College Chaplain has decided it would be good to have some Brown students visit a Southern Negro college and see what it is like down there. Ronald Green, the newsreporter was sent by the school newspaper to cover the event and write about it. I thought that if you or somebody else could be ~~asked~~ interviewed by him, that the Herald could make good use of such a report. One problem up here is that the people know nothing about the South or what is going on. They want to know, but they don't have the opportunity.

MORELAND G. SMITH, JR.
P. O. BOX 1662, BROWN UNIVERSITY
PROVIDENCE 12, RHODE ISLAND

to learn. I thought that such an interview would give the students here a new way to look at the South. Also, such an interview should help Ron understand more about the South so that he can give a good coverage of the trip.

~~So~~ The rest of the letter can be read later as it is just personal. You'll never guess what I did. Yep, I mustered up the courage and went on a "Freedom Ride" -- Sit In. The New Haven Branch of CORE called me and asked me if I could supply some students for a ride to Baltimore. It was too late to get any one so I went by myself from here and joined others along the way. I'll be frank with you and tell you I was damned scared until I finally got hit and then maybe it was shock instead of calm, but I relaxed more. I caught two punches in the stomach and one on the jaw.

I can't decide whether I will do it again or not. It's not that I am upset for having done it. The problem is that I was

3. taking ~~such~~ such a gamble, not only for my sake (my prospective law career), but mainly for my parent's sake. If I had been arrested, the papers would have loved playing up the fact that a white Montgomerian, president of the school's N.A.A.C.P. chapter and a member of the Providence N.A.A.C.P. branch executive committee, that such a person exists and is arrested on a freedom ride. I can see the Montgomery Advertiser writing that up now.

Please give my love to the family. Also, could you send me Linda's address. I told her last summer I would write her at school but I don't have her address.

Sincerely yours,
Moreland

PS. The check is $20.00, $16.00 is for donation, $4.00 is for 2 subscription one for myself and one for the Rev. Charles A. Baldwin, Chaplain of the University, Brown University, Providence 12, Rhode Island.

August 22, 1962

Mrs. Moreland G. Smith
3236 Bankhead Avenue
Montgomery 6, Alabama

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Long before this I should have thanked you for your letter of June 25. Your information was the first we had received regarding the Heart of Atlanta Motel. I think your husband wrote a fine letter and I have shown it around. At least two persons, who got the same letter from the Motel, have been inspired by his reply to write similar ones.

We have enjoyed seeing Moreland once or twice this summer and I am glad to learn that he is getting along well.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

LWD:bp

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

Mrs. Moreland G. Smith
3236 Bankhead Avenue—Montgomery 6, Alabama

June 25, 1962

Mr. Leslie Dunbar
5 Forsyth St., N. W.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

Knowing how hard you are working with Atlanta establishments to persuade them to admit negroes, I am sure you were distressed when the Heart of Atlanta Motel sent out this notice.

Moreland and I felt that an indignant letter would not do any good, but that maybe the soft approach would. Since those people do not know how committed we are to this cause, a word from us from Montgomery may make them take notice, if they read it.

Anyway, here is a copy of what we wrote.

With best wishes,

Maybelle Smith

RECEIVED
JUN 26 1962

June 25, 1962

Mr. Moreton Rolleston, Jr.
President
Heart of Atlanta Motel
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Rolleston:

Having always enjoyed my visits at your motel, I was interested to receive a statement of your policy. I can certainly appreciate your fear of losing revenue should you open your doors to negroes. I have no doubt that a majority of your guests will state that they prefer it this way.

However, I imagine that as cosmopolitan a clientele as you serve is largely composed of people who frequently travel outside the South. I myself am used to seeing negroes in the Mayflower Hotel in Washington where I stay at least once a month, as well as in other cities in the United States and Europe. Though I am a native Southerner, I see no valid reason why I or anyone else should expect immunity from this contact in Atlanta.

It is largely because Atlanta has been willing to change with the times that it has forged ahead of unyielding cities such as Birmingham. The prosperity of your motel is a by-product of the prosperity of Atlanta.

It is my sincere opinion that, should you change your mind and admit negroes, you will not lose your white guests nor experience an influx of negroes. Only a few of the better class will be attracted to your establishment.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Moreland Griffith Smith

May 14, 1963

File
"Sin" - gen. concep

Miss Pattie Sherwood Smith
Broadway Central Hotel
673 Broadway
New York 12, New York

Dear Miss Smith:

Since Mr. Dunbar is out of the office, your letter of May 9th has been referred to me for reply.

I am enclosing some materials on the Southern Regional Council which may give you the background information you desire. Regarding the reprint from the Congressional Record, the state councils are now autonomous, electing their own officers and managing their own affairs and programs. This is because a local group is more able to judge what it can do and how it can best accomplish its objectives.

Sincerely yours,

Montez G. Albright (Mrs.)
Administrative Assistant

Enclosures:
SRC: its origin and aims
reprint, Congressionsl Record, Origins and Aims
The South of the Future

M.A

please write a courteous + attentive
but not overly
warm reply — tell her I'm away or something

From: Pattie Sherwood Smith

Sorry the letter is so garbled in appearance but I lined time for even a page two!
P.S.S.

Broadway Central Hotel
673 Broadway
New York 12, N.Y.
-- ORegon 4-6300,
Extension 648

May 9,1963

RECEIVED
MAY 10 1963

Mr. Leslie Dunbar
Southern Regional Councils
Five Forsyth Street
Atlanta, Ga.

My dear Mr. Dunbar:;

Yesterday I had the pleasure of an extensive interview with Miss Katherine Stoney, secretary to Miss Dorothy Height of the YWCA National Board, and Miss Stoney -- who I believe worked with you in the past -- very kindly advised me to get in touch with you posthaste for background information on the history and current work of the Southern Regional Councils.

Enclosed is a copy of my resume. As this shows, I was on the YWCA national staff twice, both times before 1950 and therefore before the Supreme Court decision of 1954. In this work I learned much about the then program of the Southern Regional Councils and not only admired it but wrote extensively in favor of it.

It is my considered belief that in the face of the Mississippi and Birmingham riots, among other stormy scenes which I believe are instigated, in part at least, by the much more trained and advanced Communist infiltrators, there is a serious and even desperate need now for the expansion of the work of the SRC's since it brings together intelligent, well-informed and usually professionally trained White and Negro leaders.

In support of this belief I plan to write, as soon after I hear from you as possible, to Mr. Ralph McGill, Editor of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, to ask if I can do a Sunday magazine article on this subject. The focus of the article would be for the need for the Old Guard in the South -- the university-educated and those who still gaze fondly, in passing, at the coats of arms on their walls, to take action to know the individual Negroes who are in their same professional and income grouping. You may have read this morning, as I did, of the valuable Project Friendship in Knoxville.

Both of my grandfathers were in the Confederate States Army-- in Company G., Third North Carolina Cavalry, 41st Regiment, Baryinger's Brigade. The Smiths in our family emigrated from Virginia to North Carolina -- Scotland Neck, in Halifax County-- in 1712, so I belong to the Old Guard. But I want the South to regain the leadership it once had and I am sure you will help me in this goal. Rushing to work- With many thanks for any prompt and voluminous help you can give me-Sincerely,

Pattie Sherwood Smith

(Miss) PATTIE SHERWOOD SMITH

Home address: Broadway Central Hotel, 673 Broadway, New York 12, N.Y. -- ORegon 4-6300, Extension 648

Education: A.B., Barnard College -- major, history
M.A., Columbia University -- sociology

Experience: Reporting and by-line feature writing, Trenton, N.J., Evening Times, 3 years

Publicity director, Westchester Children's Association, 4 years -- editor of TheChildren's News -- founder of The Junior Group

Assistant radio director, United China Relief Campaign; writer of all campaign documentaries

Staff radio writer, United Hospital Fund Campaign -- also coordinator of Women's Division publicity

Staff writer, USO National public relations department, 4 years -- the last two as national magazines director

Press and magazines director, national Round-the-World YWCA Reconstruction Fund Campaign

National magazines director, Community Service Society 100th Anniversary Campaign

Staff writer, YWCA National Board, 3 years

Staff writer, United Defense Fund Campaign -- editor of UDF News Service (clip sheet) and UDF Newsletter (house organ)

Publicity director, American National Theatre and Academy Fund Campaign

Free-lance work: Press, magazine, radio, television copy, appeal letters, foundation presentations, pamphlets, brochures, annual reports, research, etc., for various clients - -currently writing also for the Women's News Service and the North American Newspaper Alliance

Original research studies: "Stagecoach and Tavern Days in North Carolina" -- for the Caswell-Nash Chapter, D.A.R.
"Recreation and the Police Athletic League" -- for the New York City Mayor's Committee on Unity
"Medicine on a Mission" -- history of the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China
"History of a Facet of Interior Design" -- for Robert Francis Kane Associates
"The Life of Dinah Van Bergh" -- ancestress of William H. S. Demarest
"The Roosevelt-Spellman Dispute Over Federal Aid to Education, Viewed in Terms of General Semantics"

Pattie Sherwood Smith

From: Pattie Sherwood Smith
Broadway Central Hotel
673 Broadway
New York 12, N.Y.
-- ORegon 4-6300, Extension 648

May 30, 1963

To: Mr. Ralph McGill, Publisher
The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

"THE TIME HAS COME, THE WALRUS SAID..."

This is an urgent appeal to the Old Guard of the South to rise to a position of leadership in the current battle over integration of the Negro into the mainstream of American life. By the Old Guard I mean the descendants of the early colonial settlers of this country -- the English, Scottish, Welsh and French Huguenots who fled from persecution in Europe and had the courage to help create a new life and eventually a nation out of the wilderness.

At present, it seems to me, those who bear the great names of the early colonial days are behaving like ostriches in the face of social change. It is time for them to stop gazing fondly at their coats of arms and reminiscing over the stories they have heard of the graces of ante-bellum days and to get out on the firing-line of social progress.

~~xx~~ Their current conduct seems to ~~be~~ me to leave the leadership to the immature, either-or thinking and violent hatreds of the segregationists, the Ku Klux Klan and its outgrowth, the White Citizens Councils. The extremism of these people who are, by and large, not descendants of the early colonial leaders evokes the extremism of the Negro and has resulted in the rise of the potentially dangerous Black Muslim movement with its tie-ins with George Lincoln Rockwell and the small but growing neo-Nazi trend in the United States.

The descendants of the colonial ~~leaders~~ settlers could exert a needed leadership in the South by taking the following positive steps individually and in groups:

1. Face the fact that the Negro is a human being. Shakespeare's Shylock said, "Hath not a Jew eyes?" and the same empathy can be applied to the Negro. In the 100 years since his liberation from slavery he has grown in the way of education, ability to earn a living and support a family and otherwise fulfill the functions of citizenship and he deserves the rights of freedom of movement which are lumped together under the current civil rights program.

2. Think of the Negro as an individual and not as a member of an ethnic group with a different skin pigmentation temporarily -- scientists have found hormones that may be able to change the skin color of the foetus or embryo so that there may be no Negroes left in future generations -- and recognize him on the basis of his intellect, education, individual character and integrity rather than patronizing him as a second-rate citizen.

(More)

3. Give personal and financial support to the Southern Regional Council, which has autonomous branches in 13 states and is composed of white and Negro leaders of intellectual and professional status in their various communities. The Council needs more publicity and more public support if it is to expand its needed work. Criticized by extremists for its policy of gradualism, it can nevertheless match in maturity of procedure the non-violent credo of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

4. Make efforts personally to foster integration on the horizontal level. That is, to see that there is local recognition of Negro lawyers, doctors, clergymen, bankers, businessmen, artists and writers, college professors and researchers and others who, often under segregated and humiliating conditions, are nevertheless making a contribution to society. Sometimes this outweighs the deeds of the white bluebloods who may be driven by the pressures of industrialization and the values of Madison Avenue into nervous breakdowns. White leaders would take a big step forward if they would recognize Negroes who have attained their own cultural level.

The need for this horizontal integration does not rest with the South alone. It should be made standard operating procedure -- as it is not -- in all parts of the country. The recognition of Negroes of achievement can be aided by inviting them to meetings of college clubs, professional associations, to lectures and other gatherings, and certainly by allowing them to attend the churches of their choice and even, if merited, serve on the governing boards and vestries. The role of the Christian church in integration is a mockery today. When Jesus Christ said, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest..." did he say"all white people?" But many Christian churches, so-called, act as if he had.

5. By setting the pattern of moderation in integration at the upper levels of society Southern leaders could evoke moderation in the conduct and reactions of the lower economic and social levels of both white and Negro people --the less well-educated and the men and women who have to work side by side on the assembly-lines and in the clerical, waitress, bus boy and other routine and even menial jobs of society. Since both whites and Negroes in these lower echelons need more education and often relief or other help from the state it is wrong for the segregationists to whip them into mutual hatred. The poll tax injures both groups. And both whites and Negroes in this category want and deserve a better break in life. They will not get it by fighting each other.

The need for the right Southern leadership is more urgent than ever now for several reasons:

1. The United States stands in the constant shadow of the threat of nuclear war. Both Moscow and Peiping are working night and day to provide what they call military and naval defenses but what may be the tools of aggression in the end. At present they are even more aggressive in their efforts to win the cold war by subversion and infiltration and propaganda. The loss of Cuba has confronted this nation with the threat that Castro may successfully win much of Latin America to the Communist line in time. Africa, uniting for independence from colonialism, is watching the civil rights struggle in America with ironic interest. Part of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy's persistence at present may be due to the effort to win Africa to the thinking of the Free World, a strategic gesture of vital importance. But every time there is a bitter feud in Mississippi, Alabama or elsewhere between the Negro and white extremists I believe that there is laughter and rejoicing in Moscow and a saying, "Well done," in Peiping.

(More)

2. Carlyle wrote: "Gunpowder makes all men alike tall." I believe that there would be no question of segregation in this country in the face of a nuclear war and that men, women and children, black, white, yellow or red, would share the fall-out shelters in their bitter battle for survival. Why not achieve the integration now, during the cold war, to prevent the anarchic forces which may lead to an international holocaust if the leaders in the South and elsewhere fail to lead and those who have to be led fall into the waiting trap of the Hammer and Sickle or Swastika?

3. At present, despite the skepticism of Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy there is a growing rebellion of Negroes in the North over what they consider undue segregation there. And with good truth. Except for freedom of transporation and the use of public parks and places of amusement there is often hidden segregation which white Yankees fail to recognize -- they can be ostriches, too - or to which they fail to admit. There is many a community in the North where, despite the fact that there are no local zoning laws, no Negro family would dare to move out of its ghetto-like section, and real estate brokers have ways of evading the sale of property to Negroes. The churches are almost as lax -- with the exception of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the Riverside Baptist Church and a few other pioneers in the metropolitan area of New York City -- as those in the South. And the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is waging war these days to increase integration in many of the public schools of the North. Since the people of the South have known Negroes for a longer time than those in the North, who are only now becoming aware of the population explosion, the Southern leaders can help the North understand the Negro better and face this growing national crisis. If the Southern leaders will lead.

4. The South needs to free itself and rise above the trial by the Northern press which I think has contributed so much to making international issues out of the feuds over civil rights. Every time there is a clash between segregationist whites and Negroes, the metropolitan New York newspapers and many in the hinterland give six to eight-column headlines to the news. But it is ironic that there have been no headlines over the progressive work of the University of North Carolina, the University of Florida and other universities in which Negroes have been enrolled on the basis of their scholastic merits and are doing creditable work with a minimum of segregation. There is a need for the press of the South to launch a campaign emphasizing the positive aspects of the region's capacity to achieve integration by peaceful means.

In contrast, when the N.A.A.C.P. makes charges of discrimination in the public schools and other facets of community life in Chicago, New Rochelle, Englewood, Levittown and other places, the news story is usually printed with a tiny or at most a two-column headline and often buried on the inside pages. Recently the trustees of the University of Alabama voted to admit Negroes in the autumn of 1963 -- a forward step indeed -- but asked that the President hold off from forcing them to admit Negroes into the summer school because of current tensions. The Northern press played this down.

5. This pillorying of the South by Northern do-gooders and publishers who fail to recognize their own shortcomings is, to me, a continuation of the holier-than-thou attitudes of the abolitionists of 1860. And, in a way, the thinking of the leaders in both North and South today -- A.D. 1963-- reflects the viewpoints of the great-grandparents of the present generation. The Northerners, descendants of the slave traders who grew rich by capturing or buying Negroes in Africa are assuaging their ancestral guilt, as did their forebears, by blaming the South for its treatment of the Negro without regard to the actual facts. Only the crises make the headlines and reach the reading public so that many Americans have a vastly distorted view of the Southern ~~xxxxxx~~ image.

(More)

On the other hand, too many Southern bluebloods bask in the dream of the moonlight-and-magnolia opulence of the antebellum South without realizing that many planters were disturbed about the institution of slavery and wished to abolish it, but did not know where to turn in the face of their own economic needs. Robert E. Lee, it is well known, had set a precedent and freed his slaves. Abraham Lincoln considered sending Negroes to Liberia or following the English act of freeing the slaves -- theirs were mostly in Australia -- and repaying the owners through Government funds. If it had not been for Harper's Ferry and Fort Sumter-- showing the fallacy of violence -- there might have been no War Between the States. Surely it is time for both Northern and Southern men and women to abandon their archaic feelings ~~x~~ and to face the fact of social growth and the need for intelligent and mature leadership now.

I am writing as a Northern resident and straight Row-B voter, but also as the granddaughter of two Confederate soldiers so that I can see both sides of the integration question. My grandfathers were Captain Benjamin Gordon Smith and Private James Allan Higgs of The Scotland Neck Mounted Riflemen, Company G., Third North Carolina Cavalry, 41st Regiment Barringer's Brigade, Army of Northern Virginia, Confederate States Army. As a girl I sat on the porches of Raleigh and Scotland Neck and heard my grandparents tell of plantation days and how -- in contrast to the large plantations of the Deep South with their absentee ownership and Simon Legree oversers, which led Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to enflame the North -- Negroes were treated gently and kindly. Both white and black children were taught by the parents or maiden aunts through the seventh grade. After that, the Negro children were trained for their duties in the household or on the land and the white children went on to advanced schooling. I also heard of the dangers and bitterness of the Reconstruction days. But the generation which remembered the war days, the Reconstruction and carpetbagger era and the grueling poverty of the South has died now. The South is becoming industrialized and is on its way to deserved comforts that will not materialize if there is to be continuing strife.

The days since the War Between the States have seen the advent of Freud and a whole new science of psychology. The leaders of the South could well test themselves and others as to whether their reactions to the efforts at integration represent emotional maturity. Certainly violence in any form, whether of the white police using hoses and dogs or the Negroes wielding sticks and stones, is not evidence of maturity in individuals or groups.

Perhaps ~~Possibly~~ the bluebloods of the South could find it possible to follow the example of Elizabeth II of England who has gone to Africa on repeated occasions with her husband, Prince Philip, and received on a level of social equality the President or other ruler of a newly liberated state. This, tome, is the action of a socially mature person. If a reigning Queen can take this step then the leaders of the South could well emulate it. This social recognition by a sovereign despite the color of the skin has helped retain the allegiance of newly independent states to the Crown and retained potential allies in the battle for world freedom.

(More)

This is a challenge, then, to the descendants of the Founding Fathers of this country to rise to the heights of wisdom and maturity in the face of social change and assume as individuals and as a section of this nation the leadership so direly needed in a tense world and more worthy of their colonial heritage than the current burying of their heads fearfully in the sand.

Dottie Sherman Smith

May 31, 1963

YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, MA

Washington

How to Make Things Worse Than They Really Are

By JAMES RESTON

WASHINGTON, May 30 — New legislation to coerce the South into desegregating the Negro race is being discussed here as if all the instruments of persuasion had been tried and failed, but this is demonstrably not true.

President Kennedy has scarcely ventured into the Deep South since he entered the White House and then usually to visit some military installation. He has not exhausted his opportunities to appeal to the moderates of the South; in fact, he has scarcely opened up a dialogue with them.

Attorney General Kennedy has been convinced for some time that the nation was in for a period of serious racial disorder and maybe even bloodshed. He has been working hard to stave it off. But President Kennedy is just beginning to summon influential Southern business leaders to the White House, and has not made a single "fireside chat" on the subject.

Meanwhile, everybody now seems to be threatening everybody else. The Governor of Alabama threatens to go to jail rather than let a Negro enter his state university. Negro leaders threaten to carry the battle into the streets if they don't get what they want, and the Administration, afraid of bloodshed and political sanctions, is threatening the South with coercive legislation.

The Limits of Power

The grievances of the Negro are plain and justified. One hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, he still can't eat a sandwich at a white man's lunch counter in most of the South. Nine years after the Supreme Court's public school desegregation decision, only 225,000 Negro pupils are in desegregated classrooms, most of them in the border states, and less than one-half of 1 per cent of Negro pupils in the Deep South have been admitted.

It is easy, under these circumstances, to understand the Negro's anger and it is no doubt urgent to give him some tangible new evidence of relief from humiliation and discrimination, but new strictures from the Supreme Court and new laws leading to more years of litigation are not likely to provide the necessary relief.

For example, in a unanimous decision this week, the Supreme Court complained about the slowness of public school desegregation. "No more delay can be tolerated," remarked The Washington Post. But what does this mean? When you stop "tolerating" delay, what do you

South with coercive legislation.

The Limits of Power

The grievances of the Negro are plain and justified. One hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, he still can't eat a sandwich at a white man's lunch counter in most of the South. Nine years after the Supreme Court's public school desegregation decision, only 225,000 Negro pupils are in desegregated classrooms, most of them in the border states, and less than one-half of 1 per cent of Negro pupils in the Deep South have been admitted.

It is easy, under these circumstances, to understand the Negro's anger and it is no doubt urgent to give him some tangible new evidence of relief from humiliation and discrimination, but new strictures from the Supreme Court and new laws leading to more years of litigation are not likely to provide the necessary relief.

For example, in a unanimous decision this week, the Supreme Court complained about the slowness of public school desegregation. "No more delay can be tolerated," remarked The Washington Post. But what does this mean? When you stop "tolerating" delay, what do you do—integrate the races by force?

The Supreme Court raised the same painful dilemma. "Constitutional rights may not be denied," it said, "simply because of hostility to their assertion or exercise." The sentiment is admirable, but how do you enforce it in a nation that has long believed that it is neither wise nor practical to force the will of the majority on a large and hostile minority?

"The genius of the American (political) system," Walter Lippmann wrote 14 years ago, "is that it limits all power — including the power of the majority. Absolute power, whether in a king, a President, a legislative majority, a popular majority is alien to the American idea. . . .

"For a decision which has to be enforced against the determined opposition of large communities and regions of the country will, as Americans have long realized, almost never produce the results it is supposed to produce. . . . It is necessary to postpone the decision, to respect the opposition, and then to accept the burden of trying to persuade it. . . ."

Mobilizing the Moderates

This doctrine infuriates the Negro and the liberals in the North, many of whom have forgotten that liberals invented the idea of limiting all power, but the Negro cannot claim both the protection of the law and the right to defy the law or give up on the slow processes of the law.

The burden of persuasion, therefore, has to be carried on, no matter how tedious, painful or irritating, for without it new laws outlawing discrimination in stores, hotels and restaurants selling goods that cross state lines are not likely to be any more successful than the desegregation orders of the Federal courts.

The President is making a start next week in calling influential Southern businessmen to the White House. Much more can be done in similar meetings with Southern editors, lawyers, professors and ministers. Nobody who knows anything about the South is prepared to believe that there is not a deep strain of moderate, patriotic opinion in the Old Confederacy. But this opinion needs to be encouraged and organized in every community of the nation, North as well as South, and the President has not used anything like his full influence in this field.

Even Birmingham, Ala., illustrates the point. There, the newspapers, after years of defiance, began writing about the necessity of obeying the law. A handful of citizens, some on principle, some out of commercial self-interest, joined in, and worked to defeat the extreme segregationist city government. It is still a scary place, but a beginning has been made.

One Presidential swing through the South and the great cities of the North would help the moderates a lot. After all, this must be as important as the President's forthcoming tour of Europe.

Memo from LESLIE W. DUNBAR

Tell her we've gone underground?

VMA

UJ IGNORE

PA

LD

what do I do with this lady?

See "Sm" you can.

Broadway Central Hotel
673 Broadway
New York 12, N.Y.
-- ORegon 4-6300,
Extension 648

June 2, 1963

RECEIVED
JUN 3 1963

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N.W.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

This is, first of all, to acknowledge with thanks the material about the Southern Regional Council which Mrs. Montez C. Albright, your Administrative Assistant, sent me recently during your absence in response to my request for information. It was very helpful.

As I wrote originally, I planned to prepare an article for possible publication in the Sunday Atlanta Journal-Constitution appealing to the bluebloods of the South to rise to positions of leadership in the integration question now. Enclosed is a copy of a tentative draft which I sent two days ago to Mr. Ralph McGill, Publisher of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and a man, I noted, who has been active in SRC work. I do not know if Mr. McGill or his editors will accept this copy, but at least it will show you the tenor of my thinking.

While I am in favor of integration based on moderate and exemplary leadership rather than the violence of today, I am angered, as a woman of Southern descent, at the way the Northern liberals and press -- with some support, it would seem, from the Government today -- pillory the South and distort its public image without recognizing that there is actual but ignored segregation in the North, too. Just a visit to Harlem would prove that even to the most skeptical.

I was glad to find support for this belief in an article -- or rather, column -- published in The New York Times of last Friday in which James Reston appealed to the President to use persuasion rather than legal juggling to change the attitudes in the die-hard parts of the South, but pointed out that the Government is trying to "coerce" the South into social change. I am enclosing a copy for your information. It will be interesting to see how fast there is action in the North in the light of charges by Malcolm X, the N.A.A.C.P., and other Negro leaders of segregation there.

As you doubtless gather, I am very much interested in the work of the Southern Regional Council but I wish that it were more widely known, particularly in the North. I noticed that you seem to have good foundation support as well as the aid of leading church organizations of various denominations and faiths. Do you think it would be possible to begin a nation-wide campaign of fund-raising and publicity now? If you could establish a branch New York office now you might do much to aid the cause of the South as well as the Negro.

It might interest you to know that some years ago a man named Ralph Bishop established a public relations firm in Atlanta and if you do expand you might be interested in getting in touch with him. He was formerly a member of the staff of the John Price Jones Corporation, which, as you may know, was one of the pioneers of modern fund-raising and set patterns through its Liberty Bond drives of World War I which the philanthropies of the nation emulate now. During World War II Mr. Bishop served as Assistant Public Relations Director of the National War Fund.

My suggestion that the SRC put on a more ~~intensive~~ aggressive publicity and fund-raising drive is based on the recent announcement in the Bulletin of the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel that Americans gave $9,000,000,000 to philanthropic causes in 1962 alone. In a day of financial well-being on the whole, it seems possible to raise funds for virtually any cause as long as it captures the imaginations of the small and large donors alike.

In the meantime, in two weeks or so I plan to query the editor of the North American Newspaper Alliance, which serves some 1,800 newspapers throughout the country, about a possible article on the Southern Regional Council. If he agrees to the idea then I will send you an s.o.s. for more material, particularly case and human interest stories revealing instances in which peaceful integration had been achieved at a community or even statewide level.

With many thanks for the cooperation of your office and best wishes for success in your valuable work --

Sincerely,

Pattie Sherwood Smith

(Mrs.) Pattie Sherwood Smith

Encs.- 2

Recd 12/16/64

file

The Episcopal Chaplain
P. O. Box 326
University, Mississippi

December 14, 1964

Dear Leslie:

Just yesterday I decided to accept a new position as Episcopal Chaplain at the University of Maryland. This impending move means that I will be unable to complete the project I promised to do for you. I am sorry to back out on a responsibility, but I believe you will understand.

Enclosed is the assignment sheet. I'm sure that you will have no trouble finding someone else to make the evaluation for you.

Sincerely,

Wofford

Wofford Smith

Hazel Braman Smith

January 4, 1956

TO: HCF
FBR
JC
PA

FROM: GSM

The newspaper editress from Lexington, Mississippi telephoned Mitchell at Mitchell's home last evening around 6:00 p.m. Was under the impression that I had already left office. Had I seen what the Citizens Councils were saying? Answer:"Yes I saw, it is poppycock." Did I wish her to send me a copy? "No, I have seen."

Then she got around to what was eating on her, which was her need for $18,000, of which $9,000 is a prompt need. I told her that so far as I knew no one but Fred Fuges had any funds for appropriating aid. She said Fuges had already sent her $3,000 -- "only $3,000," is what she said.

I formed the opinion -- perhaps completely unfounded -- that the woman's confusion and ineptness would adequately account for her financial embarrassment.

eab/

May 23, 1956

MEMORANDUM

To: Mr. Frank S. Loescher

From: Harold C. Fleming

I return the enclosed intra office material on Hazel B. Smith.

We have followed her case somewhat, and have admired her various campaigns against injustice. Obviously what she needs is outright assistance in paying off her present attorney's fees and court expenses, rather than a job. The idea of SRC engaging her has two great drawbacks; one, she presumably has her hands full with two newspapers to get out; two, although she has opposed certain acts of racial injustice, she is not publicly committed to the cause of desegregation, and identification with SRC could probably liquidate her completely in that county.

If we see a chance to enlist her services at a price, we will act on it but I really think the answer to her situation is either an outright subsidy from some group with a legal aid function or a cash award for outstanding journalism from some one of the newspaper societies which regularly give them. Anything other than these two forms of help would be more likely to destroy her than to save her.

HCF:mbo
Encs.

Alumni File

THE FUND FOR THE REPUBLIC, INC.
1444 WENTWORTH AVE., PASADENA, CALIFORNIA

MEMORANDUM

DATE May 2, 1956

TO: Frank Loescher

FROM: Pollock Hoffman

SUBJECT: Hazel B. Smith

You have probably seen the enclosed memo from Alan Howe of the Right of Conscience Committee of the AFSC.

Right of Conscience has decided to do anything about Hazel Smith. I think something should be done about Hazel Smith, and it occurred to me maybe the Southern Regional Council could hire her as one of their reporters and pay her enough to keep her from collapsing. At any rate, I wish we could think of something that would be helpful to her because she needs and deserves the help.

Enclosure: Alan Howe's memo of 4/2/56

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

To: Committee, consultants, and staff

From: Alan Howe

Subject: Hazel B. Smith

References: Memos on Racial Integration of 11/16/54, 12/k3/54, and 1/4/56

FACTS:
The above-named is presently the editor and publisher of two weekly newspapers in Holmes County, Mississippi. She has been an editor since graduating from the University of Alabama in 1936. She is apparently a very courageous person with a deep-seated sense of justice. She and her papers have consistently supported those persons in the community who have taken up the integration side of the race question, or who have otherwise suffered as a result of the tactics of the White Citizens Councils. Because of a particular editorial stand taken in July 1954, together with the support given pro-integrationists, she herself is now a victim of the tactics used against those whom she has defended.

In July, 1954, the Sheriff of Holmes County dispersed a peaceful gathering of Negroes. As one of the Negroes was departing, the Sheriff, without cause, shot him in the leg. The Negro was later treated at a clinic of David Minter at nearby Providence Farms. The above-named immediately reported the circumstances of the shooting in her papers. The Sheriff neither contradicted nor denied the story as printed. One week later both papers carried a signed editorial denouncing the lawless actions of the Sheriff and stating further that he was not fit to hold office and should resign.

It seems that the Sheriff was at that time also under a barrage of criticism from other quarters in the community for failing to enforce the local gambling laws. The reported incident of the shooting added fuel to the fire. In an effort to take some of the heat off, he sued both papers for libel. Normally such a suit would never have reached the trial stage, but this was July, 1954, the month during which the first White Citizens Councils were organized in Holmes and adjacent counties. The racial overtone to the controversy heightened the tensions in Holmes County whose population numbers 3 Negroes to every white person. It was in this atmosphere that the suit was tried in October, 1954. The racial tensions were no doubt crucial in the jury's verdict which awarded the Sheriff $10,000 in damages. On appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court, the jury verdict was reversed and the suit dismissed in November, 1955.

Shortly before the decision of the Mississippi Supreme Court, the much publicized mass meeting in Tchula had been promoted by the Sheriff and others in the local White Citizens Council. This meeting was held in September, 1955. It was at this meeting, you will recall, that a tape recording was played, alleging that David Minter and Gene Cox had promoted interracial activities at Providence Farms. Minter and Cox were interrogated as to these allegations, and ultimately were invited to leave Holmes County because their views on integration did not coincide with those held by the community. The above-named actively used her newspapers to assist and defend Minter and Cox, and also the Reverend Marsh Callaway, who had risen to the defense of the latter two the night of the mass meeting. The above-named was convinced that the mass meeting was part of a planned revenge by the Sheriff against Minter, the latter having treated the Negro who had been shot by the Sheriff in July, 1954.

Subsequent to the mass meeting and the state Supreme Court decision, the White Citizens Council in Holmes County had been instrumental in organizing a campaign of economic pressure against the publishing business of the above-named by "inducing" the community to take its advertising and printing business elsewhere. That this pressure has been effective is indicated by a substantial decline in the income of the two papers, namely, $1200 in December, 1955 and %600 in each of the succeeding months. In addition, her husband, who had for five years been the administrator of the Holmes County Community Hospital, was fired from this position in January, 1956, The reason given was that "his wife had become a controversial figure". He has been without other employment since then and has been forced to work with her in running the two newspapers. This has, of course, added to the economic liabilities. In the light of her husband's loss of independent income and the decline in revenue of the papers as a result of the boycott, she is slowly being forced to the wall, and will doubtless have to give up the papers and leave the county unless the community relaxes its pressures, or some outside assistance is forthcoming.

REQUEST FOR ASSISTANCE: At present she has outstanding $4000 for past attorney's fees and court expenses incurred in the trial of the libel suit, and the subsequent appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court. Also, she has $3,000 in current liabilities for equipment purchased for the two newspapers in the past year. She has asked whether the Rights of Conscience program might assist her in the payment of the above-mentioned attorney's fees and court expenses. She has further inquired about the possibility of creating an earmarked fund (amount unspecified) which could be drawn on by her in the event that the economic pressure becomes unbearable.

ISSUE OF CONSCIENCE: This is not the usual evaluation of conscience which the committee is asked to make. Here we have a courageous southern editor who is speaking out freely on the problems and issues raised in the current southern struggle over racial integration. If she is forced to suspend publication, the only two newspapers expounding the cause of integration will be silenced in Holmes County, Mississippi. In her letter of application for assistance, she has stated that she is determined that this shall not happen and has indicated a willingness to make every reasonable sacrifice to continue publication. The issue raised by this application does fall in an area about which the committee has previously expressed its concern and sympathy.

The problem presented by her request for past attorney's fees and expenses is that the committee to date has felt that it should not undertake to assist in the payment of expenses incurred prior to the request, the conscience issue having already been indicated. However, the request for a reserve fund to be drawn on in the future as needed, while indefinite, may be more in harmony with the past practices of the committee.

PANEL: The case has been referred to Samuel Morris and Spencer Coxe.

RECEIVED JUL 19 1956

July 16, 1956

Hazel Brannon Smith
The Lexington Advertiser
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Hazel Smith:

This is to acknowledge your letter of July 4, 1956.

I have a suggestion I would like to make regarding action which you might take in an effort to alleviate your present economic difficulties. The Southern Regional Council, as you may know, is doing considerable educational work in the area of racial integration.

George Mitchell is the Executive Director of the Council which is located at 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E., Atlanta 3, Georgia. The May 31, 1956 report of the Fund for the Republic indicates on page 22, that the Southern Regional Council received in February, 1956 a grant of $50,000 for a 9-month period to analyze developments in southern race relations. The grant provide funds for part-time researchers working in many areas, one of which is a study of the relationship and aims of southern "resistance" movements and methods of economic pressures and reprisals.

It occurred to me that possibly your knowledge of the techniques of the White Citizens Councils in Mississippi in bringing about economic pressure on persons such as yourself, might make a valuable contribution to the above-mentioned 9-months study being conducted by the Southern Regional Council. Accordingly, I am suggesting that you consider writing to George Mitchell about the possibility of doing some work, and thereby qualifying for some remuneration from the $50,000 grant mentioned previously.

I am enclosing a copy of the factual resume which was made up on your case at the time that our program was considering your application for assistance. You may use this material as a basis for acquainting George Mitchell with your background and circumstances.

The reason for my suggesting that you communicate with Mr. Mitchell, rather than my doing so, is that I feel your judgment as to what you wish to disclose to him is more reliable than mine under all the circumstances.

RECEIVED JUL 19 1958

If, however, you wish me to communicate with Mr. Mitchell separately, I shall only be too happy to do so in any way which you may suggest. In the meantime, I shall continue with my own efforts to interest other persons and groups in assisting you with your struggle to remain in Mississippi.

Sincerely,

Fred Fuges, Director of Rights of Conscience Program

FH/ha

encl.

bcc: Mike Yarrow
George Mitchell
Earle Edwards
Olcutt Sanders

WSS

Established In 1837

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Printers -:- Publishers

Lexington, Mississippi

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, Publisher

August 4, 1956

P.S.

Dr. Mitchell: The foregoing letter was written Monday and after writing it I spoke to you on the phone-feeling that it would be better for you to understand that if it became known here by anyone that I was having any dealings, even writing, to anyone in the Southern Regional Council, that it wouldn't be a question of whether I wanted to stay here or not--it would unleash all forms of pressure and outright boycott against me and make it appear that I was a traitor to the state and to the South--and of course nothing could be farther from the truth. But that is the prevailing attitude here-one of suspicion and distrust against all outsiders and all organizations.

So, again, you understand that my entire career would be wiped out if it became known that I did any work at all, research or whatever, for your organization.

I am sorry that our people here are like they are-but you cannot change that. Perhaps over a period of years they may come to have a different attitude--and that is the only reason why I have not given the whole thing up already. I feel that if we, who love the South and want to see it progress, leave now-then all will be lost.

It is quite a fight I have already made in order to stay here-and I don't want anything like more publicity, etc. to happen and cause more of an uproar. The months since the Sept. mass meeting up to and through February have been a terrific strain and I do not believe that my nerves will stand anything else.

I am sending a copy of all the material I am sending to you to Mr. Fuges so that he will be posted up to the minute on our situation. We would not be on as current a basis as we are now had it not been for the help we have received from him--and he is still trying to get more help for us if he can.

Thanks for your kindness and consideration--and will you please mark your replies or correspondence PERSONAL and if you have plain envelopes will you use them, please, just using your box number or street address for return address.

You may think this is silly-and it is-but that is the way things are here now. Gene Cox and Dr. Minter will verify it-some of their mail has from time to time apparently been tampered with.

Sincerely,

Hazel B. Smith

Copy to Mr. Fuges

Established In 1837

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Printers -:- Publishers

Lexington, Mississippi

July 30, 1956

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, Publisher

Dr. George Mitchell
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

At the suggestion of Mr. Fred Fuges, director of the Rights of Conscience Committee of the American Friends Service Committee, I am writing you.

Mr. Fuges told me in a recent letter that the Southern Regional Council had received a $50,000 grant from the Fund for The Republic in February of this year for a 9-months period to analyze developments in southern race relations. The grant, he said, provides funds for part-time researchers working in many areas-one of which is a study of the relationship and aims of southern "resistance" movements and methods of economic pressures and reprisals.

Mr. Fuges said, and I quote: "It occurred to me that possibly your knowledge of the techniques of the White Citizens Councils in Mississippi in bringing about economic pressure on persons such as yourself, might make a valuable contribution to the above mentioned 9-months study being conducted by the Southern Regional Council. Accordingly, I am suggesting that you consider writing to George Mitchell about the possibility of doing some work, and thereby qualifying for some remuneration from the $50,000 grant mentioned previously."

Mr. Fuges then suggested that I acquaint you with my background and circumstances. He also stated that he would gladly write to you on my behalf but that he felt like it would be better for me to write you first because he felt, and I quote: "I feel your judgment as to what you wish to disclose to him is more reliable than mine under all the circumstances." He further stated that he would communicate with you upon word from me that I wished him too.

Dr. Mitchell, I will briefly outline on an enclosed page the background and circumstances which provoked my present situation... and a resume of money I need to become solvent.

Anything you can do will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Hazel Brannon Smith

Hazel Brannon Smith (Mrs.)

Lexington, Mississippi

COPY TO Mr. Fuges

BACKGROUND (a)

MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, Lexington, Mississippi (Holmes County)

Born and reared in Gadsden, Alabama, daughter of D. B. Brannon, 2812 Sansom Avenue, Alabama City, (Gadsden) Alabama-and the late Mrs. B. Born Feb. 4, 1914. Graduated from Gadsden High School, May, 1930. Worked two years on The Etowah Observer, a weekly newspaper in Gadsden, (Etowah county) before entering the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa where she graduated in 1936. Majored in journalism.

Entered the weekly newspaper field in Mississippi on Aug. 4, 1936, buying The Durant News which she still owns and operates. In April, 1943, she purchased the other weekly newspaper in the county, The Lexington Advertiser, which she still owns and operates.

Throughout her entire 20-year career as a weekly editor Hazel Brannon (She was married on March 21, 1950 to Walter D. Smith, a purser with the American President Lines, and a native of Philadelphia, Penn.) always has stood for what she believed to be right in the community-regardless of how others might feel.

She has consistently fought for law enforcement in the community-fighting especially organized crime as represented in the bootlegging and gambling cliques in the (Holmes) county who have for years been very powerful. This has earned for her some very powerful enemies-not only the bootleggers and their relatives and friends but some of the so-called respectable citizens who feel, that because they like a sociable drink it is hypocritical to fight the bootleggers.

This editor has always fought, too, for equal justice in court for all people-and equal treatment by officers of the law for all people, regardless of race or color. This has caused two law suits against the editor-one in 1947 and another in 1954.

In 1947 she was cited for contempt of court because she questioned a Negro woman witness who was under the rule of the court (which meant that she was not supposed to talk to anyone). Mrs. Smith, (then Miss Brannon) did not know the woman was under the rule of the court since she had not been in the courtroom when the witnesses were instructed.(The woman's husband had been killed by white men and six of them had been indicted for his death). In 1948 Miss Brannon was presented the Certificate of Merit given annually by the Colored School Children and Teachers "for outstanding contributions in human relations." Although being found guilty by the presiding judge she appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court and won unanimously a verdict of acquittal. (Attorneys fees, expenses, etc. about $700.00 at that time paid by Miss B.).

In ~~1954~~ 1954, weekend of July 4, the Sheriff of Holmes county shot a 27-year-old Negro man in the back without cause. Mrs. Smith printed the story on the front page without editorial comment. She had tried to get the Sheriff's version of the shooting but he was "out of town" and he really was out-after learning that she was investigating the shooting. By the next week when the Sheriff failed to deny the shooting Mrs. Smith ran a resume of the shooting and a page 1 editorial denouncing the sheriff's action-saying that he was unfit to be sheriff and should in fact resign. The Sheriff, already under heavy censure for not aforcing the prohibition and gambling laws was under heavy fire from the entire county. It was a case of having either to resign-or shut the editor up. He filed a $57,500 libel suit--as a means of getting her off his back.

--more--

The same month, July, 1954, white Citizens Councils were formed in Sunflower county, Miss., some 45 miles from Lexington and Holmes county was the first county to have a Citizens Council organized in it after the original Council in Sunflower.

It is very probable the libel suit filed by Holmes County Sheriff Richard F. Byrd would never have actually come to trial had it not been for the organization of the Councils and the atmosphere they created.

At any rate the case was tried in an atmosphere of increasing racial tension and 10 out of 12 jurors voted for the Sheriff against Mrs. Smith. It was a case of taking the word of the Negro, who had been shot and who showed his bullet-scarred leg to the jury, or believing the oath of the Sheriff who swore he didn't fire his gun at all during that evening. The case was not tried on its merits-but was made simply a racial thing.

As a direct result of the case the white doctor (Dr. David Minter) who had treated the wounded Negro was eventually asked, in a mass meeting, to leave the county. At the same mass meeting a white Presbyterian minister, who stood up and questioned "the legal and moral right" of the group to hold such a meeting was booed down by the crowd and threatened after the meeting some of the group saying "your Session will take care of you." And his Session did. He was fired and has left the county-just before Christmas. The mass meeting was in September-about ten days before my appeal was to come up before the Mississippi Supreme Court and the mass meeting was used in a way to try to intimidate the Miss. Supreme Court (by the lawyer for the Sheriff). Fortunately, it did not succeed. Had the verdict been unfavorable I would have already had to sell everything I have to satisfy the judgment.

As another direct result of the law suit and further aided because my husband and I did everything within our power to encourage Dr. Minter and the Rev. Mr. Callaway to stay here-and did what we could among the local citizens of the county to help them stay- the little group within the Council pulled political strings and had my husband fired from his $5400 year job as administrator of the Holmes County Community Hospital in January, 1956--despite the fact that the medical staff of the hospital unanimously went on record opposing the movement and stating that he was an outstanding person and had done an outstanding job. Incidentally, he was scheduled to have received a substantial raise of some $1200 with the fixing of the salaries for the New Year.

The same rumors that started flying in December (after I had won the case in the Supreme Court) that said my husband was to be fired in order to hurt me-said that the next step against me (for taking the side of the Negro supposedly just because I printed the truth about the shooting) was for an economic boycott to be placed against me and none of the merchants would be allowed (by the Citizens Council presumably) to advertise with me.

Since December we have felt economic pressure-and there was and still is some talk of boycott. Besides the loss of my husband's $450.00 per month income our business on the paper is off now on an average of $1400. per month. For the months of December, January and February our business was off from $1900 (Jan. and Feb.) to $2535. in December. Three months of this year we have not taken in enough to meet operating expenses. My attorneys fees amounting (including expenses, printing brief, etc.) were in excess of $4600. and I have made only one payment on them.

- more -

All of this together has not only exhausted any reserves we had but has also placed us in a hole-even on our current operating expenses. In addition, notes for equipment I bought three years ago before the law suit continue to come due every month and I am now 10 months behind (1500.00) on my notes on my press. The final note on it in the amount of $3250. comes due in December.

So altogether you can see I need a good bit of money in order to get on a current basis on my regular operating expenses, $3,000; to meet the notes on press now $1500.; on my attorneys fees $3500; two additional notes of $500. each are past due from September, 1955, and January, 1956, but the friend I owe them to has been content, knowing the situation, just to get the interest, but I am very anxious to get these two obligations off; and I have another $500. note coming up in September which must be paid some way.

This puts my current needs at $9,500. with another $3250. needed by December (for the press).

The way our business is going now we will be able to keep operating and barely making our overhead and grocery money for the remainder of this year. It does not leave us much leeway to pay off notes and attorneys.

If I can get my press payments on a current basis I believe that I can get the $3250 balance refinanced in December by the person who sold me the press.

We have tried, my husband and I, to keep up appearances as much as possible and continue to go about our business as though we don't have a care in the world...feeling that the psychological effect of that would be of some advantage--and I feel that it has. People don't really know how much of a struggle we are having--because much of the blow we've had to endure has been in our job printing department which they don't know a lot about. The advertising is the second way they have hurt us, of course, but we fill the paper up with "safety" and "Savings Bonds" and other such type of institutional advertising until the paper doesn't look like it's suffering too much--unless one is a very close observer. We've lost only about five subscribers.

If God gives us strength we will somehow in time work everything out--and if my attorneys continue to have patience. But if I could get enough to get what I call "solvent" again it would take some of the strain off me now--and sometimes the strain is so great that I don't feel as though I can go on.

But I have lived my entire life in the South and I do not believe that I could be happy living anywhere else-although I love to travel and have been privileged to travel widely in the past nine years (except the past two immediate years).

So, on the basis of this, I should like to ask your consideration for as much help as possible under the circumstances.

Any research I might do would have to be done under an assumed name-or my identity not revealed. Otherwise, it would not be possible for me to stay here. The Southern Regional Council, as you probably already know, is on the black list of the Citizens Councils - as is the Fund for the Republic and the Ford Foundation.

(copy to Mr. Fuges)

Hazel B. Smith

906 Lullwater Road, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia
August 6, 1956

PERSONAL

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
The Lexington Advertiser
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Two or three of us here have read with care your letter.

Perfectly true we have a grant for doing some fact-finding, and the fact-finding is being done. We, weeks ago, put two people to work on resistance efforts and the salary of these two people is neatly eating up what was available in the budget for that purpose. The people have to travel and interview others and disclose who they are; and for this your needful anonymity crimps you. We understand about needful anonymity.

We talked this morning by telephone with people in Fuges' office. In Fuges' absence, they promised to see if the Rights of Conscience Committee can't tailor-make something to your needs. Wherefore I am particularly glad that Fuges' people have a copy of your letter to me.

I do greatly hope that help will come in time.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director
SRC

GSM/eab

Lexington, Miss.
August 20, 1956

Dr. George Mitchell
906 Lullwater Road N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

Thank you for your letter.

What Mr. Fuges had in mind, I think, when he suggested that I write you about the Ford Foundation grant for research, etc. was not my becoming a paid, full time employee of the SRC, but rather, writing my experiences in person with the resistance movement as you called it. I believe I'd call it the Storm of Resistance.

It seems to me that it would make a valuable record and be of possibly great service if some organization had or could compile a complete record of how people throughout the South have been affected by the organization of the Citizens Councils-of the influence the introduction of these Councils have had and continue to have on people in the communities, conditions and race relations.

I am in a position to know more of the activities of this organization than possibly any other Southerner. My own case has been not only the first but foremost case of intimidation and economic pressure of this organized group-and I believe that I know more about their true aims and objectives and how they propose to accomplish them than any other adult outside the leaders of the organization themselves-and I have a straight connection to them, through friends of my own.

I should like to tell you some of the ideas I have in mind-and hope to be able to talk to you some time in the not too distant future. If you come over to Mississippi I should like very much for you to contact me and we could get together for a discussion which might result in some good.

In the meantime if this letter should give you any idea of ways I might make a contribution in betterment of present conditions I will be only too happy to hear from you.

Sincerely,
Hazel Brannon Smith
Hazel Brannon Smith (Mrs.)
%THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Lexington, Mississippi

Copy to Mr. Fuges

M E M O R A N D U M

September 13, 1956

To: Mr. H. C. Fleming

From: Paul Anthony

Subject: Hazel Brannon Smith

On Tuesday, September 4th, after an exchange of correspondence to establish that date, Hazel Brannon Smith was visited in her office at the Lexington Advertiser in Lexington, Mississippi. The conditions which led to this visit and the correspondence to SRC from and concerning Mrs. Smith is known thus there is no need to repeat this information.

The Advertiser building, located half a block from the town square, is typical of the plant of small weeklies. First impression was that business was at least as brisk as usual and that the plant was enjoying a good job printing business. This impression was later corrected with the explanation that staff had been cut to a minimum with a corresponding overload on those remaining. Mr. Smith now works at this office since his removal as administrator of the local hospital.

On entering the outer office occupied by Mr. Smith and a woman employee there was a cordial reception and it was obvious that the nature of my visit was known. Mrs. Smith was occupied in her private office with a job-printing customer which necessitated a brief wait during which it was made clear that reason existed to remain anonymous. This condition of secrecy prevailed during the entire visit. During our conversation of several hours the door of Mrs. Smith's office remained closed and on occasion, when it became necessary for her to leave, the door was closed and her exits and entrances were in such a way as to prevent an outsider from observing her visitor. These precautions seemed excessive to an outsider though they may well have been necessary. Later, on leaving the building I drove directly out of town and was followed by the local Lexington police car until I reached the Holmes County line. This seemed a matter of observation, nothing more.

Mrs. Smith is an active and vivacious woman, who appears to be in her middle 30's but is probably older. She gives the impression of being a capable newspaperwoman who is quick to pounce on any dishonesty or corruption. She is accustomed to being thoroughly outspoken in her editorials and it is obvious that she is still surprised at the reaction brought on by her editorial against the local sheriff in 1954. During her twenty years in Lexington she has carried out this policy, with occasional reaction from local officials, but never before has her opposition been of more than a temporary nature.

By way of background, Mrs. Smith explained that her two editorials in 1954 were directed at the Sheriff when he shot a Negro in the leg. The Negro was not being arrested and she used this instance as an obvious illustration of the prejudice, cruelty and general inability of the Sheriff. The Sheriff, according to Mrs. Smith, was heavily involved with local bootleggers and gamblers and made a handsome income from this connection.

The Advertiser's second front page editorial was of such a nature that the Sheriff had no choice but to sue Mrs. Smith or resign. In Mrs. Smith's opinion she would have won the suit in local court had not the race issue been injected. This situation came at the time Holmes County was organizing Citizens' Councils under the leadership of Wilbur Hooker, wealthy local insurance man, state legislator and owner of several plantations and oil wells in the area. Thus the issue of the suit became white vs. Negro with the interpretation that during such times no white man can do wrong and no defender of the Negro can be allowed. Subsequently it was necessary for Mrs. Smith to appeal this case to the State Supreme Court where she won. Mrs. Smith accumulated a debt of $4,700. in attorney's fees.

Thereafter, she and the paper became a target of the local political organization and the Citizens' Council. At first opposition was spasmodic and of little effect. She was informed that three men from Lexington had gone to Jackson to make inquiries as to the cost and procedure of starting a weekly newspaper. Her opinion is that these men were shocked at the cost and though financially able, were unwilling to go that far. At this point Mrs. Smith was shown a newspaper clipping from the Delta Democrat-Times in which a Citizens' Council member was quoted as saying "We want to buy the paper from that woman and bring in a young man with the right attitude." The same man was quoted as being willing to put up $10,000. and felt that another $10,000. could be raised. Mrs. Smith had not seen this article; however, her reaction was, "if they think they can get rid of me for $20,000. they're crazy as hell!"

Mrs. Smith believes that the current effort to get rid of her is two-fold; to ruin her economically through restricting her advertising and job printing, and to ruin her standing locally as a citizen and newspaper-woman. "They" seem to be doing both. By way of example, the month of December, 1955, a heavy advertising month, saw a decline of more than $3,000. in advertising revenue. In August, 1956, the total money taken in for both newspaper and job printing was not sufficient to meet her monthly payroll.

Mrs. Smith owns a second paper, the Durant News. On inquiring of this she explained that the paper was small, of no value and had done nothing more than "break even" for years.

The financial condition of Hazel Brannon Smith is roughly as follows: She is somewhat over $10,000. in debt for immediate obligations which include attorney's fees of some $4,000. and approximately $3,500. on a printing press. The remainder is in paper bills and other running expenses plus a small amount on local real estate. She needs $4,000. to $5,000. in immediate assistance to remove these obligations without showing undue pressure to the local community.

By way of assets the Advertiser probably has a value of at least $40,000. In addition she and Mr. Smith own a local home, several building lots, a 1954 Plymouth station wagon, and an equity in a local farm. The financial pressure of the past two years has eliminated their cash reserve and the normal operating reserves of the two papers. Mrs. Smith explained that she could not sell her home or otherwise conspicuously eliminate her holdings without it being obvious that the pressure was hurting, after which pressure would be stepped up to the point where it would be impossible. This is undoubtedly true.

Mrs. Smith has a very strange idea as to the role she has played and as to the complications in receiving outside financial assistance. Without question she runs a good newspaper of considerable value especially considering its location in what she describes as "the worst county of the worst state in the country." She has been the victim of a vicious attack and she and her husband have been hurt. From this she gives the impression of being completely without the ability to reason on this particular situation. It is considerably difficult to criticize a person under such pressure but very frankly she seems to have adopted the position that having done a good deed she now looks to the liberal forces of the country to see that she is not socially or financially harmed.

As to financial help, Mrs. Smith wants a grant of some $2,000. to $5,000. for immediate relief. This grant must be anonymous, or given in the utmost secrecy, since she claims it would ruin her locally if it were known that "liberal" forces had come to her rescue. In addition, Mrs. Smith would like a continuing grant, or the possibility of a grant if needed, which would allow her to operate her paper with complete freedom of fear from local losses. However, in her opinion, a single immediate grant would bring with it time and she might well be able to survive if given another six to twelve months.

A second avenue of assistance could come, in her opinion, by having an arrangement whereby she could report on the inside workings of the Mississippi scene. That is with her knowledge of the state and her contact with most of the editors of the state she feels that she could contribute much of value by anonymously reporting on the behind-the-scenes activities in Mississippi.

The most ideal condition desired is to find "a wealthy person" who would be willing to underwrite her newspaper and assume any debts which she might encounter as a result of her policies. She knows this is unlikely but feels that under these conditions she could do an exceptional job of keeping one liberal paper in the state.

Mrs. Smith was somewhat disturbed that SRC supported a policy of integration. She pointed out that she has not supported such a policy. Roughly in her words, "I haven't supported desegregation, but I haven't supported segregation either. In my present condition supporting integration is out of the question. Without the threat of being ruined it might be another matter."

Mrs. Smith agreed to prepare a "secret" report on conditions in Holmes County for SRC use. She was emphatic that such a report have limited distribution and that it not be associated with her name. It was explained that she would be paid for this report according to the decision of the director of information, "not to exceed $100." She expressed a desire to send that report to my personal postoffice box in Atlanta and requested that her check be mailed in a plain envelope marked "private." She further requested that her check be made out to "H. B. Smith" to avoid any difficulties on her part in the event SRC records reached the wrong hands. She plans to have this check cashed in Birmingham through a friend.

From the amount involved, the need for complete secrecy on her part, and her fear of any public association with SRC it was necessary to explain that SRC could offer no substantial help. It was agreed that her condition would be recalled to the attention of those agencies and individuals who first informed SRC of them.

As a personal opinion Mrs. Smith is a newspaper woman in the finest tradition of that profession. She has done a good job in the most difficult area of the county. However, her financial situation in relation to that job is a calculated risk which all newspapers face, though few so admirably. Having become a very real victim, Mrs. Smith now has an unfortunately distorted view of what other "good" people owe her. Her approach to the need for financial assistance now includes considerable money for plant equipment and personal real estate. And, there are an infinite number of deserving people in the South who have suffered considerably. Most have been hurt in a far more immediate way than has Mrs. Smith and few have her resources or her background on which to rely.

A substantial grant from some unknown source, is justified. While a loan was not discussed she would probably make an excellent credit risk and such a course would probably solve the situation for all concerned. It would be wise for any agency or individual considering a course of help to visit Lexington, Mississippi and thereafter follow their own thinking on the matter.

PA:mbo

RECEIVED NOV 26 1957

Lexington, Mississippi
Nov. 26, 1957

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I am enclosing the outline I told you I thought I had-although I imagine Mr. Cox had all the information you wanted and needed.

From a letter which I received since I came back from Mr. Ashmore I take it that he is going to try to do something with the Fund-but he did not appear too hopeful. Actually there has been nothing really hopeful out of all the contacts I have made-although some people do seem to be interested to try to do something.

What I hope they will realize is that we are lost unless we do get some substantial help and next month, at that. After three years of fighting this thing, since July of 1954, and especially in the continuous fight we have waged without ceasing since November of 1955, we have exhausted every resource we have including borrowing all of the money we can possibly borrow.

With some substantial help that we discussed in your office we have every reason to believe that we can and will survive. But without it we know that we can't and there's no use to kid ourselves. The time has come when we've got to be able to pay the rest of those attorneys fees and the remainder of the bills we told you about.

And if God is very good to us and we are able to keep what gains we have made in the past six months or so, and the Ebony thing doesn't set us back another year, then we will make it.

Indications are that the Ebony thing is not going to be pressed farther. Keep your fingers crossed that I am right.

I am currently trying to get some printing contracts lined up in another part of the state to help take up the slack in case our advertising does all go out.

As you may have gathered I do not give up easily. However, I must say that it would be a lot better if I could just get on an even, current basis just once more.

Let me hear from you-and also from (?) Art Leven on the meeting in December. Be sure and mark any mail to me as PERSONAL.

Thanks loads for all your interest and effort.

Sincerely

Hazel B. Smith

Hazel Brannon Smith
(Mrs. Walter D.)

% ADVERTISER
Lexington, Mississippi

RECEIVED JAN - 8 1958

ADL

SOUTHEASTERN OFFICE
41 Exchange Pl., S. E., Atlanta 3, Ga.

For your information

Harold Fleming
Paul Anthony

We will be happy to sell you some carbon paper — wholesale.

Art Levin

D R A F T

Dear.....:

An effort is being made to assist Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith of Lexington, Mississippi, whose need for financial aid is outlined in the enclosed material. The issue involved is one of freedom of the press - vital in any area and especially significant in the state of Mississippi.

Mrs. Smith, editor and publisher of The Lexington Advertiser, has been subjected to legal harrassment and econmmic boycott since July 1954. An organized effort, largely directed by the White Citizens' Council, has been underway since January 1956. The situation is critical and unless Mrs. Smith receives outside help in the very near future she will have to close the newspaper and leave Lexington.

It is of the utmost importance that the White Citizens' Council not succeed in driving Mrs. Smith and The Lexington Advertiser out of Mississippi. The only way in which she can hope to continue under present conditions is to retract her former stand and conform to the requirements of the local WCC. This, fortunately she will not do. With outside aid, however, Mrs. Smith cannot only continue to publish the Advertiser, she can continue the constructive policies which the WCC has found so objectionable.

Significantly, Mrs. Smith has not lost all local support. There are indications that local advertisers resent the pressure being brought on them and on the editor. If Mrs. Smith can survive while opposing the seemingly all-powerful White Citizens' Councils, it will be a considerable morale victory; healthy for the community and encouraging to other would-be democratic voices in the state.

In defending herself against a $57,500 libel suit, which had to be carried to the State Supreme Court, Mrs. Smith incurred a debt of $5,000 in attorneys fees. The second major financial blow came in January 1956, when Mr. Smith was fired as administrator of the Holmes County Hospital. Since that time an advertising and job printing boycott has heavily damaged an otherwise profitable weekly newspaper. For more than two years the Smiths, with a loss of savings and considerable indebtedness, have managed to survive. But the campaign against them has recently taken on new intensity.

They now need outside help, if the paper is to continue to fight the elements which have very nearly destroyed the right of dissent in Mississippi. The Rights of Conscience Program of the American Friends Service Committee has given Mrs. Smith all the assistance it could, and the Relief and Rehabilitation Committee of CCD has exhausted its possibilities. The Rights of Conscience Committee has agreed to serve as recipient of funds for this purpose. Funds should be sent to C. H. Yarrow of the AFSC Office, 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania. Checks should be made payable to American Friends S ervice Committee, Inc., for Rights of Conscience Program.

To meet the most pressing obligations now existing, and to be assured of continuing publication through 1958 without retraction and conformity, the Smiths need $12,000. Their courage and persistance and their past editorial policies would indicate that such aid is more than justified.

If you can join in this effort we urge you to do so as soon as possible. The need is urgent.

Sincerely,

BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON HAZEL BRANNON SMITH

As you will see from the attached background material, a serious challenge to freedom of the press has taken place in Holmes County, Mississippi. Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith, editor and publisher of the Lexington Advertiser, has been subjected to legal harrassment and economic boycott since July 1954. An organized effort, largely directed by the White Citizens' Council, has been underway since January 1956. The situation is critical and unless Mrs. Smith receives outside help in the very near future she will have to close the newspaper and leave Lexington.

In defending herself against a $57,500 libel suit, which had to be carried to the State Supreme Court, Mrs. Smith incurred a debt of $5,000 in attorneys fees. The second major financial blow came in January 1956, when Mr. Smith was fired as administrator of the Holmes County Hospital. Since that time an advertising and job printing boycott has heavily damaged an otherwise profitable weekly newspaper. For more than two years the Smiths, with a loss of savings and considerable indebtedness, have managed to survive. But the campaign against them has recently taken on new intensity.

They now need outside help, if the paper is to continue to fight the elements which have very nearly destroyed the right of dissent in Mississippi.

To meet the most pressing obligations now existing, and to be assured of continuing publication through 1958 without retraction and conformity, the Smiths need $12,000. Their courage and persistance and their past editorial policies would indicate that such aid is more than justified.

Hazel Brannon Smith, Editor and Publisher
The Lexington Advertiser and the Durant News
Lexington, Mississippi

BACKGROUND:

Mrs. Smith is a native of Alabama City, Alabama. On graduating from the University of Alabama in 1936, Hazel Brannon arranged a loan and bought the small weekly, The Durant News of Durant, Mississippi. In 1943, with the aid of a second loan, she bought The Lexington Advertiser, and combined the operation of the two papers in the Lexington plant.

As editor of the two Holmes County papers, Miss Brannon upheld law and order, fought organized crime in the county and exposed corruption in public office. While drawing the expected opposition she nevertheless earned for herself a large following and a stable place in the community. The papers prospered and she did exceedingly well for a small town publisher.

In 1950, Miss Brannon was married to Walter Dyer Smith of Philadelphia. Because the editor did not want to give up her newspaper properties it was agreed that Mr. Smith would take a year's leave of absence from his company and come to Lexington where both would work on the newspapers. Some three months after coming to Lexington, Mr. Smith was asked to serve as administrator of the Holmes County Hospital. Mr. Smith accepted the position and served as an able and popular administrator until January 1956.

JULY, 1954:

In July of 1954 Holmes County Sheriff Richard F. Byrd shot in the back a 27-year-old Negro man who was not under arrest or resisting arrest. The following week, Mrs. Smith wrote an editorial criticizing the Sheriff's action in the shooting and pointing to the abuse of six or seven other Negro citizens during the same evening. The editorial ended by saying the sheriff was not qualified to hold his office and should resign. This editorial was cited by the National Federation of Press Women as the best editorial written by a woman during 1954.

Considerable community feeling was aroused by the editorial. The sheriff was told by his friends that he must prevent future editorials of this nature or resign. At this point a libel suit was agreed upon. The sheriff filed suit for $57,000 "actual and punitive damages" from the news story and editorial as published in the two county papers.

These incidents took place some two months after the Supreme Court desegregation ruling, a decision which was beginning to cause concern in the community. During July, 1954, a White Citizens' Council unit was organized in the County -- the first to be organized after the original group in Sunflower County. Mrs. Smith and her attorneys were to learn that a number of rumors were being circulated about her, the foremost of which was that she had a local Negro woman college president as a dinner guest in her home. Her major offense, however, was to defend the rights of Negroes when the whites of Holmes County had to "stand together."

The libel suit came up at the regular October term of Circuit Court. The editor produced in court the Negro who was shot, Dr. David Minter, who treated him, and a town marshall, who testified to the good name and character of the victim. The jury, after deliberation, returned a 10 - 2 verdict in favor of the sheriff for payment of $10,000 damages by Mrs. Smith. The case was immediately appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court. In November, 1955, the Mississippi State Supreme Court gave a unanimous decision in favor of Mrs. Smith. The case was dismissed and the Court commented, "The Sheriff, by his own admission, was guilty of an illegal assault upon the person of the Negro." Mrs. Smith had won her case, but in doing so she had incurred some $5,000 in attorneys fees and related costs.

Sheriff Byrd, supported by the White Citizens Council, had expected a favorable verdict from the appeal. When this proved not to be the case, an organized campaign of revenge was undertaken against the local "supported of Negroes' rights."

January, 1956:

By January, 1956 Hazel Brannon Smith had become a "controversial" figure in Holmes County. Walter Smith continued his work as hospital administrator. He had taken the institution through its building program, built up a well-qualified staff and had, through good administrative procedures, placed the operation on a non-deficit basis. The trustees showed their appreciation by increasing his salary periodically without being asked to do so and by accepting, without question, all recommendations from him regarding policy and administration. In January, a new hospital board, consisting of two old and three new trustees appointed by the county board of s upervisors, was to take office. The entire medical staff of the hospital, fearing that politics were about to be injected into the administration of the hospital, unanimously went on record asking that no changes be made in the office or administrator. At the January meeting of the hospital trustees, Smith was fired without any reason being given. One of the old trustees, friendly to the Smiths, stated to a Jackson Daily News reporter that the action was taken because of Mrs. Smith's policies. The trustee was quoted to this effect in the state press.

The firing of Walter Smith marked the beginning of an organized economic boycott against the Smiths and their newspapers. There had been earlier sporadic attempts to have merchants withdraw advertising, but, though felt, these attempts had not seriously affected the paper. As of January, however, the WCC leadership openly stated that they were beginning a boycott to force Mrs. Smith out of business. The Four-County News, a nearby small newspaper, published stories of the boycott and its sponsors. The Delta-Democrat Times quoted a Lexington WCC member as saying, "We want to buy the paper (The Advertiser) from that woman and bring in a young man with the right attitude."

The three new supervisors did not renew the county contract with the Advertiser. The contract for publishing the county's legal proceedings was awarded to The Four-County News. The Four-County News had a circulation of less than 1,000, 600 in Holmes and Pickens Counties. The Advertiser and The Durant News have 4,200 circulation.

WCC members visited local merchants in an effort to have them withdraw all advertising and job printing from Mrs. Smith's firm. The boycott was not completely effective although a number of acoounts were lost. The peak effectiveness of the boycott was probably reached in August 1956 when the firm, from both advertising and job printing, failed to take in enough money to meet the monthly payroll. Since that time Mrs. Smith's efforts have been aimed at survival - to remain in business with little hope of significant profit in the foreseeable future.

The Smiths have been subjected to social as well as economic reprisal. Ironically, many of their problems have arisen from national publicity awards for Mrs. Smith's newspaper work. One such crisis occurred when the Fund for the Republic made Mrs. Smith a recipient of the American Traditions Award, on the basis of a letter written about Mrs. Smith and her newspaper work by Hodding Carter, Editor of the Delta-Democrat Times. Mrs. Smith has also been the recipient of the Herrick Award, given by the National Editorial Association, and has twice been awarded by the National Federation of Press Women.

The latest crisis to develop in Lexington occurred on October 17, 1957 when the November issue of Ebony magazine was placed on the news stand. This issue carried an article about Southern women engaged in the current struggle for equal rights. Among the women pictures was Mrs. Smith, described as being a person who had "campaigned for justice for all, regardless of race." This magazine is now being distributed by the WCC throughout Holmes County, especially to all advertisers. The article is advanced as "proof" that the Lexington Advertiser and its editor are detrimental to the community.

- : -

CONFIDENTIAL

41 EXCHANGE PLACE, S. E.
ROOM 606
ATLANTA, GEORGIA

January 8, 1958

Dear Friend:

An effort is being made to assist Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith of Lexington, Mississippi, whose need for financial aid is outlined in the enclosed material. The issue involved is one of freedom of the press - vital in any area and especially significant in the state of Mississippi.

Mrs. Smith, editor and publisher of The Lexington Advertiser, has been subjected to legal harrassment and economic boycott since July 1954. An organized effort, largely directed by the White Citizens' Council, has been underway since January 1956. The situation is critical and unless Mrs. Smith receives outside help in the very near future she may have to close the newspaper and leave Lexington.

It is of the utmost importance that the White Citizens' Council not succeed in driving Mrs. Smith and The Lexington Advertiser out of Mississippi. The only way in which she can hope to continue under present conditions is to retract her former stand and conform to the requirements of the local WCC. This, fortunately, she will not do. With the necessary aid, however, Mrs. Smith can not only continue to publish the Advertiser, but also continue the constructive policies which the WCC has found so objectionable.

Significantly, Mrs. Smith has not lost all local support. There are indications that local advertisers resent the pressure being brought on them and on the editor. If Mrs. Smith can survive while opposing the seemingly all-powerful White Citizen's Councils, it will be a considerable morale victory; healthy for the community and encouraging to other would-be democratic voices in the state.

In defending herself against a $57,500 libel suit, which had to be carried to the State Supreme Court, Mrs. Smith incurred a debt of $5,000 in attorneys' fees. The second major financial blow came in January 1956, when Mr. Smith was fired as administrator of the Holmes County Hospital. Since that time an advertising and job printing boycott has heavily damaged an otherwise profitable weekly newspaper. For more than two years the Smiths, with a loss of savings and considerable indebtedness, have managed to survive. But the campaign against them has recently taken on new intensity.

The Rights of Conscience Program of the American Friends Service Committee has given Mrs. Smith all the assistance it could, and the Relief and Rehabilitation Committee of CCD has exhausted its possibilities. The Rights of Conscience Committee has agreed to serve as recipient of funds for this purpose. Funds should be sent to C. H. Yarrow of the AFSC Office, 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania. Checks should be made payable to American Friends Service Committee, Inc., for Rights of Conscience Program.

To meet the most pressing obligations now existing, and to be assured of continuing publication through 1958 without retraction and conformity, the Smiths need $12,000. Their courage and persistence and their past editorial policies would indicate that aid for this purpose would be well invested.

If you can join in this effort we hope you will do so as soon as possible. The need is urgent.

Sincerely,

Arthur J. Levin

Arthur J. Levin
(Director, Southeastern Office, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith)*

Will D. Campbell

Will D. Campbell
(Associate Executive Director, Division of Christian Life and Work, Department of Racial and Cultural Relations, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.)*

A. E. Cox

A. E. Cox
(Field Representative, Rural Development Program, Department of the Town and Country Church, Division of Home Missions, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.)*

Harold C. Fleming

Harold C. Fleming
(Executive Director, Southern Regional Council)*

*Signed as individuals; organizational titles shown for identification only.

Circulation of Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material

Patrick Malin
American Civil Liberties Union

A.Richard Finchell
American Civil Liberties Union of Miami

Patrick S. Kirwan
American Civil Liberties of Kentucky

George A. Dreyfous
Civil Liberties Union of Louisiana

Earl Henderson
American Council on Human Rights

Barbara Moffett
American Friends Service Committee

F. E. Hutchens
American Friends Service Committee (Southwestern Office)

Tartt Bell
American Friends Service Committee (Southeastern Office)

Edwin Lukas
American Jewish Committee

Samuel Lubin
American Jewish Committee (Atlanta Area Office)

Seymour Samet
American Jewish Committee (Southeast Area Office)

American Jewish Committee (Southwest Regional Office)
Gustave Falk

Will Maslow
American Jewish Congress

Oscar Cohen
Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith(N. Y.)

Murray Friedman
Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (Richmond, Va.)

Nathan Perlmutter
Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (Miami, Fla.)

Irving Schulman
Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (New Orleans, La.)

Theodore Freedman
Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (Houston, Tex.)

Circulation of Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material - 2.=

A. C. Miller
Southern Baptist Convention

Herman H. Long
Nashville, Tennessee

John Hope, II
Nashville, Tennessee

Lewis Deer
Disciples of Christ

Cornelius C. Tarplee
National Council
Protestant Episcopal Church

Edward A. Driscoll
Georgia Council of Churches

Emanuel Muravchik
Jewish Labor Committee

Harold Haas
Board of Social Missions
Lutheran Church in America

Harold C. Letts
Board of Social Missions
Lutheran Church in America

A. Dudley Ward
Board of Social and Economic Relations
The Methodist Church (Chicago, Ill.)

Leon M. Adkins
General Board of Education
The Methodist Church (Nashville, Tenn.)

Thelma Stevens
Women's Division of Christian Service
The Methodist Church (New York)

Roy Wilkins
N. A. A. C. P.

Dumont Kenny
National Conf. of Christians and Jews (New York)

Gordon W. Lovejoy
National Conf. of Christian and Jews (Guilford College, N.C.)

Edith Lowry
National Council of Churches of Christ, U.S.A.
Division of Home Missions

Circulation of Hazel Brannon Smith Material - 3.

W. Murdoch MacLeod
National Council of Churches of Christ, U.S.A.
General Dept. of United Church Women

Esther C. Stamats
National Council of Churches of Christ, U.S.A.
General Dept. of United Church Women

Frances Cahn
National Council of Jewish Women

Vivian C. Mason
National Council of Negro Women

Harry Fleischman
National Labor Service

Lester B/ Granger
National Urban League (New York)

Harry L. Alston
National Urban League (Atlanta Regional Office)

H. B. Sissel
Board of Christian Education
Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Malcolm P. Calhoun
Board of Church Extension
Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Benjamin Segal
Trade Union Program on Civil Liberties and Rights

Mrs. Dudley Moore
Unitarian Service Committee

William Stern
The Workmen's Circle

Maynard Catchings
Natinnal Student Council - YMCA

Paul Rilling
Southern Area Student Council - YMCA

Mrs. Savilla M. Simons
National Board - YWCA (New York)

Florence C. Harris
National Board - YWCA (Atlanta, Ga.)

Fay Bennett
National Sharecroppers Fund, Inc.

Circulation of Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material - 4.

Wilton Dillon
Phelps-Stokes Fund

Albert Vorspan
Union of American Hebrew Congregations (New York)

January 9, 1958

Mr. A. E. Cox
National Council of Churches
Division of Home Missions
257 Fourth Avenue
New York 10, New York

Dear Mr. Cox:

Enclosed you will find a copy of the appeal for Hazel Brannon Smith. This material is now being distributed to some 50 regional and national human relations and religious organizations, taken from the SRC directory of Organizations and Personnel Engaged in Human Relations Activities in the South.

You will note from the covering letter that we have taken the liberty of forging your signature. We felt this to be justifiable in light of the time required to get the stencil to and from you and Will Campbell. Trust you do not object to this.

If you need additional copies of this material let us know.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Administrative Assistant

PA/mf
Enclosure - 1 (Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material)

Hazel B. Smith

January 9, 1958

Mr. Will D. Campbell
National Council of Churches
Race Relations Division
1716 West End Avenue
Nashville, Tennessee

Dear Will:

Enclosed you will find a copy of the appeal for Hazel Brannon Smith. This material is now being distributed to some 50 regional and national human relations and religious organizations, taken from the SRC directory of Organizations and Personnel Engaged in Human Relations Activities in the South.

You will note from the covering letter that we have taken the liberty of forging your signature. We felt this to be justifiable in light of the time required to get the stencil to and from you and Gene Cox. Trust you do not object to this.

If you need additional copies of this material let us know.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Administrative Assistant

PA/mf
Enclosure - 1 (Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material)

January 9, 1958

Mr. C. H. Yarrow
American Friends Service Committee
Twenty South Twelfth Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Dear Mike:

I hope you will forgive this delayed response to your welcome letter many weeks ago expressing your committee's willingness to cooperate in a further effort to help Hazel Brannon Smith. We ran into a varietal snarl of complications in working out a cooperative appeal, but at last we have circulated the enclosed. It went to approximately 50 staff persons of agencies concerned with human relations - that is, most of those that cooperate in CCD. I hope you will find the way in which the matter is put acceptable and that you will pass on any ideas that occur to you about further distribution.

Judging by informal communication with some of the agency folk, we are not very optimistic that this appeal will produce very much. But at least we will have tried.

Please keep me posted on what returns, if any, come to you as a result of the mailing.

With appreciation to you and to the Rights of Conscience Committee for your willingness, as always, to help.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
Enclosure - Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material

Chairman
HENRY J. CADBURY

Executive Secretary
LEWIS M. HOSKINS

Honorary Secretary
CLARENCE E. PICKETT

American Friends Service Committee
INCORPORATED

Twenty South Twelfth Street

Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Telephone, RITTENHOUSE 6-9372

November 26, 1957

Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold, Re: Hazel Smith

I took up the question that you asked with the Rights of Conscience Committee on November 18. Our Committee is still anxious to help Hazel Smith in any manner possible and would be glad to make further grants, providing the funds were available. Checks should be made payable to American Friends Service Committee, Inc., for Rights of Conscience Program.

Here's wishing success for any efforts that may be made.

Cordially yours,

Mike

C. H. Yarrow
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:erm

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT:

Alan Reitman

REGARDING:

Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal

DATE:

January 21, 1958

(SEE)
NAME OR SUBJECT:

American Civil Liberties Union

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Ernest Angell
Katrina McCormick Barnes
Daniel Bell
Dorothy Dunbar Bromley
Ralph S. Brown, Jr.
Lisle C. Carter, Jr.
Richard S. Childs
William A. Delano
Edward J. Ennis
Morris L. Ernst
John F. Finerty
Osmond K. Fraenkel
Walter Frank
Lewis Galantiere
Walter Gellhorn
Julian E. Goldberg
Louis M. Hacker
August Heckscher
Frank S. Horne
B. W. Huebsch
Sophia Yarnall Jacobs
John Jessup
John Paul Jones
Dorothy Kenyon
Dan Lacy
Walter Millis
Gerard Piel
Elmer Rice
George Soll
Barent Ten Eyck
Norman Thomas
J. Waties Waring
Howard Whiteside
Edward Bennett Williams

NATIONAL COMMITTEE
Chairman
E. B. MacNaughton (Ore.)
Vice-Chairman Emeritus
Bishop Edward L. Parsons (Calif.)
Vice Chairmen
Pearl S. Buck (Penna.)
Prof. Albert Sprague Coolidge (Mass.)
Prof. J. Frank Dobie (Texas)
Lloyd K. Garrison (N.Y.)
Dr. Frank P. Graham (U.N.)
Palmer Hoyt (Colo.)
Dr. Karl Menninger (Kans.)
Loren Miller (Calif.)
Morris Rubin (Wisc.)
Lillian E. Smith (Ga.)
Mrs. Sadie Alexander (Penna.)
Thurman Arnold (D.C.)
Bishop James Chamberlain Baker (Calif.)
Roger N. Baldwin (N.Y.)
Alan Barth (D.C.)
Francis Biddle (D.C.)
Dr. Sarah Gibson Blanding (N.Y.)
Catherine Drinker Bowen (Penna.)
Prof. Julian P. Boyd (N.J.)
Van Wyck Brooks (Conn.)
John Mason Brown (N.Y.)
Howard F. Burns (Ohio)
Prof. James R. Caldwell (Calif.)
Dr. Henry Seidel Canby (Conn.)
Prof. Robert K. Carr (N.H.)
Prof. Allan Knight Chalmers (Mass.)
Stuart Chase (Conn.)
Grenville Clark (N.H.)
Dr. Rufus E. Clement (Ga.)
Prof. Henry Steele Commager (Mass.)
Morris L. Cooke (Penna.)
Prof. George S. Counts (N.Y.)
Prof. Robert E. Cushman (Tenn.)
Elmer Davis (D.C.)
Melvyn Douglas (N.Y.)
Rev. Frederick May Eliot (Mass.)
Prof. Thomas H. Eliot (Mo.)
Walter T. Fisher (Ill.)
James Lawrence Fly (Fla.)
Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick (N.Y.)
Prof. Ralph F. Fuchs (Ind.)
Prof. Willard E. Goslin (Tenn.)
Prof. Mark DeW. Howe (Mass.)
Quincy Howe (N.Y.)
Dr. Robert M. Hutchins (N.Y.)
Gerald W. Johnson (Md.)
Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson (D.C.)
Dr. Percy L. Julian (Ill.)
James Kerney, Jr. (N.J.)
Benjamin H. Kizer (Wash.)
Dr. John A. Lapp (Ill.)
Mrs. Agnes Brown Leach (N.Y.)
Max Lerner (N.Y.)
Prof. Robert S. Lynd (N.Y.)
Prof. Robert Mathews (Ohio)
Dr. Millicent C. McIntosh (N.Y.)
Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn (Calif.)
Harry C. Meserve (N. Y.)
Donald R. Murphy (Iowa)
Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer (N.J.)
Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam (D.C.)
Henry Parkman (Mass.)
James G. Patton (Colo.)
A. Philip Randolph (N.Y.)
Elmo Roper (N.Y.)
John Nevin Sayre (N.Y.)
Prof. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. (Mass.)
Joseph Schlossberg (N.Y.)
Dr. Edward J. Sparling (Ill.)
Prof. George R. Stewart (Calif.)
Mrs. Dorothy Tilly (Ga.)
Prof. Edward C. Tolman (Calif.)
William W. Waymack (Iowa)
Stanley Weigel (Calif.)
William L. White (Kans.)
Aubrey Williams (Ala.)
Dean Benjamin Youngdahl (Mo.)
347

RECEIVED JAN 29 1958

AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION

170 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK 10, N. Y.
Founded 1920 ORegon 5-5990 Incorporated

Ernest Angell, Chairman, Board of Directors
Ralph S. Brown, Jr., Elmer Rice, Norman Thomas, Vice Chairmen
Edward J. Ennis, Osmond K. Fraenkel, Barent Ten Eyck, General Counsel
Katrina McCormick Barnes, Secretary, B. W. Huebsch, Treasurer
John Haynes Holmes, Honorary Board Chairman

Patrick Murphy Malin, Executive Director
Alan Reitman, Assistant Director
Jeffrey E. Fuller, Assistant Director
Louis Joughin, Assistant Director
Margret R. Bloomer, Administrative Assistant
Rowland Watts, Staff Counsel
Irving Ferman, Washington Office Director
Roger N. Baldwin, Adviser, International Work
Marie M. Runyon, Membership Secretary

January 27, 1958

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Room 432
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Many thanks for your note of January 21 about Hazel Brannon Smith. I'll not make use of the material publicly, but I would like to send the information along to the influential people I mentioned.

Could you send me a half dozen more copies of the memo?

Best wishes.

Cordially,

Alan

Alan Reitman
Assistant Director

January 27, 1958

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Mrs. Smith:

I don't believe I have sent you a copy of the material with which we have circularized the important agencies concerned with human relations. Enclosed is a complete copy. It is a little too soon to appraise the results. So far we have received word from the AFSC of one $50 contribution, and several requests for additional copies of the material for confidential circulation to other interested parties who might want to help.

As I hope we made clear, this is completely experimental, and none of us can be sure that the results will be significant. I do think it will be helpful for all of these people to realize the extent of your efforts in the face of great odds.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
Enclosure - 1 (Hazel Brannon Smith Appeal Material)

13 copies: Hazel Brannon Smith Material

January 30, 1958

Dr. John A. Morsell
Assistant to the Executive Secretary
N. A. A. C. P.
20 West 40th Street
New York 18, New York

Dear John:

Many thanks for your letter of January 22 expressing your willingness to help secure contributions for Hazel Brannon Smith. Enclosed are the copies of the material which you asked for. I am sure your distribution of them will be most helpful.

With best regards,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF COLORED PEOPLE
20 WEST 40th STREET, NEW YORK 18, N. Y.
LOngacre 3-6890

January 22, 1958

Mr. Harold C. Fleming, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
41 Exchange Place, S. E., Room 606
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Harold:

We have your confidential letter and enclosures regarding the situation of Hazel Brannon Smith and the Lexington Advertiser. We are, of course, most anxious to help and hope to make a direct contribution of our own in the manner suggested.

We would like, however, to extend the appeal to a few sources to which we have access. Would it be possible to have a dozen copies of the material you sent us so that we may forward the full story to that many potential contributors.

We are in complete agreement as to the vital importance of maintaining Mrs. Smith's newspaper, both from the point of view of freedom of the press and in the interest of a sane voice in the wilderness.

Cordially,

John

John A. Morsell
Assistant to the Executive Secretary

JAM:erb

January 30, 1958

Mr. C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program
American Friends Service Committee
Twenth South Twelfth Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Dear Mike:

Many thanks for your letter of January 22 and the enclosure acknowledging Mr. Dreyfous' congribution. It is encouraging to know that the appeal is getting some response.

I have had requests for additional copies of the material from several organizations that want to call the matter to the attention of potential contributors.

I can readily understand the limitation on your acknowledgment of these contributions, and I think the letter you have written Mr. Dreyfous handles the matter very well.

With best regards,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

RECEIVED JAN 24 1958

Chairman
HENRY J. CADBURY

Executive Secretary
LEWIS M. HOSKINS

Executive Secretary Emeritus
CLARENCE E. PICKETT

American Friends Service Committee
INCORPORATED

Twenty South Twelfth Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Telephone, RITTENHOUSE 6-9372

January 22, 1958

Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold,

The Hazel Smith appeal is certainly well formulated. As you see, a first check has come in. These sums will be a morale booster, even if they do not solve the problem of capital debt.

We cannot acknowledge these receipts directly for individuals, but our Committee is easy about giving further grants to Hazel Smith as funds become available. The wording in your appeal seems to cover the situation all right.

Cordially yours,

C H Yarrow Phila

C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:erm

Enclosure: CC letter to George A. Dreyfous, Esq.

RECEIVED JAN 24 1958

January 22, 1958

George A. Dreyfous, Esq.
1609 National Bank of Commerce Building
210 Baronne Street
New Orleans 12, La.

Dear Mr. Dreyfous,

We wish to acknowledge receipt of your check for $50.00 as a contribution to the Rights of Conscience Program. We are happy to receive such funds and can assure you that they will be devoted to the purposes that you are interested in.

We have been in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Smith for some time and are very cognizant of the brave stand that they have made and the great difficulties that they have experienced. We have given aid and assistance to Mrs. Smith in the past and hope to be able to carry on with more aid in the future.

Sincerely yours,

C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:erm

Enclosure: Receipt for $50.00

bcc: Harold Fleming
Evelyn Andrews

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Ernest Angell
Mrs. Katrina McCormick Barnes
Daniel Bell
Mrs. Dorothy Dunbar Bromley
Earl Brown
Ralph S. Brown
Lisle C. Carter, Jr.
Allan Knight Chalmers
Richard S. Childs
William A. Delano
Edward J. Ennis
Morris L. Ernst
John F. Finerty
Osmond K. Fraenkel
Walter Frank
Lewis Galantiere
Walter Gellhorn
Julian E. Goldberg
Louis M. Hacker
August Heckscher
Frank S. Horne
B. W. Huebsch
Mrs. Sophia Yarnall Jacobs
John Jessup
John Paul Jones
Dorothy Kenyon
Saul K. Padover
Elmer Rice
George Soll
Barent Ten Eyck
Norman Thomas
J. Waties Waring
Edward Bennett Williams

NATIONAL COMMITTEE
Chairman
E. B. MacNaughton (Ore.)
Vice-Chairman Emeritus
Bishop Edward L. Parsons (Calif.)
Vice Chairmen
Pearl S. Buck (Penna.)
Prof. Albert Sprague Coolidge (Mass.)
Lloyd K. Garrison (N.Y.)
Dr. Frank P. Graham (U.N.)
Palmer Hoyt (Colo.)
Morris Rubin (Wisc.)
Lillian E. Smith (Ga.)

Sadie Alexander (Penna.)
Thurman Arnold (D.C.)
Bishop James Chamberlain Baker (Calif.)
Roger N. Baldwin (N.Y.)
Alan Barth (D.C.)
Francis Biddle (D.C.)
Dr. Sarah Gibson Blanding (N.Y.)
Catherine Drinker Bowen (Penna.)
Prof. Julian P. Boyd (N.J.)
Van Wyck Brooks (Conn.)
John Mason Brown (N.Y.)
Howard F. Burns (Ohio)
Prof. James R. Caldwell (Calif.)
Dr. Henry Seidel Canby (Conn.)
Prof. Robert K. Carr (N.H.)
Stuart Chase (Conn.)
Grenville Clark (N.H.)
Dr. Rufus E. Clement (Ga.)
Prof. Henry Steele Commager (Mass.)
Morris L. Cooke (Penna.)
Prof. George S. Counts (N.Y.)
Prof. Robert E. Cushman (N.Y.)
Elmer Davis (D.C.)
Prof. J. Frank Dobie (Texas)
Melvyn Douglas (N.Y.)
Rev. Frederick May Eliot (Mass.)
Prof. Thomas H. Eliot (Mo.)
Walter T. Fisher (Ill.)
James Lawrence Fly (Fla.)
Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick (N.Y.)
Prof. Ralph F. Fuchs (D.C.)
Prof. Willard E. Goslin (Tenn.)
Grover C. Hall, Jr. (Ala.)
Prof. Mark DeW. Howe (Mass.)
Quincy Howe (N.Y.)
Dr. Robert M. Hutchins (N.Y.)
Gerald W. Johnson (Md.)
Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson (D.C.)
Dr. Percy L. Julian (Ill.)
James Kerney, Jr. (N.J.)
Benjamin H. Kizer (Wash.)
Dr. John A. Lapp (Ill.)
Prof. Harold D. Lasswell (Conn.)
Mrs. Agnes Brown Leach (N.Y.)
Max Lerner (N.Y.)
Prof. Robert S. Lynd (N.Y.)
John P. Marquand (Mass.)
Prof. Robert Mathews (Ohio)
Dr. Millicent C. McIntosh (N.Y.)
Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn (Calif.)
Dr. Karl Menninger (Kans.)
Harry C. Meserve (N. Y.)
Loren Miller (Calif.)
Donald R. Murphy (Iowa)
Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer (N.J.)
Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam (D.C.)
James G. Patton (Colo.)
A. Philip Randolph (N.Y.)
Elmo Roper (N.Y.)
John Nevin Sayre (N.Y.)
Prof. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. (Mass.)
Joseph Schlossberg (N.Y.)
Dr. Edward J. Sparling (Ill.)
Prof. George R. Stewart (Calif.)
Mrs. Dorothy Tilly (Ga.)
Prof. Edward C. Tolman (Calif.)
William W. Waymack (Iowa)
Stanley Weigel (Calif.)
William L. White (Kans.)
Aubrey Williams (Ala.)
Dean Benjamin Youngdahl (Mo.)

347

AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION

170 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK 10, N. Y.
Founded 1920 ORegon 5-5990 Incorporated

Ernest Angell, Chairman, Board of Directors
Ralph S. Brown, Morris L. Ernst, Dorothy Kenyon, Vice Chairmen
Edward J. Ennis, Osmond K. Fraenkel, Barent Ten Eyck, General Counsel
Katrina McCormick Barnes, Secretary, B. W. Huebsch, Treasurer
John Haynes Holmes, Honorary Board Chairman

Patrick Murphy Malin, Executive Director
Alan Reitman, Assistant Director
Jeffrey E. Fuller, Assistant Director
Louis Joughin, Assistant Director
Margret R. Bloomer, Administrative Assistant
Rowland Watts, Staff Counsel
Irving Ferman, Washington Office Director
Roger N. Baldwin, Adviser, International Work
Marie M. Runyon, Membership Secretary

Hazel Br. Smith

February 7, 1958

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

I thought you would like to have the enclosed note from James Kerney, Jr., editor of the Trenton Times, to whom I wrote about the plight of Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith.

Sincererely,

Alan

Alan Reitman
Assistant Director

cc: Harry Fleischman
Enc.

TRENTON TIMES NEWSPAPERS
TRENTON, NEW JERSEY

JAMES KERNEY, JR.
EDITOR

FEB 7 1958

February 6, 1958

Mr. Alan Reitman, Assistant Director
The American Civil Liberties Union
170 Fifth Avenue
New York 10, New York

Dear Alan:

I am sympathetic with the problems of Mrs. Smith in Lexington, Mississippi. But, quite frankly, I know of no editorial group competent to do anything to help her, unless it is possibly the Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity. The American Society of Newspaper Editors has no real guts in this kind of matter, from my experience with them, and there is no other organization ready to do any work.

Faithfully yours,

Chairman:
I. CYRUS GORDON

Directors:
RABBI EUGENE J. LIPMAN
ALBERT VORSPAN

COMMISSION ON SOCIAL ACTION

SIDNEY BARROWS
St. Paul, Minn.
RABBI HERBERT I. BLOOM
Kingston, N. Y.
RABBI BALFOUR BRICKNER
Washington, D. C.
GEORGE BRUSSEL, JR.
New York, N. Y.
RABBI MAURICE EISENDRATH
New York, N. Y., Ex Officio
MISS JANE EVANS
New York, N. Y.
IRVING J. FAIN
Pawtucket, R. I.
RABBI JULIAN B. FEIBELMAN
New Orleans, La.
RABBI LEON FEUER
Toledo, Ohio
JULIUS FLIGELMAN
Los Angeles, Calif.
RABBI ALFRED FRIEDMAN
Brooklyn, N. Y.
RABBI ROLAND B. GITTELSOHN
Boston, Mass.
RABBI ROBERT E. GOLDBURG
New Haven, Conn.
ISAAC HELLER
New Orleans, La.
PHILIP HELLER
Roslyn Heights, N. Y.
KIVIE KAPLAN
Boston, Mass.
RABBI EDWARD E. KLEIN
New York, N. Y.
JULIAN LYONS
Lincoln, Neb.
RABBI CARL I. MILLER
Gary, Ind.
ROBERT MILLER
Haverford, Pa.
MRS. HENRY MONSKY
Los Angeles, Calif.
HON. ABRAHAM MULTER
Washington, D. C.
RABBI W. GUNTHER PLAUT
St. Paul, Minn.
JOSEPH L. RAUH, JR.
Washington, D. C.
RABBI SIDNEY L. REGNER
New York, N. Y., Ex Officio
GUY ROSMARIN
Trenton, N. J.
RABBI JACOB M. ROTHSCHILD
Atlanta, Ga.
RABBI BYRON T. RUBENSTEIN
Highland Park, Ill.
RABBI JACOB P. RUDIN
Great Neck, N. Y.
RABBI SELWYN D. RUSLANDER
Dayton, Ohio
MYER O. SIGAL
Macon, Ga.
RABBI SAMUEL D. SOSKIN
Brooklyn, N. Y.
J. JACQUES STONE
New York, N. Y.
SOLBERT WASSERSTROM
Kansas City, Mo.
RABBI JACOB WEINSTEIN
Chicago, Ill.
STANLEY WINKELMAN
Detroit, Mich.

#3017

Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism

Union of American Hebrew Congregations · Central Conference of American Rabbis
National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods · National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods
National Federation of Temple Youth

838 FIFTH AVENUE · NEW YORK 21, N. Y. · REgent 7-8200

February 18, 1958

Mr. Harold Flemming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Enclosed is a check made out to the American Friends Service Committee which we are sending you in response to the joint memorandum about Mrs. Smith of Lexington, Mississippi. Would you be good enough to pass this on to the proper person.

Best personal regards.

Cordially,

Albert Vorspan
Director

AV/rs

February 28, 1958

Mr. C. H. Yarrow
American Friends Service Committee
20 South 12th Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Yarrow:

Enclosed is a check for $100 from the Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism for Hazel Brannon Smith. Also enclosed is a copy of the letter to Harold Fleming which accompanied the check.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Administrative Assistant

PA/mf
Enclosures - 2 (Check No. 001556 - $100; Vorspan Ltr.)

March 12, 1958

Mr. Albert Vorspan, Director
Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism
838 Fifth Avenue
New York 21, New York

Dear Al:

The copy of Mike Yarrow's letter to you reminded me that I hadn't written you myself.

The Commission's contribution for Mrs. Smith was very heartening to me and the others who joined in the memorandum requesting assistance. As I already had good reason to know, you and your agency can be counted on for sympathy and support to the beleaguered. This sensitivity is especially important at a time when the individual tends to get lost in the great abstract conflicts of principles and ideologies.

With appreciation and best regards.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF:fcl

Mr. Albert Vorspan, Director
Commission on Social Action
of Reform Judaism
838 Fifth Avenue
New York 21, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Vorspan,

Thank you very much for the contribution to the Rights of Conscience Program for Hazel BrannonSmith. Our official receipt is enclosed.

We are happy to receive such funds and can assure you that they will be devoted to the purpose for which they are intended.

Sincerely yours,

C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:erm

Enclosure: Receipt for $100.00

CC: Harold Fleming

rec'd
15 March 58

March 13, 1958

Mr. Albert Vorspan, Director
Commission on Social Action
of Reform Judaism
838 Fifth Avenue
New York 21, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Vorspan,

Thank you very much for the contribution to the Rights of Conscience Program for Hazel Brannon Smith. Our official receipt is enclosed. We assume it is correct to make it out to the Colonial Tanning Co., Inc. and that you will see that it gets to the proper person. If the receipt should be made out to the Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism, please let us know.

We are happy to receive such funds and can assure you that they will be devoted to the purpose for which they are intended.

Sincerely yours,

C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:nmt
Encl: Receipt for $100.00
CC. Harold Fleming ✓
Evelyn Andrews

Copy of Yarrow's ltr - dtd 4/1/58 sent to:
A. E. Cox, Will Campbell, Art Levin

H. B. Smith

April 14, 1958

Mr. C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program
American Friends Service Committee
20 South 12th Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Dear Mike:

Thanks so much for your letter bringing me up to date on the results of the appeal for Hazel Brannon Smith. I am impressed by the aggregate total that came in, considering the slow start. Please keep the books open awhile longer; I feel reasonably sure that at least a small additional amount will be forthcoming.

I hope I will see you soon under circumstances more favorable for discussion of our mutual concerns than we had at the CCD meeting.

Warm regards.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Chairman
HENRY J. CADBURY

Executive Secretary
LEWIS M. HOSKINS

Executive Secretary Emeritus
CLARENCE E. PICKETT

Rec'd 4/3/58

American Friends Service Committee

INCORPORATED

Twenty South Twelfth Street
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania
Telephone, RITTENHOUSE 6-9372

April 1, 1958

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3,Georgia

Dear Harold, Re: Hazel Brannon Smith

We thought you might be interested in the results of the appeal which you organized in behalf of Hazel Smith:

George A. Dreyfous	$ 50.00
David and Sue Minter	25.00
Alfred Baker Lewis	100.00
James J. McClendon	5.00
Albert Vorspan, Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism	100.00
George A. Dreyfous	1,000.00
John A. Morsell, NAACP, N.Y. for:
Amy Spingarn	100.00
P.M.H. Savory	25.00
Merrill M. Barlow	5.00
	$1,410.00

We heard from Hazel Smith the beginning of March, after her trip to New Orleans,and she seemed to be in better spirits. The amount of money that has been collected is not likely to be enough to solve her problems, but it may give her enough of a lift to carry on.

It was good to share frustrations with you at the meeting in New York last Wednesday.

Cordially yours,

Mike

C. H. Yarrow
Director
Rights of Conscience Program

CHY:erm

CC: Fay Hutchens (Texas)
Jean Fairfax

cc Mailed to
S. P. Carver Co
666 Fifth Ave,
N.Y. 19

cr. Ref.

January 23, 1959

Mr. Adam Yarmolinsky
Barr Building
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Adam:

This is in reply to your letter about Hazel Brannon Smith.

The questions you pose are certainly the pertinent ones. In the last analysis, it seems to me that Hazel Smith, herself, is the only one who can give "hard" answers to them. But it is possible to get enough information at second-hand to enable you to decide whether you want to pursue the matter to ultimate negotiation.

I have talked this morning with a man who's probably closer to Mrs. Smith and her situation than anyone else. He is Eugene Cox, formerly of Holmes County, Mississippi, now working for the Department of the Rural Church, National Council of Churches. He is in close touch with Mrs. Smith and has been doing everything he could to help her. Following is a summary of the facts as he knows them.

Hazel Smith publishes four weekly newspapers in all. You will understand that these are very small operations, with limited circulation and advertising. Three of these papers are printed in her Lexington, Mississippi shop - The Lexington Advertiser, the Durant News and a Flora, Mississippi News. The fourth paper is a surburban weekly in Jackson called the Northside Reporter. The printing of this one is done under contract by a Jackson firm. The three county weeklies have been Mrs. Smith's continuing operation; the Jackson paper was started a couple of years ago in an effort to off-set the loss caused by the Citizens' Councils pressure. None of the papers is earning an appreciable amount of money though the Jackson paper is thought to have good potentialities.

In normal times, it is possible that the book value of Mrs. Smith's properties would total $100,000. However, Cox says that in the present situation this value for purposes of loans or sale is greatly deflated. The properties include the newspaper building and press in Lexington and her house. Each of these is mortgaged, though I don't know for how much except in the case of the press. There is a loan of approximately $6,000 outstanding on the press, the total value of which is thought to be right around $15,000. Cox's understanding is that Mrs. Smith wants to secure a $15,000 loan with the press, of course paying off the existing indebtedness. This would enable her to consolidate her debts, excluding the mortgage on the house and the building.

Cox further says that a local loan is out of the question because of the pressures built up by the Citizens' Councils and their sympathizers. For example, officers of both of the Lexington banks and members of the corporation are starting an opposition paper. Cox himself discussed the possibility of a loan with the largest Memphis bank. He was told that this bank could not consider such a transaction because it would antagonize the Lexington banks. Cox feels that this same inhibition would apply to banks anywhere in the general area. This may sound incredible to someone living in a more normal society, but it is the kind of economic squeeze that one encounters in the deep South over and over.

As to the prospects of Mrs. Smith's survival, assuming a loan is made, I doubt that anyone could do more than speculate. She, herself, feels that the opposition paper is not well enough financed to operate competitively for more than a few months. She also feels that, given time, the Jackson paper will grow sufficiently to put her total operations on a self-sustaining basis. She is determined not to surrender to the pressures in Lexington until and unless she is utterly defeated. It seems to me that if the loan can be properly secured, there is little to lose. Even if she folds up after another six months or year, the principle will have been defended for that much longer.

If this much information leaves you and Stephen Currier still inclined to pursue the matter, I should think you would want to arrange a discussion with Hazel Smith herself. If you decide to do this and I can help to facilitate it, you have only to let me know.

All the best.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

P. S. I doubt that Hodding Carter or Easton King (the publisher mentioned by Peters) have even this much specific information about Hazel Smith's financial status. But if you want more evaluation of the importance of the effort to keep her going, their views would be useful.

H.C.F.

Barr Building
Washington 5, D.C.
January 21, 1959

Mr. Harold C. Fleming, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Harold:

On the subject of Hazel Brannen Smith, Stephen Currier would like to have some hard financial information on her present position, on the terms of the proposed loan and, most important, on the likelihood that the loan would in fact put the paper back on a self-sustaining basis, so that the lender would not just be pouring money down a rat-hole, to put it somewhat inelegantly.

Bill Peters reports that Mrs. Smith owns not one but three papers in Mississippi, has been in business for twenty years, and has been highly successful. He doesn't know, however, what the relationship is between the paper that is in trouble and the other two. A year or two ago, when the question of a loan was first raised, Ed Lukas reports, the Smiths had a net worth of about $100,000 ($75,000 in the paper/s?/ and $25,000 in their house), and Ed could not understand why they were not able to obtain a $15,000 loan. There was some talk about the inadvisability of recording a mortgage locally (since the loan would have to be obtained locally) because it would show that the paper was in some trouble. But I take it that the fat is in the fire now, and one of the questions I need an answer to is why the local loan isn't now advisable. I hope you can find some gentleman in Mississippi to provide the answers without too much trouble. Peters says Hodding Carter is a good friend and would know, but he is out of the country. Peters also mentioned the man who prints P. D. East's paper, and publishes the paper in Pascagoula.

Apologies, and thanks.

Sincerely,

Adam Yarmolinsky

Warren Wilson School
Swannanoa NC
Wed & Thurs
Lusk Fri

Cox
EX 7-5102

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N. W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

METROPOLITAN 8-6977

March 27, 1959

Hillcrest 3-2211

Mr. Harold Fleming
Director,
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

This is about Hazel Brannon Smith.

Mrs. Smith called me at the end of last week, because I had written her on Stephen Currier's behalf, and then had not replied to a letter from her giving me financial information. She told me that she was in desperate straits and needed at least $1,000 within a week, in order to keep from closing her doors. I have now succeeded in raising $1,000, in four chunks of $250, from Nancy Harrison, Phil Stern, Walter Ridder and Nathan Levin, with the understanding that I will get someone to go over her situation with her on the spot and prepare a full financial report with some projections and estimates about when she can turn the corner (depending in large part, of course, on when the Citizens' Council paper quits, which both Mrs. Smith and Bill Peters think will be soon). When I receive this information I am to pass it on to Nathan Levin, who has volunteered to look into the possibility of a loan even up to $10 or $20 thousand, to see her through until she gets into the black.

My request to you is whether one of your people could go through Lexington, Mississippi, in the next few weeks, and sit down with Mrs. Smith in order to make up such a report. I'm not asking, obviously, for a document prepared by a CPA, but I do need the kind of straighforward statement that Mrs. Smith herself is apparently unable to prepare - and she admits it. The best person to do this job would be a business man type who might be willing to invest a day, or part of a day, in the enterprise. I hope you think it's worth the investment.

I missed you in New York last week - called the Commodore up until the wee hours, when they were still expecting you, but you hadn't arrived. Please tell me when you're coming again.

Yours,
Adam

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N. W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

METROPOLITAN 8-6977

April 30, 1959

Mr. Harold Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, NE
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Harold:

How is your man Cox doing on Hazel Brannon Smith's problems? I'd like to get some word to my four lenders in the next week if possible.

I ended up my stay in Boulder by breaking a leg skiing the day after the conference ended, and just got back last Sunday, but I am beginning to learn to get around on crutches, and will be in New York the middle of next week. Let me know when you'll be up next.

Yours,

Adam

Sent Cox ltr of 5/4/59

May 5, 1959

Mr. A. E. Cox
Delta Foundation, Inc.
933 Chambliss Road
Memphis 16, Tennessee

Dear Gene:

Thanks for your letter concerning the Hazel Smith report. I have written Yarmolinsky that he can expect the analysis shortly.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Sent copy to A. Yarmolinsky

DELTA FOUNDATION
INCORPORATED
933 CHAMBLISS ROAD
MEMPHIS 16, TENNESSEE

May 1, 1959

RECEIVED MAY 4 1959

Mr. Harold Fleming
63 Auburn Avenue NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

At the time of my first trip to Holmes County, Mississippi, Hazel Smith was in Madison, Wisconsin. I did have the chance to discuss with Walter Smith the information needed for the report to Adam Yarmolinsky. Last week, I met the Smiths at Providence Farm where we had about 4 hours to discuss the matter in detail.

Due to the fact that some of the information we needed was not in final form on Sunday, I asked Hazel to complete the following and send to you for inspection and transmission to Yarmolinsky:

1. A balance sheet of assets and liabilities

2. An analysis of the operations of the competing paper, the LEXINGTON HERALD, based on their knowledge of the capital investment, size of weekly payroll and advertising sold each week since the paper started operating.

3. An estimate of income and expenditures for the four weekly papers published by Smiths. This to cover the period they expect the other paper to hold out.

4. An estimate of what will be required to refinance present loans, to pay off current debts and to meet any deficit in operating costs for the next 12 months, or so.

With very best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

Gene Cox

A. E. Cox, President

The Delta Foundation is a non-profit educational organization and contributions to its support are allowable income tax deductions

MAY 7 1958

MF - File
Hazel B. Smith

MISSISSIPPI EDITORS

School Bombings Deplored In Call For Liberty Stand

Bombings of a Jewish Center and Negro school in Jacksonville, Fla., were deplored by an editor who said the next explosion may be at "your church, or mine."

In her BANNER COUNTY OUTLOOK, Mrs. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH said also that thoughtful Southerners were "appalled to learn from news accounts that 54 sticks of explosives were found at a synagogue in Birmingham.

"These incidents followed the bombing on March 16 of synagogues at Miami and Nashville."

Mrs. SMITH declared that "if the present pattern of agitation by hate-preaching pressure groups is allowed to continue unchallenged then the South should prepare itself for many more such outrages."

History's need at the moment is "men and women of character and integrity with backbone enough to stand up and be counted for truth and right," she said.

"If we don't speak up for decency, law and order, for individual liberty and freedom under the law, then we are destined to wake up soon with all of our freedom gone. The hoodlums will have taken over entirely.

"If they can bomb a synagogue today and get away with it, tomorrow it may well be your church, or mine."

★ ★ ★

May 11, 1959

Mr. Adam Yarmolinsky
Barr Building
910 17th Street, N. W.
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear Adam:

Here is everything that Hazel Smith sent me. The financial data, at any rate, seems clear enough, though I haven't taken time to ponder it at length. I've retained copies here, however, and if you would like me to press for any clarification or additional dope, let me know.

Mrs. Smith called me at about the same time she mailed this material -- her purpose being to emphasize the offer to come to Atlanta. I explained to her that my role is the modest one of middle-man once removed and that you are the important guy in these negotiations. If by any remote chance you feel I can accomplish anything for you by seeing her here, I will encourage her to come; otherwise, I will let it lie.

One of my projected conferences having evaporated, I am now due to arrive in New York on Thursday night, the 21st, at the usual hour of 9:30 or thereabouts. This time, I'll be putting up at the Henry Hudson, since that is where my principal meeting is taking place. Do call me if you're in and feeling strong Thursday night; otherwise, I'll hope to see you Friday if you're still in New York.

Best,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF:ls
Enclosures

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N. W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

May 8, 1959

METROPOLITAN 8-6977

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
64 Auburn Avenue
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Thanks for your note of May 4 about Hazel Smith and Gene Cox. Nathan Levin just called me today to ask when he could expect a report. I suspect that material that comes directly from Mrs. Smith will need some editing by Cox in order to make it comprehensible, but maybe she is working from specific instructions.

I do expect to be in New York, probably arriving the evening of the 20th, and staying on a day or two, and I'll plan to call you at the Commodore that evening if I'm in, or the next morning, or you can reach me at the Bar Association, Murray Hill 2 - 0606.

Yours,

Adam

P.S. How do the orthopedists support themselves in Atlanta?

Established In 1837

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Printers -:- Publishers

Lexington, Mississippi

May 4, 1959

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, Publisher

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I am enclosing what I hope is all of the information you need to help secure for me adequate funds so that I can continue in business-either in the form of outright grants or a long term loan without interest,or at a very low rate of interest. You will note from my operating statement that I paid out $2,030.93 interest in 1958. This was at the rate of six and five per cent. I am paying 5 per cent on my press and six per cent on my note to the First National Bank of Jackson.

On the balance sheet under the heading of "real estate" I have put the valuation of this property the same as on a financial statement I made to the Jackson bank nearly two years ago when I borrowed money from them to keep going. Appraisers were used on the property then, a Jackson real estate man who is familiar with Lexington property values, and this figure was accepted as accurate by the bank. Actually, it represents the money we have in the properties, rather than their actual value, which I believe to be more than is stated on paper.

The new newspaper in Lexington (Holmes County Herald) has not caught on like its backers thought-and I have gained some additional support that I did not have before in some local business and professional people who know what is going on and knowx it is not good for the community. I believe the outcome of which paper survives is going to be determined by which one can obtain sufficient capital. The new paper was set up to last a year-and after that it was supposed to be up to Marshall to make it pay. Thus far he has not demonstrated an ability to do it-and the only way he could get enough business to support his established overhead is to take not only all of my business at The Advertiser, but practically all of the business the Povall Printing Co. in Lexington is getting. The woman who runs this is a widow, mother of two children in college, and a sister-in-law of the Mayor of Lexington, Allie S. Povall. She has the county printing tied up until next May under contract-and I have the county legals tied up until next February. So he is headed off there.

The new newspaper was "sold" as a "good 6% investment" by men as a business proposition-to get the initial backing in the organizational meeting to which only a select few were invited. After that the stock was sold under pressure to business men around the square in Lexington and throughout the county as much as possible, using the organizational setup of the Citizens Councils to do it. These people are now awake to

Established In 1837

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Printers -:- Publishers

Lexington, Mississippi

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, PUBLISHER

what has been put over on them and I do not believe they will be buying additional stock. In fact, few of them have the money to do so even if they wanted to. Only two or three of the "hard core" of rabid segregationists who comprise the local leadership of the CC have any money to back the new newspaper further. So, barring an incident to give me another black eye, or give them ammunition to use against me, it is just a question of time until they run out of operating capital.

Circulation-wise the new newspaper is an admitted failure-claiming only 1200 circulation. He has already started trying to run some special promotion each week to try to drum up linage-but this gets old very fast in small towns. Merchants get tired of being pressured to put a special type of ad or a signature page every week-and they turn against you.

If I can just sit steady and continue my present way of operating I will be able, God willing, to come out on top. The only thing that makes it worthwhile to me is the encouragement I get from hundreds of readers and subscribers who look to me as their shield and defender in a way-knowing that if the element represented by the new newspaper does take over in the community and county that they will have no rights, no voice. This may sound corny to you over in Atlanta, but I have lived with these people nearly 23 years and I know they trust me and they all have implicit faith that I am going to win-and they look on it as "right is going to win". So all I can do, regardless of how tired I am, is to fight as long as I can and in every way I can until my resources are exhausted. In the final analysis, I, too, am trusting in "right" to win.

The Lexington Advertiser is regarded as an institution-it is 122 years old. In an area like this, where tradition is so strong, it is virtually impossible to get people to stop reading a newspaper which has always been in their homes. All of them read it from childhood on up-and there are few people who have no ties with it at all. These newcomers read it because it is the established paper in the community-and the other paper, edited as it is, only reflects one thing-ridicule and scorn for "the nine old ninnies" or "the jackasses" which comprise our U. S. Supreme Court. Many people have told me they have always enjoyed The Advertiser and thought it was a good newspaper, but that they did not realize just how good it was until the new newspaper began operating in Lexington and they had a chance to compare. We have had a total of about 25 cancellations, or failures to renew, since the new newspaper started. We have added 212 new subscribers. Only about 12 of the 25 were Lexington or Lexington RFD. We will continue to gain, I believe.

After you have had a chance to study these figures and see what you think you can do, I would appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible. If there is any other information you need, please let me know. Also we will drive over to see you to talk about it, if you think that would be helpful. I haven't seen my father in Gadsden, Ala. for some time and we could visit him enroute. I need help quickly, as you can see.

Sincerely,

Hazel Brannon Smith

Sheet I

Balance Sheet
April 30, 1959

ASSETS

Cash on hand and in bank	$ 691.56
Notes receivable- NONE
Accounts receivable	3,360.42
Real Estate:
1. Commercial building- (houses The Lexington Advertiser)	20,000.00
2. Home and 17 acres improved land- (suitable for subdivision)	22,000.00
3. 500-acre Cattle and Timber farm- (completely fenced, ponds, etc. estimated value $50.00 acre)	25,000.00
Newspaper Properties:
The Lexington Advertiser- (Plant and equipment)	80,000.00
The Durant News	10,000.00
The Banner County Outlook	3,000.00
The Northside Reporter- (offset equipment)	25,000.00
TOTAL ASSETS	$189,051.98	$189,051.98

LIABILITIES

Accounts Payable	$ 7,200.84
Notes Payable:
*A. First National Bank, Jackson, Miss. (Payable semi-annually at the rate of $300. per month with 6 per cent interest)	21,600.00
*B. Sowashee Building Corp. Meridian (Payable $200. per month- with interest at 5%)	4,200.00
Net worth	156,051.14
TOTAL LIABILITIES	$189,051.98	$189,051.98

*A-Secured by Deed of Trust on Items 1, 2, and 3 listed under Real Estate
*B-Secured by Deed of Trust on Cox-O-Type newspaper press in Lexington

Sheet 2

Operating Statement
1958

Schedule of Business Income-all from newspaper publishing-

RECEIPTS		$47,439.56
EXPENSES
Salaries and wages	18,738.07
Newsprint, Supplies	7.173.96
Repairs, maintenance	1,030.05
Printing	5,478.56
Editorial, Circulation Promotion	1,055.13
Telephone	1,205.03
Car Expense	1,853.83
Utilities	1,429.58
Interest paid	2,030.93
Advertising Service	279.14
Insurance	489.22
State & County Taxes	737.58
Fed. Unemployment Tax	50.12
State " "	251.46
Social Security Tax	391.07
Sales Tax	78.00
Freight and Postage	792.15
Rent (N'Side Reporter)	660.00
TOTAL EXPENSES	$43,723.88	$43,723.88
NET INCOME		$ 3,515.68

****

Estimate of Income
for 1959

ESTIMATED INCOME, for 1959	$ 36,000.00
ESTIMATED EXPENSES, for 1959	$ 48,000.00
Anticipated Deficit for 1959	$ 12,000.00

This is purely an estimate of income-naturally I hope it will be more. Expenses will run slightly more than 1958 at a minimum figure. Labor is up and an additional worker in office is needed-as well as a first class job printer in job printing department.

Prior to 1954 I earned an average yearly income of about $15,000 from these properties-since 1949.

Since 1954 gross business and net income have steadily declined. This situation will continue for one year at least-after which I hope to have enough printing contracts to maintain my volume enough to be able to at least remain in business and have a living out of it.

Sheet A

DATA ON
HOLMES COUNTY HERALD
Lexington, Miss.

Organized at Lexington by a group of Citizen Council leaders, acting as individuals, in December, 1958, after several months of careful, secret planning.Organization meeting was secret-by invitation only.

Incorporated under laws of the State of Mississippi, January, 1959, capital stock under charter $30,000. There are approximately 190 stockholders who own this stock ($25.00 a share). Largest stockholder holds only ten shares. Only one-half of the $30,000 stock has been sold as far as can be ascertained. More than 60 per cent of those buying stock did so because they "felt they had to" and have said so many times.

The newspaper has an "Executive Committee" each member of which is a "front man" for those who want the paper to succeed-the real ones behind it, a group of about seven men. The Executive Committee of five men are called when any question comes up-The Board of Directors is composed of 30 men with representatives from as many communities in the county as possible-patterned after the organizational setup of the Citizens Council

Editor of The HC Herald is Chester Marshall, who was hired by the seven or so men behind the movement even before any stock was sold, or the meeting held, or the business incorporated and directors selected.

Mr. Marshall had worked at The Lexington Advertiser for 15 months prior to going to work for the new newspaper. He is about 45 years old, has a wife and three small children. He thought he saw in the new paper a way to eventually get control of a paper of his own. He was being paid $100.00 per week by The Advertiser; his salary with The Herald, it is understood, is also $100. He is supposed to have some kind of a deal whereby he can eventually buy the stock at the same figure "even if it is worth more". Mr. Marshall is a high school graduate and cannot spell. There is not one person on his staff with college or journalism training or practical newspaper experience.

The HC Herald was "supposed" to have enough money to operate one year-after which Marshall was expected to make it pay its own way. However, since the $30,000 stock definitely has not been sold, it is doubtful that the newspaper can operate an entire year without further financial assistance from the stockholders (which we do not believe will be forthcoming) or a great increase in the advertising and job printing they do.

Their circulation is only 1150 at the top figure-with only about 950 of these going to Holmes County homes-and some of the 950 figure are duplications in that the Herald added every business firm in the county free, after the first four weeks when they were desperate to get more papers in to more homes. (The Lexington Advertiser has more than twice their circulation). The Herald has not sold a single Negro subscriber, to our knowledge. (Holmes County is 75 per cent Colored in population).

Only one merchant on the Town Square is an avid supporter of The Herald, a Variety Store owner, Patterson. The other variety store owner uses the columns of The Advertiser exclusively. The latter is steadily gaining patronage.

The most time anyone has given the HC Herald to last is one year-and this includes a banker who is on its board of directors.

HC Herald-Sheet B

ESTIMATE OF

Current ~~Operating Statement~~ Balance Sheet of The Holmes County Herald at Lexington, Mississippi on April 30, 1959

(Time of Operation 13 Weeks)

ESTIMATED INCOME

1. Subscriptions, 900 at $3.00 per year	$2,700.00
2. Advertising, average of $300. per week	3,900.00
3. Commercial job printing (only a guess)	1,000.00
4. Sale of Stock	15,000.00
TOTAL ESTIMATED INCOME		$22,600.00

ESTIMATED EXPENSES

1. Cost of Plant: Outright purchase for cash of several pieces of Used Newspaper Machinery-Linotype, press, strip caster	7,000.00
Down payment on $8,900. miscellaneous equipment (balance payable $150.00 per mo.)	2,000.00
Three months payment on this contract- (Above secured by Deed of Trust recorded in Holmes County Courthouse)	450.00
Paper, ink, supplies (to begin business)	3,000.00
(CASH OUTLAYESTIMATED COST TO SET PLANT UP)		$ 12,450.00
2. Operating Expenses (3 months)
Labor(includes 3 wks. in Dec. for two people-and 3 weeks in Jan. for five people before a paper was ever published) Weekly payroll now runs $440.00 per week.	7,060.00
Rent at $75.00 per month (first three months were given them free)	75.00
Utilities: lights, power, water, phone and gas (est. $200. monthly)	600.00
Maintenance (Allused equipment they purchased is continually breaking down-first press they installed never ran and had to be replaced-with another used press	250.00
Advertising Service	51.00
Insurance (estimated)	200.00
Estimated Operating Expenses		8,236.00
TOTAL ESTIMATED EXPENSES		$20,686.00
TOTAL INCOME OVER TOTAL EXPENSE..... ..		1,914.00

HC HERALD Sheet C

Estimated monthly expenses of HOLMES COUNTY HERALD :
April 30, 1959

Labor (weekly payroll of $440.00 per week)	$1,870.00
Correspondents (paid monthly by the column)	70.00
Newsprint, supplies, printing papers(bonds)	500.00
Utilities, lights, power, gas, phone	200.00
Advertising Service	17.00
Freight, postage,(regular)	25.00
Rent (known to be $75.)	75.00
Repairs and maintenance (minimum)	30.00
Extra mailing expense for HERALD-second class permit not yet secured- (an estimate)	60.00
MONTHLY TOTAL ESTIMATED Operating Expenses		$2,847.00
Plus monthly note on equipment		150.00

****

Estimated monthly income in the future HOLMES CO. HERALD:

Advertising (display-paper cannot run legal advertising until it has published 52 consecutive weeks) $300 week	$1,300.00
Subscriptions- 20 per month (and this is extremely doubtful)	60.00
Job Printing- estimated only (there is another job printing shop in the town run by a widow with 2 children in college)	500.00
Estimated monthly TOTAL INCOME		$ 1,860.00

ANTICIPATED DEFICIT OF INCOME OVER EXPENSES	$ 987.00
Plus monthly note on equipment at	150.00
Total anticipated monthly deficit...	$1,137.00

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N. W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

METROPOLITAN 8-6977

RECEIVED MAY 18 1959

May 15, 1959

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

This will be a complaining letter, and I apologize for it in advance.

When I raised the initial $1,000 loan (which I know is a piddling amount) for Hazel Smith, I had to promise each of the lenders that since they were responding to an emergency call, arrangements for permanent financing were under way. Those arrangements, in turn, depended on my promise to Nathan Levin, (who volunteered to arrange the permanent financing), that I would get him proper financial statements and projections, such as any long-term borrower would have to produce. In promising to provide that material, I relied, perhaps wrongly, on your interest in the problem, which I knew was limited, but which I thought I could stretch to the point of getting some help for Mrs. Smith on putting the material together. If I was to go ahead at all, I had to rely on you, since I couldn't do it myself and I knew Mrs. Smith couldn't do it. And after her tearful half-hour appeal on the telephone, I felt under some pressure to act.

The material you sent on from Mrs. Smith this week, is, I'm sure, the best that she can do, and it gives me a number of facts that I never knew before, but it just isn't the kind of professional job that I can put before Nathan Levin. If I did, he would probably throw it back at me, and that would be the end of the matter, and perhaps of my future effectiveness with him.

The April 30 balance sheet is all right, or would be with additional notes. But the operating statement has no information on the income side, except a total figure, and the "estimate of income for 1959" is no substitute for a d etailed projection (which I assume would include an operating statement for the first quarter), showing where the loss of income is expected, i.e. in what specific items, and what a line-by-line budget for 1959 should look like. Even more important, there are no projections showing when the paper can expect to get into the black, perhaps under alternative assumptions about the rival paper. Nor are there any figures from which one could derive an estimate of the actual long-range financing need, or the terms on which it would have to be arranged. Just because there are so many uncertainties in the picture, it is essential to have all of the facts that can be presented. I haven't tried to list everything that's missing, but I'd certainly include, in addition to the above, copies of operating statements back to 1954 (when Mrs. Smith says she was earning $15,000 out of the newspaper), and a separate analysis of the job-printing business.

Isn't it possible, and isn't it worth while, to find a young lawyer or an intelligent accountant, who could spend a day, or even a half-day in Lexington, and prepare a proper report? I don't want you to do this just to get me off the hook, but (maybe because I am on the hook) I really believe it's worth this much effort, if only to avoid the powerful and unhappy precedent that destruction of the paper would create.

I am returning Mrs. Smith's letter and attachments. Incidentally, when (and if) the new report comes in, it ought to be in five or six copies, so that I can give one to each of the lenders, and Nathan Levin will have an extra copy for the man he wants to tap.

I will look for you Thursday evening, the 21st, or Friday morning, when I hope to be less cantankerous.

Yours,

Enclosures

May 20, 1959

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
The Lexington Advertiser
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Following receipt of your letter and financial data, I passed on all of the material to Adam Yarmolinsky. I am sorry to have to report that Adam feels much more precise and detailed information will be required if he is to proceed with the effort to arrange a long-term loan, as well as giving the promised report to the lenders of the $1,000. I know this will be unwelcome news, but Adam is dealing with business people who, he feels, will not respond to anything but a professional analysis of the situation.

Knowing the burden this might put on you, in an already over-burdened situation, I have talked with Gene Cox about ways in which it might be handled. Gene feels that the CPA who has handled his affairs might be commissioned to prepare the necessary analyses, with no danger of indiscretion. Or it may be that you use an accountant who could do it. If there is a problem of expense involved, we would be willing to take care of that.

Gene will be in touch with you shortly about all this. I am sending a copy of this to him, and am listing below the kinds of information that Yarmolinsky has specified as needed:

(1) A financial picture of the decline of net income from the pre-1954 average of $15,000 to the anticipated 1959 deficit of $12,000. The simplest way to show this might be through annual operating statements for this period. In any case, the analysis should show what revenues decreased, what expenses increased, and why these changes occurred. If, as one assumes, advertising revenue dropped, this should be shown in dollars and explained in terms of Citizens Council pressures and any other relevant factors. Yarmolinsky specifies a breakdown of the income shown on your operating statement, and instead of the overall estimate of income for 1959, "a detailed projection, including an operating statement for the first quarter, showing in what items the loss of income is expected and what a line-by-line budget for 1959 should look like." He also mentions the desirability of a separate analysis of the job-printing business.

(2) Projections of the anticipated return to the "black" over a period of time. Yarmolinsky realizes that this will depend on factors that are hard, if not impossible, to predict -- notably the fate of the opposition paper. But he feels that you might even make several different assumptions about the rival paper and project a return to solvency under these varying alternatives.

(3) Finally, "figures from which one could derive an estimate of the actual long range financing need, or the terms on which it would have to be arranged." In other words, what would be the proposal for a loan -- amount, duration, and terms -- and on what figures would the proposal be based.

Outlined this way, this sounds like a tall order -- which it undoubtedly is. But it strikes me that your tax records, plus the estimating you have already done about the future, should supply most of what is needed.

I shall look forward to hearing from you and/or Gene about the feasibility of this next step. Trying though this process is, it should be worth it if it leads to a financial solution.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

cc: Mr. A. E. Cox

DELTA FOUNDATION
INCORPORATED
933 CHAMBLISS ROAD
MEMPHIS 16, TENNESSEE

June 2, 1959

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Mr. B. H. Hirsberg of the Ellis & Hirsberg firm in Clarksdale, Mississippi, agreed to assist Hazel Smith with the preparation of the material for Yarmolinsky.

I suggested to Hirsberg that he bill the Delta Foundation for the charges involved. SRC can reimburse us for this item when it is convenient.

I called Hazel from Providence Farm last Tuesday and told her that Hirsberg would be able to see her on either Thursday or Friday. After I returned to Memphis, Hazel called me to see if I had a copy of the information she first prepared for you to send Yarmolinsky. I had to tell her that she had not sent me a copy. It is possible she called you before the week was over.

With very best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

Gene Cox

A. E. Cox

The Delta Foundation is a non-profit educational organization and contributions to its support are allowable income tax deductions

ESTABLISHED IN 1858

THE DURANT NEWS

DURANT, MISSISSIPPI

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH
PUBLISHER

August 3, 1959

Answered

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I am enclosing accountant's reports which were received by me only yesterday. There was some delay in his office getting them out and I was delayed in getting some information to him because of the death of my father in Gadsden.

I only hope this information is what the people want-and that we can get some help at once. My situation is desperate here. I've got to get hold of some money to pay on some bills and notes or I am going to be compelled to give up.

The opposition paper is in just about the same situation I am in-they owe everybody to the full limit of their credit and I know of two firms that have cut them off, a paper house and an engraver. We do business with both.

According to the local reports there is not any hope of the board of directors of the other paper getting out and trying to sell more stock-the paper has been, from the standpoint of quality, a great disappointment to them and from what we can find out they are all disgusted with the whole operation, and wish they had never started it.

We are practically living on our nerves now-and in this terribly hot weather it is a terrific strain.

Please, Mr. Fleming, let me hear from you just as soon as possible.

I am enclosing the original and one copy-keeping one copy for my file. If you do not need to keep a copy yourself you may send it back to me--but be sure and send it first class mail and mark PERSONAL.

Sincerely,

Hazel Brannon Smith

Hazel Brannon Smith

%THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER
Lexington, Mississippi

COPY OF LETTER ADDRESSED TO:

July 31, 1959

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
The Lexington Advertiser
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Mrs. Smith:

We are addressing this letter to you and enclosing two extra copies as we are not quite sure as to whom you desire the letter to be forwarded.

We have reviewed the letter from Mr. Fleming of May 20, 1959, and the information that you have supplied to us, together with operating statements and submit herewith condensed statements of operations for the calendar years 1950-1958, inclusive, and for the period from January 1 to May 31, 1959.

The Northside Reporter was started by you approximately on July 1, 1957, and from and after that date, the operating figures contain the experience of the Northside Reporter, including both income and expenses. In order that the actual operating experience of your other publications can be determined, we are setting forth herewith the receipts from the Northside Reporter which is as follows:

July 1, 1957 - Dec. 31, 1957	$7,000.00
Calendar Year 1958	13,000.00
Jan. 1, 1959 - May 31, 1959	6,342.00

The statements of operations have been prepared on the cash basis of accounting. It is our understanding that indebtedness for supplies and other expenses that were unpaid as of the end of each of the years has increased since 1956.

There is also enclosed herewith copy of a balance sheet of April 30, 1959, which has been prepared according to our understanding on a basis of your opinion of value, and not necessarily cost. There is also enclosed herewith operating statements for the period from January 1, 1959, to May 31, 1959, for both the Lexington Advertiser and Northside Reporter.

A determination of salaries and wages and total expense in reference to receipts for the years 1950-1958 are submitted for such trend as they may reflect.

It is our understanding from you that there has annually been deducted an expense labeled "editorial promotion" which has to a certain extent represented some personal expense of yours. The amount deducted for the years 1950-1958, inclusive, was as follows:

1950	$1,839.67
1951	1,800.00
1952	1,728.55
1953	1,026.46
1954	569.50
1955	1,164.81
1956	962.00
1957	1,359.00
1958	1,055.13

Assuming that the editorial promotion was entirely personal expenses of yours, cash profits, defined as net profit plus depreciation and plus editorial promotion for the years 1950-1958, reflect as follows:

1950	6,144.48
1951	11,050.85
1952	6,881.22
1953	10,325.98
1954	8,758.52
1955	9,991.89
1956	6,467.65
1957	6,431.94
1958	4,570.81

In reviewing the statements of operations and other operating information submitted, we feel that it should be directed to the attention of interested parties that the last six months of each year produce approximately 2/3 of the annual revenue. This, of course, is due to the economic conditions of our section of the country where agriculture products are harvested only in the last half of the year and business generally reflects considerable improvement in the last six months of each year over the first six months.

We understand that your current indebtedness as of May 31, 1959, for unpaid supplies and materials amounted to approximately $1,500.00.

You have anticipated operating experience of the Northside Reporter for the calendar year 1960. You anticipated revenue for that year of $30,000.00 and we determine expenses of $24,000.00, or a net profit of $6,000.00. It is your expectation that revenue from this publication will increase annually. We determined anticipated expenses based upon percentage of revenue to expense with effect given to fixed expenses and a fuller usage of labor by greater volume.

Based upon the experience of previous years, we have determined a projected statement of operations for 1959 for all of your publications, exclusive of deduction for depreciation, to be as follows:

Revenue		$56,000.00
Less: Expenses -
Salaries & Wages	22,000.00
Supplies & Newsprint	7,000.00
Outside Printing	5,000.00
Interest	1,300.00
Other Expenses	14,000.00	49,300.00
Expected Net Profit		6,700.00

It appears that you have been able to maintain revenue for 1957 and 1958, but that your expenses have substantially increased for the years since 1955, as is shown by the enclosed determination of expenses in reference to revenue. It would appear that the revenue has been maintained by greater and more costly effort, probably representing greater solicitation expenses and invasion of territories where expenses in connection with travel and deliveries substantially render that business unprofitable.

If we can supply any further information, please advise.

Yours very truly,

B. H. Hirsch

BHH:pm
Enc.

EXHIBIT A

STATEMENTS OF OPERATIONS

MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH - LEXINGTON, MISS.

	1950		1951		1952		1953		1954		1955
RECEIPTS		29,377.67		35,482.12		33,441.06		38,329.59		37,933.79		42,460.12
DEDUCTIONS
Salaries & Wages	11,156.09		11,628.12		11,461.87		12,598.52		14,355.78		15,830.95
Supplies & Newsprint	6,136.69		5,877.30		7,932.31		8,177.92		6,995.24		10,023.86
Outside Printing	-0-		-0-		-0-		-0-		-0-		-0-
Interest	315.00		238.45		360.00		188.00		859.37		595.65
Other Expense	7,465.08		8,477.40		8,534.21		8,065.63		7,536.38		7,181.58
Depreciation	750.00		750.00		750.00		5,164.43		5,164.43		5,164.43
Total Deductions		25,822.86		26,971.27		29,038.39		34,194.50		34,909.20		38,796.47
NET INCOME		3,554.81		8,510.85		4,402.67		4,135.09		3,024.59		3,663.65

STATEMENTS OF OPERATIONS

MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH - LEVINGTON, MISS.

	1956		1957		1958		Jan. 1-May 31, 1959
RECEIPTS		34,973.06		50,700.44		47,439.56		17,399.29
DEDUCTIONS
Salaries & Wages	15,105.40		17,748.23		18,738.07		8,999.46
Supplies & Newsprint	5,886.29		8,106.53		7,173.96		373.80
Outside Printing	-0-		2,965.65		5,478.56		1,977.00
Interest	438.18		1,469.67		2,030.93		-0-
Other Expense	8,037.54		15,337.42		10,302.36		2,918.29
Depreciation	3.486.66		3.486.66		2.496.66		-0-
Total Deductions		32.954.07		49.114.16		46.220.54		14.268.55
NET INCOME		2,018.99		1,586.28		1,219.02		3,130.74

EXHIBIT B

BALANCE SHEET

MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH - LEXINGTON, MISS.

APRIL 30, 1959

ASSETS
Current
Cash on Hand & in Bank	691.56
Accounts Receivable	3,360.42
Total Current Assets		4,051.98
Fixed
Buildings & Land	67,000.00
Plant & Equipment	118,000.00
Total Fixed Assets		185,000.00
Total Assets		189,051.98
LIABILITIES
Current
Notes Payable-First National Bank	3,600.00
Notes Payable-Sowashee Building Corp.	2,400.00
Accounts Payable	7,200.84
Total Current Liabilities		13,200.84
Long Term
Notes Payable-First National Bank	18,000.00
Notes Payable-Sowashee Building Corp.	1,800.00
Total Long Term Liabilities		19,800.00
CAPITAL
Net Worth		156,051.14
Total Liabilities & Capital		189,051.98

EXHIBIT C

STATEMENT OF OPERATIONS

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

FOR THE PERIOD JANUARY 1, 1959 to MAY 31, 1959

GROSS INCOME
Revenue		11,056.57
DEDUCTIONS
Salaries	7,064.36
Repairs	311.76
Telephone	508.31
Labor	221.40
Express & Postage	117.50
Transportation	157.66
Power & Lights	318.00
Heat	83.61
Insurance	76.20
Water	30.79
Edit. Promotion	169.89
Taxes	611.72
Photo Supplies	118.47
Dues	29.36
Total Deductions		9,819.03
NET INCOME		1,237.54

EXHIBIT D

STATEMENT OF OPERATIONS

THE NORTHSIDE REPORTER

FOR THE PERIOD JANUARY 1 to MAY 31, 1959

GROSS INCOME
Revenue		6,342.72
DEDUCTIONS
Printing of Paper	1,977.00
Salaries	1,713.70
Rent	275.00
Supplies	255.33
Telephone	118.42
Postage	68.00
Taxes	24.19
Advertising	17.88
Total Deductions		4,449.52
NET INCOME		1,893.20

PERCENTAGE OF TOTAL RECEIPTS

MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH - LEXINGTON, MISS.

Year	Salaries & Wages	Total Expenses
1950	37.97%	87.90%
1951	32.77%	76.01%
1952	34.27%	86.83%
1953	32.87%	89.21%
1954	37.84%	92.03%
1955	37.28%	91.37%
1956	43.19%	94.23%
1957	35.01%	96.87%
1958	39.50%	97.43%

August 5, 1959

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
The Lexington Advertiser
Lexington, Mississippi

Dear Hazel:

Thank you for your letter and the enclosed reports by Ellis & Hirsberg. I am forwarding one of the copies immediately to Adam Yarmolinsky; in order that he may understand the urgency of your situation, I am also sending him a copy of your letter to me. As soon as I have further word from Adam, you will hear from me again. Meanwhile, I should like to hold on to the duplicate copy you were thoughtful enough to send.

I am very sorry to hear of your father's death, for which you have my sincere sympathy.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Enclosures: Ltrs and audited financial statement from Ellis & Hersberg for H. B. Smith

via air mail

August 5, 1959

Mr. Adam Yarmolinsky
Barr Building
910 - 17th Street, N. W.
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear Adam:

At long last, some material from Hazel Smith has arrived. Since she sent two copies of everything, I am forwarding the originals to you at once. While I am not delaying this for a thorough perusal, at a glance I see nothing in the way of projections for the opposition paper. However, Hazel has something to say about that in her letter to me, a Thermofax copy of which is also enclosed.

When you have had a chance to digest this, let me know your reaction.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
Enclosures

via air mail

August 19, 1959

Mr. Adam Yarmolinsky
Barr Building
910 - 17th Street, N. W.
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear Adam:

I'm baffled, too. A personal confrontation is obviously essential in order to reach a final judgment in the Hazel Smith affair. I know from my own experience that audits can be drastically misleading (even to the people whose books are audited), and I greatly hope that that is the case here. From what I know of Hazel Smith and surmise about her record-keeping, this is at least a possibility.

Seems to me there would be certain advantages in a Mississippi meeting. But your schedule and the time factor being what they are, what about an early meeting in Washington -- assuming Hazel Smith can do it? This might present a problem in terms of availability of her records, but maybe she could bring the most important ones in a suitcase.

Let me know what you want me to do.

I've had no further word from Mace or Larkin. I share your doubt that Larkin, unassisted, will produce the kind of script we feel is called for. But my guess is that they will do some kind of revision, and we will see. Since the first phase seems to be concluded, send me a statement at your convenience.

With chagrin, sympathy, and best regards,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N.W.
WASHINGTON 6, D.C.

METROPOLITAN 8-6977

August 12, 1959

RECEIVED AUG 14 1959

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.,
Room 432, 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

I have read the material supplied by Messrs. Ellis and Hirsberg. I have studied it; I have thought about it; I have gone back to the account of Mrs. Smith's troubles in Bill Peter's book. I have read her latest unhappy letter. And I am baffled.

It seems to me there is absolutely no relation between the figures as presented and the claim that she lost business because of an editorial she wrote in 1954, or because of the establishment of a rival newspaper in 1958. Her receipts for 1954 were substantially the same as for 1953, and well over the average for 1950-52. In 1955 they were still higher. Her net income was $1000 less in 1954 than it was in 1953, but this seems to be accounted for entirely by an increase in salaries and wages, and her net income came back up in 1955 to the 1950-52 level (if we omit 1951, which appears to have been an atypically high-profit year). Her expenses went up substantially at the beginning of 1957, but so did her receipts. Both increases are, apparently, the result of the acquisition of the Northside Reporter, which may have been ill-advised, but is scarcely the act of a martyr.

Net income has dropped off since 1955, but it has done so only gradually, and is largely accounted for by the appearance of an item for 'interest' beginning in 1947, before the rival paper was organized, and before she could have felt its effect. Yet there is no indication why she had to borrow in 1957 and 1958, when she was apparently operating on the same margin that did not require borrowing in 1950-56 - unless, of course, it was the result of ill-advised expansion.

The letter from Messrs. Ellis and Hirsberg, accompanying the figures, suggests that income has fallen off because of higher promotion costs, but I can't see it in the figures, particularly since the promotional expense of the Northside Reporter isn't separated out.

It may also be that the figures for the Lexington Advertiser over the last few years would give a different picture of the source of the trouble; but these figures are not here.

Then there is the Balance Sheet, as of April 30, 1959, which shows Total Liabilities, Current and Long-term, of $33,000, all of them apparently acquired in the last two years, since there is no record of interest payments before 1957. Where did this money go? If not into Mrs. Smith's pocket (which I don't really believe). Was it to replace wornout plant and equipment, which should have been covered by depreciation allowances that had been used over the years for current expenses? Or was it because of an unplanned decision to put in more expensive equipment at what seems a very odd point in the fortunes of the business? I can't imagine any other theory that makes sense of the figures.

Another question: why does the Northside Reporter show a net income of some 30% of gross for the January-May period? While the Lexington Advertiser, with almost twice the gross, shows only a 10% net income? The difference seesm to be in the salary figures, and suggests an unrealistic allocation of salary expense. Incidentally, does this include salaries for Mr. and Mrs. Smith? There is no indication whether it does or not.

I am unwilling to believe that this is all a hoax, or the result of the fevered imaginings of an emotional woman. Perhaps my unwillingness is the result of my investing a thousand dollars of other people's money in the belief that Mrs. Smith's troubles were the direct result of her speaking out for justice, and that she needed to be tided over a period when her income had been cut by an economic boycott which, if successful, could threaten the free press in the south. The figures seems to tell a different story, however.

The question now, however, is what to do about it? I obviously can't do anything on the basis of this material. I suppose you are right that I shall have to get together with Mrs. Smith to go over her figures myself. I can't possibly do this until October 1st at the earliest, since I have a heavy deadline to meet September 17th, and another for October 2nd, with postponed work piling up in the meantime. If necessary, however, I can I suppose, come to Atlanta, or even to Lexington, early in October, and try to make some sense out of this mess. I don't want to do it, however, if you think the whole thing is futile; although it would be fairly embarassing to have to tell Nathan Levin and the others that I have thrown in the towel at this point.

I thought your letter to Mace was fine, and I hope they come through with a new script. I am not sure Larkin is capable of it himself. But maybe they can bring in someone else to work with him if they really want to pursue it, which I believe they do.

Yours,

August 19, 1959

Mr. A. E. Cox
Delta Foundation, Inc.
933 Chambliss Road
Memphis, Tennessee

Dear Gene:

Enclosed is our check, payable to the Delta Foundation, for accounting services in the case of Hazel Smith.

We received the audited financial statements from Hazel a couple of weeks ago, and I forwarded them directly to Adam Yarmolinsky. The outlook is not encouraging. I have just received a long letter from Adam, in which he expresses utter bewilderment as to how the financial statements bear out Hazel's account of her difficulties. I won't go into the details, since they are hopelessly complicated. In any case, Adam has finally come around to the view I have urged all along -- namely, that it is essential for him and Hazel to sit down together and thresh out the complicated question of her finances.

I haven't yet answered Adam or written further to Hazel, so please regard the above as confidential for the moment.

Naturally, I will encourage the idea of a personal meeting between the two of them. The problem is Adam's schedule, which will keep him in Washington until October and possibly later.

While I would much prefer to see them get together in Mississippi, the urgency of Hazel's continuing problems suggests the second-best alternative of a trip by her to Washington. If Adam approves of this plan, I will write her accordingly. I'm a bit troubled over the expense this will involve, for we're about out of loose funds for such purposes.

Anyway, I will keep you posted and will look forward to seeing you when that is possible. Meanwhile, if you learn anything further about Hazel's immediate situation, let me hear from you.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
Enclosure - 1 (Check #466; $175.00)

August 15, 1959

Dear Harold:

The attached has just arrived from Ellis & Hirsberg. You will note that it has been charged to Delta Foundation, Inc., as I requested. I am sending them our check and you can reimburse us at your convenience.

Hodding Carter told me on Wednesday that he had seen Smitty and Hazel on Sunday. I have had no word from them in weeks.

I spent last week visiting in Mississippi. I picked up a bug and have been dragging around the past two days as I attempt to get ready to return to Mississippi on Monday. The staff at Mt. Beulah Christian Center has been depleted by death, illness, resignation and vacation, so I am going to take a week of my annual leave and run down to give them a little help.

Just as soon as I get a bit of time, I'll try to give you a brief report on the Mississippi situation.

Cordially,

Gene

AUG 27 1959

Editorials

File — Hazel Smith

Labor Is Due An Apology

Regardless of the outcome of the gubernatorial contest a segment of Mississippi labor is due an apology.

We sincerely believe Governor-Elect Barnett should apologize to the Mississippi members of the AFL-CIO whom he has slandered as no group of people in Mississippi has been slandered in a state political campaign.

Because Mississippi's working men and women affiliated with the AFL-CIO saw fit to "recommend" the candidacy of Carroll Gartin for governor, based upon his record of public service in the office of Lieutenant Governor, as they had every right to do, Mr. Barnett deemed it politically expedient to say everything in his power to smear the whole labor movement.

Mr. Barnett chose to drape what he called "the scarlet cloak of the CIO" on the shoulders of our Lieutenant Governor and say that if Gartin were elected governor he would be dictated to by David Beck and Jimmy Hoffa. The latter are unsavory characters who have been exposed by the McClellan Committee of Congress as a "menace" to the country, to use Senator McClellan's own words.

The fact of the matter is that both Beck and Hoffa are connected with the Teamsters International Union, a union which has been expelled from the AFL-CIO. The mention of their names in connection with the AFL-CIO is thoroughly dishonest, and Mr. Barnett must surely know it.

That anyone, let alone a Mississippi gubernatorial candidate, would associate decent working men and women of Mississippi with these two notorious men is ridiculous. To further try to show the Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi as conniving with them is an insult to the intelligence of our people.

But many people were fooled by the charges hurled by Mr. Barnett—and a definite anti-labor feeling entered the campaign.

It should be remembered by Mississippians that a Teamsters Union official was the only labor leader from our state subpoenaed by the McClellan Rackets Committee as a witness—although no charges were brought against that individual.

Nor is this an attempt to indict Mississippi members of the Teamsters Union —we feel they are in an embarrassing position as a result of bad leadership on the national front. Their exploitation by Mr. Barnett only makes their situation worse.

As a result of Mr. Barnett's demagogic tactics a wedge has been driven between groups of Mississippians which should not exist.

One labor spokesman put it thus: "Our people have been slandered for the simple act of carrying out the duty of every good American in finding out the best qualified man for governor and then supporting him. A vote cast in ignorance for the least qualified candidate is worse than no vote.

"Good relations built up over the years between workers and their employers have been torn asunder by a man (Barnett) who has professed to be the working man's friend. Farmers have been turned against their city cousins who work in the urban communities."

The bitterness engendered by Mr. Barnett within the ranks of labor and without is going to linger for a long time following this campaign. This is not in the best interest of Mississippi. We need all people working together for the common good in the development and progress of our beloved state—this means industry, labor, management, both employers and employees, business and farmers professional men and women, all officials of our government from the precinct to the state level.

Any organization, group or individaul which seeks to set one against the other is working against the common good.

It is high time all citizens of the state try to become informed on our affairs and work to the end that the greatest good will be accomplished for Mississippi, leaving out selfish desires and personalities.

It might be a good starting point to try to learn and understand a little more about labor—because it is going to play a more important role in the future of our state than it has in the past—provided our industrial program continues to progress.

Labor is entitled to fair treatment in the state's press and other mass communication media—and it is in that spirit this is written.

Labor is entitled to fair treatment in a gubernatorial contest.

A good place to begin would be an apology from Mr. Barnett to the 50,000 members of the AFL-CIO in Mississippi whom he has slandered.

Such a statement might clear the atmosphere after the campaign and help dispel some of the bitterness and resentment that now exists—making it possible for him to get his administration off to a better start on January 19th.

The Lexington Advertiser

Hazel Brannon Smith (Mrs. Walter D.) ———————— Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday. — Subscribers Rates - Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00; Outside Holmes County, $3.50; Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

via air mail

January 28, 1960

Mr. Adam Yarmolinsky
2017 Connecticut Avenue, N. W.
Washington 8, D. C.

Dear Adam:

I was glad to get your not-so-recent letter and to find out that I'll be seeing you at Notre Dame, deo volente.

As you will have perceived, I've heard nothing from Hazel Smith either. As a first gambit in the matter of the first loan, I have written Gene Cox and asked him if he would employ his rapport with Hazel by raising the matter with her. (I also hinted that he might try to help her with the elementary requirements of good manners, good communication, and good interpersonal relations.)

If Gene Cox doesn't get any results, I will take it up directly with Hazel. I wouldn't mind a bit doing it now, but feel that somebody closer to her might accomplish the purpose more efficiently.

All the best.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

P. S. -- Bill Peters has been here, and will return shortly, on a CBS-TV assignment.

HCF

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
2017 Connecticut Ave., N.W.
Washington 8, D. C.
NO 7-2666

January 15, 1960

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Hazel Brannon Smith is Saved. I've heard this, needless to say, not from Hazel but from Gil and Nancy Harrison, who are financing her salvation, which I understand has now been accomplished.

Incidentally, she ought to pay back the three small temporary loans I arranged for her from Nathan Levin, Phil Stern, and Walter Ridder, and I hesitate to suggest it to the Harrisons. If you are in touch with her, perhaps you could pass the word, although I hesitate to impose on you further. Maybe she will write me some day.

Otherwise I am busy with a variety of interesting things, which I hope to be able to tell you about at Joe O'Meara's clambake at Notre Dame on February 14. I trust you are planning to attend. If not, let me know when you will be in New York next. I'm still there every other week anyway.

Yours,

Adam

ADAM YARMOLINSKY
BARR BUILDING
910 17TH STREET, N. W.
WASHINGTON 6, D. C.
2017 CONNECTICUT AVE., N. W.
WASHINGTON 8, D. C.

14 March 1960

Mr. Harold Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Harold:

About Hazel Smith, yes please.

and thanks again

Yours,

Adam

Rec'd 3/15/60

DELTA FOUNDATION
INCORPORATED
933 CHAMBLISS ROAD
MEMPHIS 16, TENNESSEE

March 14, 1960

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, NE
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Brother Adam was wrong. Hazel Smith has not "been saved." She told me last week that Harrison came through with a loan of $10,000 - and the promise of another $5,000 on April 1st. This is not sufficient to refinance her outstanding loans, pay past-due accounts and provide sufficient operating capital for the next few months. I left her in tears - with no suggestions as to how she might escape her dilemma.

At the General Board meeting of the National Council of Churches at Oklahoma City recently, I learned from Jon Regier that my project can be expected to terminate June 30, 1960.

As matters now stand, I expect to be in Atlanta April 18-19 for a Regional Staff Meeting of the National Council of Churches.

With very best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

Gene

A. E. Cox

C

The Delta Foundation is a non-profit educational organization and contributions to its support are allowable income tax deductions

THE EVERYDAY MAGAZINE®
Published Every Day—Weekdays and Sundays
in the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
Sunday, November 26, 1961
Section H—Pages 1 to 10H

Clarissa Start

Rummage Sales Vs. Small Business

ARE RUMMAGE SALES and resellit shops unfair to small business? One of our readers thinks they are and called to tell us so in no uncertain terms.

"Have you ever considered the merchant's eye view of rummage sales?" she asked. "We run a small store in a lower income neighborhood and rummage sales and resellit shops for charity hurt our business tremendously.

CLARISSA START

"Just the other day a woman came in and I admired her bag," she continued. "Now we sell nice bags for $2.98 to $5.98 which is what our customers can afford. She was carrying what was obviously a good bag, in the $20 class. It wasn't worn at all. When I admired it, she said, 'I just got it at the resale shop up the street for 75 cents. Isn't it nice?' "

On another occasion, our reader continued, she passed a temple in the West End and noticed a large crowd lined up.

"They didn't look like members of that congregation or residents of that neighborhood," she said. "In fact they looked like they belonged in our neighborhood. Then I saw the big sign, 'Rummage Sale.' If each of those people spent just $3 at the sale, they were buying something they would have bought from a merchant."

▶ OUR ANONYMOUS CALLER thinks the entire business of raising money for charity by going into business is overdone.

"Once upon a time when a group wanted to raise money for a good cause," she said, "they gave a nice party. If the cost of the dinner came to $3 to $5, the guests were charged $10 and the extra amount provided the contribution to the good cause. The guests could well afford the extra amount, the good cause was helped, and it hurt no one.

"Today every hospital has a fancy gift shop. The shop pays no taxes, is operated by volunteers, gives no work to anyone, and yet makes a big profit. When you go to visit someone who's ill or has had a baby, you don't buy a gift from the department store or a neighborhood shop as you once would have done. You take the easiest way out and stop in at the hospital shop on your way.

"Moreover," she added, "all of you who write columns in the newspapers advertise these enterprises. Those of us who are in the same business can't get that amount of free advertising."

Woman Editor's War on Bigots

Hazel Smith Fights on Despite Efforts of Mississippi Foes to Silence Her

By Hodding Carter
Editor, Delta Democrat-Times

LEXINGTON, Miss., Nov. 25.

THE FETCHINGLY HELPLESS and beautiful Southern belle and the gallant Southern gentleman are two of the principal stage props for those who write or dream or prate of the South that never really was.

Hazel Brannon Smith, editor and publisher of four small weekly newspapers in Mississippi, is fortunate in that except for her good looks, she does not fit the first stereotype. She is unfortunate in that the dominant male citizens of Holmes county, in whose county seat she publishes the Lexington Advertiser, her largest weekly, have about as much of the chivalry ascribed to the old South as does a cottonmouth moccasin.

That the attractive Mrs. Smith is still in business after 25 latterly stormy years in Holmes county is a tribute to her resolute and resourceful spirit. That she is having an increasingly hard time keeping going is also a tribute of sorts to the persistence of a small but powerful group of Holmes countians who are trying to put her out of business.

These gentry, I am hopeful, are not typical of most Southern men. But it so happens that Holmes county is made up partly of hill and partly of flat Delta land; and too many of its citizens combine the worse rather than the better qualities of each region: the arrogant feudalism and reactionary outlook of the oldtime, life-and-death masters of vast acres; and the provincial suspicion, the racial and religious bigotry and the predilection for violence which have traditionally been part of the character of hillmen everywhere.

In some similar areas the good and the bad qualities of the homefolks are mixed; some-

EDITOR HAZEL SMITH and an employe look over a copy of her Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser fresh off the press.

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH

passed a temple in the West End and noticed a large crowd lined up.

"They didn't look like members of that congregation or residents of that neighborhood," she said. "In fact they looked like they belonged in our neighborhood. Then I saw the big sign, 'Rummage Sale.' If each of those people spent just $3 at the sale, they were buying something they would have bought from a merchant."

▶ OUR ANONYMOUS CALLER thinks the entire business of raising money for charity by going into business is overdone.

"Once upon a time when a group wanted to raise money for a good cause," she said, "they gave a nice party. If the cost of the dinner came to $3 to $5, the guests were charged $10 and the extra amount provided the contribution to the good cause. The guests could well afford the extra amount, the good cause was helped, and it hurt no one.

"Today every hospital has a fancy gift shop. The shop pays no taxes, is operated by volunteers, gives no work to anyone, and yet makes a big profit. When you go to visit someone who's ill or has had a baby, you don't buy a gift from the department store or a neighborhood shop as you once would have done. You take the easiest way out and stop in at the hospital shop on your way.

"Moreover," she added, "all of you who write columns in the newspapers advertise these enterprises. Those of us who are in the same business can't get that amount of free advertising."

What really burned our caller up, she concluded, was a recent incident. A friend of hers was appointed chairman of a rummage sale. She called the merchant and her husband to ask if the organization could arrange to use one of their stores for the sale. Our caller went around talking to herself for some time after that.

▶ FRANKLY, I had never thought of rummage sales or resale shops as competition for the stores, perhaps because my own purchases from them have been in the nature of extras which do not—I think—detract from my regular purchases of new, fresh merchandise. And not all of them provide much competition. A friend of mine summed up one she attended not long ago. "That wasn't a rummage sale," she said. "It was a rubbish sale."

Walter Winchell

Man About Broadway

MELINA MERCURI ("Never on Sunday" star) and her producer Jules Dassin were expected to wed when his wife got a divorce. Mrs. Dassin got it in Mexico five weeks ago. . . . Geraldine Page's Big Secret is Rip Torn. . . . Ava Gardner's new slave is Mexican actor Antonio Muret. . . . Ronald Colman's widow (Mrs. George Sanders) is rumored wrestling with That Big Decision. . . . Ditto the Van Johnsons. . . . Actor Tony Franciosa and Judy Cantor (of the Balaban movie clan) will Do-it New Year's eve. . . . Toni Arden and Beerl-lionaire Paul Pabst are a New Two. . . . Mrs. Dean Martin wants her Ever Lovin' to jilt The Clan. . . . Grace Kelly is getting more than seasick from those cruises on the Onassis-Callas yacht.

▶ NATALIE WOOD'S recent mate Robert Wagner and Marion Marshall, the former Mrs. Stanley Donen, gave Rome reporters insomnia. . . . Friends suspect that "3 Penny Opera" producer Carmen Capalbo and Phyllis Kirk may have knotted a month ago. . . . Wasn't that cozy pair in a Lexington avenue coffee shop A. Miller and M. Monroe? . . . Yorkville has a new "religious" group (headed by a defrocked holy man) who proclaimed Hitler a saint. It boasts over 3000 members, one of whom is the son of a late First Lady of the stage. . . . A waitress at a popular Twist joint stabbed the son of a U.N. official with a fork. Because he came in with another doll after dating her two months.

▶ THE SAMMY DAVIS JRS. consult their medic this week to learn if another image is en route. . . . Bugs Baer is happily on the mend at St. Luke's following surgery. . . . The Rich-Get-Richer: Backers of the new hit "The Complaisant Lover" include Mrs. E. C. Woodward, Helen Wrigley of the choongum fortune, Betsy Cushing Whitney, Robert Lehman, Mary Lasker and Arthur Loew. . . . Some of the big Yank stars at the recent Royal Command performance in London flopped large. . . . The Steve Allen-ABC-TV cold war needs a Dag Hammarskjold. . . . Debra Paget has Jody McCrea and Tony Anthony glaring.

Bennett Cerf

Try and Stop Me

WHAT IS A WOMAN? A discerning student at M.I.T. obliged with this "chemical analysis:" "Thought to be a member of the human race. Seldom found in natural state. Surface coated with paint and other chemical compounds. Has low freezing point, but is highly explosive. Extremely active when in vicinity of opposite sex. Chiefly ornamental. Illegal to own more than one specimen."

▶ SIGN on a piano tuner's office: "I am usually out to lunch from 12 to 2—but I'm offenbach sooner."

In a restaurant window: "Help stamp out home cooking!"

In a seafood emporium: "Fresh fish only 30 cents—but don't ask what kind."

In a Milan men's wear establishment: "Don't be mistaken for an American tourist. Buy one of our Italian ready-made suits!"

In a Baltimore bar: "Free lunch: now 90 cents."

That the attractive Mrs. Smith is still in business after 25 latterly stormy years in Holmes county is a tribute to her resolute and resourceful spirit. That she is having an increasingly hard time keeping going is also a tribute of sorts to the persistence of a small but powerful group of Holmes countians who are trying to put her out of business.

These gentry, I am hopeful, are not typical of most Southern men. But it so happens that Holmes county is made up partly of hill and partly of flat Delta land; and too many of its citizens combine the worse rather than the better qualities of each region: the arrogant feudalism and reactionary outlook of the oldtime, life-and-death masters of vast acres; and the provincial suspicion, the racial and religious bigotry and the predilection for violence which have traditionally been part of the character of hillmen everywhere.

In some similar areas the good and the bad qualities of the homefolks are mixed; sometimes the favorable qualities dominate. But not with Hazel Brannon Smith's somewhat less than courageous foemen in Holmes county.

Until a few years ago Hazel Smith's career made an enviable success story. She came breezing into Holmes county, Miss., in 1936, a high-spirited, energetic and joyful girl with a journalism degree from the University of Alabama, and a loan of $3000 to go toward the purchase of a broken-down weekly, the Durant News.

My wife and I had come to Mississippi to found our own daily in Greenville at about the same time. We remember meeting Hazel at our first press association meeting and hearing her tell her dream of making something out of what was then almost nothing. We worried a little because we doubted that the execution could ever match the vision.

We were wrong. In less than 10 years Hazel had transformed the Durant News and bought the larger Lexington Advertiser. Later she was to acquire a third and much smaller one; and, in the recent past, acquire in Jackson a suburban weekly.

Working night and day, learning the art of printing as well as of publishing, tirelessly striving to make Lexington, Durant and all of Holmes county better and more profitable places in which to live, Hazel wrought miracles in the old shop in Lexington in which the papers were printed.

Today, one of the most modern and complete weekly printing plants in the state is housed in a pleasant building; Hazel and Walter Dyer Smith, the talented and friendly Yankee husband from Philadelphia whom she acquired when on a round-the-world trip after her pioneering trials were over, live in a more than comfortable home on a tract of some 20 rolling, tree-shaded acres within the city limits of Lexington. Despite the economic setbacks caused by the implacable hostility of the Holmes county bosses, they have hung onto a small cattle ranch where she and "Smitty," as everyone calls her husband, have for seven years been trying to improve the quality of their beef cattle.

But all that is only the material side of it.

Twenty or so years ago, people began reading each week's issues of the Durant paper with eagerness rather than with the long-accustomed boredom; for Hazel was making good her promise to let the citizens know what was going on, to crusade for law and order, which to a considerable degree were strangers to Holmes county, and to bespeak the rights of all citizens—the last-named purpose probably being the most dangerous notion that had ever been publicly voiced in the county.

EDITOR HAZEL SMITH and an employe look over a copy of her Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser fresh off the press.

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH

With the purchase of the Lexington Advertiser in 1943 Hazel stepped up her fight against the slot-machine operators, liquor racketeers, gamblers and conniving officials who were finding easy pickings and little opposition in the clique-ridden rural county. In 1946, thanks principally to her persistence, a grand jury voted 64 indictments, after investigating organized crime in Holmes county.

But Hazel became one of the objects of court action herself when the trial judge found her guilty of contempt of court for interviewing a witness, the widow of a Negro for whose death by whipping five white men were indicted but not convicted. The Mississippi Supreme Court reversed his decision.

The judge fined her $50 and sentenced her to 15 days in jail, but suspended sentence and put her "under good behavior" for two years. Hazel refused the gag and appealed to the State Supreme Court which later ruled in her favor. Hazel won the cheers of her fellow editors in and outside of the state. But she had made dangerous enemies.

In 1948, a World War II veteran was killed in an automobile collision with a man who had just been acquitted, bewilderingly, on bootlegging charges in still wide-open Holmes county. Hazel's editorial denouncing the jury won her the year's top award from the National Association of Press Women. It also won her some new opponents. In the same year she received the certificate of merit for outstanding service to Mississippi in the field of human relations, from the Mississippi Association of Teachers in Colored Schools.

Holmes county, in a state whose people vote dry and drink wetter than most any sister Southern state, was still honeycombed with bootleggers and other law violators whom the apparently complacent city and county officers couldn't detect. Again and again, from 1951 to 1954, Hazel Smith kept up the fight against the sheriff and his general disinterest in cleaning up the county.

Then, in 1954, Hazel really got in bad with the other whites. On the July 4 weekend, incumbent sheriff Richard F. Byrd, accompanied by three other peace officers, drove his car up to a group of Negroes who had gathered at a roadside cafe, probably for a few illegal drinks.

He asked one of them, a 27-year-old man, why he was "whooping" so loudly. When the Negro denied that he was guilty of this serious violation of the peace, the sheriff shouted to him to get going. As the Negro ran, the sheriff shot him in the thigh.

In her first news story reporting the affair, Editor Smith recounted that she had not been able to get a statement from the sheriff. In the next issue of the Lexington Advertiser, Hazel told the story of how the man was shot by the sheriff when he hadn't violated any law and how the sheriff had not even threatened him with arrest before the shooting. In a front-page signed editorial she followed up the newspaper report with a denunciation of the sheriff for brutality in this and other cases involving Negroes. Wrote the angry young woman:

"The laws in America are for everyone—rich and poor, strong and weak, black and white. The vast majority of Holmes county people are not rednecks who look with favor on the abuse of people because their skins are black. Byrd has violated every concept of justice, decency and right. He is not fit to occupy office."

The sheriff filed a libel suit for actual and punitive damages in the amount of $57,500. At the October term of court a trial jury awarded Sheriff Byrd $10,000, after each juror allegedly dropped into a hat for drawing, slips of paper upon which he had written down the amount he thought the sheriff deserved. The Holmes county grand jury adjourned without indicting anyone in the shooting of the young Negro.

The year 1954 was a tense one in Holmes county for another and more significant reason. In the wake of the United States Supreme Court's decision on school desegregation, the citizens of little Indianola, less than 50 miles from Lexington, organized the first White Citizens Council, the white supremacy group which, while abjuring violence or masking, pledged itself to hold down Negro voting, fight "moderates," and prevent school integration by economic and social pressures. A second unit was almost immediately organized in Holmes county. Among its leading members were men actively aligned with the sheriff in his feud with the editor and suspicious of her advocacy of equal justice.

That summer a respectable Negro woman, a teacher for 20 years, was shot in her own home by a leading Lexington white man after she had remonstrated with him for driving his automobile into her yard and damaging it while turning around.

White Citizens Council members and others tried to persuade Hazel Smith to kill the story. She printed it. Telling the story did no good, for no arrest was made. The wounded teacher was dismissed from the school and her husband was fired by the filling station operator for whom he worked. The pair then moved to Chicago.

The White Citizens Council gathered momentum. County and state and southern politicians began to cash in on the fear and unrest of the white people over the Supreme Court's frontal assault. Tensions in Holmes county increased.

A mass meeting was called by the White Citizens Council in the little village of Tchula so that citizens could hear a tape-recording of a so-called investigation, conducted by the sheriff and members of the council, of a Negro teen-age boy who had been charged with insulting a white school girl. The boy was found blameless, but the meeting turned into a mass denunciation of idealistic Dr. David Minter, a physician, and his friend and associate, A. E. Cox, who directed a bi-racial co-operative farm in Holmes county.

Both men were present at the meeting when speakers demanded that they leave the county because they assertedly advocated and practiced racial integration. Dr. Minter and Cox were booed when they tried to answer, and soon were repeatedly threatened by letters and anonymous calls.

The Rev. Marsh M. Callaway, a white Presbyterian minister of Durant, who had protested at the meeting "the un-Christian and un-American treatment of the pair by a kangaroo court" was dismissed by his church before the end of the year, and left the state.

So did the two men whom the genteel Holmes mobsters had threatened, though in their own good time. Hazel Smith meanwhile had kept fighting for the rights of all three.

The embattled editor won a round in November 1955, when the Mississippi Supreme Court unanimously and caustically reversed the libel judgment and dismissed the sheriff's suit. Said the court in part:

"Under the facts in this record there was no justification whatever for hitting this Negro with a blackjack or shooting him . . . It follows that the Negro was unjustly assaulted in both instances.

"The right to publish the truth with good motive and to justifiable ends, is inherent in Section 13, Article III, Constitution of 1890 . . . 'the freedom of speech and of the press shall be held sacred . . .' Out of the testimony of the officers themselves, the news items and other pertinent comment in question are believed to be substantially true and the plaintiff was, therefore, not entitled to recover anything."

And for the second time Hazel won the National Federation of Press Women's principal award, for the libel case editorial. But the victory was relatively a hollow one; for in January 1956, a set of council-dominated trustees in the Holmes County Hospital fired her husband as administrator of the hospital, despite the medical staff's unanimous resolution asking that he be retained. One trustee in a newspaper statement said: "There is nothing against him or his record, but his wife has become a controversial person."

Hazel went on winning more and more awards while losing more and more dollars. In 1956 the National Editorial Association in convention in Louisville, Ky., awarded the Herrick Award to Hazel Smith "for editorial writing, embracing the highest type of American principles and ideals." In the next year the Fund for the Republic presented her a citation for "an American whose actions have made an unusual contribution to advancing the principles of freedom and justice and the bill of rights."

Since every citizens council member knew that the Fund for the Republic was a dangerous organization, Hazel also received another black eye. But in her own state, in the same year, the Mississippi Press Association in convention adopted by unanimous vote a resolution "commending Mrs. Hazel Smith, editor of the Lexington Advertiser and the Durant News for her epochal fight in the interest of freedom of the press."

Clearly she was becoming far too much of a problem of the atavists to be dealt with lightly. The White Citizens Council lead-

Continued on Page 7, Col. 6.

View of the composing room in Lexington where Mrs. Smith's papers are printed.

The Writer

HODDING CARTER

Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize-winning editor who wrote the accompanying article at the invitation of the Post-Dispatch, is a Southern moderate who has long opposed race extremists. He is publisher of the Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Miss.

A native of Hammond, La., he is a graduate of Bowdoin College at Brunswick, Me., and studied at Tulane University, Harvard University and the Columbia University School of Journalism in New York. Among honorary degrees he has received is one from Washington University in St. Louis in 1954.

He won the Pulitzer prize for editorial writing in 1946, and in addition to his newspaper work and extensive writing for national magazines, is the author of several books.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Her Mother Needles Mother-in-Law

Dear Martha:

RECENTLY MY MOTHER and mother-in-law had occasion to be together for a few hours. The outcome was disgusting. Although my mother-in-law would not say anything to me, she told my husband and he told me. First of all my mother told my mother-in-law that I did not take good enough care of my five-month-old baby. This is not true as anyone who knows me could tell you. My mother said that I should be home taking care of my baby instead of working. Being a new mother I would love it if I could stay at home. Unfortunately we need the money I bring in so that we can eat. We have been married only 15 months.

Two weeks after we were married my husband was laid off and was out of work for six months. Then I became pregnant. During the time my husband was not working our bills naturally piled up. So I went back to work a month ago to help clear up some of these old debts and keep from getting further in debt. As anyone can see it is necessary that I work until we can get caught up and make a fresh start toward ours and the baby's future. Also my mother told my mother-in-law that my husband should be able to support us without my help. Don't you think my mother is overstepping a bit? I am at a loss as to what I sould say to her. I have not seen her since this incident occurred. Please help me before we meet again.

DISGUSTED.

It is pretty plain that your mother was taking a subtle way to needle your mother-in-law about her son's inability to support you. Your mother of course chose to overlook the fact that your husband was out of work through no fault of his own and led your mother-in-law right into the trap by pretending to criticize you for not staying home and taking care of your baby. Unfortunately it is almost impossible for mothers and mothers-in-law to refrain from meddling in the affairs of their children to some extent. Your mother resents the fact that you must work. His mother resents the fact that your mother criticized her son. I think the wisest thing would be to say nothing to either your mother or mother-in-law. Pretend that your mother's criticism was never relayed to you. Be as independent of your two families as you can and lead your own lives. You seem to have a level head on your shoulders. Don't get embroiled in a family feud.

Dear Martha:

▶ AT THE RIPE OLD AGE OF 29, I, a man, would like to meet my mate but I do not want to meet her at the usual swimming pool, tavern, dance hall or bowling alley. I do not want to sound presumptuous but I have also become disillusioned with the caliber of young women I meet at church gatherings. The usual advice, not necessarily yours, given to females is not to be too eager in their quest for a man. Personally, this wouldn't matter at all if their moral standards met my seemingly impossible requirements.

DISAPPOINTED IDEALIST.

I wouldn't advise you to lower your standards but I would advise you to prepare to go through life alone

Mechanics-of-Living Blues

By Adele Starbird

FOR YEARS I have been complaining bitterly about the amount of time any civilized person has to spend on the mere mechanics of living, by which I mean eating, keeping clean and buying clothes, to mention a few essentials. I grumbled that the mechanics of living left no time to live.

There ought to be some way of disposing of these routine matters efficiently, if one is responsible only for oneself.

I did a little research on the subject. I tried various experiments in living. And I am prepared to report that even a single woman, unemployed, living in a hotel with very good service, spends a signifcant portion of each day puttering on little chores.

Suppose she eats dinner in the hotel dining room—that takes about an hour. If she prepares her own dinner, however simple it may be, she cannot beat the time. Cooking, eating and washing the dishes will require more than an hour.

Even if she has her hair done in a beauty parlor, she has to spend one hour and a half of her good time submitting to the process. It would be convenient if she could remove her head and send it over to the hairdresser. I never see a statue of St. Denis carrying his head under his arm without thinking, perhaps irreverently, that such an arrangement would have its points.

ADELE STARBIRD

Last week I decided to defrost my refrigerator. During my years at the university, the maid must have defrosted the one in my apartment while I was at the office. At any rate I had never seen it done. I supposed there was nothing to it.

I read the instructions pasted inside the door, filled the pans with hot water and sat down confidently to type. What happened next reminded me of all the descriptions of the great spring thaw in Northern Canada. Everything seemed to be breaking up. Water dripped with noisy monotony and flowed out on the floor; chunks of ice fell with heavy thuds to the bottom of the box. What with mopping, scooping out the piles of ice, washing and drying the racks and pans, I put in two full hours. And there was no typing that morning.

For consolation I read a chapter from Epictetus on "Cleanliness." He said if nature had intrusted a horse to your care, you would not neglect it. Well, you must consider that nature has placed your own body in your care.

I am resigned now. Civilized men and women are still animals. A woman cannot afford to be less well groomed than a cat, to which she is so often compared. If a bird oils its feathers, shouldn't a man oil his hair, as the television commercials suggest?

New Design From Paris; Sheath, Pop-Over Tunic

'Role Hangover'

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25 (AP)—Actor George Peppard has one occupational hazard that worries him—role hangover.

"I get myself so immersed in a role that it takes me days to get over it—even after the picture is finished. It's great for comedy, such as 'Breakfast at Tiffany's,' but I turn down all roles of psychopathic killers."

Editor

Continued From Page One.

ers began organizing a concerted advertising boycott. Her local advertising volume shortly fell off some 50 per cent, a loss which she has never recovered. She kept and even gained readership; but without the necessary advertising and commercial printing volume, her papers began to suffer.

And in 1958 her enemies organized a new weekly paper at a meeting at which an officer of the local citizens council presided and asked for stock subscriptions from those present—mostly council members. The new weekly, The Holmes County Herald, has been subsidized from the beginning by well-to-do council leaders. It couldn't have lasted three months without pressure in its behalf from county politicians and White Citizens Council leaders, generally the same persons and all of the same readily recognizable stripe.

Hazel Smith, lacking subsidy, began to show the strain. Once again the same pattern was repeated—professional recognition at the cost of financial setbacks. Marquette University in Milwaukee honored her at the twenty-seventh annual Matrix Table sponsored by Theta Sigma Psi. But some of her gallant foes got even in 1960 with an act that shocked the better citizens. A cross was burned on her lawn by a group of teen-agers, including the son of a man prominent in council circles. Hazel herself descended upon them as the cross burned, and after they had fled, removed the license tag from their car so that proof of ownership and probable occupancy could be made.

The year before she had received the Elijah Lovejoy Award from the University of Southern Illinois: "for demonstrating the ability to perform under great stress . . . her role as editor of the community's newspapers so effectively as to win the approval and support, in growing numbers, of the right thinking people of her town and county . . ."

So what will happen next? There is no real wealth in Holmes county. It is unlikely that the other newspaper will survive if Hazel's friends begin to speak out, as some already are doing. Men get tired of indulging their prejudices at the expense of their pocketbooks. And this is exactly what is happening in the case of the Holmes County Herald, a travesty of a newspaper which is only an instrument devised to destroy a brave woman, who 25 years ago came to Mississippi with eyes shining and dreaming a dream that had to do with the rights of all men and the freedom of newspapers to speak their pieces.

Maybe the brave bigots will stop putting up. Maybe the now silent, decent people will begin speaking up. Maybe next year the Lexington Advertiser, which is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year, will still be Hazel Brannon Smith's editorial voice. If not, another light will have gone out in a shadowed state.

And perhaps the supreme irony is that nowhere outside the deep South would Hazel Brannon Smith be labeled even a liberal in her racial views. If she must be categorized, then call her a moderate; a churchgoing, humanity-loving newspaper woman who takes seriously her repsonsibilities toward her fellow men. But that doesn't fit well in Holmes county where the most benighted are today also the most powerful.

Remodeling? FREE ESTIMATES

Call Today PR. 2-1611 — Free Design

We Do Everything

SPECIAL! Kitchen and bath remodeling at special prices—Call now.

ALL NAME BRAND KITCHENS

Wood—Metal or Formica—All Colors

★ FREE KITCHEN PLANNING ★ NO SUB CONTRACTING
★ NO DELAY ★ FHA TERMS, 60 MONTHS TO PAY
★ WOOD OR METAL COLOR AT NO EXTRA COST ★ FACTORY TRAINED PERSONNEL
★ COLOR CONSULTANTS
★ DESIGN ENGINEERS
★ PERSONALIZED CUSTOM WORK

Modern Living calls for gas

FREE ESTIMATES
NO MONEY DOWN
Call NOW

☐ Built-In Ovens and Burners
☐ Acoustical Ceiling Tile
☐ Add a Room
☐ Complete Remodeling
☐ Commercial Work
☐ Material—Tile—Cabinets

MODERN KITCHENS & BATHS

2221 S. VANDEVENTER — PR. 2-1611

Free Estimates, No Obligation—Evenings 7 to 9, Daily 8 to 4:30

RUGS 9x12 CLEANED and SIZED $7.95

ALSO BINDING AND FRINGING

Members Certified & National Insitute of Rug Cleaners

Empire Carpet Clg. Co.

3029 S. JEFFERSON — PR. 2-4840

Only at IGA

BALLET, TOE & TAP SLIPPERS

DANCE WEAR & ACCESSORIES

Child's and Adult's

DANSKIN LEOTARDS AND TIGHTS

Mail Orders Filled

Hoffert "Russian Ballet Slippers" 3.75 pr.

ASPHALT TILE 5c 9x9x1/8 each

VINYL ASBESTOS Good from basement to attic 9x9	9½c ea.	ARMSTRONG LINOLEUM TILE	7c ea.
PLASTIC WALL TILE 1½-2 & 3c ea.		CERAMIC WALL TILE	44c & 59c Sq. Ft.
BRAND NAME SOLID VINYL Good from basement to attic . . . special purchase	12c ea.
CEILING TILE 12x24 Slight Defect	9½c Sq. Ft.	HARDBOARD For Underlayments 4x4x1/8 Panel	97c ea.
FURRING STRIPS	2¾c Lin. Ft.	CONGOWALL 54" High	29c Lin. Ft.
WOOD PARQUET TILE OK on concrete	22c each	FREE LOAN OF TOOLS

WE INSTALL OR YOU INSTALL. FREE ESTIMATES

CEMENTS ARE ALL GUARANTEED, PLEASANT EXPERIENCED PERSONNEL TO HELP YOU. TOOLS LOANED FREE. RETURN EXCESS TILE. WE ISSUE FAMOUS KENTILE GOODYEAR LIFETIME GUARANTEES.

We carry a complete line of Mosaic, Ash Trays, Tables and Accessories.
All metal moldings for sinks, stairs or other purposes.

mother-in-law right into the trap by pretending to criticize you for not staying home and taking care of your baby. Unfortunately it is almost impossible for mothers and mothers-in-law to refrain from meddling in the affairs of their children to some extent. Your mother resents the fact that you must work. His mother resents the fact that your mother criticized her son. I think the wisest thing would be to say nothing to either your mother or mother-in-law. Pretend that your mother's criticism was never relayed to you. Be as independent of your two families as you can and lead your own lives. You seem to have a level head on your shoulders. Don't get embroiled in a family feud.

Dear Martha:

▶ AT THE RIPE OLD AGE OF 29, I, a man, would like to meet my mate but I do not want to meet her at the usual swimming pool, tavern, dance hall or bowling alley. I do not want to sound presumptuous but I have also become disillusioned with the caliber of young women I meet at church gatherings. The usual advice, not necessarily yours, given to females is not to be too eager in their quest for a man. Personally, this wouldn't matter at all if their moral standards met my seemingly impossible requirements.

DISAPPOINTED IDEALIST.

I wouldn't advise you to lower your standards but I would advise you to prepare to go through life alone unless you come down off that pedestal upon which you have placed yourself. There are many wonderful young women with high moral standards who would make you a good wife but I wouldn't wish that fate upon them. You have much too good an opinion of yourself to be able to make anyone but yourself happy.

Send a self-addressed stamped envelope for Martha's "Merry Christmas" leaflet, giving ideas for decorations, games for the Christmas season, and recipes for the holiday season.

Joseph G. Molner

Insect Bite Treatment

A 19-YEAR-OLD COLLEGE STUDENT, helping his father spray trees, was stung by a wasp and collapsed immediately.

After a few minutes he began to tremble, was violently sick at his stomach, large blotches appearing on his skin, as well as swelling, of course, at the spot where he was stung.

DR. MOLNER

The foregoing was from a letter and the writer asks: "Is there anything that can be done for this type of thing? About three years ago the boy was stung on the neck and the swelling was so terrific he nearly choked to death."

Yes, there are things that can be done.

Severe reactions from insect bites are not common but they can be dangerous. Snakebite isn't common, either, but it is dangerous. For a person unusually sensitive to insect venom, the consequences can be as severe as snakebite.

About one person in 50 becomes increasingly sensitive to insect stings, after once being bitten, but the severity varies. In extreme cases, and there are a number of them each year, such a sting can be fatal. More often, it is merely terribly annoying.

With the honeybee, as is pretty well known, the stinger breaks off, and should be pulled or squeezed out at once, to prevent further venom from seeping in. The bumblebee, hornet, yellow jacket, wasp, etc., can sting again. So first aid begins with getting rid of the stinger if it breaks off. If it doesn't, try application of cold, and some alkali which may be soap, weak ammonia, or bicarbonate of soda.

▶ IF THERE IS extensive swelling, redness, itching or other widespread reactions, antihistamine drugs can be taken by mouth or applied as creams or lotions to overcome the hypersensitivity, which is another word similar to "allergy." That's why the antihistamines help. (Calamine lotion is soothing to the bitten or itchy area.)

A tourniquet is very useful—a little realized fact—to people known to be highly sensitive to certain bites. It should be loosened at intervals of two or three minutes, and NOT left continuously tight. The gradual release of insect venom helps modify the severe effects.

In addition to medical aids, proper clothing and the ability to remain calm and not run, or slap at an insect, remain important in avoiding bites, and the attendant consequences.

"DEAR DR. MOLNER: My legs are very unsightly from ingrown, embedded hairs. Can anything be done?"

Beard and the back of the neck are the usual area for this; I'm not aware that it happens on the legs. Are you sure this is the situations? I'd suggest examination by a dermatologist.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents to cover cost of handling.

PRINTED PATTERN A 885

SIZES 10-18

by Bob Bugnand

BOB BUGNAND, young Paris couturier with a salon in New York, too, designed this two-part costume (our printed pattern A885) for those who like a compact wardrobe and live on a full home, office or social schedule. Use the beloved, utterly simple sheath, add the drama of a tunic. In fact, make two tunics—one for daytime, another of lace or a sheer so that your sheathed figure is a graceful shadow.

Printed pattern A885 is available in misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 three-quarter sleeved dress requires 1⅞ yards 54-inch fabric; tunic requires 1⅝ yards.

Send $1 for printed pattern A885 to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly your name, address with zone, style number and size.

ture is finished. It's great for comedy, such as 'Breakfast at Tiffany's,' but I turn down all roles of psychopathic killers."

Award from the University of Southern Illinois: "for demonstrating the ability to perform under great stress . . . her role as editor of the community's newspapers so effectively as to

RUGS 9x12 CLEANED and SIZED $7.95
ALSO BINDING AND FRINGING
Members Certified & National Institute of Rug Cleaners
Empire Carpet Clg. Co.
3029 S. JEFFERSON PR. 2-4840

Only at IGA

BALLET, TOE & TAP SLIPPERS
DANCE WEAR & ACCESSORIES
Child's and Adult's
DANSKIN LEOTARDS AND TIGHTS
Mail Orders Filled
Hoffert "Russian Ballet Slippers" 3.75 pr.
CHICAGO THEATRICAL SHOE CO. OF MISSOURI
537 Arcade Bldg.
812 Olive St. Louis 1, Mo.
Open Monday 'til 8 P.M.
MA. 1-0298

EXPERT HAIRCUTTING $1.00
COLD WAVE, $3.95
SHAMPOO AND SET, $1.00
LOVING-CARE $3.50 COMPLETE
RAGSDALE BEAUTY SHOP
DOWNTOWN—510 St. Charles St.
735 So. Highway 140
3811 Watson Rd.
2166 Chambers Rd.
15 No. Gore (Webster)
124 So. Florissant (Ferguson)
3942 W. Florissant
4408 Natural Bridge
10118 St. Charles Rock Rd. (St. Ann)
8900 St. Charles Rd. (at Brown)
5550 S. Lindbergh (Concord Vill.)
1641 S. 39th St.
5053 Gravois
6159 Natural Bridge
6359 Easton (Wellston)
9359 Nat. Bridge—Shopping Center
6909 Gravois
2532 Woodson Rd. (Overland)
1170 North & South Rd.
6810 West Florissant
10641 Lackland Rd.
5525 South Grand at Bates
3603 Gravois (at Grand)
3922 Lemay Ferry (Mehlville)
141 W. Jefferson (Kirkwood)
1230 S. Elm (Webster Groves)
For Budget Prices and First Class Service go to any Ragsdale Beauty Shop. Listed above. No appointment necessary.
NO PERMANENT OVER $7.95
No Appointment Necessary
Hours 8 to 9. Sat. 8 to 6.

Now... SAVE UP TO 50% ON NATIONALLY ADVERTISED BRANDS WITH THIS CARD
ST. LOUIS JEWELRY GROUP PURCHASE PLAN MEMBERS!
USE YOUR SHOPPING PASS AND CHOOSE FROM OVER 12,000 NATIONALLY KNOWN ITEMS
You Save On...
• DIAMONDS • WATCHES • SILVERWARE • COSTUME AND BETTER JEWELRY • CLOCKS • BILLFOLDS • CULTURED PEARLS • GIFTWARE
• GOLD RINGS • WEDDING RINGS • MEN'S JEWELRY • LIGHTERS • WATCH BANDS • TOYS • HOUSEWARES • ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES
• SPORTING GOODS • RADIOS • RECORD PLAYERS • CHILDREN'S BOOKS • DRESSER SETS • SHAVERS • LUGGAGE • TRAVEL KITS • TYPEWRITERS
(All Merchandise Fully Guaranteed)
ST. LOUIS JEWELRY COMPANY
715 WASHINGTON AVE.
ST. LOUIS 1, MO.
PHONE MAin 1-3055
SINCE 1891
ENTIRE 2nd FLOOR OF LOEW'S STATE THEATRE BUILDING
OPEN DAILY & SAT. 9 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.
MONDAYS & THURSDAYS UNTIL 8:30
(We'll be open till 8:30 p. m. Monday thru Friday from Nov. 24 to Dec. 22)
1 HR. FREE PARKING WITH PURCHASE OF $2.00 OR MORE
LUCAS BETWEEN 7TH & 8TH • S. W. CORNER 8TH & LUCAS • S. W. CORNER 8TH & DELMAR
ATTENTION PURCHASING, PERSONNEL MANAGERS and ORGANIZATION SECRETARIES:
Get Free Shopping Passes For Your Employees or Members Now. Call "Al" at MA. 1-3055. There's no obligation.

Can Now ☐ Material—Tile—Cabinets
MODERN KITCHENS & BATHS
2221 S. VANDEVENTER PR. 2-1611
Free Estimates, No Obligation—Evenings 7 to 9, Daily 8 to 4:30

ASPHALT TILE 5c 9x9x1/8 each
VINYL ASBESTOS Good from basement to attic 9x9 9½c ea.
ARMSTRONG LINDLEUM TILE 7c ea.
PLASTIC WALL TILE 1½-2 & 3c ea.
CERAMIC WALL TILE 44c & 59c Sq. Ft.
BRAND NAME SOLID VINYL Good from basement to attic . . . special purchase 12c ea.
CEILING TILE 12x24 Slight Defect 9½c Sq. Ft.
HARDBOARD For Underlayments 4x4x1/8 Panel 97c ea.
FURRING STRIPS 2¾c Lin. Ft.
CONGOWALL 54" High 29c Lin. Ft.
WOOD PARQUET TILE OK on concrete 22c each
FREE LOAN OF TOOLS
WE INSTALL OR YOU INSTALL. FREE ESTIMATES
CEMENTS ARE ALL GUARANTEED. PLEASANT EXPERIENCED PERSONNEL TO HELP YOU. TOOLS LOANED FREE. RETURN EXCESS TILE. WE ISSUE FAMOUS KENTILE GOODYEAR LIFETIME GUARANTEES.
We carry a complete line of Mosaic, Ash Trays, Tables and Accessories.
All metal moldings for sinks, stairs or other purposes.
ROCK RD. STORE OPEN 9 to 9 Mon. thru Fri. ALL OTHERS 9 to 9 Mon., Thurs., Fri. 9 to 6 Tue., Wed., Sat.
1731 E. Broadway Alton, Ill. 465-9814
10100 Manchester 1 Mi. E. Lindbergh TA. 1-2685
11205 St. Charles Rd. At Lindbergh PE. 9-6941
9028 Halls Ferry Rd. at Halls Ferry Circle UN. 7-9471
7212 State St. E. St. Louis, Ill. EX. 7-9622
TILE TOWN

HOPE WOOS WITH A WEBCOR!
BOB HOPE
Co-starring in
"BACHELOR IN PARADISE"
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Presentation Of A Ted Richmond Production
In CinemaScope and Metrocolor
Currently showing at LOEW'S STATE THEATER
Bob Hope woos with a Webcor Regent Coronet in his hilarious new motion picture, "Bachelor in Paradise." See it soon at your neighborhood theatre.
• Engineered with every professional feature known
• Records and plays back in stereo and monaural
• Synchro-Track for learning music and languages
• Two wide-range speakers
• Two stereo microphones
• 16-watt dual-channel amplifier
• Tape counter
• VU recording level meter
• Slide synchronizer Jack

Come in today—and try the model Bob Hope uses!
AT ANY OF THE FOLLOWING WEBCOR DEALERS
ST. LOUIS
Albers and Company 4102 North Grand
Baldwin Piano Company 916 Olive Baton Music Company 6505 Delmar Blvd.
Christian Board of Publication 2640 Pine Street
Floyd Cordes Appliances 1732 Pine Street 8082 Watson Road
Cordes Furniture and Appliance 9306 Highway 65
Famous-Barr Record Department Downtown Southtown Northland Clayton
Lee's Music Store & Studio 316 St. Francois St. Florissant, Mo.
Meyer Television Sale Service 9822 Manchester
Music Center (99) Northland Shopping Center
Parr Radio and Television 10207 St. Charles Rock Road
Rembrandt, Inc. 1005 Olive
St. Louis University Book Store 221 North Grand
Schweig-Engel Company 4933 Delmar
Wellston Furniture Company 5888 Easton
ILLINOIS
Gould Music Company 551 East Broadway, Alton
St. Clair Music Co. 1019 W. Main, Belleville
Zerweck Jewelry Company 210 Collinsville Ave., East St. Louis
Johnson Music Company 1920 Edison Granite City
Perdue Furniture 910 Madison Madison
Exclusive Wholesale Distributor—Hollander Co., 3600 W. Pine, St. Louis 8, Mo.

THIS IS A REPRODUCTION OF A PAPER BEING PRINTED AT LEXINGTON, MISS., BY MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, EDITOR OF THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER AND THE DURANT NEWS.

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number One | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, December 16, 1961 | 10 Cents Per Copy

Smith Announces For Congress

A Newspaper Is Born

Never in the history of journalism, as we know it in the State of Mississippi, has any newspaper from its inception had such bold aims and purity of purpose as the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS.

This is a Mississippi paper and a free paper.

Let it be clearly understood from the very beginning that this paper is incorporated in Mississippi by Mississippians for Mississippians — All Mississippians! We intend that it will be the Peoples' Paper. We know that Mississippi needs such a newspaper and the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS is determined to fulfill that need.

This newspaper holds certain beliefs that are characteristic of free Americans. We believe that all men should be free — no man a slave. We believe in freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom of movement, and freedom from intimidation. These, among others, are the rights of all Mississippians, regardless of creed, color, or religion. The MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS dedicates itself to helping to maintain these freedoms. But even more important the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS makes a pledge of helping to secure these rights for those Mississippians who have been denied them.

This newspaper will at all times champion the cause of justice. It will fight injustice. It will take no backward steps.

Much will be written in the future in the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS about the problems of this State and our

R. L. T. Smith Will Be First Negro To Run In 20th Century

It was announced today that Mr. R. L. T. Smith of Jackson will run for United States Representative from the 4th Congressional District of Mississippi. Smith will presumably oppose the incumbent Congressman, Honorable Jonn Bell Williams of Raymond in the Democratic primary of June 5, 1962.

Mr. Smith, so far as the FREE PRESS can determine, will be the first Negro candidate from Mississippi for a major office in the 20th century. The announcement of Mr. Smith's candidacy was made by his campaign manager, Dr. A. B. Britton of Jackson in an exclusive release to the FREE PRESS.

Dr. Britton further said that a press conference will be held at 3:00 p. m. on Saturday, December 16, 1961, in the Masonic Temple building at 1072 Lynch Street. He added that full scale

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number One | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, December 16, 1961 | 10 Cents Per Copy

Smith Announces For Congress

A Newspaper Is Born

Never in the history of journalism, as we know it in the State of Mississippi, has any newspaper from its inception had such bold aims and purity of purpose as the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS.

This is a Mississippi paper and a free paper.

Let it be clearly understood from the very beginning that this paper is incorporated in Mississippi by Mississippians for Mississippians — All Mississippians! We intend that it will be the Peoples' Paper. We know that Mississippi needs such a newspaper and the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS is determined to fulfill that need.

This newspaper holds certain beliefs that are characteristic of free Americans. We believe that all men should be free — no man a slave. We believe in freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom of movement, and freedom from intimidation. These, among others, are the rights of all Mississippians, regardless of creed, color, or religion. The MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS dedicates itself to helping to maintain these freedoms. But even more important the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS makes a pledge of helping to secure these rights for those Mississippians who have been denied them.

This newspaper will at all times champion the cause of justice. It will fight injustice. It will take no backward steps.

Much will be written in the future in the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS about the problems of this State — and we have many. We will not hesitate in offering constructive criticism. We very definitely will have our say about our state's fiscal policies, about our schools, about teachers salaries, about reapportionment, about voting and registration, and about desegregation.

We will be interested in the various communities and their problems.

We turn our attention now to one of these communities and one of its problems.

The community is Jackson, Mississippi. The problem is an economic one, as well as a moral issue — a question of right and wrong.

For years, the Negro population of Jackson has spent its money with the merchants of Jackson. Most merchants readily accept this Negro business. But many times the Negro has not been given the same courtesy and appreciation as is extended to whites. Too many times he has heard himself called, "Sam", 'Sally', 'John', 'preacher', 'boy', or 'girl'. The Negro as a group has remained patient but will not remain patient indefinitely. The Negro wants the same courtesy that is extended to others. He wants the same opportunity of employment in these stores as whites. This desire has been conveyed to members of the

(Continued on Page Two)

R. L. T. Smith Will Be First Negro To Run In 20th Century

It was announced today that Mr. R. L. T. Smith of Jackson will run for United States Representative from the 4th Congressional District of Mississippi. Smith will presumably oppose the incumbent Congressman, Honorable Jonn Bell Williams of Raymond in the Democratic primary of June 5, 1962.

Mr. Smith, so far as the FREE PRESS can determine, will be the first Negro candidate from Mississippi for a major office in the 20th century. The announcement of Mr. Smith's candidacy was made by his campaign manager, Dr. A. B. Britton of Jackson in an exclusive release to the FREE PRESS.

Dr. Britton further said that a press conference will be held at 3:00 p. m. on Saturday, December 16, 1961, in the Masonic Temple building at 1072 Lynch Street. He added that full scale campaign plans were underway and that a headquarters office would be opened in a matter of days. The campaign manager stated that Mr. Smith would wage a vigorous and large scale effort throughout the district and into all sections of the 13-county area.

Mr. Smith is a prominent Jackson businessman, a former mail carrier and a Baptist minister who has pastored in and around the Jackson area for more than 25 years. He is one of the leading citizens of Jackson.

Watch next week's Free Press for a feature story on Mr. Smith.

R. L. T. SMITH

Jackson Negroes Asked: "Stay Off Capitol Street"

In a December 9th statement, NAACP leader Medgar W. Evers called on the Negro community to "stay off Capitol Street."

Mr. Evers said in a prepared statement: "For many years now, Negroes have lined Capitol Street in Jackson, Mississippi, spending their money where they could neither be employed as sales clerks, eat at lunch counters, nor be given courtesy titles as 'Mr.', 'Mrs.' or 'Miss.' These indignities have, in a number of instances, been harsh and brutal, as well as humiliating.

"I am reminded here of an incident which occured recently to a prominent Negro woman, who was accused of taking articles from a Capitol Street merchant. This lady was searched and humiliated before numerous spectators. As it turned out, the

(Continued on Back Page)

Seven Clarksdale Negroes Will Be Tried For "Conspiring To Withhold Trade"

A hearing for seven Clarksdale Negroes charged with "conspiring to withhold trade from downtown merchants" has been set for next Tuesday, Dec. 19th, at 10 a. m.

Judge Rodney Brooks will preside at the trial to be held at the County Courthouse in Clarksdale with County Attorney Thomas H. (Babe) Pearson prosecuting.

Jack Young will represent the defendants who are Aaron Henry, president of the State NAACP, Mrs. Vera Pigee, Rev. Theodore Trammell, Laboyd Keys, R. L. Drew, John C. Melchor and Walter Wright.

The arrests of the seven Clarksdale citizens came after a conference which was called by the County Attorney of Coahoma County, with the Rev. Theodore Trammell, Mr. R. L. Drew, and Mr. Aaron E. Henry, had been held. These three leaders were asked to use their influence to call off the downtown Clarksdale boycott which reportedly has been 95 per cent effective. The men refused to call off the boycott.

Prior to the arrests, it was decided in a meeting of the Coahoma County Federated Council of Organizations that the downtown merchants would be given the opportunity to regain Negro patronage, if they wanted it. "We asked them to begin employing Negroes in other than menial positions, in stores desiring Negro trade. We feel they should be given jobs as clerks etc., also, just as white citizens, that Negroes should be extended courtesy titles such as 'Mr.' and 'Mrs.', said Mrs. Vera M. Pigee, spokesman for the group.

Can't Parade

November 3rd 1961, was the Annual Homecoming day for Coahoma Junior College. Every year for the past twelve years the Homecoming Parade has marched through the downtown streets of the city. This year Chief of Police Ben Collins and Mayor W. S. Kincade refused to permit them to parade at all and the Homecoming festivities had to be cancelled.

Invitation Is Withdrawn— A Slap In The Face

Back in October, 1961, the Chamber of Commerce extended to both the Coahoma Junior College and the Higgins High School an invitation to participate in the Christmas parade. This has been the custom of the city and the Chamber of Com-

(Continued on Back Page)

EDITORIALS

A Newspaper Is Born—

(Continued from Page One)

Downtown Merchants' Association. We understand that these merchants have refused to discuss the matter. We further understand that Negroes have been asked by their leaders to protest. The form of protest is elsewhere presented in this newspaper. This situation could have and should have been prevented. The MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS urges the merchants of Jackson to take a forward step.

We urge all our leaders to take an active part in bringing about the redeemed community, a community in which men might live together in peace and harmony.

This might be done by each citizen of Mississippi:

1. Putting forth an extra effort to respect the person and property of others.
2. Constantly reminding ourselves that we are only free to do those things which do not abridge the freedom of others.
3. Realizing that no matter how disrespectful an individual might become, this person is sacred because he is a creation of God and must be treated as such.
4. Using his influence to bring others into the struggle for human dignity.

In order that we might better serve and meet the needs of all the people of Mississippi, we encourage you to write letters of constructive criticism to the editor and to present plans by which we can work together to improve any given problem within our state.

SUPPORT YOUR PAPER—the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS.

The "Little" Man's Politics

The three-judge district court decisions in Greenville and Jackson of November 20 and 21 declaring unconstitutional the state's transportation segregation laws have taken a major step forward in the fight to remove legal segregation from Mississippi.

The important thing to note is that, in lawsuits involving the constitutionality of a state law, the Chief Judge of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals is required to appoint a three-judge court, two judges of which may be circuit judges from outside Mississippi.

This is what happened here:

When Chief Judge Tuttle of Atlanta appointed, several months ago, himself and Mississippi Federal District Judges Mize and Clayton to hear the original (and very far-reaching) transportation desegregation case filed by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Tuttle was out-voted on the State's motion to delay the case. Tuttle felt strongly that, since a preliminary injunction was applied for, the hearing should be held right away.

Note: Section 2284 of Title 28, United States Code, requires that "the application for a preliminary injunction shall be given precedence and assigned for a hearing at the earliest practicable day."

Chief Judge Tuttle then resigned from the special three-judge court and appointed in his stead another circuit judge, Richard Rives, a most distinguished jurist from Alabama.

When the revised three-judge court finally ruled (several months later), Rives wrote a strong dissenting opinion that would have halted many of the present criminal proceedings against "Freedom Riders" now pending in Hinds County Court and would have stopped all further arrests of them.

But, the majority and controlling opinion, that of Mize and Clayton, ruled to send the case to the Mississippi State courts.

The Legal Defense Fund has now appealed direct to the U. S. Supreme Court.

After this episode, Judge Tuttle then appointed himself and Judge Rives and only one Mississippi federal judge when the next occasion arose — the Justice Department's suits to declare unconstitutional the State's transportation segregation laws and to enforce the Interstate Commerce Commission's desegregation regulation.

The results of these suits are now history.

The New York Times carried a front page story entitled: "U. S. Court Voids Mississippi Transportation Segregation Laws."

So, Welcome to Mississippi Judge Tuttle and Rives!

We want to see you again!

We need the justice that you bring with you!

Political And Voting Tips

Remember that you must pay your poll tax in December or January. So pay it at the sheriff's office in the court house NOW!

If you'll be 21 before November 6, 1962, you can register (at the Circuit Clerk's office in the court house) NOW and through May to vote in the June 5, 1962, Democratic primary election for Representatives in Congress. This is a very important election — SO REGISTER NOW!

If you're 21 between January 1 and November 6, 1962, you can register AND VOTE in the June 5, 1962, Congressional election WITHOUT paying any poll taxes. So you young people in this group: Do your duty and REGISTER NOW!

You older citizens! Do your part! — If you're over sixty, you don't have to pay poll taxes. Go down now and register AND VOTE June 5, 1962!

And don't forget this: You need to pay your poll taxes AND register in order to vote. (Poll taxes, though, aren't needed if you've just become 21 or are over 60 — see paragraphs three and four above.) You do both at the same time in the court house.

Note this well again: You can pay poll taxes only during December and January, but you can register at any time. But anyone can go down and pay your poll tax for you. Just give him or her the $2.00 and your address. He can pay it and bring that important poll tax receipt right back to you! Call 355-7345 to have someone come by to pay your poll tax or by the Free Press Office at 1022 West Lynch Street.

REMEMBER THIS IS THE DUTY YOU OWE TO YOUR WIFE, YOUR CHILDREN, YOURSELF, YOUR CITY, COUNTY, STATE AND NATION, AND — MOST OF ALL — to our DIVINE MAKER! So do it NOW!

News Censorship Is Revealed By Sanders

Dick Sanders, news director of WLBT-WJDX, speaking to the Millsaps College student body on November 30th, made some interesting and revealing observations on the limited and/or delayed news coverage in Jackson and most other large cities. He specifically related this problem to a concern for the "welfare of society."

Acute discernment between comprising on principles and comprising on situation seems required to determine what constitutes the "welfare of society," noted Mr. Sanders. For illustration, he cited the efforts of the NAACP to bring about a more equitable situation in downtown Jackson. As a first step, the NAACP contacted the downtown merchants' association to request a meeting to discuss the problem, discrimination in the downtown shopping area. When such a meeting was not forthcoming, the NAACP threatened to and subsequently did call a boycott.

For the most part the news media have refrained from reporting these events.

The problem confronting the news reporters defining the "welfare of society" explained Mr. Sanders, is not an uncommon one. He reported that most of the larger cities throughout the country of racial unrest or

(Continued on Page Three)

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS
Saturday, December 16, 1961
Paul E. Brooks ..... Editor
Published every Saturday by the HiCo Publishing Company, Inc. at 1072 West Lynch Street, Jackson, Mississippi.
Subscription price: $5.20 per year — $2.60 for six months — 10 cents per copy.

NAACP Asks US Atty. Gen., Gov. Barnett To End Segregation

The Mississippi State Conference of NAACP Branches in its 16th annual session adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, with the Interstate Commerce Commission ruling which went into effect November 1, 1961 being flouted in a defiant manner by state officials, private citizens, and Ku Klux Klansmen alike, we look with hearty approval on the speedy action taken by the U. S. Attorney General to insure the supremacy of Federal Law over unconstitutional State statutes, customs and practices which prohibit Negro Citizens the free access and use of public conveyances and their terminal facilities, and,

WHEREAS, statistics indicate where there is laxity with regard to public school attendance, there is normally a high degree of juvenile delinquency, and, WHEREAS the State of Mississippi does not have a compulsory school attendance law, we call upon the Governor and the Legislature at its forthcoming general assembly to enact such legislation that will insure provisions for compulsory school attendance through age 18. WHEREAS, as the fostering of good and honest Government is based upon the practical application of Citizenship training, we feel that a person should not be permitted to graduate from college nor to teach in the public school system of Mississippi if they have reached 21 years of age, unless he or she is a qualified elector.

WHEREAS, there is evidence of an increase in police brutality throughout the state, and WHEREAS, Negroes are continually being falsely accused of trumped-up charges that serve to incite race against race, we call upon the Governor of Mississippi and the Federal Government to investigate recent charges of this nature in Jackson, Clarksdale, Gulfport, McComb, Terry, State Line, Tylertown, and Liberty, Mississippi.

WHEREAS, there exists problems that cause racial tensions within the state, of a magnitude that could result in racial violence, we call upon the Governor and other responsible Citizens of the State of Mississippi to seriously consider the establishment of a Bi-racial Committee composed of the responsible Citizens of both races to work harmoniously to resolve these problems and bring about an atmosphere in Mississippi that respects the dignity and complete humanity of all Citizens.

FINALLY, there exists on the statute books of Mississippi numerous laws that support and encourage segregation, discrimination and racial bigotry to the extent that Mississippi Citizens, both white and Negro, who choose to obey the laws and rulings of the Federal Government with regard to segregation being unconstitutional, are intimidated and subjected to the cruelest brand of racial pressures. We call upon the Governor and the legislature, at its next sesion to initiate steps to repeal all of the laws in the State Constitution that encourage, propagate and support racial segregation and racial bigotry.

GRAND LODGE NAMES OFFICERS: The W. M. Stringer Grand Lodge F. and A. M., Jurisdiction of Mississippi, Prince Hall Affiliation, meeting in its 86th Annual Session, elected the officers pictured above:

Left to right, seated: M. M. Reid, Secretary-Treasurer, Masonic Relief Department; B. B. Dansby, Treasurer; Dr. Lee M. Owens, Deputy Grandmaster; Josh Baker, Senior Deacon; E. W. Palmer, Secretary; Dr. H. J. Fields, Senior Warden; T. C. Almore, Jr., Warden.

Standing: Malcolm Smith, Assistant Tyler; Richard Jones, Pursuviant; Rev. J. A. Thornton, Chaplain; Allen Davenport, Librarian; Joseph Henderson, Assistant Secretary; Rev. G. C. Wells, State Lecturer; W. C. Collier, Assistant Secretary; J. D. Williams, Chorister; Rev. H. A. Belin, Chaplain; and Rev. C. C. Coleman, Chaplain.

News Censorship Is—

(Continued from Page Two)

rioting will be made. This does not exclude the making of tapes or films for later use. In properly carrying out this agreement, the heads of the news services must let the situation itself, not personal bias, be the determining factor, Mr. Sanders pointed out.

The discussion brought out the fact that the South is faced with its own additional problem of news reporting: the presentation of both sides of the question. In order for the people to make responsible decisions, they must be able to consider both points of view. Presenting both views, contends Mr. Sanders, is the responsibility of the news media.

Albany, Georgia, "Protests" Will Continue

Non-violent protests against forced segregation will continue in Albany, Georgia, according to a news release from that city today, despite continued arrests of students and individuals engaged in sit-ins and kneel-ins in that city and attempted mob action Wednesday.

The events in Georgia this week briefly were as follows:

On Sunday, Dec. 10, at 3:40 p. m. eleven staff members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, who arrived in Albany were greeted by 400 Negroes, mostly students, and six policemen. They were arrested and charged with breach of peace.

These students were James Forman, national director of SNCC, Bernard Lee, Norma Collins, Tom Hayden, Lenore Tate, Per Laursen, Joan Brown ie, Bob Selmer, Bertha Gober, Willie Mae Henderson and Charles Jones.

On Monday 267 Negroes were arrested as they protested the arrests of the SNCC group Sunday. A spokesman for the 267 said "more protests would follow." The protests took the form of marching around the Courthouse singing Freedom songs.

On Wednesday, 74 Negroes staged a kneel-in on the Courthouse steps in Albany to protest all of the arrests that had been made. "We will not get up until all charges against Freedom Riders are dropped," they said.

Later on Wednesday a mob of fifty white people advanced on the persons who were kneeling-in at the Courthouse. The mob was stopped by Albany police who formed a semi-circle around the group.

An unidentified police spokesman said "We will protect you as long as possible, but we must have your cooperation."

During the demonstrations one white man was arrested for singing "Dixie."

"We Service All Makes Of Radios & Electrical Appliances
CASTON'S APPLIANCE
3624 Whitfield Mill Road

For Your Automotive Needs—
Oliver Dixon's
ROSE STREET GULF
Rose and Pearl Streets

Robinson Shoe Shop
For
Good Shoe Repair
2640 Whitfield Mill
Shopping Center

For Service With You In Mind:
LEWIS BARBER SHOP
1234½ Valley Street

Valley Street Beauty Shop
Hair Stylists
Completely New and Modern With Skilled Beauticians
Miss Lois Portis and Miss Annie Paige
1234¼ Valley Street FL 2-0915

Service Within Your Budget At CUT RATE SHOE SHOP
133 N. Farish Street
Clarence Evans, Mgr.

New Smackover Cafe
We Specialize In Private Parties and Take Home Service
1091 Lynch Street
FL 5-9434
Lonie Forte, owner

SERVICE BY COLLINS
Funerals Since 1903
★
MONUMENTS
NOTARY AMBULANCE
★
415 North Farish Street Jackson 2, Miss.
FL 3-2377 Or FL 5-1888

"Styles To Fit Every Face"
Charm Beauty Salon
900 Evans Street
Pearlie Mae Davis and Mary E. Larry, operators

Home Improvement
New Homes
Rehabilitation
Fred Scott
Builders and Contractors
1104 Lynch Street
FL 2-7313
Loans: F.H.A. — G. I. Conventional

Keys For Your Every Need.
Johnson's Lock and Key Service
615 N. Farish Street
FL 3-3266
Jack Johnson, Proprietor

Good Food . . . .
Penguin Drive In
Lynch and Dalton
FL 2-9398
GOOD FOOD

For the Very Best in Women's Apparel at Reasonable Prices Shop
SANDERS
For Christmas Gifts
Corner Farish At Hamilton
(next door to the Alamo Theater)
FL 5-8471
Free Parking

Frank Conic's
Conic's Beauty And Barber Supply
Supplies and Equipment — Free Parking For Customers
615 North Farish Street
Jackson 2, Mississippi

Arrested December 8, 1961, on charges of "conspiring to withhold trade from downtown merchants," were, from left to right: Mrs. Vera Pigee, Rev. Theodore Trammell, Mr. Laboyd Keys, Mr. R. L. Drew, Mr. John Melchor, Mr. Aaron Henry, President of the Mississippi State Conference NAACP, and Mr. Walter Wright.

Seven Clarksdale—

(Continued from Page One)

merce for the past 15 years. On November 8, 1961, the Chamber of Commerce sent a letter to both Higgins High School and Coahoma Junior College, cancelling the invitation previously extended.

According to Mr. Leonard Farr, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, the Mayor's letter was written by himself and in no way reflected the attitude of the merchants.

The first student reaction was to protest this insult by a march on City Hall to denounce Mayor Kincaid. But when word of this reached the adult Negro community the move was discouraged or stveral reasons: the great number of possible participants would require bond higher than they felt could be raised; the right to picket and protest would not have been upheld by a hostile city administration; there is always the possibility of violence and these demonstrations getting out of hand. So with the student leaders the adults of the Clarksdale community worked out a nonviolent peaceful protest of withholding trade from the areas in which the students were forbidden to parade.

The slogan used by the people of Clarksdale was: "Should we TRADE in areas where we can't PARADE?"

Jackson Negroes—

(Continued from Page One)

lady had purchased the articles in her possession from another clerk in the store.

"The incident described in the above paragraph is just one of many similar indignities experienced by Negroes who shop on Capitol Street in DOWNTOWN JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

"WHY SHOULD NEGROES NOT BUY ON CAPITOL STREET? The fact that Negroes make up a large volume of the business transactions on Capitol Street, and the fact that the merchants have consistently refused to employ Negroes as sales clerks and extend courtesy titles are reasons which all of us, I am sure, will agree are sound.

"To those of you who believe in human decency, dignity, and respect: We urge you to cooperate with us and DO NOT BUY ON CAPITOL STREET until such time as we are treated as other Americans, citizens, and customers."

For A Christmas Gift that will be appreciated —
Give THE FREE PRESS

OPTOMETRIST
Dr. David M. White
505 N. Farish St.
FL 5-9085
10-6
Eyes Examined
Glasses Fitted

For All Your Hair Needs
Go To Modern Beauty Salon
2632 Whitfield Mill Road
EM 6-9181
Annie, Laverne, Rose, and Mary to serve you

LULABELLE'S FASHION CENTER
"Everything In Mi-Lady's Needs"

Ladies Wear	Men's Wear
Cosmetics	Hats
Gloves	Dress Shirts
Costume Jewelry	Sport Shirts
Lingerie	Ties
Dresses	Handkerchiefs
Blouses	Socks
Hosiery	Pants
Brassieres	Underwear
Gifts

FL 2-8171
1072 Lynch Street Jackson, Mississippi

Wells Furniture Co.
Welcomes The "Free Press"
"SAVE AT WELLS"
DIAL FL 5-7843 FL 2-8014
409 North Farish Street
Jackson, Miss.

SMITH'S SUPER MARKET
(Formerly Valley Street Grocery)
1253 Valley Street R. L. T. Smith, Jr., Mgr.

Get your gas at . . . .
JOHNNY HAYES SHELL
2141 Whitfield Mills
Open 6 to 9

"Pleasing you — Pleases us."
D and L Shoe Repair
For All Your Shoe Needs
1085 Lynch Street
FL 2-9546

Kollege Kleaners
Dry Cleaning—Altering—Laundering
Hats—50c and up
Dresses—$1.04
Suits—$1.04
Short Coats—50c
Blouses—35c and up
Ties—26c
Overcoats—$1.15
Bose Reed, owner-manager
414 Lynch Street FL 2-9328

Original Oil Portrait
Entirely handpainted from any clear photo or snapshot of a loved one or a family pet. (We can extract an individual from a group.) Specify color of eyes, hair, complexion and dress of subject. 8x10 portrait on silk $9.95; on canvas $19.95. Shipment four to five weeks. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sorry, no C.O.D.'s.
Order From:
IMPORTERS
Dept. IP
1114½ West Lynch Street
Jackson 3, Mississippi

THE DURANT NEWS

A Newspaper Reflects Its Community

The Newspaper That Boosts Durant

100th Year — Number Eleven | Durant, Mississippi — Thursday, December 28, 1961 | $3.00 Per Year

Holmes County Churches Receive Award

Through Hazel Eyes

By Hazel Brannon Smith

This is the last column of "Eyes" for 1961.

At the year's end we always mentally review events of the past year and take a few moments to anticipate what the New Year may bring.

We wish to express again this week, as we did in our Christmas column, our sincere, deep appreciation for the friendship and support of our thousands of friends and readers throughout Holmes County and the state. We shall always strive earnestly to be worthy of your trust.

Despite the continuing attacks from a few fanatics, principally in Lexington, this editor and The Lexington Advertiser have continued to make gains in 1961.

We might add these gains have been realized in spite of the lies that those opposed to us have circulated and caused to be circulated.

My friends hear these lies and report them to me in detail together with the names of persons doing the talking. My friends think I should expose these people by printing their names and what they are saying and some have urged me to sue those responsible for slander and conspiracy — and I have quite a case against them, if I choose to use it.

The only reason I have largely ignored these attacks, instead of answering them, is to keep the community peace as long as possible. I know the people of Holmes County have more sense than to believe these lies and distortions. Certainly the vast majority of our people are intelligent and try to think for themselves. Only a few gullible people have been influenced in any way by all the attacks made against me since 1954, when we cannot do. That alone is why this editor and The Advertiser will fight them to a finish — so that this community and all of its people, may remain free.

These home-made Hitlers have been trying in every way they can to cram their own newspaper down the throats of the people of Holmes County. They are trying to force merchants to advertise in their paper right now. They have tried, unsuccessfully, to force people to subscribe to their paper. They have sought, again unsuccessfully, to force Negro citizens of Holmes County to subscribe to their paper.

One of these days the businessmen of Lexington (now hurting) are going to get good and tired of the unholy pressures exercised by the "bosses" and stage a good size revolution.

And when they do revolt, The Advertiser and this editor will still be here doing business at the same old stand and striving, as we always have for 125 and 25 years respectively, to build Lexington and Holmes County up in a constructive fashion — not tear it apart like the "bosses" are now doing.

We'll still be around to carry their obituaries.

Another promise to our readers: During 1962 we shall continue to publish the best newspaper in Holmes County with more news about Holmes County people than any other paper. The news will be, as it always has been in our papers, completely factual, unbiased and unprejudiced. This we believe to be the primary purpose of a newspaper — to keep the people informed about matters affecting their own interest.

No potential "boss" will

Edward B. Guess Dies In Kosciusko

Edward Brister Guess, well known resident and former mayor of Durant, died at 1:30 p. m. Christmas Eve at the Montfort Jones Memorial Hospital in Kosciusko after an extended illness.

Mr. Guesss, 78, was born in the Hesterville Community of Attala County, the son of the late G. T. and Mrs. Pearl Bowles Guesss. He moved to Durant in 1917 where he was manager of the Jackson Coca-Cola Bottling Plant until ill health forced his retirement.. He was active in public affairs, served as a member of the Durant Board of Aldermen and mayor. Even though he was incapaciated he always made the annual roll call when the Holmes County Court was in session. He was also interested in fraternal organizations and served as secretary of the Masonic Chapter and Blue Lodge for thirty years. He was a member and deacon of the Presbyterian Church of Durant.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon ata 2:30 from the Durant Presbyterian Church. Interment was in the Kosciusko Cemetery under the direction of Jordan Funeral Home.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Julia Smithson Guess of Durant, as his only immediate survivor.

Snow, Ice Increase Automobile Accidents

Five per cent of fatal motor vehicle accidents and 10.7 per

But Why Leave Us Out?

Compulsory Unitization Pushed By M-C

(An Editorial)

The editor of this newspaper is being discriminated against by the Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, an organization of oil and gas companies and producers which compose one of the most highly organized and well-heeled lobbying groups in the state.

At the present time the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association is pushing a compulsory unitization law that would affect every small land holder in the state who owns potential oil and gas producing property. The Association hopes to get this compulsory unitization bill passed at the 1962 session of the Mississippi Legislature. As a part of this campaign they ran an advertisement in November on the unitization question in the newspapers of the state.

That is, they ran the ads in every paper except the four Mississippi newspapers owned and edited by Hazel Brannon Smith of Lexington.

This is why we say we have been discriminated against.

Why? The question naturally arises.

Mid-Continent ran the advertisement in the Holmes County Herald in Lexington, a newspaper with about one-fifth as many subscribers and possibly ten per cent as many readers as The Lexington Advertiser, which has served the people of Holmes County for more than 124 years, a newspaper owned and edited by Mrs. Smith.

Mid-Continent did not run the advertisements in The Durant News, although it is the only newspaper in Durant, also in Holmes County. The Holmes County Herald has practically no subscribers in Durant. The News, too, is owned by Mrs. Smith.

Normally an association like Mid-Continent wanting to see a bill enacted into law would run such an advertisement in every newspaper in the state. Certainly money is no object to the rich and powerful oil and gas producers who support Mid-Continent

Burrell And Pratt Are Permanent Co-Captains

ODE BURRELL

JOHN PRATT

Ode Burrell of Durant and John Pratt of Birmingham, Ala. were named permanent captains of the 1961 Bulldogs at the annual banquet held Friday evening in the Holmes Junior College Cafeteria.

Members of the team were honored by the college at this outstanding affair and especially invited guests were parents of the players and members of the faculty.

A father of one of the Bulldogs, Jack Scarborough, freshman, was the speaker for the occasion, Mr. Ben Scarborough of Kosciusko.

Mr. Scarborough, who has been minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Kosciusko for several years, brought a wonderfully inspirational message which was greatly enjoyed by all those attending.

Christmas Lighting Contest Winners Revealed For Commercial And Residential Areas

Hugh Carl's of Durant won first place for the commercial district in Durant's annual Christmas Lighting contest. Second place winner in this category was Ward's Jeweiry. The contest, held each year at Christ

Charles P. Durham, first; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, second.

Judging was held on the night of December 19th. Prizes will be awarded soon.

Thomas A. Stevens

Horseshoe, Oregon Place First, Third In Rural Program

Two Holmes County Churches received cash awards and certificates of merit as first and third place winners in the Rural Church Development Program from the Holmes County Farm Bureau on Sunday, December 24th. Winners were Horseshoe Baptist and Oregon Memorial.

Horseshoe Baptist

Horseshoe Baptist Church near Tchula was awarded $85.00 cash and a certificate of merit as first place winner, for their additional improvements on Sunday School rooms. During the past year six rooms have been added and the other rooms were painted. New equipment, including folding chairs, maps, blackboards etc have been added to both new and old rooms.

In addition to the Sunday School department, a new pastor's study was added, an attic fan installed, and the church grounds improved by setting out shrubbery, also a porch was built onto the front of the church.

Showing the growth of the church, which boasts approximately ninty-eight members, a Women's Missionary Society, Girls' Auxiliary, Royal Ambassadors and Sunbeams have been organized in the past few months

Frank Gwin presented Tol Thomas, Jr.., president of the Holmes County Farm Bureau who made the presentation to the pastor, the Rev. James Crowson.

Oregon Memorial

Oregon Memorial Church, northwest of Lexington, was awarded $50.00 cash and a cermake gains in 1961.

We might add these gains have been realized in spite of the lies that those opposed to us have circulated and caused to be circulated.

My friends hear these lies and report them to me in detail together with the names of persons doing the talking. My friends think I should expose these people by printing their names and what they are saying and some have urged me to sue those responsible for slander and conspiracy — and I have quite a case against them, if I choose to use it.

The only reason I have largely ignored these attacks, instead of answering them, is to keep the community peace as long as possible. I know the people of Holmes County have more sense than to believe these lies and distortions. Certainly the vast majority of our people are intelligent and try to think for themselves. Only a few gullible people have been influenced in any way by all the attacks made against me since 1954, when all this mess began.

Actually by now, the really stupid people making these attacks ought to realize they are not only building me up but at the same time tearing themselves down. They've just about had it — as we all know — and they are frantic.

By now most of the people of Holmes County are on to the little group of "loud mouths," as one merchant called them, and know that they are seeking one thing — to "boss" and control this community and this county. They don't want anything to happen in Holmes County that hasn't been "cleared" with them — and we do mean everything, up to and including organizing a PTA in Lexington.

The kind of control these little would-be big-shots would impose on us all is just as repugnant to every freedom-loving citizen of Holmes County as that exercised by the Communists, the Nazis or any other totalitarian, thought-control regime in foreign lands. They not only want to, but are actively trying to tell you and me, dear reader, what we can think, say and do, and what hurting) are going to get good and tired of the unholy pressures exercised by the "bosses" and stage a good size revolution.

And when they do revolt, The Advertiser and this editor will still be here doing business at the same old stand and striving, as we always have for 125 and 25 years respectively, to build Lexington and Holmes County up in a constructive fashion — not tear it apart like the "bosses" are now doing.

We'll still be around to carry their obituaries.

Another promise to our readers: During 1962 we shall continue to publish the best newspaper in Holmes County with more news about Holmes County people than any other paper. The news will be, as it always has been in our papers, completely factual, unbiased and unprejudiced. This we believe to be the primary purpose of a newspaper — to keep the people informed about matters affecting their own interest.

No potential "boss" will tell us what to print, or what we cannot print, though some of them have tried.

We shall continue to be an independent newspaper, free from domination or control of any individual or group.

In 1962 we shall continue to follow the same policies adhered to always by this editor, to hold the columns of this paper open to any and all readers for self-expression, restricted only by a regard for decency, good taste and the laws of libel.

This is your hometown newspaper, dear reader, and it shall always continue to be just that as long as God sustains me and gives me strength to do my job. I am deeply mindful of my responsibility to all 27,000 of you and my job of helping to maintain the peace and tranquillity of our community and county. Were it not for my complete dedication to this responsibility, I would never have taken silently for so long the abuse of malicious and vicious men bent on my destruction. It may be necessary to speak out more in 1962 as these men try to make a last-ditch stand But as they feed the fires of racial prejudice and add to the flames that threaten to engulf us all, we shall continue to operate on a straight course with honest reporting and editorial integrity and with fair treatment to every reader and citizen of our community and area — the only course, we might add, that will avert racial conflict which is bound to come here, as elsewhere, if the fanatics in our midst continue to go unbridled.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

of the Jackson Coca-Cola Bottling Plant until ill health forced his retirement.. He was active in public affairs, served as a member of the Durant Board of Aldermen and mayor. Even though he was incapaciated he always made the annual roll call when the Holmes County Court was in session. He was also interested in fraternal organizations and served as secretary of the Masonic Chapter and Blue Lodge for thirty years. He was a member and deacon of the Presbyterian Church of Durant

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon ata 2:30 from the Durant Presbyterian Church. Interment was in the Kosciusko Cemetery under the direction of Jordan Funeral Home.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Julia Smithson Guess of Durant, as his only immediate survivor.

Snow, Ice Increase Automobile Accidents

Five per cent of fatal motor vehicle accidents and 10.7 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents in 1960 occured on snowy icy roads, according to reports of 25 state traffic authorities.

Reduce driving speed and increase the distance between vehicles when snow or ice are on roads and streets and be particularly careful on bridges, advises the Insurance Information Institute.

It takes three to twelve times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement, according to the National Saftey Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. At 20 m.ph. (miles per hour) stopping distance is 60 feet on loosely packed snow and 195 feet on ice.

Ole St. Nick Captures Lawn Prize

Ole St. Nick on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thornton on Pine Street in Lexington won first place in the lawn category of Lexington's Christmas Lighting contest last week. Adding to the attractive scene, but not seen in the picture is a smaller Santa Claus and Reindeer on the the back lawn of the Thornton home.

potential oil and gas producing property. The Association hopes to get this compulsory unitization bill passed at the 1962 session of the Mississippi Legislature. As a part of this campaign they ran an advertisement in November on the unitization question in the newspapers of the state.

That is, they ran the ads in every paper except the four Mississippi newspapers owned and edited by Hazel Brannon Smith of Lexington.

This is why we say we have been discriminated against.

Why? The question naturally arises.

Mid-Continent ran the advertisement in the Holmes County Herald in Lexington, a newspaper with about one-fifth as many subscribers and possibly ten per cent as many readers as The Lexington Advertiser, which has served the people of Holmes County for more than 124 years, a newspaper owned and edited by Mrs. Smith.

Mid-Continent did not run the advertisements in The Durant News, although it is the only newspaper in Durant, also in Holmes County. The Holmes County Herald has practically no subscribers in Durant. The News, too, is owned by Mrs. Smith.

Normally an association like Mid-Continent wanting to see a bill enacted into law would run such an advertisement in every newspaper in the state. Certainly money is no object to the rich and powerful oil and gas producers who support Mid-Continent.

So the average citizen would wonder why the Lexington editor was thus singled out.

But when it is remembered that Holmes County State Representative Wilburn Hooker is chairman of the House Conservation Committee to which the unitization bill is referred for action, the picture becomes very sharp and clear, at least to the citizens of Holmes County — for Rep. Hooker is one of the organizers and the main financial support of the Holmes County Herald. He is a member of the Executive Committee and its board of directors at the present time, the committee charged with trying to get enough money to keep the Herald going.

Now as an individual citizen Wilburn Hooker can fight me any way he chooses and I will have it out with him on a local level. To date I have largely ignored him and his gang and their frantic efforts to keep their newspaper alive. In this connection he has solicited advertising for the Herald, which he has every right to do.

He has gone farther — and asked people not to advertise in The Advertiser. This is promoting a conspiracy and is illegal, as well as unmoral and revolting. But even here I will still deal with Mr. Hooker on a local level.

But if and when State Rep. Hooker uses the office bestowed upon him by the people of Holmes County to influence and advance his own economic self-interest, then it is time to call a halt. That time is here and now.

Now, this is what I should like to know:

Was the discrimination against the Lexington editor by Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association inspired by its desire to incur favor with State Rep. Wilburn Hooker?

This seems hardly possible since Rep. Hooker was author of the unitization bill and enthusiastically, though unsuccessfully, sought its passage in the last session of the Legislature.

Could it be that the discrimination against the editor was a pay-off to Rep. Hooker for "services rendered?"

The people of the whole state will be interested in the answer to this one — because unitization is one of the most highly controversial measures to face the 1962 session. And informed people know that much is involved.

If a group like Mid-Continent can be influenced or intimidated in any way, for any reason, to use these cheap tactics on a lone woman editor, what more could it be contrained to do under additional pressure? How far will it go to get the compulsory unitization bill passed?

Without going into the merit or demerits of unitization itself (and we have not yet made up our mind on it) we would say that the apparent methods and tactics being used to push unitization are highly questionable, to say the least, and need a close examination and study by all interested citizens of the state — most of all by the members of the Legislature to whom we must look to protect and defend the peoples' interest.

Hazel Brannon Smith

ODE BURRELL

JOHN PRATT

Ode Burrell of Durant and John Pratt of Birmingham, Ala. were named permanent captains of the 1961 Bulldogs at the annual banquet held Friday evening in the Holmes Junior College Cafeteria.

Members of the team were honored by the college at this outstanding affair and especially invited guests were parents of the players and members of the faculty.

A father of one of the Bulldogs, Jack Scarborough, freshman, was the speaker for the occasion, Mr. Ben Scarborough of Kosciusko.

Mr. Scarborough, who has been minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Kosciusko for several years, brought a wonderfully inspirational message which was greatly enjoyed by all those attending.

Christmas Lighting Contest Winners Revealed For Commercial And Residential Areas

Hugh Carl's of Durant won first place for the commercial district in Durant's annual Christmas Lighting contest. Second place winner in this category was Ward's Jeweiry. The contest, held each year at Christmas time, was sponsored this year by the Durant Woman's Club. Mrs. R. E. Irby, Jr. was general chairman. Out-of-town judges selected the winners.

Residential winners are as follows:

Outdoor Tree — Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rucker, first; Mr. and Mrs. I. H. English, second.

Inside Tree — Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Derrick, Jr., first; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McKenzie, second.

Window — Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Snyder, first; Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Hester, second.

Doorway — Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Wasson, first; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Barranco, second.

Overall Effect — Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Durham, first; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, second.

Judging was held on the night of December 19th. Prizes will be awarded soon.

County Schools Open January 2 After Holiday

Holmes County school children will resume their studies on Tuesday, January 2nd according to school officials.

Classes have been closed since December 20th for the Christmas holidays.

Thomas A. Stevens Rites Held Today

Thomas Alexander Stevens of West died Tuesday night Dec. 26th at 11:00 p. m. He was six years old.

Thomas was born February 12, 1956 and had been in ill health his entire short life.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stevens,III, a brother, A. J. Stevens, IV. a sister, Elizabeth Ann, paternal grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Stevens Jr., maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mason, maternal great grandmother, Mrs. H. W. Mason, paternal great grandmoter, Mrs. Grace Alexander.

Graveside funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at West cemetery with the Rev. Vic Shaw officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. E. Wasson. Southern Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers are Joe McLellan, John Arnold, Jimmy Bowen and Phillip Browning.

as first place winner, for their additional improvements on Sunday School rooms. During the past year six rooms have been added and the other rooms were painted. New equipment, including folding chairs, maps, blackboards etc have been added to both new and old rooms.

In addition to the Sunday School department, a new pastor's study was added, an attic fan installed, and the church grounds improved by setting out shrubbery, also a porch was built onto the front of the church.

Showing the growth of the church, which boasts approximately ninty-eight members, a Women's Missionary Society, Girls' Auxiliary, Royal Ambassadors and Sunbeams have been organized in the past few months

Frank Gwin presented Tol Thomas, Jr.., president of the Holmes County Farm Bureau who made the presentation to the pastor, the Rev. James Crowson.

Oregon Memorial

Oregon Memorial Church, northwest of Lexington, was awarded $50.00 cash and a certificate of merit as third place winner in the Rural Church Development Program. The Rev. Crawford Ray, Methodist pastor, accepted the award from Mr. Thomas on behalf of the church.

The church received the award primarily on the close fellowship and cooperation of the Baptist and Methodist denominations worshiping together. Other merits of the church include its "sick and relief fund" set up to help members in time of sickness and need. Each Sunday donations are made to this fund by members. During the past year the fund has helped approximately twenty-four sick people through gifts of cash or personal items.

Improvement to the church grounds also had an important role in the selection of Oregon as a winner. Members of the church donate their time and efforts to keeping the church lawn attractive. New portable tables were built for special events especially the annual

(Continued On Page Eight)

Arkansas Travelers Meet Lions

An exciting basketball game featuring the nationally known Hazel Walker Arkansas Travelers team and the Durant Lions Club team is set for Saturday, December 30 at the Durant High School Gym at 7:00 p. m.

The Arkansas Travelers were organized in 1949 by the famous Hazel Walker who had played in national amateur competition basketball, for fourteen years. She was an all American for eleven years, holding the record for women players During the past twelve seasons more than 2500 games, covering the United States and Mexico, have been played. This is the only girls' traveling team who play men's teams using men's rules, asking no favors from their opponents.

Wheeler Bolden is in charge of arrangements for this event which is being sponsored by the Durant Lions Club. Mr. Bolden is busy coaching his team in readiness for the game.

Members expected to play are Mr. Bolden, Lindsey O'Rear, Harvey Ray, George Pilgrim, John Marshall Pilgrim and Mel Chrestman.

Advance tickets will be on sale. Contact any member of the Durant Lions Club early for a ticket to this big event. Proceeds will be added to the Lions Club Swimming Pool Fund.

MISS HAZEL WALKER

The Lexington Advertiser

A Newspaper Reflects Its Community

"Principles and Men: Truth—the Weapon we use in their Defence."

Volume 124 | Lexington, Mississippi — Thursday, January 11, 1962 | Number Forty-One

Through Hazel Eyes

By Hazel Brannon Smith

Many small landowners in Holmes County, and some of them not so small, are disturbed over an impending bill to be introduced in the legislature—the compulsory unitization law for state oil and gas fields.

A spokesman for this group contacted me Friday and asked that I get the facts on this measure and give them to the people of Holmes County. The group feels the bill is definitely detrimental to their interest and other landowners in Mississippi. They feel that it would enact a law designed to protect the interests of the big companies—and take away their own rights.

I had already started a file of information on this matter. I became interested when the Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid-Continent oil and Gas Association left my four newspapers off their "Unitization" advertisment schedule which ran in November. This Association, a lobbying group which represents major oil and gas companies and large independents, is pushing the compulsory unitization bill which was introduced by State Rep. Wilburn Hooker of Holmes County at the last session of the legislature. Although the measure was soundly defeated then, they are going to introduce another bill this session—and Mr. Hooker, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, has already declared in favor of it.

I have already stated editorially that the apparent methods and tactics being used by Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association ano Rep. Hooker to push what has been described as a "force bill" are highly questionable, to say the least, and need a close examination and study readers and let them decide for themselves. But the more I learn about compulsory unitization , the more I am inclined to be against it. Perhaps this is because I am basically against the use of force to make anyone do anything.

There is organized opposition to the compulsory unitization bill by the Mississippi Mineral and Royalty Owners Association of which Frederic F. Mellen, a consulting geologist of Jackson, is executive director. Mr. Mellen has been in the oil exploration and production industries for more than twenty years.

Mr. Mellen's contention, and that of other qualified opponents, is that unitization should always be voluntary on the part of the landowners, and that a field should be unitized only after the necessity for it is definitely established.

The Mineral and Royalty Owners' Association says the enactment of a compulsory unitization law would result in the establishment of a vast "underground storage for oil." The major companies want this, it contends, because "they can import foreign oil cheaper than they can produce it domestically."

Mr. Mellen says the clamor of the major oil companies for a compulsory unitization bill is motivated by the "desire of these over-producing and over-importing monopolistic corporations to abrogate their lease contracts with landowners of Mississippi."

The campaign for the compulsory unitization law is based on propaganda and not facts, he said.

"It is based solely on the economic hole the major

Holmes County Hit By Snow Tuesday

BLANKET OF WHITE COVERS HOLMES COUNTY: A three and three-fourths inch snow covered Holmes County along with the rest of the state Tuesday of this week making the roads and highways virtually impassable. Above scene on Westwood in Lexington is typical of the many beautiful snow scenes available — if one could get out and see them.

Low Temperature Of 3.5 Degrees Is Reported; Schools, County Offices Closed

A beautiful blanket of snow covered Holmes County this week.

Snow began falling early Tuesday morning in the northwest section of the county, around Cruger, and by 8:00 a. m. a few flakes were falling over the entire county. It began snowing in earnest about 10:00 a. m. and continued to fall hard and fast until about 9:00 p. m. and reached a depth of 3¾ inches.

The thermometer dropped to a low of 3½ degrees Tuesday night with a high of 7 about 9:00 a. m. Wednesday. Expected high for Wentsday was 20 degrees.

Not only Holmes County, but most of Mississippi was covered with snow, requiring the closing of many highways throughout the state.

Schools Close

All schools in the county closed early Tuesday morning or by noon and children sent home on busses before roads were too badly covered. Students will be advised when to return to school.

Telephone Service

According to Mrs. Dora Pearl Tidwell, chief optrator in the Lexington office, about fifty per cent of the toll lines are out but all local lines are all right. Mrs. Tidwell said, "the girls worked ten hours Tuesday in order to answer the many calls of patrons." Every available girl with the company was called in to work.

Mississippi Power and Light Company reported no broken lines or power damage in any way.

County Offices

County offices, including the Welfare Department, Health Department, and Holmes Extension workers were closed. Also all branches of the Holmes County Library.

Thawing Pipes

Zero temperatures, which are predicted, brought a warning from Fire Chief Billy Rathell against thawing frozen water pipes with blow torches or other forms of fire.

Chief Rathell advised residents to use common sense if their pipes freeze.

"It could save their lives and their property."

He said the best way to thaw a frozen pipe is to wrap it in rags and pour hot water over the wrapping.

Most of the business firms and stores in the county remained open for business as usual.

Holmes' First Baby Born On January 9th

Holmes County welomed its first baby for 1962, little Dora May Lepard, on January 9th at 9:30 a. m.

Dora May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alec Lepard, RFD, Goodman. She was born at the Holmes County Community Hospital in Lexington and weighed seven pounds, two ounces.

Sharing congratulations with the happy parents are the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Billings of Goodman and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Lepard of Kosciusko, four brothers and two sisters.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Tate

Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie Lou Rodgers Tate will be held today (Thursday) at 3:00 p. m. from the Southern Funeral Home Chapel in Lexington, with the Rev. P. D. Bragg officiating.

Mrs. Tate, 71, died Tuesday night at 8:45 in the Holmes County Community Hospital after several weeks illness.

She had made her home in Holmes County for a number of years, where she will be missed by a host of friends. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Lexington.

Survivors are two sons, Irby Lee Tate, Lexington; Earl Tate, Belzoni; a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Sisson, Lubbock, Texas; three brothers, Longino Rodgers, Belzoni; Leroy Rodgers, Greenville; Cunningham Rodgers, Lexington; three sisters, Mrs. Lillie

Holmes Editor Is Target Of Vicious Smear Campaign

Lexington Will Host Basketball Tournament January 19-20; Schedule Listed For Event

Lexington High School will

Howard Stubb.

I became interested when the Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid-Continent oil and Gas Association left my four newspapers off their "Unitization" advertisment schedule which ran in November. This Association, a lobbying group which represents major oil and gas companies and large independents, is pushing the compulsory unitization bill which was introduced by State Rep. Wilburn Hooker of Holmes County at the last session of the legislature. Although the measure was soundly defeated then, they are going to introduce another bill this session—and Mr. Hooker, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, has already declared in favor of it.

I have already stated editorially that the apparent methods and tactics being used by Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association and Rep. Hooker to push what has been described as a "force bill" are highly questionable, to say the least, and need a close examination and study by all citizens of the state, especially the members of the Legislature to whom we must look to protect and defend the peoples' interest.

Since the publication of that editorial on December 28th I have had many reports from vigorous opponents of compulsory unitization. One of the more interesting reports was that "$50,000 had been set up in the budget to get the bill passed" through the Legislature and more than that amount had already been spent. It will be interesting to see how these reports turn out. But it is my understanding that some members of the Legislature already have the information and that it will be released.

In my editorial of December 28th I said that I was keeping an open mind on the question of compulsory unitizaion—and I still am. It is a complicated and highly controversial measure and a very important one to every landowner in the state. I shall continue to study the question and try to be able to pass on the facts to our should always be voluntary on the part of the landowners, and that a field should be unitized only after the necessity for it is definitely established.

The Mineral and Royalty Owners' Association says the enactment of a compulsory unitization law would result in the establishment of a vast "underground storage for oil." The major companies want this, it contends, because "they can import foreign oil cheaper than they can produce it domestically."

Mr. Mellen says the clamor of the major oil companies for a compulsory unitization bill is motivated by the "desire of these over-producing and over-importing monopolistic corporations to abrogate their lease contracts with landowners of Mississippi."

The campaign for the compulsory unitization law is based on propaganda and not facts, he said.

"It is based solely on the economic hole the major companies have dug for themselves in exploiting the petroleum resources of foreign countries. Wider spacing and compulsory unitization are the devices through which they ask the domestic producer, the land and royalty owners, and local governments to subsidize them in their foreign exploits."

Mr. Mellen and his associates say they are just as interested in conservation of resources as anyone but think it should be done on a sound and honest basis.

The proposed unitization bill, they contend, will inevitably leave oil in the ground because it will lead to an inadequate number of wells for most effective recovery of oil and gas They believe the present law, which allows a field to be unitized on the consent of 100 per cent of the landowners, is adequate.

The principal objection voiced by the average citizen is that he loses control of his own property—and that alone is enough to be against compulsory unitization.

Mrs. J. E. Dollahite Dies In Jackson

Mrs. J. E. Dollahite, widely beloved citizen of Durant, died Monday at 3:30 p.m. in the Baptist Hospital in Jackson following an illness of two months. She was 86.

A native of York, Ala., Mrs. Dollahite had made her home in Durant for the past sixty years where she had a host of friends. She was an active member of the Durant Methodist Church, the Women's Society of Christian Service, the Gamma Literary Club, United Daughters of the Confederacy, the American Legion Auxiliary and a past Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Durant Methodist Church with the Rev. R. E. Wasson, the Rev. Durell Makamson and Robert Shoemaker officiating. Burial was in Mizpah Cemetery with Southern Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Surviving is one son, Gene Dollahite of Clawson, Mich. and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Joe York, Henry McKenzie, Herman Clements, Charles Irby, Dr. C. E. Patton and Ray Campbell.

Services On Friday For Miss Netherland

Miss Martha Ophelia Netherland, well known resident of the Coxburg community died Thursday at 1:15 p. m. at her home after an extended illness. She was 83.

She was a native of Holmes County, born and reared in the family home near Lexington. She was a member of the Harlands Creek Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Friday from the Coxburg Methodist Church with the Rev. Roy D. Raddin officiating.

Survivors are four brothers, Rufus Netherland, Lexington; Vernon Netherland, B. L. Netherland, Eden; W. B. Netherland, Memphis; two sisters, Mrs. Ama Wallis, Lexington and Mrs. J. E. Stewart, Lexington.

Southern Funeral Home of Lexington was in charge of arrangements.

Her nephews served as pallbearers.

At University Hospital

Bobby Cauthen is critically ill at University Hospital, Room 531, in Jackson. Bobby's mother, Mrs. Joe Cauthen is second grade teacher in the Lexington School.

BLANKET OF WHITE COVERS HOLMES COUNTY: A three and three-fourths inch snow covered Holmes County along with the rest of the state Tuesday of this week making the roads and highways virtually impassable. Above scene on Westwood in Lexington is typical of the many beautiful snow scenes available — if one could get out and see them.

Holmes Editor Is Target Of Vicious Smear Campaign

Sovereignty Commission, Citizens' Council Joined By Senator Williams In Attack

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith, editor of two Holmes County newspapers, The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News, became the chief target of a vicious statewide smear campaign initiated by and using the combined facilities of the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission and the Mississippi Citizens' Councils last week.

These two organizations, both of which are supported with state tax funds, were materially assisted in their joint undertaking by Holmes County State Senator T. M. Williams, who made a personal attack on Mrs. Smith in a speech on the Senate floor Thursday, thereby making certain the widest possible publicity was received.

The attempted smear took the form of a mailing from the state office of the Mississippi Citizens' Councils, located at 115 Howard Street in Greenwood, which went reportedly to all the newspapers of the state and was distributed to all members of the Legislature. In addition, Sen. Williams said they were mailed to "all of the people of Holmes County."

The mailing included a photo copy of a four-page December 16th edition of the "Mississippi Free Press," a Negro weekly newspaper printed by Mrs. Smith in the commercial printing department of her newspaper plant at Lexington. A heavy border at the top of the nameplate of the paper was used around two lines of type which said: "This is a reproduction of a paper being printed at Lexington, Miss., by Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith, Editor of the Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News."

The second piece in the mailing was an affidavit executed in Hinds County on Jan. 2, 1962, by Albert Jones and A. L. Hopkins, which stated that on Friday night, December 15, 1961 at 8:20 p. m. the two men "being together at the time" observed a meeting at an office building in Jackson the window of which bore the name of "Mississippi Free Press." A. L. (Albert) Jones, a former sheriff of Hinds County, is director of the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission and Mr. Hopkins, known widely as "Andy", a former member of the Highway Patrol, is a full-time investigator of the Sovereignty Commission.

Jones and Hopkins stated in the affidavit that those attending this "meeting" included the editor and her husband, Walter Dyer Smith.

Mrs. Smith's Statement

Mrs. Smith said: "The purpose of this affidavit was to make it appear that I was meeting and consorting with Negro integration leaders. Therein lies the smear which is but one more incident of a continuing campaign against me which began in 1954; with the organization of the Citizens' Council in Holmes County.

Then she said flatly: "There was no 'meeting' at the Mississippi Free Press office attended by me and my husband on December 15th, or at any other time, before or since. Nor has there been an integration meeting anywhere else at any time attended by us. The only time I have ever been in the Free Press office, and that has not been over two or three times, has been either to deliver the papers or collect for printing them. I have never been there long enough to even sit down. This despicable effort by Mr. Jones and Mr. Hopkins to try to make it appear that I am plotting with Negroes or anyone else is unworthy of American citizens, much less Southern gentlemen. I am ashamed of them.

"But I cannot get worked up even over this when I know that both of these men take their orders from the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission of which State Rep. Wilburn Hooker is a member.

Mrs. Smith continued:

"I cannot get excited over the Citizens' Council mailing. They have been doing this thing undercover against other good citizens for years now. This is just the first time it's been brought out in the open so dramatically. I am mindful too, that the Citizens' Council takes its orders from its State Executive Committee, of which State Rep Wilburn Hooker is also a member. He has been since the statewide Citizens' Council came into being. He and Sen. Williams were two of the principal organizers of the Citizens Council in Holmes County

"I know also, as do all the people in Holmes County, that Mr. Hooker was an organizer along with Sen. Williams and is the principal financial support of the Holmes County Herald, an opposition newspaper founded in Lexington nearly three years ago, to put me out of business, simply because I will not take orders from or be controlled by the Holmes County bosses, foremost of whom is Hooker.

"Now Mr. Hooker is trying desperately to save the Holmes County Herald, which would have gone under a long time ago without outside help, as everyone knows, so that he can tell the people of Holmes County only what he wants them to hear—and you can rest assured the Herald will never print even a suggestion of criticism against their fairhaired boy.

"In fact, even the bare suggestion that Mr. Hooker might be less than perfect, as implied, not stated, in my page one editorial of December 28th was probably what provoked this latest attack on me from the Sovereignty Commission and the Citizens' Council.

"Does anyone think for one moment that either of these spy and smear groups would have dared act against me without the direct order or specific approval of one of their bosses—and Mr. Hooker is a boss of the Sovereignty Commission and the state Citizens' Council, being a member of the governing bodies of both.

Present Question

"The question Holmes County citizens must decide now is whether they want to continue to have a newspaper open to all the people of the county, a newspaper that will honestly protect and defend their right to know, a newspaper that will print the truth and not bow down to a boss-controlled clique which uses economic pressure, reprisals and intimidations of all kinds, to hold an entire county in terror."

"I have no doubt whatever as to the outcome.

"The vast majority of the people of Holmes County, and I am speaking of the approximately 7000 white people are completely disgusted with the continuing efforts of Hooker and his gang to try to force the Holmes degrees.

(Continued on Page Two)

Not only Holmes County, but most of Mississippi was covered with snow, requiring the closing of many highways throughout the state.

Schools Close

All schools in the county closed early Tuesday morning or by noon and children sent home on busses before roads were too badly covered. Students will be advised when to return to school.

Telephone Service

According to Mrs. Dora Pearl Tidwell, chief optrator in the Lexington office, about fifty per cent of the toll lines are out but all local lines are all right. Mrs. Tidwell said, "the girls worked ten hours Tuesday in order to answer the many calls of patrons." Every available girl with the company was called in to work.

County offices, including the Welfare Department, Health Department, and Holmes Extension workers were closed. Also all branches of the Holmes County Library.

Thawing Pipes

Zero temperatures, which are predicted, brought a warning from Fire Chief Billy Rathell against thawing frozen water pipes with blow torches or other forms of fire.

Chief Rathell advised residents to use common sense if their pipes freeze.

"It could save their lives and their property."

He said the best way to thaw a frozen pipe is to wrap it in rags and pour hot water over the wrapping.

Most of the business firms and stores in the county remained open for business as usual.

Lexington Will Host Basketball Tournament January 19-20; Schedule Listed For Event

Lexington High School will host the Holmes County Basketball Tournament on January 19-20. Games will begin on Friday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

The schedule is as follows:

On Friday at 5:00 the Tchula girls will meet the Goodman girls. At 7:30 Lexington girls and Durant girls will play.

At 6:15 the Durant and Tchula boys will compete and at 8:45 Goodman and Lexington boys will be matched.

Finals will be played at 7:00 ad 8:15 p. m. on Saturday.

Officials are Lester Lyon and Howard Stubb.

Admission is twenty-five cents for students and fifty-cents for adults.

Telephone Lines Are Constructed In Holmes

A construction crew of the Southern Bell Telephone Company is busy this week building rural lines between Lexington and Tchula.

Work began this week and construction of the new lines will enable better service in the area.

paternal grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Lepard of Kosciusko, four brothers and two sisters.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Tate

Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie Lou Rodgers Tate will be held today (Thursday) at 3:00 p. m. from the Southern Funeral Home Chapel in Lexington, with the Rev. P. D. Bragg officiating.

Mrs. Tate, 71, died Tuesday night at 8:45 in the Holmes County Community Hospital after several weeks illness.

She had made her home in Holmes County for a number of years, where she will be missed by a host of friends. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Lexington.

Survivors are two sons, Irby Lee Tate, Lexington; Earl Tate, Belzoni; a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Sisson, Lubbock, Texas; three brothers, Longino Rodgers, Belzoni; Leroy Rodgers, Greenville; Cunningham Rodgers, Lexington; three sisters, Mrs. Lillie McLellan, Lexington; Mrs. Nettie Truitt, Lexington; Mrs. Anzie Lee Williamson, Meridian; and several grandchildren.

Pallbearers were John Massey Calvin Moore, Leslie Farmer, Albert Sanford, M. D. Bruce, Jack Farmer, Irby Ellington and J. L. Mayo.

From Jackson

Mrs. Reynolds Cheney of Jackson arrived Monday to spend the day with her son, the Rev. Reynolds Cheney, II, Mrs. Cheney and Antoinette.

State Gestapo Rule

Personal And Press Freedom Are At Stake

(An Editorial)

For the first time in the history of this great and wonderful state its legislative chambers have been subverted and used to launch a campaign of criminal conspiracy and abuse against a private citizen by a tax-supported agency of the state and a professional hate-peddling organization which illegally has its hands in the pocket of every taxpayer. This abusive conspiracy against me and my newspaper was further aided by Holmes County Senator T. M. Williams in a speech on the Senate floor.

I claim my right as a free American and as a citizen of a once-free state to be heard. It is not for myself alone that I speak, but for all freedom-loving citizens who do not want the Citizens' Council to take over our state.

The smear campaign begun on a statewide basis against me last week by the State Sovereignty Commission and the Mississippi Citizens' Council is eloquent and convincing evidence that the freedom of every citizen is at stake. This is the issue each of us must face individually and decide, especially the members of the Legislature who vote the money to finance the operation of the Sovereignty Commission and furnish a large portion of the funds of the Citizens' Council which are channeled to it by the Sovereignty Commission in clear defiance of constitutional authority.

The funds to the Citizens' Council should be stopped immediatelly and the Sovereignty Commission abolished.

This unholy combination of the Sovereignty Commission with its statewide network of paid spies (and we now have its own sworn affidavit that it is spying) and the vicious and dictatorial Citizens' Council (which tries to destroy anyone who does not conform totally and absolutely to its line) is a menace to every citizen and is to be no less dreaded and feared than the Gestapo of Hitler's Germany and the paid informers of the Communist conspiracy.

If we lose our personal freedom, what does it matter what our masters call themselves?

The smear and insinuations against me circulated by the Citizens' Council out of its state office at Greenwood are relatively unimportant as to content and charges. Had I been guilty of the worst possible implications that could have been taken from them, which I am not, I still would not be guilty of having done anything illegal or morally wrong. The people of my home county know it. So do the informed newspapers of the state and all other interested and intelligent citizens.

Despite the false implications of the affidavit signed by Albert Jones, director of the Sovereignty Commission, and Andy Hopkins, its paid agent, this battle is not an integration-segregation controversy at all, as they apparently would have you believe.

* * * *

The real question at issue here is the same today as it has been since July

(Continued on Page Two)

Personal And Press Freedom Are At Stake

(Continued from Page One)

of 1954 when the fight against me began in Holmes County — because I published a news story and editorially condemned the Holmes County Sheriff for shooting a Negro in the back. It is a question of the right of a free press, the right of a newspaper to print the truth and make fair comment. My position then was upheld by the Mississippi Supreme Court in a unanimous decision rendered in November, 1955, and I was cited and commended for my service to press freedom in Mississippi and America by a unanimous vote of the Mississippi Press Association, an association composed of every daily and weekly newspaper in the state.

The struggle that began then has continued until this day without letup and my opponents, some seeking revenge, have used every conceivable means to try to discredit and hurt me and alienate my friends and supporters throughout the county and state.

This small but highly vocal and in some quarters, influential clique has inspired boycotts, economic pressures and reprisals and other forms of intimidation which climaxed three years ago in the organization of an opposing weekly, the Holmes County Herald in Lexington, a community of 2700 population which can barely support one newspaper.

* * * *

Puzzled legislators, and other interested citizens, too, will get a clearer picture of the situation if they read the page one editorial in the December 28th edition of The Lexington Advertiser — an editorial which clearly shows the methods and tactics of my opponents, notably State Rep. Wilburn Hooker, and may well explain why the attack was made at this time. Mr. Hooker is a close associate of Sen. Williams, and with him an organizer and supporter of the competing newspaper, the Holmes County Herald.

Among others associated in the latter enterprise were former State Rep. Edwin White, Holmes County Citizens' Council Chairman William Moses and other Citizens' Council leaders. This group was aided and supported by a number of bootleggers, and bootlegger-sympathizers whom I have been fighting for years in order that our

Does any member of the Legislature, or any private citizen think for one moment that either the Sovereignty Commission or the state's Citizens' Council would dare move against any person in any county of the state without the direction, advise or consent of one of its own directors in the same county?

I think not and the majority of people in Mississippi are of the same opinion.

* * * *

Mississippi stands today upon the threshold of her brightest hour, economically speaking. But man does not live by bread alone. He cherishes his personal freedom, without which he is no better off than the people in the Communist-controlled countries. The spiritual values which we as a people hold above all else compel us to have a decent regard for the dignity of all men and live our lives and build our society on a policy of love, not hate, on faith and hope, not fear and despair. In this direction lies the growth and development of a magnificient Mississippi in which all races may live in mutual respect and pride — and only in this direction can we achieve real racial peace and harmony and our own happiness and prosperity. We cannot hold down more than 42 per cent of our entire state population without staying down ourselves — and all intelligent people know it.

This greatest of all nations was not built by men who were afraid. The Magnolia State was not carved out of a wilderness by the fearful and timid. And we cannot live and truly progress in today's atmosphere of fear — an atmosphere engendered by the Citizens' Council and its professional agitators who apparently are now running our state and setting its policies, even to the point of intimidating the Legislature. The average Mississippian has no authority or voice in the local Councils. They have been taken over by the professional politicians, although they were organized on a non-political basis. And the little people are supposed to "go along" and not ask questions.

Gestapo rule in Mississippi? It is nearer than we think.

Responsible, dedicated, courageous

March of Dimes 1962 Poster Girl Spends a Busy Day at Her Home

THE DAY BEGINS — Five-year-old Debbie Sue Brown, who was born with an open spine, wakes up to a good-morning kiss from her mother, Mrs. Barbara Brown, in their home in Clarkston, Wash. Now a happy, active child, it was once feared Debbie Sue had only three months to live because of her serious birth defect.

DRIES BREAKFAST DISHES—Despite the braces she needs for both legs, Debbie Sue helps mommie around the house. She dusts, watches over her one-year-old sister, Carla, and helps feed 15 pet rabbits the family keeps. Local National Foundation-March of Dimes chapter helps finance her medical care.

SWINGING AWAY — Debbie Sue swings merrily. She is one of more than 250,000 infants born each year in this country with a significant birth defect. Debbie Sue, chosen from many candidates as 1962 New March of Dimes poster girl, symbolizes all victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio.

AND SO TO BED—Debbie Sue says her evening prayers confident of a fine day tomorrow. A finer future for millions afflicted by crippling disease is brought closer through each contribution to the 1962 New March of Dimes to finance research, medical care, professional and public education.

George Phillip Taylor Dies In Greenwood

George Phillip Taylor, former Holmes countian, died at his

Looking Ahead

and distribution.

The New "Line"

The answer, from the "liberal" point of view: let the government take over. Yet, it is almost too obvious that when the government is free to print money and manipulate it at

Behind The Scenes . . .

American Business

By Reynolds Knight

Moderate consumer price increases are waiting in the wings and will appear shortly, according to the latest economic forefasts.

The brisk pace of consumer spending, coupled with rising industrial productivity, will inevitably force the price line upward in coming months. Although the rise will be slight, it will affect both industrial and consumer products, say the experts.

During the past year prices have remained relatively stable; indeed, in several periods, showed slight declines. But recent consumer spending patterns, if they continue, are bound to result in higher price tags for consumer goods. Look for the disappearance of big clearance sales, generous discounts and other obvious bids for consumer dollars during the next few months.

* * * *

Credit Strength

Consumers are beginning the new year in a "strong" credit position, according to L. Walter Lundell, president of C.I.T. Financial Corporation, the nation's largest consumer and industrial financing institution.

Instalment obligations have been repaid at a rapid pace during the past 12 months, consumer savings have increased, and substantial improvement is evident in factory wages and employment indices, he noted. A "continuing sales increase" is in prospect for the automotive, low-cost housing and other consumer-oriented industries for which C.I.T. provides instalment financing, he said.

"In 1962 instalment credit will take on added significance as a sturdy partner in our mass-production and mass-consumption economy," he observed. "The turnover of instalment credit, with millions of consumers assume new instalment obligations, continues to constitute a dynamic and constructive force in the current business upturn."

The new year, Mr. Lundell said, should see "a consistent but orderly increase" in the use of credit by both businessmen and consumers.

* * * *

Earthy Orbits

The newest advance in aerospace testing technology — a "ground-orbiting" space chamber designed to test entire space vehicles and systems — will save considerable time and tax-million units, with an estimated value at factory prices in excess of $175 million," according to Walter A. Scheaffer II, president of the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Company.

These figures compare with 570 million units, valued at $135 million, produced in 1960, he said. They're based on reports from more than 70 firms in the writing instrument industry.

Unit-wise, production of ballpoints will lead the field again in 1962, and cartridge fountain pens will continue to show sizeabe gains, Mr. Sheaffer predicted. Currently more than one-third of all fountain pen dollar volume is attributable to the cartridge-filled type, he said. In spite of the tremendous popularity of ballpoints in recent years, the industry manufactured and sold more fountain pens in 1960 than in any previous year he noted.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS REVIEW

JACKSON AREA GETS BIG NEW INDUSTRY

Announcement of a new manufacturing pant to be constructed in the Jackson area was made December 28 by G. Dewey Hynes, executive vice president of General Cable Corporation. Hynes announced that his company would build a plant approximately 100,000 square feet, (to be completed in 1963) which would employ a minimum of 250 people. General Cable is a major manufacturer of electrical and communication wire and cable.

* * * *

HUNTSVILLE BOOM OF INTEREST TO HANCOCK

A recent report from Huntsville, Alabama, home of the Redstone Arsenal, indicates what Hancock county might have to look forward to as the site of a Saturn moon rocket test facility, since the test center in Mississippi will operate under the Alabama unit, both under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The annual payroll of the Red stone Arsenal was estimated at $170,000,000 in a recent Associated Press story from Huntsville. Anoter estimate in the story was that the operation which can barely support one newspaper.

* * * *

Puzzled legislators, and other interested citizens, too, will get a clearer picture of the situation if they read the page one editorial in the December 28th edition of The Lexington Advertiser — an editorial which clearly shows the methods and tactics of my opponents, notably State Rep. Wilburn Hooker, and may well explain why the attack was made at this time. Mr. Hooker is a close associate of Sen. Williams, and with him an organizer and supporter of the competing newspaper, the Holmes County Herald.

Among others associated in the latter enterprise were former State Rep. Edwin White, Holmes County Citizens' Council Chairman William Moses and other Citizens' Council leaders. This group was aided and supported by a number of bootleggers, and bootlegger-sympathizers whom I have been fighting for years in order that our people might have a decent county in which to live. The new newspaper was organized for one purpose—to put me out of business — principally because they cannot control my news and editorial policies, policies incidentally, that have never advocated integration of the races.

* * * *

State Rep. Hooker is a member of both the Sovereignty Commission and State Executive Committee of the Mississippi Citizens' Council.

As a state legislator he votes taxpayers' money to the Sovereignty Commission and as a member of the Sovereignty Commission he donates tax money to the Citizens' Council.

Is this morally or legally defensible? I think not.

But when Rep. Hooker uses his office and the power he attained through the gift of the people of Holmes County to persecute any citizen of our county for any reason whatsoever, then his position is truly indefensible.

and prosperity. We cannot hold down more than 42 per cent of our entire state population without staying down ourselves — and all intelligent people know it.

This greatest of all nations was not built by men who were afraid. The Magnolia State was not carved out of a wilderness by the fearful and timid. And we cannot live and truly progress in today's atmosphere of fear — an atmosphere engendered by the Citizens' Council and its professional agitators who apparently are now running our state and setting its policies, even to the point of intimidating the Legislature. The average Mississippian has no authority or voice in the local Councils. They have been taken over by the professional politicians, although they were organized on a non-political basis. And the little people are supposed to "go along" and not ask questions.

Gestapo rule in Mississippi? It is nearer than we think.

Responsible, dedicated, courageous leadership is the crying need of the hour — and Governor Ross Barnett and members of the Mississippi Legislature have the authority and the means to provide that leadership. We need leaders who will step out in front and lead, and not continue to follow blindly the dictates of the Citizens' Council.

We beg Governor Barnett and the gentlemen of the Legislature to cast off the shackles of the Citizens' Councils and their negative policies that bind Mississippi to a course which leads ultimately down the road to the point of return — and guarantees many bitter days in between. We beg you, instead, to adopt a positive attitude to our racial problems and attempt to solve them on a basis of Christian charity and fair play so that, working together, in an atmosphere of mutual trust, we may claim the bright future that is rightfully ours.

Hazel Brannon Smith

Holmes Editor Is—

(Continued from Page One)

County Herald down their unwilling throats. The 20,000 or more Negroes in Holmes County barely know it exists. They have steadfastly refused to have anything to do with it, even when the Herald added around 800 of them to the mailing list, seeking their favor. Even then they couldn't force them to read or subscribe to the Herald, so most of their names have been removed."

"It is tragic that Rep Hooker, Sen. Williams and their associates are willing to use their elective offices and these vicious tactics and methods to try to discredit me when, for the past 25 years, all of my adult life spent here in Holmes County, I have done nothing more than print the truth and meet issues as forthrightly as possible as they develop. I have not gone out looking for issues. I have been fair to the people of both races in the columns of my newspapers because I know this is the only basis upon which we can build sound racial relations in the county and state. The white people of Holmes County and Mississippi of good will feel the same way.

"When a white sheriff without reason shoots a Negro in the back, as happened in my county on July 3, 1954, I cannot look the other way. To do so would condone the crime and that I cannot do. Nor can I sit idly by and not condemn such action. The libel suit filed then from this action is the root trouble of everything that has heppened here since. My position was upheld unanimously by the Mississippi Supreme Court and I was commended by the Mississippi Press Association.

"We have the best Negro citizens in the world in Holmes County and there is no racial trouble or unrest threatening the public peace. There is no one that I know of, least of all me, who is trying to change this.

"But if Mr. Hooker and Mr. Williams continue in their present course they will make certain that we do have trouble here, as elsewhere in the state where fear controls the people and their leaders.

"I challenge these two gentlemen to live up to their responsibilities as public officials in a statesmanlike way, instead of their present course of petty politics, so that the people of Holmes County and Mississippi will be better served and that the state and all its people may advance on all fronts. I have endured their abuse and persecution almost silently now for more than seven years simply because I did not want to wash the dirty linen of Holmes County in public — and their attacks on me, if exposed. I knew would receive national publicity as they probably now realize.

"Now that these gentlemen by their own actions have invited this publicity, I shall endeavour to see that the people of Mississippi and the nation learn the truth, all of it."

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, January 11, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.) _____ Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

SWINGING AWAY — Debbie Sue swings merrily. She is one of more than 250,000 infants born each year in this country with a significant birth defect. Debbie Sue, chosen from many candidates as 1962 New March of Dimes poster girl, symbolizes all victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio.

AND SO TO BED—Debbie Sue says her evening prayers confident of a fine day tomorrow. A finer future for millions afflicted by crippling disease is brought closer through each contribution to the 1962 New March of Dimes to finance research, medical care, professional and public education.

George Phillip Taylor Dies In Greenwood

George Phillip Taylor, former Holmes countian, died at his home in Greenwood Tuesday about 9:30 a. m. after an extended illness. He was 62.

Mr. Phil, as he was known to his friends, made his home on Horseshoe near Tchula for a number of years. He was a member of the Horsehoe Baptist Church, and a retired farmer.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at 10:00 a. m. from the Tchula Baptist Church with the Rev. Roy D. Raddin officiating. Interment will be in Pinecrest Cemetery with Southern Funeral Home of Lexington in charge of arrangements.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Essie Mae Tate Taylor, Greenwood; a son Hugh Taylor, of Greenwood; five daughters, Mrs. James Nash, Morrisville, North Carolina; Mrs. Charles Reeves, Greenwood; Mrs. George Hogge, Virginia; Mrs. Earl Davidson, Florida; Mrs. Griffin Cholfont, Marietta, Georgia; a brother, Joe Taylor, Lexnigton; three sisters, Mrs. Lloyd Rogers Vaiden; Mrs. Louise Tate, Lexington; and Mrs. N. A. Tardy, Winona.

Lexington P. O. Gets New Trim, Paint Job

The Lexington Post Office Building is undergoing a facelifting this week. All trim work on the outside of the building is being redone.

Tuck masonry pointing is being aplied to all stone and brick, which consists of cleaning and replacing mortar.

The entire interior of the extension department is being repainted..

George E. Jensen Contractors, Inc. of Mobile, Alabama are doing the work. Work began the latter part of last week and is expected to be completed by January 16, weather permitting.

Mr. Joseph Gee Salley Rites Held In Gulfport

Mr. and Mrs. Lute Ellison, Mrs. C. O. Sudbeck and Mrs. Maud Legate attended the funeral of their uncle, Mr. Joseph Gee Salley in Gulfport on Sunday, January 7th.

Mr. Salley died Thursday night in Gulfport after a lengthy illness. Other survivors are his wife, Mrs. Lela Salley, a son Roy Salley, Mrs. Salley and two grandsons, all of Gulfport; two sisters in Texas.

Sympathy is exended the family here, where he has many other near relatives.

Looking Ahead

By Dr. George S. Benson., Pres National Education Program Searcy, Ark

THE USES OF INFLATION

One of the strange paradoxes of our time is that in our political life today those who so proudly march under the "liberal" banner often are really not champions of freedom at all. This column has been making this observation, off and on, for almost two decades It is a mistake, of course, to call all liberals Communists. Relatively few left-leaning "liberals" have carried cards in the Communist Party; even extreme liberals are not especially wanted inside the party, for they accomplish its goals more easily outside.

It does seem that "liberals" are becoming increasingly aware of flaws in the collectivist arguments. I believe that many sincere Americans are today examining critically the reasons for their political faith and that many of them are re-discovering the bed-rock principles upon which this nation's achievements are based. Some Americans, long accustomed to looking with suspicion upon "capital" or "property" while listening to the orators plead for "human" rights, are realizing that any planned economy leads to a net loss of freedom and human values.

Thirst For Power

Dr. Melchoir Palyi, in his "An Inflation Primer" (Chicago: Henry Regnery Company, $4), has shown why this is so. The planned economy, he insists, cannot operate without inflation, nor can inflation be planned. The patterns of slow inflation, however, are apparent to managers and manipulators. Without a sound budget and credit system that will conserve and restrain the currency, the "patronage state" (misnamed welfare state, he says) can run wild. The politicians and others then have power to manage the economy and dispose of patronage as they please.

"In ultimate analysis," Dr. Palyi says, "it boils down to the choice between a free, competitive-market economy and a statist or collectivist system run by political fiat." The collectivist minded liberal, you see, does not like the free enterprise system. He usually assumes, falsely of course, that the free market system will not work, or that it results in depressions or recessions. His real objection, however, is that it deprives him of the exercise of real power over the control of production and distribution.

The New "Line"

The answer, from the "liberal" point of view: let the government take over. Yet, it is almost too obvious that when the government is free to print money and manipulate it at will, you no longer have a free country. "Currency manipulation is not only a characteristic of every collectivist society; it its the safest and surest way to colectivize every society," says Dr. Palyi. The collectivists, he explains, are no dreamers. They know what they want. They will use inflation as one means of gaining and holding power.

In describing the current status of creeping inflation, Dr. Palyi refers to a new "line" which is now being advanced on a broad front. This is the idea the U. S. must always "move ahead," that "growth" is important enough as "to justify more public spending, taxing, inflating, and meddling." There are good and sufficient reasons for rejecting this new "line." He unmasks this subterfuge, showing that the same old purpose is evident, to win friends and influence votes, under all sorts of humanitarian slogans that appeal to the greed of any groups that have the votes.

Toward Full Controll

"Crawling inflation is a very convenient avenue for the redistribution of incomes and wealth, a most effective subsidiary to discriminatory taxation, political patronage, governmental meddling, and outright corruption. Even the tightrope act of 'balancing' the economy between booms and recessions necessitatets a host of incisive fiscal and monetary maneuvers. And should the inflation get out of hand, the collectivist stands ready with price, profit, and wage controls . . . The greater the calamity brought about by inflation, the broader the power he is likely to acquire to combat the inflation. . . ."

"A word about the collectivist is appropriate. He is not Communist, oh no! Frequently, he claims to be a believer in economic freedom, with a bit of money management super-imposed. But on some basic points his thinking happens to coincide with the Kremiin line. Growth at any price, his ultimate ideal, is straight out of the bolshevist horse's mouth. And (changing the metaphor) he rides that horse for all it is worth."

REMEMBER THE BIRDS

Even here in the South where the winters are mild many species of birds have difficulty in finding sufficient food during a severe winter, especially during periods of heavy ice or snow. Bread crumbs, suet, small grain chick feed will bring many birds to the grounds as daily winter visitors.

and substantial improvement is evident in factory wages and employment indices, he noted. A "continuing sales increase" is in prospect for the automotive, low-cost housing and other consumer-oriented industries for which C.I.T. provides instalment financing, he said.

"In 1962 instalment credit will take on added significance as a sturdy partner in our mass-production and mass-consumption economy," he observed. "The turnover of instalment credit, with millions of consumers assume new instalment obligations, continues to constitute a dynamic and constructive force in the current business upturn."

The new year, Mr. Lundell said, should see "a consistent but orderly increase" in the use of credit by both businessmen and consumers.

* * * *

Earthy Orbits

The newest advance in aerospace testing technology — a "ground-orbiting" space chamber designed to test entire space vehicles and systems — will save considerable time and taxpayer dollars in future years, a leading aerospace manufacturer, the Bendix Corporation, predicts.

The down-to-earth space chamber developed last year can test complete space craft or component parts in a simulated space atmosphere. According to Louis B. Young, general manager of the Bendix Systems Division, the new space chamber, which "exceeded all specifications" in its recent initial test, can achieve simulated heights of 250 miles, a vacuum that eliminates 99.99 per cent of the earth's atmosphere, conditions of intense solar heat and cold, and the acceleration and the deceleration conditions of actual orbital spae flight.

The space chamber is the heart of a multi-million-dollar Bendix space laboratory that will be in full operation early this year. The new facility will significantly reduce the cost and time involved in testing new spacecraft and related systems, Mr. Young said.

Small Stuff

Some of the biggest industrial achievements of 1961 were in the field of miniaturization, according to an executive whose firm's newest product won last year's "Miniaturization Award."

William O. Bennett, vice president for research and engineering of the Bulova Watch Company, Inc., said his firm's "Accutron" electronic timepiece — which won the award in competition against 116 other entries—contains a complete electronic system and power source within a wrist-size watch. The "Accutron" is guaranteed to be accurate to one-minute-a-month in daily use, and has been used in U. S. satellite and industrial programs since being introduced.

Other entries in the miniaturization competition included a two-phase electric motor 1/64 inch square, an a-c timing motor 9/32 inches long and weighing 1/9 ounce, a surgical needle .008 inches in diameter, and a tiny computer "memory" unit that reduced from 10,000 watts to 1 watt the power needed to run a computer containing a million "computer logic" circuits.

* * * *

Pen Pals

The nation's pen manufacturers are looking to 1962 as the year in which production will hit the one-billion-unit mark for the first time, an industry says.

"Combined production of fountain pens, ballpoints and mechanical pencils in 1961 probably will total well over 950 ufacturing plant to be constructed in the Jackson area was made December 28 by G. Dewey Hynes, executive vice president of General Cable Corporation. Hynes announced that his company would build a plant approximately 100,000 square feet, (to be completed in 1963) which would employ a minimum of 250 people. General Cable is a major manufacturer of electrical and communication wire and cable.

* * * *

HUNTSVILLE BOOM OF INTEREST TO HANCOCK

A recent report from Huntsville, Alabama, home of the Redstone Arsenal, indicates what Hancock county might have to look forward to as the site of a Saturn moon rocket test facility, since the test center in Mississippi will operate under the Alabama unit, both under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The annual payroll of the Red stone Arsenal was estimated at $170.000,000 in a recent Associated Press story from Huntsville. Anoter estimate in the story was that the operation pours $350,000.000 a year into the economy of Alabama. Location of the arsenal some ten years ago jumped Huntsville's population from 18,000 in 1950 to $72.000 today.

Although the Redstone Arsenal is Huntsville's major means of economic support, a Huntsville Industrial Expansion Committee is active on behalf of the city and Madison county, in which it is located. The committee recently hired a Mississippi industrialization expert, Guy E. Nerren, to attract new industry. Nerren until recently was assistant director of the industrial development department of the Delta Council, with headquarters at Stoneville, Mississippi.

Capitol News

By HEBER LADNER

BANNER YEAR FOR FARMERS

Mississippi farmers, using mechanical skill and technical knowledge, performed new feats in production in 1961. It was a banner year in which farmers made advances on nearly all farm fronts and established new records in some areas. Farmers set new records of production in soybeans, rice, pecans, peaches, broilers, commercial eggs and per acre yields of corn.

* * * *

MINERAL PRODUCTION

Mineral production in Mississippi during 1961 had a value of 5.3 per cent over 1960's figure. Petroleum, natural gas liquid, and natural gas accounted for ninety one per cent of the state's mineral production. Overall production of nonmetallic minerals increased due to the highway and industrial construction needs. The figure includes clay, sand and gravel, potassium compounds, anhydrous ammonia, and glass sands.

* * * *

GOOD TIME TO CHECK ON FARM MACHINERY

The winter lull affords a good opportunity for Mississippi farmers to check their machinery and equipment for possible sources of danger before the spring planting season and field work gets under way. Improper adjustment of equipment and machinery often is at least a secondary factor in accidents, injuries and subsequent loss of working time during busy seasons.

Holmes County Women Win Awards From NMGC...

Mrs. Eric Norquist was honored by the Men's Garden Club of America at their national board meeting held Friday and Saturday at Hotel Heidelberg in Jackson.

Mrs. Norquist won the distinction through her efforts in assisting in the organization of the Lexington Men's Garden Club.

The men's club was organized recently and the following officers were elected: Allan Ramsey, president; William Moses, vice president; Ben Moore Hammett, secretary and treasurer.

The charter will be presented at a early date. The roll of membership remains open and flower growers are invited to join early enough to begin growing plants in the early spring.

Mrs. Norquist and Mr. Ramsey attended the banquet on Friday night when Mrs. Norquist received a certificate of appreciation from Mr. Bryant Horne of Jackson, the newly installed president of National MGCA. Mr. Horne stated that Mississippi has led the entire United States in number of ladies so honored.

HONORED FOR HELPING organize Men's Garden Clubs in Mississippi were, left to right, Mrs. Eric Norquist, Lexington; Mrs. Walton Gresham, Indianola; Mrs. Charles O. Dean, Leland; Mrs. Louise Durham, Durant; and Mrs. Lester Brown, Kosciusko.

Miss Pettus Hostess To New Year's Party

Miss Sally Pettus was hostess to a New Year's party, Friday, December 29th at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs Enos Pettus.

An out-of-town guest was Miss Carolyn Haddon of Greenwood, others attending were Miss Ann Burkley, Eddie Weems and Butch McNeer.

Music was by Stereo Hi-Fi, from albums by Elvis Presley, Conway Twitty and other popular records.

The hostess, assisted by her mother and Ann, servtd homemade holiday cookies and Coca-Colas.

Attend MGCA National Meeting

Mrs. Eric Norquist and Mrs. Zouella Bacon of Durant spent the wtekend at the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson and attended the meeting of the Men's Garden Club of America. Mrs. Norquist was an honor guest of the club.

Lexington Visitor

Mrs. Rudolph Gordon came to Lexington on Friday to accompany Mr. Gordon home. He was released from the Holmes County Community Hospital after a four weeks stay. Friends will be glad to know he is re-

Ricky Wynn Brooks Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Joy W. Brooks honored her son Ricky Wynn Brooks on his seventh birthday Saturday, January 6th at her home on Cedar St.

About ten close friends from the first grade, who have been classed with Ricky since kinderten days attended.

Boy's games were played indoors and out. The ring toss game was won by the team led by Olin Dunn Jr., and his teammates were Gary Willoughby and Jim Hughes.

The table was centered with a birthday cake flanked by crystal candelabra holding pale blue candles. The cake was decorated in blue and white icing tiny blue candles and a group of five fuzzy circus animals The favors were miniature prehistoric animals and birds which delighted the boys.

Also used as favors were baloons with a happy birthday motif matching the plates, cups and napkins.

Mrs. Brooks, assisted by Ricky's grandmother, Mrs. Ellis

News Of Women

SOCIETY ★ CLUBS ★ PERSONALS

Carl Wesley Legate Born In Natchez

Mrs. Maud Legate is the proud grandmother of a new grandson born to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Legate of Natchez, who has been named Carl Wesley Legate.

Carl was born Saturday, December 30th at the Jefferson Davis Hospital in Natchez and weighed eight and one half pounds. He has a brother, Dennis and sister, Claudia to welcome him.

The paternal grandparents are

Mr. Moses Speaks To Lexington H. D. Club

Mr. William Moses, County Civil Defense chairman was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Lexington Home Demonstration Club at City Hall on Thursday, January 4th.

Mrs. W. T. Holder and Mrs. T. M. Williams served as cohostess, and Mrs. Howard Terry, president, presided over the meeting. The opening song, "America" was led by Miss Mary Harpole, and the devotional was given by Mrs. Wil-

Attends Meeting

Mr. Allan Ramsey attended the national meeting in Jackson of the Men's Garden Club of America on Friday and Saturday.

Cheney Jackson Home Scene Of Debutante Tea

Mrs. Reynolds Cheney, her mother, Mrs. Garner W. Green and daughter, Miss Winifred Cheney were hostesses at a debut party on Saturday, December 29th honoring nine debutantes, at the Reynolds Cheney home on Riverside Drive in Jackson.

Yellow and white spring flowers adorned the home for a lovely tea given by Mrs. Cheney, her mother and daughter. Gladioli and snapdragons in the color scheme were displayed in the entrance hall and family room. The mantel in the living room was the focal point of the many beautiful arrangements with fanshaped designs of white gladioli in crystal vases.

The dining table was draped with a white Venetian banquet cloth with lace medallions over yellow satin. The centerpiece was a silver epergne holding white chrysanthemums and yellow snapdragons.

Mrs. Cheney wore a dress of midnight blue lace and chiffon, Mrs. Green wore pastel blue lace and Miss Cheney chose a white cotton brocade with a magenta cummerbund.

In Hospital

Friends of Mr. S. E. Henry are sorry to know that he is a patient in the Holmes County Community Hospital, and hope he will be up and out again soon.

Worship together this Sunday!

Holmes County Community Hospital

White Patients

Mrs. Sarah Malone, Lexington
Mrs. Mary Thornton, Lexington
Mrs. Esther Russell, Lexington
Mrs. Mable Russell, Lexington
Mrs. Olivia Wilkerson, Lexington
Mrs. Marie Young, Lexington
W. M. Winborn, Jackson
Ben Carnathan, Durant
Gaston Grantham, Lexington
Miss Charlie Harrison, Lexington
Miss Patsy Estes, Tchula
Miss Carolyn Rathell, Lexington
Mrs. Charlie Lundy, Lexington
Mr. Jim Bradley, Lexington
Mrs. A. P. Shepard, Lexington
Mrs. Mary Frost, Lexington
Mrs. Gordon Ellington, Lexington
Mrs. James Martin, Lexington
George Self, Tchula
Vardaman Ables, Lexington
Mrs. Mary Perry, Thornton
Mrs. John A. Lepard, Goodman
Baby Girl Lepard
Mrs. Steve Neal, Lexington
Mrs. M. D. Bruce, Lexington
Mr. S. E. Henry, Lexington

Colored Patients

Julia Hampton
Tealy Rhyne, Jr.
Minnie Clark
Callie Scott
Caterine Ross
Janie Pearl Richmond
E. W. Ratliff
Gordon Rathell
Thornton Williams
Landers Sims

From Vicksburg

Messrs. Grayden and T. H. Johnson, Jr. of Vicksburg were business visitors in Lexington on Monday.

Veterans Of Foreign Wars Meets Tonight

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting tonight (Thursday), January 11th at 7:30 at the Veteran's Hut.

All members are urged to attend.

Holiday Guests

Mrs. R. M. Gwin, Mrs. L. P. Johnson, Mr. Jim Cunningham and the R. L. Peaster family enjoyed a series of family get-togethers during the holidays. On Wednesday they were luncheon guests at Mrs. Gwin's home; on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Johnson, where they were joined by Mrs. Betty Moore Leby; on Christmas Day all were dinner guests of the D. C. Peaster family.

To Nassau

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Watson, Jr. enjoyed a vacation in Nassau during the holidays. The children visited Mrs. Watson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Barron in Crystal Springs.

VALLEY MATTRESS & UPHOLSTERY
All Types
Mattress Renovating
Furniture Upholstered
All Work Called For And Delivered
Free Estimates
Phone 1292 — Wrenn St.
Kosciusko, Miss.

School Is Now
BACK IN SESSION--
DRIVE SAFELY
Protect Our Children!

December 29th at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs Enos Pettus.

An out-of-town guest was Miss Carolyn Haddon of Greenwood, others attending were Miss Ann Burkley, Eddie Weems and Butch McNeer.

Music was by Stereo Hi-Fi, from albums by Elvis Presley, Conway Twitty and other popular records.

The hostess, assisted by her mother and Ann, servtd homemade holiday cookies and Coca-Colas.

Attend MGCA National Meeting

Mrs. Eric Norquist and Mrs. Zouella Bacon of Durant spent the wtekend at the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson and attended the meeting of the Men's Garden Club of America. Mrs. Norquist was an honor guest of the club.

Lexington Visitor

Mrs. Rudolph Gordon came to Lexington on Friday to accompany Mr. Gordon home. He was released from the Holmes County Community Hospital after a four weeks stay. Friends will be glad to know he is recovering at his home in Pickens.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my many friends for their prayers, phone calls, visits and cards.

Special thanks to Dr. Brumby and all the nurses for their kindness and attention during my recent stay in the Holmes County Community Hospital.

May God bless each of you.

Luther L. Upton

Ricky Wynn Brooks Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Joy W. Brooks honored her son Ricky Wynn Brooks on his seventh birthday Saturday, January 6th at her home on Cedar St.

About ten close friends from the first grade, who have been classed with Ricky since kindergten days attended.

Boy's games were played indoors and out. The ring toss game was won by the team led by Olin Dunn Jr., and his teammates were Gary Willoughby and Jim Hughes.

The table was centered with a birthday cake flanked by crystal candelabra holding pale blue candles. The cake was decorated in blue and white icing tiny blue candles and a group of five fuzzy circus animals The favors were miniature prehistoric animals and birds which delighted the boys.

Also used as favors were baloons with a happy birthday motif matching the plates, cups and napkins.

Mrs. Brooks, assisted by Ricky's grandmother, Mrs. Ellis Wynn, served ice cream, punch and slices of birthday cake to those present.

To Jackson

Mr. Joe Braddock, accompanied by Mrs. Braddock, entered the Veteran's Hospital in Jackson on Monday.

From Acona

Mr. Hallie Terry was a business visitor in Lexington on Thursday.

News Of Women

SOCIETY ★ CLUBS ★ PERSONALS

Carl Wesley Legate Born In Natchez

Mrs. Maud Legate is the proud grandmother of a new grandson born to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Legate of Natchez, who has been named Carl Wesley Legate.

Carl was born Saturday, December 30th at the Jefferson Davis Hospital in Natchez and weighed eight and one half pounds. He has a brother, Dennis and sister, Claudia to welcome him.

The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Legate and the late Mr. Carl C. Legate; the maternal grandparents are Mrs. Roy Nevell and the late Mr. Nevel of Stover.

Carl and his mother were dismissed from the hospital on Wednesday, January 3rd and are now at home on Ridgewood Road in Natchez.

Undergoes Surgery

Friends will be sorry to learn that Tiny Downer is hospitalized in the Veteran's Hospital in Jackson. Surgery was peromed last week.

From Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Tate and children, Tack, Darrell and Dee-Dee of Jackson were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tidwell.

To Florida

Mr. and Mrs. John Kimbrough and childrtn, Bob, Kim and Betsy Alice spent a week during the holidays at Winterhaven, Florida.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this means of thanking my friends for the many kindnesses shown me during my stay in the Holmes County Community Hospital. I am now recovering at home and will be glad to have you come by to visit me.

With deep gratitude to each of you,

Rudolph Gordon
Pickens, Miss.

Mr. Moses Speaks To Lexington H. D. Club

Mr. William Moses, County Civil Defense chairman was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Lexington Home Demonstration Club at City Hall on Thursday, January 4th.

Mrs. W. T. Holder and Mrs. T. M. Williams served as cohostess, and Mrs. Howard Terry, president, presided over the meeting. The opening song, "America" was led by Miss Mary Harpole, and the devotional was given by Mrs. Williams by reading the Psalm 100 as a basis for her meditation, "Looking Ahead."

The roll call and the minutes were read by the secretary, Miss Addie Vic Bailey. During the business session, year books were filled in, hostesses for the year selected, study topics assigned, officers appointed to fill vacancies, contributions to Old Men's Home and Old Ladies' Home were made.

Mrs. Erwin Moore presented the study topic for the afternoon, and two new members were given a warm welcome; they are Mrs. Clifton Hughes and Mrs. H. H. Lehman.

In conclusion Mr. Moses gave a most informative and timely talk on Civil Defense.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to the twelve members present, the guests and Miss Harpole.

From MSU

Miss Emilie Flower of Mississippi State University was an overnight guest at home Saturday, on her return to the University from a school trip to Jackson on the weekend.

On Christmas Day

Mrs. V. L. Lawshe was remembered on Christmas Day with five trays from thoughtful neighbors. Mrs. Lawshe has difficulty in walking, due to arthritis, but remains cheerful at all times.

Patronize Our Advertisers —

Attends Meeting

Mr. Allan Ramsey attended the national meeting in Jackson of the Men's Garden Club of America on Friday and Saturday.

he will be up and out again soon.

Worship together th's Sunday!

From Vicksburg

Messrs. Grayden and T. H. Johnson, Jr. of Vicksburg were business visitors in Lexington on Monday.

Delivered
Free Estimates
Phone 1292 — Wrenn St.
Kosciusko, Miss.

You Don't Need
a rotator
two lead lines (and unnecessary switches)
a coupler

NOW... you can get clear, sharp TV pictures on CHANNELS 3-12-6 with this GREAT NEW PIGGY-BACK FINCO® TV ANTENNA custom engineered for Lexington

Model GJ312RB-6
Engineered and field tested on location here by the nationally famous

FINCO® mobile research laboratories in close cooperation with local servicemen.

COPYRIGHT 1960 THE FINNEY CO.

THE FINNEY COMPANY • BEDFORD, OHIO
THE WORLD'S FOREMOST MANUFACTURER OF TV ANTENNAS

THESE FIRMS WILL BE READY TO GIVE YOU THE FINCO STORY FIRST HAND
THE RILEY COMPANY, Lexington
THURMOND'S, Lexington
WESTERN AUTO STORE, Lexington

try the
GOLDEN FAVORITE

• Always bright, fresh, wholesome!
• Protein-rich . . . perfect-frying!
• Extra lean . . . government inspected!

BRYAN BROS. PACKING CO., WEST POINT, MISSISSIPPI

School Is Now
BACK IN SESSION--
DRIVE SAFELY
Protect Our Children!

FOLLOW THESE RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING

★ Be doubly careful near schools or where children play. Children don't realize the danger and may take chances. That's why you, the driver, must take extra care.

★ Slow down. Speed is dangerous at any time — doubly dangerous when visibility is cut by rain, fog, or darkness.

★ Keep lights and windshield wipers in good condition during rainy or snowy weather. You have to see danger to avoid it.

★ Keep your car in top mechanical condition. Use chains if roads are slippery — or in adverse weather.

★ Obey traffic laws. Know the traffic laws wherever you travel and don't break them.

★ If you drive, don't drink — if you drink, don't drive. Remember, death takes no holiday.

★ Be a courteous driver. Yield right-of-way, even when it should be yours. It's better to stay alive than to be dead right.

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

YOUR DIMES WILL DO IT AGAIN!
VACCINE
POLIO
BIRTH DEFECTS
ARTHRITIS
SO...SAY YES TO THE NEW
MARCH OF DIMES
THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION • FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, FOUNDER

January Is

MARCH OF DIMES MONTH

In Holmes County

This is a
Tri-Anniversary
Advertisement

125 YEARS
The Lexington Advertiser
TRI-ANNIVERSARY
EDITOR
HAZEL BRANNON SMITH
125 YEARS
THE DURANT NEWS
100 YEARS

honoring the Editor of
The Lexington Advertiser
and
The Durant News
and paid for by her friends.

HELP
HOLMES
CHILDREN
Grow Up
With Strong,
Healthy
Bodies

CONQUER

- ★ Polio
- ★ Birth Defects
- ★ Arthritis

Moreland-Wells Vows Exchanged Christmas Eve At Durant Church

Durant Methodist Church was the setting for the lovely candle-light wedding of Miss Alice Harriet Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Heath Wells of Durant, and Lloyd Patrick Moreland, son of Mrs. Earl Hammond Moreland of Lena and the late Mr. Moreland. The Rev. R. E. Wasson officiated.

The church was decorated with holly, ivy, white poinsettias, and tall white candles. A program of music was presented by Miss Margaret McGehee, organist, and Mrs. Billy Binegar who sang three solos.

Mr. Moreland was accompanied to the altar by Robert McDonald as best man. Groomsmen were William Wells, brother of the bride; James Mathis and Jimmy Kelly of Jackson; Joseph Moreland, Jr. of Baton Rouge; and Billy Ward of Lena. The candles were lighted by William Wells and Joseph Moreland, Jr.

Miss Diane Wels, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Jay Hutson of Jackson was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Briscae of Senatobia, Miss Barbara McGee of Oakland, Miss Jo Edwards of Brandon, and Miss Barbara Sue Thompson of Ackerman. The attendants were gowned identically in street-length dresses of sapphire blue peau de soie, featuring bell skirts. Their headpieces were blue tiaras with short veils. They carried Christmas bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Leah Binegar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Binegar of Durant, was flower girl. She wore a white dress with a blue sash.

Ralph Wells, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Wells wore an emerald green silk sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Moreland wore a beige silk sheath with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Lovely Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white peau de soie designed by Cahill. The fitted basque waist had a portrait neckline which was interwoven with Alencon lace. The full skirt with panel front was drawn up to waist line in the back revealing unpressed pleats which ended in a chapel train.

Her veil, of English illusion, fell from a tiara adorned with pearls. Her only jewelry was a diamond and pearl drop necklace, with single pearl earrings, gifts of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid.

Reception Held

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Wells entertained with a reception in the church fellowship house. Miss Barbara Kennebrew registered guests. Assisting at the tea table were Miss Barbara Moreland of Jackson, niece of the bridegroom; Miss Caroline Brown, Miss Minnie Ola Ammons, and Miss Richie Patrick of Durant. Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Charles Patrick, Mrs. Jewel Mansfield and Mrs. R. E. Wasson.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Wells served a buffet supper at their home for the wedding guests.

Wedding Trip

For her wedding trip the bride chose a robin's-egg-blue wool suit with a white fur hat and the orchid from her corsage After the trip to New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Moreland will be at home at 302 Keener Avenue in Jackson.

MRS. LLOYD PATRICK MORELAND

Mr. And Mrs. Mitchell Parents Of Baby Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mitchell of Lexington are the happy parents of their second child, born

Durant Eastern Star Public Installation

Durant chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star will hold a public installation of officers on

Holiday Visitors In Winborn Home

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Winborn during the holidays were:

Durant News

Society Clubs Personals

UDC Luncheon Held December 20th

On December 20th Mrs. Sidney P. Johnson and sister, Miss Alice Murff entertained the Durant Daughters Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in their home at West.

From the entrance to the den in the rear of the spacious hall and adjoining rooms the home was beautifully decorated for the Christmas season.

Twelve members were present to exchange Christmas wishes and partake of the delicious luncheon of creamed turkey, potato compote, aspic, rolls and parfait with fruit cookies. The places were marked with seasonal emblems in each card Hot coffee was served also

After the luncheon, numbers were drawn and matched with gifts that had been numbered and placed under the sparkling tree.

Mrs. Frank Hollingsworth, new member of the chapter, and Mrs. Lucille Sweaney assisted the hostesses in serving. Such hospitality and such beautiful and tasty food surely prepares one's spirits for the Christmas season.

Attend Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Durham and Mr. and Mrs. Sandy King will attend the meeting of the Men's Garden Clubs of America which will be held at the Heidelburg Hotel in Jackson on Friday, January 5th.

On Business

Mr. F. C. Bley was a business visitor in Lexington on Thursday morning.

To Grenada

Mr. Tom Ashley was a business visitor in Grenada on Tuesday.

From Jackson

Miss Gertrude McCune of Jackson spent the holdays here with her mother, Mrs. W. E. McCune

Lions Club Nets $75.00 In Game

The Durant Lions Club netted $75.00 on the Arkansas Travelers-Lions Basketball Game on Saturay night.

A close and exciting game was played before a capacity crowd of approximately 300 spectators, ending in a score of 53-47 in favor of the Travelers.

Proceeds were added to the Lions Swimming Pool Fund.

Durant Stores Begin Half-Day Closing

Beginning Wednesday January 10, Durant merchants will start closing at noon, as has been the custom for a number of years.

The half-day closing will continue until the first of November according to the merchants committee.

Returns To Natchez

Miss Elizabeth Ramsey returned to Natchez on Tuesday to resume school duties in Natchez High School after a pleasant holiday at home.

Visits Daughter

Mrs. Joel H. Gulledge was a welcome guest in the home of her daughter in Lexington, Mrs. Ed Rush and Mr. Rush during the holidays.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Weir Kyle and Weir, II have returned home after a week's visit with relatives in Texas.

To Texas

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Taylor were called to Dallas, Texas on Tuesday due to the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. H. A Harrold.

Luncheon Guest

Mrs. Zouella Bacon was guest of Mrs. William Holladay of Dallas, Texas in the garden room of Le Fleur's in Jackson

F. C. (Buddy) Bley Is JP Candidate

F. C. (Buddy) Bley is a candidate for Justice of the Peace in Beat 2, Holmes County, to fill the unexpired term of the late E. B. Guess, JP.

The office will be filled in a special election to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 27.

In making his announcement today in The Durant News, Mr. Bley said he wished to solicit the vote and influence of each and every qualified elector in Beat Two. He said he would greatly appreciate the consideration of the voters and for the office, and if elected, will serve to the very best of his ability and faithfully and honestly execute all of the duties and responsibilities thereof.

The Durant News invites the attention of its readers to the announcement of Mr. Bley contained on page three.

The Peoples' Business

(Note: The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily those of this publication.)

Those seeking new payrolls do a lot of thinking about "business climate," but as yet no one has come up with a concrete definition of such a climate.

Briefly, a good business elimate might be said to be those intangible and tangible things which cause a business or industry to choose one community over another, or when once established in a community, choose to remain there instead of moving elsewhere.

Competition for new industry among states and communities requires more specific answers, however. Mississippi industrial leaders must know some of the specifics of this climate if they expect to continue to bring in new industries.

An organization concerned with locating industry surveyed towns that had been particularly successful and therefore might be said to have the favorable "business climate." Here is some of the "atmosphere" possessed in common by the successful communities:

1. Adequate public facilities such as schools, water, zoning, streets, police, and fire protection. The prospects check these things.

2. Complete, accurate, up-to-date information on all community [illegible] other basic data assembled in usable form.

3. A community of boosters, holding a positive attitude about their community, their program, and future. This boosting program must have the full cooperation of taxi drivers, hotel and motel personnel, service station operators, restaurant personnel, and others with whom prospects come in contact.

4. A campaign for new industry that is carefully planned in a business-like fashion, and geared for operation on a reasonable long-term basis.

In short, the communities that are successful have such projects underway as those contained in the Merit Community Program. Any Mississippi community following this Program is automatically improving its

Governor Proclaims January As NMOD Month

Governor Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi has issued a proclamation declaring January as New March of Dimes Month. In his proclamation, the governor urged citizens "to give your services and support to this campaign."

He pointed out that the work of The National Foundation, supported by the New March of Dimes, has already opened the way to victory over polio and "may one day lead to prevention of crippling birth defects and arthritis."

Birth Defects, Governor Barnett noted, is the nation's largest unmet childhood medical problem, while arthritis and related diseases constitute the nation's number one crippler.

"The National Foundation's broad, expanded program, developed through years of experience and achievement as a voluntary health organization, provides real hope of eventual victory over disabling disease," he said.

The 1962 New March of Dimes begins in Mississippi on January 2. Chairman for the state-wide campaign is Dr. A. L. Gray, State Health Officer, Jackson; and Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, is Associate State Chairman.

"Funds are needed to support research which offers real hope of discovering preventives and cures for arthritis and birth defects. Perhaps more important at the moment we must aid those already stricken by these cripplers. Already a network of Special Treatment Centers has been developed by the March of Dimes," Dr. Gray said.

Mr. Cooper commended the county March of Dimes chapters for their role in establishing and supporting the Special Birth Defects Treatment Center at the University Medical Center, Jackson.

Cooper explained that local March of Dimes chapters are now prepared to give aid to all children with birth defects as well as children with rheumatoid arthritis. The National Foundation is continuing to meet its responsibility to aid past and present victims of paralytic polio it was pointed out.

BROOKHAVEN SIGN FIRM TO SUPPLY TWO STATES

Ed Gove, vice president of Hartley Gove's Sons in Brookhaven, announced formation of a subsidiary, H-G-S Engraved Signs, which will provide the Mississippi-Louisiana area with engraved signs and name plates to be marketed to industrial plants, schools and other commercial establishments. Hartley Gove's Sons has been manufacturing thermometers since 1889 with headquarters in Vineland, New Jersey. A branch plant was established in 1957 at Brookhaven. The engraving operation is the first diversification of this company in its 72-year history.

* * * *

FOREST PRACTICES

In forestry, a new record was set in planting tree seedlings. Fire control was extended to more counties and tightened upon all fronts. The number of tree farmers was increased, and more recommended forest practices were carried out by farmers. This all took place in the year 1961.

Rita Jo
UNIVERSITY OF COSMETOLOGY
425 Meadowbrook Road
Jackson, Miss.

Enroll Now For
The Fall Term
Now Open And
Fully Accredited

JOE TINDALL, JR.
Director

tendants were gowned identically in street-length dresses of sapphire blue peau de soie, featuring bell skirts. Their headpieces were blue tiaras with short veils. They carried Christmas bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Leah Binegar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Binegar of Durant, was flower girl. She wore a white dress with a blue sash.

Ralph Wells, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Wells wore an emerald green silk sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Moreland wore a beige silk sheath with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Lovely Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white peau de soie designed by Cahill. The fitted basque waist had a portrait neckline which was interwoven with Alencon lace. The full skirt with panel front was drawn up to waist line in the back revealing unpressed pleats which ended in a chapel train.

Her veil, of English illusion, fell from a tiara adorned with pearls. Her only jewelry was a diamond and pearl drop necklace, with single pearl earrings, gifts of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid.

Reception Held

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Wells entertained with a reception in the church fellowship house. Miss Barbara Kennebrew registered guests. Assisting at the tea table were Miss Barbara Moreland of Jackson, niece of the bridegroom; Miss Caroline Brown, Miss Minnie Ola Ammons, and Miss Richie Patrick of Durant. Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Charles Patrick, Mrs. Jewel Mansfield and Mrs. R. E. Wasson.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Wells served a buffet supper at their home for the wedding guests.

Wedding Trip

For her wedding trip the bride chose a robin's-egg-blue wool suit with a white fur hat and the orchid from her corsage After the trip to New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Moreland will be at home at 302 Keener Avenue in Jackson.

MRS. LLOYD PATRICK MORELAND

Mr. And Mrs. Mitchell Parents Of Baby Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mitchell of Lexington are the happy parents of their second child, born December 20th at the Holmes County Community Hospital. The little girl has been named Lillian Marie, and she weighed eight pounds and ten ounces at birth.

Jimmy was reared by his grandmother, Mrs. Tom Renacker and Mr. Renacker of Durant and they are Lilian's great grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Rathell Swinney of Lexington are her maternal great grandparents and she is also a great granddaughter of Mrs. W. F. Bennett of Lexington.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Swinney also of Lexington.

Return To Memphis

Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Gandy and sons, Jimmy and Paul of Memphis have returned home after a weekend visit with her mother, Mrs. P. R. Brown.

To Alabama

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Storms and Frank, Jr. spent Christmas holidays in Jasper, Alabama.

Weekend Guests

Weekend guests in the charming country home of Mrs. Mary Alice Walker were her son, Mr. Howard H. Walker, Mrs. Walker and children of Jackson. Mr. Walker is employed with the Rex I Brown generating station, a position he has held since graduating from college.

For COLDS take 666

Durant Eastern Star Public Installation

Durant chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star will hold a public installation of officers on Friday night, January 5th at 7:30 at the Masonic Hall.

Mrs. Blanche Herring will be installed as Worthy Matron.

All members and friends are invited to attend.

Attend Turner Funeral

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the funeral of Fred Earl Turner at Durant December 30 include:

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Turner and daughters, Julia, Betty and Catherine, Mrs. J. L. Blackwell and J. L. Blackwell, Jr of Vicksburg; W. L. Turner of Bourbon. W. L. Turner, Jr. of Greenville; H. M. Lentz, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lentz, Jr, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Frase, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Zollo, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Parnell, Jim Parnell, Jr, and Carolyn Parnell of Memphis; Mrs. W. E. Williams and daughter, Sandra of Mobile; L. L. Owen and T. D. Murphy of Kosciusko; L. G. Algood and Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Chennault, Brandon; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKell, Starkville; Mrs. Mary Murphy, Arkabutla; Mr. Bill Campbell, West; Miss Mary McClintock, Sallis; Mrs. Jack Sanderson, Mrs. M. J. Fowlkes, and Miss Hattie Hammond, Grenada.

Will Receive Award

Mrs. Louise Durham will be one of the eight ladies in the state of Mississippi to receive a special plaque awarded by the National Men's Garden Clubs of America. This presentation will be made at the national meeting being held at the Heidelburg Hotel in Jackson this week. The award is a recognition of the aid women have given in organizing Men's Clubs in their home towns.

Holiday Visitors In Winborn Home

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Winborn during the holidays were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Winborn, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Winborn, Helen, Jackie and Marsha, Clarksdale; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chapman, Jr., Lee Ann, Danny and Joe Cass, Corinth; Mrs. D. M. Howard, Ackerman; Mrs. B. F. Ford, Gainsville Florida; Mr. anl Mrs. Ed Yarborough, David and Dale McComb; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wadlington, Paradise, California; Joe Wadlington, San Francisco, California; Mrs. Hunter Dogan, Sumner; Mrs. Charlotte Tindall, Millington, Tennessee; Mrs. Charlotte Winborn, Jackson.

To Baptist Hospital

Friends will be interested in learning that Mrs. J. E. Dollahite has been transferred to the Baptist Hospital in Jackson, after several weeks hospitalization in the District II Hospital. Friends wish for her a speedy recovery.

Returns To MSU

Bill Henley left Tuesday for Mississippi State University to resume his studies after spending Christmas Holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henley.

Mrs. Frank Hollingsworth, new member of the chapter, and Mrs. Lucille Sweaney assisted the hostesses in serving. Such hospitality and such beautiful and tasty food surely prepares one's spirits for the Christmas season.

Attend Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Durham and Mr. and Mrs. Sandy King will attend the meeting of the Men's Garden Clubs of America which will be held at the Heidelburg Hotel in Jackson on Friday, January 5th.

On Business

Mr. F. C. Bley was a business visitor in Lexington on Thursday morning.

To Grenada

Mr. Tom Ashley was a business visitor in Grenada on Tuesday.

From Jackson

Miss Gertrude McCune of Jackson spent the holidays here with her mother, Mrs. W. E. McCune.

To Sallis

Mrs. Sam Moss was a guest of relatives in Sallis during the holidays.

To Arkansas

Mr. O. B. Williamson of the Sand Hills community accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Helen Williamson visited Mr. J. B. Williamson Jr. at Star City, Arkansas last weekend.

To Jackson

Mrs. Zouella Bacon will attend a luncheon as guest of New York Life Insurance Co. in the Rose Room of the Heidelburg Hotel in Jackson on Monday.

Returns To Natchez

Miss Elizabeth Ramsey returned to Natchez on Tuesday to resume school duties in Natchez High School after a pleasant holiday at home.

Visits Daughter

Mrs. Joel H. Gulledge was a welcome guest in the home of her daughter in Lexington. Mrs. Ed Rush and Mr. Rush during the holidays.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Weir Kyle and Weir, II have returned home after a week's visit with relatives in Texas.

To Texas

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Taylor were called to Dallas, Texas on Tuesday due to the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. H. A Harold.

Luncheon Guest

Mrs. Zouella Bacon was guest of Mrs. William Holladay of Dallas, Texas in the garden room of Le Fleur's in Jackson for a luncheon on Thurslay, December 28th.

definition of such a climate.

Briefly, a good business climate might be said to be those intangible and tangible things which cause a business or industry to choose one community over another, or when once established in a community, choose to remain there instead of moving elsewhere.

Competition for new industry among states and communities requires more specific answers, however. Mississippi industrial leaders must know some of the specifics of this climate if they expect to continue to bring in new industries.

An organization concerned with locating industry surveyed towns that had been particularly successful and therefore might be said to have the favorable "business climate." Here is some of the "atmosphere" possessed in common by the successful communities:

1. Adequate public facilities such as schools, water, zoning, streets, police, and fire protection. The prospects check these things.

2. Complete, accurate, up-to-date information on all community assets, such as sites, buildings, labor supply, utilities, and other basic data assembled in usable form.

3. A community of boosters, holding a positive attitude about their community, their program, and future. This boosting program must have the full cooperation of taxi drivers, hotel and motel personnel, service station operators, restaurant personnel, and others with whom prospects come in contact.

4. A campaign for new industry that is carefully planned in a business-like fashion, and geared for operation on a reasonable long-term basis.

In short, the communities that are succcessful have such projects underway as those contained in the Merit Community Program. Any Mississippi community following this Program is automatically improving its "business climate."

of discovering preventives and cures for arthritis and birth defects. Perhaps more important at the moment we must aid those already stricken by these cripplers. Already a network of Special Treatment Centers has been developed by the March ten-year history.

* * * *

FOREST PRACTICES

In forestry, a new record was set in planting tree seedlings. Fire control was extended to more counties and tightened upon all fronts. The number of tree farmers was increased, and more recommended forest practices were carried out by farmers. This all took place in the year 1961.

Rita Jo
UNIVERSITY OF COSMETOLOGY
425 Meadowbrook Road
Jackson, Miss.
Enroll Now For
The Fall Term
Now Open And
Fully Accredited
JOE TINDALL, JR.
Director

NOTICE!
Dr. R. I. Lopez
Registered Optometrist
Will Be In Durant Every Thursday!
The Office Is Located At
116 West Depot Street. (Dr. Hyde's Old Office)
Eyes Examined Lenses Duplicated
Glasses Fitted
Office Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Phone Durant 596

MAC DONALD'S....
FARMERS ALMANAC
FOR 1962
IS NOW ON SALE
AT
THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER
Get Your Copy While The Supply Lasts.
PRICE 35c

HOW TO JUDGE THE VALUE OF YOUR NEWSPAPER

Have you ever judged the value of your newspaper? What it actually means to you and your family? Then, let's pause a second and analyze its true value.

Right from the very first page to the last, your newspaper is packed with all the latest news about your community, your state, your nation and the whole world. Also, there's market and financial news and sports coverage. For mother, there are features that appeal to her whether it's fashion . . . social events . . . homemaking or a dozen other feminine interests. Too, In all these and many other fields, you'll find this a complete family newspaper . . . a newspaper that becomes a family affair the minute it arrives.

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

At a time of national crisis two Brazilian leaders, Marshal Henrique Lott (left) and Marshal Juarez Tavora were united after years of political enmity.

Political Foes Unite, Give MRA to Nation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Strong action by Brazilian leaders this Christmas and New Year sent a tidal wave of hope around the world.

Firstly, at a time of national crisis two major political enemies united and gave a powerful call for unity in Brazil and throughout the hemisphere.

They are Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott, 1960 Presidential candidate and Marshal Juarez Tavora, national hero and an earlier Presidential candidate. Lott had placed Tavora under house arrest in 1955, but in December of 1961 through Moral Re-Armament both men were dramatically reconciled and united.

This fact has captured national headlines.

"O Jornal," major Brazilian daily, wrote, "MRA has achieved a significant triumph in unite rupted by thunderous applause.

He went on, "Moral Re-Armament is based on a simple idea, that man must change himself before taking on the fight to change society. Instead of adopting extreme positions or those based on personal interest, we must make a real effort to take positions based on the examination of our conscience, so that there is complete unity between our actions and our most intimate thoughts.

"There is an old, but always new truth: There cannot be good government when evil men are in control. We might have the most perfect constitution in the world, completely adequate for the needs of the country, but still live in poverty and disorder if this constitution were not honestly lived out by all those who govern and those who are governed.

"We must not forget that and their families carrying they had organized against her son when he visited Peru three years ago.

They told President Prado how they had changed from Castroism and anti-Americanism to the greater revolution of MRA.

The President replied, "Thank you for the service you are rendering to our country. This is a very great world-wide work. Magnificent, magnificent!"

"O Jornal" stated about the MRA demonstration in Maracana Stadium, "This is not just a simple demonstration but the last chance to save Brazil." In a final Christmas tableau of the Madonna and Christ Child representatives of the nations streamed across the stadium towards the creche. Among them were 200 militant dockers and transport workers

Conservation News

By MARVIN McLELLAN

Once again it's tree planting time in Mississippi. And throughout Holmes County planting crews are at work on the tremendous job of converting more than 2000 acres of idle land to productive forests. Their job involves the planting of more than two million seedlings on some 90 farms scattered throughout the hill section of the county.

This marks the 13th year since the planting of trees to control erosion started in this county. Areas planted during this period of time vary from small woodlots on some farms to hundreds of acres on others. Already timber products are being marketed from some of these earlier plantings and Holmes County farmers are profiting from one of the most effective conservation practices in use today.

Yet much of our land still remain idle! You can travel over almost any section of the county and see literally thousands of acres of land that is producing sedge grass, weeds, or scrub trees. These are the acres we would like to encourage farmers to put into production. Some of this idle land would make good pasture but most of it is rough and badly eroded and can best be used in timber production.

Unfortunately, some of the farmers in our area are of the opinion that when present plantings of pine trees reach market size we will flood the market for timber products. They doubt that a profitable market will be available twenty years from now. However, such assumption is usually based on present per capita consumption and without considering our population increase.

This assumption appears some what misleading when we look at the facts. Presently every man, woman and child in this nation is using annually 436 pounds of paper products alone. And it requires 1500 pounds of wood to produce this amount of paper. Present predictions, based on the record of the past decade, indicate individual consumption of paper products to increase more than 50 per cent during the next twenty years. Also, according to the census bureau, during this same twenty years we will add to our present population between 80 and 100 million people. So you see when we make this same application to the use of lumber, particle boards, insulation boards, hardboard, poles, piling, posts, charcoal, naval stores, and chemical wood conversion the

By HUBERT BRITT

The largest food producing crop in the United States is grass and forage crops. Through animals, we are now consuming forages at the rate of nearly five tons of hay per person each year.

Animal products currently furnish 67 per cent of the protein contained in the United States citizens food supply. Nearly two-thirds of an individual's calcium supply comes from dairy products.

Forages are those plants, mainly the economic grasses and legumes, either grazed or harvested for animal feed. Best estimates show on-the-stem grazings furnish more than half the total feed requirements of all livestock in this country.

Several complementary benefits are derived from forages in addition to their nutritive value for animal production. High quality, productive grass-legume combinations when used properly are one of the best materials available to conserve and improve soil. Experimental results have shown that outside of forest lands, productive forages are the most efficient crop as a protector and stabilizer of soils on sloping fields.

The effectiveness of forage grasses in soil conservation depends on the top growth furnishing the soil cover, and the roots increasing the soil's resistance to movement and its ability to absorb water. The speed of the rain drop falling through space ranges up to 20 miles an hour depending on its size. It has been calculated that the energy from an inch of rain is sufficient to raise a seven-inch acre of soil one foot.

Soil erosion is still a very real and common problem on sloping lands that have little or no cover. The use of close growing, high yielding forages for erosion control makes soil conservation an opportunity instead of a problem.

In this day of intense economic competition forages as a crop must be profitable. Before forages have any commercial value and in order that they may be used on a wide scale for purposes of soil conservation, they must be converted by animals to products for human use.

The farmers of Holmes County are realizing more and more each year the importance of having a sound grazing program. ASC records show that 237 Holmes County farmers requested assistance on establish-

FARMING TODAY...

SKIP-ROW COTTON PLANTING IN 1962

Cotton farmers will be permitted to plant their acreage to suit the adaptation of their equipment. A recent ruling by the Secretary of Agriculture made this practice of skip row planting possible. Go see your local ASC Officer for instructions on how this applies to farms in your county. The Delta Experiment Station obtained increases in cotton wields from four rows skip four plantings ranging from 25 per cent to 125 per cent over planting every row.

* * * *

1962 COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENT

Now is the time for farmers, with small cotton acreage allotments, to decide to plant or release unwanted acres in 1962. The 494 pound state average yield of lint cotton an acre in 1961 plus seed sold for $175 to $180. Those farmers who made an average of one and one-half to two bales per acre received higher income per acre. Plan now to plant your cotton acreage in 1962.

* * * *

PROPER PLACEMENT OF FERTILIZER IN 1962

When you plant cotton where do you place your fertilizer? For best results high rates of fertilizer per acre shoulld be placed three to five inches to the side of drill and six to eight inches deep. This placement applies to cotton, corn and soybeans. Do you have equipment on hand to place your fertilizer where you can make the most net profit? Properly used $1 invested in fertilizer in a complete cotton production program returns $6 to $10. Make your plans now — do not wait.

* * * *

QUALITY COTTON PRODUCTION IN 1962

Production of quality cotton lint and seed begins with planning each operation before the cropping season begins. Select fields to plant to cotton. Figure out rotation. Leave out fields needing leveling. Get needed new equipment and parts for repair of old machinery. Place fertilizer correctly. Plan to prepare level uniform seed beds. Plant as early as possible. Hill drop to save chopping. Plant treated seed. Use a soil treating fungicide. Use pre-emergence treatment to reduce hoeing cost. Post oil is a must. Prepare to flame out vines and weeds. Plan for a complete insect control program. Bottom defoliate if needed. Defoliate when needed. Plan now for mechanical harvesting of your 1962 cotton crop. A complete cotton production program means those practices you need on your farm.

Agriculture Dept. Issues Regulations To Help Delta

The Department of Agriculture has inaugurated 1962 with two changed regulations which will greatly benefit Delta agriculture, Rep. Frank Smith reported. One change increases the rice acreage by ten per cent and the other eliminates restrictions on "skip row" cotton planting and cultivation.

"Both of these changes follow recommendations which I have been making to USDA for some time." Rep. Smith reported. "Both will encourage increased and more efficient production of these important crops in our area."

"The increase in rice acreage was based on an estimate of increased export demands for rice in the world market' Smith said, "but it carries a commitment by the Department to expand its world marketing efforts. The increased acreage offers the possibility of further utilization of potential rice acreage in the Mississippi Delta as national production goals are increased from year to year.

Home Agent's Notes

By MARY HARPOLE

EAR TO THE GROUND FOR CIVIL DEFENSE

Is your insurance paid up? Take a quick check — auto, health, fire, theft, and life insurance. When these are paid you are prepared for the disaster they cover even though you really don't want to collect.

But what protection have you, your family, your ocuntry's rural families against nuclear attack? Such insurance is available at relatively low cost through civil defense. President Kennedy has said, nuclear weapons and the possibility of nuclear war are facts of life we cannot ignore today. In this dangerous day we must prepare for all eventualities. The ability to survive coupled with the will to do so are essential to our country.

Homes County Home Demonstration Club Women are aware of the threat to their homes and families and are beginning a series of educational programs on civil defense which will be planned by the civil defense director, Mr. William Moses.

Contrary to what many rural people think, the effects of nuclear explosions are not confined to large cities, industrial areas and military installations. Radioactive fallout is just as likely to fall in rural areas as urban areas. But with proper protection and preparation we can survive.

Farm families have an especially important roll to play in civil defense, as they not only have to plan for protection for themselves and their families but for conserving livestock and crop production for the sake of the entire nation.

Extension workers are being given current educational materials which will be available to the public. Copies of fall out shelter blueprinting will also be available at Civil Defense centers in the county.

Get Your . . . .

POSTED NOTICES

(left) and Marshal Juarez Tavora were united after years of political enmity.

Political Foes Unite, Give MRA to Nation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Strong action by Brazilian leaders this Christmas and New Year sent a tidal wave of hope around the world.

Firstly, at a time of national crisis two major political enemies united and gave a powerful call for unity in Brazil and throughout the hemisphere.

They are Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott, 1960 Presidential candidate and Marshal Juarez Tavora, national hero and an earlier Presidential candidate. Lott had placed Tavora under house arrest in 1955, but in December of 1961 through Moral Re-Armament both men were dramatically reconciled and united.

This fact has captured national headlines.

"O Jornal," major Brazilian daily, wrote, "MRA has achieved a significant triumph in uniting . . . two long-standing irreconcilable political rivals — the Marshals Teixeira Lott and Juarez Tavora."

National Demonstration

Secondly, on Christmas Eve, Marshal Lott addressed a massive MRA demonstration in Rio de Janeiro's Maracana Stadium and called on Brazil to unite on a basis of MRA and offer the world a third alternative to atomic holocaust and godless tyranny.

Lott's conviction was supported by messages from General Dwight Eisenhower, former Prime Minister Kishi of Japan and Hollywood stars Roy Rogers, Joel McCrea, Robert Young, Robert Stack, Pat Boone, Eve Arden and others. The Brazilian national radio announced that 50,000 attended the demonstration.

Marshal Lott who was for six years Minister of War, called MRA "A powerful and invincible idea . . . a tidal wave of hope extending from man to man and nation to nation. That is why I give my wholehearted support to it." The Marshal was four times interrupted by thunderous applause.

He went on, "Moral Re-Armament is based on a simple idea, that man must change himself before taking on the fight to change society. Instead of adopting extreme positions or those based on personal interest, we must make a real effort to take positions based on the examination of our conscience, so that there is complete unity between our actions and our most intimate thoughts.

"There is an old, but always new truth: There cannot be good government when evil men are in control. We might have the most perfect constitution in the world, completely adequate for the needs of the country, but still live in poverty and disorder if this constitution were not honestly lived out by all those who govern and those who are governed.

"We must not forget that unless there is a moral change in each one of us we are not prepared to meet the challenge of aggressive ideologies which are threatening the world."

Five bands performed as the crowd gathered and the famed Marine Band drew continuous applause as they marched through their intricate maneuvers. Beams of four searchlights representing the four absolute moral standards of MRA, honesty, purity, unselfishness and love, pierced the sky behind the stadium. The MRA international force carrying flags of their nations marched around the field and on to the stage as the crowd applauded. They sang the National Anthem accompanied by the military bands.

Revolutionary Students

Revolutionary student leaders from the University of San Marcos in Peru flew in for the demonstration. They came straight from an interview that day with Peruvian President Manuel Prado in Lima. These are the men who recently met the mother of former Vice President Richard Nixon and apologized to her for the riots they had organized against her son when he visited Peru three years ago.

They told President Prado how they had changed from Castroism and anti-Americanism to the greater revolution of MRA.

The President replied, "Thank you for the service you are rendering to our country. This is a very great world-wide work. Magnificent, magnificent!"

"O Jornal" stated about the MRA demonstration in Maracana Stadium, "This is not just a simple demonstration but the last chance to save Brazil." In a final Christmas tableau of the Madonna and Christ Child representatives of the nations streamed across the stadium towards the creche. Among them were 200 militant dockers and transport workers and their families carrying lighted candles, and 200 Japanese and other nationalities carrying lanterns. The audience sat in hushed silence as the scene climaxed in the carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night," and all the nations gathered around Joseph, Mary and the Child.

Cardinal Greets Force

Dom Jaime, Cardinal Camara, Archbishop of Rio, received the entire Moral Re-Armament international force after celebrating in the open air midnight Mass in the main square of the city. He greeted each one and heard evidence of how MRA is bringing an answer to Communism in Europe, Asia and the Americas. "I am very glad indeed that you have come," he said.

Thirdly, Marshal Lott and Marshal Tavora and General Hugo Bethlem with port workers from Rio de Janeiro gave this message to the world: "This Christmas will launch the greatest ideological offensive the world has ever seen bringing God's dimension, God's domination, God's direction to the heart of every man and nation."

Introducing . . .

DELTA QUEEN

A new high yielding wilt resistant cotton bred in and for the Delta

This cotton is new and it's different. DELTA QUEEN combines earliness with extra-high yields — produces a big first pick, then goes on setting fruit and making cotton as the season advances. The bolls open wide and are well-fluffed, but have very good storm resistance. Its strong, erect stalks reduce lodging, keep DELTA QUEEN standing up for the picker. Because it fruits higher off the ground than most other cottons, the picker heads can be set higher; you'll gather less trash and get better grades.

- High yielding.
- High turnout at the gin.
- Good fiber quality.
- Resistant to Fusarium wilt; tolerant to Verticillium wilt (a bred-in bonus!).

BE ONE OF THE FIRST IN YOUR AREA TO PLANT THIS GREAT NEW COTTON. SEE YOUR LOCAL SEEDSMAN FOR DELTA QUEEN PLANTING SEED NOW.

COKER'S PEDIGREED SEED BLOOD WILL TELL

COKER'S PEDIGREED SEED COMPANY
Hartsville, S. C.

ROSE SEED COMPANY
Clarksdale, Miss.

plantings of pine trees reach market size we will flood the market for timber products. They doubt that a profitable market will be available twenty years from now. However, such assumption is usually based on present per capita consumption and without considering our population increase.

This assumption appears some what misleading when we look at the facts. Presently every man, woman and child in this nation is using annually 436 pounds of paper products alone. And it requires 1500 pounds of wood to produce this amount of paper. Present predictions, based on the record of the past decade, indicate individual consumption of paper products to increase more than 50 per cent during the next twenty years. Also, according to the census bureau, during this same twenty years we will add to our present population between 80 and 100 million people. So you see when we make this same application to the use of lumber, particle boards, insulation boards, hardboard, poles, piling, posts, charcoal, naval stores, and chemical wood conversion there appears little likelihood that the demand for timber products will diminish within the foreseeable future.

To provide for the needs of our skyrocketing population wood in its varied forms will be needed in such quantities that it will tax the capacity of existing forests and demand the establishment of forests on millions of acres of additional land. This offers to us in the South, in Mississippi and in Holmes County a rare challenge.

So if you have land on your farm that is not producing any income maybe you would be wise to consider converting it to timber production. Pine seedlings on idle land is excellent insurance, good conservation and we believe it will prove to be a very wise investment.

Grain Price Support Deadline Set Jan. 31

The final date for obtaining price support on most 1961-crop grains will be January 31, 1962, according to Holmes Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County Office. Loan rates and eligibility standards for 1961-crop commodities in Holmes County are as follows:

BARLEY: $1.00 per bushel for grade No. 2 or better. Discounts for lower grades down to No. 5 or No. 5 garlicky and mixed barley. Producer and farm must be in compliance with 1961 feed grain program.

GRAIN SORGHUM: $2.00 per cwt. for grade No. 2 or better. Discounts for lower grades down to No. 4, No. 4 smutty, No. 4 discolored, or mixed grain sorghums. Producer and farm must be in compliance with 1961 feed grain program.

OATS: 72 cents per bushel for grade No. 3; premium for higher quality; discounts for No. 4 on test weight only, for No. 4 because of being "badly stained or materially weathered," and for garlicky. Producers and farm must be in compliance with 1961 feed grain program.

SOYBEANS: $2.29 per bushel for No. 2 green or yellow soybeans. Premiums for low foreign material content and low moisture; discounts for grade and quality factors down to No. 4 and for the classes black, brown and mixed soybeans. Soybeans containing more than 14 per cent moisture are ineligible.

WHEAT: $1.85 per bushel for grade No. 1. Discounts for lower tance to movement and its ability to absorb water. The speed of the rain drop falling through space ranges up to 20 miles an hour depending on its size. It has been calculated that the energy from an inch of rain is sufficient to raise a seven-inch acre of soil one foot.

Soil erosion is still a very real and common problem on sloping lands that have little or no cover. The use of close growing, high yielding forages for erosion control makes soil conservation an opportunity instead of a problem.

In this day of intense economic competition forages as a crop must be profitable. Before forages have any commercial value and in order that they may be used on a wide scale for purposes of soil conservation, they must be converted by animals to products for human use.

The farmers of Holmes County are realizing more and more each year the importance of having a sound grazing program. ASC records show that 237 Holmes County farmers requested assistance on establishing over 4,000 acres of new pasture or improving old pasture. Fifteen hundred pounds of Bermuda grass seed and 800 pounds of bahia seed were planted through the Soil Conservation Service for erosion control in pastures.

grades down to "Sample" grade due to total damaged kernels with a test weight of not less than 40 pounds per bushel. Wheat must not be musty, sour, heating or hot. Discount of 20 cents per bushel for specified undesirable varieties.

Invest now in the future of Mississippi — Plant more pine trees today!

To Help Delta

The Department of Agriculture has inaugurated 1962 with two changed regulations which will greatly benefit Delta agriculture, Rep. Frank Smith reported. One change increases the rice acreage by ten per cent and the other eliminates restrictions on "skip row" cotton planting and cultivation.

"Both of these changes follow recommendations which I have been making to USDA for some time," Rep. Smith reported. "Both will encourage increased and more efficient production of these important crops in our area."

"The increase in rice acreage was based on an estimate of increased export demands for rice in the world market' Smith said, "but it carries a commitment by the Department to expand its world marketing efforts. The increased acreage offers the possibility of further utilization of potential rice acreage in the Mississippi Delta as national production goals are increased from year to year.

Rep. Smith said reports he had received from over his district indicated that a large number of cotton farmers would take advantage of the opportunity to use "two and two" split row cultivation methods in 1962.

"Split row cultivation offers a chance for both increased yield and increased quality.

"The USDA is well aware of the increased yield of cotton which will come under this regulation, and I think the approval of this change by the Secretary makes it clear that the Department is adopting a goal of increased cotton production," Smith added.

Try The Classified Ads!

Post oil is a must. Prepare to flame out vines and weeds. Plan for a complete insect control program. Bottom defoliate if needed. Defoliate when needed. Plan now for mechanical harvesting of your 1962 cotton crop. A complete cotton production program means those practices you need on your farm.

but for conserving livestock and crop production for the sake of the entire nation.

Extension workers are being given current educational materials which will be available to the public. Copies of fall out shelter blueprinting will also be available at Civil Defense centers in the county.

Get Your . . . .

POSTED NOTICES

At

The Lexington Advertiser

Who pays for advertising?

Not THE NEWSPAPER Reader, Because He Saves Both Time And Money By Shopping The Wide Selection Of Honest Values Offered Through The Advertising Columns.

Not THE ADVERTISER, Because Advertising Always Returns A Profit When It Is Used Correctly And Consistently.

The merchant who does not advertise

IS THE MAN WHO PAYS For Advertising. He Pays For It In The Volume Of Business He Loses — In The Number Of Customers Who Buy Elsewhere.

If You Are In Business, YOU'RE PAYING For Advertising. Why Not Put Your Name On It, And Get The Benefit From It?

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

Follow the leader...

worship together this week!

Coxburg

COXBURG METHODIST
Rev. Dennis Johnston, Pastor
Sunday School at 10 a.m., R. S. Richmond, supt. Morning Worship each Second Sunday morning at 11:00, Fourth Sunday morning at 9:30 and Fouth Sunday night at 7:00.

COXBURG MP CHURCH
Morning Worship each First and Third Sundays

HARLANDS CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. Jimmy Jackson, Pastor Sunday School, 10:00 a.m. Morning Worship, 11:00 a.m. Training Union 6:00 p. m. Evening Worship 7:00 p. m.
Mid-week prayer meeting each Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

Cruger

BAPTIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union at 6:00
The Rev. W. E. Greene, Jr., pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. Worship service is held the first and third Sunday at 11 a.m. and on the second and fourth Sunday at 7:00 p.m.
The Rev. Claude Fleming, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, E. J. Hines, Jr.

Durant

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Church School 9:45 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., also Adult and Children Fellowship Groups at 6:00.
The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first, second and fourth Monday of each month. Weslevan Service Guild on third Monday.
The Rev. R. E. Wasson, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Percy Joyce; Organist Mrs. Walter Odom.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Acona

ACONA METHODIST
Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour every third Sunday at 11 a.m. and every first Sunday at 7 p.m.
The Rev. J. E. Young, pastor. Sunday School superintendent K. F. Downer.

Lexington

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Church School, 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. and Baptist Training Union at 6:00. p. m.
Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday evening, followed by choir practice.
The Rev. P. D. Bragg, pastor; Louie B. Nichols Sunday School Superintendent; Charles Lee Truitt, Training Union director.
Women's Missionary Society, circles one two and three, meet each Monday afternoon at 3.
Business Women's Circle meets second Monday each month 6 p.m. and Sunbeams each Monday at 3.

OAK GROVE BAPTIST
Rev. Donny Clark, Pastor
Sunday School: 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship: 11:00 a.m.
Training Union: 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship: 7:00 p. m.
Prayer Meeting Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Episcopal Church
Services at 7:15 a.m. Church School, 10.00 a.m. Worship hour at 11:00 a.m.
Ladies' Guilds meet first Monday each month.
The Rev. Reynolds Cheney, vicar; Mrs. Doty Porter, choir director and organist; W. E. Thurmond, senior warden; M. K. Ginn, junior warden.

TEMPLE BETH-EL
Monthly services are conducted by Rabbi Perry Nussbaum of Jackson.
Sunday School is held each Sunday at 10:30
Sunday School Superintendent, Herman Flowers
The Julia Lewis Sisterhood meets the first Monday each

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Gatherings of more than 5 persons for the purpose of religious worship are henceforth prohibited

If you woke up one morning to find a notice such as the above plastered around town, even those Americans who are among the "Great Indifferent" might soon react with alarm. And they would be wise to do so. Freedom of worship should be a jealously guarded privilege. But like any privilege which we don't respect by its use, it can be lost.

Restrictions of this privilege are unthinkable to every American. But failure to take advantage of this privilege is widespread. When was the last time you and your family

Ebenezer

EBENEZER METHODIST
Sunday School 10 a.m. Worship services are held the first and third Sunday at 11 a. m. and 6:30 p.m. also Methodist Youth Fellowship at 5:30.
The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first and third Monday at 2:30 p.m.
Rev. Dennis Johnston, pastor Sunday School Superintendent, K. D. Hendry; Organist, Mrs. J. E. Jones and Mrs. Harris Humphrey; and M.Y.F. Directors, Mrs. Gene Greer and Mrs. Effie Brock

EBENEZER BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. Larry Zigler, Pastor
Sunday School, 10:00 a. m.
Morning Worship, 11:00 a. m
Training Union, 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship, 7:00 p. m.

Pickens

METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.
Prayer meeting each Monday evening at 7:30
Women's Society of Christian Service meets every Monday at 9:30 a.m.
Weslevan Service Guild every third Monday at 7:30 p.m.
The Rev. G. H. Ledbetter, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Hoover Maxwell; Training Union director, Jed Pepper

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 9:45 a.m Worship hour on second, fourth and fifth Sundays held at 11 a.m and 7 p.m. Young People of the Church meet at 6 p.m.
Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday.
Women of the Church meet each Monday afternoon.
The Rev. E. Stanley Smathers, pastor, and Sunday School superintendent, Henry McNeese.

BAPTIST CHURCH
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and Union each Sunday at 6:00 p. m.
Wednesday prayer meeting at 7 p.m.

Worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union at 6:00

The Rev. W. E. Greene, Jr., pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. Worship service is held the first and third Sunday at 11 a.m. and on the second and fourth Sunday at 7:00 p.m.

The Rev. Claude Fleming, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, E. J. Hines, Jr.

Durant

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Church School 9:45 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., also Adult and Children Fellowship Groups at 6:00.

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first, second and fourth Monday of each month. Weslevan Service Guild on third Monday.

The Rev. R. E. Wasson, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Percy Joyce; Organist Mrs. Walter Odom.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School, 9:45 with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7 each Wednesday. Catechism class each Saturday at 10 a.m

The Rev. Robert Glover Shoemaker, pastor;

Sunday School Superintendent, C. H. Blanton, Jr.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Durell Makamson, Pastor

9:45 a.m. Sunday School
11:00 a. m. Morning Worship
7:00 p. m. Evening Worship
6:00 p. m. Training Union
7:30 p. m. Prayer Meeting each Wednesday
3:00 p. m. Woman's Missionary Society every Monday

Lindsay O'Rear, Secretary. Sunday School Superintendent, Leon Engelmann.

Training Union Director, R. J. Dorsett; and Choir Director, Lindsay O'Rear.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Brian Van der Spuy, Minister

Worship service every Sunday
Morning worship at 11:00 a.m.
Evening worship at 7:30 p.m.
Bible School 10.00 a. m.
Bible Study each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

EASTSIDE BAPTIST MISSION CHURCH

The Rev. H. C. Ellis, pastor

Sunday School at 10 a. m. with worship hour at 11 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Baptist Training Union at 6:00 p. m.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday at 7:30.

Choir Director, Miss Edna Townsend.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Rev. Tommy Loving, Pastor

Sunday School 10 a. m. and worship hour, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The Young Peoples group the NYPS meets each Sunday at 7:00 p. m.

Prayer Meeting at 7:30 p. m. each Wednesday.

Sunday School Superintendent Johnny Toten; Choir Director, Mrs. Marion Bishop;

NYPS Leader, Mrs. Houie Bishop.

Pentecostal Program Set

The reguar program for the Durant United Pentecostal Church has been set as follows: Sunday School at 10 a. m. Morning Worship at 11:00 a. m.; Evening Worship at 7:00 p. m.; Prayer Meeting and Bible Study Thursday at 7:30 p. m.; Young Peoples Service at 7 p.m. Saturday.

day at 8.

OAK GROVE BAPTIST

Rev. Donny Clark, Pastor

Sunday School: 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship: 11:00 a.m.
Training Union: 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship: 7:00 p. m.
Prayer Meeting Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Episcopal Church

Services at 7:15 a.m. Church School, 10.00 a.m. Worship hour at 11:00 a.m.

Ladies' Guilds meet first Monday each month.

The Rev. Reynolds Cheney, vicar; Mrs. Doty Porter, choir director and organist; W. E. Thurmond, senior warden; M. K. Ginn, junior warden.

TEMPLE BETH-EL

Monthly services are conducted by Rabbi Perry Nussbaum of Jackson.

Sunday School is held each Sunday at 10:30

Sunday School Superintendent, Herman Flowers

The Julia Lewis Sisterhood meets the first Monday each month.

MISSIONARY EASTSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School, 10:00 a. m. and worship hour, 11:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. with Baptist Training Union at 6:00 p. m.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday night at 7 p.m. followed by the Women's Missionary Union and the Brotherhood meeting.

The Rev. Charles Cooley, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent and Church Secretary, G. R. Thompson.

ST. THOMAS CATHOLIC

Morning Mass is held each Sunday at alternating hours. Beginning June 26th, Mass will be held at 10:30, and the following Sunday, July 3, at 8:00 and so on throughout the year.

Members of the clergy are Monsignor John F. Clerico and his assistant, Father Clements, both of Greenwood.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, followed by choir practice.

Woman's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday afternoon at 3.

Wesleyan Service Guild meets second and fourth Monday each month at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Crawford Ray, pastor; Ben Rathell, Sunday School Superintendent; Woodson Earle Youth Fellowship director.

BEULAH BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. David Skinner, Pastor

Sunday School, 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship, 11:00 a.m
Training Union, 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship, 7:00 p. m.
Prayer Meeting on Wednesday night at 7:30.

LIBERTY CHAPEL METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Dennis Johnston, Pastor. Worship services are held each First and Third Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

Goodman

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held only on the third Sunday, at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The Women of the Church meet each Monday at 9 a.m.

The Rev. Stanley Smather, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, Paul Hand.

Worship together this week You need not walk alone

Goodman

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship meets at 6:30 p.m. The Wesley Foundation, college students' group, meets also at 6:30

Wednesday night prayer meeting is held at 7.

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday at 3:30 p.m. The Wesleyan Service Guild meets at 7:30 on the first Monday of each month.

The Rev. B. F. Lee, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, W. W. Griffin, Jr.; church secretary, Mrs. D. K. Gulledge MYF director, Mrs. Nell Branch Wesley Foundation director, Mrs C. W. Lorance

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Training Union held at 6:30.

Prayer meeting at 7:00 each Wednesday night.

The Women's Missionary Society meets each Monday at 3 p.m.

The Rev. R. A. Herrington, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, Ry McDaniel, Choir director, William Spell; Training Union director, Mrs. R. A. Harrington.

125 YEARS
The Lexington Advertiser
TRI-ANNIVERSARY
EDITOR HAZEL BRANNON SMITH 125 YEARS
THE DURANT NEWS
100 YEARS

This advertisement in the interest of Religion in American Life as a basis of All Our American Freedoms is presented by The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News and is a Tri-Anniversary Ad made possible by friends of the editor.

West

MT. PLEASANT BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held the first and third Sunday, at 11:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union each Sunday at 6:00 p. m.

Prayer meeting is held each Thursday at 7 p.m. followed by the Women's Missionary Society, the Brotherhood, the RA and GA meetings.

The Rev. James Sadder, Jr. pastor; Sunday School superintendent, Watt Tate; Training Union director, Bob McCreary; choir director, Jimmy McBride.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held the first and third Sunday, at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The Women's Society or Christian Service meets each Monday at 2:30.

The Rev. Harold Robertson, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, John David Montgomery.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a. m.

Worship services are held each second and fourth Sunday at 11:00 a. m.

Pastor of the church is Rev. Robert Bullard.

MT. PLEASANT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. James Saddler, pastor

Sunday School 10:00 a. m.
Morning Worship 11:00 a. m
Evening Worship 7:00 p. m.
Training Union 6:00 p. m.

Charles Wolfarth, Training Union director.

HEBRON METHODIST CHURCH

Near Lexington

Rev. Dennis Johnston, pastor Worship services are held each Second Sunday night at 7:00 and each Fourth Sunday morning at 11:00.

ship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting each Monday evening at 7:30

Women's Society of Christian Service meets every Monday at 7:20 a.m.

Weslevan Service Guild every third Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. G. H. Ledbetter, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Hoover Maxwell; Training Union director, Jed Pepper

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 9:45 a.m Worship hour on second, fourth and fifth Sundays held at 11 a.m and 7 p.m. Young People of the Church meet at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday.

Women of the Church meet each Monday afternoon.

The Rev. E. Stanley Smathers, pastor, and Sunday School superintendent, Henry McNeese.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and Union each Sunday at 6:00 p. m.

Wednesday prayer meeting at 7 p.m.

The Women's Missionary Union meets each Monday at 3:30 p.m. Business Women's Circle at 7 p.m.

The Rev. J. Price Brock, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, John Yarborough; Training Union director, George Wynne choir director, Price Brock, Jr.

Tchula

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting is held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, followed by choir practice.

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday at 3 p.m. The Virgie Hines Guild meets each Monday at 4 p.m.

The Rev. Wilson Ray, pastor

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union is held at 6:00 p. m. and Fellowship for Young People at 8:00 p. m.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The Women's Missionary Society meets each Monday at 2:30 p.m.

The Rev Roy Raddin, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, O. C. Scott;

Training Union director, Bill Bole.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour, held on first, second and third Sunday, at 11 a.m.

The Women of the Church meet on first, second and third Monday of each month at 3 p.m

The Rev. J. C. Watson, pastor

West News

By MRS. MABEL BRYANT

Mr. Robert Allen Cade of Greenville who is employed with the I. C. Railroad spent the weekend with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Holmes of Kosciusko visited Mrs. R. O. McCreary and Mrs. Maude Holmes Sunday afternoon.

Miss Bessie Owen of Belzoni spent the weekend with her sister Mrs. O. W. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson visited Mrs. W. B. Carter of Carmack Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Louie Deprater of Greenwood visited Skippy Tucker, who is on the sick list Saturday.

Mrs. Melton Powers and children of Jackson spent Sunday with Mrs. Mattie Thomas.

Mrs. Mattie Faye Thomas and Miss Bessie Owens shopped in Kosciusko Saturday.

Mrs. Wirt Shrock of Franklinton, Louisiana and her father Mr. S. J. Browning of Goodman visited relatives recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Campbell Arnold and little daughter, Teresa of Canton visited Mrs. Carl Arnold and Mrs. Nina Holmes over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Campbell have returned home after a pleasant visit with their children in Birmingham, Alabama.

Mrs. Nell Snavely left Tuesday for Jackson after spending a few days at home.

Mr. Victor Dunn of Greenwood called by for a short visit with Mr. L. B. Tucker Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Victor Shaw of Millsaps College was here over the weekend to fill his appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday at 11 o'clock and at 7 o'clock p. m.

Miss Martha Campbell and Miss Ouida Pate of Jackson spent a few days with Mr. S. C. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weaver.

Mrs. Owen McLellan made a trip to Goodman Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dunning of Jackson visited Mrs Mary Dunning Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Arnold Hammond of Winona was a business visitor Tuesday afernoon.

Mrs. Paul Oliver of Vaiden attended to business Wednesday.

Mrs. Effie Cade returned home Wednesday after a weeks visit with Miss Minnie Armstrong of Carmack.

Mr. J. F. Tucker left Tuesday for Meadsville, Pennsylvania. He will return Friday.

Mr. Carlton Aldridge of Durant attended to business and visited relatives Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McGehee have returned home after several days with their children in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Autry and children of Durant visited relatives Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilma Brock returned home Wednesday after spending a month with relatives in Arizona.

Mr. John Norwood and Mr. Earl Maddox are patients in the Lexington Hospital. Their many friends wish for them a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bicker were business visitors in Lexington Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. A. R. Bicker and Mrs. T. H. Brister called on Miss Minnie Armstrong of Carmack Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Autry and Larry Harvey transacted business in Greenwood Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bicker were business visitors to Durant Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mae Oakes and son of Hesterville stopped by for a visit with Mrs. Mabel Bryant on their way to Goodman Saturday.

Mr. Arthur Self spent Wednesday and Thursday in Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fultz and baby of Birmingham, Alabama spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Fultz.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brock were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Griffin in Vaiden Monday night.

Mr. Johnny Mason of Holmes Junior College spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mason.

Mr. Ray Campbell of Durant was a visitor here Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. M. E. Sanders of Durant spent Friday with Mrs. Ruby Self and visited Mrs. A. I. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Thompson visited Mr. and Mrs. James Weeks and children in Cleveland recently.

Mrs. Roy Edwards and children spent Monday with Mrs. John Bruce of Carmack.

Airman Second Class William Lee Edwards is home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denton Edwards. He is stationed in Atlas, Oklahoma.

Airman Second Class Robert Earl Goss of Kansas is spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Delma Goss.

Among those who attended the basketball game in Vaiden Friday night between West and Vaiden were Mrs. Martin Peninger, Mrs. Denton Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, Mrs. Joe Rigby, Miss Dorris Rigby, Mrs. Arthur Self and Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Gelston. West won both boys and girls games.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Willis of Brandon spent the New Year's Holiday with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS SALES

Now anyone can buy Direct from U. S. Government Surplus Depots, by mail for yourself or for resale. Cameras, binoculars, cars, jeeps, trucks, boats, hardware, office machines and equipment, tents, tools, and tens-of-thousands of other items at a fraction of their original cost. Many items brand new. For list of hun-

Former Pickens Man Assistant Agronomist At Miss. State U.

John W. (Bill) McKie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKie of Pickens has been named assistant agronomist of the Agricultural Extension Service with headquarters at Mississippi State University.

He will advise county Extension agents throughout the state in educational programs with corn, soybeans and 4-H Club agronomy work. He fills a vacancy in the Extension agronomy staff, said W. M. Bost, associate director, and M. S. Shaw, director of Extension.

Mr. McKie entered Extension in February 1957 as associate county agent of Amite County. There he helped to lead outstaning work in Balanced Farm and Home Planning and in Rural Development.

He helped many farmers to improve the quality of their roughage for dairy cows. Chemical weed control for grain crops and pastures was another successful effort.

Since last June he had served as county agent of Lawrence County.

Before joining the Extension Service, Mr. McKie managed a beef cattle and cotton farm in Yazoo County. He is a native of Holmes County and a 1949 graduate of Mississippi State University.

With his wife and two children, he is residing in Starkville.

Miss Vanderver Speaks At 4-H Council Meet

Carolyn Vanderver, national 4-H Club winntr, of Holmes Junior College was featured speaker at the Junior 4-H Council meeting Saturday morning in Lexington.

Miss Vanderver made a talk on her recent trip to National 4-H Club Congress which she attended in Chicago. She also showed slides of Chicago which were made during her stay there.

Carolyn, whose home is in Yazoo County, is a National Yard Beautification winner.

The regular business session was held prior to the program with officers in charge.

Executive TU Meet Set For January 16th

On Tuesday, January 16 at

READ AND USE WANT ADS FOR FAST RESULTS

Graveside Rites Held For Paul T. Jones

Graveside rites for Paul Thurmond Jones, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Jones of Durant were held Friday, December 29th in Mizpah Cemetery with the Rev. R. E. Wasson officiating.

Baby Jones was born and died in the District Two Hospital on December 29th.

In addition to his parents, he leaves his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs Avery Wilson of Durant; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of Goodman; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Hodges, Durant; Mr. Jim Jones, Goodman and Mrs. Myrtle Ables, Coxburg.

Southern Funeral Home of Durant was in carge of arrangements.

Eulogy - Coxburg Harland's Creek

Mrs. J. A. Hearn, Reporter

Phone 649-W-1

After an illness of more than a year Miss Ophelia Netherland passed away last Thursday afternoon. She was 83 years old. Of a family of 13 children there remains now only six. Burial services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Coxburg Methodist Church adjacent to the cemetery where her parents, two sisters and two brothers are resting. Rev. Roy Raddin, pastor of the Tchula Baptist Church gave a most consoling talk to the family and friends attending the service.

Mrs. C. A. Harthcock from El Paso, Texas came Friday to attend tht funeral of her aunt, Miss Ophelia Netherland. She remained for a few days visit with her mother, Mrs. Ama Wallis. She went to Jackson on Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Percy Taylor, where she left by plane for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harthcock and Mr. and Mrs. Jeb Reeves were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hearn.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE — Television sets, large stock of new, used and demonstrators at prices tailored to suit your pocketbook. Easy terms, too. Call or visit Jordan's Radio and TV Service in Lexington, phone 40, 107 North Vine.

FOR SALE: Dachshund puppies. Registered AKC. Contact Rev. B. F. Lee, Goodman, Mississippi, Phone 2901. 38-3tnp

FOR SALE — New or used Television sets and Antennas. Will trade. Easy terms can be arranged. Jordan Radio and TV Service, Lexington, phone 40.

FOR SALE — Farmall Cub Tractor with equipment. Phone or see Walter Smith at The Advertiser Office, phone 666 days or residence phone 394, Lexington.

MAC DONALD'S ALMANACS FOR SALE — 1962 Edition now on hand, at The Lexington Advertiser office. 35 cents per copy.

ADMIRAL REFRIGERATORS and FOOD FREEZERS will do the job you need done this summer and for years to come. See our fine stock of both. Jordan's Radio and TV Service, Lexington, phone 40. Easy terms may be arranged.

ABC WASHERS, fully automatic, will lighten your household duties and make summer living more pleasant. See these economical models at Jordan's Radio and TV Service in Lexington. Phone 40. Investigate our Easy Terms.

FOR SALE — RCA Television set. Will trade. Easy terms can be arranged. Jordan Radio and TV Service, Lexington, Phone 40.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT — Two room apartment at 302 North Jackson Street, Durant. Call 141-W after 4 p. m. 31tfnp

FOR RENT: Five (5) room furnished house on 340 Depot St. Write Mrs. Jack Williams, Box 1145, Tupelo, Miss. or call Tupelo, V12-7463. 21-tfnp

NOTICE

NOTICE — Beginning January 1, 1962, the Jackson State Times Sunday paper will be 80 cents per month; the Memphis Press Scimitar Sunday paper will be $1.50 per month; All magazines will be $1.75 per month. Tchula representative, D. Netters, Box 41, Tchula, Mississippi. 40-1t-np

NOTICE — The Charlotte Simmons Seigers house, 414 Carrollton Street, Lexington, Mississippi is not for sale. The will being presented by Doris and Jimmy Anderson is no good. Contact Carrie Simmons Hawkins, 321 Simpson Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee 33tfnp

AGENTS WANTED TO SELL BURIAL INSURANCE. See or call Lindsay's Enterprise Funeral Home, Durant, Miss. Telephone 337. 37-tfnp

NOTICE — To all State Times subscribers:
All payments must be made between the 31st and second day of each month to prevent delay in future deliveries. No credit allowed.
The same rules apply to the Memphis Press-Scimitar subscribers. We will appreciate your cooperation.
D. Netters, representative, Box 41, Tchula 41--2tnp

MAGNIFICENT SPINET PIANO
Will place in responsible hands at modest price or convenient payments. Fully guaranteed. Write before we send truck Joplin Piano Co., Joplin, Missouri. 41- 1tpd

"Business Opportunities"

"EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY": Reliable man or woman full or part time, to service route of automatic vending machines. No selling or soliciting. $945 to $1890 cash required. Route established locally for operator. Please don't waste our time unless you have the necessary capital. If fully qualified and able to take over at once, write briefly about your background and include phone number for personal interview.
PAK DISTRIBUTING CO., 4150 Central Ave. N. E., Minneapolis 21, Minnesota

It is not "un-American" to disagree with others, regardless of what positions they occupy.

PECANS AND FURS

We Buy Pecans — Top Market Prices—See Us Before You Sell!
LEXINGTON IRON AND METAL COMPANY
Phone 660 Lexington

Teresa of Canton visited Mrs. Carl Arnold and Mrs. Nina Holmes over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Campbell have returned home after a pleasant visit with their children in Birmingham, Alabama.

Mrs. Nell Snavely left Tuesday for Jackson after spending a few days at home.

Mr. Victor Dunn of Greenwood called by for a short visit with Mr. L. B. Tucker Sunday afternoon.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS SALES

Now anyone can buy Direct from U. S. Government Surplus Depots, by mail for yourself or for resale. Cameras, binoculars, cars, jeeps, trucks, boats, hardware, office machines and equipment, tents, tools, and tens-of-thousands of other items at a fraction of their original cost. Many items brand new. For list of hundreds of U. S. Government Surplus Depots, located in every State and overseas with pamphlet "How Government Can Ship Direct To You," plus procedures. How To Buy and how to get Free Surplus, mail $2.00 to Surplus Sales Information Services, P. O. Box No. 1818, Washington 5, D. C.

Mr. Carlton Aldridge of Durant attended to business and visited relatives Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McGehee have returned home after several days with their children in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Autry and children of Durant visited relatives Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilma Brock returned home Wednesday after spending a month with relatives in Arizona.

Mr. John Norwood and Mr. Earl Maddox are patients in the Lexington Hospital. Their many friends wish for them a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bicker were business visitors in Lexington Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. A. R. Bicker and Mrs. T. H. Brister called on Miss Minnie Armstrong of Carmack Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mattie Edwards of Heidelburg spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Thornton.

Mrs. A. C. Autry and Larry Harvey shopped in Jackson Friday.

Miss Mary Browning of Jackson came up Friday for a visit with relatives.

Weeks and children in Cleveland recently.

Mrs. Roy Edwards and children spent Monday with Mrs. John Bruce of Carmack.

Airman Second Class William Lee Edwards is home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denton Edwards. He is stationed in Atlas, Oklahoma.

Airman Second Class Robert Earl Goss of Kansas is spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Delma Goss.

Among those who attended the basketball game in Vaiden Friday night between West and Vaiden were Mrs. Martin Peninger, Mrs. Denton Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, Mrs. Joe Rigby, Miss Dorris Rigby, Mrs. Arthur Self and Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Gelston. West won both boys and girls games.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Willis of Brandon spent the New Year's Holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards.

Mrs. Robert Edwards was guest of her daughter in Durant Monday, Mrs. H. R. Simmons and Mr. Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Frazer of Kosciusko spent the day with their children and grand children, the Denton Edwards' Monday.

The friends of Mrs. Bell Goss are sorry she is so sick. We all hope she can feel better soon.

Mrs. Bettie Neil was a Memphis visitor for the New Year holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bruce and son of Carmack was a visitor Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mildred Rigby and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Toby Jenkins of Hesterville recently.

Mrs. A. I. Campbell was a visitor in Vaiden Sunday afternoon.

A "Who's Who' survey of prominent New Yorkers revealed that 87 per cent of the artists have savings accounts, exactly the same percentage as lawyers.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday

With his wife and two children, he is residing in Starkville.

Miss Vanderver Speaks At 4-H Council Meet

Carolyn Vanderver, national 4-H Club winntr, of Holmes Junior College was featured speaker at the Junior 4-H Council meeting Saturday morning in Lexington.

Miss Vanderver made a talk on her recent trip to National 4-H Club Congress which she attended in Chicago. She also showed slides of Chicago which were made during her stay there.

Carolyn, whose home is in Yazoo County, is a National Yard Beautification winner.

The regular business session was held prior to the program with officers in charge.

Executive TU Meet Set For January 16th

On Tuesday, January 16 at 7:30 p. m. the Holmes County Training Union Executive Committee will meet at the First Baptist Church in Lexington.

At this time previous plans will be put into action.

All members of the executive committee, training union directors, and pastors are urged to attend this important meeting.

A pot-luck supper will be served. Each person is asked to bring a covered dish.

MISCERAMIC TILE PLANS EXPANSION

Misceramic Tile, Cleveland, announced plans to increase production floor space by approximately one third. Organized in 1958, Misceramic Tile is owned completely by Mississippians. At its recent annual meeting of stockholders, officers of the company reported that the 1960-61 sales were 65 per cent greater than those of its first year (1958-59) and that October- November, 1961 sales were 63 per cent greater than those for the same period in 1960. Misceramic produces a complete line of floor, wall and decorator ceramic tile.

Sell Your Merchandise Through The Pages Of The Lexington Advertiser — You Will Find That It Will Move Much Faster!

Phone 645-W-1

After an illness of more than a year Miss Ophelia Netherland passed away last Thursday afternoon. She was 83 years old. Of a family of 13 children there remains now only six. Burial services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Coxburg Methodist Church adjacent to the cemetery where her parents, two sisters and two brothers are resting. Rev. Roy Raddin, pastor of the Tchula Baptist Church gave a most consoling talk to the family and friends attending the service.

Mrs. C. A. Harthcock from El Paso, Texas came Friday to attend tht funeral of her aunt, Miss Ophelia Netherland. She remained for a few days visit with her mother, Mrs. Ama Wallis. She went to Jackson on Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Percy Taylor, where she left by plane for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harthcock and Mr. and Mrs. Jeb Reeves were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hearn.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Netherland and family and Mrs. Kate Hackler of Jackson visited Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Netherland on Sunday.

Rev. Jimmy Jackson was a Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. Minnie Marshall.

Mrs. Ama Wallis and Mrs. C. A. Harthcock spent Sunday with Mrs. Percy Taylor.

This is the time of year when much sickness is prevalent, and many in our community are victims. Those very ill at present are Mr. J. S. Ables, Mr. Raif Harthcock, Vardaman Ables and Houston Ables. We pray, if it's the Lord's will, they will soon be well.

MONUMENTS

Why pay undertakers and catalog salesmen 40% commission when you can buy direct from a manufacturer.

You will be better satisfied when you select from our display yard.

We will be glad to send our manager, Mr. Harold R. Sides, or answer by mail or telephone.

DAVIDSON MARBLE & GRANITE WORKS
Kosciusko, Miss.

come. See our fine stock of both. Jordan's Radio and TV Service, Lexington, phone 40. Easy terms may be arranged.

ABC WASHERS, fully automatic, will lighten your household duties and make summer living more pleasant. See these economical models at Jordan's Radio and TV Service in Lexington. Phone 40. Investigate our Easy Terms.

FOR SALE — RCA Television set. Will trade. Easy terms can be arranged. Jordan Radio and TV Service, Lexington, Phone 40.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT — Two room apartment at 302 North Jackson Street, Durant. Call 141-W after 4 p. m. 31tfnp

FOR RENT: Five (5) room furnished house on 340 Depot St. Write Mrs. Jack Williams, Box 1145, Tupelo, Miss. or call Tupelo, V12-7463. 21-tfnp

District Two Community Hospital

Mr. Weir Kyle, Durant
Mr. Tom McBride, Durant
Mr. John B. Cummins, Sallis
Miss Sara Melton, HJC
Ricky Burrell, Durant
Mr. A. W. Weeks, West
Mrs. Jeff Browning, Goodman

subscribers. We will appreciate your cooperation.
D. Netters, representative,
Box 41, Tchula
41--2tnp

Prices—See Us Before You Sell
LEXINGTON IRON AND METAL COMPANY
Phone 660 Lexington

LINDSAY'S ENTERPRISE FUNERAL HOME, INCORPORATED

Announces

6 PERCENT DIVIDEND

JEROME E. LINDSAY, President

The stockholders of Lindsay's Enterprise Funeral Home, Incorporated as of record December 31, 1961 will receive a Six Per Cent Dividend on their investment. The checks will be placed in the mail on or before February 20, 1962 or credit will be given toward additional shares.

Present stockholders can make additional investments and other interested persons with funds earning less than Six Per Cent are invited to share in the growth and profit of this fast growing enterprise.

We can be contacted through mail at P. O. Box 9, Durant, Mississippi or phone 337 in Durant.

New DELTA QUEEN is a showy cotton with lots of eye appeal!

DELTA QUEEN COTTON for '62

STAPLE LENGTH: 1-1/16" to 1-3/32" under average conditions; longer under more favorable conditions.

LINT PER CENT: 38% to 40% under average to good conditions.

FIBER QUALITY: Excellent fiber and yarn strength, uniform length and desirable micronaire. Mill buyers who have seen it like it!

COKER'S PEDIGREED SEED — BLOOD WILL TELL

See your local seedsman for DELTA QUEEN planting seed

Delta Queen is a brand new cotton bred and developed by Coker's Pedigreed Seed Co. especially for Delta conditions. It's early, a very high yielder, well-suited to both hand and machine picking, and is a cotton with a lot of character. Combines a high degree of resistance to Fusarium wilt with good tolerance to Verticillium wilt—extra protection that's there when you need it. Delta Queen is as good a cotton as you can grow. Plant at least a trial acreage this year!

Twenty Years Ago . . .
A U. S. Savings Bond was a Share of Freedom . . .
It Still Is!

In the dark, uneasy days foreshadowing World War II, United States Savings Bonds became "Defense Bonds". Then Pearl Harbor, and millions of Americans backed the attack with War Bonds. Remember the giant rallies and parades . . . the appeals by top sports figures like the Sultan of Swat, Babe Ruth, and the Manassa Mauler, Jack Dempsey — movie stars like Lucille ("I Love Lucy") Ball, Fred Astaire, James Cagney and Greer Garson? People at home and even our fighting men overseas bought Bonds for victory.

Since the war, the peace we thought would be lasting has been threatened time after time. The need for keeping America strong — strong to keep the peace and the freedoms we cherish — is more urgent than ever.

By buying U. S. Savings Bonds regularly, you share in that job and at the same time you save for your own financial security in the years to come.

Let's mark the 20th Anniversary of Savings Bonds by buying them regularly. They're still shares of freedom!

BUY U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

This advertising is donated by The Advertising Council and this newspaper.

The Lexington Advertiser

THIS IS A REPRODUCTION OF A PAPER BEING PRINTED AT LEXINGTON, MISS., BY MRS. HAZEL BRANNON SMITH, EDITOR OF THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER AND THE DURANT NEWS.

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number Ten | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, February 17, 1962 | 10 Cents Per Copy

10th Annual NAACP Regional Conference Set

Martin Luther King Visits Clarksdale

Clarksdale, Miss. — Feb. 10 The days of February 7th and 8th of 1962, will be long remembered by all the citizens of Clarksdale and Coahoma County. These two days witnessed the presence of the Rev. Martin Luther King and three other workers in the Freedom Struggle. Clarksdale and Coahoma County went all out to extend him welcome. That is all except the local editor of the Clarksdale Press Register (editorial and answer enclosed). Even the State Sovereignty Commission was represented among the citizens that witnessed his presence. Rev. King met with students, farmers, housewives, ministers, laymen and all strata of human beings. Even the pool rooms were not off limits. The dyanamic Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker was very much present also. The image of the Rev. King was well known but few had

Jackson State College Receives $19,550.00

Jackson State College recently received two National Science Foundation grants totaling $19,550 according to an announcement by J. L. Reddix, President of the College.

The larger grant, the first to be received, is for $14,300 and is to be used to finance a Summer Science Training Program for Secondary Students. The Jackson State College grant is one of 154 made by the Foundation which will make it possible for approximately six thousand superior secondary students to get special training in the sciences during the summer of 1962. The grants went to institutions in 41 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Objectives of the program are as follows: (1) To help identify high ability secondary school students who have excellent potential for becoming scientists;

February 22-25 Masonic Temple

The 10th Annual Southeast Regional Conference of NAACP will convene in Jackson, Mississippi February 22-25. The Ministers Conference, which is scheduled to begin on February 22, will feature such outstanding speakers as Rev. R. L. T. Smith and Rev. Theodore Trammell, candidates for Congress from Mississippi; Father Theodore Gibson, of Miami, and others. The Ministers Banquet is slated for Thursday night at the Farish Street Baptist Church. Ministers and their wives are invited ..

The general conference begins on Friday with Gloster B. Current as the speaker for the opening mass meeting, for Friday night.

There will be workshops all day Saturday and a Freedom Fund Awards Dinner Saturday night with Attorney Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, Arkansas as the principal speaker.

Sunday at 3:00 o'clock at the

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number Ten | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, February 17, 1962 | 10 Cents Per Copy

10th Annual NAACP Regional Conference Set

Martin Luther King Visits Clarksdale

Clarksdale, Miss. — Feb. 10 The days of February 7th and 8th of 1962, will be long remembered by all the citizens of Clarksdale and Coahoma County. These two days witnessed the presence of the Rev. Martin Luther King and three other workers in the Freedom Struggle. Clarksdale and Coahoma County went all out to extend him welcome. That is all except the local editor of the Clarksdale Press Register (editorial and answer enclosed). Even the State Sovereignty Commission was represented among the citizens that witnessed his presence. Rev. King met with students, farmers, housewives, ministers, laymen and all strata of human beings. Even the pool rooms were not off limits. The dyanamic Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker was very much present also. The image of the Rev. King was well known, but few had met the Rev. Walker and he endeared thousands while here. The word is when is that Tall Skinny Preacher coming back. Rev. Walker spoke for the mass meeting of the Coahoma County Federated Council of Organizations on Wednesday night, February 7th. Rev. King spoke at the Trammell for Congress Rally Thursday night, Feb. 8th. Both spoke to capacity audiences. The estimate of the crowds vary from 2000 to 5000. Any way there was a large number of people. Invitations were extended to all citizens of the community but none of our white citizens availed themselves to be present. Apparently they would rather not know the truth concerning the Rev. King. They would rather stand off and criticize in ignorance.

Founders Day Program Celebrated At Campbell February 12 and 14

J. P. Campbell College celebrated a two-day session of the Annual Founders Day Program February 12-13. It was the most sucessful session held for the college.

More money was reported than ever before, which totaled more than $40,000. The Building Fund Committee recommended an extension program to the board of new buildings for the campus.

Bishop F. D. Jordan, chairman of the Board was given a vote of thanks for his fine and outstanding service for the college.

Dr. R. M. Stevens is president of J. P. Campbell College and Miss Ellen M. Wilson is treasurer.

A good look at the family budget reduces the vacation fever.

Jackson State College Receives $19,550.00

Jackson State College recently received two National Science Foundation grants totaling $19,550 according to an announcement by J. L. Reddix, President of the College.

The larger grant, the first to be received, is for $14,300 and is to be used to finance a Summer Science Training Program for Secondary Students. The Jackson State College grant is one of 154 made by the Foundation which will make it possible for approximately six thousand superior secondary students to get special training in the sciences during the summer of 1962. The grants went to institutions in 41 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Objectives of the program are as follows: (1) To help identify high ability secondary school students who have excellent potential for becoming scientists; (2) To help accelerate the scholarly development of these students through providing the opportunity for instruction in scientific content and methods by scientists of recognized stature; and (3) To help develop cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

A grant of $5,250 was made to the College to support an undergraduate Science Education Program for the year beginning June 1,1962, and ending July 31, 1963. The Jackson State College grant is one of 350 grants made to college, universities, and nonprofit research institutions. The program has as its objective the development of superior students of science in their understanding of research investigative procedures and scientific methods, as well as concepts and materials of science. The program is now in its fourth year.

The program is designed to furnish support for those able undergraduates capable of be coming creative scientists or engineers. The stress in the program is placed upon the need of the student to grow as an independent scholar, through activities characterized by freedom for the student to demonstrate his capacity for creative enterprise with minimal supervision.

Students receive nominal stipends while engaged in the programs, and are chosen on the basis of applications made to the institutions receiving the grants.

Both programs will be directed by Dr. B. H. McLemore, head of the Jackson State College Mathematics Department.

A human worthiness can only be measured by the performance of the individual.

MRS. RUBY HURLEY, Southeast Regional Secretary for NAACP will direct the Tenth Annual Southeast Regional Conference Meeting in Jackson, Mississippi, February 22-25, 1962.

Mrs. Hurley's offices are in Atlanta, Georgia, where she supervises NAACP operations for six Southern States which include: Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Florida.

February 22-25 Masonic Temple

The 10th Annual Southeast Regional Conference of NAACP will convene in Jackson, Mississippi February 22-25. The Ministers Conference, which is scheduled to begin on February 22, will feature such outstanding speakers as Rev. R. L. T. Smith and Rev. Theodore Trammell, candidates for Congress from Mississippi; Father Theodore Gibson, of Miami, and others. The Ministers Banquet is slated for Thursday night at the Farish Street Baptist Church. Ministers and their wives are invited ..

The general conference begins on Friday with Gloster B. Current as the speaker for the opening mass meeting, for Friday night.

There will be workshops all day Saturday and a Freedom Fund Awards Dinner Saturday night with Attorney Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, Arkansas as the principal speaker.

Sunday at 3:00 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, Jackie Robinson and Floyd Patterson, co-chairmen of the NAACP's Fighting Funds for Freedom, will be joined by comedian Dick Gregory; Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore; New York Yankees Catcher Elston Howard and St. Louis Cardinals outfielder Curtis Flood, in a mass meeting.

People are expected to come from all parts of the state of Mississippi as well as many parts of the Southeast for the mammoth meeting.

The public is invited to come early for seats at the Masonic Temple.

NAACP Asks Army To Clarify Stand On Dixie Segregation

New York — Has the United States military establishment adopted a policy of aiding local Mississippi police in compelling uniformed Negro servicemen to comply with illegal Jim Crow customs?

This question has been posed by NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins in a letter to Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of the Department of Defense. dispatched on February 6 and released here last week.

Mr. Wilkins raised this issue with the nations' Defense chief following receipt of an affidavit sworn to by Pvt. Earnest L. McBride who alleges that, after his arrest by local police in the Greyhound bus Station in Jackson, Miss. on Jan. 30, he was warned by Major Wilbur C. Marks of the United States Army to abide by local segregation practices.

Major Marks, according to the affidavit, said that the Provost Marshal at Fort Gordon, Ga., agreed with local police officers in dropping the charges against the serviceman "provided that McBride heed their warning not to again become involved in any violations of state laws while traveling trough any state, particularly Mississippi — as long as Pvt. McBride is in the Military."

Moreover, the affidavit continues, Major Marks offered personally to show McBride "how to use the bus station waiting rooms so as not to get in trouble in Mississippi. He suggested that if Pvt. McBride were in doubt, he should ask before using facilities."

Pvt. McBride swore that in entering the bus station he was under the belief that racial segregation had been abandoned in accordance with recent regulations of the Interstate Commere Commission. He was arrested by Police Captain J. L. Ray on a "breach of the peace" charge after he had been ordered to move out of the waiting room which Jackson police are trying to maintain for "whites only" although all such signs have been removed from the station.

Mr. Wilkins' two-page letter to Secretary McNamara reviewed the incidents in the case, raised sharp questions as to the position and policy of the Defense Department, and concluded with the suggestion that "the developing policy of locating space and missile installations in Mississippi and in nearby states which share her views on separation from the authority of the Constitution may be tantamount to locating these installations in hostile foreign countries which subscribe to a totalitarian, rather than a democratic, governmental system."

The NAACP leader called upon the Secretary of Defense to "clarify at once" the Department's stand on the questions presented by Pvt. McBride's arrest."

Specifically, he asked Secretary McNamara:

"Is it the policy of the Department of Defense to advise Negro men in the service to obey local ordinances and state laws which prescribe racial segregation and other forms of discrimination, even when these have been ruled to be contrary to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States.

"Does the Department of Defense designate Major Wilbur C. Marks and others to demonstrate to Negro men in uniform how to conform to illegal local laws and customs, even in the face of declarations like that of

(Continued On Page Two)

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

Published every Saturday by the HiCo Publishing Company, Inc. at 1072-1 West Lynch Street, Jackson, Mississippi, Phone FL 5-7345.

This paper is published weekly in Jackson, Mississippi. Application to mail at second class postage rate is pending at Jackson, Mississippi.

Subscription price: $5.20 per year — $2.60 for six months — 10 cents per copy.

The Mississippi Negro Is Not Satisfied

This editor can not help but be concerned about affairs in this State that affect the lives of most of its citizens. We have a "way of life" here that is comparable to that of the people of South Africa. In Mississippi we are supposed to have a Democratic form of government. The government is supposed to be of the people and for the people. But in Mississippi we have a government of white folks, by white folks, and seemingly for the best interest of white folk. How else can you explain there not being any Negroes in government in Mississippi, except for the informers working for the Sovereignty Commission. The governor has no Negroes in the Executive Branch; there are no Negro Legislators. There are no Negro judges. Can it be worse in Africa? Yet there are people who tell our officials, who tell the world, that the Mississippi Negro is satisfied. How stupid is the Mississippi Negro supposed to be! The disturbing thing is that there are too many people who ought to know better who seem to believe that the Negro IS satisfied. These people point with pride to the progress being made in the Negro Community. The Mayor of Jackson likes to tell about the "Nigra" auditorium and the "Nigra" swimming pool in Jackson. The officials can point out the beautiful Negro homes, the beautiful public schools and the new buildings at Jackson State College. These things are good but is it progress? The Negro still has to ride in the back of the city buses. He still has to drink from a "colored fountain." He still has to attend inferior schools; he still lives in unplanned, segregated communities; he still is the last to be hired and first to be fired. He still is not a judge; he does not serve on the jury—not really. He is not a sheriff of his county. He is not a tax assessor or circuit clerk nor does he hold any other elective office. Yet the Mississippi Negro is supposed to be satisfied. No official seems to want to believe otherwise.

Now this is disturbing to the Mississippi Free Press. We know that the Mississippi Negro is NOT satisfied. We know though there are some strong points to show that he is. For example, there has been some progress of sort. Also the Negro has not raised many shouts of DISSATISFACTION. These are facts. But it is only when these facts are moved out of simple isolation into the texture of life itself that these undisputed facts become part of a much more complex vision of Negro life.

In Mississippi justice is unevenly distributed. Yet we have had a type of peace here. This peace has been at the expense of the Negro. The Negro has shouldered this burden in silence. This silence has been mistaken for satisfaction. This misunderstanding will, if it continues, ruin this State. Mississippi whites are going to be shocked and hurt by what will happen here if they allow our officials to continue to hear none but the loudest noises.

To The MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS
1072-1 West Lynch Street
Jackson, Mississippi

Please add my name to your mailing list as a subscriber to the Mississippi Free Press.

I enclose a check ☐ or Money Order ☐

$5.20 for one year ☐

$2.60 for six months ☐
(Check which you prefer)

Name _____

Address _____

(Street or P. O. Box)

_____

(City and State)

(A gift subscription may be entered and sent to friends anywhere in the state — or in the United States. A card will be mailed to recipient announcing gift, if desired.)

Letters To The Editor

This is a difficult question and in our present state of uncertain knowledge, no satisfactory answer can be given. We may indicate, however, some of the evidence which is available. We shall start with a critical evaluation of the data concerning the relative equality of the races, using Kroeber's classification as the basis for discussion.

Some of these theorists have attempted to rest their conclusions on the assumption that the various races — Negroid, Mongoloid and Caucasoid represent different stages in the biological evolutionary process. Those furthest advanced in the evolutionary scale are assumed to be biologically superior to the others. The degree of biological advance is supposedly measurable by the degree of divergence from the ape. Thus the Negroid is alleged to be inferior because of his supposedly greater similarity to the anthropoid ape, his prognathous jaw, receding forehead and broad, flat nose being cited as evidence But if one compares the texture of the hair, thickness of lips, or amount of hair on the body, he finds that on the basis of these criteria the caucasoid is more like the ape than is the Negroid.

Intelligence tests have been applied to different races in the course of educational and military procedures. They indicate that for the United States, the Negriod ranks lower, on the average, than the caucasoid. But the range of intelligence in each group is very great; in fact, it has been found that nearly one-half of the Negroes tested have an intelligence rating above the average made by the white people tested. Granting these facts, we must point out that they prove nothing concerning the innate mentality of the races. From current results of mental test there is no basis for dogmatic conclusions concerning the relative mentality of races.

One cannot answer with certainty until he has more facts at his disposal. It may be noted however, that amalgamation is one of the oldest facts of history. The mingling of races have been going on so long and so persistantly that there are few, if any, pure racial types. The Racial Determinists note the facts of racial mixture and the facts of social decline and declare that these groups of facts are related, but their procedure is far from being scientific, for the evidence available is meager and inconclusive and mostly of a negative character. It does not warrent a dogmatic conclusion.

All References:
Floyd N. House, George A. Hedger, Adolph Hitler, Madison Grant and Kroeber.

Some students of culture have gone so far as to declare that all cultural development is the result of contacts of peoples. While such position is probably extreme, we are forced to admit that in most historic instances, the hypothesis that culture changes result from contacts of people is more tenable than the hypothesis of racial or geographic determinations.

Consider the usual attitude of Caucasoid toward the Negro. The commonly accepted idea of his intrinsic inferiority is not based upon any adequate proof of inferiority for there is no adequate proof but rather upon the basis of the practice segregations, discrimination and the low-caste status to which we assign him in our social system. That is to say, it is his historic background—the ideas, beliefs, and attitudes associated with him rather than an establisehd inferiority, that gives him his low-caste position. It is this social concept of the Negro that commonly determines our behavior toward him, rather than authenic biological data; and the same principles hold true for our racial biases generally.

In looking for a "pure type" one might turn to isolated Africa, but Kroeber will not permit even this to be considered an exception. The direct comparison between whites and Negroes will always remain a doubtful procedure because of the impossibility of controlling the various factors which may influence the results.

Clinton C. Collins, Sr
The Parents Association

Dear Editor:

"Special Recommendation Of Students Who Participated In The Race Relations Conference Of The Woodrow Wilson School, Fall 1961, Thursday Section:"

Although this Conference believes that Princeton University does not intentionally discriminate in considering the applications of American Negroes, we believe that many qualified Negro students are not aware of the fair consideration which their applications would find here. Therefore the Conference hereby recommends that the Director of Admissions of Princeton University embark upon an energetic program of recruiting qualified American Negro students for the Class of 1967. We feel that if at least two per cent of the class are American Negroes, that this would represent a significant first step in this effort. It is further recommended that a copy of this resolution be sent to the relevant Negro scholarship agencies in order that they may assist the University in finding qualified Negro students. Nothing in this recommendation should be construed as suggesting that this Conference believes that Princeton University actively discriminates against Negro applicants."

"Unfortunately, people have tended to ignore the basic point of the resolution (Princeton has almost no American Negro students — so there is either discrimination somewhere along the line, or there is left standing such a myth), and even quite prominent people have attacked it by trying to maintain that it proposed a quota. (Having a per cent of any kind mentioned was unfortunate, but this resolution clearly just says that if about 20 Negroes were to be in the class of 1967, then that would certainly represent a constructive change. Princeton now averages less than one Negro per class.) Let us hope that Northern students can rally to the real problems of hypocrisy and prejudice in the North. We certainly have an inspiring example to follow in the Southern Negro student. Wouldn't it be great if such realities and prospects signaled the beginning of progress in the total sphere of American Politics!

R. Hunter Morey

NAACP Asks—

(Continued from Page One)

Capt. J. L. Ray of Jackson that 'no segregation matter was involved' in the arrest of Pvt. McBride?

"If in truth no segregation matter was invoved, for what purpose was Major Marks offering his services as a demonstrator?

Is the Department of Defense officially teaming up with the State of Mississippi in that state's policy of unconstitutionally and indecently humiliating United States Citizens of color?"

Dear Editor:

A local paper recently ran an article by the citizens council leader warning against black supremecy. He called it a "nightmarish dream." Nightmares certainly can destroy a persons reason. Only the wild brain dictator type like facists and communists have those kind of unAmerican dreams. If we could just forget the "power control dream," trust the true processes of democracy and let the voluntary voice of the individual rule through the ballot those nightmares wouldn't bother us. When reason is destroyed by the super-phobia disease it is impossible for the afflicted individual to have any understanding of American Democracy.

Mr. Simmons says, "The power of Negro Mass Organizations and white moderates has brought us to this pass." That is a figment of the dream. The truth is the power of the immoderates mass organization has inflamed and encouraged the wilder element and brought us to this sorry pass when our state is famous for the primitive traditional beatings and race killings. If the fanatical supertarian will shake the dream out of his feverish brow and look at the light he will see that the injustice of white supremecy is a reality worse than the nightmare that plagues his imagination. The truth is the almighty didn't endow any of us with qualifications to act supreme over other people. He kept that position for Himself. Mr. Simmons intimates that the law suits against the gullying monster Jim Crow are an assault on the very foundations of society. Another figment of the nightmare. Those suits are a patriotic assault on the termites in the foundation. The bacteria that breeds the mind twisting disease "supremecy" which destroys mens power to distinguish right from wrong. Then from the depths of the nightmarish dream he comes up with some more wild eyed imagination that is far out of the American scene. He says, "Another phase of the same war is the appearance in Mississippi of the first Negro candidates for Congress since reconstructions." How far off of the beam can the supertarian fever take a man? Is it supposed to be a "Breach of the Peace" for a citizen to run for office just because he isn't a member of the supertarian clan? Does he forget that this is America as well as Mississippi or has his suffering imagination wandered off to Russia? He winds up with a warning to the franchise bandits to be on guard by saying the Negro Bloc Vote can get dangerous. This is another blind spot produced by the class culture disease. The afflicted mind can not see that the white vote has been acting as a bloc to tyrannize the Nergo for seventy-five years. The effects of the disease have so marred the brain tissues and warped the viewpoint that such wrong things actually look right to the afflicted mind.

Yours truly,
White Jacksonian

A single isolated incident of rank race injustice could be construed as being the wild-eyed fury of a mind stragely distorted and poisoned by the un-American disease of caste culture, but such cases are usually approved of and supported by the multitude, indicating this reason-destroying disease to be of epidemic proportions.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday!

'Y' To Sponsor 'Teen Time Twist'

Farish Street Branch YMCA will sponsor a mammoth social affair for teen-agers on Tuesday night, February 27th, at the the Masonic Temple on Lynch St. On hand, as emcee for the occasion, will be the famous Jobie Martin, dynamic, personality-plus, high powered radio personality. He will do the honors as entertainer for the night.

The highlighting feature of the dance will be a "Twist" contest to be held in three intervals across the evening. Three to five judges will be selected to determine the winner. The affair is designed to attract the cream of the teen age group from all sections of the city.

The YMCA Teen Council is spearheading the promotion of this dance which is being given in behalf of the re-election campaign now being waged by the encumbent Mayor of Bronzeville the Honorable Henry E. Briggs.

Chaperones for the dance will be adult members of several of the organizations of the YMCA.

Attend Church Sunday!

ROBINSON SHOE SHOP
For Good Shoe Repair
264 Whitfield Mills Road
Shopping Center

FULLER PRODUCTS
"Fine Cosmetics and Households"
842 N. Farish Street
FL 5-4401, Jackson, Miss.

Conic's Beauty and Barber Supply
615 N. Farish Street
FL 3-3266

TOUGALOO NEWS

By LARRY HUDSON

SUMMER SCIENCE TRAINING PROGRAM FOR HS STUDENT

Opportunities to obtain intensive experience in science and mathematics will be provided for approximately 7,500 high ability secondary students during the summer of 1962 by 151 colleges, universities and research organizations with the support of the National Science Foundation. By giving science oriented high school students an introduction to science at the college level the Foundation experts to accelerate their scholarly development and to encourage the further development of similar programs with other sources of support.

President A. D. Beittel of Tougaloo Southern Christian College, Tougaloo, Mississippi, has announced that one of these science training programs for high ability secondary school students will be held on the campus of Tougaloo Southern Christian College. The program will include 50 carefully selected high school students who are completing the eleventh and twelfth grades. Courses will be offered in Biology, Physics and Chemistry under competent instructors. Each student will be expected to take two courses from the above mentioned three. The Summer Science Training Program will last for six weeks from June 11 to July 20.

Substantial financial aid is provided for the students who attend, by the National Science Foundation. Top ranking high school students in five states—Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi will be invited to attend.

Qualified high school students interested in this an unusual opportunity to improve their scientific training and insights may write for further information to Dean A. A. Branch, Tougaloo Southern Christian College, Tougaloo, Mississippi, who will be director of the program.

Successful citizens is the practice of good relationship between and among people or citizens.

Rust College News

By E. W. Davis

THE WARM WEATHER SMILE OF "RUST"

The soft smile of Miss Marian Swancy is typical of the ones worn by the entire student body at Rust College when the astonishing sudden trend of warm weather began. Just like Miss Swancy illustrates, the usual scene of bulky-coat wearing students is substituted by light sweaters and shirts. The most distinguishing notation is the bright sunlight reinforced by the impeccant smile.

NAACP Seeks More Power For Proposed FEPC Committee

Washington, D. C. — The NAACP has asked for more authority for the commission that will administer the proposed Federal Equal Employment Act, on which hearings have been held before the House Special Subcommittee on Labor.

The bill seeks the elimination of employment discrimination because of race, color, religion or national origin.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP's Washington Bureau, this week took his organization's argument for inclusion of enforcement powers in the measure directly to members of the House Committee on Education and Labor.

This powerful body is chaired by Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York City.

In identical letters to all committee members under date of February 1, Mr. Mitchell urged the Congressmen to sponsor an amendment giving the commission the right to conduct hearings, make findings and enforce a policy of non-discrimination under its own authority.

Under provisions of the bill at present the commission would "merely be an investigatory body," Mr. Mitchell said.

"The NAACP has consistently taken the position," he continued, "that any fair employment legislation, in order to be effective, must create a commission with strong enforcement powers."

The NAACP spokesman took issue with a portion of the pro-

(Continued on Back Page)

I See Men Not Free

I hear men cry for freedom,
But where my eyes can see—
I see men in chains,
I see men not free.

I see the ebonies,
I see the blacks—
Yea, where my eyes can see,
I see the men not free.

I hear them plead for justice,
But where my eyes can see—
I see men unjust,
I see men not free.

I hear them pray for mercy,
But where my eyes can see—
There is no mercy,
I see men not free.

I hear the ebonies shout for freedom,
Yet where my eyes can see—
I see the blacks, I see the men,
I see men, I see men, not free!

By Soloman S. Rudolph, student

In Rebellion

I was not asked to be born—
To live, to die,
To watch a million scenes go by.
I did not ask to be given a soul,
To have sympathy, to care
To have my very being offended
But I rebel,
My being to be defended.

I did not ask to be called black
To have a heart,
To sigh, to smile.
Now I rebel that the fates
Have compelled my life
To live, to love,
And die in strife.

I rebel against the very Ground I tread.
Against my comrades,
Their deceitful talk,
The very sound I dread.
I rebel till in death
My soul shall find Peace
In either heaven or hell.

— Solomon S. Rudolph —

LAUREL NEWS

By JAMES N. BROWN

The Laurel Youth Council of the NAACP presented a Talent Program Sunday, February 4 at 3:00 p. m., at the St. Elmo Baptist Church.

An enthusiastic group was presented to witness vocals and instrumentals, readings and recitations which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The Laurel Youth Council Chorus was present to lend choral support to the program.

We are very greatful to all who helped this program to be a success, and to the pastor, Rev R. D. Holloway, the energetic pastor of St. Elmo Baptist Church. We also thank the officers and members for the priviledge of having our program at this friendly church.

LIZ'S BEAUTY SHOP
428½ Front Street
Phone 426-9672
Laurel, Miss.

"We Service All Makes Of Radios & Electrical Appliances"
CASTON'S APPLIANCE
3624 Whitfield Mill Road

JONES PHARMACY
In Business For Your Health
Dial FL 2-8381
FREE DELIVERY
912 Lynch Street
Jackson, Miss.

State Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association
Chartered by the Federal Home Loan Bank of Washington, D. C.
Member of the Federal Home Loan Bank System
Accounts Insured Up To $10,000 by The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation
Do you plan to buy, build, or repair your home? State Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association has ample funds to help you through a conventional first mortgage.
ADVANTAGES OF DOING BUSINESS WITH STATE MUTUAL:
1. Liberal Earnings — Four per cent interest compounded semi-annually is paid on all savings.
2. Savings May Be Withdrawn At Any Time — Savers get all or any part of their money at any time.
3. Your Savings Helps To Create job opportunities for you and your children.

The Security Life Insurance Company
Home Office — Jackson, Mississippi
Telephone: FL 3-4954 — 1328 Lynch Street
Announcing Its Cash Funeral Service Golden Eagle Policies
$250.00 — $300.00 For Ages 55-65.
$25.00 — $300.00 — $500.00 Plans Are Available For Ages 1-55 On Either Whole Life Or 20 Payment Life.
District Office — 125½ N. Farish St.
Telephone FL 5-3577
Jackson, Mississippi

Wells Furniture Co.
"Terms Will Fit You"
"SAVE AT WELLS"
DIAL FL 5-7843
409 North Farish Street
Jackson, Miss.

CORE Attacks Racial Segregation In Chicago, Illinois

The non-violent struggle for freedom as seen in the Southern sit-ins is presently occuring in other areas of the country. In the Windy City, the Congress of Racial Equality has opened an attack upon racial segregation practices of the University of Chicago and the closely associated University City Realty Corporation.

For a number of years the University of Chicago, the second largest land holder in Chicago, has maintained a policy of "controlled" integration, i. e., enough Negro people have been permitted to live in Hyde Park to give the appearance of an interracial community, and no more. At the same time the political ambitions of the University trustees have required that the segregation be concealed.

Chancellor Beadle of the University of Chicago stated that the goal of the University's off-campus housing program is to achieve a "stable integration" in the community. He further stated that the integration process must not be so rapid as to frighten whites into fleeing from Hyde Park area. In other words, the University maintains this policy of segregation in order to prevent too rapid an influx of Negroes.

Opposing this viewpoint, Bruce Rappaport, chairman of the University of Chicago CORE stated in the school newspaper: "the University cannot justify or sustain a policy whose net result is the denial of equal opportunity to the Negro race." University of Chicago CORE feels that an integrated neighborhood cannot be acheived by a secret and privately controlled policy of segregation.

In the beginning of January the Southside unit of CORE in conjunction with University of Chicago CORE conducted a number of test cases at the University City Realty Corporation which handles most of the University's real estate holdings. In each case, Negroes, even if they were University of Chicago students, were refused apartments which were offered to whites.

On January 22 representatives of the University of Chicago CORE presented the University with a set of demands asking that the University: state publicly that they will not discriminate on the basis of race or creed in the administration of their property; refrain from supporting any other realtor who discriminates on this establishing an official board with equal representation from the administration, faculty, and student body, and delegate to that board the full power to make binding decisions on all cases brought before it.

When no agreement could be reached with the University by Tuesday, January 23, a rally was held by University of Chicago CORE and forty students began a sit-in outside Chancellor Beadle's office. They remained there in day and night shifts for a number of days, while Chancellor Beadle appropriately took a trip to California. The University then had the students arrested; they were not sentenced by the court, but the University put them on thirty days probation during which time any more sit-ins would merit expulsion. This is not likely to deter a large demonstration planned for later this week.

At the same time, the Southside unit of CORE, after being told by manager Kendall Cady of University Realty that the company would not talk with the group or reveal any part of their business procedures to outsiders, began sit-ins there.

On Wednesday, January 24, a team of 13 demonstrators led by Miss Jo Adler sat blocking the entrance of the real estate firm. At closing time the office had them arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. These individuals remained in jail overnight; on Thursday the charges against them were dismissed by Judge Harry Comerford, who stated, "I understand the motives for this protest and am in favor of them. However, you should try not to inconvenience others."

Sit-ins at University Realty were resumed on Friday, again resulting in the arrest of the participants. This time they remained in jail over the weekend. At the trial they were each found guilty of trespassing by another judge, and given a suspended fine of ten dollars.

This week a third group of nine demonstrators, led by Rev. Hugo Lemming sat-in and was arrested. According to Milton Davis, chairman of Southside CORE, the sit-ins will continue at the University of Chicago and at University Realty until workable negotiations are accomplished.

Invest now in the future of Mississippi — Plant more pine trees today!

State Senate Introduce Bill To Appropriate $1,500,000 To State Public Junior Colleges

Further aid to public junior colleges should not reinforce already existing inequalities.

I read in the Clarion Ledger on Tuesday, Feb. 6, that a bill which would appropriate $1,500,000.00 to state public junior colleges for instituting and developing special vocational and vocational technical education was introduced in the state senate recently.

The bill is described as "the second step" of Governor Ross Barnett's industrial program and provides for the State Board of Education and the Junior College Commission to make a thorough study of vocational and technical courses now being offered at several junior colleges and — to analyze the industrial and economic needs for skilled, semi-skilled and technical manpower requirements of the state and the particular areas in which the junior colleges are located.

I have pointed out before, that Mississippi, more than any other state, suffers from the dual problem of an excess of unskilled and a shortage of skilled workers, that this problem is very closely connected with the large percentage of Negro citizens in this state, that Negroes, throughout the entire nation, are denied access to apprenticeship programs and vocational technical training programs, that they are, even properly trained, denied access to skilled and semi-skilled jobs.

The present inequalities in the state program for public junior colleges bear witness to these terrible injustices:

Mississippi has fourteen public junior colleges serving white students and only three serving Negro students.

In the school year 1958-59, the state allocated $1,522,484.64 to educate 11,228 students in the colleges serving whites and only $147,923.17 to educate 1,631 students in the colleges serving Negroes. This was roughly in the ratio of $1.00 per Negro student for $10.00 per white student.

We all know that these inequalities in the field of educatiton compound with the years so the situation is much worse than the statistics indicate, bad as they are.

No program for preparing Mississippi for future industrialization will be in any way effective until it comes to grip with this more fundamental problems: How is Mississippi to train and utilize all the human resources at its command, including the Negro!

R. L. T. Smith,
Candidate For Congress

Question And Answers Of Interest To Veterans

Q—My father, no longer living, had a total of 30 days of military service, all during World War I, and he had no service-connected disability. My mother has no income of her own. Is she eligible for a pension from the VA?

A—No, thirty days of service is not long enough to meet the requirment for such a pension.

* * * *

Q—Can wives and children of veterans be treated in VA hospitals?

A—Not unless they are also veterans in their own right. However, VA hospitals may furnish emergency treatment to anyone, to save a life, but payment must be made to cover the cost of the care.

NAACP Seeks More—

(continued from page three)

posed bill that would require the commission to seek court action on every case of bias that it found.

This would result in "procedural strangulation and inordinate delay," Mr. Mitchell said.

Unless amended, he concluded, "it is difficult to see how organizations interested in civil rights could call this an acceptable bill."

Worship together this Sunday!

FERNWOOD GROCERY
"Excellent Service & Selections"
1403 Fernwood Drive
Phone EM. 2-1752

JOHNSON LOCK AND KEY SERVICE
815 North Farish Street
Jackson FL 3-3268

CATHING'S GROCERY
Fresh Meats — Ice Cream
1045 Dalton — Jackson, Miss.

VALLEY STREET BEAUTY SHOP
1234½ Valley Street
FL 2-0915
Lois Portis and Annie Paige

LOSING HAIR?
New secret growing hair aid, Lan-A-Mink Scalp treatment with mink oil. Two oz., $1.98. Customers say . . . "It makes my hair grow and I can see new hair coming. Free Beauty-Health Catalog and healthy hair Plan. No obligation. Ad worth 25c C.O.D. accepted.
CHAMPION PRODUCTS
Memphis, Tennessee
Attention Dr. Champion

Harmon's Drug Store
"Prescriptions"
FREE DELIVERY
540 N. Farish Street
Jackson, Miss.
Phone FL. 5-2309

CALL DeLUX CAB
"Quick Service"
Ask For Cab 375
Driver, W. T. Allen
Jackson Phone FL 5-4119

L. C. CARR
Auto Parts and General Repair
Phone 3525702
Lynch Addition, Jackson

NEW SMACKOVER CAFE
1091 Lynch Street
FL 5-9434
Zonie Forte, Owner

"Pleasing You — Pleases Us."
D and L SHOE REPAIR
For All Your Shoe Needs
1085 Lynch Street
FL 2-9546

Kollege Kleaners
Dry Cleaning,
Altering, and Laundering
1114 Lynch Street
FL 2-9328
One Day Service

Home Improvement
New Homes
Rehabilitation
Fred Scott
Builders and Contractors
1114½ Lynch Street
over Kollege Kleaners
Loans: F.H.A. — G. I.
Conventional

If You Don't Call Us — We Both Lose Money!
STEEL CHAIN LINK
NO DOWN PAYMENT
Payments As Low As $10.00 Per Month
Color Chain Link Fences — Non-Climbable Wire Fences
All Type Wood Fences
J. G. WELLS, Fence Erector And Sales
637 W. Woodrow Wilson Dr. Jackson
Dial EL 3-1314 Or FL 5-7843

MOMAN'S
FINE FURNITURE
Box 33, Tougaloo, Miss. Phone EM. 6-6297

SMITH'S
SUPER MARKET
1253 Valley Street R. L. T. Smith, Jr., Mgr.

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER

Official Organ Of The General M. B. Convention Of Mississippi

Volume III | MARCH EDITION — 1962 | Number 1

Natchez College Founder's Day Observed March 7

Belzoni's Green Grove Church Will Host Extra Session Of Sunday School-BTU

Congress Convenes On March 15-16; Pre-Convention Program Wed.

Green Grove Missionary Baptist Church of Belzoni will host the Extra Session of the Baptist State Sunday School and Training Union Congress in a two-day meeting on March 15-16.

Dr. J. W. Gayden of Greenwood is president of the Congress and the Rev. J. D. Thurmond is pastor of the host church.

A pre-convention program will open the session on Wednesday night at which time talks will be made by officers and a period of singing enjoyed.

Program Given

The Thursday morning session will begin with a song service at 9:00 a. m., followed by a devotional period by the Rev. G. H. Hines. At 9:30 a Bible period will be held with the Rev. F. D. Mathews as leader. Enrolling will be held at 9:45 followed by remarks by President Gayden.

Beginning at 10:15 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. fifteen-minute talks will be given

Seminar will be conducted with the Rev. J. D. Thurmond, leader and the Rev. P. F. Parker, instructor. Fifteen-minute talks will again be held in the afternoon beginning at 4:00 and continuing through 4:45 by Layman Otha Smith, the Rev. C. C. Coleman, the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, and the various auxiliaries in charge.

At 5:30 Dr. R. W. West, president of the General M. B. State Convention of Mississippi will give his address followed by the evening offering.

Professor A. P. Johnson will give a talk on Visual Aid in Christian Education at 6:30.

At 7:00 p. m. a song service will precede the evening message which begins at 8:30 with the Rev. C. L. Clark doing the preaching.

Friday Session

The Friday session will get underway at 9:00 a. m. with a song service, and devotional period followed by Rev G. H. Hines. A reading of the first day's activities will be held followed by lectures by the Rev. D. Matthews, the Rev. S. L. Bowman, the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, the Rev. C. F. Jordan and a solo by

President Of Convention Is A Busy Man

Dr. R. W. West Pastors Four Hinds Churches

One of the busiest men in the General Missionary Baptist State Convention is its distinguished president, the Rev. Dr. R. W. West — and his friends far and wide marvel at his ability to hold down so many responsibilities.

Dr. West and Mrs. West reside on an attractive farm in Hinds County where he was born and lived all his life.

In addition to operating the cattle farm he pastors four churches preaching eight sermons every month.

He has been pastor at St. Thomas Church, Clinton, for forty years and at Mt. Zion, Raymond, since 1934. His church at Learned, Morning Star, is observing his 25th or Silver Anniversary as pastor and El Bethel at Bolton is enjoying its twenty-second year under Dr. West's leadership.

But running a farm full-time and pastoring four churches does not by any means describe fully the work and responsibilities of Dr. West.

For 38 years he has been secretary of the First Baptist voted father and mother.

DR. R. W. WEST

Mrs. Alminnie West Hardaway, a daughter, resides at Marks and a son, Sergeant Robert Lee West, is in the service of his country and where her husband is principal. Mrs. Berdia Stine West Allen teaches in the Detroit schools and Barnes M. West of Jackson teaches at Meridian.

a member of its Board of Trustees. He is also a trustee of the Baptist Seminary and on the Board of Directors of the National Baptist Convention of the U. S., Inc.

Expresses Thanks

Dr. West said he wishes to express his gratitude for "the very fine way" in which the Convention has stood by him since he assumed the office of president. He said members have given "very loyal support" to the Convention and wants to express his appreciation for their consideration and interest.

"I feel especially grateful for the work that is being done by and through the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress led by Dr. J. W. Gayden, and the fine work being done by the women under the direction of Dr. Elnora D. McGowan," he said.

Special Drive

In a special Founder's Day appeal issued in February by Dr. West, all members of the convention and leaders are being asked to support the drive for $10,000 in funds for the use of Natchez Junior College.

Dr. West is looking forward with anticipation to Founder's Day and hoping and praying that the fine cooperation of the Convention, which has been notable in

77th Anniversary Of School Will Attract Throng Of State Visitors

Baptists from all over Mississippi will join in the celebration of Founder's Day at Natchez Junior College on Wednesday, March 7th, the 77th birthday of this educational institution sponsored by The General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi. On Founder's Day it is hoped $10,000.00 can be raised by members of the Convention for the benefit of the school.

Convention President Dr. R. W. West of Bolton has contacted by letter all pastors, moderators and presidents of all Auxiliaries in the State Convention asking their presence at the Founder's Day celebration on the College campus and their support in the financial drive.

President of Natchez Junior College, Dr. J. R. Buck, has also sent out letters to friends and supporters of the college asking that they attend.

Dr. Buck is in charge of the program of Founder's Day which will be highlighted with the anniversary sermon by the Rev. W. C. Mazique, moderator of the A.M.B. Association of Adams County and treasurer of the State Convention.

A serious drama will be presented by members of the College Dramatics Club at the morning session and the College Choir will be presented in a concert at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Rev. W. C. Mazique Preaches Sermon

REV. MAZIQUE

The Rev. W. C. Mazique will preach the inspirational Anniversary Sermon at the Founder's Day Celebration at Natchez College March 7th.

will host the Extra Session of the Baptist State Sunday School and Training Union Congress in a two-day meeting on March 15-16.

Dr. J. W. Gayden of Greenwood is president of the Congress and the Rev. J. D. Thurmond is pastor of the host church.

A pre-convention program will open the session on Wednesday night at which time talks will be made by officers and a period of singing enjoyed.

Program Given

The Thursday morning session will begin with a song service at 9:00 a. m., followed by a devotional period by the Rev. G. H. Hines. At 9:30 a Bible period will be held with the Rev. F. D. Mathews as leader. Enrolling will be held at 9:45 followed by remarks by President Gayden.

Beginning at 10:15 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. fifteen-minute talks will be given by the Rev. D. Matthews, the Rev. S. L. Bowman the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, the Rev. C. F. Jordan and the Rev. L. R. Chandler in that order. At 11:30 the introductory sermon will be given by the Rev. S. A. Allen of Marks, Moderator of the Quitman County Association, followed by announcements and recess for lunch.

The Thursday afternoon session will convene at 2:00 p. m. at which time a reassemble forum will be conducted by the Deans and Directors using the subject Home Department, Stewardship and Departmental Problems.

At 3:00 o'clock a Minister's Otha Smith, the Rev. C. C. Coleman, the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, and the various auxiliaries in charge.

At 5:30 Dr. R. W. West, president of the General M. B. State Convention of Mississippi will give his address followed by the evening offering.

Professor A. P. Johnson will give a talk on Visual Aid in Christian Education at 6:30.

At 7:00 p. m. a song service will precede the evening message which begins at 8:30 with the Rev. C. L. Clark doing the preaching.

Friday Session

The Friday session will get underway at 9:00 a. m. with a song service, and devotional period followed by Rev G. H. Hines. A reading of the first day's activities will be held followed by lectures by the Rev. D. Matthews, the Rev. S. L. Bowman, the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, the Rev. C. F. Jordan and a solo by Mrs. C. W. Steward, from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m.

Special music will be furnished by the Natchez College Rally at 12:00 noon followed by a sermon by the Rev. E. D. Ward.

The afternoon session will reassemble at 2:00 beginning with a song service followed by reports from the auxiliaries.

Friday night's activities will be climaxed with a talent program at 6:00 p. m. with M. C. Hills, State Field Secretary in charge.

All Sunday School and BTU members are asked to support the convention by their presence and in any way possible.

his friends far and wide marvel at his ability to hold down so many responsibilities.

Dr. West and Mrs. West reside on an attractive farm in Hinds County where he was born and lived all his life.

In addition to operating the cattle farm he pastors four churches preaching eight sermons every month.

He has been pastor at St. Thomas Church, Clinton, for forty years and at Mt. Zion, Raymond, since 1934. His church at Learned, Morning Star, is observing his 25th or Silver Anniversary as pastor and El Bethel at Bolton is enjoying its twenty-second year under Dr. West's leadership.

But running a farm full-time and pastoring four churches does not by any means describe fully the work and responsibilities of Dr. West.

For 38 years he has been secretary of the First Baptist Union of Hinds County and has served as moderator of the Hinds County Baptist Association for 25 years. In the latter post he followed the late Rev. Frank Davis as both moderator of the Hinds Association and as pastor of the Morning Star Church.

Dr. West has been president of the General M. B. State Convention since 1958, succeeding the late Rev. H. H. Humes of Greenville, who died January 1, 1958.

The West family is a closely knit one though the children are scattered and their present vocations show the result and influence of the fine Christian home in which they were reared by a devoted father and mother.

DR. R. W. WEST

Mrs. Alminnie West Hardaway, a daughter, resides at Marks and a son, Sergeant Robert Lee West, is in the service of his country and now stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Other children: Mrs. Countess West Pickett teaches at the new school in Greenwood where her husband is principal. Mrs. Berdia Stine West Allen teaches in the Detroit schools and Barnes M. West of Jackson teaches at Mercenhall.

Dr. West, whose interest in Christian education is well known by all his associates is an enthusiastic supporter of Natchez Junior College and Convention has stood by him since he assumed the office of president. He said members have given "very loyal support" to the Convention and wants to express his appreciation for their consideration and interest.

"I feel especially grateful for the work that is being done by and through the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress led by Dr. J. W. Gayden, and the fine work being done by the women under the direction of Dr. Elnora D. McGowan," he said.

Special Drive

In a special Founder's Day appeal issued in February by Dr. West, all members of the convention and leaders are being asked to support the drive for $10,000 in funds for the use of Natchez Junior College.

Dr. West is looking forward with anticipation to Founder's Day and hoping and praying that the fine cooperation of the Convention, which has been notable in the past, will continue to and through Founder's Day in the hopes that this ambitious program may be successful.

Convention President Dr. R. W. West of Bolton has contacted by letter all pastors, moderators and presidents of all Auxiliaries in the State Convention asking their presence at the Founder's Day celebration on the College campus and their support in the financial drive

President of Natchez Junior College, Dr. J. R. Buck, has also sent out letters to friends and supporters of the college asking that they attend.

Dr. Buck is in charge of the program of Founder's Day which will be highlighted with the anniversary sermon by the Rev. W. C. Mazique, moderator of the A.M.B. Association of Adams County and treasurer of the State Convention.

A serious drama will be presented by members of the College Dramatics Club at the morning session and the College Choir will be presented in a concert at 2:30 in the afternoon.

$10,000 Goal

To raise the $10,000 which is "desperately needed" by the College, according to President West, every member in the convention is asked to bring or send through his pastor or otherwise the sum of seventy-seven cents, (77c), one penny for each year of Natchez College's existence.

Each pastor is asked to give ten cents for each of the college's 77 years, or a total of $7.70 per church; each layman Executive Board member and each ordained minister not pastoring is being asked for $3.77 and each County Association for $77.00.

The Woman's Auxiliary State Convention, headed by Dr. Elnora D. McGowan, president, is asked to donate $577.00 and the State Sunday

(continued on page two)

Rev. W. C. Mazique Preaches Sermon

REV. MAZIQUE

The Rev. W. C. Mazique will preach the inspirational Anniversary Sermon at the Founder's Day Celebration at Natchez College March 7th.

The Rev. Mazique is treasurer of the State Convention and moderator of the A.M.B. Association.

A splendid Christian, members of the Convention are looking forward to a wonderful message on Founder's Day from the Rev. Mazique.

Baptist Observer Plans To Expand; Cooperation Asked

Monthly Hopes To Become Weekly In Near Future

Pending selection of an Editorial Board plans will be explored at an early date to convert the monthly Baptist Observer into a weekly publication — and to extend its news coverage throughout the state.

The action will be taken in accordance with a Resolution adopted by the extended session of the Convention in Jackson on November 21, 1961 presented by Dr. W. L. Terrell, editor of the Baptist Observer and chairman of a Special Committee of the State Sunday School and BTU Congress which sponsored the Resolution for convention approval.

Dr. J. W. Gayden, president of the SS and BTU Congress, initiated the original action to expand The Observer at the Congress in Grenada in October and appointed a special committee to work on it at that time.

The resolution drawn up by the special committee which met at Greenwood on November 1st and later read by Dr. Terrell, chairman, for the Convention's adoption November 21st at St. Luther's, is as follows:

Resolution Given

Greenwood, Miss.
November 1, 1961

We recommend that the General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi in extended session on November 21, 1961, approved the conversion of The Baptist Observer, a monthly, to a weekly publication immediately, or as soon as feasible; That its size be enlarged to full newspaper size, and that the scope of its service

(continued on page two)

"The Baptist Student In Orbit" Will Be Theme Of BSU Retreat March 30-April 1

BSU Event Planned At Baptist Center

"The Baptist Student In Orbit" will be the theme of the Baptist Student Union Retreat which will convene on March 30 through April 1 in Jackson. This event will be held at the Baptist Center, beginning at 5:00 p. m. on Friday.

The Retreat is sponsored by the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board, Dr. Chester L. Quarles, executive secretary - treasurer; Department of Work with National Baptists of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, Mr. Guy Bellamy, secretary; Mississippi Baptist Seminary, Dr. William P. Davis, president and director of Baptist Student Work with National Baptist in Mississippi; and Department of National Baptist Student Union, S. E. Grinstead, director.

The Retreat will use as its theme on Friday night, "All that will live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." II Timothy 3:12.

Registration will be from 5:00 to 6:00 p. m. on Friday, followed by a program at 7. A fellowship period will close Friday evening's activities.

The convention will open again at 7:30 Saturday morning with "Morning Watch" held by the Natchez College BSU. Following breakfast at 8:00 the program will get underway using the theme. "But watch thou in all things." II Timothy 4:5

Lunch will be served at the noon hour.

The Saturday afternoon session will be based on the scripture, "Keep that which is committed to thy trust." I Timothy 6:20. The Saturday evening session will be highlighted with a banquet at 7 with Mr. Fred McDowell as toastmaster. Mr. Paul Purdy will be the speaker.

Sunday morning's activities will begin with breakfast at 8:00 and close with worship services at which time Dr. S.

(continued on page two)

Women's Auxiliary Is Active...

Mrs. McGowan Heads Women With 36 Years Service

A most important part of the work since 1910 of the General Missionary Baptist State Convention is performed by the Women's Auxiliary whose members give the utmost in zeal and devotion to everything they undertake

And the work of the Women's Auxiliary is inspired by consecration to God and their love and respect for the lady who has headed the Women's Auxiliary since July of 1926 — Mrs. Elnora D. McGowan, who has given thirty-six years of service over and above what is normally expected in Christian witnessing.

MRS. ELNORA McGOWAN

Dr. McGowan, a retired school teacher, lives in Edwards in solitary comfort in her attractive home — but her seven devoted children, all living in Illinois, and the ladies of her Women's Auxiliary, keep her active and interested in everything going on in the world.

Dr. McGowan taught school for forty years at Edwards, where she is well loved and respected by the people of her community. Her husband, Charlie McGowan, died in 1945. She has been retired as a teacher for nineteen years.

Six of her seven children live in Chicago where her three daughters all teach school and three sons are in business for themselves. The girls are Mrs. Aleda M. Jones, Mrs. Mildred M. Weems and Mrs. Delois M. Porter. The sons are John McGowan, in the bond business and Vernon and A. B. McGowan, both in the restaurant business.

A seventh child, Mrs. Emma M. Lathon, who has taught at Corinth, Mississippi for fourteen years, is now studying Counseling and Guidance at the University

(continued on page three)

Rev. Gayden Heads SS-BTU

Venerable Leader Is Much Loved In Convention

One of the most venerable men in the General Missionary Baptist State Convention is the Rev. J. W. Gayden, of Greenwood.

It is not for his eighty-five years alone that we honor a beloved man who has served the Master for more than sixty years in preaching the story that has brought men to Christ.

No more faithful or valuable member of the State Convention could be named and The Baptist Observer believes we should recognize and honor the great men and women of the convention while they are still with us, let them know we recognize their great value and service while they are still living, not waiting until they are gone to give them flowers.

On June 7th, last, Dr. Gayden celebrated his 85th birthday. A fine birthday celebration was held at the home of his son, Fred Gayden, in Chicago as this well known Christian leader was returning from Buffalo, New York, where he had attended the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress of which he is Vice President and a Board member.

This happy celebration was to be the last reunion with his son who passed in January at a time when Dr. Gayden was ill and unable to attend the rites.

Another son, the Rev. R. B. Gayden, is teaching in a ministerial school in Detroit. There are eight grandchildren, four in each of his son's families.

Their mother was the late Kaytie Gayden of Belzoni, who passed in 1931, after many happy years together.

The present Mrs. Gayden (Lela Bernice), to whom he has been married for 29 years, shares his interests and is a wonderful helpmate and companion.

And what interests they are!

One wonders at the rigorous schedule followed by Dr. Gayden, one that would extend many much younger men to follow successfully.

Dr. Gayden in November,

(continued on page three)

DR. J. W. GAYDEN

Editor's Corner . . . .

I HAVE BEEN THINKING ABOUT THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW.

The greatest challenge that faces our youth, our leaders of tomorrow, is the challenge to create a world dedicated to peace. In these days of world conflict, to which there seems to be no end, human hearts, young and old alike, long for peace. These three things are necessary for peace. They challenge us, and they will challenge our youth tomorrow.

Dr. Terrell

Humanity must reach the first Mile Post.

The first mile post of peace is the longest step in man's journey toward God.

We must be united with God.

We live in a divided world, commercially, politically, socially and spiritually.

We must take the highway Jesus trod. His highway of mercy, love and peace leading homeward to God.

We live in a world so dominated by tension and fear that we find the news of war overshadowing the news of the hungry and homeless. Everywhere men's hearts search for peace. The craving for peace and contentment is expressed in almost every though and deed of our leaders as well as our people.

HUMANITY MUST REACH THE FIRST MILE POST.

Since the days of creation and in man's thousands of years of existence upon earth, he has not reached the first mile post. The mile post of peace. This seems to be the longest step in man's journey toward God. He desires to be a Child of God, but he has difficulty in reaching the mile post of peace with God, with himself, and with his fellowmen.

This teaching of Jesus "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called children of God," places the condition of peace and contentment and the solution to our hunger for peace

Christ knew this need and His words, as recorded by St. John, touch the very heart of the problem of both inner and outward peace." Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it afread."

Christ understood the hunger in men's hearts for peace, and these words spoken as He was going away, strike a responsive chord in hearts of millions today.

We must be United with God.

The Carpenter of Nazareth understood construction and reconstruction. He understood the building of a soul. He understood a broken and divided soul. He sought to mend broken souls. All of us are familiar with the inner conflicts within our souls. Jesus understood this also.

There can be no peace in a divided soul.

Christ as a young leader wanted peace, just as our young people want peace.

He could have kept the peace He loved so much by preaching in the Gallilee and village, healing the sick and preaching His message of love and comfort but he set His face toward Jerusalem where the Cross and His Sacrifice to reconcile men to God awaited Him.

WE MUST TAKE THE HIGHWAY JESUS TROD.

The path to peace lies along that broad highway which the Master trod. A highway as wide as God's love. A highway as broad as God's mercy. A highway as forgiving as the depths of God's infinite grace. Along this pathway humanity will reach the first milestone of peace within himself.

Along this highway which the Master trod, man will find the second mile stone, peace with others. Along this highway which Jesus walked, man will find the third mile stone, peace with God.

Our young leaders of tomorrow must face this holy challenge and strive to bring Christ's peace to a hun-

Methodist Church Leads Top Ten In U. S.; National Baptists USA Have Five Million

The 1962 Yearbook of American Churches indicates that about 90 per cent of all Protestant church members in America are found in 22 denominational groups or families. Relative strengths of family groups are quite stable.

In 1960 there were 28 Baptist bodies with an inclusive membership of 21,148,862.

Next were Methodists (21 bodies) with 12,424,623; Lutherans (15 bodies) with 8,080,867, and Presbyterians (10 bodies) with 4,333,249.

A comparison of the 1960 figures with those of 1959 shows that the Methodist Church is still the largest among Protestant denominations in America.

The Protestant Episcopal Church pushed the United Presbyterian Church out of fourth place while the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod climbed into seventh place ahead of the United Luthern Church of America.

The newly-organized American Lutheran Church appeared in the listing for the first time.

The top ten U. S. denominations are:

Methodist Church	9,893,094
Southern Baptist Convention	9,731,591
National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc.	5,000,000
Protestant Episcopal Church	3,444,265
United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.	3,259,011
National Baptist Convention of America	2,668,799
Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod	2,391,195
American Lutheran Church	2,242,259
United Church of Christ	2,241,134

The Baptist Observer Wants To Serve You

This edition of The Baptist Observer is being prepared on request of the Official Board of the Convention voted at the meeting held at Farish Street Church early this year.

A number of features for the edition had been planned which did not materialize simply because the material could not be secured although extensive efforts were made to get it. Perhaps they can be carried later.

We had hoped also that a number of pastors would send in news items relating to their churches and auxiliaries, building programs, improvements, increase in membership, or anything along that line in which their fellow pastors and other members throughout the Convention would be interested. As the paper is published more regularly it is hoped that pastors will send in their news each week or month.

The Baptist Observer can be enlarged and made into a paper that will be of great service to every church and pastor in the state. In can help to enlist more members and inspire the ones we have to do a better job in their churches, communities and the Convention. It can be of tremendous assistance in carrying the Lord's work forward in a great way in the Convention and the state.

All of these things CAN be done if each and every person interested will make some effort by sending in news and suitable material to be used in future issues.

If you are wondering what kind of material to send, just think about it in this way, ask this question: "Will this news or material be of interest to other people in the Convention like myself?"

If the answer is "Yes" then send it in to Dr. W. L. Terrell, editor, The Baptist Observer, P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Miss.

The Observer covets your prayers and your interest, as well as your cooperation in sending in news.

As our paper grows and develops, the Lord willing, we hope to see it one day as a welcome visitor in the home of every Baptist family in the State of Mississippi.

Woman's Day Program Held February 25 At Greater Clark Street Church, Jackson

Miss Doris Wilson Speaks On Uniting Forces To Improve Christian Education

A capacity audience was in attendance at Greater Clark Street Missionary Baptist Church in Jackson on Sunday, February 25, and witnessed a very befitting and timely WOMAN'S DAY PROGRAM which was filled with inspiration throughout its duration, including the Sunday Church school which the women also conducted.

At the regular morning service hour, invited guests from the following churches were present: New Strangers Home — Mrs. Eulice Williams; Anderson Chapel (donation) White's Chapel (donation); Pearl Street — Mrs. Selena Butler; Farish Street — Mrs. Cleo Mason; New Hope, Roach Street — Mrs.

the results.

This was the "starter", the next is being planned to be a "record-breaker" for this year, in finance, at least.

May each member look forward to that end.

April 15 Deadline For SS Coverage

Ministers have an important decision to make by April 15, 1962, if they want social security coverage. That is the final date for filing a waiver certificate to elect coverage if they have not already done so.

If a minister files a waiver certificate by April 15, 1962, he will receive coverage for 1960 and 1961 providing he has at least $400 net earnings from his profession. There is no coverage for those who have less than $400 net earn-

Natchez College—

(continued from page one)

School and BTU Congress, of which Dr. J. W. Gayden is president is being asked to give $177.00.

The State Ushers, headed by Mr. W. L. Glenn, has been asked for $107.70, and the State Laymen, formerly headed by the late H. D. Adams, are expected to donate $57.70.

Those unable to attend the Founder's Day in person at Natchez are urged to send their donations on or before in care of the College.

CORRECTIONS NOTED

In scanning the Personal Enrollment list published in the last issue, several names were omitted and they are as follows:

Dr. Fred B. Black, $125.00; Dr. J. M. McEwen, $130.00; Dr. J. M. Kimble, $125.00; Dr. J. D. Thurmon, $75.10; Prof. T. J. Huddleston $75.00.

By the
Executive Secretary

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

Resolved, That the Executive Board of the General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi and the membership of the entire Convention learn with very deep regret of the death of Mr. B. L. Hooks, who was one of the Board's active members until he was physically incapacitated; serving as Chief Usher at the general sessions of the Convention for many years and meeting the requirements of a Board member whose devotion was an inspiration to all members; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the offiial organ of the Convention for publication as well as a copy to the immediate family of the deceased.

Rev. R. W. West, President
C. L. West, Executive Sec.

This 6th day of February, 1962.

H. D. Adams, of Estell, State President of Laymen and assistant Director of Bap

Baptist Observer—

(continued from page one)

be extended to state-wide news coverage for Baptists in Mississippi; We further recommend that an editorial board be selected by this body to be empowered with the authority or task of getting the enlarged publication underway — and that said editorial board will be given full responsibility to attend to all matters relevant to the publication; also, that the editorial board be further empowered to designate additional members on the board as the need may arise.

SUNDAY SCHOOL and BTU CONGRESS

Signed:
Dr. J. W. Gayden,
President

Committee:
Rev. C. C. Coleman
Rev. S. A. Allen
Rev. W. L. Terrell, Chmn.
Rev. L. C. Wilcher
Rev. P. F. Parker

We live in a world so dominated by tension and fear that we find the news of war overshadowing the news of the hungry and homeless. Everywhere men's hearts search for peace. The craving for peace and contentment is expressed in almost every though and deed of our leaders as well as our people.

HUMANITY MUST REACH THE FIRST MILE POST.

Since the days of creation and in man's thousands of years of existence upon earth, he has not reached the first mile post. The mile post of peace. This seems to be the longest step in man's journey toward God. He desires to be a Child of God, but he has difficulty in reaching the mile post of peace with God, with himself, and with his fellowmen.

This teaching of Jesus "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called children of God," places the condition of peace and contentment and the solution to our hunger for peace directly upon ourselves.

lived so much by preaching in the Gallilee and village, healing the sick and preaching His message of love and comfort but he set His face toward Jerusalem where the Cross and His Sacrifice to reconcile men to God awaited Him.

WE MUST TAKE THE HIGHWAY JESUS TROD.

The path to peace lies along that broad highway which the Master trod. A highway as wide as God's love. A highway as broad as God's mercy. A highway as forgiving as the depths of God's infinite grace. Along this pathway humanity will reach the first milestone of peace within himself.

Along this highway which the Master trod, man will find the second mile stone, peace with others. Along this highway which Jesus walked, man will find the third mile stone, peace with God.

Our young leaders of tomorrow must face this holy challenge and strive to bring Christ's peace to a hungry world.

Founder's Day

Seventy-Seven Years Of Service At Natchez

This edition of The Observer honors the school of which we are all so proud, Natchez Junior College, its administrative staff and faculty, and its students.

The General Missionary Baptist State Convention is pleased that it can play a part in supporting and sponsoring this fine institution which is accredited by the Junior College Accrediting Commission of the State of Mississippi and the Mississippi State Department of Education.

A continuous program of Christian education has been maintained at Natchez Junior College since it was founded in 1885 — seventy-seven years of offering young people a liberal education within the framework of Christion principles.

In the words of the college, Natchez College "seeks to provide for its students an opportunity for intelligent and creative participation in contemporary living and to develop and maintain in its faculty and student body standards of excellence in scholarship, character, and self-expression which will better assure continuous adjustment to life's situations. Achievement of these broad objectives is sought through a general, yet functional curriculum of junior college instruction, and through an enriched program of co-curricular activities."

Members of this Convention are proud of the fine records made by so many boys and girls who have received their training at Natchez Junior College. We hope the number will be multiplied in the days and years ahead.

The world is in desperate need of leadership, not of the common or ordinary variety, but of the excellent or extraordinary kind — the kind of leadership that is best nurtured, we believe, in a liberal arts school with emphasis on Christian principles and ethics.

The world and our country need excellence of character and mind in its citizens in order to reach its highest destiny as a nation.

It is our hope and prayer that Natchez Junior College will continue in the future, as in the past, to do its share toward turning out the highest type of responsible citizens, ready to take their place in tomorrow's world, well-equipped and unafraid.

The Baptist—

(Continued from Page One)

Leon Whitney will bring the message.

Program Personnel

Mr. Fred McDowell, State BSU President, Jackson State College; Miss Beverly Bowers, student, Jackson State College; Miss Barbara Horton, student, Jackson State College; Dr. William P. Davis, President, Mississippi Baptist Seminary, president and director of Baptist Student Work with National Baptists in Mississippi; Dr. Parks McKittrick, pastor, Nineteenth Avenue Baptist Church, Hattiesburg; Mr. Joseph Lloyd, State BSU, vice president, Alcorn A & M College; Mr. S. E. Grinstead, director, National Baptist Student Department, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Charlie Wheeler, student, Coahoma Junior College; Mr. Bennie Gooden, director, BSU, Coahoma Junior College; Mr. Henry Purnell, director BSU and Professor, Alcorn A & M College; Mr. Frank Horton, director, BSU, Mississippi State University; Dr. Earl Kelly, pastor, First Baptist Church Holly Springs Dr. S. Leon Whitney, vice president Mississippi Baptist Seminary, pastor Farish St. Baptist Church, Jackson.

State BSU Officers

Mr. Fred McDowell, president; Mr. Joseph Lloyd, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Towner, recording secretary; Miss Yvonne Moore, associate secretary; Miss Ella W. Williams, stewardship chairman; Miss Emma Butler, music chairman; Miss Mary Swington, social chairman.

Form a combination for good — Attend Church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the Church.

At Greater Clark Street Church, Jackson

Miss Doris Wilson Speaks On Uniting Forces To Improve Christian Education

A capacity audience was in attendance at Greater Clark Street Missionary Baptist Church in Jackson on Sunday, February 25, and witnessed a very befitting and timely WOMAN'S DAY PROGRAM which was filled with inspiration throughout its duration, including the Sunday Church school which the women also conducted.

At the regular morning service hour, invited guests from the following churches were present: New Strangers Home — Mrs. Eulice Williams; Anderson Chapel (donation) White's Chapel (donation); Pearl Street — Mrs. Selena Butler; Farish Street — Mrs. Cleo Mason; New Hope, Roach Street — Mrs. L. C. Pickens; Sweet Rest — Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins; St. James — Mrs. Bessie Hicks; Pleasant Hill, Bolton — Mrs. James B. Smith, Sr.; New Hope, Whitfield Mills Road — Mrs. Leona Anderson; and Friendship, Edwards — Mrs. C. L. West.

The New Hope Church Choir, Roach Street, rendered a song, "I'm Going Through, Jesus", which was uplifting.

The choir for the occasion sang very beautifully the songs selected, accompanied with Miss Rosena Robinson at the organ and Mrs. Bolton of New Hope, Roach Street, at the piano.

Others appearing on program were Mrs. Cora Taylor — Scripture; Mrs. Emma Coleman, Prayer; Mrs. Carrie Slater, Meditation; Mrs. Pearlie Stewart, The Occasion; Mrs. Dora Stewart, Welcome; Mrs. Ella Michael, Solo; Mrs. Mary J. Mosley, Introduction of Guest Speaker; and Mrs. Corinne Guynes, Recognition of Visitors.

The climax of the program was the magnificent address delivered by Miss Doris Wilson, Librarian of Jackson City Schools and an ardent member of Pearl Street A.M.E. Church of the City, based on the theme: "Uniting Forces to Improve Christian Education."

With poise, dignity and impressiveness of speech, this dedicated church lady and civic worker captivated the attentive audience with a challenging address to women. May the inspiration she brought to all, be an encouragement to those who were benefitted thereby, and awaken others to a rededication of their lives to nobler purposes.

With this day's receipts to be used as a part of the church's general operational fund, the membership rallied to the cause in a very gratifying way, amounting to $530 for the day.

Many thanks are due all of the members for responding to the program in such a fine way; to the committee with Mrs. Minnie L. Harris, Chairman and Mrs. Clara Torrey, Co-Chirman, in having received the cooperation of all, as demonstrated by the results.

This was the "starter", the next is being planned to be a "record-breaker" for this year, in finance, at least.

May each member look forward to that end.

April 15 Deadline For SS Coverage

Ministers have an important decision to make by April 15, 1962, if they want social security coverage. That is the final date for filing a waiver certificate to elect coverage if they have not already done so.

If a minister files a waiver certificate by April 15, 1962, he will receive coverage for 1960 and 1961 providing he has at least $400 net earnings from his profession. There is no coverage for those who have less than $400 net earnings.

Ask Internal Revenue Service for form 2031 (waiver certificate to elect social security coverage for use by ministers, certain members of religious orders, and Christian Science Practitioners).

This form must be filed with the Director of Internal Revenue.

For further information contact your local social security office.

School and BTU Congress, of which Dr. J. W. Gayden is president is being asked to give $177.00.

The State Ushers, headed by Mr. W. L. Glenn, has been asked for $107.70, and the State Laymen, formerly headed by the late H. D. Adams, are expected to donate $57.70.

Those unable to attend the Founder's Day in person at Natchez are urged to send their donations on or before in care of the College.

CORRECTIONS NOTED

In scanning the Personal Enrollment list published in the last issue, several names were omitted and they are as follows:

Dr. Fred B. Black, $125.00; Dr. J. M. McEwen, $130.00; Dr. J. M. Kimble, $125.00; Dr. J. D. Thurmon, $75.10; Prof. T. J. Huddleston $75.00.

By the
Executive Secretary

Be Sure And Attend The Church Of Your This Sunday And Every Sunday!

Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi and the membership of the entire Convention learn with very deep regret of the death of Mr. B. L. Hooks, who was one of the Board's active members until he was physically incapacitated; serving as Chief Usher at the general sessions of the Convention for many years and meeting the requirements of a Board member whose devotion was an inspiration to all members; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the offiial organ of the Convention for publication as well as a copy to the immediate family of the deceased.

Rev. R. W. West, President
C. L. West, Executive Sec.

This 6th day of February, 1962.

H. D. Adams, of Estell, State President of Laymen and assistant Director of Baptist SS and BTU Congress and a member of the official Board of the state convention died in early February. Rites were held in Hollandale on February 18th.

be extended to state-wide news coverage for Baptists in Mississippi; We further recommend that an editorial board be selected by this body to be empowered with the authority or task of getting the enlarged publication underway — and that said editorial board will be given full responsibility to attend to all matters relevant to the publication; also, that the editorial board be further empowered to designate additional members on the board as the need may arise.

SUNDAY SCHOOL and BTU CONGRESS

Signed:
Dr. J. W. Gayden,
President

Committee:
Rev. C. C. Coleman
Rev. S. A. Allen
Rev. W. L. Terrell, Chmn.
Rev. L. C. Wilcher
Rev. P. F. Parker
Prof. A. P. Johnson
Prof. P. M. Smith
Prof. H. D. Adams
Prof. M. D. Upchurch
Rev. C. L. Clark
Rev. O. W. Ingram

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER
REV. W. L. TERRELL, Editor
The Official Journal of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Mississippi published monthly at Greenwood, Mississippi. Address all Correspondence to Rev. W. L. Terrell, P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Miss.

an arm up the hill..

when the going's been hard.

when a loved one is ill and you must carry on...

when a trusted friend has let you down...

when the problems you must meet seem more than you yourself can handle...

when your very soul cries out for strength and comfort...

take the arm that is yours for the grasping, lean on Him for the strength you need to see you up the hill.

Worship with your family this week at your church

He restoreth your soul...
Worship together this week

4000 Attend '61 Convention In Gulfport; 1962 Session To Be In Grenada July 17-19

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL MISSIONARY BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF MISSISSIPPI was held July 18-20 in Gulfport with the churches of that Coast City playing host for the first time in convention history.

Nearly 4,000 members attended from throughout the entire state and enjoyed a fine, inspirational program.

See tables on this page and on page four for enrollment at that session.

The 1962 session of the Convention will be held in Grenada July 17-18-19 with all the churches serving as hosts.

The Rev. C. C. Coleman, pastor of the New Hope No. 1 Baptist Church, convention headquarters, will serve as host pastor.

All member churches are urged to be represented at the 1962 session.

Extended Session Held In Jackson

THE GENERAL MISSIONARY BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF MISSISSIPPI held its extended session at St. Luther M. B. Church with Rev. F. B. Black, pastor, Thursday, November 23, 1961.

The meeting opened at 10:15 a. m. with President R. W. West, in the chair.

The session was well attended and proved to be the best ever held.

The churches of Jackson joined St. Luther Baptist Church in providing food for all free.

Money raised was $6,200.00.

One of the actions taken at the extended session of the Convention in Jackson was voting approval of a Resolution offered by the Rev. Dr. W. L. Terrell, editor of The Baptist Observer and chairman of a special Committee on Publications from the State Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

Dr. Terrell, on behalf of the Special Committee, read the Resolution which asked that the extended session of the Convention approve the move of making The Baptist Observer, a monthly publication, into a weekly and convert it to full newspaper size. The resolution asked that an Editorial Board be elected by the Convention to serve in an advisory capacity to help get the new, enlarged publication underway immediately, or as soon as possible.

The extended session voted approval but President R. W. West deferred selection of the Editorial Board until the Official Board meeting early this year at Farish Street Baptist Church.

At the official board meeting held at Farish Street Church on selection of the Editorial Board no action was taken due to the fact the Secretary did not have in his files the Resolution which had been adopted by the Convention in November. The resolution is printed elsewhere in this issue in a story about The Baptist Observer.

Woman's Auxiliary—

(continued from page one)

of Illinois in Urbana. Eight children have gone to their reward.

Nathez College at a cost of about $1700.00. Previously it had bought a stove and refrigerator for the school and seats for the auditorium.

In a very real sense the Women's Auxiliary has con-

Rev. C. L. West Is Convention Secretary

REV. C. L. WEST

The Rev. C. L. West, well known Hinds County pastor and secretary of the State Convention, is one of the hardest working officials in the Convention. The Rev. West is in charge of enrollment at each State Convention and to him falls the responsibility for keeping important records of everything that transpires. The Convention could not get along without the work of its Secretary.

Rev. Gayden—

(continued from page one)

will mark his 50th year, or Golden Anniversary, as pastor of the Mt. Pisgah M. B. Church at Sidon, where he holds two services every third Sunday.

He is also pastor at Silent Grove M. B. Church at Marks which is sixty miles away from his home in Greenwood. But he preaches twice daily at the Marks Church every second and fourth Sunday and has for the past ten years.

On the first Sunday he visits at churches all over the state where he speaks on behalf of the National BTU (formerly B.Y.P.U.) Board of which he is serving as chairman. This also makes him a member of the National Baptist Convention Board.

The fifth Sunday of each month will usually find Dr. Gayden attending a rally or Enrollment At The State Convention....

ANTIOCH M. B. ASSOCIATION — ADAMS COUNTY

Church And Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Antioch, Natchez	R. J. Johnson, Natchez	$ 25.00
Beulah, Natchez	W. L. Logan, Natchez	160.00
Bright Star, Natchez	A. F. Williams, Ferriday, La.	100.00
China Grove, Natchez	W. S. Scott Natchez	12.85
Clearmon, Natchez	J. A. Franklin, Ferriday, La.	15.00
Daughter of Zion, Natchez	W. S. Scott, Natchez	12.50
Ebenezer, Natchez	C. Ellis, Natchez	10.00
Greater Macedonia, Natchez	Rubin Logan, Natchez	75.00
Greater New Zion, Natchez	J. A. Franklin, Ferriday, La.	100.00
Greater St. James, Natchez	W. E. Smith, Natchez	28.75
Jerusalem, Natchez	A. F. Williams, Ferriday, La.	75.00
King Solomon, Natchez	W. S. Scott, Natchez	100.00
LaGrange, Natchez	J. A. Banks, Natchez	25.00
Mercy Seat, Sibley	E. Lewis, Lake St. John, La	50.00
Milford, Pine Ridge	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	140.00
Mourning Pilgrim, Natchez	W. H. James, Pine Ridge	30.00
Mt. Bethay, Natchez	Wm. Haro, Natchez	50.00
Mt. Ollie, Sibley	W. L. Logan, Natchez	30.00
Mt. Zion, Natchez	A. F. Williams, Ferriday, La.	100.00
Pilgrim, Natchez	W. Green, Natchez	50.00
Robinson Chapel, Fenwick	W. L. Logan, Natchez	40.00
Rose Hill, Natchez	L. Bolden, Roxie	160.00
Shiloh, Natchez	W. E. Smith, Natchez	50.00
Sinai, Sibley	W. L. Logan, Natchez	50.00
St. Paul, Washington	J. A. Banks, Natchez	50.00
St. Peter, Natchez	L. L. Miller, Natchez	100.00
St. Peter Rock, Leesdale	G. A. Brannon, Natchez	50.00
Sun Flower, Ford	H. Russell, Natchez	35.00
Tates Magnolia, Crainfield	E. W. Rhone, Natchez	17.00
Union, Natchez	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	160.00
United, Morgantown	Dishmer, Ferriday, La.	15.00
Wilderness, Pine Ridge	E. V.Petaway, Ferriday, La.	7.00
Windy Hill, Janette	F. Green, Ferriday, La.	40.00
Zion Flower, Anna	A. L. Butler, Natchez	25.00
Association — Special Representaion		250.00
B. J. Clark, Missionary		10.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$2200.10

REV. W. C. MAZIQUE, Moderator
REV. E. W. RHONE, Secretary
REV. B. J. CLARK, Missionary

A. M. B. ASSOCIATION — WILKINSON COUNTY

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Angola, Woodville	D. V. Harden, Woodville	$ 10.00
Bay Ridge, Woodville	E. D. Ward, Woodville	75.00
Beach Grove, Woodville	R. J. Tyson, Centreville	15.00
Breakhouse, Woodville	B. J. Jackson, Woodville	15.00
Embrew, Woodville	S. Hiles, Woodville	15.00
Free Spring, Woodville	L. A. Sloan, Woodville	50.00
Friendship, Woodville	David Wells, Lessley	5.00
Kingford, Woodville	A. Scott, Woodville	60.00
King Emanuel, Woodville	A. L. Butler, Natchez	37.50
King Solomon, Pinkneyville	A. Scott, Woodville	60.00
Macedonia, Lessley	R. E. Palmer, Woodville	10.00
Magnolia, Lessley	E. D. Reynolds, Woodville	15.00
Midway, Woodville	E. D. Ward, Woodville	30.00
Mt. Olive, Woodville	A. Scott, Woodville	30.00
Mt. Pleasant, Centreville	R. J. Tyson, Centreville	20.00
Oak Grove, Crosby	J. E. Rucker, Meadville	10.00

BRESHER CREEK AND NEW HOPE ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bresher Creek, Georgetown	W. H. Hines, Jackson	$ 25.00
Egypt Hill, Crystal Springs	O. S. Ellis, Jackson	25.00
Galilee, Rockport	J. B. Jones, Hazlehurst	20.00
Lillie Mae, Georgetown	G. C. Morris, Georgtown	20.00
New Hope, Georgetown	D. D. Smith, Crystal Springs	25.00
Redbone, Hazlehurst	J. F. Davis, Utica	20.00
Zion Hill, Florence	J. P. Johnson, Jackson	15.00
Association — Special Representation		25.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$175.00

REV. D. D. SMITH, Moderator
BRO. D. L. LOVELADY, Secretary

CLAIBORNE COUNTY M. B. ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Ashland, Port Gibson	J. N. Dorsey, Port Gibson	$ 50.00
Beechland, Port Gibson	O. S. Burks, Lorman	50.00
Campbell Chapel, Willow	I. K. Fuller, Vicksburg	10.00
China Grove, Russum	M. J. Gilbert, Vicksburg	70.00
First, Hermanville	J. E. Turiett, Pattison	55.00
First, Port Gibson	B. L. Thomas, Vicksburg	135.00
Freedom Hall, Hermanville	C. P. Curtis, Hermanville	25.00
Holly Grove, Hermanville	J. E. Turiett, Vicksburg	35.00
Jerusalem, Port Gibson	Frank James, Newellton, La.	15.00
Magnolia, Port Gibson	J. N. Dorsey, Port Gibson	100.00
Mercy Seat, Port Gibson	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	135.00
Montrose Grove, Hermanville	M. L. James, Natchez	25.00
Mt. Burnon, Pattison	Evans Doss, Port Gibson	15.00
Mt. Olive, Alcorn		110.00
Mt. Zion, Port Gibson	R. F. Vernon, Vicksburg	25.00
Pleasant Hill, Port Gibson	R. F. Vernon, Vicksburg	10.00
Rising Sun, Port Gibson	C. C. Claiborne, Tallulah, La.	135.00
Second, Port Gibson	M. J. Gilbert, Vicksburg	135.00
Second Union, Utica	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	110.00
Spring Hill, Port Gibson	G. A. Brannon, Natchez	13.00
St. Mark, Port Gibson	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	135.00
St. Peter, Pattison	J. E. Turiett, Pattison	45.00
Welcome, Port Gibson	C. P.Curtis, Hermanville	40.00
White Hall, Pattison	C. H. Hudson, Vicksburg	35.00
Claiborne County S. S. Association — D. J. Teemer, President		150.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$1773.00

REV. E. E. SPENCER, Moderator
REV. O. S. BURKS, Secretary
REV. R. S. WATTS, Missionary

COAHOMA COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Chapel Hill, Clarksdale	S. E. Wiles, Greenville	$ 50.00
First, Clarksdale	W. M. Walton, Clarksdale	100.00
Metropolitan, Clarksdale	S. H. Jones, Clarksdale	50.00
Mt. Pisgah, Stovall	S. M. Quinn, Tutwiler	10.00
Oak Ridge, Stovall	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	30.00
Sunshine, Clarksdale	G. W. Strong, Clarksdale	15.00
Zion Traveler, Farrell	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	35.00

the Convention in Jackson was voting approval of a Resolution offered by the Rev. Dr. W. L. Terrell, editor of The Baptist Observer and chairman of a special Committee on Publications from the State Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

Dr. Terrell, on behalf of the Special Committee, read the Resolution which asked that the extended session of the Convention approve the move of making The Baptist Observer, a monthly publication, into a weekly and convert it to full newspaper size. The resolution asked that an Editorial Board be elected by the Convention to serve in an advisory capacity to help get the new, enlarged publication underway immediately, or as soon as possible.

The extended session voted approval but President R. W. West deferred selection of the Editorial Board until the Official Board meeting early this year at Farish Street Baptist Church.

At the official board meeting held at Farish Street Church on selection of the Editorial Board no action was taken due to the fact the Secretary did not have in his files the Resolution which had been adopted by the Convention in November. The resolution is printed elsewhere in this issue in a story about The Baptist Observer.

Woman's Auxiliary—

(continued from page one)

of Illinois in Urbana. Eight children have gone to their reward.

Mother McGowan is rightfully pleased at the splendid records of their children who are making such fine contributions to society themselves — something to be expected from children who have been brought up in the Christian traditions upheld by their parents.

There are many accomplishments of which the Women's Auxiliary could boast, since it was founded in Brookhaven, its tremendous increase in membership, the wonderful program of Christian witnessing so faithfully followed, aid and comfort to many people in distress, sickness and sorrow, the financial contributions to worthy causes and its financial support of the Convention, too.

But their modest President is loath to describe these things, feeling that boasting is not in the Christian way of doing God's work.

But she is proud of what the Women's Auxiliary has done to take the program forward on all fronts, in the churches and communities, in the Convention and Auxiliary, at Natchez College and other ways.

In 1961 the Women's Auxiliary bought twelve typewriters, tables and chairs for Nathez College at a cost of about $1700.00. Previously it had bought a stove and refrigerator for the school and seats for the auditorium.

In a very real sense the Women's Auxiliary has contributed to the Christian education program at Natchez College.

A large representation of the Women's Auxiliary will be present for Founder's Day in Natchez — and Dr. McGowan will be there with them to head the list.

Work with the young people has expanded from the Women's Auxiliary, making certain that trained leaders will be available to take up the torch of leadership when needed.

The Young Peoples Department was organized in 1925 and some outstanding young people have been trained in this work in the Y.W.A., the J.M.A. and the Juveniles.

Dr. McGowan emphasizes to the women in the Auxiliary that "to teach one must know Christ, associate with Him, live with Him, and catch His very spirit and be dominated by His purpose."

She believes the teaching ministry is both important and urgent and that teachers, like preachers, should be armed with exhortation based on positive information to be effective teachers for the Master.

And this great lady practices what she teaches.

Rev. Gayden—

(continued from page one)

will mark his 50th year, or Golden Anniversary, as pastor of the Mt. Pisgah M. B. Church at Sidon, where he holds two services every third Sunday.

He is also pastor at Silent Grove M. B. Church at Marks which is sixty miles away from his home in Greenwood. But he preaches twice daily at the Marks Church every second and fourth Sunday and has for the past ten years.

On the first Sunday he visits at churches all over the state where he speaks on behalf of the Nationa BTU (formerly B.Y.P.U.) Board of which he is serving as chairman. This also makes him a member of the National Baptist Convention Board.

The fifth Sunday of each month will usually find Dr. Gayden attending a rally or educational program at some of the churches in the state.

In addition to serving as president of the present State Sunday School and BTU Congress since 1932, Dr. Gayden had been president of the old B.Y.P.U. State Convention since 1913. The increased responsibility for the enlarged office fell on his shoulders when the two were combined at a meeting held in Rosedale.

He also serves as moderator of the Lebanon District Association, composed of Holmes and Leflore Counties, as chairman of the Joint Trustee Board of Central Mississippi College at Kosciusko, a church-owned school which has 101 students; and a member of the Convention Official Board.

Dr. Gayden is interested in the education and training of young people as our leaders of tomorrow and as a trustee of Natchez College has done everything possible to further the work at the College.

Young and old alike are inspired by the precepts and example of this great man of God.

May you have many more years of happy service, Dr. Gayden! That is the wish of your thousands of friends.

WASHINGTON COUNTY GENERAL M. B. ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
First, Hollandale	T. R. Clay, Hollandale	$ 50.00
King Solomon, Arcola	F. P. Short, Vicksburg	15.00
Little Rock, Hollandale	F. P. Short, Vicksburg	25.00
Mt. Ararat, Greenville	A. W. Williams, Greenville	25.00
Mt. Bethel, Greenville	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	100.00
Mt. Carmel, Greenville	B. B. Bryant, Leland	50.00
Mt. Horeb, Greenville	Fred D. Matthews, Itta Bena	100.00
Mt. Horeb, Hollandale	C. H. Moreland, Belzoni	100.00
Mt. Zion, Percy	E. C. Williams, Greenville	15.00
Mt. Zion, Wilmot	E. L. Johnson, Greenville	25.00
New Foundation, Hollandale	S. E. Wiles, Greenville	15.00
New Hope First, Greenville	J. M. Kimble, Indianola	100.00
New White Stone, Greenville	B. B. Bryant, Leland	35.00
New Zion, Leland	B. B. Bryant, Leland	100.00
St. Matthew, Leland	B. B. Bryant, Leland	25.00
St. Peter, Greenville	E. C. Williams, Greenville	50.00
St. Peter, Leland	R. T. Strong, Greenville	30.00
Star Bethel, Greenville	J. F. Redmon, Greenville	100.00
Sunrise, Trail Lake	E. C. Williams, Greenville	15.00
Zion Baptist, Greenville	S. E. Wiles, Greenville	25.00
Special Association Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$1100.00

REV. B. B. BRYANT, Moderator
REV. C. H. MORELAND, Secretary
REV. J. C. DAVIS, Missionary

Windy Hill, Janette	F. Green, Ferriday, La.	40.00
Zion Flower, Anna	A. L. Butler, Natchez	25.00
Association — Special Representaion		250.00
B. J. Clark, Missionary		10.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$2200.10

REV. W. C. MAZIQUE, Moderator
REV. E. W. RHONE, Secretary
REV. B. J. CLARK, Missionary

A. M. B. ASSOCIATION — WILKINSON COUNTY

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Angola, Woodville	D. V. Harden, Woodville	$ 10.00
Bay Ridge, Woodville	E. D. Ward, Woodville	75.00
Beach Grove, Woodville	R. J. Tyson, Centreville	15.00
Breakhouse, Woodville	B. J. Jackson, Woodville	15.00
Embrew, Woodville	S. Hiles, Woodville	15.00
Free Spring, Woodville	L. A. Sloan, Woodville	50.00
Friendship, Woodville	David Wells, Lessley	5.00
Kingford, Woodville	A. Scott, Woodville	60.00
King Emanuel, Woodville	A. L. Butler, Natchez	37.50
King Solomon, Pinkneyville	A. Scott, Woodville	60.00
Macedonia, Lessley	R. E. Palmer, Woodville	10.00
Magnolia, Lessley	E. D. Reynolds, Woodville	15.00
Midway, Woodville	E. D. Ward, Woodville	30.00
Mt. Olive, Woodville	A. Scott, Woodville	30.00
Mt. Pleasant, Centreville	R. J. Tyson, Centreville	20.00
Oak Grove, Crosby	J. E. Rucker, Meadville	10.00
Pleasant Green, Woodville	E. D. Ward, Woodville	100.00
Pleasant Grove, Centreville	L. A. Sloan, Woodville	25.00
St. Mark, Woodville	J. E. Rucker, Meadville	25.00
Union, Crosby	R. J. Cannon, Tallulah, La.	20.00
Univester, Woodville	R. J. Cannon, Tallulah, La.	18.00
Zion Hill, Woodville	D. V. Harden, Woodville	20.00
Zion Hill, Woodville	A. Scott, Woodville	30.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$800.50

REV. ALLEN SCOTT, Moderator
REV. S. C. JACKSON, Secretary and Missionary

BETHLEHEM BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Antioch, McBride	F. M. Pullen, Fayette	$40.00
Fellowship, Lorman	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	125.00
First, Fayette	M. J. Irvin, Cannonsburg	75.00
Forest Grove, Fayette	Evans Doss, Port Gibson	9.00
Greenleaf, Harriston	J. J. Johnson, Fayette	75.00
Hollywood, Fayette	M. J. Irven, Cannonsburg	100.00
Jessamine Ridge, Lorman	J. P. Lewis, Fayette	100.00
Locust Grove, Fayette	L. D. Woodley, Washington	100.00
Mercy Seat, Church Hill	L. D. Woodley, Washington	100.00
Morning Star, Lorman	L. D. Woodley, Washington	100.00
Mt. Israel, Fayette	L. L. Miller, Natchez	50.00
Mt. Moriah,		25.00
Mt. Olive, Red Lick	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	125.00
New Zion, Ashland	F. M. Pullen, Fayette	40.00
Pine Grove, McNair	Freddy Williams, Vidalia, La.	23.00
Richland, Fayette	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	125.00
Rose Hill, Fayette	Robert Thompson, Fayette	50.00
Rose Hill, McNair	J. J. Butler, Natchez	20.00
St. Mark, Fayette	J. J. Johnson, Fayette	6.00
Taylor Chapel, Fayette	G. A. Brannon, Natchez	15.00
Wall Hill,		19.00
Waterloo, Lorman	J. N. Dorsey, Lorman	100.00
Bethlehem S. S. Association —	A. G. Williams, Moderator	200.00
Woman's Auxiliary Association	Mrs. T. G. Foster, President	25.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$1762.50

REV. J. P. LEWIS, Moderator
BRO. E. M. MURPHY, Secretary
REV. F. M. PULLEN, Missionary

BOLIVAR COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Calvary, Renova	I. J. James, Shaw	$ 25.00
First, Mound Bayou	L. J. Jordan, Jr., Greenville	100.00
Gospel Temple, Rosedale	L. J. Jordan, Jr., Greenville	100.00
Macedonia, Shelby	W. L. Lewis, Shelby	12.50
Mt. Moriah		25.00
Mt. Zion, Choctaw	H. A. Armstrong, Greenville	20.00
Spangle Banner, Shaw	S. L. A. Jones, Clarksdale	12.50
Springfield, Scott	J. L. Johnson, Greenville	10.00
St. Paul, Cleveland	John Matthews, Indianola	100.00
St. Philip, Cleveland	L. R. Skipper, Clarksdale	25.00
Wanderer's Home, Mound Bayou	C. H. Moreland, Belzoni	25.00
Zion Grove, Shelby	C. H. Moreland, Belzoni	50.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$605.00

REV. H. C. CHERRY, Moderator
REV. C. C. JIRDAN, Secretary
REV. S. L. A. JONES, Missionary

Mt. Olive, Alcorn		110.00
Mt. Zion, Port Gibson	R. F. Vernon, Vicksburg	25.00
Pleasant Hill, Port Gibson	R. F. Vernon, Vicksburg	10.00
Rising Sun, Port Gibson	C. C. Claiborne, Tallulah, La.	135.00
Second, Port Gibson	M. J. Gilbert, Vicksburg	135.00
Second Union, Utica	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	110.00
Spring Hill, Port Gibson	G. A. Brannon, Natchez	13.00
St. Mark, Port Gibson	W. C. Mazique, Natchez	135.00
St. Peter, Pattison	J. E. Turiett, Pattison	45.00
Welcome, Port Gibson	C. P.Curtis, Hermanville	40.00
White Hall, Pattison	C. H. Hudson, Vicksburg	35.00
Claiborne County S. S. Association —	D. J. Teemer, President	150.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$1773.00

REV. E. E. SPENCER, Moderator
REV. O. S. BURKS, Secretary
REV. R. S. WATTS, Missionary

COAHOMA COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Chapel Hill, Clarksdale	S. E. Wiles, Greenville	$ 50.00
First, Clarksdale	W. M. Walton, Clarksdale	100.00
Metropolitan, Clarksdale	S. H. Jones, Clarksdale	50.00
Mt. Pisgah, Stovall	S. M. Quinn, Tutwiler	10.00
Oak Ridge, Stovall	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	30.00
Sunshine, Clarksdale	G. W. Strong, Clarksdale	15.00
Zion Traveler, Farrell	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	35.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$390.00

REV. L. R. SKIPPER, Moderator
REV. R. H. HEDRICK, Secretary

COAHOMA COUNTY EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Mt. Eagle, Dublin	N. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	$ 20.00
Silent Grove, Clarksdale	R. L. Butler, Greenville	100.00
Association — Special Representation		50.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$170.00

COPIAH COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Chapel Hill, Carpenter	E. D. Morris, Tallulah, La.	$ 8.50
Clear Creek, Hazlehurst	E. G. Robinson, Crystal Springs	10.00
Hall's Hill, Hazlehurst	W. M. Walker, Hermanville	12.00
Jerusalem, Crystal Springs	E. G. Robinson, Crystal Springs	6.00
Morning Star, Utica	J. A. Anderson, Jackson	10.00
Mt. Carmel, Hazlehurst	Timothy Wilson, Hazlehurst	8.50
Mt. Olive, Hazlehurst	J. B. Jones, Hazlehurst	12.00
New Pisgah, Hazlehurst	P. J. Hopkins, Jackson	5.00
New Salem, Hazlehurst	C. H. Lowe, Jackson	10.00
Sardis, Wesson	W. R. Griffin, Terry	8.00
Springfield, Carpenter	R. L. Pickens, Jackson	10.00
Spring Ridge, Hazlehurst	R. E. Flowers, Jackson	8.00
St. James, Hazlehurst	C. H. Harper, Hazlehurst	7.00
Association — Special Representation		48.90
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$164.00

REV. J. B. JONES, Moderator
BRO. B. F. ALEXANDER, Secretary
REV. K. WASHINGTON, Missionary

GULF COAST M. B. ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
First, Bay St. Louis	S. T. Peters, Slidell, La.	$ 25.00
First, Biloxi	C. M. Holloway, Biloxi	100.00
First, Handsboro	E. L. Fox, Gulfport	30.00
First, Moss Point	N. H. Smith, Moss Point	30.00
First, Pass Ghristian	N. Walker, Gulfport	20.00
Little Rock, Gulfport	F. McElhaney, Gulfport	100.00
Morning Star, Gulfport	F. McElhaney, Gulfport	100.00
Mt. Bethel, Gulfport	W. T. Guice, Gulfport	100.00
Mt. Pisgah, Long Beach	J. L. Trotter, Gulfport	25.00
Union, Pascagoula	G. J. Martin, Pascagoula	30.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$660.00

REV. E. L. FOX, Moderator
BRO. J. E. KING, Secretary
REV. C. HENDRICKS, Missionary

ROSE HILL M. B. ASSOCIATION

Association — Special Representation		$100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$100.00

REV. W. C. CLAY, Moderator
BRO. R. A. COOPER, Secretary
REV. J. T. JOHNSON, Missionary

Enrollment At The State Convention....

GRENADA DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bell Flower, Grenada	F. L. Barnes, Jackson	$ 50.00
Locust Grove, Greenwood	G. H. Hankins, Hollandale	50.00
McKinney Chapel, Greenwood	J. M. Kimble, Indianola	125.00
New Hope, Grenada	C. C. Coleman, Tupelo	100.00
New Hope, Grenada	B. T. McSwine, Greenwood	25.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$450.00

REV. B. T. McSWINE, Moderator
BRO. R. L. HEMPHILL, Secretary
REV. L. E. SMITH, Missionary

HINDS COUNTY M. B. ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bear Ridge, Edwards	W. R. Griffin, Terry	$ 38.00
Belmont, Raymond	J. A. Brown, Vicksburg	15.00
Belmont, Utica	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	25.00
Bethlehem, Edwards	O. H. Hunter, Vicksburg	10.00
Canaan, Edwards	Walter Jones, Vicksburg	5.00
Champion Hill, Bolton	J. L. Brown, Utica	25.00
Chapel Hill, Bolton	W. H. Hines, Jackson	50.00
Cherry Grove, Edwards	A. M. Peterson, Jackson	75.00
County Line, Pocahontas	E. D. Jackson, Vicksburg	10.00
Elbethel, Bolton	R. W. West, Bolton	100.00
Friendship, Edwards	C. L. West, Bolton	105.00
Gallilee, Raymond	L. W. Jenkins, Edwards	25.00
Greater Clark Street, Jackson	C. L. West, Bolton	105.00
Green Grove, Edwards	Elijah Stamps, Edwards	10.00
Hamilton Grove, Raymond	J. H. Hardy, Jackson	10.00
Hopewell, Raymond	John White, Raymond	60.00
Little Rock, Utica	J. F. Davis, Utica	10.00
Little Zion, Edwards	C. A. Greer, Jackson	60.00
Morning Star, Learned	R. W. West, Bolton	100.00
Mt. Olive, Bolton	John White, Raymond	50.00
Mt. Ollie, Jackson	J. L. Brown, Utica	20.00
Mt. Shiloh, Edwards	Walter Jones, Vicksburg	5.00
Mt. Zion, Raymond	R. W. West, Bolton	100.00
New Hope, Raymond	L. W. Jenkins, Edwards	50.00
New Mt. Zion, Raymond	E. B. Nelson, Jackson	50.00
New Salem,, Utica	John White, Raymond	25.00
Orange Hill, Bolton	J. L. Brown, Utica	20.00
Pilgrim Rest, Clinton	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	50.00
Pilgrim Rest, Edwards	L. C. Carter, Edwards	25.00
Pleasant Hill, Bolton	C. L. West, Bolton	25.00
Rohelia Utica, Utica	L. C. Collins, Jackson	25.00
Seven Star, Utica	Otis Ellis, Jackson	3.00
Shearer Grove, Raymond	L. W. Jenkins, Edwards	25.00
Spring Ridge, Edwards	E. W. Cornelius, Jackson	37.50
St. Luther , Jackson	Fred B. Black, Jackson	100.00
St. Mark, Clinton	Wroten McQuirter, Clinton	15.00
St. Mark, Edwards	P. J. Hopkins, Jackson	15.00
St. Paul, Edwards	Elijah Stamps, Edwards	15.00
St. Peter, Utica	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	100.00
St. Thomas, Bolton	R. W. West, Bolton	125.00
Welcome, Utica	John White, Raymond	50.00
First Baptist Union, John White, President		40.00
Hinds County Singing Convention — Elijah Stamps, President		15.00
Hinds County S. S. Convention — Elijah Stamps, President		25.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$2034.00

PROGRESSIVE M. B. ASSOCIATION — ADAMS COUNTY

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Forest Aid, Natchez	J. H. McField, Natchez	$ 40.00
Greater Fatherland, Natchez	L. L. Miller, Natchez	25.00
Mt. Sinai, Natchez	J. H. Williams, Vicksburg	75.00
New St. Peter Rock, Natchez	E. W. Rhone, Natchez	20.00
Pleasant Green, Natchez	F. Green, Ferriday, La.	100.00
South Woodloyd, Natchez	S. Fletcher, Natchez	15.00
St. Mark, Natchez	L. L. Miller, Natchez	100.00
St. Mary, Natchez	J. J. Butler, Natchez	40.00
Zion Hill, Natchez	L. L. Miller, Natchez	50.00
Zion Watch, Natchez	Andrew Butler, Natchez	5.00
P. M. B. S. S. Association —	P. K. Pendleton, Moderator	80.00
Association — Special Representation		75.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$625.00

REV. L. L. MILLER, Moderator
BRO. P. K. PENDLETON, Secretary
REV. F. BRUCE, Missionary

QUITMAN COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Silent Grove, Marks	J. W. Gayden, Greenwood	$250.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$350.00

REV. S. A. ALLEN, Moderator
BRO. P. H. PHIPPS, Secretary
REV. R. L. LEE, Missionary

SARDIS EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Pleasant Green, Water Valley	P. L. Morgan, Winona	$ 10.00
Spring Hill, Pope	P. L. Morgan, Winona	$ 10.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$120.00

REV. P. L. MORGAN, Moderator
BRO. C. J. WILLIAMS, Secretary
PROF. C. GRAHAM, Missionary

SARDIS EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Concord, Batesville	J. A. Woods, Hernando	$ 15.00
Pilgrim Rest, Batesville	J. M. Rudd, Batesville	10.00
West Camp, Batesville	D. J. Ferguson, Clarksdale	10.00
Special Convention Representation		50.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 85.00

REV. J. A. WOODS, President
BRO. W. T. HENDERSON, Secretary
BRO. C. GRAHAM, Missionary

TALLAHATCHIE SECOND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
New Bethel, Crowder	T. R. Dobbins, Clarksdale	$ 10.00
Oak Grove, Crowder	T. R. Dobbins, Clarksdale	10.00
St. John, Drew	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	10.00
Special Association Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$130.00

REV. R. H. HEDRICK, Moderator
REV. T. R. DOBBINS, Secretary
REV. R. M. GAYTOR, Missionary

TUNICA COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Christian Springs, Robinsonville	N. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	$ 10.00
Fredonia, Tunica	J. D. Smith, Clarksdale	20.00
Mt. Zebo, Tunica	R. H. Hedrick, Clarksdale	10.00
Mt. Zion, Clayton	S. M. Quinn, Tutwiler	10.00
Special Association Representation		50.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$100.00

REV. A. G. BAKER, Moderator
BRO. R. J. GRANT, Secretary

WARREN COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bethlehem, Vicksburg	C. R. Redden, Tallulah, La.	$ 50.00
Bright Morning Star, Vicksburg	S. S. Imes, Hollandale	50.00
China Grove, Vicksburg	T. R. Ray, Vicksburg	10.00
First Baptist, Vicksburg	J. H. Williams, Vicksburg	50.00
Gospel Temple, Vicksburg	T. R. Ray, Vicksburg	10.00
Greater Mt. Lebanon, Vicksburg	C. C. Claiborne, Tallulah, La.	25.00
Hopewell, Vicksburg	S. Slaughter, Vicksburg	10.00
Jackson Street, Vicksburg	A. W. Wilson, Vicksburg	50.00
King David, Vicksburg	J. A. Miller, Vicksburg	15.00
King Solomon, Vicksburg	B. L. Thomas, Vicksburg	100.00
Mt. Calvary, Vicksburg	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	50.00
Mt. Carmel, Vicksburg	W. L. Lassiter, Vicksburg	25.00
Mt. Heroden, Vicksburg	LeVander Kinds, Vicksburg	100.00
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg	W. M. Lacy, Vicksburg	25.00
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg	M. J. Gilbert, Vicksburg	35.00
Mt. Zion, Ball Ground	C. C. Bolden, Vicksburg	45.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	J. A. Miller, Vicksburg	15.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	B. T. McSwine, Greenwood	15.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	J. M. Rivers, Vicksburg	25.00
New Hope, Bovina	W. B. Barnes, Vicksburg	15.00
Pleasant Green, Vicksburg	L. R. Chandler, Inverness	75.00
Pleasant Valley, Vicksburg	E. D. Straughter, Vicksburg	25.00
Rock of Ages, Vicksburg	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	50.00
St. James, Vicksburg	A. W. Bell, Valley Park	10.00
St. Mark, Vicksburg	W. M. Randle, Vicksburg	25.00
St. Peter, Vicksburg	S. Slaughter, Vicksburg	10.00
Travelers Rest, Vicksburg	J. H. Williams, Vicksburg	75.00
Triumph, Vicksburg	C. C. Bolden, Vicksburg	50.00
West Harper, Vicksburg	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	10.00
Zion Traveler Vicksburg	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	20.00
TOTAL REPRESENTATION		$1205.00

Hamilton Grove, Raymond	J. H. Hardy, Jackson	10.00
Hopewell, Raymond	John White, Raymond	60.00
Little Rock, Utica	J. F. Davis, Utica	10.00
Little Zion, Edwards	C. A. Greer, Jackson	60.00
Morning Star, Learned	R. W. West, Bolton	100.00
Mt. Olive, Bolton	John White, Raymond	50.00
Mt. Ollie, Jackson	J. L. Brown, Utica	20.00
Mt. Shiloh, Edwards	Walter Jones, Vicksburg	5.00
Mt. Zion, Raymond	R. W. West, Bolton	100.00
New Hope, Raymond	L. W. Jenkins, Edwards	50.00
New Mt. Zion, Raymond	E. B. Nelson, Jackson	50.00
New Salem,, Utica	John White, Raymond	25.00
Orange Hill, Bolton	J. L. Brown, Utica	20.00
Pilgrim Rest, Clinton	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	50.00
Pilgrim Rest, Edwards	L. C. Carter, Edwards	25.00
Pleasant Hill, Bolton	C. L. West, Bolton	25.00
Rohelia Utica, Utica	L. C. Collins, Jackson	25.00
Seven Star, Utica	Otis Ellis, Jackson	3.00
Shearer Grove, Raymond	L. W. Jenkins, Edwards	25.00
Spring Ridge, Edwards	E. W. Cornelius, Jackson	37.50
St. Luther , Jackson	Fred B. Black, Jackson	100.00
St. Mark, Clinton	Wroten McQuirter, Clinton	15.00
St. Mark, Edwards	P. J. Hopkins, Jackson	15.00
St. Paul, Edwards	Elijah Stamps, Edwards	15.00
St. Peter, Utica	E. E. Spencer, Lorman	100.00
St. Thomas, Bolton	R. W. West, Bolton	125.00
Welcome, Utica	John White, Raymond	50.00
First Baptist Union, John White, President		40.00
Hinds County Singing Convention — Elijah Stamps, President		15.00
Hinds County S. S. Convention — Elijah Stamps, President		25.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$2034.00

REV. R. W. WEST, Moderator
BRO. JOHN BOYD, Secretary
REV. E. D. JACKSON, Missionary

HOLMES COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Belmount, Durant	Rev. Nelson	$ 15.00
Good Hope, Tchula	J. L. Johnson, Greenville	25.00
Nazaree, Tchula	R. L. Luckett, Madison	25.00
Poplar Springs, Lexington	R. J. Joiner, Isola	8.00
Promised Land, Thornton		5.00
Sweet Canaan, Tchula	C. R. Rush, Belzoni	12.00
Zion City, Tchula	C. R. Rush, Belzoni	10.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 100.00

REV. C. L. CLARK, Moderator
BRO. W. W. ADAMS, Secretary
REV. R. L. WALKER, Missionary

HUMPHREYS COUNTY M. B. ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Belzoni Chapel, Belzoni	L. R. Chandler, Inverness	$75.00
Calvary, Midnight	L. W. Williams, Greenville	25.00
Christian Valley, Silver City	E. L. Williams, Belzoni	50.00
Day Break Chapel, Belzoni	C. T. Thornton, Leland	15.00
Green Grove, Belzoni	J. D. Thurmon, Belzoni	100.00
Holiday Chapel, Louise	J. H. Johnson, Belzoni	25.00
Jerusalem, Murphy	M. L. Reed, Louise	30.00
Jones Chapel, Tchula	M. C. Valentine, Greenwood	10.00
Love Feast, Midnight	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	50.00
Macedonia, Belzoni	A. Cotten, Belzoni	10.00
Mt. Carmel, Belzoni	E. L. Williams, Belzoni	45.00
Mt. Zion, Louise	G. H. Hankins, Hollandale	25.00
Mt. Zion, Midnight	J. E. Birt, Belzoni	13.00
Pilgrim Rest, Isola	R. J. Joiner, Isola	15.00
Pleasant Hill, Louise	J. W. Williams, Greenville	25.00
Refuge Chapel, Tchula	C. H. Gamble, Yazoo City	10.00
Shiloh, Belzoni	C. R. Rush, Belzoni	12.00
Shiloh, Silver City	C. T. Thornton, Leland	20.00
Sure Hope, Silver City	W. M. Harper, Silver City	15.00
Wasp Lake Chapel, Belzoni	I. K. Fuller, Vicksburg	15.00
Weeping Mary, Isola	P. S. Shelton, Greenwood	30.00
White Star, Belzoni	E. L. Williams, Belzoni	60.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 545.00

REV. R. J. JOINER, Moderator
REV. C. E. WOODARD, Secretary
REV. A. G. WILLIAMS, Missionary

ISSAQUENA COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Christian Home, Fitler	A. R. Brown, Vicksburg	$ 12.00
Mt. Tabor, Fitler	R. J. Jointer, Cary	10.00
St. Matthew, Fitler	J. C. Clay, Cary	10.00
Association — Special Representation		50.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 82.00

REV. R. J. JOINTER, Moderator
BRO. H. S. SIAS, Secretary
REV. H. Y. JOHNSON, Missionary

SARDIS EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Pleasant Green, Water Valley	P. L. Morgan, Winona	$ 10.00
Spring Hill, Pope	P. L. Morgan, Winona	$ 10.00
Association — Special Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$120.00

REV. P. L. MORGAN, Moderator
BRO. C. J. WILLIAMS, Secretary
PROF. C. GRAHAM, Missionary

SARDIS EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Concord, Batesville	J. A. Woods, Hernando	$ 15.00
Pilgrim Rest, Batesville	J. M. Rudd, Batesville	10.00
West Camp, Batesville	D. J. Ferguson, Clarksdale	10.00
Special Convention Representation		50.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 85.00

REV. J. A. WOODS, President
BRO. W. T. HENDERSON, Secretary
BRO. C. GRAHAM, Missionary

ST. JOHN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Mt. Carmel, Itta Bena	L. J. Martin, Yazoo City	$ 25.00
New Bethel, Itta Bena	Fred D. Matthews, Itta Bena	40.00
Newton Chapel, Sidon	A. M. Chandler, Greenwood	15.00
Providence, Greenwood	W. L. Terrell, Greenwood	100.00
Strangers Home, Greenwood	David Matthews, Indianola	225.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$405.00

REV. W. L. TERRELL, Moderator
REV. M. C. TARDY, Secretary
REV. P. B. BARNES, Missionary

SUNFLOWER COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bell Grove, Indianola	David Matthews, Indianola	$125.00
King Solomon, Indianola	W. M. Porter, Indianola	30.00
Mt. Ararat, Moorhead	David Matthews, Indianola	125.00
Mt. Beulah, Indianola	E. E. Evans, Greenville	100.00
New Hope, Blaine	I. J. James, Shaw	15.00
Oak Grove, Inverness	A. M. Chandler, Greenwood	10.00
Pleasant Valley, Inverness	L. R. Chandler, Inverness	50.00
Shady Grove, Inverness	J. H. Johnson, Belzoni	10.00
Swan Lake, Moorhead	W. M. Porter, Indianola	20.00
Union Grove, Sunflower	R. L. Jenkins, Greenville	15.00
Special Association Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$575.00

REV. L. R. CHANDLER, Moderator
REV. JOHN MATTHEWS, Secretary
REV. L. D. FIELDS, Missionary

SUNFLOWER COUNTY GENERAL ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Mt. Galilee, Ruleville	R. W. Ford, Ruleville	$ 25.00
Mt. Zion, Doddsville	C. H. Fleming, Indianola	10.00
Mt. Zion, Indianola	J. E. Birt, Belzoni	15.00
New Jerusalem, Ruleville	A. J. Robinson, Ruleville	25.00
Special Association Representation		150.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 225.00

REV. R. W. FORD, Moderator
REV. J. C. BROWN, Secretary

SWANLAKE ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Green Hill, Marks	C. J. Carson, Marks	$ 30.00
New Hope, Jonestown	L. R. Skipper, Clarksdale	25.00
Valley Queen, Marks	L. H. Hill, Marks	50.00
Special Association Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$ 205.00

REV. L. H. HILL, Moderator
BRO. G. C. BROWN, Secretary

Hope Springs Association	$202.00
TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$202.00

REV. A. M. PETERSON, Moderator
REV. J. C. MATTHEWS, Secretary
REV. S. P. JOHNSON, Missionary

Bright Morning Star, Vicksburg	S. S. Imes, Hollandale	50.00
China Grove, Vicksburg	T. R. Ray, Vicksburg	10.00
First Baptist, Vicksburg	J. H. Williams, Vicksburg	50.00
Gospel Temple, Vicksburg	T. R. Ray, Vicksburg	10.00
Greater Mt. Lebanon, Vicksburg	C. C. Claiborne, Tallulah, La.	25.00
Hopewell, Vicksburg	S. Slaughter, Vicksburg	10.00
Jackson Street, Vicksburg	A. W. Wilson, Vicksburg	50.00
King David, Vicksburg	J. A. Miller, Vicksburg	15.00
King Solomon, Vicksburg	B. L. Thomas, Vicksburg	100.00
Mt. Calvary, Vicksburg	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	50.00
Mt. Carmel, Vicksburg	W. L. Lassiter, Vicksburg	25.00
Mt. Heroden, Vicksburg	LeVander Kinds, Vicksburg	100.00
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg	W. M. Lacy, Vicksburg	25.00
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg	M. J. Gilbert, Vicksburg	35.00
Mt. Zion, Ball Ground	C. C. Bolden, Vicksburg	45.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	J. A. Miller, Vicksburg	15.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	B. T. McSwine, Greenwood	15.00
Mt. Zion, Vicksburg	J. M. Rivers, Vicksburg	25.00
New Hope, Bovina	W. B. Barnes, Vicksburg	15.00
Pleasant Green, Vicksburg	L. R. Chandler, Inverness	75.00
Pleasant Valley, Vicksburg	E. D. Straughter, Vicksburg	25.00
Rock of Ages, Vicksburg	E. S. Hicks, Vicksburg	50.00
St. James, Vicksburg	A. W. Bell, Valley Park	10.00
St. Mark, Vicksburg	W. M. Randle, Vicksburg	25.00
St. Peter, Vicksburg	S. Slaughter, Vicksburg	10.00
Travelers Rest, Vicksburg	J. H. Williams, Vicksburg	75.00
Triumph, Vicksburg	C. C. Bolden, Vicksburg	50.00
West Harper, Vicksburg	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	10.00
Zion Traveler Vicksburg	W. M. Curley, Vicksburg	20.00
TOTAL REPRESENTATION		$1205.00

REV. B. L. THOMAS, Moderator
REV. W. M. CURLEY, Secretary
REV. T. H. CHAVIS, Missionary

WARREN COUNTY DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Grove Street, Vicksburg	W. C. Porter, Vicksburg	$ 10.00
Locust Grove, Vicksburg	James Williams, Vicksburg	10.00
Morning Star, Vicksburg	W. C. Porter, Vicksburg	10.00
Mt. Pilgrim, Vicksburg	W. C. Porter, Vicksburg	10.00
Porter Chapel, Vicksburg	C. E. Hudson, Vicksburg	10.00
Stanfield, Vicksburg	C. E. Hudson, Vicksburg	10.00
Special Association Representation		15.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$75.00

REV. W. C. PORTER, Moderator
REV. J. R. JOHNSON, Secretary
REV. C. JOHNSON, Missionary

YAZOO COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Church and Address	Pastor and Address	Representation
Bethel, Carter	J. D. Thurman, Belzoni	$ 25.00
Chapel Hill, Yazoo City	E. L. Williams, Belzoni	100.00
Concord, Bentonia	L. C. Cowan (mssgr) Bentonia	30.00
Galilee, Yazoo City	G. D. Daniels, Yazoo City	10.00
Holly Green, Yazoo City	H. C. Collier, Yazoo City	20.00
King Solomon, Yazoo City	G. H. Hankins, Hollandale	100.00
Liberty, Bentonia	W. C. Davis, Jackson	25.00
Morning Star, Eden	C. R. Rush, Belzoni	10.00
Mt. Nebo, Benton	L. C. Crook, Greenville	15.00
Mt. Olive, Bentonia	S. L. Bowman, Jackson	15.00
Mt. Ollie, Yazoo City	B. T. Miles, Yazoo City	30.00
Mt. Sinai, Yazoo City	E. D. Coleman, Yazoo City	15.00
Mt. Vernon, Yazoo City	John Matthews, Indianola	100.00
New Concord, Bentonia	N. B. Jackson, Canton	35.00
New Foundation, Yazoo City	S. M. Myles, Yazoo City	10.00
New Hope, Satartia	E. D. Hogan, Jackson	15.00
New Hope, Yazoo City	W. H. Carter, Yazoo City	8.00
New King Solomon, Yazoo City	J. W. Williams, Greenville	25.00
New Liberty, Bentonia	J. D. Collins, Greenwood	20.00
New Paradise, Yazoo City	M. L. Reed, Louise	15.00
New Pleasant Grove, Bentonia	R. C. Cox, Memphis, Tenn.	10.00
New Zion, Yazoo City	M. L. Reed, Louise	15.00
Ogden, Bentonia	M. L. Reed, Louise	13.50
Old Pleasant Grove, Bentonia	P. E. Lott, Jackson	20.00
Piney Springs, Lexington	W. H. Carter, Yazoo City	8.00
Rose Hill, Satartia	S. L. Robinson, Yazoo City	15.00
Shady Grove, Valley	H. C. Collier, Yazoo City	15.00
Silver Mound, Yazoo City	S. M. Myles, Yazoo City	9.00
St. Emanuel, Yazoo City	W. L. Terrell, Greenwood	20.00
St. John, Yazoo City	M. S. Grant, Yazoo City	30.00
St. Peter, Yazoo City	J. H. Parker, Leland	100.00
Tokeba, Yazoo City	C. H. Jones, Itta Bena	10.00
Travelers Rest, Satartia	H. C. Collier, Yazoo City	20.00
Triune, Yazoo City	B. T. Miles, Yazoo City	30.00
Tulane, Yazoo City	G. D. Daniels, Yazoo City	100.00
Union, Holly Bluff	G. D. Daniels, Yazoo City	20.00
Bro. Carter Anderson		10.00
Special Association Representation		100.00
	TOTAL REPRESENTATION	$892.00

REV. B. T. MILES, Moderator
REV. S. L. BOWMAN, Secretary
REV. C. H. GAMBLE, Missionary

COMMERCIAL APPEAL

MEMPHIS, TENN., FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1962

Durant Newspaper May Lose Contract

Publisher Is Known Critic Of Citizens Council

JACKSON, Miss., April 26. — (UPI)—Hazel Brannon Smith's Durant newspaper could be denied the job of printing Durant's town proceedings under a bill which received a favorable report Wednesday from the House Municipalities Commitee.

Mrs. Smith, a critic of the Citizens' Councils, publishes weekly newspapers in two Holmes County towns, Durant and Lexington. A third weekly is published in Lexington.

The bill, as approved by the Senate, would allow any town which has only one newspaper but is located in a county which has another newspaper to publish its proceedings outside the municipality. Present law requires publication of a town's proceedings in a newspaper in the town.

The municipalities committee amended the bill to apply only to Holmes County.

Its chairman, Representative Bedford Waddell of Copiah County, said he understood the bill "concerned a woman editor who has been writing things which don't go along with the feelings in the community."

THE COMMERCIAL APPEAL, MEMPHIS, SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1962

Editors Told Reprisal Bill Is Dangerous

From The Commercial Appeal
Jackson, Miss. Bureau

JACKSON, Miss., April 28. — A state legislator Saturday warned Mississippi editors that a pending House bill "aimed at economic reprisal against one editor could affect the rights of all editors."

Representative Karl Wiesenburg of Jackson County said the Senate bill dealing with publication of municipal proceedings in other than a newspaper in the city involved has been amended by a House committee to affect only one newspaper. He said it is aimed at Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith, editor of the Durant News.

"If the Legislature can enact laws to encourage economic reprisal against one newspaper because of its views or editorial policy, your newspaper may very well be the next subject of legislative attack," Mr. Wiesenburg wrote Mississippi editors.

"The tragedy of this is that authors claim to be staunch advocates of state's rights and constitutional government, but this bill strikes a direct blow at the very foundation of constitutional government."

"The House committee action makes me more firmly convinced that it is imperative that the 'right to know' bill be enacted."

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER

Official Organ Of The General M. B. Convention Of Mississippi

VOLUME III, NUMBER TWO | APRIL EDITION — 1962 | 20c PER COPY

Ex. Secretary Has Many Duties

Rev. C. L. West Is Hard Worker In Gen. Convention

REV. C. L. WEST

The Rev. C. L. West of Bolton, Executive Secretary of the General Missionary Baptist Convention, is one of the hardest-working officers and leaders in the Convention.

For the past eight years he has served the Convention faithfully in this position and in countless ways. He always responds cheerfully when called upon for extra work and obligations.

As Executive Secretary Dr. West is responsible for keeping records of all cenventions held, extended sessions, board meetings and the like. He compiles the official minutes and assists the Convention President and other officers in every way possible.

Together with the president Dr. R. W. West (who happens to be his uncle) and the Rev. W. C. Mazique, Convention treasurer, he is a member of the Executive Committee of the Convention which meets at Natchez College on call.

The Bolton pastor is Vice Moderator of Hinds County Baptist Association and Director General of the Hinds County Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress, as well as corresponding secretary of the First Baptist Union of Hinds County.

He is also Corresponding Secretary of the Education Board of the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc.

In his convention office, Dr. West must attend each session and extended session of the Convention in July and

Woman's Day Program Held In Edwards At Friendship M. B. Church March 18th

Splendid Program Attracts Group; $154.69 Raised

Quite a period before 2:30 tionals, Deaconesses Cremolia Jones and Elizabeth Smith Song, the host church; Greetings, Mrs. Willette Young; Response, Mrs. Lula Clinton, Mt. Moriah; Solo, Mrs. Maude Smith; "The Occasion", Mrs.

CMC Meeting Set May 2nd

Rev. McSwine Heard On Radio And TV

The Rev. B. T. McSwine, Moderator of the Grenada District Baptist Association, is heard regularly over a Greenwood radio and television station.

Rev. McSwine is heard each Sunday at 8:00 a. m. over WABG Radio Station and seen each first Sunday night at 10:30 on TV Station WABG.

He is the pastor of Union Grove Baptist Church, Greenwood; New Hope Church, Minter City; New Hope Church No. 2, Grenada; and Mt. Zion No. 2, Vicksburg.

The Rev. McSwine is also a Board Member of the General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi; manager of the Victor Burial Association; manager of the Union Grove Book Store; and president of the Palo Alto Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

Rev. B. T. McSwine

The public is invited to listen to his messages each Sunday morning and to view his program each month.

Annual Retreat Held At Baptist Center; Nine State Colleges Are Represented

McDowell Presides; National President Speaks At Banquet

Nine Negro colleges in Mississippi were represented at the Mississippi Baptist Student Union Retreat held at the Baptist Center in Jackson during the last week in Nineteenth Avenue Baptist Church, Hattiesburg; S. E. Grinstead, director National Baptist Student Department, Nashville, Tenn.; and Dr. Earl Kelly, pastor First Baptist Church, Holly Springs.

Dr. S. Leon Whitney, pastor of the Farish St. Baptist Church in Jackson, led the closing worship service Sunday morning.

Dr. Gayden Asks $1,500 From Ass'n. For Central MC

We take this method to notify the trustees and churches and pastors of Central Missippi College that by order of the president, Mrs. C. A. Garland, that the school will close on the 2nd day of May, 1962. According to the Charter the joint trustee Board will also meet at this time.

The President and teachers have done a fine job of which we all should feel proud. And to pay teachers and other bills of the school for the two last months we must raise $1500.00. If this can be done we all will feel happy having run the whole term with teachers and all bills paid up. But to do this every Association with its Auxiliaries must bring to this board $250.00 each.

Trustees are asked to enroll with $10 each and every pastor is asked to enroll with $8.00 each. Let us not fail at this time. If so we will come out in the red. And if this happens we cannot say that we love our College. We must show ourselves men and women who have the ability to run a college in order to educate our boys and girls that they may go forth in the world helping to make the world better for all people to live and give God glory.

Rev. Grey, chairman of the Executive Board has wrought well with what he had to work with. The teachers were willing to work these last two months, believing that the joint board would pay them at the end. Let us not fail them.

The program will open at 10:00 a. m. The joint board will open at 1:00 p. m. on May the 2nd which is Wednesday after the 5th Sunday.

President Garland will soon have her program in our hands. I say to every member of the board, and to every pastor you cannot afford to miss this great board at this time, at Central Mississppi College at Kosciusko. I feel it will be easy for the Association and its Auxiliaries together to bring $250.00. The cause is great and demanding, and this is the order of the day.

Rev. J. W. Gayden, Box 840, Greenwood, Chairman

Mrs. Mary E. Carr, 144 Allen St., Kosciusko, is Secretary of the Joint Trustee Board.

Wife Of National Convention President Speaks April 15 At Farish Street Church

Women Of Church In Charge Of special program.

Guest Director Princess B. Jones will be in charge of the choir and Guest Soloist

Seminary President Brings Message At Warren Co. Center

Certificates Are Awarded To Four Seminary Grads

Dr. William P. Davis, president of the Mississippi Baptist Seminary, brought the inspirational address at the fifth term closing service of the Warren County Seminary Center. This program was held at Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Cedar Grove, on March 16, at 7:30 p. m.

Four graduates were awarded certificates from the Rev. Compere, Dean of Seminary. Those graduating were Rev. Hosie Phillip, Rev. Wright Lassister, Mrs. Rosie Straughter and Mrs. M. L. Spate, all of Vicksburg.

The program opened with devotional music by the combined choirs, scripture and invocation by the Rev. B. L. Thomas and the devotional address by the Rev. R. G. Burns.

A presentation of special music was given by the Rosa Temple Glee Club preceding remarks and presenting of awards and certificates by Compere.

The Rev. A. W. Wilson served as master of ceremonies.

Closing the program with the benediction was the Rev. Roy Myers.

As Executive Secretary Dr. West is responsible for keeping records of all cenventions held, extended sessions, board meetings and the like. He compiles the official minutes and assists the Convention President and other officers in every way possible.

Together with the president Dr. R. W. West (who happens to be his uncle) and the Rev. W. C. Mazique, Convention treasurer, he is a member of the Executive Committee of the Convention which meets at Natchez College on call.

The Bolton pastor is Vice Moderator of Hinds County Baptist Association and Director General of the Hinds County Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress, as well as corresponding secretary of the First Baptist Union of Hinds County.

He is also Corresponding Secretary of the Education Board of the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc.

In his convention office, Dr. West must attend each session and extended session of the Convention in July and November and the regular board meetings in January and May. In between these meetings he must compile the records, keeping up with the Convention business and be subject to call any time.

One would think this would occupy almost all of his time — but such is not the case.

He is pastor of three churches, all of which have full-time programs in Sunday School, BTU and the Women's Auxiliaries.

His own home church, which he has pastored for 33 years, is Pleasant Hill at Bolton. There he holds services each Second Sunday Afternoon.

The Greater Clark Street Baptist Church in Jackson, of which he is also pastor, has about 400 members and two services are held each month. This church he has served for eighteen years.

Dr. West's third church is Friendship Baptist at Edwards where services are held each First and Third

(Continued On Page Two)

REV. C. L. WEST

Woman's Day Program Held In Edwards At Friendship M. B. Church March 18th

Splendid Program Attracts Group; $154.69 Raised

Quite a period before 2:30 p. m., March 18, last, the invited guest-churches and a number of loyal and generous friends of Friendship Missionary Baptist Church met at Edwards.

The Rev. C. L. West, pastor, had made their arrival and were desirously awaiting the time for the WOMAN'S DAY PROGRAM. It was a very beautiful and pleasant afternoon, corresponding exactly with the occasion. The program was well-composed and was directed by Mrs. Nerissa Gray Smith very promptly and graciously.

The churches invited brought greetings and donations as follows: St James (donation); Mt. Moriah, Mrs. Alex Singleton; Orange Hill, Mrs. Jonnie D. Atkison; Kingly Chapel M. E., Miss Lois Flagg; Green Grove, (donation); Greater Clark Street, Jackson (one of the pastors's other churches Deaconess Nannie Edwards. Other numbers on program were: Opening Songs, The Women's Chorus of the host church; Devotionals, Deaconesses Cremolia Jones and Elizabeth Smith Song, the host church; Greetings, Mrs. Willette Young; Response, Mrs. Lula Clinton, Mt. Moriah; Solo, Mrs. Maude Smith; "The Occasion", Mrs. H. C. Hubbard; Song, The Woman's Chorus; "Better Schools and Stronger Churches", Mrs. Emma Jordan, St Mark; Selection, The Womens Chorus from St. Mark; Introduction of Guest Speaker, Mrs. Lottie Dorsey; Guest Speaker, Mrs. Cedella Dozier of Morning Star, Smith Station; Solo, Miss Josephine Wells. "Amazing Grace" was jubilantly sung by the choir and Gospel chorus of the host church. Then came the address from the guest speaker, subject: "Wonderfulness of Womanhood." It was a challenging address, reminding the "fairer sex" of the great influence they wield in the decisions of the destiny of mankind. It was delivered with earnestness and sincerity and with impressiveness. May her tribe be forever on the increase.

The Finance Committee, Mrs. Mary West, Mrs. Lillian C. Marshall, Mrs. Mamie Dargerfield, Miss Annie G.

(Continued On Page Two)

He is the pastor of Union Grove Baptist Church, Greenwood; New Hope Church, Minter City; New Hope Church No. 2, Grenada; and Mt. Zion No. 2, Vicksburg.

The Rev. McSwine is also a Board Member of the General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi; manager of the Victor Burial Association; manager of the Union Grove Book Store; and president of the Palo Alto Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

Rev. B. T. McSwine

The public is invited to listen to his messages each Sunday morning and to view his program each month.

Annual Retreat Held At Baptist Center; Nine State Colleges Are Represented

McDowell Presides; National President Speaks At Banquet

Nine Negro colleges in Mississippi were represented at the Mississippi Baptist Student Union Retreat held at the Baptist Center in Jackson during the last week in March.

"The Baptist Student In Orbit" was the theme of the annual session which was presided over by Fred Mc Dowell, state president, assisted by others. Mr. McDowell is a student at Jackson State College.

The president of the National Baptist Student Union Paul Purdy, was speaker at the banquet. He is also a student at Jackson State.

Principal speakers included Dr. Parks McKittrick, pastor Nineteenth Avenue Baptist Church, Hattiesburg; S. E. Grinstead, director National Baptist Student Department, Nashville, Tenn.; and Dr. Earl Kelly, pastor First Baptist Church, Holly Springs.

Dr. S. Leon Whitney, pastor of the Farish St. Baptist Church in Jackson, led the closing worship service Sunday morning.

Other state Baptist Student Union officers include Joseph Lloyd, Alcorn A & M College, Lorman, vice-president; Elizabeth Towner, Natchez College, Natchez, recording secretary; Yvonne Moore, Prentiss Institute, Prentiss, associate secretary; Ella W. Williams, M. V. C., Itta Bena, stewardship chairman; Emma Butler, Coahoma Junior College, Clarksdale, music chairman; Mary Swington, Coahoma Junior College, Clarksdale, social chairman.

Joining the state Convention Seminary in sponsoring the Retreat were the Department of Work with National Baptists of the Southern Baptists of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, and the Department of National Baptist Student Union, Nashville.

Deadline for news in May Observer is April 26th. Mail yours today.

Schedule Of Coming Events

April

FIFTH SUNDAY:

Lebanon District S.S. and BTU Congress, one-day session at Lebanon M. B. Church, Lexington, 10:00 a.m. Rev. C. L. Clark, Lexington, is in charge of the program.

May

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

Meeting at Central Mississippi College in Kosciusko at 10:00 a. m. Joint Trustee Board at 1:00 p. m.

Notice to pastors, church clerks, officers in churches and the convention: Mail The Baptist Observer a notice of your association meetings, revivals, and all other activities of your church and Association so that it will appear in this column every month. Give name, place, date, day and time of meeting.

The May edition of The Observer will be printed on Monday, April 30th. Mail your news for it TODAY.

Mail notices to appear in the May issue to the editor, Rev. W. L. Terrell, P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Miss. by April 25th.

Of interest to all members of churches in the General Missionary Baptist Convention is the report of activities in the foreign mission fields supported by the Southern Baptist Convention. This work is of interest and importance to every Christian. The report appears on page Two.

of the joint trustee Board will also meet at this time.

The President and teachers have done a fine job of which we all should feel proud. And to pay teachers and other bills of the school for the two last months we must raise $1500.00. If this can be done we all will feel happy having run the whole term with teachers and all bills paid up. But to do this every Association with its Auxiliaries must bring to this board $250.00 each.

Trustees are asked to enroll with $10 each and every pastor is asked to enroll with $8.00 each. Let us not fail at this time. If so we will come out in the red. And if this happens we cannot say that we love our College. We must show ourselves men and wo-

10:00 a. m. The joint board will open at 1:00 p. m. on May the 2nd which is Wednesday after the 5th Sunday.

President Garland will soon have her program in our hands. I say to every member of the board, and to every pastor you cannot afford to miss this great board at this time, at Central Mississppi College at Kosciusko. I feel it will be easy for the Association and its Auxiliaries together to bring $250.00. The cause is great and demanding, and this is the order of the day.

Rev. J. W. Gayden, Box 840, Greenwood, Chairman

Mrs. Mary E. Carr, 144 Allen St., Kosciusko, is Secretary of the Joint Trustee Board.

Wife Of National Convention President Speaks April 15 At Farish Street Church

Women Of Church In Charge Of Day's Program

Sunday, April 15, will be a great day in the lives of the members of the Farish Street Baptist Church in Jackson, especially the women members.

Mrs. Maude A. Jackson, wife of the distinguished president of the National Baptist Convention, Dr. Joseph Jackson, will visit the Farish Street Church and be guest speaker for the day's program which will be in charge of the women of the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Jackson have just returned from a trip to India and she is expected to comment on their trip in her address.

Women of the church will serve in all capacities in every department of work in the day's program, according to the Rev. S. Leon Whitney, pastor.

The pastor and all of the church members extend a cordial invitation to everyone to join with them in Sunday's special program.

Guest Director Princess B. Jones will be in charge of the choir and Guest Soloist Ernestine Stutts will sing "The Crucifixion."

Representatives of churches from all over the state are expected to attend.

Pastorial Day Held At Tchula Church

Sunday was regular Pastorial Day at Rosehill Baptist Church, Tchula, Mississippi. In the midst of much rain, both Sunday School and regular worship service were very largely attended. The pastor chose for his morning message Acts 5:3, subject, "Lying Church Members" the pastor emphasized on the tragedy of a lie. After the benediction, the pastor and his guests, Mrs. C. E. Cantrell and Mrs. Hattie Mae Mattlock, Rosehill's pianist, were invited guests for dinner in the home of Bro. and Sister William Wade, where they were elaborately served and royally entertained.

Rev. C. E. Cantrell, Pastor
Mrs. Mae W. Williams, Reporter

tist Seminary, brought the inspirational address at the fifth term closing service of the Warren County Seminary Center. This program was held at Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Cedar Grove, on March 16, at 7:30 p. m.

Four graduates were awarded certificates from the Rev. Compere, Dean of Seminary. Those graduating were Rev. Hosie Phillip, Rev. Wright Lassister, Mrs. Rosie Straughter and Mrs. M. L. Spate, all of Vicksburg.

The program opened with devotional music by the combined choirs, scripture and invocation by the Rev. B. L. Thomas and the devotional address by the Rev. R. G. Burns.

A presentation of special music was given by the Rosa Temple Glee Club preceding remarks and presenting of awards and certificates by Compere.

The Rev. A. W. Wilson served as master of ceremonies.

Closing the program with the benediction was the Rev. Roy Myers.

Rev. J. W. Wheeler Rites Held March 21

Funeral services for Rev. J. W. Wheeler of Lexington were held March 21, at 1:00 o'clock from the New Zion M. B. Church in Carroll County.

The Rev. W. M. Saffold officiated.

He was a member of Asia M. B. Church. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Minnie Wheeler, four daughters, one son, and a host of grandchildren, great grandchildren, and other relatives.

Pallbearers were ministers.

Rev. G. H. Hines, Jr., pastor of Asia M. B. Church of Lexington, was master of ceremonies.

Editorial Board Of The Baptist Observer

Seated: Dr. J. W. Gayden, Greenwood, chairman of the Editorial Advisory Board; Rev. E. E. Spencer, Route 2, Box 54, Lorman, vice chairman; Rev. L. C. Wilcher, Jackson, secretary.

Standing: Rev. W. L. Terrell, Greenwood, editor and treasurer; Rev. L. D. Woodley, Washington; Rev. P. F. Parker, Canton.

Natchez Founders' Day Is Success

Dr. Buck Welcomes Large Audience; Rev. Mazique Brings Great Message

On March 7th all roads in Mississippi led to Natchez where Baptists from throughout the domain of General Missionary Baptist State Convention journeyed to the Bluff City to witness the Seventy-Seventh Birthday celebration of Natchez Junior College Founders' Day.

This annual event equaled, if not surpassed, any of previous years, with high compliments to the president of the college, Dr. J. R. Buck, and his associates for an array of features commensurate to the occasion.

Appreciative and attentive audience virtually filled the large auditorium.

On the morning side, the dean of religion, Dr. C. B. Lewis, supervised the devotional period which was very impressive. Following this, the Dramatics Club presented "Kindom of One", Mrs. Jean C. Wilson, director; member of the faculty. The persons were characterized by: "Amy Bethune", Miss Georgia Collins; "Tommy Bethune", Benjamin Dunbar; "Mr. Potts", James Ivory; "Mrs. Grovw", Miss Annie Bland; "Annabelle Baker", Miss Willie M. Williams; Music, Natchez Jr. College Choir. Each character performed with dexterity; receiving applause from the congregation.

President Buck made expletive comments, then presented the President of the State Convention, Dr. R. W. West. He also commended the course of procedure and emphasized upon the vast needs of more financial support for the college, with a good report to be made at this time

Mrs. Dr. Elnora D. McGowan, president of the Woman's Auxiliary Convention, was then graciously presented. As usual, her expressions were interesting and challenging; exhibited by the respect she was given and the reaction in return. May all three of the presidents be sustained in their endeavors to promote the respective interests devolved upon them, with honor and dignity.

The afternoon was delightfully and inspiringly employed in listening to a magnificent Musical Concert presented by Natchez Junior College Choir under the manipulative directorship of the Rev. Prof. LeVander Kinds, director of music at the college; and adept in that field. The renditions comprised the entire religious field of music.

Then Dr. J. W. Gayder, president of the State SS and BTU Congress, was presented for remarks which are always enlivening and seasoned with wisdom and philosophical inductions.

The climaxing of the occasion was the evening session when, after timely and appropriate devotionals, President West reminded us of the pressing responsibilities we face and of returning to our homes with a determination of going to Grenada in July to report the $60,000 voted by the Executive Board, Jan. 31, this year. He then, in well-selected terms, presented Dr. W. C. Mazique, treasurer of the State Convention, for the sermon of the hour.

In princely decorum, after preliminaries, a text was named from 1 Cor. 3:11 and Matt. 6:33; subject, "The Great Results of Spiritual and Intellectual Inspiration." The minister, first related some historical data pertaining to the groundwork of the school then began his discourse. As he advanced, the capacity-filled chapel went along with him, giving vent to their approval by foot-patting, hand-clapping and sonorous "Amens".

Rev. Mazique is a great pastor of four strong churches, Moderator of A. M. B. Association of Adams County, a recognized member of the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., and one who has a warm heart toward all. The effect of his message was evidenced by an offering of $151.56. Total receipts for the occasion was $3,665.12. The Convention is now looking forward to the annual session which will be held in Grenada, Miss., July 17, 18, 19, this year, THE LORD WILLING.

See back page for enrollment at Founder's Day.

Editor's Corner . . . .

JUNIOR COLLEGE TRENDS — The problems of the private junior colleges are often monetary. The older private junior colleges often have little or no endowment. To attract endowment and justify high tuition and campus living costs, the private junior college must, like Stephens, Junior College of Missouri, offer an outstanding often expensive and unique program.

Rev. Terrell

The late Dr. J. R. Wood, of Stephens, used to boast that over ninety per cent of his girls were happily married within two years of graduation. His waggish but envious competitors began asking him what kind of a spouse trap he was running. The boast changed but the college policies continued.

He was a brilliant and wise educator.

The big problem for all junior colleges is the teacher shortage. They are caught between the high schools and high degree grant colleges and universities. But this may soon improve. When a scholarly-minded high school teacher contemplates a change for further professional advancement, he instinctively looks toward the university level colleges offering baccalaureate degrees.

If he has a master's degree in his academic field, is reasonably articulate, has some remote promise of a doctorate and no menacing cloud on his record, he experiences little or no difficulty in getting a probationary appointment in a college or university as instructor with future permanence contingent upon the upgrading of his credentials.

But this is often a tough choice for the ambitious teacher. If he is married, has a growing family, and approaching 40 he may well ask if the future increase in earning power is worth the cost.

* * * *

This situation, within the next few years, may work materially to the advantage of the junior colleges. At present, between the faculty recruitment policies of the secondary schools and the university level colleges, the two-year institutions are being overlooked and by-passed.

But a trend is detectable that is favorable to those junior colleges that have budgets somewhere close to their responsibilities. It stems from the fact that the junior colleges are not under the hammer for such high level credentials for faculty members as are the four-year colleges.

Recent statistics reveal that less than seven per cent of the faculties of the junior colleges in the United States have doctorate degrees. The ratio has been diminishing as a result of senior colleges and universities raiding their faculties for teachers with such qualifications.

Likewise the ratio of junior college facilities with a year of graduate work beyond the master's has been declining even more rapidly from 22 per cent to 17 per cent since 1958. Once again, college teachers in this category high promise of doctoral credentials. Raiding of junior college faculties in this bracket has been heavy.

For instance at the Board Meeting in Jackson, Mississippi, January 31, 1962 we voted a Committee on a Committee or Board on a Board but Dr. Buck, looking into the future and thinking of tomorrow, refused to lower the standard of qualification of a Christian School for the loaves and fishes.

Help Us Grow

The Baptist Observer Wants Your News

Christianity did not come into the ful special articles concerning the

The Baptist Observer

The March issue of THE BAPTIST OBSERVER was sold for half-price. After checking everything pro and co to just get by, not to make any profit.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year $3.00—Two years $5.00—6 months $2:00

20 cents per copy

Send your news items to:

W. L. Terrell, Editor

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER

P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Mississippi

Work In Foreign Mission Field Is Reported By Southern Baptists

The baptism of 34,364 persons, bringing total membership to 475,727, is a tangible 1961 achievement of the 3,627 overseas churches related to Southern Baptist mission work. Baptisms numbered 3,257 more than in 1960.

There were also 6,815 Baptist chapters and mission points overseas at year's end, an increase of 293 over 1960. The number of churches increased by 228.

Contributions through these churches and missions amounted to $3,621,908.56, up $359,618.26 from the year before. Sixty-one per cent of the churches, or 2,204, were self-supporting.

Sunday schools sponsored by the overseas Baptists in 1961 enrolled 419,744 persons; youth organizations, 135,123; Woman's Missionary Unions, 126,931; Brotherhoods, 4,529; and Vacation Bible schools, 116,616.

This information is recorded in the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board's 1961 report, a compilation of figures and facts from the countries and territories where Southern Baptist missionaries serve. The annual report will be presented to the Southern Baptist Convention when it meets in San Francisco, Calif., in June.

At the end of 1961 there were 1,548 Southern Baptist missionaries — 657 men, 664 married women, and 227 single women — serving with the churches and missions and in various other phases of Baptist work overseas. The Foreign Mission Board appointed 103 missionaries during tionals in publication work.

"Any statistical survey is only a partial report of work accomplished in a year of missionary endeavor," said Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, in releasing the 1961 information. "For every person baptized there are many others in some stage of inquiry about the gospel of Jesus."

He added that there is no way to measure the impact of Christianity upon ethical and moral standards of the countries where mission work is being done. "In most lands Christian groups have an influence far out of proportation to their numbers," he said.

Grenada Revival At New Hope

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Cantrell of Greenwood attended one of the meetings in progress at the First New Hope Baptist Church in Grenada pastored by Rev. C. C. Coleman.

Rev. Clyde Adams of Fort Wayne, Indiana was the nationally and internationally known Evangelist for the revival. Prof. Robert Bradley, minister of music from Nashville, Tenn., conducted the singing. The revival was largely attended. Dr. Adams preached a powerful sermon on "Believeth." The Reverend Coleman stated that up to Wednesday there had been 96 decisions for Christ. Ac-

Executive Secretary . .

(Continued from Page One)

Sundays. He has been pastor at Edwards for eleven years.

Dr. West has pastored other churches in his ministerial career but the three mentioned have taken up the major portion of his time.

Teacher, Too

The foregoing sounds like Dr. West has been a pretty busy man all his life. Certainly three church pastorates would be enough to enrich and bring lasting satisfaction into a man's life who wants to serve humanity.

But Secretary West has also chalked up 28 years in the teaching profession. Up until 1953 he taught in the schools of Hinds County and was principal of the Brownsville School, near Bolton, for many years.

Early Families

Secretary West is a member of an early family in the Bolton area. His parents were the late Rev. John W. and Mary E. West, prominent residents of the community.

He attended Mt. Zion School in Hinds County then went to Natchez College for his High School and college work where he received an A. B. degree in Education. Later he received a B. Th. degree from Mississippi Baptist Seminary in Jackson.

Mrs. C. L. West

Dr. West's wife is the former Miss Mary Williams of Bolton, to whom he was married in 1922.

Mrs. West has been in the teaching profession for many years in Hinds County and currently teaches Second Grade at Reuben Jr. High School.

She is a graduate of Jackson College.

Mrs. West, too, is an able and busy person.

She is active in Sunday School, Baptist Training Union and the Women's Auxiliaries. She is now serving as treasurer of the Song Leaders Department of Hinds County SS and BTU Congress and is a former president of the Junior Matrons Department in the Women's Auxiliary of Hinds County.

One Child

The Wests' have only one child, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ardelia West Smith, who teaches at Isabel School on Hill Avenue in Jackson. She is married to James B. Smith and they reside at 1342 Fairmont Avenue. Mr. Smith is principal of the Reynolds

Church School Lesson For April

Lesson No. 1 April 1, 1962
"CHRIST — CENTER OF OUR FAITH"
Printed Text: 1 Timothy 1:12-17; 2:3-6:11, 12.
Golden Text: 1 Timothy 2:5.

Lesson No. 2 April 8, 1962
"TOWARD A MATURE FAITH"
Printed Text: 2 Timothy 1:3-7; 3:10-17.
Golden Text: 2 Peter 3:18.

Lesson No. 3 April 15, 1962
"LIVING IN THE LIGHT OF THE CROSS"
Printed Text: Titus 2:11-3:8.
Golden Text: Gal. 2:20.

Lesson No. 4 April 22, 1962
"CHRIST REIGNS"
Printed Text: Hebrews 1:1-12.
Golden Text: Rev. 5:12.

Lesson No. 5 April 29, 1962
Printed Text: Hebrews 10:23-25; 12:1-7,11-14.
Golden Text: Hebrew 10:36.

Donald E. Smith, 3 years old.

Reads A Lot

When asked how he liked to spend his time when he wasn't busy pastoring, visiting church members and the sick, or performing a myriad of Convention duties, Rev. West replied he loves to read and also works a small vegetable garden himself. Ever so often he will take his grandchildren fishing.

"I like to keep up with what's going on," the Rev. West said.

He reads the newspapers daily and religious magazines and enjoys television and radio.

Most of all, however, he enjoys reading and studying his Bible and the commentaries in preparing his sermons.

An extra avocation of the Rev. West may be said to be traveling.

He loves to travel in various sections of this great nation and has visited in many states attending annual conventions of the National Baptist Convention of the U. S. A., Inc. and he hasn't missed a gathering of this body since 1932. He plans to go to Chicago when it meets there in September. In fact, he is a member of the Transportation Committee for both cago.

Philosophy

When the reporter asked the Rev. West if his philosophy of life could be summed up in a few words what would they be, he replied:

"Well, I like the 23rd Psalm, and also the rhyme we all remember from childhood:

"If a task is once begun
Never leave it 'til
it's done
Be the labor great
or small
Do it well, or not at all."

After a two-hour pleasant interview with the Rev. and Mrs. West, your reporter would say that he practices what he preaches — and that he, indeed, does perform many tasks well.

Women's Day . . .

(Continued from Page One)

Jackson and Mrs. Elnora D. McGowan, received the contributions. The chairman of the Program Committee, Mrs. Nannie Barker, made timely remarks, followed by expressions by the pastor. The total receipts for the occasion and for the day amounted to $154.69. After the benediction was pronounced, refreshments were served, with everyone departing, feeling uplifted universities. But this may soon improve. When a scholarly-minded high school teacher contemplates a change for further professional advancement, he instinctively looks toward the university level colleges offering baccalaureate degrees.

If he has a master's degree in his academic field, is reasonably articulate, has some remote promise of a doctorate and no menacing cloud on his record, he experiences little or no difficulty in getting a probationary appointment in a college or university as instructor with future permanence contingent upon the upgrading of his credentials.

But this is often a tough choice for the ambitious teacher. If he is lege facilities with a year of graduate work beyond the master's has been declining even more rapidly from 22 per cent to 17 per cent since 1958. Once again, college teachers in this category high promise of doctoral credentials. Raiding of junior college faculties in this bracket has been heavy.

For instance at the Board Meeting in Jackson, Mississippi, January 31, 1962 we voted a Committee on a Committee or Board on a Board but Dr. Buck, looking into the future and thinking of tomorrow, refused to lower the standard of qualification of a Christian School for the loaves and fishes.

Help Us Grow

The Baptist Observer Wants Your News

Christianity did not come into the world through the editorial page; it came through the news story.

* * * *

Were those special services in your church last Sunday reported in your local paper? And that interesting talk to the church school, given in costume by the missionary, or that great sermon preached by the pastor? Too bad it was not reported! Many who should have heard it never come to church school; or to the worship service, but they might have read it if it had been in the newspaper (Baptist Observer) And how Grandma Charters would have enjoyed it! She cannot get out much any more, but she likes to know what is going on.

Every community boasts a local newspaper, daily or weekly; in some areas there are several within a radius of twenty or twenty-five miles.

Most of these papers are as eager for news stories about the church as they are for the shorter news items.

As a Christian paper, you have a responsibility to serve this local press.

Often a well written report of some special service or project will help thousands of people.

The national, regional, and state denominational papers, many of them weeklies, provide a splendid market for the news feature. The new Baptist Observer will carry all of your Church news. Not only do we welcome thoughtful special articles concerning the churches of this denomination, but also we use timely general articles.

We need realistic discussions of recent happenings, character sketches of oustanding persons, historical articles which have bearing on some current topic or event, character-building articles, Christian family-life items, articles on social conditions, and articles concerning such subjects as temperance and juvenile delinquency.

In spite of the power of the radio and television, the newspaper is still considered the single factor in molding thought and public opinion. Think of the Christian influence you can exert through a constant stream of stimulating contributions!

Whether your community is large or small, city or country, you can prepare newsworthy articles concerning its churches and their activities. Special services, annual meetings, elections, conferences, camps, vacation church schools, weekday religious education — the possibilities are endless. Women's missionary circles, men's brotherhoods, youth fellowships, junior clubs, all have active programs which will yield interesting articles. Send to The Baptist Observer, we are asking all of your churches to send in your news and read what others are doing. We need your help to make this a great Christian Publication.

REV. W. L. TERRELL, Editor

Lebanon District Women's Ass'n. Holds Drive

The Lebanon District Women's Association held its one day Educational Drive Sunday, March 26, at the Hyman Chapel M. B. Church at Sidon.

The Rev. D. G. Green is pastor of the Sidon church.

A total of $240.04 was raised to be used by Natchez Jr. College and C. M. C. College of Kosciusko.

The meeting was attended by 300 to 400 people.

A special feature was the mother and baby pageant conducted by Mrs. M. L. Colbert of Tchula. The babies reported as follows: Baby Sutton, Mt. Calvary (third place) — $15.60; Pamela Jordan, Hyman Chapel — $4.92; Eddie Mae Oliphant, Spring Valley — $12.31; Sylvester Taylor, Mt. Pleasant — $2.00; James Markus Montgomery, Aisa — $8.00; Sam Ella Sample, Hyman Chapel — $1.40; Jeraldine Ross, Holly Grove — $6.50; Jones Chapel, donation — $4.00; Union Paradise, donation — $2.00.

Mt. Pisgah, first place, sponsored by Mozelle Humphrey, $24.59; Sunny Mt., donation, $6.00; Union Grove, Baby Wilkes, (second place), $15.15 Grand total raised, Baby Pageant, $105.04.

A fine sermon was preached by Rev. S. G. Carey of Lexington.

Mrs. Callie Friar, president
(Mrs.) Nathalee Clark, sec'y

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER

REV. W. L. TERRELL, Editor

The Official Journal of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Mississippi published monthly at Greenwood, Mississippi. Address all Correspondence to Rev. W. L. Terrell, P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Miss.

$359,618.26 from the year before. Sixty-one per cent of the churches, or 2,204, were self-supporting.

Sunday schools sponsored by the overseas Baptists in 1961 enrolled 419,744 persons; youth organizations, 135,123; Woman's Missionary Unions, 126,931; Brotherhoods, 4,529; and Vacation Bible schools, 116,616.

This information is recorded in the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board's 1961 report, a compilation of figures and facts from the countries and territories where Southern Baptist missionaries serve. The annual report will be presented to the Southern Baptist Convention when it meets in San Francisco, Calif., in June.

At the end of 1961 there were 1,548 Southern Baptist missionaries — 657 men, 664 married women, and 227 single women — serving with the churches and missions and in various other phases of Baptist work overseas. The Foreign Mission Board appointed 103 missionaries during the year, for a net gain of 68 after retirements and resignations.

The new missionaries included the first for Germany (to do English-speaking work) and the French West Indies, bringing the number of geographical entities served by the Board to 47 at the year's end — 15 in Latin America, 14 in the Orient, four in the Near East, eight in Africa, and six in Europe. (Foreign missionaries also serve at the Baptist Spanish Publishing House in El Paso, Tex., and on loan in Hawaii where responsibility for Baptist work was transferred from the Board to the Hawaii Baptist Convention at the close of 1960.)

Missionaries worked alongside 3,665 nationals who were engaged in church-related vocations, 1,725 of them ordained ministers. (Last year saw the ordination of the first national pastors in the history of Southern Baptist missions in Tanganyika and Peru.)

Helping to train nationals for leadership in their churches and countries were 1,026 Baptist schools, with enrollments totaling 162,462. These included 38 theological seminaries, with 1,191 students; six women's training schools with 370; 27 colleges and teacher training schools, with 9,410; 93 secondary schools, with 26,204; 700 elementary schools, with 115,474; 156 kindergartens, with 9,678; and six other schools, with 135. On the faculties were 305 missionaries and 5,687 nationals.

Ten good will centers, staffed by 13 missionaries and 39 nationals, enrolled 3,033 children and 1,567 adults. And 16 orphanages, staffed by six missionaries and 74 nationals, cared for 315 boys and 331 girls.

Medical treatment was given to 299,824 patients in 1961 by 18 Baptist hospitals overseas and 56 clinics and dispensaries (three new dental clinics were opened). Serving these medical centers were 56 missionary doctors, 96 national doctors, 55 missionary nurses, 240 national nurses, 28 other missionaries, and 726 other nationals.

Sixteen publishing centers produced 240,000 copies of the Bible, 4,505,939 copies of 233 periodicals, 506,665 copies of 164 books, and 13,202,890 copies of 345 tracts. There were 57 missionaries and 437 na-countries where mission work is being done. "In most lands Christian groups have an influence far out of proportation to their numbers," he said.

Grenada Revival At New Hope

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Cantrell of Greenwood attended one of the meetings in progress at the First New Hope Baptist Church in Grenada pastored by Rev. C. C. Coleman.

Rev. Clyde Adams of Fort Wayne, Indiana was the nationally and internationally known Evangelist for the revival. Prof. Robert Bradley, minister of music from Nashville, Tenn., conducted the singing. The revival was largely attended. Dr. Adams preached a powerful sermon on "Believeth." The Reverend Coleman stated that up to Wednesday there had been 96 decisions for Christ. Accompanying Rev. and Mrs. Cantrell were Rev. W. C. Clay, Rev. W. M. Brown, Rev. F. B. Brown, Rev. Willie Jackson and Mrs. Pearlie Burns, all of Greenwood.

Be Sure And Attend The Church Of Your This Sunday And Every Sunday!

mer Miss Mary Williams of Bolton, to whom he was married in 1922.

Mrs. West has been in the teaching profession for many years in Hinds County and currently teaches Second Grade at Reuben Jr. High School.

She is a graduate of Jackson College.

Mrs. West, too, is an able and busy person.

She is active in Sunday School, Baptist Training Union and the Women's Auxiliaries. She is now serving as treasurer of the Song Leaders Department of Hinds County SS and BTU Congress and is a former president of the Junior Matrons Department in the Women's Auxiliary of Hinds County.

One Child

The Wests' have only one child, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ardelia West Smith, who teaches at Isabel School on Hill Avenue in Jackson. She is married to James B. Smith and they reside at 1342 Fairmont Avenue. Mr. Smith is principal of the Reynolds School on Dalton St. in Jackson.

There are five children who brighten the homes and hearts of their parents and grandparents: James B. Smith, Jr., nearly 16; Curtis West Smith, 14, named for his grandfather; one daughter, Jonnie Roberta Smith, 12; Paul R. Smith, 7; and of Convention duties. Rev. West replied he loves to read and also works a small vegetable garden himself. Ever so often he will take his grandchildren fishing.

"I like to keep up with what's going on," the Rev. West said.

He reads the newspapers daily and religious magazines and enjoys television and radio.

Most of all, however, he enjoys reading and studying his Bible and the commentaries in preparing his sermons.

An extra avocation of the Rev. West may be said to be traveling.

He loves to travel in various sections of this great nation and has visited in many states attending annual conventions of the National Baptist Convention of the U. S. A., Inc. and he hasn't missed a gathering of this body since 1932. He plans to go to Chicago when it meets there in September. In fact, he is a member of the Transportation Committee for both the Convention and for the National Sunday School and BTU Congress which meets in Denver in June.

The Rev. and Mrs. West both plan to make the trip to Denver along with about 300 other Baptists from the state. Some 500 from Mississippi are expected to attend the September convention in Chi-

"Well, I like the 23rd Psalm, and also the rhyme we all remember from childhood:

"If a task is once begun
Never leave it 'til
it's done
Be the labor great
or small
Do it well, or not at all."

After a two-hour pleasant interview with the Rev. and Mrs. West, your reporter would say that he practices what he preaches — and that he, indeed, does perform many tasks well.

Women's Day . . .

(Continued from Page One)

Jackson and Mrs. Elnora D. McGowan, received the contributions. The chairman of the Program Committee, Mrs. Nannie Barker, made timely remarks, followed by expressions by the pastor. The total receipts for the occasion and for the day amounted to $154.69. After the benediction was pronounced, refreshments were served, with everyone departing, feeling uplifted over an afternoon well spent in the house of the Lord. The committee is to be given heartfelt thanks for providing an appreciative program on behalf of the church. May they be led to believe that their "labor is not in vain in the Lord."

(Mrs. Lillian C. Marshall, Church Clerk)

Information From The President Of The General Missionary Baptist State Convention Of Mississippi

To the Pastors, Moderators of county and district Associations, Executive Board Members, Presidents of the Auxiliaries and of other organizations cooperating with The General Missionary Baptist State Convention of Mississippi:

Dear Co-Workers:

In looking forward to the coming Annual Session of our State Convention, to be held with the Baptist Churches of Grenada, July 17, 18, 19, this year, the Executive Board met at Farish Street Baptist Church, Mississippi, Rev. S. Leon Whitney, Pastor, January 31, last, and the following recommendations were proposed and adopted for action for the coming session:

PERSONAL ENROLLMENT

Officers of the Convention	$125 each
Executive Board Members	75 each
Pastors	50 each
Ordained Ministers (not pastoring)	25 each
Licentiates (local ministers)	10 each
Annual Members	10 each

REPRESENTATION

Each County and/or District Association (as a unit)	$ 100.00
The Woman's Auxiliary State Convention	5,000,00
The State Sunday School and Training Union Congress	1,000.00
The State Ushers Auxiliary	500.00
The State Laymen Unit	250.00

CHURCH REPRESENTATION

A church with 3 to 10 members	$ 15.00
A church with 11 to 20 members	25.00
A church with 21 to 40 members	50.00
A church with 41 to 60 members	75.00
A church with 61 to 100 members	100.00
A church with 101 to 125 members	125.00
A church with 126 to 150 members	150.00
A church with 151 to 175 members	175.00
A church with 176 to 200 members	200.00
A church with 201 to 250 members	225.00
A church with over 250 members	250.00

THE GOAL — $60,000.00

May each co-worker and each organization strive to bring to, and report in, the convention the personal enrollment and representation as his case may be which will enable the Convention to satisfy its creditors and also keep the door of our school open for continuous service in the field of Christian education.

With faith and confidence in your prompt response, I am,

Yours to serve,
R. W. WEST, President

THIS "symbol of hope" looms brightly today. Golgotha and Crucifixion is where the spirit was triumphant over death... where a symbol of suffering was turned into a symbol of triumphant life. He could not save himself, for "he who saves his life loses it." Your church calls you this Easter morning to commemorate the resurrection of Jesus the Christ.
SYMBOL OF HOPE

Rev. Chandler To Preside At Convention

The Rev. A. M. Chandler, president, will preside at the St. John District Singing Convention on April 26, 27, and 29th.

This Fifth Sunday Session will be held at the New prospect Baptist Church of Swifttown.

All choirs of the district are urged to attend as well as officers, members and interested persons.

Mrs. Jo Ann Houston is Convention secretary.

Rev. A. M. Chandler

Revival Schedule For April

A Revival began on March 26, at the Jones Chapel M. B. Church at Greenwood. The Rev. R. B. Harris, Canton, was the Evangelist.

Rev. C. L. Clark, Pastor
Bro. Aaron Gordon, Sec'y.

A fine revival was held April 2-6 at Mt. Calvary M.B. Church at Tchula. The Rev. R. L. Butler, Greenville was the Evangelist.

Rev. C. L. Clark, Paster
Mrs. F. P. Johnson, Sec'y.

Beulah Land M. B. Church, Yazoo City will hold a revival April 16-20. The Rev. W. M. Saffold, Lexington, will be the visiting Evangelist.

Rev. C. L. Clark, Pastor
Bro. Milton Stewart, Sec'y

The annual revival at Asia M. B. Church, Lexington, will be conducted April 16-20. The Rev. T. B. Brown, Jackson will be the Evangelist for this series of meetings.

Rev. G. H. Hines, Jr., Pastor
Mrs. Jeanette Epps, Sec'y

Notice to pastors: Mail the editor dates of your coming revivals for May and June by April 25th, or as soon as possible.

Youth Day Held At Lebanon Church On March 18th

Youth Day was held at the Lebanon M. B. Church Sunday, March 18.

The pastor, Rev. A. Barron, chose for his text: "Remember Thy Creator in the days of thy youth, Ecclesiastes 12-1."

The theme for the program was "Youth's Role as Saints For God."

Gaspee Waddell, the speaker, gave a very inspirational address from the theme.

O. W. Hodges, Jr. was master of ceremonies.

The young people had charge of all activities for the day.

Money raised was $118.00

Rev. A. Barron, Pastor
Bro. D. L. Kimbrough, Sec'y.

Baptist Ministers In Convention Promote Observer

Other Pastors Are Needed To Help Sell Newspaper

A number of Baptist ministers throughout the state have volunteered their efforts in promoting the sale of The Baptist Observer during the month of April.

Dr. W. P. Davis, president of the Baptist Seminary, is helping us all he can with The Observer. He has told officers and the Convention itself how important he thinks it is that we have a newspaper voice for Negro Baptists in Mississippi.

Dr. Davis is going to try to sell 1,000 copies of the paper for us in April.

Let us all do what we can.

Those who have indicated they will sell 100 or more copies of The Baptist Observer during this period are as follows:

Dr. William P. Davis, Jackson; Dr. E. E. Spencer, Lorman; Dr. L. C. Wilcher, Jackon; Dr. J. W. Gayden, Greenwood; Dr. C. C. Coleman, Grenada; Dr. W. L. Terrell, Greenwood; Dr. L. D. Woodly, Washington; Dr. P. F. Parker, Canton; Dr. C. L. West, Bolton and Dr. C. L. Clark, Lexington.

We need many, many others to order and sell copies of The Baptist Observer. We must sell 3,000 copies. Won't you send in your order, Mr. Pastor, and see that every family in your church gets a copy? Thank you.

See Coupons

See coupons at the bottom of this page which you can clip and mail, either to order a number of copies of The Observer, or to send in your individual subscription.

Mail orders for copies to:
Rev. W. L. Terrell, Editor
The Baptist Observer.
P. O. Box 205
Greenwood, Mississippi

When You
Send In Your NEWS,
please type —
if at all possible.
And PLEASE double-space
all typing.
THANK YOU.

The Baptist Observer
P. O. Box 205,
Greenwood, Miss.

★

(Advertising rates: $1.00 per column inch — contract rate available)

Additional State Convention Reports

Gulfport - Delayed

The following reports were mailed in by Secretary C. L. West following the Founder's Day Program at Natchez on March 7th.

val April 16-20. The Rev. W. M. Saffold, Lexington, will be the visiting Evangelist.

Rev. C. L. Clark, Pastor
Bro. Milton Stewart, Sec'y

The annual revival at Asia M. B. Church, Lexington, will be conducted April 16-20. The Rev. T. B. Brown, Jackson will be the Evangelist for this series of meetings.

Rev. G. H. Hines, Jr., Pastor
Mrs. Jeanette Epps, Sec'y

Notice to pastors: Mail the editor dates of your coming revivals for May and June by April 25th, or as soon as possible.

The pastor, Rev. A. Barron, chose for his text: "Remember Thy Creator in the days of thy youth, Ecclesiastes 12-1."

The theme for the program was "Youth's Role as Saints For God."

Gaspee Waddell, the speaker, gave a very inspirational address from the theme.

O. W. Hodges, Jr. was master of ceremonies.

The young people had charge of all activities for the day.

Money raised was $118.00

Rev. A. Barron, Pastor
Bro. D. L. Kimbrough, Sec'y.

Grenada; Dr. W. L. Terrell, Greenwood; Dr. L. D. Woodly, Washington; Dr. P. F. Parker, Cantor; Dr. C. L. West, Bolton and Dr. C. L. Clark, Lexington.

We need many, many others to order and sell copies of The Baptist Observer. We must sell 3,000 copies. Won't you send in your order, Mr. Pastor, and see that every family in your church gets a copy? Thank you.

See Coupons

See coupons at the bottom of this page which you can clip and mail, either to order a number of copies of The Observer, or to send in your

★

(Advertising rates: $1.00 per column inch — contract rate available)

Additional State Convention Reports

Gulfport - Delayed

The following reports were mailed in by Secretary C. L. West following the Founder's Day Program at Natchez on March 7th.

Jackson District M. B. Association

Church	Post Office	Pastor	Post Office	Representation
Cade Chapel	Jackson	J. D. Hayden	Tougaloo	$ 25.00
Canny Creek	Jackson	S. L. Spann	Jackson	10.00
Cherry Grove	Jackson	W. C. Davis	Jackson	25.00
Fairfield	Jackson	R. L. White	Jackson	5.00
Fairview	Jackson	R. H. Walls	Jackson	50.00
Farish Street	Jackson	S. Leon Whitney	Jackson	125.00
Free Mission	Jackson	E. D. Terry	Jackson	15.00
Friendship	Jackson	L. H. Newsom	Jackson	15.00
Greater North Side	Jackson	A. B. Brown	Jackson	30.00
Howard Chapel	Jackson	P. H. Howard	Jackson	12.50
Johnson Chapel	Jackson	R. L. Plump	Jackson	15.00
McRaven Hill	Jackson	W. W. Pace	Jackson	25.00
Morning Star	Jackson	P. E. Lott	Jackson	25.00
Mt. Bethel	Jackson	J. H. Hardy	Jackson	10.00
Mt. Helm	Jackson	T. B. Brown	Jackson	100.00
Mt. Nebo	Jackson	Fred B. Black	Jackson	100.00
Nazareth	Jackson	L. L. Williams	Jackson	5.00
New Hope	Jackson	L. C. Pickens	Jackson	25.00
New Hope	Jackson	G. C. Hunte	Jackson	15.00
New Mt. Zion	Jackson	B. D. Rushing	Jackson	100.00
Pleasant Gift	Jackson	M. Johnson	Jackson	10.00
Pleasant Hill	Jackson	J. C. McClinty	Jackson	5.00
Progressive	Jackson	L. H. Newsom	Jackson	75.00
Rosemont	Jackson	C. B. Bingham	Jackson	45.00
Solomon Temple	Jackson	A. W. Bell	Jackson	10.00
St. James	Jackson	O. D. Brown	Jackson	65.00
St. Peter	Jackson	B. D. Rushing	Jackson	100.00
Strangers Home	Jackson	G. C. Carroll	Jackson	15.00
True Light	Jackson	R. H. Walls	Jackson	50.00
True Light	Canton	E. C. Johnson	Canton	10.00
Special Association Representation				50.00
Total Representation				$1,187.50

REV. B. D. RUSHING, Moderator
REV. S. L. SPANN, Secretary
REV. J. W. COLLINS, Missionary
REV. O. L. LLOYD, Missionary

Lebanon District Association

Church	Post Office	Pastor	Post Office	Representation
Asia	Lexington	George H. Hines, Jr.	Jackson	$ 25.00
Holly Grove	Lexington	C. D. Brown	Jackson	15.00
Jones Chapel	Greenwood	C. L. Clark	Lexington	50.00
Mt. Calvary	Tchula	C. L. Clark	Lexington	50.00
Mt. Pisgah	Sidon	J. W. Gayden	Greenwood	250.00
New Foundation	Yazoo City	T. E. Birt	Yazoo City	25.00
New Jerusalem	Yazoo City	E. W. Weathers	Yazoo City	10.00
New Tabernacle	Yazoo City	W. H. Carter	Yazoo City	20.00
Rose Hill	Yazoo City	E. A. Hogan	Jackson	20.00
Union Grove	Lexington	C. D. Brown	Jackson	30.00
Special Association Representation				$100.36
Total Representation				$595.36

REV. J. W. GAYDEN, Moderator
REV. S. G. CAREY, Secretary
REV. E. Estell, Missionary
Reported By Rev. George H. Hines, Jr.

When You Need PRINTING Of ANY KIND

Please Contact

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith

At The Office Of

The Lexington Advertiser

Lexington, Mississippi

We Print THE BAPTIST OBSERVER And will Be Happy To Do YOUR WORK, Whether For Churches, Schools, Colleges, Business Or Profession.

★ Programs ★ Minutes ★ Stationery ★ Window Placards
★ Letters ★ Pamphlets ★ Envelopes ★ Cards, All Sizes

All Work Guaranteed Satisfactory – Reasonable Prices Prompt Service

Phone 666, Lexington Advertiser

ATTENTION, PASTORS!

(Clip And Mail)

Please fill in the coupon below IMMEDIATELY and mail to Rev. W. L. Terrell, P. O. Box 205, Greenwood, Miss. YOUR HELP IS NEEDED if we are to make The Baptist Observer a success.

Dear Dr. Terrell: Please mail me ——— copies of The Baptist Observer which I will sell or have someone else sell to members of my church or churches. I will be responsible for this number of papers each month until you are notified otherwise.

Signed: Name: _____

Mailing Address _____

ATTENTION READER!

(Clip And Mail)

Send in your Subscription today to
THE BAPTIST OBSERVER
Rev. W. L. Terrell, Editor
P. O. Box 205
Greenwood, Miss.

Please mail the undersigned The Observer for

ONE YEAR	$3.00	( )
TWO YEARS	5.00	( )
SIX MONTHS	2.00	( )

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

Founders' Day Contributions

Natchez Junior College 77th Birthday Celebration

March 7, 1962 Total Receipts For The Occasion $3,665.12

Church Contributions

Church — Address — Pastor	Amount
True Light, Jackson — Dr. R. H. Walls, Pastor	$ 8.70
Pleasant Green, Vicksburg — Dr. L. R. Chandler, Pastor	20.00
Belzoni Chapel, Belzoni — Dr. L. R. Chandler, Pastor	9.00
Cherry Grove, Edwards — Dr. A. M. Peterson, Pastor	14.00
St. Matthews — Dr. W. M. Wells, Pastor	5.00
County Line, Pocahontas — Dr. E. D. Jackson, Pastor	2.70
Rose Hill, Woodville — Dr. Allen Scott, Pastor	5.00
Mt. Olive, Woodville — Dr. Allen Scott, Pastor	5.00
King Solomon, Woodville — Dr. Allen Scott, Pastor	5.00
Kingford, Woodville — Dr. Allen Scott, Pastor	5.00
China Grove, Jackson — Dr. S. P. Johnson, Pastor	8.90
Pilgrim Rest, Batesville — Dr. J. M. Rudd, Pastor	32.00
St. Thomas, Bolton — Dr. R. W. West, Pastor	41.27
Mt. Zion, Raymond — Dr. R. W. West, Pastor	35.03
Morning Star, Learned — Dr. R. W. West, Pastor	15.04
Elbethel, Bolton — Dr. R. W. West, Pastor	20.25
First New Hope, Grenada — Dr. C. C. Coleman, Pastor	60.00
Strangers Home, Greenwood — Dr. David Matthews, Pastor	32.00
College Hill, Jackson — Dr. W. M. Walton, Pastor	50.00
First Baptist, Clarksdale — Mr. M. D. Upchurch, Clerk	15.00
Beulah Land, Yazoo City — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	25.00
Jones Chapel, Greenwood — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	25.00
Mt. Calvary — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	10.26
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg — Dr. M. J. Gilbert, Pastor	15.00
Good Hope, Crystal Springs — Dr. D. D. Smith, Pastor	20.52
New Concord, Bentonia — Dr. N. B. Jackson, Pastor	15.23
Rising Sun, Port Gibson — Dr. C. Cedric Claiborne, Pastor	43.85
Second Baptist, Port Gibson — Dr. M. J. Gilbert, Pastor	8.23
Second Union, Utica — Dr. E. E. Spencer, Pastor	15.00
Pleasant Hill, Bolton — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	15.08
Friendship, Edward — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	17.85
Greater Clark Street, Jackson — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	26.54
New Hope, Raymond — Dr. L. W. Jenkins, Pastor	11.24
New Zion, Leland — Dr. B. B. Bryant, Pastor	25.00
Mt. Helm, Jackson — Dr. T. B. Brown, Pastor	25.00
New Mt. Zion, Jackson — Dr. B. D. Rushing, Pastor	15.00
New Strangers Home, Jackson — Dr. C. F. Jordan, Pastor	36.12
Shady Grove, Jackson — Dr. C. F. Jordan, Pastor	14.69
Cherry Grove, Jackson — Dr. W. C. Davis, Pastor	17.23
New Hope, Florence — Dr. W. C. Davis, Pastor	5.00
Zion Hill — Dr. Z. P. Johnson, Pastor	2.23
Pleasant Valley, Vicksburg — Dr. E. D. Straughter, Pastor	7.73
Christian Home, Tallula — Dr. A. R. Brown, Pastor	7.00
Farish Street, Jackson — Dr. S. Leon Whitney, Pastor	58.85
Mt. Heroden, Vicksburg — Rev. LeVander Kinds, Pastor	20.05
St. Luther, Jackson — Dr. Fred B. Black, Pastor	10.00
Mt. Nebo, Jackson — Dr. Fred B. Black, Pastor	10.00
St. Paul, Edwards — Dr. Elijah Stamps, Pastor	5.00
Green Grove, Edwards — Dr. Elijah Stamps, Pastor	5.00
Greater St. Mark, Port Gibson — Dr. W. C. Mazique. Pastor	21.16
St. Peter, Jackson — Dr. B. D. Rushing, Pastor	10.00
Bar Ridge, Edwards — Dr. W. R. Griffin, Pastor	5.00
Little Rock, Gulfport — Dr. Famous McElhaney, Pastor	10.00
Mt. Bethel, Gulfport — Dr. W. T. Guice, Pastor	20.00
Richland, Church Hill — Dr. W. C. Mazique, Pastor	28.25
Milford, Pine Ridge — Dr. W. C. Mazique, Pastor	40.00
Bright Star, Natchez — Dr. A. F. Williams, Pastor	13.75
Mt. Zion, Natchez — Dr. A. F. Williams, Pastor	25.06
Shiloh, Natchez — Dr. Willie Smith, Pastor	15.80
St. James — Dr. Willie Smith, Pastor	25.67
Beulah, Natchez — Dr. W. L. Logan, Pastor	25.00
Sinai, Sibley — Dr. W. L. Logan, Pastor	25.00
Mt. Olive, Sibley — Dr. W. L. Logan, Pastor	20.00
Morning Star, Natchez — Dr. W. L. Ogan, Pastor	10.00
Robinson Chapel, Natchez — Dr. W. L. Logan, Pastor	13.00
Greater New Bethel, Natchez — Dr. W. M. Franklin, Pastor	10.00
Williness, Natchez — Dr. E. V. Petaway, Pastor	30.81
Tate Magnolia, Cranfield — Dr. E. W. Rhone, Pastor	10.00
St. Peter, Natchez — Dr. G. A. Brannon, Pastor	22.70
St. Paul, Natchez — Dr. J. A. Banks, Pastor	17.70
LaGrange, Natchez — Dr. J. A. Banks, Pastor	10.52
Mt. Bethany, Natchez — Dr. W. M. Haro, Pastor	17.00
Macedonia, Natchez — Dr. Ruben Logan, Pastor	21.50
Mercy Seat, Natchez — Dr. Enoch R. Lewis, Pastor	19.25
Sunflower, Natchez — Dr. H. Russell, Pastor	17.00
Bright Morning Star, Natchez — Dr. Ruben Logan, Pastor	9.20
Ebenezer, Natchez — Dr. C. Ellis, Pastor	7.50
Bethlehem, Shaw — Mr. Oliver Drew, Clerk	26.00

Auxiliaries Contributions

Woman's Auxiliary State Convention Mrs. Dr. Elnora D. McGowan, President	$266.27
State S. S. and B. T. U. Congress — Dr. J. W. Gayden. President	177,00
State Laymen's Auxiliary — Mr. W. M. Land, Acting President	14.50
Jackson District M. B. Association — Dr. B. D. Rushing, Moderator	77.00
Warren County M. B. Association — Dr. B. L. Thomas, Moderator	70.00
Humphreys County M. B. Association—Dr. R. J. Joiner, Moderator	40.00
Yazoo County M. B. Association — Dr. B. T. Miles, Moderator	25.00
Swan Lake Association — Dr. L. H. Hill, Moderator	100.00
Sunflower County Baptist Association — Dr. L. R. Chandler, Moderator	77.07

Personal Contributions

Dr. R. W. West	$10.00
Dr. E. E. Spencer	7.70
Dr. David Matthews	8.00
Dr. P. F. Parker	7.77
Dr. C. L. West	8.00
Dr. J. M. Kimble	7.77
Dr. B. D. Rushing	7.77
Dr. W. C. Mazique	9.00
Dr. N. B. Jackson	7.77
Dr. L. D. Woodley	10.10
Dr. J. M. McEwen	7.77
Dr. B. L. Thomas	7.77
Dr. J. W. Gayden	7.77
Dr. L. R. Chandler	7.07
Dr. E. S. Hicks	7.77
Dr. C. L. Clark	10.00
Dr. G. H. Hankins	7.77
Dr. A. M. Peterson	7.77
Dr. J. M. Rudd	5.00
Dr. W. M. Porter	7.77
Dr. B. B. Bryant	7.77
Dr. W. M. Wells	7.77
Dr. R. H. Hedrick	7.70
Dr. J. D. Thurman	7.77
Dr. E. D. Ward	7.77
Dr. B. T. Miles	7.77
Dr. A. R. Brown	7.00
Dr. J. J. Feltus	8.00
Dr. Allen Scott	7.77
Dr. E. W. Rhone	1.00
Dr. Hosie Phillips	8.00
Dr. C. Cedric Claiborne	7.77
Prof. A. A. Alexander	10.77
Dr. Fred D. Matthews	7.70
Dr. W. C. Davis	7.77
Dr. E. D. Jackson	7.77
Dr. G. W. Williams	7.70
Dr. L. H. Hill	7.77
Dr. L. C. Wilcher	10.00
Dr. A. L. Martin	7.77
Dr. B. B. Dansby	5.00
Dr. Willie Smith	10.00
Dr. G. A. Brannon	8.00
Dr. E. Mead	5.00
Rev. LeVander Kinds	8.00
Dr. S. L. Spann	7.77
Dr. S. P. Johnson	7.77
Dr. L. L. Greaves	8.00
Dr. J. N. Dorsey	7.70
Dr. A. Davis	7.70
Dr. R. S. Watts	7.00
Dr. J. E. Smith	7.70
Dr. L. W. Jenkins	7.76
Dr. A. L. Butler	8.00
Dr. J. C. Sutton	7.77
Dr. W. L. Logan	7.70
Dr. Z. P. Johnson	7.77
Dr. Ernest Minor	3.00
Dr. A. B. Brown	7.00
Dr. David Murphy	7.70

Strangers Home, Greenwood — Dr. David Matthews, Pastor	32.00
College Hill, Jackson — Dr. W. M. Walton, Pastor	50.00
First Baptist, Clarksdale — Mr. M. D. Upchurch, Clerk	15.00
Beulah Land, Yazoo City — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	25.00
Jones Chapel, Greenwood — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	25.00
Mt. Calvary — Dr. C. L. Clark, Pastor	10.26
Mt. Olive, Vicksburg — Dr. M. J. Gilbert, Pastor	15.00
Good Hope, Crystal Springs — Dr. D. D. Smith, Pastor	20.52
New Concord, Bentonia — Dr. N. B. Jackson, Pastor	15.23
Rising Sun, Port Gibson — Dr. C. Cedric Claiborne, Pastor	43.85
Second Baptist, Port Gibson — Dr. M. J. Gilbert, Pastor	8.23
Second Union, Utica — Dr. E. E. Spencer, Pastor	15.00
Pleasant Hill, Bolton — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	15.08
Friendship, Edward — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	17.85
Greater Clark Street, Jackson — Dr. C. L. West, Pastor	26.54
New Hope, Raymond — Dr. L. W. Jenkins, Pastor	11.24
New Zion, Leland — Dr. B. B. Bryant, Pastor	25.00
Mt. Helm, Jackson — Dr. T. B. Brown, Pastor	25.00
New Mt. Zion, Jackson — Dr. B. D. Rushing, Pastor	15.00
New Strangers Home, Jackson — Dr. C. F. Jordan, Pastor	36.12
Shady Grove, Jackson — Dr. C. F. Jordan, Pastor	14.69
Cherry Grove, Jackson — Dr. W. C. Davis, Pastor	17.23
New Hope, Florence — Dr. W. C. Davis, Pastor	5.00
Zion Hill — Dr. Z. P. Johnson, Pastor	2.23
Pleasant Valley, Vicksburg — Dr. E. D. Straughter, Pastor	7.73
Christian Home, Tallula — Dr. A. R. Brown, Pastor	7.00
Farish Street, Jackson — Dr. S. Leon Whitney, Pastor	58.85
King Solomon, Yazoo City — Dr. G. H. Hankins, Pastor	10.00
Asia, Lexington — Dr. G. H. Hines, Jr., Pastor	27.12
Midway, Woodville — Dr. E. D. Ward, Pastor	6.67
Bay Ridge, Woodville — Dr. E. D. Ward, Pastor	10.00
Pleasant Green, Woodville — Dr. E. D. Ward, Pastor	31.00
Pleasant Green, Indianola — Dr. W. M. Porter, Pastor	10.00
Swan Lake, Moorhead — Dr. W. M. Porter, Pastor	10.00
King Soloman, Indianola — Dr. W. M. Porter, Pastor	10.00
Valley Queen, Marks — Dr. L. H. Hills, Pastor	15.15
Mt. Zion, Canton — Dr. P. F. Parker, Pastor	10.00
Mt. Pisgah, Sidon — Dr. J. W. Gayden, Pastor	15.00
Silent Grove, Marks — Dr. J. W. Gayden, Pastor	24.00
Greater New Bethel, Natchez — Dr. W. M. Franklin, Pastor	10.00
Williness, Natchez — Dr. E. V. Petaway, Pastor	30.81
Tate Magnolia, Cranfield — Dr. E. W. Rhone, Pastor	10.00
St. Peter, Natchez — Dr. G. A. Brannon, Pastor	22.70
St. Paul, Natchez — Dr. J. A. Banks, Pastor	17.70
LaGrange, Natchez — Dr. J. A. Banks, Pastor	10.52
Mt. Bethany, Natchez — Dr. W. M. Haro, Pastor	17.00
Macedonia, Natchez — Dr. Ruben Logan, Pastor	21.50
Mercy Seat, Natchez — Dr. Enoch R. Lewis, Pastor	19.25
Sunflower, Natchez — Dr. H. Russell, Pastor	17.00
Bright Morning Star, Natchez — Dr. Ruben Logan, Pastor	9.20
Ebenezer, Natchez — Dr. C. Ellis, Pastor	7.50
Bethlehem, Shaw — Mr. Oliver Drew, Clerk	26.00

Auxiliaries Contributions

Woman's Auxiliary State Convention Mrs. Dr. Elnora D. McGowan, President	$266.27
State S. S. and B. T. U. Congress — Dr. J. W. Gayden. President	177,00
State Laymen's Auxiliary — Mr. W. M. Land, Acting President	14.50
Jackson District M. B. Association — Dr. B. D. Rushing, Moderator	77.00
Warren County M. B. Association — Dr. B. L. Thomas, Moderator	70.00
Humphreys County M. B. Association—Dr. R. J. Joiner, Moderator	40.00
Yazoo County M. B. Association — Dr. B. T. Miles, Moderator	25.00
Swan Lake Association — Dr. L. H. Hill, Moderator	100.00
Sunflower County Baptist Association — Dr. L. R. Chandler, Moderator	77.07
Pleasant Green, Sharkey County Association — Dr. E. S. Hicks, Moderator	77.00
A. M. B. Association, Wilkinson County — Dr. Allen Scott, Moderator	77.00
Sunday School Association — Dr. E. Mead, Moderator	10.00
Madison County Association — Dr. N. B. Jackson, Moderator	10.00
H. H. Humes Association — Mrs. Dora Smith, President	10.77
Claiborne County Association — Dr. E. E. Spencer, Moderator	77.00
Progressive M. B. Association, Adams County — Dr. L. Miller, Moderator	119.72
A. M. B. Association, Adams County — Dr. W. C. Mazique, Moderator	912.23
Prof. A. H. Alexander
Dr. Fred D. Matthews	7.70
Dr. W. C. Davis	7.77
Dr. E. D. Jackson	7.77
Dr. G. W. Williams	7.70
Dr. L. H. Hill	7.77
Dr. L. C. Wilcher	10.00
Dr. A. L. Martin	7.77
Dr. B. B. Dansby	5.00
Dr. Willie Smith	10.00
Dr. G. A. Brannon	8.00
Dr. E. Mead	5.00
Rev. LeVander Kinds	8.00
Dr. S. L. Spann	7.77
Dr. S. P. Johnson	7.77
Dr. L. L. Greaves	8.00
Dr. J. N. Dorsey	7.70
Dr. A. Davis	7.70
Dr. R. S. Watts	7.00
Dr. J. E. Smith	7.70
Dr. L. W. Jenkins	7.76
Dr. A. L. Butler	8.00
Dr. J. C. Sutton	7.77
Dr. W. L. Logan	7.70
Dr. Z. P. Johnson	7.77
Dr. Ernest Minor	3.00
Dr. A. B. Brown	7.00
Dr. David Murphy	7.70
Dr. J. H. Johnson	7.77
Dr. G. L. Minor	8.00
Dr. S. G. Carey	7.78
Mrs. Lillian D. Carey	15.00
Dr. T. H. Smith	8.00
Dr. A. Vinson	7.70
Dr. L. A. Slan	5.00
Dr. C. Ellis	7.00
Dr. C. Caine	3.70
Mr. Medgar Evers	1.00
Mr. T. J. Huddleston, Jr.	5.00
Dr. J. C. Batteast	5.00

Work of The National Council of Churches

World Literacy Program:

THE GENERAL MISSIONARY BAPTIST CONVENTION OF MISSISSIPPI is happy to be a part of the

NATIONAL BAPTIST CONVENTION, U. S. A., INC.

which helps support the important work of the

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

The lives of 60 million Asians and Africans have been changed as they learned to read and write in the world literacy program of the National Council of Churches; many more learned of the message of Christ through the assistance given by the Council to 79 foreign mission boards and related agencies cooperating to bring Christ to 60 different nations in 200 languages. It is the hope of mission-minded churches to spread the Gospel of Christ to every human being. Their coordinated labors, with the help of the National Council of Churches, have made missionary work more effective in Afica, Latin America, the Far East the Near East and Southern Asia.

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number Twenty-One | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, May 5, 1962 | 10 Cents Per Copy

Human Relations Council Formed In State

Beaten Students Ask Protests To State And United States Officials

Talladega, Alabama — The Social Action Committee of Talladega College has asked citizens throughout the United States to protest the beating and gassing of numerous students by police April 25-26.

The student organization urged words and letters to the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C.and to the Alabama Safety Commission in Montgomery, Alabama.

A mass beating by state and city police took place April 26 when 200 students began a march downtown to protest the gassing, beating and jailing of several others the night before.

Civilians had beaten one student severely and thrown mustard gas on two others. A hoodlum slashed the tires on the automobile of a sympathizer while a policeman looked on. Four women students were over come by tear gas while picketing a drugstore.

Six students were arrested while picketing another drug store where four of them had

Clarksdale Loses $7,000. In Taxes In Two Month Period

City Officials Blame Parking Tickets; FC Credit Boycotts

Clarksdale, Miss., May 1, 1962. City officials in Clarksdale admitted Friday, April 27 that sales tax anticipated for the past two months in Clarksdale is some seven thousand dollars off from what was anticipated. The reason given by the city is the continuing practce of giving parking tickets to our town shoppers. The Coahoma County Federated Council of organizations, the organization pushing the boycotting of downtown merchants until they agree to employ Negroes above the men-

Respect For Sandra Holderfield

We are in profound sympathy with you, your relatives and friends. We never knew Sandra, but we are extending our respects because she was human, and above all she was trying, what we (Negroes) have attempted for so very long, to extend a helping hand or brotherly-love to the unappreciative.

We are sure you have never placed any trust in a Negro, probably you were advised from birth not to, but don't you think it is getting quite ridiculous when you can't even trust your own?

In the newspaper, they portrayed Slyter of being from every state except that of which he really is, Mississippi. Deep within they knew only a southern small minded white man could commit such a brutal inhuman crime as that. Not a Negro; take the Emmit Till case, the Parker case, the cruel treatment of the Freedom Riders; the release of police dogs and inhuman beatings from policemen on innocent people the shooting of Corporal Ducksworth and now Sandra. O God, what will your people think of next?

No, Slyter is not insane, but very sane with the concept that he can do what he pleases even if it is to his own.

Will your people, strong supporters of what's right, as claimed, convict Slyter for your sake, or will they attempt to convince the (Negroes) that a white man could not be that cruel and let him go, with hopes that he was Negro?

Oh, well I am sure they will find something to convict him of, maybe the breach of peace or disorderly conduct or just ignorance. It's the law, is it not?

If he was a Negro, would it matter to them whether or not he was sane or insane? Would he be given a chance to plea not guilty, even if he was not?

Understanding, Social Justice Is Group's Aim

Sixty citizens of the state took what is hoped will be a long step forward this week when they organized the Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

The purpose of the Mississippi Council, as formally adopted, is to work toward understanding and better relations between white and Negro races in the state and for social justice within Judaeo-Christian concepts, based on the belief that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God.

Every area of the state, from Clarksdale in the Delta to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, was represented in the group of men and women, white and Negro, which gathered by invitation on the campus of Tougaloo Southern Christian College near Jackson Thursday afternoon, May 3, in a three-hour organizational meeting marked by harmony and accord.

Dr. A. D. Beittel, white presi-

FREE PRESS

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

Volume One — Number Twenty-One | Jackson, Mississippi — Saturday, May 5, 1962 | 10 Cents Per Copy

Human Relations Council Formed In State

Beaten Students Ask Protests To State And United States Officials

Talladega, Alabama — The Social Action Committee of Talladega College has asked citizens throughout the United States to protest the beating and gassing of numerous students by police April 25-26.

The student organization urged words and letters to the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C.and to the Alabama Safety Commission in Montgomery, Alabama.

A mass beating by state and city police took place April 26 when 200 students began a march downtown to protest the gassing, beating and jailing of several others the night before.

Civilians had beaten one student severely and thrown mustard gas on two others. A hoodlum slashed the tires on the automobile of a sympathizer while a policeman looked on. Four women students were over come by tear gas while picketing a drugstore.

Six students were arrested while picketing another drug store where four of them had previously been arrested for sitting in. These four were later fined $100 each and their cases are being appealed.

The protest marchers were met two blocks from the college by 40 to 50 state and city police armed with fire hoses, clubs, and tear gas. City Counsel Byron Boyett was also there.

Boyett warned the marchers that they were violating the law because they had no parade permit. When the students insisted on continuing their protest, the police attacked with clubs.

One student who was injured said the police made every effort to strike young men in the groin with their clubs. The students sang throughout and did not strike back.

Finally they were driven back to the college gate, where the police stopped beating them. Many of the victims not only had severe bruises but also cuts inflicted by some sharp instrument.

Local Sorority Plans May Week Celebration

The Jackson Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. invites the public to attend its May Week celebration.

Speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Claire C. Harvey, Attorney Carsie Hall and Mr. V. R. Collier.

"Intensifying Social Action in the Community" is the theme of the program which will be held in the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church, Sunday May 6th at 4:00 p. m.

The Negro race is struggling for recognition as of human status. The white race having benefitted economically from the present status objects strenuously.

Successful citizenship is the practice of good relationship between and among people or citizens.

Clarksdale Loses $7,000. In Taxes In Two Month Period

City Officials Blame Parking Tickets; FC Credit Boycotts

Clarksdale, Miss., May 1, 1962. City officials in Clarksdale admitted Friday, April 27 that sales tax anticipated for the past two months in Clarksdale is some seven thousand dollars off from what was anticipated. The reason given by the city is the continuing practce of giving parking tickets to our town shoppers. The Coahoma County Federated Council of organizations, the organization pushing the boycotting of downtown merchants until they agree to employ Negroes above the meniel level and use courtesy titles when adderssing us, have a different version as to the reason for this lag. This seven thousand dollars in tax money is the one cent (1c) tax due the city. The amount spent in total dollars representing seven thousand dollars in tax will be in the seven hundred thousand dollar class of total business that was done some place else during the past two months other than in Clarksdale.

With the closing of three long established firms, The Fowler Cigar and Tobacco Company that did a good business with Negro stores in the outlying area, The Bings Nations Foodstore and the Smart Shop largely frequented by Negroes we hope will suggest a change of pattern of the stores still in operation. There are more empty buildings in downtown Clarksdale than any of the oldtimers remember seeing in History.

The Federated Council of Organizations which holds its mass meetings every Wednesday night, every month tries to get a conference with the downtown merchants to resolve the differences. To date only a few have agreed to talk about the problem, even fewer have agreed to our request, until the down town merchants agree to treat us fair, they need'nt look for us over there.

Three NAACP leaders are still under jail sentence of six months and $500.00 fines, yet they and the movement goes on.

ANNUAL PROGRAM OF THE REGIONAL COUNCIL OF NEGRO LEADERSHIP MAY 13

On Sunday, May 13, the Annual Program of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership will be held in Mound Bayou, Mississippi.

Workshops in all areas of Civil Rights will be conducted.

Rev. Merrill Winston Lindsey will speak at 8:00 p. m. at the Bethel AME Church.

Respect For Sandra Holderfield

We are in profound sympathy with you, your relatives and friends. We never knew Sandra, but we are extending our respects because she was human, and above all she was trying, what we (Negroes) have attempted for so very long, to extend a helping hand or brotherly-love to the unappreciative.

We are sure you have never placed any trust in a Negro, probably you were advised from birth not to, but don't you think it is getting quite ridiculous when you can't even trust your own?

In the newspaper, they portrayed Slyter of being from every state except that of which he really is, Mississippi. Deep within they knew only a southern small minded white man could commit such a brutal inhuman crime as that. Not a Negro; take the Emmit Till case, the Parker case, the cruel treatment of the Freedom Riders; the release of police dogs and inhuman beatings from policemen on innocent people the shooting of Corporal Ducksworth and now Sandra. O God, what will your people think of next?

No, Slyter is not insane, but very sane with the concept that he can do what he pleases even if it is to his own.

Will your people, strong supporters of what's right, as claimed, convict Slyter for your sake, or will they attempt to convince the (Negroes) that a white man could not be that cruel and let him go, with hopes that he was Negro?

Oh, well I am sure they will find something to convict him of, maybe the breach of peace or disorderly conduct or just ignorance. It's the law, is it not?

If he was a Negro, would it matter to them whether or not he was sane or insane? Would he be given a chance to plea not guilty, even if he was not?

Again we extend our sympathy.

Sincerely.

Negro Vote Increase Noted In Florida

Tallahassee, Florida — The number of Negroes registered to vote in Florida shows an increase of 19,329 over 1960 and now totals 182,456, Florida's Secretary of State reported this week.

Significent gains were made in cities and counties where local units of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People conducted registration drives. These include the cities of Tampa, Jacksonville, Miami Orlando and West Palm Beach and Pinellas and Lee Counties.

Negro registration in Pinellas County site of St. Petersburg and Clearwater, was up 43 per cent, from 4,955 to 7,000, NAACP Field Secretary Robert W. Saunders reports. In Tampa where the NAACP also conducted an intensive drive there was also a 43 per cent increase, from 11,277 to 16,175. The increase in Lee County was more than 50 per cent, from 1,147 to 1,821.

Other significant increases were registered in Jacksonville — 23,513 to 26,874; Miami — 22,356 to 30,519; Orlando — 3,266 to 4,328; and West Palm Beach — 6,977 to 8,634.

The gains were made, Mr. Saunders said despite the loss of some 2,000 Negro voters who, forced to move by public developments, failed to register their new addresses. Also there were losses due to failure to vote in at least one major election during a two-year peroid as required by law.

Registration reopens in May and the NAACP state organization has formulated plans to involve all its local units in intensified drives to add at least

(Continued from Page Three)

U. S. Gov't. Rejects Segregated Training School Apprentices

The United States Department of Labor's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training is advising its St. Louis, Missouri, staff it will no longer register apprenticeship programs using the David Ranken Jr. School of Mechanical Trades for related instruction classes. In addition, registration will be withdrawn from apprenticeship programs which continue to send apprentices to the school after the current semester. Withdrawal of registration means that apprentices studying at the school will be disqualified from working on construction projects for which the Secretary of Labor predetermines prevailing wages.

Reason for this action is that the David Ranken School denies the use of its educational facilities to all except male Caucasians. An investigation revealed, Edw. E. Goshen, Director of the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, said, that Negroes are banned from attending the school under conditions set down by the founder, David Ranken, Jr. These rules have been in effect since the privately endowed, nonprofit institution was founded.

"The same withdrawal of registration will apply to apprenticeship programs using segregated schools in other parts of the country," Mr. Goshen said. "When trained manpower is so necessary to our economy, we cannot afford to withhold training opportunities from any segment of our population. Minority groups must be given the advantage of education and

(Continued on Page Three)

Understanding, Social Justice Is Group's Aim

Sixty citizens of the state took what is hoped will be a long step forward this week when they organized the Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

The purpose of the Mississippi Council, as formally adopted, is to work toward understanding and better relations between white and Negro races in the state and for social justice within Judaeo-Christian concepts based on the belief that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God.

Every area of the state, from Clarksdale in the Delta to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, was represented in the group of men and women, white and Negro, which gathered by invitation on the campus of Tougaloo Southern Christian College near Jackson Thursday afternoon, May 3, in a three-hour organizational meeting marked by harmony and accord.

Dr. A. D. Beittel, white president of Tougaloo, a Negro church-owned college, was elected president of the Council. He was not present at the meeting Thursday, being in Washington at the time. His consent to serve in the position of president was given Thursday night by telephone.

Because of Dr. Beittel's absence, the list of officers elected by the Council was not released to the press until Friday.

They are Dr. Beittel, president; three regional vice presidents, ~~Bishop Joseph Brunini, Jackson;~~ Dr. D. I. Horn, Jr., West Point, and Rabbi Charles Mantinband, Hattiesburg; Mrs. Lillian Rogers Johnson, Clarksdale, secretary; I. S. Sanders, Jackson, treasurer; members of the Executive Committee, Rev. Henry Clay of Laurel, Aaron Henry of Clarksdale and Mrs. Wallis I. Schutt, Jackson.

Purpose Declared

The declaration of purpose formally adopted by the group was:

Believing that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God, and drawing our inspiration and guidance from the Judaeo-Christian continuity of prophetic witness for social justice, and desiring to support in the State of Mississippi those objectives in this direction which elsewhere within our nation have won general recognition and acceptance, we hereby propose to form in Mississippi an organization to be known as The Mississipp Council On Human Relations.

Positive Approach

Stressing the positive approach to be used by the Mississippi Council in an effort to better human relations in the state, the organizational group formally adopted support of the following:

1. The traditional freedom of speech including its class-room counterpart of academic freedom for all teachers.

2. The basic freedom of assembly in which men who be-

(Continued On Page Two)

MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS

Published every Saturday by the HiCo Publishing Company, Inc., 1072-1 West Lynch St., Jackson, Miss., Phone FL. 5-7345.

This paper is published weekly in Jackson, Mississippi. Application to mail at second class postage rate is pending at Jackson, Mississippi.

Subscription price: $5.20 per year — $2.60 for six months — Ten cents per copy.

Voluntary Segregation Urged By Judge Mize

On April 26, Judge Sidney Mize declared that the segregation signs were not unconstitutional. The Judge based his concept on the belief that it is legal if both races, the Judge insinuates, agree to practice voluntary segregation.

The Judge's argument, means in other words, that we (Negroes) may continue to isolate ourselves if we so desire. How nice of you Judge, but it just so happens that we have not endeavored to voluntary practice segregation, we are not voluntarily practicing it now and we do not intend to practice it in the future.

Are we going to let the Judge, supposedly a literate man, yet as small minded as Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, encourage us to practice voluntary segregation?

I pity the Judges' sense of humor, but I admire his stand for injustice and ignorance. However, his idea of voluntary segregation would not be so bad if only the city policeman had as much sense as the dogs and jump when commanded or when there is a legal reason. What the Judge has not considered is that, there are too many small minded people, who want a big name like Judge, boss or Miss Ann, that are looking for ways of obtaining them. Mrs. Gaillot the segregationist in New Orleans used her eighth grade education to inform Archbishop Joseph F. Rummell, who earned a Ph.D Degree in Theology in 1903, before she was born that the Bible demands, segregation. Kenneth Slyter, the killer of Sandra Holderfield, used a tool to beat his victim to death and then ran over her dead body with his car in order to secure his victory. Five hundred gathered to hear, ten gallon Leander Periz, recently excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church, display his ignorance in order to change his name. No Judge, with those cases and many others like them I am inclined to believe they would not know what voluntary segregation means, so it is best we not practice it. Would I be safe if I did not wish to maintain the practice? Of would Captain Ray move the small minders, Ask him—.

Pregnant Freedom Fighter Surrenders

Human Relations—

(Continued from Page One)

lieve in democratic institutions.

Thoughts On The Mississippi Free Press

By J. R. SALTER

The brutal and senseless slaying of Corporal Roman Duckworth — a very highly regarded Negro GI and 27 year old father of six children — by a Taylorville, Mississippi white officer three weeks ago indicated, more clearly than most happenings in the last several months, the existence of the poisonously animalistic racist attitude and practice which pervades the mentalities of most white Mississippians and which is strangling the entire state.

Something else was indicated by the Duckworth slaying: the dishonesty of the vast majority of white Mississippi newspapers — including all of the major ones. The Duckworth killing received little publicity indeed in any if the state's white newspapers and when it was reluctantly mentioned, every story gave most of the space to quotations by Taylorsville whites who were desperately seeking to cover the tracks of the officer — a whitewashing maneuver which could only be accomplished, as it was, by slandering and smearing — in a totally foundationless fashion — the murdered man.

Only the newspaper that you now hold in your hand — the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS — covered the Duckworth killing in an inclusive fashion. Using well written and up-to-date news stories and editorials, supplemented by dramatic photographs, this little newspaper took the Duckworth story out to the people.

The sorry nature of most of Misissippi's white newspapers — or what pass for newspapers — is not unknown by any means to the Negro residents of the state, although one is tempted to feel that, without question, nearly all of the white people social action newspaper in the history of this unhappy state.

Within a very short time, the FREE PRESS has established itself as the state's only call-all-the-shots-as-we-see'm newspaper — a publication which, as in the Duckworth affair, gives sound coverage and interpretation to Mississippi civil rights matters. It searches out and proposes constructive solutions to the monumental social, economic and political problems which plague Mississippi. It gives much-needed publicity and support to the democratic projects of the state, among which are: NAACP rallies, membership drives, and voter-registration campaigns; Student Non-Violent boycotts; the Congressional campaigns of the Rev. R. L. T. Smith and the Rev. Merrill Winston Lindsey — the first Negroes to run for major political office in Mississippi since the Reconstruction. And the FREE PRESS, without question, serves as the major communication workers for democracy within link between the embattled Mississippi — its arrival on the streets of Jackson and in the small cities and rural communities throughout the state is a highlight of Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Its staff is fiercly loyal to it — and rightfully so — and, what is most important, its support — reader-wise — is growing rapidly.

Some time ago, this writer sent off a number of FREE PRESS copies to friends of his who are teaching in northern colleges and universities. Within a short space of time, letters came back praising the publication and asking for more. "Keep those FREE PRESS papers coming right along," wrote one professor. "It's a first-rate help in my classes." Another individual also asked for additional failure to do so, there is absolutely no excuse.

The system of white supremacy is exploiting in the material sense and injuring psychologically every single Negro in the state. The sordid status quo in Mississippi is poisoning much of the American South — a good deal of which appears to be still drunked-up and under the influence of the rabid Mississippism which was carried throughout the Deep South by that Magnolia State reincarnation of the Ku Klux Klan — the White Citizens' Councils — following the U. S. Supreme Court Brown decision in 1954. And the whole sorry system south of the Mason-Dixon line is having a mighty negative effect on the health of the nation as a whole. The historical mission of the Southern Negro may well be to clean up the totalitarian, poverty stricken society of the South — and there is no place where that work more sorely needs to be done than right here in the soverign state of Mississippi. And, in this connection, every single democratic project — NAACP membership drives and voter registration campaigns, SNCC boycotts, the support of Negro Congressional candidates, and all of the many others — are important indeed. And, lending mightily to the success of those projects is the growing power of the peoples' newspaper: the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS.

Over a century ago, one of the founders of crusading American democratic journalism — Horace Greeley — wrote: "Then hail to the Press! chosen guardian of freedom- Strong swordarm of justice! bright sunbeam of truth!" Neither Greeley nor any of the other pioneers of American newspapering — Peter Zenger, William Allen White, Lincoln Steffens, H. L. Mencken, or Heywood Broun — would have any use for the Application to mail at second class postage rate is pending at Jackson, Mississippi.

Subscription price: $5.20 per year — $2.60 for six months — Ten cents per copy.

Voluntary Segregation Urged By Judge Mize

On April 26, Judge Sidney Mize declared that the segregation signs were not unconstitutional. The Judge based his concept on the belief that it is legal if both races, the Judge insinuates, agree to practice voluntary segregation.

The Judge's argument, means in other words, that we (Negroes) may continue to isolate ourselves if we so desire. How nice of you Judge, but it just so happens that we have not endeavored to voluntary practice segregation, we are not voluntarily practicing it now and we do not intend to practice it in the future.

Are we going to let the Judge, supposedly a literate man, yet as small minded as Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, encourage us to practice voluntary segregation?

I pity the Judges' sense of humor, but I admire his stand for injustice and ignorance. However, his idea of voluntary segregation would not be so bad if only the city policeman had as much sense as the dogs and jump when commanded or when there is a legal reason. What the Judge has not considered is that, there are too many small minded people, who want a big name like Judge, boss or Miss Ann, that are looking for ways of obtaining them. Mrs. Gaillot the segregationist in New Orleans used her eighth grade education to inform Archbishop Joseph F. Rummell, who earned a Ph.D Degree in Theology in 1903, before she was born that the Bible demands, segregation. Kenneth Slyter, the killer of Sandra Holderfield, used a tool to beat his victim to death and then ran over her dead body with his car in order to secure his victory. Five hundred gathered to hear, ten gallon Leander Periz, recently excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church, display his ignorance in order to change his name. No Judge, with those cases and many others like them I am inclined to believe they would not know what voluntary segregation means, so it is best we not practice it. Would I be safe if I did not wish to maintain the practice? Of would Captain Ray move the small minders, Ask him—.

Pregnant Freedom Fighter Surrenders

Jackson — On Friday, April 27, Mrs. Dianne Bevel, a participant in the sit-in movements, informed the press that she was going to surrender herself to the authorities on April 28, and serve her two years. Mrs. Bevel declared that her attorney had informed her that her case was being appealed again and that she refused the appeal, because, she continued, "I have finally decided to refuse to cooperate with or participate in one of the most corrupt and decayed institutions in existence — the Mississippi Court. The so-called courts of justice in this state not only do not try to promote justice, but are used as tools to oppress men and to defile human worth."

"The courts themselves segregate," Mrs. Bevel went on to say "when they attest to a belief that Negroes are refused the right to serve on the juries. How can a court pass judgment on a Negro or an issue of human rights when they deny them before the trial begins."

Instead of using laws involving the legality of segregation she said, the system hides behind charges of disorderly conduct, trespasses, breach of peace, contribution to delinquency, etc.

The charges are unjust and I have not contributed to anyone's delinquency. I would not sit through another so-called trial. I shall make a moral witness for the next two years against the injustices perpetuated against people who believe in freedom.

Mrs. Bevel continued to say, I do not want to go to jail. I want to live with my husband. I want to take care of my child, (expected in September) for the first two years of it's life. But, I cannot be a slave, and I want my child to be a free man or woman. I hope that God will give his black people in the Southern section of America the grace to become convinced of their own worth dignity, and may he help us to suffer without hate, but in love.

Human Relations—

(Continued from Page One)

lieve in democratic institutions may meet together without anxiety.

3. Absolute impartiality as to race in the enforcement of law by police and courts and in the selection of jury members.

4. The application of one set of requirements in one manner to all individuals who seek registration for voting, regardless of race.

5. Employment in industry and agriculture on the basis of merit.

6. Wise compliance with the spirit of the Supreme Court decision of 1954 within the living context of the situation in Mississippi through:

a. Voluntary removal of state and local laws enforcing segregation.

b. Prompt acceptance of qualified Negro applicants on the part of colleges and graduate schools.

c. Initiation on the part of men of good will of both races within local communities of plans for compliance in the lower schools in advance of compulsory action by federal courts.

d. Immediate representation by qualified Negroes on local and state boards of education where these posts are appointive.

There are many differences among people that make openings for discrimination which even in the most just relationship make unequal conditions. There's the difference between men and short men, between man and woman, between tall black men and white men, between Methodists and Baptists, but man's noblest instinct is that these differences whether avoidable or not should in no way react to the personality or economical injury of the person.

---

ing of Corporal Roman Duckworth — a very highly regarded Negro GI and 27 year old father of six children — by a Taylorville, Mississippi white officer three weeks ago indicated, more clearly than most happenings in the last several months, the existence of the poisonously animalistic racist attitude and practice which pervades the mentalities of most white Mississippians and which is strangling the entire state.

Something else was indicated by the Duckworth slaying: the dishonesty of the vast majority of white Mississippi newspapers — including all of the major ones. The Duckworth killing received little publicity indeed in any if the state's white newspapers and when it was reluctantly mentioned, every story gave most of the space to quotations by Taylorsville whites who were desperately seeking to cover the tracks of the officer — a whitewashing maneuver which could only be accomplished, as it was, by slandering and smearing — in a totally foundationless fashion — the murdered man.

Only the newspaper that you now hold in your hand — the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS — covered the Duckworth killing in an inclusive fashion. Using well written and up-to-date news stories and editorials, supplemented by dramatic photographs, this little newspaper took the Duckworth story out to the people.

The sorry nature of most of Misissippi's white newspapers — or what pass for newspapers — is not unknown by any means to the Negro residents of the state, although one is tempted to feel that, without question, nearly all of the white population has been so thoroughly brainwashed on this and other subjects that their minds are far from being clear. Not only do the greatest majority of the state's papers avoid printing any news which would reflect unfavorably upon white-held attitudes of prejudice and white-initiated acts of discrimination against Negroes — but every technique of censorship, playing-down, and often outright exclusion is utilized to avoid printing anything which would reflect favorably upon the Negro people. And, certanly, nearly all of these white Mississippi papers carry — some in a comparatively sophisticated way and most in a crude and primitive fashion — direct and overt campaigns against the Negro as a Negro. At times, this is spewed forth as chit-chat anti-Negro jokes, sometimes as lurid "Negro crime" stories drawn from all parts of the nation and world (the validity of which can often be questioned but rarely is by white readers), frequently as quack psuedo-intellectual editorial "studies" or alleged Negro "inferiority," — and always as attacks at Negro attempts to achieve equality with whites. One may as well go on to say the greatest majority of white newpapers in the states adjoining Mississippi — publications often sold on Mississippi newstands — differ very little from their Magnolia State brethern. And the other white-owned and white-operated mass media — radio stations and TV — although occasionally not quite so rabid as the press, follow essentially the same basic pattern.

It is precisely because of this racist throttle-hold on the mass media of Mississippi — particularly in the newspaper realm — that Negro leaders in the state, and a few liberal whites as well, combined forces just before the beginning of Christmas, 1961, to launch the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS: the first liberal Negro

Within a very short time, the FREE PRESS has established itself as the state's only call-all-the-shots-as-we-see'm newspaper — a publication which, as in the Duckworth affair, gives sound coverage and interpretation to Mississippi civil rights matters. It searches out and proposes constructive solutions to the monumental social, economic and political problems which plague Mississippi. It gives much-needed publicity and support to the democratic projects of the state, among which are: NAACP rallies, membership drives, and voter-registration campaigns; Student Non-Violent boycotts; the Congressional campaigns of the Rev. R. L. T. Smith and the Rev. Merrill Winston Lindsey — the first Negroes to run for major political office in Mississippi since the Reconstruction. And the FREE PRESS, without question, serves as the major communication workers for democracy within link between the embattled Mississippi — its arrival on the streets of Jackson and in the small cities and rural communities throughout the state is a highlight of Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Its staff is fiercly loyal to it — and rightfully so — and, what is most important, its support — reader-wise — is growing rapidly.

Some time ago, this writer sent off a number of FREE PRESS copies to friends of his who are teaching in northern colleges and universities. Within a short space of time, letters came back praising the publication and asking for more. "Keep those FREE PRESS papers coming right along," wrote one professor. "It's a first-rate help in my classes." Another individual, also asking for additional copies, pointed out that the FREE PRESS news is "hot from the war zone" and indicated that his copies were making the rounds of his faculty colleagues as well as his students. These and others now have regular subscriptions to the paper. And then, not too long ago, we sent letters to a number of liberal secular and religious publications throughout the country — informing them of the existence of the FREE PRESS. Right away, letters came back — indicating wholehearted approval of this Mississippi venture into honest and democratic journalism. They also, we might add, indicated that the out-of-state subscription rate will be increasing forthwith in quite a healthy fashion.

This is indeed all good news. The FREE PRESS is still under attack by the segregationist elements — newsboys have been harassed by police, the printer has been harassed by the White Citizens' Councils, and the Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission (secret police) continue to float around the corners — and the paper can use all of the moral support it can get. Then too, like any newspaper faced with heavy operating expenses, subscriptions and financial contributions are most welcome. And it is mighty heartening to learn that the FREE PRESS message is fast taking root in other sections of the United States.

But the major purpose of the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS is to reach the Negro people of the state of Mississippi — and those white people who are open to long overdue changes in their patterns of thinking and behavior. And, in this, the newspaper is definitely succeeding — step by step. But there are still many Negro people in the state — indeed, right in Jackson itself — who do not yet subscribe or otherwise purchase and boost the paper, And, for this in the state. The sordid status quo in Mississippi is poisoning much of the American South — a good deal of which appears to be still drunked-up and under the influence of the rabid Mississippism which was carried throughout the Deep South by that Magnolia State reincarnation of the Ku Klux Klan — the White Citizens' Councils — following the U. S. Supreme Court Brown decision in 1954. And the whole sorry system south of the Mason-Dixon line is having a mighty negative effect on the health of the nation as a whole. The historical mission of the Southern Negro may well be to clean up the totalitarian, poverty stricken society of the South — and there is no place where that work more sorely needs to be done than right here in the soverign state of Mississippi. And, in this connection, every single democratic project — NAACP membership drives and voter registration campaigns, SNCC boycotts, the support of Negro Congressional candidates, and all of the many others — are important indeed. And, lending mightily to the success of those projects is the growing power of the peoples' newspaper: the MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS.

Over a century ago, one of the founders of crusading American democratic journalism — Horace Greeley — wrote: "Then hail to the Press! chosen guardian of freedom- Strong sword-arm of justice! bright sunbeam of truth!" Neither Greeley nor any of the other pioneers of American newspapering — Peter Zenger, William Allen White, Lincoln Steffens, H. L. Mencken, or Heywood Broun — would have any use for the great majority of white newspapers of Mississippi and, to a large extent, those of the American South in general; these perversions of journalism which are simply dark clouds smothering this unhappy land; clouds which have grown out of the grassroots racism and which rain down an endless stream of hatred and venom which nourishes and renourishes that initial racism . . . .

But those founders of American journalism would, it is safe to say, recognize and accept as a brother-in-arms the tough little FREE PRESS. Indeed, those hardy and crusading zealots who forged the traditions of democratic American journalism would recognize the FREE PRESS as a publication which definitely must survive and grow and they would, accordingly, give it their wholehearted support in every fashion. And so must YOU support YOUR paper. The MISSISSIPPI FREE PRESS is your "sunbeam of truth" which will play a powerful role in clearing back the dark and gloomy clouds and bringing the sunlight to Mississippi.

U'm gitting long alright ain't worried bout another.
um eaten lean pork chops
to heck wi h my brother.

I'm the big cheese in this town
I'm worried about saving face
I help "Ole boss" keep my people down that is, keeping the N..... in his place.

I am a big fish in this pond
It's a cinch when I go fighting
I help to keep my people down, and that keeps me in my position.

Invest now in the future of Mississippi — Plant more pine trees today!

Lindsey For Congress Rally Held On Friday At Holly Springs

Rev. Merrill W. Lindsey addressed a Lindsey for Congress Rally at Holly Springs, Miss., Friday night April 27th. The rally lasted from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Mr. Lindsey spoke to an integrated audience in the Asbury Methodist Church.

Appearing on the program was Professor S. T. Nero, Advisory Committeeman from Mar shall County who chaired the program; Aaron E. Henry, Campaign Manager and the Rust College Singers who supplied the music.

In the address Rev. Lindsey raised the following issues:

1. Pledged unqualified allegiance to the present Kennedy Administration.

2. On the question of Foreign Policy. Lindsey said our course must be geared to the Christian Ethetic of Brotherhood. "Give me a Democracy that works in America, and I will deliver to you two thirds of the worlds population on the side of the United States in a cold or hot war."

3. The third issue raised by Lindsey was the plight of the small farmer in agriculture. He said the income of the farmer in the second congressional district is too low and his hours are too long. A way must be found to increase his income and shorten his working day which now ranges from twelve to sixteen hours a day. The only reference made to either of the other two candidates in the second Congressional District was in the area of Voting Rights. Lindsey said that his former fellow citizen, referring to Representative Frank Smith, while he and Lindsey both lived in Greenwood, had the responsibility and the duty as the chief politician of the former third congressional district to speak out for the rights of all citizens to become qualified voters. He never raised his voice in our defense and by his own admission in an adver-

CATCHINGS MOTOR SERVICE
FL 2-9213
Lynch at Dalton, Jackson, Miss.

SPEAKS AT McCOMB — Mrs. Ruby Hurley, South East Regional Secretary of NAACP will be the featured speaker Sunday, May 6, 1962 at 3:00 p. m. at an NAACP rally in McComb, Miss. The purpose of the meeting is to urge Negro citizens in the area to become more active in Political affairs by registering and voting.

U. S. Government—

(Continued from Page One)

training, not only to raise their income levels, but to demonstrate our belief in equal opportunity to all nations."

A complaint alleging segregation and discrimination in related instruction programs for apprentices at the Ranken school was filed with Assistant Secretary of Labor Jerry R. Holleman early in April by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The telegram was signed by Arthur J. Kennedy, chairman of the Labor and Industry Committee of the St. Louis NAACP,

Charleston Youths Continue Picketing

Charleston, South Carolina — The Charleston NAACP Branch and Youth Council closed its fifth consecutive week of picketing of Charleston's King Street stores at the turn of the Easter weekend. The Rev. Benjamine J. Glover, astute President of the Charleston NAACP Branch when questioned as to the duration of the picketing of King Street stores replied, "when lunch counter service is integrated and when merit is the basis for employment and not color if it takes until Easter 1972."

At the beginning of Easter weekend Delbert L. Woods, Chairman of the Labor and industry Committee of the Charleston Branch of NAACP and coordinator of the current no-buying strike indicated that picketing and negotiations have begun paying off. Mr. Woods reports that South Carolina Electric and Gas Company which holds the franchise for city bus operation in the city-by-the-sea has employed two full time bus drivers of color, one of the larger Piggly Wiggly stores hired a Negro check-out clerk, Kaybee's Department store, two sales clerks and Moskins Credit Clothiers, one sales clerk. Other merchants have begun to seek-conferences with Charleston's NAACP leadership to get a briefing on surrender terms.

NAACP leadership in Charleston admit that gains made so far are not commensurate with the sacrifice of time, energy and shoe leather the pickets have expended, nevertheless they vow to press their claim for dignity on King Street, with dogged determination.

NAACP Youth Council members deployed in the vicinity of with the public at the weekly Mass Meetings.

It is noteworthy that King Street picketing has not been marred by a single act of violence since its inception although as many as 100 pickets have been on duty at the same time. The closest thing to violence being experienced along King Street is hypertension on the part of the merchants, and heart trouble when they check the till on a Saturday night.

ROBINSON SHOE SHOP
For Good Shoe Repair
264 Whitfield Mills Road
Shopping Center

FULLER PRODUCTS
"Fine Cosmetics and Households"
842 N. Farish Street
FL 5-4401, Jackson, Miss.

"Pleasing You — Pleases Us."
D and L SHOE REPAIR
For All Your Shoe Needs
1085 Lynch Street
FL 2-9546

Free $3,000 In Prizes Free
GREAT HOME SERVICE FAIR
(Pure Food and Home Maker's Exposition)
COLLEGE PARK AUDITORIUM
May 8, 9, 10 — 7:00 P. M.
MUSIC — SINGING — FOOD
FREE FURNITURE

SEE US ABOUT ANY

Rev. Merrill W. Lindsey addressed a Lindsey for Congress Rally at Holly Springs, Miss., Friday night April 27th. The rally lasted from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Mr. Lindsey spoke to an integrated audience in the Asbury Methodist Church.

Appearing on the program was Professor S. T. Nero, Advisory Committeeman from Marshall County who chaired the program; Aaron E. Henry, Campaign Manager and the Rust College Singers who supplied the music.

In the address Rev. Lindsey raised the following issues:

1. Pledged unqualified allegiance to the present Kennedy Administration.

2. On the question of Foreign Policy. Lindsey said our course must be geared to the Christian Ethetic of Brotherhood. "Give me a Democracy that works in America, and I will deliver to you two thirds of the worlds population on the side of the United States in a cold or hot war."

3. The third issue raised by Lindsey was the plight of the small farmer in agriculture. He said the income of the farmer in the second congressional district is too low and his hours are too long. A way must be found to increase his income and shorten his working day which now ranges from twelve to sixteen hours a day. The only reference made to either of the other two candidates in the second Congressional District was in the area of Voting Rights. Lindsey said that his former fellow citizen, referring to Representative Frank Smith, while he and Lindsey both lived in Greenwood, had the responsibility and the duty as the chief politician of the former third congressional district to speak out for the rights of all citizens to become qualified voters. He never raised his voice in our defense and by his own admission in an advertisement appearing in the South Reporter, published in Holly Springs, Mr. Smith never missed a vote on Civil Rights. His every vote on Civil Rights was against Civil Rights and consequently against you and me.

Lindsey closed with a caution that all Americans should unite and fight against all things that are detremental to American Democracy. He promised to use his influence to bring about a condition wherein all Americans could walk together down the Avenue of Freedom in full respect and dignity.

SPEAKS AT McCOMB — Mrs. Ruby Hurley, South East Regional Secretary of NAACP will be the featured speaker Sunday, May 6, 1962 at 3:00 p. m. at an NAACP rally in McComb, Miss. The purpose of the meeting is to urge Negro citizens in the area to become more active in Political affairs by registering and voting.

A human worthiness can only be measured by the performance of the individual

U. S. Government—

(Continued from Page One)

training, not only to raise their income levels, but to demonstrate our belief in equal opportunity to all nations."

A complaint alleging segregation and discrimination in related instruction programs for apprentices at the Ranken school was filed with Assistant Secretary of Labor Jerry R. Holleman early in April by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The telegram was signed by Arthur J. Kennedy, chairman of the Labor and Industry Committee of the St. Louis NAACP, and by Mrs. Margaret Bush Wilson, President of the St. Loius Branch. They said they wished to recall Mr. Holleman's statement in St. Louis during the White House Regional Conference that if racial segregation and discrimination were shown in federally approved apprenticeship training programs, with drawal of registration by the Department of Labor would be ordered immediately.

Negro Vote—

(Continued from Page One)

another 50,000 Negro voters to the polls by the end of the year.

Negro voters in the state now amount to more than ten per cent of all Florida voters. Of the 182,456 Negro voters, 14,664 are registered as Republicans. There is a total of 1,458,618 white voters, including 329,077 Republicans.

Charleston, South Carolina — The Charleston NAACP Branch and Youth Council closed its fifth consecutive week of picketing of Charleston's King Street stores at the turn of the Easter weekend. The Rev. Benjamine J. Glover, astute President of the Charleston NAACP Branch when questioned as to the duration of the picketing of King Street stores replied, "when lunch counter service is integrated and when merit is the basis for employment and not color if it takes until Easter 1972."

At the beginning of Easter weekend Delbert L. Woods, Chairman of the Labor and industry Committee of the Charleston Branch of NAACP and coordinator of the current no-buying strike indicated that picketing and negotiations have begun paying off. Mr. Woods reports that South Carolina Electric and Gas Company which holds the franchise for city bus operation in the city-by-the-sea has employed two full time bus drivers of color, one of the larger Piggly Wiggly stores hired a Negro check-out clerk, Kaybee's Department store, two sales clerks and Moskins Credit Clothiers, one sales clerk. Other merchants have begun to seek-conferences with Charleston's NAACP leadership to get a briefing on surrender terms.

NAACP leadership in Charleston admit that gains made so far are not commensurate with the sacrifice of time, energy and shoe leather the pickets have expended, nevertheless they vow to press their claim for dignity on King Street with dogged determination.

NAACP Youth Council members deployed in the vicinity of picket lines maintain a "Judas list" and a snapshot gallery of "uncles and aunts" who cross picket lines. These are shared though as many as 100 pickets have been on duty at the same time. The closest thing to violence being experienced along King Street is hypertension on the part of the merchants, and heart trouble when they check the till on a Saturday night.

CATCHINGS MOTOR SERVICE
FL 2-9213
Lynch at Dalton, Jackson, Miss.

For Better Burial Protection . . .
ROYAL FUNERAL SERVICE
Prompt Ambulance and Funeral Service
Flowers for all Occasions
"ROYAL FLOWER SHOP"
507 Ashton Ave., Clarksdale,
Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Drew,
Owner and Manager

FOURTH STREET DRUG STORE
"Clarksdale's Economy Drug Store"
213 Fourth St., Clarksdale, Miss.
Telephone: Main 4-2913
Aaron E. Henry — Clifton Smith
Pharmacist Pharmacist

CATHING'S GROCERY
Fresh Meats — Ice Cream
1045 Dalton — Jackson, Miss.

JOIN!!
The NAACP In Your Community and work for
JUSTICE! And EQUALITY!
Mississippi State Conference NAACP
(National Association for the Advancement of Colored People)
For Information Call FL 3-6906
Jackson, Miss.

JENKINS GULF SERVICE
FL. 2-9416
916 Eastview Street, Jackson

Tailoring School For Young Men Who Want A Trade
ROGERS TAILOR SHOP
2636 Whitfield Mills Road

ROBINSON SHOE SHOP
For Good Shoe Repair
264 Whitfield Mills Road
Shopping Center

FULLER PRODUCTS
"Fine Cosmetics and Households"
842 N. Farish Street
FL 5-4401, Jackson, Miss.

"Pleasing You — Pleases Us."
D and L SHOE REPAIR
For All Your Shoe Needs
1085 Lynch Street
FL 2-9546

Free $3,000 In Prizes Free
GREAT HOME SERVICE FAIR
(Pure Food and Home Maker's Exposition)
COLLEGE PARK AUDITORIUM
May 8, 9, 10 — 7:00 P. M.
MUSIC — SINGING — FOOD
FREE FURNITURE

SEE US ABOUT ANY
REAL ESTATE NEEDS
Nice Three Bedroom Home
$300.00 Down
Small Monthly Payments
Nice Large Lots For Sale
THOMPSON INVESTMENT CO.
Fl 23374 Or Fl 2-3947

L. C. CARR
Auto Parts and General Repair
Phone 3525702
Lynch Addition, Jackson

The Security Life Insurance Company
Home Office — Jackson, Mississippi
Telephone: FL 3-4954 — 1328 Lynch Street
Announcing Its Cash Funeral Service Golden Eagle Policies
$250.00 — $300.00 For Ages 55-65.
$25.00 — $300.00 — $500.00 Plans Are Available
For Ages 1-55 On Either Whole Life Or 20 Payment Life.
District Office — 125½ N. Farish St.
Telephone FL 5-3577
Jackson, Mississippi

Wells Furniture Co.
"Terms Will Fit You"
"SAVE AT WELLS"
DIAL FL 5-7843
409 North Farish Street
Jackson, Miss.

Rev. Robert L. T. Smith Speaks To Farish Street Branch YMCA Wednesday, May 2

"This important objective is certainly in line with the thinking and action of those of you who are here today. Our community is fortunate indeed, in having such a dedicated team of workers in this most worthy task. Since our state and nation is made up out of the various communities across the vast expanse of our borders, we can say that efforts like yours here help us all and strengthens our country.

No rational minded person questions the wisdom and neces sity of building and maintain sufficient military strength to mantain our freedom and independence in a world where unscrupulous systemo work from the outside.

But at the same time we must recognize our unshirkable duty to strengthen and broaden our moral and ethical position here at home.

That is why what you are doing is so vital to our national well-being. Your's and mine is a job for human betterment. Ours is a crusade for freedom, justice and equality under law for all men. Our job is to help our young men choose the honorable way in life. We must be inspired ourselves and inspire them to always put principle above expediency and personal gain. We cannot emphasize too strongly that "righteousness exalt a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." You and I wish to expend our talents for human betterment. This course of action is commended to people everywhere.

It is ours to impress upon our young people and adults the moral obligation to participate in every worthwhile thing in our community. Among those things, and certainly one of the most vital, is to get the ballot and keep an active and sustained interest in the affairs of government in our community, state and nation. We must impress upon all of our people the urgency of this matter. It matters not, that obstacles are placed in our way by scheming men to deny us the ballot, we must pursue this course that leads to first class citizenship and human dignity for all. There is a crying need now for men of great integrity to lead us in all areas of human interest.

A concerted effort for voter registration is now being launched and I just know that we can count on you to do your part.

We need men — competent men; men with faith, men with vision and courage to speak for us in the Councils of Government at all levels. We can no longer sit supinely by while mis-guided men pretend that we are still living in the 1800's.

MABERRY BROTHERS

Mrs. Ida Jones Barnes Awarded Fellowship

Mrs. Ida Jones Barnes, a senior language arts major at Jackson State College, has been awarded an Audiology Fellowship to attend the State University of Iowa. Notice of Mrs. Barnes' award came from Dr. James F. Curtis, Head of the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology at the University. The Fellowship guarantees a stipened covering expenses for one academic year and a summer session. It is re-

Georgia Variety Store Desegregates Lunch Counter; No Incidents

Augusta, Georgia — On Saturday afternoon, April 7, a group of students, Negro and white, went down to the lunch counter at H. L. Green's Variety Store in Augusta, Georgia. Green's along with several other lunch counters in Augusta, was desegregated by agreement several weeks ago.

Three of the white students and one Negro student sat down on four of the stools and were later joined by a young man, Mr. Cecil Hudson, who stood next to the Negro girl in an empty space where there were no stools. By this time there were also Negroes eating at various places along the counter. There was one policeman stationed in the store. There were also several small groups of white men gathering and talking at different points in the store, and most of their attention seemed to be directed toward Mr. Hudson.

One of the white men, came up to Mr. Hudson and asked him to step outside and began to threaten him. Mr. Hudson remained at the counter, and the policeman then approached the white man and escorted him out of the door.

The Negro girl who was with the group had left by this time, and Mr. Hudson sat down. Mr. William Didley, a student from Paine College, then approached the group and told them there was trouble brewing outside at that moment. The four white students remained at the counter for fifteen or twenty more minutes, and it was obvious that tension was rising among the various groups of white men

NAACP Steps Up Drive For Jobs

New York — Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the country have been called upon to step up their drive against discriminatory employment practices in their respective communities.

Citing a recent resolution adopted by the Association's Board of Directors, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins this week sent letters to 1,500 local NAACP units urging them "to make a report on their activities by June 15.

Mr. Wilkins' communication outlined the following steps for action by the branches:

1. Investigate the employment practices of local businesses, retail establisrments, industries, breweries and other manufacturing concerns to determne their hiring practices.

2. Conduct a marketing survey to determine the amount of Negro business enjoyed by these concerns.

3. Negotiate with the owners and managers of local companies which discriminate against Negro workers, insisting that a representative number of non-white employees be hired. Include the representatives of organized labor and the unions which have agreements with these companies in your negotiations.

4. Publicize your protest and state your intentions of witholding patronage if these concerns do not change their practices.

Subscribe Now To The Mississippi Free Press — $5.20 Per Year.

being treated for the stab wound

MITCHELL'S GROCERY
2243 Whitfield Mill Road
Jackson, Miss.

FERNWOOD GROCERY
"Excellent Service & Selections"
1403 Fernwood Drive
Phone EM. 2-1752

LIZ'S BEAUTY SHOP
428½ Front Street
Phone 426-9672
Laurel, Miss.

DIXIE CLEANERS
1049 Woodrow Wilson Avenue
Jackson, Miss.

ANDING REFRIGERATION & APPLIANCE SERVICE
—General Appliance Repair—
All Work Guaranteed
1248 Hattiesburg Street
FL. 5-0487

R. D. BENNETT
Plumbing Repair Service
2139 Powers Avenue
Jackson, Miss.
Phone FL 5-8426
—PROMPT SERVICE—

"This important objective is certainly in line with the thinking and action of those of you who are here today. Our community is fortunate indeed, in having such a dedicated team of workers in this most worthy task. Since our state and nation is made up out of the various communities across the vast expanse of our borders, we can say that efforts like yours here help us all and strengthens our country.

No rational minded person questions the wisdom and neces sity of building and maintain sufficient military strength to mantain our freedom and independence in a world where unscrupulous systemo work from the outside.

But at the same time we must recognize our unshirkable duty to strengthen and broaden our moral and ethical position here at home.

That is why what you are doing is so vital to our national well-being. Your's and mine is a job for human betterment. Ours is a crusade for freedom, justice and equality under law for all men. Our job is to help our young men choose the honorable way in life. We must be inspired ourselves and inspire them to always put principle above expediency and personal gain. We cannot emphasize too strongly that "righteousness exalt a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." You and I wish to expend our talents for human betterment. This course of action is commended to people everywhere.

It is ours to impress upon our young people and adults the moral obligation to participate in every worthwhile thing in our community. Among those things, and certainly one of the most vital, is to get the ballot and keep an active and sustained interest in the affairs of government in our community, state and nation. We must impress upon all of our people the urgency of this matter. It matters not, that obstacles are placed in our way by scheming men to deny us the ballot, we must pursue this course that leads to first class citizenship and human dignity for all. There is a crying need now for men of great integrity to lead us in all areas of human interest.

A concerted effort for voter registration is now being launched and I just know that we can count on you to do your part.

We need men — competent men; men with faith, men with vision and courage to speak for us in the Councils of Government at all levels. We can no longer sit supinely by while mis-guided men pretend that we are still living in the 1800's.

Mrs. Ida Jones Barnes Awarded Fellowship

Mrs. Ida Jones Barnes, a senior language arts major at Jackson State College, has been awarded an Audiology Fellowship to attend the State University of Iowa. Notice of Mrs. Barnes' award came from Dr. James F. Curtis, Head of the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology at the University. The Fellowship guarantees a stipened covering expenses for one academic year and a summer session. It is renewable from year to year if her academic achievement warrants it.

A graduate of J. J. Knox High School, she entered Jackson State College on a Masonic Scholarship. She is an honor roll student and an active member and participant in many extra-curricular activities including the Jackson State College Concert and Vesper Choirs, the Methodist Student Movement, the Sunday School, the Dunbar Dramatics Club, Alpha Kappa Mu Honorary Society, and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. She is also President of the Language Arts Club.

Mrs. Barnes is a native of Sumner, Miss., and the daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Samuel Jones of Winona.

Try Advertising With Us — We Appreciate Your Business.

Counter; No Incidents

Augusta, Georgia — On Saturday afternoon, April 7, a group of students, Negro and white, went down to the lunch counter at H. L. Green's Variety Store in Augusta, Georgia. Green's along with several other lunch counters in Augusta, was desegregated by agreement several weeks ago.

Three of the white students and one Negro student sat down on four of the stools and were later joined by a young man, Mr. Cecil Hudson, who stood next to the Negro girl in an empty space where there were no stools. By this time there were also Negroes eating at various places along the counter. There was one policeman stationed in the store. There were also several small groups of white men gathering and talking at different points in the store, and most of their attention seemed to be directed toward Mr. Hudson.

One of the white men, came up to Mr. Hudson and asked him to step outside and began to threaten him. Mr. Hudson remained at the counter, and the policeman then approached the white man and escorted him out of the door.

The Negro girl who was with the group had left by this time, and Mr. Hudson sat down. Mr. William Didley, a student from Paine College, then approached the group and told them there was trouble brewing outside at that moment. The four white students remained at the counter for fifteen or twenty more minutes, and it was obvious that tension was rising among the various groups of white men standing at the store entrance and throughout the store.

Mr. Didley returned to the group and suggested that they leave, and they followed him out the door. There were three or four white men standing to the left of the door on the street and as Mr. Hudson emerged they moved toward him, saying, "Let's get him"! Mr. Didley, however, had placed himself in front of the white men, acting as a buffer for the other four, who turned to the right and ran down the street.

The white men began to hit at Mr. Didley and in the scuffle one of them stabbed him in the stomach. Mr. Didley began to run down the street with the white men following him. He was thrown to the sidewalk, and was continously being beaten.

At this time, a policeman came over and took Mr. Didley and the white man away. After being treated for the stab wound Mr. Didley was booked on charges of disorderly conduct and carrying a knife. He said later that he did not have a knife on him at all — that all students engaged in activities connected with the lunch counters always emptied their pockets of anything that might be identified as a dangerous weapon. The white man that was arrested was charged only with disorderly conduct.

Mr. Didley is now in the University Hospital in Augusta. An exploratory operation was performed on Saturday evening, three inches, but had been de- the knife had penetrated about and the surgeon reported that flected by a rib.

New York — Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the country have been called upon to step up their drive against discriminatory employment practices in their respective communities.

Citing a recent resolution adopted by the Association's Board of Directors, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins this week sent letters to 1,500 local NAACP units urging them "to make a report on their activities by June 15.

Mr. Wilkins' communication outlined the following steps for action by the branches:

1. Investigate the employment practices of local businesses, retail establisrments, industries, breweries and other manufacturing concerns to determne their hiring practices.

2. Conduct a marketing survey to determine the amount of Negro business enjoyed by these concerns.

3. Negotiate with the owners and managers of local companies which discriminate against Negro workers, insisting that a representative number of non-white employees be hired. Include the representatives of organized labor and the unions which have agreements with these companies in your negotiations.

4. Publicize your protest and state your intentions of witholding patronage if these concerns do not change their practices.

Subscribe Now To The Mississippi Free Press — $5.20 Per Year.

Jackson, Miss.

FERNWOOD GROCERY
"Excellent Service & Selections"
1403 Fernwood Drive
Phone EM. 2-1752

LIZ'S BEAUTY SHOP
428½ Front Street
Phone 426-9672
Laurel, Miss.

DIXIE CLEANERS
1049 Woodrow Wilson Avenue
Jackson, Miss.

ANDING REFRIGERATION & APPLIANCE SERVICE
—General Appliance Repair—
All Work Guaranteed
1248 Hattiesburg Street
FL. 5-0487

R. D. BENNETT
Plumbing Repair Service
2139 Powers Avenue
Jackson, Miss.
Phone FL 5-8426
—PROMPT SERVICE—

Harmon's Drug Store
"Prescriptions"
FREE DELIVERY
540 N. Farish Street
Jackson, Miss.
Phone FL. 5-2309

Kollege Kleaners
Dry Cleaning,
Altering, and Laundering
1114 Lynch Street
FL 2-9328
One Day Service

MABERRY BROTHERS
ROOFING AND SIDING CO.
2229 Whitfield Mills Road
Phone FL 26024
Jackson, Mississippi
Bonded Built-Up Roofs
Shingles
Asbestos and Brick Siding
Major Maberry—Walter Maberry
EM 6-3712 Phones FL 5-1881
NO DOWN PAYMENT

JONES PHARMACY
In Business For Your Health
Dial FL 2-8381
FREE DELIVERY
912 Lynch Street
Jackson, Miss.

Conic's Beauty and Barber Supply
615 N. Farish Street
FL 3-3266

Home Improvement
New Homes
Rehabilitation
Fred Scott
Builders and Contractors
1114½ Lynch Street
over Kollege Kleaners
Loans: F.H.A. — G. I.
Conventional

REFRIGERATORS REPAIRED
DRAINE'S REFRIGERATION SERVICE
Air Conditioning — Installation and Repair
1132 Corinth St., Jackson, Miss.
Certified Technician

NEW SMACKOVER CAFE
1091 Lynch Street
FL 5-9434
Zonie Forte, Owner

"We Service All Makes Of Radios & Electrical Appliances"
CASTON'S APPLIANCE
3624 Whitfield Mill Road

JOHNSON LOCK AND KEY SERVICE
615 North Farish Street
Jackson FL 3-3266

CALL DeLUX CAB
"Quick Service"
Ask For Cab 375
Driver, W. T. Allen
Jackson Phone FL 5-4118

MOMAN'S
FINE FURNITURE
Box 33, Tougaloo, Miss. Phone EM. 6-6297

SMITH'S
SUPER MARKET
1253 Valley Street R. L. T. Smith, Jr., Mgr.

The Lexington Advertiser

"Principles and Men: Truth—the Weapon we use in their Defence."

Volume 125 | Lexington, Mississippi — Thursday, May 10, 1962 | Number Six

Through Hazel Eyes

By Hazel Brannon Smith

The District Attorney of Sunflower County will present all evidence and testimony obtained by the special legislative investigating committee on the operations of Parchman state penitentiary to a meeting of the Grand Jury of that Delta county in September.

State Rep. Bob Anderson of Copiah County has said he feels certain the committee will accede to the request of the DA for the records and also the names of witnesses not heard by the legislative committee.

It is hoped that penitentiary matters, which have placed Mississippi unfavorably in the nation's headlines for several months now, will get the careful attention they deserve from the Sunflower body.

The whole state will be awaiting with a great deal of interest the outcome of the Grand Jury's deliberations.

The District Attorney and the Sunflower County Attorney have their work cut out for them.

It is to be hoped no individual or group will try to impede the progress of the probe or otherwise stand in its way.

The public interest demands a completely honest and thorough search for the truth — and indictment and prosecution of any persons reasonably regarded by a Grand Jury as having been guilty of violating state laws.

In Holmes County the probe will be of added interest due to the fact that we are in the same circuit court district as Sunflower — and the district attorney, Parham H. Williams, Jr. resides in Lexington.

Senator James O. Eastland received the praise of the Mississippi Legislature and the John Birch Society for his attack on the United States Supreme Court last week.

Senator Eastland's attack upon the highest court in our land gave the distinct impression he thinks the men who occupy that bench are either communists or communist-sympathizers, something Sen. Eastland knows is not true. So do thoughtful Mississippians.

But the fact that a man of his position and importance said what he did on the Senate floor will be used by radicals and extremists to "prove" that our court is disloyal to this country and its people, something too many people in Mississippi want to believe, anyway.

Not that we think the U. S. Supreme Court should be im-

(Continued on Page Eight)

Formal Opening Of PW Building Set

Clean-Up Parade In Lexington Friday At 2:15

10 Floats Registered Others Expected By Chairman Berman

Clean-up month in Lexington gets off to a gay start with a colorful parade beginning at 2:15 Friday. School will be dismissed at that time.

Ten floats have registered at this writing and more are in the planning stage.

The parade will be headed by Mayor W. B. Kenna, and other city officials including Police Chief George Musselwhite and his fellow officers Sonny Meek. Frank Davis and Martin McNeer; the Fire Department float with Billy Rathell in charge; Sanitary Department with Floyd McNeer; Boy and Girl Scouts; Cubs and Brownies; all stepping to the time of the Lexington High School Band under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Wheeler.

Civic clubs having floats include the Business and Professional Women's Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Jaycettes, and others.

Berman Brokerage Company will feature a display of Dial soap. Spectators may guess the number of bars on the float, place a guess at the office, and the winner will receive a case of Dial soap.

Cash prizes of $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00 will go to the best

MRS. JEAN STRIDER McLELLAN, Holmes County Welfare Agent since March 3, 1955, and members of her staff are ready to welcome the large number of citizens expected to attend the formal opening of the new building of the Holmes County Welfare Department on Friday at 3:00 p. m. Gov. Ross Barnett will head a delegation of distinguished visitors from Jackson and will be principal speaker on the program. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Governor Barnett Will Speak At New Welfare Building Friday

Holmes County's new $86,000 Public Welfare Building will be formally opened Friday afternoon at 3:00 with a brief program featuring Governor Ross Barnett as speaker with an Open House to follow.

GOV. ROSS BARNETT

Mrs. Jean Strider, Holmes welfare agent, announces everything is in readiness to receive a record number of visitors and she and members of her staff issue a cordial invitation for everyone to attend. Serving also as official hosts will be members of the Holmes County Board of Supervisors and the Holmes County Welfare Board.

Among the out of county guests will be Governor Barnett and his party; Miss Evelyn Gandy, state treasurer; State Tax Collector William Winter; State Supreme Court Clerk Tom Q. Ellis; Highway Commissioner Felder Dearman.

Acting State Commissioner of Public Welfare C. O. Brooks of Jackson and Mrs. Georgia Pitchford of Greenwood, district supervisor, will also be among the honored guests.

Mayor Kenna

Mayor W. B. Kenna of Lexington will bring official greetings after the invocation has been given by the Rev. Roy Raddin of Tchula, Baptist minister.

William Moses, a member of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Lexington and a Colonel on Governor Barnett's staff will introduce the

F. C. McIntosh Dies On Monday

Frank Carlass McIntosh, well known and respected resident of the Tolarville community, near Lexington, died Monday, May 7 at 5:00 a. m. in the Holmes County Community Hospital of a heart condition. He was 81.

A native of Hinds County, Mr. McIntosh had made his home in Holmes County for a number of years. He made his home a few miles south-

Lexington Garden Club Flower Show Will Be Held Tuesday

"Beauty Is Our Business" is the theme of the Lexington Garden Club's spring flower show which will be held on Tuesday, May 15th in the basement of the First Baptist Church of Lexington.

The show will be open to burban Apartments — thus providing something for all

(Continued On Page Three)

Miss Pearl Megee Dies In Greenwood

HJC To Dedicate New Buildings

McMorrough Library, Attala Hall Dorm New On Campus

where Mr. and Mrs. Hilary O. Thomas reside. Mr. Thomas is Dean of Men and head of the Agricultural Department and get the careful attention they deserve from the Sunflower body.

Holmes Group Attend TU Elimination At

The whole state will be awaiting with a great deal of interest the outcome of the Grand Jury's deliberations.

The District Attorney and the Sunflower County Attorney have their work cut out for them.

It is to be hoped no individual or group will try to impede the progress of the probe or otherwise stand in its way.

The public interest demands a completely honest and thorough search for the truth — and indictment and prosecu-

occupy that bench are either communists or communist-sympathizers, something Sen. Eastland knows is not true. So do thoughtful Mississippians.

But the fact that a man of his position and importance said what he did on the Senate floor will be used by radicals and extremists to "prove" that our court is disloyal to this country and its people, something too many people in Mississippi want to believe, anyway.

Not that we think the U. S. Supreme Court should be im-

(Continued on Page Eight)

will be dismissed at that time.

Ten floats have registered at this writing and more are in the planning stage.

The parade will be headed by Mayor W. B. Kenna, and other city officials including Police Chief George Musselwhite and his fellow officers Sonny Meek. Frank Davis and Martin McNeer; the Fire Department float with Billy Rathell in charge; Sanitary Department with Floyd McNeer; Boy and Girl Scouts; Cubs and Brownies; all stepping to the time of the Lexington High School Band under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Wheeler.

Civic clubs having floats include the Business and Professional Women's Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Jaycettes, and others.

Berman Brokerage Company will feature a display of Dial soap. Spectators may guess the number of bars on the float, place a guess at the office, and the winner will receive a case of Dial soap.

Cash prizes of $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00 will go to the best poster from a children's group.

Joe Berman, committee chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Dora Pearl Tidwell, vice chairman; Phil Cohen, C. M. McDaniel, Mike Lammons, N. M. Parkinson, Dr. G. D. Russell, Dr. P. B. Brumby, B. C. Martin, J. E. Goss, Mrs. Louise King and Mrs. Tom Cothran, publicity chairman.

Lexington Garden Club Flower Show Will Be Held Tuesday

"Beauty Is Our Business" is the theme of the Lexington Garden Club's spring flower show which will be held on Tuesday, May 15th in the basement of the First Baptist Church of Lexington.

The show will be open to the public between the hours of 3:00 and 7:00 p. m.

All exhibitors of arrangements and horticulture are urged to have flowers at the show between 8:00 and 10:00 a. m.

All entries must be accompanied by an entry card (calling card size) bearing name of exhibitor on one side, division and class number on the other.

Members are reminded that this show will be the last meeting of the club year.

A covered dish luncheon will be held at 1:00 p. m. followed by a color film on home decorating. Mrs. B. W. Humphrey and Mrs. P. H. Williams are program chairmen for this phase of the day's activities.

Color Film

"New Rooms For Old," a new Celanese color slide program on Home Decoration, offers many How-To-Do-It Ideas for giving Old Rooms a New Look.

These rooms were redecorated and photographed in an elegant 5-story Town House in New York City — a 40 year old Home in the Country — several City and Suburban Apartments — thus providing something for all

(Continued On Page Three)

Miss Pearl Megee Dies In Greenwood

Miss Pearl Megee, one of Durant's oldest and best loved citizens died at the age of 90 Friday, May 4, at the Golden Age Nursing Home in Greenwood. She had been ill for about four years.

Born in Holmes County on July 23,1871, "Miss Pearl" was the daughter of the late Dr. John T. Megee and Mrs. Elizabeth McMillan Megee, pioneer citizens.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Durant, the Durant Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, and the United Daughters of the Confederacy. For approximately 35 years she served as secretary of Mizpah Cemetery Association.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:00 p. m. in the Southern Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Durell Makamsom officiating.

Interment was in Mizpah Cemetery under the direction of Southern Funeral Home of Durant.

Pallbearers were Louie Clements, Ado Bennett, Jerry Gilmore, Robert Irby, Charlie Ray and Joe Lewis.

Debbie Portrays Second Time Around

"Second Time Around" opens today at the Ricky Theatre starring Debbie Reynolds and Andy Griffith. This comedy is equally as entertaining as "Follow That Dream", starring Elvis Presley.

The cast also includes Thelma Ritter from Columbus, Mississippi, a girl who made good in the city as a comedian.

"Second Time Around" is a color picture with action from beginning to end.

"The Racers" starring Kirk Douglas follows the dates on "Second Time Around". Details can be found in an ad elsewhere in this issue.

MRS. JEAN STRIDER McLELLAN, Holmes County Welfare Agent since March 3, 1955, and members of her staff are ready to welcome the large number of citizens expected to attend the formal opening of the new building of the Holmes County Welfare Department on Friday at 3:00 p. m. Gov. Ross Barnett will head a delegation of distinguished visitors from Jackson and will be principal speaker on the program. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

HJC To Dedicate New Buildings

McMorrough Library, Attala Hall Dorm New On Campus

Holmes Junior College will dedicate two new buildings with appropriate ceremony next Wednesday, May 16, at 2:15 p. m.

The program will be held in the Administration Building and Open House at both buildings will follow. The public is invited.

A $133,000 library, in use since last fall, has been named McMorrough Library honoring a veteran Lexington attorney, the Hon. G. H. McMorrough, who has been identified with the Goodman institution for more than fifty years. Currently he is serving as president of the Board of Trustees.

The $104,000 new dormitory for boys, occupied two months ago, will be called Attala Hall, honoring neighboring Attala County, one of seven supporting counties of the school. The structure houses 68 boys, two to a room, and is now fully occupied. It also contains a 4-room faculty apartment where Mr. and Mrs. Hilary O. Thomas reside. Mr. Thomas is Dean of Men and head of the Agricultural Department and Mrs. Thomas is in charge of the Cosmetology School.

President Frank B. Branch said that George Thornton, prominent Kosciusko attorney will speak for Attala County on the program and Edwin White, Lexington attorney and former legislator from Holmes County, will pay tribute to Mr. McMorrough.

The Rev. B. F. Lee, Goodman Methodist pastor, will give the invocation and the Baptist pastor, the Rev. J. B. Miller, will pronounce the benediction.

Musical entertainment will be provided by the HJC Boys' Octette under the direction of Mrs. Martha Tye McKie.

Three Students For Girl's State

American Legion Auxiliary Post No. 18 has elected three students to Girls' State. They are Miss Linda Moorhead, daughter of Mrs. Connie McLellan Moorhead of Lexington; Miss Beth McWilliams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McWilliams of Lexington; and Miss Jo Ann McCrory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. McCrory of Goodman.

Mrs. Joe Braddock, chairman and Mrs. E. H. Skinner, co-chairman served on the committee and Mrs. Ruth Roach is auxiliary president.

Rites Held Sunday For W. C. Henry

Funeral services for William Calvin Henry, well known resident of Durant, were held at Rocky Point Baptist Church on Sunday at 3:00 p. m. with the Rev. A. A. Ward and the Rev. R. E. Wasson officiating.

Burial followed in the church cemetery with Southern Funeral Home of Durant in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Henry, a retired farmer and carpenter, died Saturday, May 5 in the Baptist Hospital at Jackson after an illness of several weeks. He was 81

Mr. Henry was born on October 12, 1880 in Cleburne County, Alabama. He was a member of the Durant Methodist Church.

Surviving are two brothers, Louis Henry, Carthage and J. G. Henry, Durant; a sister, Mrs. Bessie Lowe, Kosciusko and several nieces and nephews.

Holmes Group Attend TU Elimination At Ackerman Tuesday

A group of Holmes County Baptist Training Union members participated in the District Elimination program at Ackerman on Tuesday.

Mrs. Tom Cothran, of the First Baptist Church of Lexington, represented the Adults and told a mission story. Mrs. Cothran placed first and will receive an expense paid trip to Gulf Shore this summer.

The afternoon session included the Junior Departments' memory work and sword drill and the evening session was composed of the Young Peoples' and Adults' activities.

First Baptist Church of Durant had the best representation with the following members of the Junior Department attending:

Betty Brooks, Leca Estes, Sara Jo Kealhofer, Sheryl Makamsom and Buzzy McNeer.

One Junior from Calvary Baptist of Durant attended, invitation for everyone to attend. Serving also as official hosts will be members of the Holmes County Board of Supervisors and the Holmes County Welfare Board.

Among the out of county guests will be Governor Barnett and his party; Miss Evelyn Gandy, state treasurer; State Tax Collector William Winter; State Supreme Court Clerk Tom Q. Ellis; Highway Commissioner Felder Dearman.

Acting State Commissioner of Public Welfare C. O. Brooks of Jackson and Mrs. Georgia Pitchford of Greenwood, district supervisor, will also be among the honored guests.

Mayor Kenna

Mayor W. B. Kenna of Lexington will bring official greetings after the invocation has been given by the Rev. Roy Raddin of Tchula, Baptist minister.

William Moses, a member of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Lexington and a Colonel on Governor Barnett's staff will introduce the Chief Executive. Mr. Moses will also recognize other distinguished guests.

After the governor's address Mr. W. Leslie Smith, president of the Holmes County Board of Supervisors, will cut the ribbon to open the building. Mr. W. R. Ellis of Lexington, veteran member of the Holmes Welfare Board, will assist and may say a few words. Mr. Ellis has been a member of the board since its inception.

Mrs. McLellan will accept the building for the agency.

Open House will follow and refreshments will be served.

See additional story and pictures on back page.

Cindy Engelmann.

Representing the Young People's Department from the county were Billy Joe Gilmore of Antioch and Dona Kaye Pierce of Harlands Creek. These young people participated in the speaking tournament.

GOV. ROSS BARNETT

F. C. McIntosh Dies On Monday

Frank Carlass McIntosh, well known and respected resident of the Tolarville community, near Lexington, died Monday, May 7 at 5:00 a. m. in the Holmes County Community Hospital of a heart condition. He was 81.

A native of Hinds County, Mr. McIntosh had made his home in Holmes County for a number of years. He made his home a few miles southwest of Lexington on the Brozville Road for several years prior to moving to the Tolarville community. He was a retired building contractor. A Baptist, he was a member of the Oak Grove Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held from the chapel of Southern Funeral Home in Lexington on Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., with the Rev. Luther J. Slay officiating.

Interment was in the Raymond Cemetery with graveside rites there at 2:30 p. m. under the direction of Southern Funeral Home of Lexington.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Anna Lee McIntosh, Lexington; two daughters, Mrs. G. E. Early, Murphreesboro, Tenn. and Miss Minnie Belle McIntosh, Silver Spring, Maryland; a grandson and three great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were H. O. Pettus, Frank Davis, Brady Davis, Frank Eakin, Mahlon Stephenson and Frank Spencer.

OPEN OFFICE IN DURANT MONDAY: H. L. Daniel, left, and A. L. Gibson, right, are pictured above with Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Gibson at the Open House held by their new firm, Central Loans, Inc., in Lexington last Tuesday.

They opened their second office in Holmes County on Monday of this week in Durant with a large crowd attending.

Mrs. Evon Lepard is assisting in the Durant office of Central Loans, Inc.

Mr. Gibson is the son of Mrs. E. R. Gibson of Durant and he and Mrs. Gibson formerly made their home there.

Newcomers Breakfast Set For Saturday

The Hospitality Committee of the Lexington Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual "newcomer's breakfast" Saturday, May 12th.

This event, given in special honor of all newcomers to this city, will begin at 8:00 a. m. in the Grammar School Cafeteria.

Thus far approximately twenty-one newcomers have been contacted. If you have moved to Lexington or surrounding trade area within the past few months, or know of anyone who has, notify the Chamber office in Lexington by Friday, May 11 or any member of the following hospitality committee:

Mrs. Charlotte Blackstock, chairman; Mrs. Jean S. McLellan, Mrs. Dora Pearl Tidwell, Mel Chrestman, Mrs. George Patterson, Ray Johnson, Marvin McLellan, Mrs. W. H. Fincher, Jr., Mrs. M. G. Catron and Mrs. W. A. Ramsey.

All newcomers are invited and urged to attend this welcoming event.

WELFARE VISITORS of the Holmes County Welfare Department are pictured above in the conference room where regular staff meetings take place. Each of the nine visitors has a case load of about 345 persons out in the field. The number was lowered from 435 cases in April with the employment of two new visitors, Mrs. Betty Povall of Lexington and Mrs. Tommie Cooksey of Lexington.

Welfare visitors pictured are, front row, left to right, Mrs. Edna Idom of Durant, Mrs. Juanita P. Watson of Franklin, Mrs. Tommie Cooksey of Coxburg, Mrs. Nell Sullivan of Lexington, Mrs. Betty Povall of Lexington; back row, Mrs. Sue McLellan (who did not quite get in the picture) of Lexington, Mrs. Martha Montgomery of Pickens and Mrs. Emily P. Lucas of Lexington. Mrs. Thelma Johnson of West, also a member of the staff, was absent when picture was made.

Editorials

Become Informed To Preserve Freedom

FBI Chief Tells How To Fight Communism

A top ranking official of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has told a Mississippi audience to leave "spy-hunting" to professional and specially trained people and instead to become informed on the real nature and threat of communism.

William C. Sullivan, assistant director of the FBI and chief of its domestic intelligence division, told a public convocation on the University of Mississippi campus Monday night that "the average citizen is neither equipped nor trained" to engage in espionage work.

"Modern-day espionage and counter espionage, with their emphasis on professional skills and training, as well as their reliance on complex scientific aids, are the province for experts," Mr. Sullivan said.

Then he pointed out there is something every citizen can do and that is become informed on what communism is, study its nature and threat so that we can understand what makes people "go communist."

The individual citizen can support the U. S. government's work against communism, Mr. Sullivan continued.

He can also emphasize the need to eradicate from our own land the leading causes of communism which Mr. Sullivan said included ignorance, poverty, disease, economic dislocation, political corruption, social discrimination, oppression, psychological maladjustment, educational inadequacies, religious anemia and philosophical materialism. (And if we don't know what some of those terms mean, it would be a good place to begin our study.)

Mr. Sullivan called on Mississippians to demonstrate in our own daily lives that the best way to oppose communism is through constitutional, rational, calm, creative and constructive action in our personal and social lives and to be, in effect, a living testimonial of a citizen and a nation that believes in and practices the greatest of all tenets against communism — and that is "individual freedom under law."

prejudice, intolerance and bigotry are actively helping to bring about in our own beloved state a totalitarian complex and dictatorship just as distasteful as any found in a communist or communist-dominated country.

When a people are so intimidated, through fear of economic or social reprisals, that they become afraid to speak their minds on any question, afraid to make a public statement (and sometimes private) statement on any matter remotely controversial, then they don't need to have any fear of anything the communists can do to them, because they have already lost their personal freedom.

This condition applies in varying degree to every area of Mississippi today — where supposedly free men with few exceptions are afraid to speak.

We find that fear everywhere, in the individual citizen, the editorial column, the pulpit, the school teacher, the lawyer, and even in our own State Legislature.

Who can honestly say this is not so?

Abraham Lincoln said that silence makes cowards out of us — and this may well be true.

The people of Germany lost their freedom because they did not speak out soon enough or often enough to stem the tide of the Nazi dictatorship.

We hope the same fate does not await Mississippi.

Or, has it already happened?

* * * *

We shall continue in our own small way to stand up for the right of every Mississippian, along with other Americans, to have and to hold any opinion he may choose and to express it freely without fear. If he chooses to remain silent — well, this is his privilege, too.

But as an editor it is our responsibility to point out anything we be lieve to be a threat to the peace, prosperity, security, progress, and advancement of our state and its people. This we have never failed to do,

Through The Years

Items of interest from the past taken from our files of The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News.

By Ruth B. Flower

TEN YEARS AGO

LHS STAR ATHLETE HAS PNEUMONIA

W. L. Lipsey, 16-year-old star pitcher for Lexington High School became ill with pneumonia on Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lipsey at Franklin.

Lipsey pitched a no-hit game last week, defeating Durant 1-0.

Zack Grey, 17-year-old Tchula boy, now at Holmes Junior College, is also a great baseball prospect.

PARDON, PLEASE!

The linotype machine dropped an "o" for an "a" in last week's paper and made it read that the Rev. P. D. Bragg was giving the grass on his lawn a Saturday afternoon "shove." It should have read "shave."

Pastor Bragg does not shove he persuades. (Note to printer: be sure to make that one an "o". If you make it "does not shave" we all may have to run out of town.)

TWENTY YEARS AGO

MRS. MONEY ANSWERS INQUIRY OF MANY

Mrs. Irene Money, librarian presents the following answer to many readers regarding the origin of the quotation: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

From David C. Means, reference librarian of the Library of Congress, comes the answer that John Dickenson in the Patriot's Appeal in 1776 wrote: By uniting we stand, by dividing we fall. Mr. Means stated that the state of Kentucky in 1792 adopted the motto: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

Many inquiries have been made for the true origin of the above motto.

SAMUEL COHEN HAS BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

The family of Samuel Cohen gathered at his home at 201 Vine St. on Sunday, April 26th to celebrate his eightieth birthday.

Mr. Cohen, retired dry-goods merchant, and Mrs. Cohen had as their guests on this occasion members of their immediate families, including: Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Cohen and children, Sylvia Lynn and Phillip; Mrs. Dave Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Flowers and daughter, Phyllis; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Flowers and baby daughter, all of Lexington.

Sgt. Freddie Miller of Tampa, Florida; Rabbi and Mrs. Stanley Brav of Vicksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Miller and son, David of Drew; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Flowers and son Phillip Harold, Ruleville; Mrs. Charles E. Kahn and children, Leon and Frances Ann of Morgan City, La.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

BAXTER WILSON GIVES HISTORY OF HOLMES

Holmes County was cut off from the northern end of Yazoo County in 1833 and Otho Beall was appointed sheriff.

About one-third of the county is in the Yazoo delta.

Some of the richest land in all of the Mississippi delta is in that part of the county known as Honey Island.

The county was originally inhabited by the Choctaw Indian tribe but after the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek in 1828, it rapidly filled up with the wealthier class of people herds of deer, flocks of turkeys and an occasional black bear feeding on the hillsides. Wolves, panthers, catamount wildcats, coons and opossums were everywhere and the streams abounded in fish.

After the county was laid off, three places were nominated for the county site. Rankin, Georgeville and Lexington. The latter was chosen because it stood in the geographical center of the county.

The county developed rapidly and furnished to Mississippi some of the best citi-

Drew Pearson

Seven Ways To Prevent Communism

Here are seven points given by Drew Pearson, the noted Washington columnist, for preventing communism in America. Mr. Pearson has earned a reputation and has in fact performed for many years as the foremost exponent of Americanism all the way round the world. He has seen communism in action, too, and knows whereof he speaks. His remarks will be of interest to any person genuinely interested in fighting or preventing communism in our own country. Read them and see if you don't agree.

1. The elimination of poverty — When I get letters from mothers who are struggling to feed their children and whose husbands don't have jobs, I know they and the children they are bringing up could be converts to communism.

Most people have forgotten that the young Communists of the 1930's were the product of the depression. It was those harsh, cruel, heartless years of no hope, of pitiful men selling apples on street corners that brought on communism, just as it was the harsh hopelessness of czarist rule that brought communism to Russia.

2. Honesty — Corruption in high places, and low places too, is another way of inducing communism. A Democratic-Republican form of government must be an honest government. Likewise our capitalistic system of business must be honest. Once either loses high ethical standards, then is the time to begin worrying about communism.

When the Justice Department indicted the port manager of Galveston, E. H. Thornton, Sr. for surreptitiously mixing wheat unfit for human consumption with good wheat and labeling it A-1 wheat, justice was right. The Jusutice Department knew it must keep a high standard of government honesty. And when Governor Allan Shivers flew to Washington and persuaded President Eisenhower to drop the indictment he was wrong.

The Soviet, in my opinion, carried things too far when it recently gave the death sentence to a Russian grain official who likewise misbranded wheat. But they also knew that the first standard of good government is honesty.

3. Respect of government — This goes hand in hand with honesty. If we don't respect our government officials we have the right, by means of the ballot, to change them. But if we lose respect for too many of them we may want to change our system. That's fluence of religion, the more you aid communism. The first step taken by most Communist governments has been to shut down the churches and curb the clergy. Yet the Bible-pounding fundamentalists, who make such a display of teaching anti-communism, are probably the greatest single voice undermining the churches.

5. Equality of opportunity and fair competition. Monopoly is one step that makes it easy for a Communist take-over. Communism thrives on monopoly; in fact is monopoly. Under communism the government owns and runs everything. There is no private business or small business.

Therefore when you stamp out little business, or little labor, you take a step which could eventually make it easier for communism. This applies to big labor just as much as it does to big business. The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in New York who put across a five-hour day at five dollars an hour, with a severe restriction of apprentices, is just as guilty as American Telephone and Telegraph which operates the biggest monopoly in the USA and wants to expand by taking over the communications satellite.

6. Respect for the dignity of man — The individual isn't important under the Communist system. He is subordinated to the state. But under the Judaic-Christian philosophy, the dignity of man is all important — and that is true regardless of his color, his wealth, or his religion.

The more respect and care for our fellow men the stronger we make our system. When we spread hate and intolerance we're playing into the hands of those who would like to see this country go Communist.

7. Strength — By this I don't mean merely military and physical strength, though in this day and age they are important. I also mean educational strength, cultural strength, we can understand what makes people "go communist."

The individual citizen can support the U. S. government's work against communism, Mr. Sullivan continued.

He can also emphasize the need to eradicate from our own land the leading causes of communism which Mr. Sullivan said included ignorance, poverty, disease, economic dislocation, political corruption, social discrimination, oppression, psychological maladjustment, educational inadequacies, religious anemia and philosophical materialism. (And if we don't know what some of those terms mean, it would be a good place to begin our study.)

Mr. Sullivan called on Mississippians to demonstrate in our own daily lives that the best way to oppose communism is through constitutional, rational, calm, creative and constructive action in our personal and social lives and to be, in effect, a living testimonial of a citizen and a nation that believes in and practices the greatest of all tenets against communism — and that is "individual freedom under law."

* * * *

Another well known American and newsman wrote an excellent column this week giving his own set of principles and observations which will be of interest to all persons of good will who are honestly concerned with fighting communism. (See Drew Pearson column elsewhere on this page.)

* * * *

Some of our own friends in Mississippi in the Citizens' Council who want to destroy all those who do not agree with them (especially the writer) by any means available, no matter how dishonest or corrupt, would do well to examine a thought held by an increasing number — and that is that they themselves in their blind, unreasoning

Who can honestly say this is not so?

Abraham Lincoln said that silence makes cowards out of us — and this may well be true.

The people of Germany lost their freedom because they did not speak out soon enough or often enough to stem the tide of the Nazi dictatorship.

We hope the same fate does not await Mississippi.

Or, has it already happened?

* * * *

We shall continue in our own small way to stand up for the right of every Mississippian, along with other Americans, to have and to hold any opinion he may choose and to express it freely without fear. If he chooses to remain silent — well, this is his privilege, too.

But as an editor it is our responsibility to point out anything we be lieve to be a threat to the peace, prosperity, security, progress, and advancement of our state and its people. This we have never failed to do, knowingly at least.

We shall continue to try to do our duty as we see it.

The expressions of confidence and support on the part of our readers and friends in Holmes County particularly and throughout Mississippi help us personally to know our efforts are not in vain and that many people are aware of the existing threats to freedom in our state today. Now, if they just care enough to do something about it!

We ask for your continued individual support, your continued prayers, and any other expressions of sentiment that may help to preserve your freedom and ours.

Without freedom our lives would be intolerable — and our state would go back 100 years.

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, May 10, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.)_____Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

stand, by dividing we fall. Mr. Means stated that the state of Kentucky in 1792 adopted the motto: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

Many inquiries have been made for the true origin of the above motto.

SAMUEL COHEN HAS BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

The family of Samuel Cohen gathered at his home at Prylis; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Flowers and baby daughter, all of Lexington.

Sgt. Freddie Miller of Tampa, Florida; Rabbi and Mrs. Stanley Brav of Vicksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Miller and son, David of Drew; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Flowers and son Phillip Harold, Ruleville; Mrs. Charles E. Kahn and children, Leon and Frances Ann of Morgan City, La.

time to begin worrying about communism.

When the Justice Department indicted the port manager of Galveston, E. H. Thornton, Sr. for surreptitiously mixing wheat unfit for human consumption with good wheat and labeling it A-1 wheat, justice was right. The Jusutice Department knew it must keep a high standard of government honesty. And when Governor Allan Shivers flew to Washington and persuaded President Eisenhower to drop the indictment he was wrong.

The Soviet, in my opinion, carried things too far when it recently gave the death sentence to a Russian grain official who likewise misbranded wheat. But they also knew that the first standard of good government is honesty.

3. Respect of government — This goes hand in hand with honesty. If we don't respect our government officials we have the right, by means of the ballot, to change them. But if we lose respect for too many of them we may want to change our system. That's why it's so important to keep government fair and honest, so as to keep respect for and confidence in government.

4. Respect for religion — Some of those who are beating the tom toms loudest about the dangers of communism are the Bible-pounding fundamentalist preachers of the extreme right, and one of their stocks in trade is to smear their fellow preachers as Communists. The Rev. Billy James Hargis claims that the National Council of Churches "aids and abets communism." He also managed to sell the Air Force on inserting similar charges in its troop indoctrination program.

But the more you undermine churches and the more you destroy in-

York who put across a five-hour day at five dollars an hour, with a severe restriction of apprentices, is just as guilty as American Telephone and Telegraph which operates the biggest monopoly in the USA and wants to expand by taking over the communications satellite.

6. Respect for the dignity of man — The individual isn't important under the Communist system. He is subordinated to the state. But under the Judaic-Christian philosophy, the dignity of man is all important — and that is true regardless of his color, his wealth, or his religion.

The more respect and care for our fellow men the stronger we make our system. When we spread hate and intolerance we're playing into the hands of those who would like to see this country go Communist.

7. Strength — By this I don't mean merely military and physical strength, though in this day and age they are important. I also mean educational strength, cultural strength, scientific strength, and moral and spiritual strength.

We have neglected our schools at a time when the Communist world has spent money hand-over-fist strengthening its entire educational system. We once ranked first in science. But of late we have turned out more insurance salesmen, stock brokers, and jazz experts than scientists, so that Russia has forged ahead of us in the science of space.

The average schoolteacher, in both our farm areas and big cities, can do more to combat communism in a quiet, unsensational, non-name-calling way than almost any other person in America. But we don't give him or her either the tools or a living wage to do it.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

BAXTER WILSON GIVES HISTORY OF HOLMES

Holmes County was cut off from the northern end of Yazoo County in 1833 and Otho Beall was appointed sheriff.

About one-third of the county is in the Yazoo delta.

Some of the richest land in all of the Mississippi delta is in that part of the county known as Honey Island.

The county was originally inhabited by the Choctaw Indian tribe but after the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek in 1828, it rapidly filled up with the wealthier class of people from Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and a few from Alabama.

My father, J. M. Wilson came to this county from Trianna, Alabama in 1829 bringing some slaves, mules and farming implements with him. He settled and made a crop at a place now known as Blissdale, about 3 miles south of Howard Station on the railroad. He sold his crop and farming implements to a town on the Yazoo River known as Manchester which is now Yazoo City. He then went back to Alabama and reported the favorable conditions to his father, Thompson Wilson, who then moved here in 1832 and settled on the headwaters of Funnagusha Creek about 3 miles northwest of Emory near the boundary line between Holmes and Carroll Counties.

Where Lexington courthouse now stands tnere was a highland pond. There were no roads and he traveled by the aid of a compass. All of the creeks were bordered with blue cane, eight to twelve feet high, which he cut with cane knives to be able to ford a creek.

It was a common thing to see herds of deer, flocks of turkeys and an occasional black bear feeding on the hillsides. Wolves, panthers, catamount wildcats, coons and opossums were everywhere and the streams abounded in fish.

After the county was laid off, three places were nominated for the county site. Rankin, Georgeville and Lexington. The latter was chosen because it stood in the geographical center of the county.

The county developed rapidly and furnished to Mississippi some of the best citizens of the state including Landon C. Haynes, state treasurer; General Miles, Congressman; Dr. L. S. Rogers, state treasurer; E. F. Noel, governor; S. M. Smith, chief justice; H. H. Elmore, circuit judge; G. A. Wilson, district attorney; W. P. Tackett, district attorney and Arthur Jordan, district attorney.

Letter To Editor

State College, Mississippi
May 5, 1962

Mrs. Hazel Smith
Editor
The Lexington Advertiser
The Durant News

Dear Mrs. Smith:

We want to thank you for the frequent publicity you give 4-H Club work in your paper. Publicity is very helpful in any program, and this is especially true in 4-H Club work.

We appreciate your interest and cooperation very much, and I know I am speaking for the local Extension personnel as well.

Sincerely yours,
C. I. Smith
State 4-H Club Leader

Legislative Bulletin

SPECIAL TO MEC MEMBERS:

The Senate this week defeated SCR 130, to establish lay state board of education. This is fundamental change coming out of $150,000 education study and is basic to improved administration of about 50% of general fund dollar. Only Mississippi and Florida have ex-officio boards. Proposal held in Senate on motion to reconsider, which means it can still be passed if Senators know that the voters want this improvement This constructive legislation should be weighed on its merits and not distorted by emotions and false conclusions.

* * * * *

LEGISLATURE SEEMS HEADED DOWN HOME-STRETCH — at end of 18th week, with administration issuing statement that upward economic trends in state make it evident current revenue sources, plus tax increases already voted at this session, will "balance proposed $287 million budget for next biennium." Therefore, proposed sales tax increase is now abandoned — governor says he will veto bills exceeding maximum budget proprials — check shows solons have increased taxes enough to bring in over $17 million in "new money" for biennium, all of which expire June 30, 1964, as follows: up cigaret tax from 6 to 8 cents a pack, for $8 million; corporation franchise tax upped from $2 to $2.50 per $1,000 capitalization, for $1,875,000; tighten enforcement of beer tax in "dry" counties, $1 million; let Vet Farm and Home loan board repay $600,000 on $10 million appropriation made years ago; up sales tax on contractors from 1½ percent to 2 percent, for $2.5 million; tax sales-rental of manufacturing machinery at 1 percent, for $3 million; and increase special sales tax on whiskey from 5 to 6 percent wholesale, and 8 to 9 percent retail, for $275,000 — Solons now talking sine dine adjournment in May — House met Friday morning (see last paragraph for highlights) — passed over $64 million in appropriations on Wednesday — windup expected to be fast.

BILLS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR — during week included: H 222, trucks on highways not follow within within 300 feet of another vehicle — H 226, highway commission increase speed on in-

(Continued On Page Six)

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Mrs. William P. Taylor
107 Castalian St.
Durant, Miss.
May 5, 1962

Dear Hazel,

The Castalian Street Garden Club members asked me to write you and thank you for your wonderful cooperation and publicity that you gave us for the Festival.

We all appreciate it very much and we appreciate you.

Love,
Rufus Taylor

Anniversary Of Casey Jones' Wreck

April 30, 1962 marked the 62nd anniversary of the wreck of the South Bound Illinois Central "Cannonball" and death of the famed "Casey" Jones at the North switch of a Passing Track at Vaughan station about six miles south of the Overhead bridge near the town of Pickens.

Most all of the younger generation seem to think that "Casey" Jones was a mere fictional engineer, and not real at all. Some adults are of the same opinion, the idea being gathered from the famous song.

Casey Jones, before his death, had established a colorful reputation, both with railroad people and residents along the right of way. Casey had his own whistle, and blew it along the countryside in his own distinctive way, and the people, young ond old, when they heard that long wail, as he rolled along at 60 miles and more, would lovingly say, "That's ole Casey"!

John Luther (Casey) Jones, (1854-1900), was the brave railroad engineer who gave his life to save the lives of his passengers and crew. On the night of April 29, 1900, brought the Illinois Central's fast mail train, the New Orleans-to-Chicago "Cannonball' into Memphis, Tenn. He volunteered to run the Southbound train when he learned the engineer was sick. Early the next morning, through no fault of his, Casey Jones' Engine No. 382 struck the rear of two freight trains protruding from a siding at Vaughan, His body was found in the wreckage with one hand on the throttle and the other on the air-brake lever. If he had not stayed in the engine to put on the brakes, the crash would have been much worse. The song about him has immortalized the skill, courage and drama of railroading. He was born near Cayce, Kentucky.

On the 50th anniversary of the wreck, a party of top officials of the Illinois Central Railroad, led by President Wayne Johnson, disembarked at the Vaughan Yards, and dedicated a monument that had been erected in his honor there. They had stopped the "fast" train, about 20 minutes for the purpose.

There is an historical marker on the North approach of the overhead bridge just out of Pickens, telling about "Casey" Jones.

Casey's fireman, Simms, a Negro whom Casey made jump before the impending collision lived until about two years ago, some 60 years after the wreck, in a home that his white railroad friends and others gave him.

In the year 1900, depots like Durants were the centers of a town's interest with fast passenger trains on the main line. The yards at Gwin were being constructed that year, with Durant serving terminals located at Aberdeen, Tchula and the run through Lexington.

Nationally known Casey Jones was featured on the Wednesday night Perry Como program with the Como group singing the famous song.

ONE YEAR AGO THIS WEEK Lexington newcomers enjoyed a breakfast at the Grammar School lunchroom, sponsored by the Lexington Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Jean McLellan, left above, was chairman of arrangements and served as mistress of ceremonies at the affair.

Pictured with her are Mrs. Virginia Crestman, who won the door prize given by Henson-Kickernick; Miss Ann Adams, public school music teacher, and Miss Frances Parker, child welfare worker with the Holmes County Welfare Department.

Miss Bragg Will Become Bride Of Dr. Yarborough May 26th

The Reverend and Mrs. Paul D. Bragg of Lexington announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Rachel Ann to Dr. John Marion Yarborough, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marion Yarborough of Pickens.

Miss Bragg is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. D. Bragg of Greenville, South Carolina and the late Mr. C. D. Bragg and of the late, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Basben of Memphis, Tennessee.

The bride-elect is an honor graduate of Lexington High School where, during her senior year, was presented a loving cup as most outstanding senior. She is a cum laude graduate of Baylor University School of Nursing at Waco, Texas. Miss Bragg is now employed at the Baptist Hospital of New Orleans, where she was recently chosen Nurse of the Year.

Dr. Yarborough's grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Yarborough of Jackson and Pickens and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Horton of Pickens.

A medical officer in the United States Navy stationed in New Orleans, Dr. Yarborough attended Pickens Elementary School, graduated from Holmes Agricultural High School at Goodman and Holmes Junior College. He is also a graduate of Tulane University and Tulane Medical School, where he was president of his graduating class.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized on Saturday, May 26 at seven-thirty in the evening at the First Baptist Church of Lexington with Dr. James Basden, uncle of the bride-elect performing the ceremony.

No invitations are being mailed in the county. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and reception through the medium of the press.

MISS RACHEL ANN BRAGG
— C. Bennette Moore photo

Beauty School First Held By Holmes-Attala Unit

The Holmes-Attala Unit of Cosmetology held a two day school at the Modern Beauty Lounge in Lexington on May 6 and 7.

The school was a first attempt by the organization on a local scale, and proved to be a great success.

Mr. Robert Johnson, of Memphis of the Mohler Sys-

Pam Rutledge Hostess Troop 214

Brownie Troop 214 held its regular meeting on Friday after school on May 4th at the Girl Scout Hut.

Mother's Day gifts were made by members and posters were planned for the Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up parade on Friday afternoon.

Pam Rutledge, hostess, served fudge sticks, cookies and Cokes to those present.

Sandra Green, reporter

Miss Cade Elected Officer In MSNA

Miss Edna Anelle Cade, daughter of Mrs. Olive Cade of Lexington was elected second vice president of the Mississippi Student Nurses Association at the semi-annual convention held in Jackson last week.

Miss Cade is a junior student at the University of Mississippi School of Nursing. Sharing honors with her is her roommate, Miss Ann Grif-

News Of Women

SOCIETY ★ CLUBS ★ PERSONALS

Lexington HD Club Met At City Hall

The Lexington Home Demonstration Club met at the City Hall on Thursday, May 3rd at 2:00 p. m. with Mrs. Goldie Rogers and Mrs. Buck Tidwell as hostesses.

Mrs. W. E. Strider, vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. H. D. Terry, president.

The opening song, "America The Beautiful" was led by Miss Marianna Kimbrough.

The secretary, Miss Addie Vic Bailey read the minutes and called the roll. Fourteen members and one visitor and Miss Harpole were present.

Mrs. Rogers gave the devotional taken from the 10th chapter of John.

Mrs. Robert Autry gave the study topic on "Organization of American States."

Mrs. Goldie Rogers also gave the garden report.

Officers for the coming year were elected and Mrs. Cox was welcomed as a new member.

Miss Harpole reminded members to make plans to attend the following meetings: District Style Show at West Tallahatchie High School on May 11; Officers Workshop, June 29 at Clarksdale; and State Council meeting, June 12-13-14 at Mississippi State University.

A very informative demonstration on home furnishings was given by Miss Harpole.

Recreation was led by Mrs. W. P. Zemp with Miss Mariana Kimbrough winning the prize.

Delicious sandwiches, cookies, potato chips and Coca-Colas were served by the hostesses.

Arrived From England

Mrs. Tommy Gant and son, Donny have arrived home after a five months visit with SP5 Tommy Gant in Harrowgate, England.

Swinney-Tyson Vows Exchanged

Miss Marian Evelyn Tyson and Mr. Auburtin Swinney were united in marriage on Friday, May 4th.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Ebenezer Methodist Church at 10:00 p. m. by the Rev. Crawford Ray of Lexington.

Miss Glenda Faye Rodgers and Mr. Samuel Hearn, Jr. of Coxburg were the only attendants.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Olive Tyson of Coxburg and the late Mr. Ellis Tyson.

Mr. Swinney's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Swinney of Lexington.

The bride was lovely in a white ballerina length dress featuring a bouffant skirt. Her accessories were also white.

Mr. and Mrs. Swinney are now making their home in the Coxburg community.

Morris Schur Wins Award At Ole Miss

Morris Schur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schur, has been presented a military award in the Air Force ROTC at the University of Mississippi.

Morris graduates from the University in late May and his award gives him a choice of a scholarship at the University of Missouri or the University of Colorado.

McDANIELS' AWARDED YARD PLAQUE FOR MAY

The attractive lawn of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McDaniel on Pine Street bears the "Yard of the Month" plaque for the month of May.

These plaques are placed monthly by The Lexington Garden Club and selected by a group of secret judges.

All interested persons are invited to drive by and view

Lexington Garden—

(Continued from Page One)

tastes and budgets.

One of the pictures taken in a city apartment shows rather plain, dull "Old Room" transformed into a "New Room," which suddenly comes to life and sparkles with the lavish use of colorful fabric.

The "New Room" also takes on additional height by means of ceiling-to-floor draperies on the window and behind the bed. In striking tones of blue and lavender the exquisite printed fabric created by Charles Bloom, Inc. is one of a great variety of Celanese Contemporary Fiber Fabrics available today.

"New Rooms For Old" will be shown on May 15, at the Baptist Church basement at 1:00 o'clock for the Lexington Garden Club Luncheon. Mrs. B. W. Humphrey, Jr. will read the commentary on the 56 slides in the program.

This film may help you solve your decorating problems. The program features a beautiful dress length given as a door prize.

Mrs. P. H. Williams and Mrs. Tom Riley, cochairmen of the flower show list the outline and rules as follows:

Division I—Artistic: "Beauty Is Our Business"

CLASS I: "Beauty Outdoors and In"

A design using plants that beautify the landscape and the arrangement.

CLASS II: "Wing Beauty"

An arrangement using birds in the design.

CLASS III: "Bread, Butter and Beauty"

An arrangement suitable for a luncheon table.

CLASS IV: "Beauty Is Where You Find It"

Oriental line design using branches and a minimum of flowers.

CLASS V: "Beauty Queen Of The Garden"

Rhythmic design with roses predominating.

Division II — Horticulture "Beauty Unlimited"

CLASS A: Roses. Names, one stem.

1. Hybrid Tea
2. Floribunda
3. Grandiflora
4. Climbing, cluster type, 18 to 24 inches
5. Climbing, Hybrid Tea, 18 to 24 inches

CLASS B: Iris. Names if possible. One stalk.

C, white; D, any other color.

2. Double: Colors as stated above.

CLASS D: Bulbs — One stem

CLASS E: Lillies. To be judged according to kind and color.

1. Specimen bloom: A, red; B, pink; C, white; D, yellow; E, bi-color.

CLASS F: Distinctive Plant. Correctly named.

1. Rare or unusual plant.
2. Flowering tree. Spray not over two feet.
3. Flowering shrub. Spray not over two feet.

CLASS G: Perennials and Biennials. Judged as to kind and color.

1. Daisies, three stems.
2. Snapdragons, three stems
3. Verbena, one stem.
4. Any other worthy specimen.

CLASS H: Pot Plants.

1. Flowering plants.
2. Foliage plants.
3. African violets

CLASS I: Annuals or Plants Grown as Such. Judged as to kind and color.

1. Calendula, three stems.
2. Petunia, single, three stems.

Doll Show Sponsored By DAR To Be Presented May 18th

A "Godey's Ladies in Miniature" doll show will be presented at Grenada on Friday, May 18th as announced by Mrs. Joy W. Brooks, regent of the Benjamin G. Humphreys chapter of the Daughters if the American Revolution Society.

The show will include a collection of dolls owned by Mrs. Harry Alexander of Grenada and other collections. All will be dressed in handmade period costumes.

Mrs. L. J. Doaks of Grenada, sister of Mr. O. L. Ellison of Lexington, will arrange period floral designs to complement the dolls.

The show will be held at the Civic Auditorium in Grenada at 3:00 p. m. and is sponsored by the Grenada DAR chapter. Tickets are one dollar. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Texas Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. House of McAllen, Texas, are visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ellis, Jr this week.

Beth McWilliams MSPA Officer

Miss Beth McWilliams has been elected treasurer of Mississippi Scholastic Press Association for the 1962-63 school year.

A convention of school journalists was held last weekend at the University of Mississippi.

Attend MSMA

Dr. and Mrs. Paul B. Brumby went to Jackson on Tuesday to attend the Mississippi Medical Association convention being held there.

To Greenwood

Members of the Holmes County Health Department who spent Monday in Greenwood, on health department business, were Mrs. Betty Ellis, Mrs. Hosea Grisham, Mrs. Hal Gilliam, Mrs. Maud Legate and Mrs. Virginia Land.

To Natchez

Mrs. Maud Legate visited in Natchez from Friday through Sunday as guest of her son, Claude Legate, Mrs. Legate and children, Dennis, Claudia and Wesley. Claudia has a mild case of measles.

From Grenara

Miss Mozelle McCaulla and her mother, Mrs. Mitch Chambley both of Grenada, were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Smith Sunday.

Attend Memorial Service

Memorial Day service at Pleasant Ridge Baptist church was held on Sunday, May 6. Among those attending were Mrs. Connie Moorhead, Miss Linda Moorhead, Mrs. T. J. Evans and Miss Blanche McLellan.

RICKY THEATRE
Lexington, Miss.
'Second Time Around'
Thurs. Fri. Sat. Sun.
Mon Tues.
May 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15
In Color
Starring
Debbie Reynolds
Andy Griffith
Thelma Ritter - Steve Forest
Juliet Prowse - Ken Scott

S. Horton of Pickens.

A medical officer in the United States Navy stationed in New Orleans, Dr. Yarborough attended Pickens Elementary School, graduated from Holmes Agricultural High School at Goodman and Holmes Junior College. He is also a graduate of Tulane University and Tulane Medical School, where he was president of his graduating class.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized on Saturday, May 26 at seven-thirty in the evening at the First Baptist Church of Lexington with Dr. James Basden, uncle of the bride-elect performing the ceremony.

No invitations are being mailed in the county. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and reception through the medium of the press.

MISS RACHEL ANN BRAGG
— C. Bennette Moore photo

Beauty School First Held By Holmes-Attala Unit

The Holmes-Attala Unit of Cosmetology held a two day school at the Modern Beauty Lounge in Lexington on May 6 and 7.

The school was a first attempt by the organization on a local scale, and proved to be a great success.

Mr. Robert Johnson, of Memphis of the Mohler System of Beauty Culture, served as instructor. Mr. Ray Nephery, whose picture was shown in our last issue is a student of Mr. Johnson.

Modern styling techniques with live models were featured by the twenty operators attending. In attractive surroundings made beautiful by arrangements of choice flowers, gifts from friends of the unit, and Miss Clara Ware president.

Wins Law Award

Timothy Jones of McComb and the University of Mississippi has been recognized for outstanding accomplishments at the University.

Mr. Jones is married to the former Miss Sara Evelyn Sudbeck of Lexington, and along with four other law students, were presented law awards including the Mississippi Law Journal award, Moot Court winner and the Phi Delta Phi award.

WSCS District Meeting

Among those who attended the sub-district Woman's Society of Christian Service meeting held in Pickens on Friday were Mrs. Joe Moore, Mrs. Ruth Roach, Mrs. P. H. Williams, Mrs. R. M. Gwin and Mrs. I. R. King.

Pam Rutledge Hostess Troop 214

Brownie Troop 214 held its regular meeting on Friday after school on May 4th at the Girl Scout Hut.

Mother's Day gifts were made by members and posters were planned for the Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up parade on Friday afternoon.

Pam Rutledge, hostess, served fudge sticks, cookies and Cokes to those present.

Sandra Green, reporter

Extend Sympathy

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Joe Latham of Jackson in the recent death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Peek of Morton.

Mrs. Peek will be remembered for her frequent visits here when Mr. Latham and the late Mrs. Latham resided in Lexington.

At the age of 87, she had outlived most members of her immediate family. In addition to Mr. Latham, she is survived by two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

From New Orleans

Miss Ann Bragg of New Orleans is enjoying a vacation at home with Rev. and Mrs. P. D. Bragg.

Attend School

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Memphis attended the Holmes-Attala Beauty Culture School held at the Modern Beauty Lounge on May 6th and 7th.

From Oxford

Mr. and Mrs. Red Byrd and daughters, Beverly and Leigh Ann of Oxford spent Sunday with Mrs. Dot Craney, Mrs. Jesse Byrd and Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Nabors.

Miss Cade Elected Officer In MSNA

Miss Edna Anelle Cade, daughter of Mrs. Olive Cade of Lexington was elected second vice president of the Mississippi Student Nurses Association at the semi-annual convention held in Jackson last week.

Miss Cade is a junior student at the University of Mississippi School of Nursing. Sharing honors with her is her roommate, Miss Ann Griffin of Meridian. Miss Griffin was elected "Miss Student Nurse", and a classmate, Miss Becky Cox of Biloxi was elected president of the association.

Miss Cox is the fiancee of Mr. David Samuelson of Tchula, a student in the school of medicine at the University Hospital in Jackson.

In Hospital

Mr. Jesse Boatwright is a patient at St Dominic Hospital in Jackson. Donald Boatwright and Jimmy Boatwright visited him on Saturday and Mrs. Boatwright, Mrs. Marcia Jackson and Mr. Lonnie Boatwright went down on Sunday. Mr. Boatwright underwent surgery on Tuesday.

Return To Base

Lt. Steve Reid arrived Wednesday from duty in Puerto Rico and left Friday for his base at Le Jeune, North Carolina. He was accompanied by Mrs. Reid and Stevie who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reid and Mrs. W. H. Fincher, Sr.

Attends Church

Mrs. Olive Broome attended church services on Sunday afternoon at Liberty Chapel.

of American States.

Mrs. Goldie Rogers also gave the garden report.

Officers for the coming year were elected and Mrs. Cox was welcomed as a new member.

Miss Harpole reminded members to make plans to attend the following meetings: District Style Show at West Tallahatchie High School on May 11; Officers Workshop, June 29 at Clarksdale; and State Council meeting, June 12-13-14 at Mississippi State University.

A very informative demonstration on home furnishings was given by Miss Harpole.

Recreation was led by Mrs. W. P. Zemp with Miss Mariana Kimbrough winning the prize.

Delicious sandwiches, cookies, potato chips and Coca-Colas were served by the hostesses.

Arrived From England

Mrs. Tommy Gant and son, Donny have arrived home after a five months visit with SP5 Tommy Gant in Harrowgate, England.

Attend Stage Show

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schur and Mrs. Yetta Kaplan of Pickens went to the University of Mississippi on Friday night to attend the production of South Pacific and visit their sons, Morris Schur and Roy Kaplan, students at the University.

Business Visitor

Edwin Faulconer of Ebenezer was a business visitor to Lexington on Saturday.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schur and Mr. and Mrs. E. Cohen were dinner guests on Sunday of Mrs. Yetta Kaplan at her home in Pickens.

Attend Recital

Mrs. Lee Daniel of Pickens, accompanied by Miss Minnie Pearce and Mrs. Pearl Patton, attended the piano recital recently at the Lexington Grammar School, to hear her grandson, Sam Daniel perform.

Church Visitors

Mrs. Jesse Byrd and Mrs. Aaron Gantt were visitors at the regular service at Liberty Chapel Church on Sunday.

Holmes County Community Hospital

White Patients

Mrs. Belle Waggoner, Pickens
Mrs. Clara Ginn Bruce, Lexington
Mrs. H. W. Earle, Clarksdale
Mrs. Olivia Wilkerson, Lexington
Mrs. Annie F. Stewart, Lexington
Miss Charlie Harrison, Lexington
Mrs. Biddie Hocutt, Lexington
Claude Harthcock, Tchula
Mrs. Joe D. Williams, Lexington
Mrs. Jenny Quinn, Goodman
Mrs. Janice Wynne, Pickens
Mrs. Mary Gilliam, Lexington

Colored Patients

Roosevelt Anderson
Lela Mae Walton
Alice Kilpatrick
Willie Lou White
Priscilla Phillips
Matilda Gatson
Tempie Ellis
Grace Weatherspoon
Chuffus Horton
Isiah Haymond
Owen Ambrose
Mattie Davis
Margaret Miller
Jessie Williams
Doc Hudson
Dale Brown

her accessories were also white.

Mr. and Mrs. Swinney are now making their home in the Coxburg community.

Morris Schur Wins Award At Ole Miss

Morris Schur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schur, has been presented a military award in the Air Force ROTC at the University of Mississippi.

Morris graduates from the University in late May and his award gives him a choice of a scholarship at the University of Missouri or the University of Colorado.

McDANIELS' AWARDED YARD PLAQUE FOR MAY

The attractive lawn of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McDaniel on Pine Street bears the "Yard of the Month" plaque for the month of May.

These plaques are placed monthly by The Lexington Garden Club and selected by a group of secret judges.

All interested persons are invited to drive by and view the lovely pink roses and matching verbena which borders the walk.

Visiting Mother

Guest of Mrs. R. M. Gwin is her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Jones of West Point, Georgia. Mrs. Jones made the trip by car and will remain through Mother's Day on Sunday.

Holmes HD Clubs Held Achievement Program In Lexington Thursday Night

Clubs, Members Recognized For Outstanding Work

In celebration of National Home Demonstration Club Week members of the seventeen Holmes HD Clubs held an achievement program on Thursday night at the Lexington Grammar School Cafeteria.

The purpose of this event was to recognize clubs and members for outstanding work during the past year and to give their families an opportunity to find out what HD work is composed of.

Mrs. William Brock of West, Holmes County Council President, presided.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Brock, Mrs. James Summerlin, Council vice president; Mrs. J. L. Braddock, district awards chairman; and Mrs. J. A. Hearn, council secretary.

Club Of Year

The West club received a plaque as "Club of the Year". This was the third consecutive year this club has achieved this honor.

An attendance ribbon was given the Pickens Club for having perfect attendance at all seven Council meetings for the year.

A number of members were recognized as 25-year-members wearing membership pins and several who are eligible for pins were also noted. These pins will be presented at a later date.

Mrs. W. C. Downer of the Emory Club was recognized as the oldest member in the county. Mrs. Downer is 84 years old.

Youngest club members are Mrs. John C. Burwell Ebenezer and Mrs. Wayne Sims, of Goodman.

The purpose of recognizing these members was to point out that the younger club members represent the future progress of Home Demonstration Club in the county.

Enrollment

Pickens has the largest enrollment with thirty-one members, Cruger and Brozville follow with thirty, and Coxburg third with twenty-eight. The Goodman club has the largest number of new members for the year.

The Richland club reported the higest percentage of attendance at club meetings.

Mrs. W. L. Devine of the Brozville club was first place winner for the best garden of the year.

Homemakers ribbons were presented to Mrs. Roscoe Johnson, first; Mrs. J. W. Potts, second; and Mrs. Harold Brock, third.

Individuals recognized as having perfect attendance at Council meetings were Mrs. Harold Brock, Durant; Mrs. J. W. Burwell, Ebenezer; Mrs. W. L. Dickard, Pickens; Mrs. James Summerlin, Richland; and Mrs. W. B. Farmer, Bethesda.

Mrs. James Summerlin gave special tribute to the program leaders of the year for a job well performed.

An added feature was the presentation of demonstrations by the following 4-H Club members: Pat Slack, Dona Kaye Pierce, and John Maxwell.

The program closed with a film made at State Council held at Mississippi State University last summer. This film was made and presented through the courtesy of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Preceding the program a delicious dish dinner was enjoyed.

Approximately one hundred members and guests attended this entertaining event.

Visits Father

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cleveland spent Sunday in Union with her father, Mr. J. O. Thrash.

ty Is Our Business"

CLASS I: "Beauty Outdoors and In"

A design using plants that beautify the landscape and the arrangement.

CLASS II: "Wing Beauty"

An arrangement using birds in the design.

CLASS III: "Bread, Butter and Beauty"

An arrangement suitable for a luncheon table.

CLASS IV: "Beauty Is Where You Find It"

Oriental line design using branches and a minimum of flowers.

CLASS V: "Beauty Queen Of The Garden"

Rhythmic design with roses predominating.

Division II — Horticulture "Beauty Unlimited"

CLASS A: Roses. Names, one stem.

1. Hybrid Tea
2. Floribunda
3. Grandiflora
4. Climbing, cluster type, 18 to 24 inches
5. Climbing, Hybrid Tea, 18 to 24 inches

CLASS B: Iris. Names if possible. One stalk.

1. Bearded Iris; A, white; B, yellow; C, blue; D, purple; E, pink; F, bronze; G, red; H, bi-color; I, any other color
2. Iris; any other than bearded. Colors as stated above.
3. Dutch Iris; colors as stated above.

CLASS C: Peonies

1. Single: A, red; B, pink; C, white; D, any other color.
2. Double: Colors as stated above.

CLASS D: Bulbs — One stem

CLASS E: Lillies. To be judged according to kind and color.

1. Specimen bloom: A, red; B, pink; C, white; D, yellow; E, bi-color.

CLASS F: Distinctive Plant. Correctly named.

1. Rare or unusual plant.
2. Flowering tree. Spray not over two feet.
3. Flowering shrub. Spray not over two feet.

CLASS G: Perennials and Biennials. Judged as to kind and color.

1. Daisies, three stems.
2. Snapdragons, three stems
3. Verbena, one stem.
4. Any other worthy specimen.

CLASS H: Pot Plants.

1. Flowering plants.
2. Foliage plants.
3. African violets

CLASS I: Annuals or Plants Grown as Such. Judged as to kind and color.

1. Calendula, three stems.
2. Petunia, single, three stems.
3. Petunia, double, one stem
4. Petunia, ruffled, one stem.
5. Larkspur, one stem.
6. Nasturtiums, five stems.
7. Sweet peas, ten stems.
8. Poppies, one stem.
9. Pansies, five stems.
10. Any other worthy specimen not named above.

Miss Mozelle McCaulla and her mother, Mrs. Mitch Chambley both of Grenada, were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Smith Sunday.

Attend Memorial Service

Memorial Day service at Pleasant Ridge Baptist church was held on Sunday, May 6. Among those attending were Mrs. Connie Moorhead, Miss Linda Moorhead, Mrs. T. J. Evans and Miss Blanche McLellan.

RICKY THEATRE
Lexington, Miss.

'Second Time Around'
Thurs. Fri. Sat. Sun.
Mon Tues.
May 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15
In Color
Starring
Debbie Reynolds
Andy Griffith
Thelma Ritter - Steve Forest
Juliet Prowse - Ken Scott

'The Racers'
In Color
Starring
Kirk Douglas
Wed - Thurs.
May 16-17

Which Whitten
Do YOU Believe????

March 17, 1960—"The most any southerner can hope to do with a chairmanship or a key position is to have a better office, more employees..."
Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, (in a speech on the floor of House of Representatives)

April 14, 1962 – Rep. Jamie L. Whitten said that his key position on the Agricultural Appropriations subcommittee must be preserved to protect Mid-South farming interests."
Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, (Dispatch from Grenada, Miss. in Memphis Commercial Appeal)

One of the employees on Mr. Whitten's committee staff is his sister, Mrs. Mary Smallwood.

Vote For FRANK E. SMITH
for U. S. Representative on JUNE 5
Submitted to and approved by J. D. Lundy

What's your boiling point?

Keep cool with a kitchen phone... the smart way to save steps, spill-overs and tempers!

Southern Bell
CHOICE OF LOVELY DECORATOR COLORS TO PEP UP YOUR KITCHEN

County Agent's Notes

By W. R. SULLIVAN

HERBICIDAL OILING CAN SAVE MONEY . . .

If you are planning on oiling your cotton a level, smooth, uniform seed bed is essential if oil is to be used effectively. Clods on the drill surface will tend to direct the oil in the buds of the cotton and cause damage.

Oil can be applied as soon as the cotton plants are high enough for a directive spray under the leaves. Usually when cotton is from 7 to 10 days old.

The first application should be applied at the rate of 5-7 gallons per acre. After the first application or after the cotton is 3 weeks old no more than 5 gallons of oil per acre should be used at one application. There should be at least 5 days between each application of oiling. Do not apply more than three applications of oil.

Weeds are best controlled with oil when they are small. Oil can be expected to kill crab grass, seedling Johnson grass, morning glories and pig weeds. You cannot expect to kill such grasses as bermuda grass, established Johnson grass and nut grass. However, oiling does have a tendency to retard the growth of these grasses.

Be sure that you are spraying no higher than one inch up on cotton stem. If the wind is blowing too much and causing the oil to get on the leaves of the cotton you had better stop oiling until the wind dies down. Or you may use a larger tip and lower your pressure if the wind is not too high and get by O. K.

* * * * *

Thrip Control —

Let me urge that you control thrip on your young seedling cotton as soon as possible after you have a stand of cotton. Thrip can delay the maturity of your cotton for 10-14 days. Thrip can be controlled successfully at about 20-40 cents per acre for the cost of the insecticide depending on the insecticide you use.

Materials for controlling thrip are:

Dieldren — at the rate of one gallon mixed in enough water for 20 acres.

Aldrin — 1 gallon mixed in enough water for 18 acres.

Endrin — 1 gallon mixed in enough water for 18 acres.

Toxaphene — 1 gallon mixed in enough water for 6 or 7 acres.

Each of these materials will do a good job of controlling thrip if you direct the material directly over top of the plants.

After the first application wait 7 days and make another application for thrip.

The dosage of materials mentioned above will not control cutworms. If cutworms are a problem they can be killed by using 1 gallon of endrin mixed in enough water for 8 acres of cotton; toxaphene — 1 gallon of 6 pound toxaphene mixed in enough water to cover 2½ acres or dieldren — 1 gallon mixed in enough water to cover 5 acres. Where using this amount for cutworms you will automatically take care of thrip and other insects on the plants.

* * * * *

Grazing Clover —

Crimson clover, white Dutch clover and wild winter peas should be grazed heavy during the rest of the grazing period as these clovers will begin to die out as the weather becomes hotter. So be sure and get as much grazing from them as possible.

* * * * *

Vaccination —

Just a reminder to be sure and vaccinate all your calves for black leg and malignant edema. Grown cows that have not been vaccinated this year should be vaccinated for malignant edema.

In areas where anthrax has been known to have occured vaccinate all cattle, horses and mules for anthrax. It is better to prevent a disease than try to cure one after it occurs.

Home Agent's Notes

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS REVIEW

KNAPP-MONARCH TO EXPAND

The Knapp-Monarch Company of Holly Springs, (formerly Metalcraft), will expand its operations under a "Balance Agriculture With Industry" bond issue of $100,000 to be submitted to a vote in the near future. The Agricultural and Industrial Board has granted a certificated authorizing the BAWI election. H. H. Stanley, manager of the metal company, said plan call for construction of another building on a site immediately north of the present one. The new building will contain 20,000 square feet and will manufacture component parts for machines produced by the company's St. Louis factory.

* * * *

GOVERNOR CITES NEED FOR SKILLED WORKERS

Mississippi must have technically-trained workers for industry or the state will lose out in competition with other Southern states, according to Governor Ross Barnett. The governor said many industrial prospects have told him they would come to Mississippi if the state had an organized program for the training of skilled manpower.

Gov. Barnett said, "What we need is an improved program of vocational technical education in our secondary schools and colleges. We must train young Mississippians for technical jobs."

* * * *

MISSISSIPPIANS' INCOME UP

Mississippi ranked sixth in the nation and second in the South in the rate of increase in total annual income in 1961, according to a statement released by the Secretary of State's office. This report is further supported by the State Tax Commission's announcement that state income taxes for the first four months of 1962 are some $750,000 ahead of the same period in 1961.

* * * *

CONTRACT LET FOR LOUISVILLE EXPANSION

A contract has been let for a $350,000 expansion program at Taylor Machine Works in Louisville. Two new build-

JOHN SQUIRES, left, of Jackson is congratulated upon being chosen president of the Forest Farmers Association by outgoing president Herman Baggenstoss, right, as Mississippi's Queen of the Forest Gwen Cooper watches. Squires, chief forester with Sears Roebuck and Company was elected at the recent Southern Forestry Conference in Memphis.

Miss Cooper joined with Squires in reminding people that Mississippi now has the timber resources to support additional forest industries and many favorable conditions for industrial development. Squires has been active in promoting forest development in Mississippi and is chairman of Governor Barnett's Forestry Advisory Committee.

Farming Today . . . .

CROSS-PLOWED COTTON

Cotton drilled for cross-plowing may be treated with a post-herbicide before first cultivation. This practice will eliminate a lot of hand hoeing later.

* * * *

SPACE CROSS-PLOWED COTTON . . . .

Cross-plow drilled cotton on 40 inches centers leaving ten inches of drill for hills. Leave eight to 15 plants per hill for best yields.

* * * *

SPACING COTTON ON HILL FIELDS

On hill land where moisture is limited leave one to three plants per hill, nine to 12 inches apart in the drill.

On bottom land in hill areas leave three to five plants per hill, 14 to 22 inches apart in the drill.

* * * *

SPACING COTTON IN DELTA AREA

On good cotton land leave two to five plants per hill, results are obtained from placing liquid mixed and nitrogens in the soil. Research shows more nitrogen is needed for crop production on dry years.

Sidedressing with nitrogen fertilizers applies to cotton, corn and sorghums. Topdressing permanent pastures, Coastal Bermuda and Johnson grass meadows pay big profits.

MAY'S GARDEN WORK

Plant growth is at its maximum this month. All plant life is active. Even the sluggish species that are slow to start are wide awake and growing like mad this month. Weeds and insects are active also. Of all the months of the year, this is one when the gardener must be up doing; and nature is doing her best to help.

1961 Death Toll Smaller Despite More Traveling

Jackson, Miss. — (Special) —Two hundred fewer Americans were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1961 than in the previous year, despite an increase in total miles traveled according to William J. Dalrymple, Vicksburg Ford dealer who is chairman of the Automotive Safety Committee of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Assoication.

"We automobile dealers attribute this progress to the increase of driver education and training in our schools and the work of numerous civic clubs and organizations," he said.

Dalrymple remarked that members of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association are pledged to a safety program with the objective of saving lives on the highway. He reported that 79 Mississippi dealers last year joined

Laws Given By State Game And Fish Commission

A new law passed recently permits quail raised in pens to be sold commercially by licensed breeders.

The breeder's license may be obtained from the state Game and Fish Commisison for $25.00 and is valid for one year. The breeder must exhibit the license at all times at the place where the quail are bred. He is required to keep permanent records of all sales.

Pen-raised quail are defined by the law as those hatched from eggs laid by quail confined in pens, and wholly raised there by a licensed breeder.

Quail carcasses offered for sale must bear tags issued by the Game and Fish Commission. These tags cannot be copied or re-used. Quail brough in from out-of-state must bear Mississippi tags before they can be offered for sale in Mississippi.

The law also provides for special invoices, storage and transportation of quail.

Violators of any provisions of this law may be fined from $100.00 to $500.00, or face imprisonment, or both. A licensee convicted of violating provisions of this act will have his license revoked immediately.

Wildlife Protection

A law protecting wildlife states that hunting, killing or catching alligators is illegal in Mississippi, and requires persons selling frogs and turtles for novelty purposes to have a resident hunting and fishing license, or a special permit.

The law, which went into effect on March 28, 1962, states that it is unlawful for any person to hunt, kill, or catch turtles and frogs for commercial use without the special permit. The permit is issued by the Game and Fish Commission for $200.00 Persons who have been convicted of violating game and fish regulations are ineligible for the permit.

Violators of this law are liable to a fine of from $25.00 to $200.00.

Jack A. Warren, Jr., public relations director of the Game and Fish Commission, says he "will try to keep the

Capitol News

By HEBER LADNER

ON THE FARM . . . .

The people who live on farms are at their busiest peak right now. This is attested by the bee hive activity that is evident in the small town seed, feed and fertilizer stores equipment yards and shops, petroleum stations, and on the highways of the state where trucks race to keep tune with the hum of tractor motors in nearby fields. Make hay while the sun shines never had more meaning than at the planting season.

* * * *

STATE RANKS FIFTH IN BROILER PRODUCTION

Some 139,373,000 broiler chicks were placed in Mississippi last year, an increase of 17 million over 1960's volume, giving Mississippi the rank of America's fifth largest producer. Mississippi produced about seven per cent of the national total in 1961. The state is especially fortunate in having an ideal climate for broiler production and in the proximity to key markets. Scientific techniques and improved management are increasingly effective in the production.

* * * *

CASH FROM GOOD PASTURES . . . . .

All agricultural research and farm experience attest to the basic place of permanent pastures in the profitable production of livestock. There are valid reasons why fast growing pastures composed of both grasses and clovers contribute so largely to the economical production of meat and milk. Such pasturage contains all of the elements needed by animals to produce growth and milk. Tender grasses and clovers are rich in protein, packed with essential vitamins, and are rich in needed minerals. Springtime reveals the high value of pastures as the warm days and rising temperatures bring a burst of quick growth and tender herbage on pasturelands.

Johnson grass and nut grass. However, oiling does have a tendency to retard the growth of these grasses.

Be sure that you are spraying no higher than one inch up on cotton stem. If the wind is blowing too much and causing the oil to get on the leaves of the cotton you had better stop oiling until the wind dies down. Or you may use a larger tip and lower your pressure if the wind is not too high and get by O. K.

* * * * *

Thrip Control —

Let me urge that you control thrip on your young seedling cotton as soon as possible after you have a stand of cotton. Thrip can delay the maturity of your cotton for 10-14 days. Thrip can be controlled successfully at about 20-40 cents per acre for the cost of the insecticide depending on the insecticide you use.

the plants.

* * * * *

Grazing Clover —

Crimson clover, white Dutch clover and wild winter peas should be grazed heavy during the rest of the grazing period as these clovers will begin to die out as the weather becomes hotter. So be sure and get as much grazing from them as possible.

* * * * *

Vaccination —

Just a reminder to be sure and vaccinate all your calves for black leg and malignant edema. Grown cows that have not been vaccinated this year should be vaccinated for malignant edema.

In areas where anthrax has been known to have occured vaccinate all cattle, horses and mules for anthrax. It is better to prevent a disease than try to cure one after it occurs.

Home Agent's Notes

By MARY HARPOLE

28 DOZEN EGGS! The hens of the United States laid enough eggs last year for each man, woman and child to have almost 28 dozen. Just think of the scrambled eggs, omelets, sunnyside-ups all these eggs will make. And good eating, too!

* * * *

MILDEW ON LEATHER GOODS. To remove mildew from leather shoes, glover and purses, wipe the articles with a cloth moistened in a solution of 1 cup denatured or rubbing alcohol and 1 cup water. Dry in an airy place.

* * * * *

WOODWORK IN THE KITCHEN. Plan carefully the finish and color for the woodwork in your kitchen. First, you will want it smooth and easy to clean. A light color is most desirable. You will find an enameled finish or light varnished finish satisfactory.

Choose a light color that repeats or blends with the color of walls or furnishings. The small kitchen looks larger when woodwork and cabinets are the same color as the walls or when they are a bit lighter or darker than the walls. You can use sharper contrasts in color when your room is very large and when openings are well located.

* * * *

SELECTING FRESH VEGETABLES AND FRUITS — To get highest quality of fruits and vegetables that fit your family needs:

1. Make your own selection.
2. Don't buy just because the price is low.
3. Consider fruits and vegetables in season in nearby areas.
4. Don't buy more than you can store without waste.
5. Don't buy fruits and vegetables that show excessive ripeness, limpness, sprouting or other deterioration.
6. Remember the largest is not always the best.
7. Distinguish between defects in looks and those that affect eating quality.
8. Watch for full measure. Some containers may be packed or replaced with loose or "slack pack", which reduces the actual amount. Examine containers that appear to be "faced" with the best specimens. The face layer may conceeal ordinary or poor quality.
9. Consider buying fruits and vegetables designated by the U.S.D.A. as plentiful foods.
10. Do not handle produce unnecessarily.

GRAVES LIVESTOCK COMPANY

Winona, Mississippi

★ Highest Prices

★ Lowest Commission Rates

★ Fast Efficient Service

★ Capable Personnel

★ More Money To Take Home.

In Business Since 1936

We Want Your Business, If We Are Not Getting It.

Livestock Auction Every Tuesday

Office Phone 434 Res. Phones 448 & 872

Billy Graves

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS SALES

Now anyone can buy Direct from U. S. Government Surplus Depots by mail for your self or for resale. Cameras, binoculars, cars, jeeps, trucks boats, hardware, office machines, and equipment, items, tools and tens-of thousands of other items at a fraction of their original cost. Many items brand new. For list of hundreds of U. S. Government Surplus Depots, located in every state and overseas with pamphlet "How Government Can Ship Direct To You," plus procedures. How To Buy and how to get Free Surplus. Mail $2.00 to Surplus Sales Information Services, P. O. Box No. 1818, Washington 5, D. C.

would come to Mississippi if the state had an organized program for the training of skilled manpower.

Gov. Barnett said, "What we need is an improved program of vocational technical education in our secondary schools and colleges. We must train young Mississippians for technical jobs."

* * * *

MISSISSIPPIANS' INCOME UP

Mississippi ranked sixth in the nation and second in the South in the rate of increase in total annual income in 1961, according to a statement released by the Secretary of State's office. This report is further supported by the State Tax Commission's announcement that state income taxes for the first four months of 1962 are some $750 000 ahead of the same period in 1961.

* * * *

CONTRACT LET FOR LOUISVILLE EXPANSION

A contract has been let for a $350,000 expansion program at Taylor Machine Works in Louisville. Two new buildings will be constructed for the company and should be completed within five months. Taylor Machine Works manufactures logging and other equipment.

* * * *

NEW INDUSTRY OPENS AT SENATOBIA

Governor Ross Barnett presided at the official opening of Senatobia's new $1.5 million Chromcraft, Inc. plant. The plant will manufacture metal furniture and will employ 400. The 240,000-square-foot plant was financed by a BAWI bond issue which passed 2,193 to 39. Payroll at the plant is expected to be close to $1,000,000.00 a year.

* * * *

VICKSBURG TO GET WOODWORKING PLANT

The Vicksburg Chamber of Commerce has announced that Donnell Builders will locate a woodworking plant in its Industrial Park. Construction will start immediately on the plant, according to the announcement, and the firm will produce doors, windows, kitchen cabinets and other millwork items. Initial employment will be approximately 20.

* * * *

ABERDEEN PLANT NEARING COMPLETION

Carondelet Manufacturing Company's Aberdeen plant is nearing completion and machinery will be moved in this month. Church furniture will be manufactured in the 30,000 square-foot structure when completed.

* * * *

MOELLER ADDS NEW DIVISION . . . .

Moeller Manufacturing Company, Greenville, has purchased the Ken-Flo Division of Walker, Minnesota, in order to expand its marine life, according to R. L. Peterson, Moeller executive vice president. Negotiations with the parent company, Flo-Tronics, Inc., Minneapolis, were completed in April. The purchase will expand the manufacturing company's marine line with eight plastic accessories. "We plan to go into other plastic items," Peterson said. The new products to be manufactured by the Greenville concern, which presently manufactures stoppers and closures for home and industry, include a directional ventilator for boats, a tiller groment, a transom drain tube and related items. Moeller moved to Greenville from Racine, Wisconsin, in 1960.

Farming Today . . . .

CROSS-PLOWED COTTON

Cotton drilled for cross-plowing may be treated with a post-herbicide before first cultivation. This practice will eliminate a lot of hand hoeing later.

* * * *

SPACE CROSS-PLOWED COTTON . . . .

Cross-plow drilled cotton on 40 inches centers leaving ten inches of drill for hills. Leave eight to 15 plants per hill for best yields.

* * * *

SPACING COTTON ON HILL FIELDS

On hill land where moisture is limited leave one to three plants per hill, nine to 12 inches apart in the drill.

On bottom land in hill areas leave three to five plants per hill, 14 to 22 inches apart in the drill.

* * * *

SPACING COTTON IN DELTA AREA

On good cotton land leave two to five plants per hill, 14 to 22 inches apart in the drill.

On heavy clay soils leave two to three stalks per hill, 12 to 14 inches apart in the drill.

* * * *

FIRST CULTIVATION OF COTTON . . . .

Do not disturb level, wide seedbed with disk-hillers or sweeps before using post-herbicides. Too many farmers get in a hurry to cultivate and ruin drill surface for later effective use of oiling or flaming.

* * * *

NITROGEN FOR SIDEDRESSING . . . .

Long range weather forecast indicates a dry summer so sidedress early. As soon as your stand of cotton is assured sidedress with solid or liquid nitrogen fertilizer.

Apply in a band six to eight inches from drill. Place fertilizer applicator knife away from pre-emergence band. If liquid nitrogen is used, place hose and nozzle behind sweep next to drill. Run this sweep deeper than regular cultivation. Best results are obtained from placing liquid mixed and nitrogens in the soil. Research shows more nitrogen is needed for crop production on dry years.

Sidedressing with nitrogen fertilizers applies to cotton, corn and sorghums. Topdressing permanent pastures, Coastal Bermuda and Johnson grass meadows pay big profits.

MAY'S GARDEN WORK

Plant growth is at its maximum this month. All plant life is active. Even the sluggish species that are slow to start are wide awake and growing like mad this month. Weeds and insects are active also. Of all the months of the year, this is one when the gardener must be up doing; and nature is doing her best to help.

1961 Death Toll Smaller Despite More Traveling

Jackson, Miss. — (Special) —Two hundred fewer Americans were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1961 than in the previous year, despite an increase in total miles traveled according to William J. Dalrymple, Vicksburg Ford dealer who is chairman of the Automotive Safety Committee of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Assoication.

"We automobile dealers attribute this progress to the increase of driver education and training in our schools and the work of numerous civic clubs and organizations," he said.

Dalrymple remarked that members of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association are pledged to a safety program with the objective of saving lives on the highway. He reported that 79 Mississippi dealers last year loaned automobiles to various schools in order to encourage driver training and education.

see convicted of violating provisions of this act will have his license revoked immediately.

Wildlife Protection

A law protecting wildlife states that hunting, killing or catching alligators is illegal in Mississippi, and requires persons selling frogs and turtles for novelty purposes to have a resident hunting and fishing license, or a special permit.

The law, which went into effect on March 28, 1962, states that it is unlawful for any person to hunt, kill, or catch turtles and frogs for commercial use without the special permit. The permit is issued by the Game and Fish Commission for $200.00 Persons who have been convicted of violating game and fish regulations are ineligible for the permit.

Violators of this law are liable to a fine of from $25.00 to $200.00.

Jack A. Warren, Jr., public relations director of the Game and Fish Commission, says he "will try to keep the public informed of any new developments in game and fish information in Mississippi."

the production.

* * * *

CASH FROM GOOD PASTURES . . . .

All agricultural research and farm experience attest to the basic place of permanent pastures in the profitable production of livestock. There are valid reasons why fast growing pastures composed of both grasses and clovers contribute so largely to the economical production of meat and milk. Such pasturage contains all of the elements needed by animals to produce growth and milk. Tender grasses and clovers are rich in protein, packed with essential vitamins, and are rich in needed minerals. Springtime reveals the high value of pastures as the warm days and rising temperatures bring a burst of quick growth and tender herbage on pasturelands.

DOWPON kills Johnson grass . . . roots and all

Why settle for more expensive, less effective results on Johnson grass in cotton and other high-value land when control is cheaper and more effective with Dowpon® grass killer?

The minute Dowpon is sprayed on the leaves, it starts being absorbed into every fiber of the grass, including roots and rhizomes. And Johnson grass—so tough to control by other methods—yields to the "tops-to-roots" killing power of Dowpon.

A program of two to four applications of Dowpon this season will control Johnson grass at low cost. Actually, the first application, when grass is about 12" high, brings amazing control—from 50% to 90% of top growth depending upon thoroughness of application. Then, since resprouting and regrowth problems are reduced, follow-up treatments (spaced about 4 weeks apart) require less time, less Dowpon. You save dollars. And it costs less than ineffective and time consuming treating and retreating necessary with oiling or chopping.

In high-value cotton land . . . in drainage ditches . . . and in other farm areas, you'll find that Dowpon really controls Johnson and other problem grasses—roots and all! Put it to work on your farm. See your Dow farm supplier for all the facts on Dowpon.

PRODUCT ADVERTISED HEREIN COMPLIES WITH U.S. LAW
When used as directed on label and in accordance with good practices, complies with Food and Drug Law and other Federal Laws.

THE DOW CHEMICAL COMPANY DOW Midland, Michigan

BPW Officers Installed Thursday

Lucille Truitt Will Serve As New President

Mrs. Lucille Truitt was installed as new president of the Durant Business and Professional Women's Club Thurs hee plans to attend Louisiana monies held at Hotel Coffee day night at installation cere- Mrs. Erma White.

Other officers who were installed at this time and who will serve along with Mrs. Truitt are Mrs. Margie McNeer, first vice president; Mrs. Mable Ellis, second vice president; Mrs. Sara Nell Martin, third vice president; Mrs. Mildred Kinnebrew, recording secretary; Mrs. Jessie C. Lewis, treasurer; and Mrs. Jamatha Dickerson, corresponding secretary.

The key installation service was given, after which club members pledged their cooperation during the coming year.

Mrs. Lovie Glenn gave a most interesting talk on the club emblem.

Outgoing President Rachel Winters, gave the president's address and presented the gavel to the in-coming president, Mrs. Truitt, who will fill the office for her second term, since being a member.

Preceding the installation service a delicious meal was enjoyed. Lovely arrangements of spring flowers, placed at appropriate intervals decorated the tables.

Mrs. Truitt has called a special meeting of the executive committee to be held on Monday night at 7:30 in the dining room of Tommie's Cafe at which time plans and programs for the new year will be discussed.

All members of this committee are urged to atttnd this important meeting.

MRS. LUCILLE TRUITT, seated, left front row, is the new president of the Durant Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Truitt, who has previously served the Durant Club as president, and the other new officers for 1962-63 pictured above, were installed Thursday evening by Mrs. Erma White, standing left.

Others pictured are front row, Mrs. Margie McNeer, first vice president; Mrs. Mable Ellis, second vice president; Mrs. Sara Nell Martin, third vice president; Mrs. Mildred Kinnebrew, recording secretary; Mrs. Jessie C. Lewis, treasurer; and Mrs. Jamatha Dickerson, corresponding secretary.

Peppermint Twist Party Held

Members of the Durant senior class were honored with a party on Tuesday night at the Holmes County Park.

Hostesses were parents of Larry Ramage, Stumpy McDaniel, Jan Derrick McBride and Royce Ann Smith.

The hall was decorated to imitate the Peppermint Lounge in colors of red and white and separated from the dining area with red and white streamers.

Twenty six seniors and invited guests enjoyed dancing to recorded music, and a variety of games were played.

The table centerpiece was a giant cake iced in white and green, the school colors

Durant News

Society Clubs Personals

Durant Girl Is Prospective Author

If family connections are an indication, two Mississippi

Mrs. Gulledge Hosts Durant Gamma Club

Mrs. Joel Gulledge was hostess to the Durant Gamma

Mrs. Parkinson Night Circle Hostess

Mrs. Boyette Parkinson, Jr. was hostess to the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Fellowship House on Monday night at 7:30.

Mrs. J. B. Snyder president, presided over a brief business session with no new business.

Mrs. Joel Gulledge continued the study from the study book "The meaning of suffering."

Contributions were made to the Best Fund, which applies on traveling expenses of workers for home mission, a state-wide movement.

The meeting was adjourned with the Mizpah and the hostess served salted nuts, potato chips, strawberry shortcake and Coca-Colas to those at-

Behind the Scenes In American Business

by Reynolas Knight

New York — For the past ten years educational television has been supported primarily by funds from private foundations, corporations and state and local grants to schools. This period has seen the formation of 62 educational TV stations.

Within the past week however, the situation has changed significantly. Several items of legislation have opened the way for the growth of educational TV. One bill provides $32 million in Federal funds for the establishment of additional stations; another, considered in the House, would increase the number of television channels from 12 to 82, the new additions being on ultra-high-frequency channels.

Proponents of educational TV are optimistic that the new legislation will double the number of education stations within a few years, and some predict as many as 1000 stations within a decade. One problem still remains: the lack of quality programming on the TV stations has repelled many potential viewers.

* * * *

DISCOUNTING DEBUT — The burgeoning discount business is in for stiff competition from the latest entry in the low-margin field, Woolco Department Stores, which opens its first unit in Columbus, Ohio on June 6.

Woolco, a division of the F. W. Woolworth Company, comes on the scene with an array of the latest discounting techniques. The Columbus store will be a modern, one-story, 100,000-square-foot department store featuring self-service and mass-display merchandising. It will be a complete department store with merchandise ranging from wearing apparel to furniture. An automotive supply center and a garden supply center will also be featured.

Located in Columbus' Great Southern Shopping Center, the store will be the first of seven to be opened this year, according to Lester F. Davis, Woolco general manager. Additional units are planned at another site in Columbus and in Richmond, Virginia in the da, Davis added.

This entry into the low-margin field by the biggest of the variety store chains is being watched with great interest by those in and out of retailing, because it may give strong clues to the direction low-margin retailing will take in the future.

* * * *

CAMPUS FOREIGN TRADE — A new kind of on-campus "foreign exchange" spreading across the country may have important effects on our future relations with other nations, according to educators and businessmen who have seen it in action.

The People-to-People University program, a movement to build understanding and friendship between American students and visiting foreign students, is now operating on more than 400 American university and college campuses. It was started a year ago at the University of Kansas and flowed over into neighboring Big Eight Conference universities last fall.

It is completely student-originated and operated. It has six basic aims: 1. closer and more frequent contact between American students and visiting foreign students; 2. job placement for visiting students; 3. hospitality by the communities in which the campuses are located; 4. forums for discussion between American and visiting students; 5. student ambassador exchange tours of American students and foreign students; and 6. communications to acquaint students with the program and its aims.

The University program is part of the national People-to-People program headed by General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

* * * *

THINGS TO COME — A completely furnished four-compartment cabana unit is being promoted by an Arkansas firm. Each compartment in the all-aluminum unit has electric air conditioning, sound proofing, insulation, shower/toilet combination and walnut paneling in addition to furniture, the maker says — A safety device for swimming pools that protects swimmers from shocks or electrocution caused by faulty wiring has been developed — A California firm is marketing a compact car desk with a 12x13 inch writing area and full size claims — totally automated food "store" has been introduced; the coin-operated "store" sells up to 36 different dry or refrigerated items, can be totally unattended and operates around the clock.

* * * *

'NO SHOW' PAYS DOUGH — The nation's 11 major trunk airlines, which have been beset by rising costs and static pasenger levels, have acted to eliminate one money losing situation: the no show. Last week a regulation was passed which permits the carriers to charge a penalty of from $5.00 to $40.00 to holders of reservations who fail to make a flight and do not cancel their reservations. At the same time, airlines who overbook a flight must also pay a similar fine to those left behind. The new rules apply only to domestic flights.

* * * *

BITS O' BUSINESS — Average first quarter earnings of the major industries declined slightly from 1961 year-end levels, but were substantially higher than earnings of a year ago, a recent business report indicated — Government officials predict a record milk flow of 127.5 billion pounds during the current year — Heavy construction contracts for the first four months this year totaled $7.1 billion, a six per cent increase over last year; housing starts continue sluggish, however.

Worship together this Sunday!

Eight Mississippi College Alumni Listed In Who's Who

CLINTON, Miss. — Eight Mississippi College alumni have been listed for the first time in Who's Who in America, famous publication giving biographies of America's most outstandng personages.

Mississippi College graduates included in Volume 32 just off the press were Dr. Bowen C. Dees, Dr. Thomas D. Fontaine, Mr. Malcoim D. Gilchrist, Dr. John F. Latimer Dr. Dotson M. Nelson, Jr., Mrs. Preston S. Stevens, Dr. Charles M. Tolbert, and Dr. Wilfred C. Tyler.

B. C. Rogers another Mississippi College alumnus, was cited in a special section of the volume for his philanthropy in supporting higher education. A member of the college Board of Trustees, Judge Earl T. Thomas, was also among those included in the new edition.

A check by Arthur Nealy, educational director for the publishers of the volume, indicated that Mississippi College ranked fourth among Southern Baptist colleges and universities in the number of new names added to Who's Who. Topping Mississippi College were Baylor University, the University of Richmond, and Furman University.

Within the state, the Clinton college is preceded in the number of names in the new volume only by the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University.

NOTICE!

Dr. R. I. Lopez

Registered Optometrist

Will Be In Durant Every Thursday!

The Office Is Located At

116 West Depot St. (Dr. Hyde's Old Office)

Eyes Examined Lenses Duplicated

Glasses Fitted

Office Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

dent, Mrs. Truitt, who will fill the office for her second term, since being a member.

Preceding the installation service a delicious meal was enjoyed. Lovely arrangements of spring flowers, placed at appropriate intervals deco-

1962-63 pictured above, were installed Thursday evening by Mrs. Erma White, standing left.

Others pictured are front row, Mrs. Margie McNeer, first vice president; Mrs. Mable Ellis, second vice president; Mrs. Sara Nell Martin, third vice president; Mrs. Mildred Kinnebrew, recording secretary; Mrs. Jessie C. Lewis, treasurer; and Mrs. Jamatha Dickerson, corresponding secretary.

Peppermint Twist Party Held

Members of the Durant senior class were honored with a party on Tuesday night at the Holmes County Park.

Hostesses were parents of Larry Ramage, Stumpy McDaniel, Jan Derrick McBride and Royce Ann Smith.

The hall was decorated to imitate the Peppermint Lounge in colors of red and white and separated from the dining area with red and white streamers.

Twenty six seniors and invited guests enjoyed dancing to recorded music, and a variety of games were played.

The table centerpiece was a giant cake iced in white and green, the school colors and bearing the inscription of Seniors Of 1962.

The hostesses served barbecued chicken, baked beans, potato salad, hot rolls, pepper mints, pickles, olives and Coca-Colas. Dessert was sliced cake.

Mrs. Fay Owen, class sponsor attended the festivities.

Treasure Hunt For SS Class

Mrs. J. R. Brown's Sunday school class of young people of the Methodist Church enjoyed a treasure hunt on Friday night, April 27th.

Becky Derrick was in charge of the games. At the conclusion of the hunt refreshments were served at the Fellowship House.

From MSU

Jerry Parkinson, honor student and senior of Mississippi State University was at home on the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Parkinson.

From Hazlehurst

Mrs. Hebron Bouchillon of Hazlehurst was a guest on Thursday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kellum.

Durant News

Society Clubs Personals

Durant Girl Is Prospective Author

If family connections are an indication, two Mississippi State College for Women students are prospective authors.

Miss Kay Derrick, sophomore from Durant is the grand niece of Dr. Blanche Colton Williams whose manuscript was presented to the MSCW library in April of this year.

The other student is Miss Madeleine Bell, freshman of Greenville, who is the granddaughter of Harris Dickson. The library holds numerous Dickson books.

Kay is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Derrick of Durant.

To Tchula

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kinnebrew accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. T. Holder of Lexington, were Sunday afternoon callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson on Horseshoe Plantation at Tchula.

In Hospital

Mrs. W. A. Henley, a patient in St. Dominic Hospital in Jackson has been allowed to sit up a few hours each day, is taking regular meals and her friends hope she will be back home very soon.

Mrs. Gulledge Hosts Durant Gamma Club

Mrs. Joel Gulledge was hostess to the Durant Gamma Literary Club on Thursday, April 26th at 3 p. m. in the dining room at Tommie's Cafe.

Attractive arrangements of spring flowers were used in table decorations.

Mrs. C. H. Blanton, Jr., president, presided over the business session, Mrs. E. C. Howard read the minutes of last meeting which were approved as read.

Mrs. W. C. Landrum gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Gulledge was elected delegate to attend the state convention in Biloxi on May 2-3-4 at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Joe A. Johnson, program leader, presented the Rev. Brian Van der Spuy, who gave an inspiring devotional. Then Mrs. Johnson turned the meeting over to the guest speaker, Mr. H. J. Massey, of the vocation division of re-habilitation.

Mr. Massey's subject was "Gerentology", and his talk on aging in Mississippi was most informative, enjoyed by club members and guests including Mrs. Leslie Dorsett, Mrs R. C. Elmore, Mrs. Bessie Griffin, Mrs. Lily Williams Mrs. Henry McKenzie, Mrs.

Mrs. Parkinson Night Circle Hostess

Mrs. Boyette Parkinson, Jr. was hostess to the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Fellowship House on Monday night at 7:30.

Mrs. J. B. Snyder president, presided over a brief business session with no new business.

Mrs. Joel Gulledge continued the study from the study book "The meaning of suffering."

Contributions were made to the Best Fund, which applies on traveling expenses of workers for home mission, a state-wide movement.

The meeting was adjourned with the Mizpah and the hostess served salted nuts, potato chips, strawberry shortcake and Coca-Colas to those attending.

Miss McGehee Presents Recital

Miss Margaret McGehee, Belhaven College piano major, will present her graduating recital on May 8 at 8:15 p. m. in Belhaven's Cunningham chapel.

Miss McGehee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGehee of Durant, is the pupil of Mrs. J. L. Roberts, associate professor of piano at Belhaven.

She is an officer of Epsilon Gamma chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music sorority. Miss McGehee plans to attend Louisian State University next year for work toward her masters degree in piano.

Her recital program will include: "Toccata in G major", Bach: "Variations on a Theme by Handel," Brahms: "Sonata, op. 81A ('Les Adieux')", Beethoven: "Etude, op. 25, No. 11." Cropin; "Scherzo in C major," Chopin; "La Vallee des Cloches." Ravel; "Jardins suos la Pluie", Debussy; "Toccata,' Poulenc; "Funerailles," Liszt.

Miss Howard Elected To Theater Guild

Shirley Howard, sophomore at Miss. State College for Women has qualified for Theatre Guild.

Students at MSCW who earn a minimum of ten points through participation in dramatics, backstage work, oral interpretation and radio, qualify or council uembership.

Shirley worked with the production staff, serving on the scenery and prop committee for the college's major spring production, "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward which was presented by the speech department in Whitfield Auditorium on Tuesday, April 17th at 8:15.

Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard of Durant.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday!

Paul Odom Mrs. Albert Tatum, Mrs. Jessie Lewis, Mrs. Edward Steen, Mrs. Walter Durham, Jr. and Mrs. C. G. VanKeuren.

Heavenly hash was served with Danish cookies and tea.

on the TV stations has repelled many potential viewers.

* * * *

DISCOUNTING DEBUT — The burgeoning discount business is in for stiff competition from the latest entry in the low-margin field, Woolco Department Stores, which opens its first unit in Columbus, Ohio on June 6.

Woolco, a division of the F. W. Woolworth Company, comes on the scene with an array of the latest discounting techniques. The Columbus store will be a modern, one-story, 100,000-square-foot department store featuring self-service and mass-display merchandising. It will be a complete department store with merchandise ranging from wearing apparel to furniture. An automotive supply center and a garden supply center will also be featured.

Located in Columbus' Great Southern Shopping Center, the store will be the first of seven to be opened this year, according to Lester F. Davis, Woolco general manager. Additional units are planned at another site in Columbus and in Richmond, Virginia in the United States and in Sudbury, Brantford, Hamilton and Windsor, Ontario, Cana-students; 3. hospitality by the communities in which the campuses are located; 4. forums for discussion between American and visiting students; 5. student ambassador exchange tours of American students and foreign students; and 6. communications to acquaint students with the program and its aims.

The University program is part of the national People-to-People program headed by General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

* * * *

THINGS TO COME — A completely furnished four-compartment cabana unit is being promoted by an Arkansas firm. Each compartment in the all-aluminum unit has electric air conditioning, sound proofing, insulation, shower/toilet combination and walnut paneling in addition to furniture, the maker says — A safety device for swimming pools that protects swimmers from shocks or electrocution caused by faulty wiring has been developed — A California firm is marketing a compact car desk with a 12x13 inch writing area and full size correspondence file built in; adjustable legs insure secure positioning, the company billion pounds during the current year — Heavy construction contracts for the first four months this year totaled $7.1 billion, a six per cent increase over last year; housing starts continue sluggish, however.

Worship together this Sunday!

universities in the number of new names added to Who's Who. Topping Mississippi College were Baylor University, the University of Richmond, and Furman University.

Within the state, the Clinton college is preceded in the number of names in the new volume only by the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University.

NOTICE!

Dr. R. I. Lopez

Registered Optometrist

Will Be In Durant Every Thursday!

The Office Is Located At

116 West Depot St. (Dr. Hyde's Old Office)

Eyes Examined Lenses Duplicated

Glasses Fitted

Office Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Phone Durant 596

Which Whitten

Do YOU Believe????

1956—Jamie Whitten said: "To vote Democratic would strengthen the position of Mississippi Congressmen." He opposed the unpledged electors.

1960—Only a few days before election and after months of straddling the fence, Jamie Whitten sent a letter to Governor Ross Barnett stating that the unpledged electors was "in the public interest" and would "prove beneficial." Whitten's lukewarm statement did not say how Whitten would vote on election day.

Why this change in positions in only four short years? The national situation in 1960 was no different than it had been in 1956. The switch in positions certainly did not strengthen the position of the South. If Whitten believed that this were so, surely he would have said so in 1956 and not wait four years to make up his mind.

The switch certainly DID strengthen the Whitten position with Ross Barnett.

Vote For FRANK E. SMITH

for U. S. Representative on JUNE 5

Submitted to and approved by J. D. Lundy

Miss Elaine McDonald, MP&L Home Service Director, says:

"Build the future into your kitchen Electrically!"

There's never any "pot watching" with flameless cooking . . . just set the dials . . . and enjoy the cleanest, coolest cooking possible!

The "Reddy" helpers in your compact "appliance center" do so much to make your life easier and more pleasant every day.

Your electric water heater is so safe it can be tucked away in a closet. It needs no vents or flues.

Dishes, silver, pots and pans come out of your flameless dishwasher germ-free and completely dry!

Why wait for tomorrow? Conveniences classified as "dream kitchen" ideas a short time ago are now included as standard features in Gold Medallion homes. There never was a better time than now to plan the building or remodeling of your kitchen so that you can live better flamelessly.

GOLD MEDALLION HOME — LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

MISSISSIPPI POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

TOTAL ELECTRIC LIVING IS FLAMELESS

MP&L's fully staffed Home Service Department offers its customers a free kitchen planning service. Before you build, buy or remodel, call your local MP&L office for full details.

"Light For Living" assures you of both functional and decorative illumination . . . with special attention to those hard-to-light spots.

West News

By MRS. MABEL BRYANT

WEST GARDEN CLUB HOLDS APRIL MEETING

Mrs. Harold Gelson and Mrs. A. R. Bicker were hostesses at the April meeting of the West Garden Club.

The President, Mrs. Pauline Johnson called the meeting to order with the reading of the Club Collect.

Mrs. Johnson appointed Mrs. R. L. Jackson, Mrs. W. L. Wright, Mrs. L. J. Hand to serve on the nominating committee.

At the close of the business session the program was turned over to Mrs. W. L. Wright who gave a most interesting program on How To Condition Flowers For A Flower Show and What It Takes To Win A Prize.

Mrs. Wright also had an oriental arrangement on display.

The meeting closed with the reading of the Gardener's Prayer.

The hostesses served fudge cake and ice cream.

FLOWER SHOW HELD APRIL 29th

The West Garden Club had its Flower Show in the Community Club Room April 29. Mrs. Parham Williams, Sr. of Lexington was guest flower arranger. Mrs. Williams delighted everyone present as she graciously created many different and beautiful arrangements.

A lovely lunch consisting of fried chicken, beans, salad, asparagus casserole, sandwiches, rolls, ice tea and pie was served at noon.

Members present were Mrs. John L. Mason, Mrs. W. L. Wrght, Mrs. L. J. Hand, Mrs. Harvey Brister, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mrs. M. S. Rogers, and Mrs. A. J. Stevens, III.

Guests present were Mrs. Parham Williams, Mrs. Clyde Cade, and Mrs. Harvey Camp bell.

Mr. Victor Dunn of Greenwood came up Thursday and Mrs. Dunn returned home with him after being a patient in the hospital at Durant for a week.

Mrs. Luther Edwards of Kosciusko spent Saturday and Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hirman Kettle over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McArthur and daughter, Dorris Anne of Gulfport, Mr. and Mrs. Bit Kyzer and children of West.

Mrs. Ben Nabers and Mrs. Bit Kyzer were visitors to Pickens Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Cade spent Sunday in Durant with Mr. and Mrs. Vardaman Ellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Black and Bonnie visited relatives in Attala County Sunday.

Mrs. A. C. Autry was a business visitor to Vaiden Tuesday.

Mr. Larkin Welch and Mr. L. B. Tucker Sr. transacted business in Vaiden Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Autry of Durant visited Mrs. J. M. Self and Douglas Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. J. R. Cross visited Mr. G. D. Thornton in the Lexington hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Campbell were dinner guests of Mr. Jimmy Hand of Durant on Thursday.

Mr. Herman Tucker of Vaiden visited his uncle, Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. Friday morning.

Mrs. John Rowlen and Mrs. James F. Tucker spent several days in Memphis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Edwards of Jackson visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Self Saturday.

Mr. Tom Brock and Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. shopped in Durant Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Tucker of Grenada and little grandson, Jimmy Smith of Jackson were dinner guests of Mrs. Mabel Bryant and Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. Sunday.

Legislative Bulletin—

(Continued from Page Two)

terstate system to 70 mph — H 235, require motor vehicle carriers of inflammable products to use lanterns and red flags or reflectors — H 381, supervisors of any county may adopt building, plumbing, electrical, gas and other codes — H 505, if runoff necessary in school trustee election, it must be held within 2 weeks after 1st election — H 548, increase height and length of trucks-trailers — H 278, provide maximum peyment for totally disabled may be exceeded by payments for medical care — H 279, change definition of assistance for needy aged — H 281, change definition of assistance for needy blind — H 592, impose privilege tax on salt mined in state — S 1712, revamp laws regarding formation of business corporations — S 1789, person voting in party primary must register one month prior to primary — H 453, deviation from rates by insurance companies by subject to approval Insurance Commission — H 631, require registration all instruments to inject drugs into livestock — H 148, require dept. public welfare report parents deserting children — H 159, to provide fire insurance rating — H 382, supervisors purchase police dogs — H 291, regulate owing persons on skis — S 1955, bonds may be issued to match federal highway funds — S 1752, special tags for Guardsmen.

HERE ARE SOME BILLS — clearing final hurdles during week (unless otherwise indicated) and await action of governor: H 481, Delta counties retain one mill state advalorem and put up ¼ mill for research program at Stoneville experiment station — H 651, junior colleges borrow to buy transportation equipment (amended) — H 68, require jurors to be property owners — 328, salaries tax assessors — H 303, compensation county attorneys — H 519, relative to transfer of students — S 1819, strip building commission right to sell state lands — S 1842, vets farm-home loan board members must be veterans — H 622, how supervisors may create economic development districts — S 1908, exclude from city sales tax sales of manufacturing machinery — S 1579, beavers

Large Crowd Attends Negro 4-H Rally

The boys and girls pictured above in their 4-H uniforms are typical of the thousands of boys and girls throughout Mississippi who are learning to live and serve through the 4-H organization. The training received in this great internatioal group helps to supplement valuable training received by the youngsters at home, in their church and in their school.

Pictured are Holmes County 4-H youngsters as they attended the annual rally day held at the Tchula Attendance Center on Saturday, April 28. About 1,500 persons viewed the parade held in downtown Tchula that morning and attended the program at the Tchula School.

quire health-accident insurance companies give premium due notices — S 1710, define authority campus police — S 2019, increase authority authority river ports issue bonds — S 2020, river ports execute assurance to borrow federal funds — S 1690, levy additional $1.00 case on liquor and 50c on wine for alcoholics fund — S 2039, rural communities may establish waterworks and sewage systems, receive federal aid — SCR 156, interim committee draft legislation separating office sheriff-tax collector if SCR 109 approved June 5 — SCR 145, Liberty amendment.

SENATE COMMITTEES REPORTED THESE BILLS — favorably, and now on calendar: S 1971, increase minimum surplus retained by domestic insurance companies S 1774, penitentiary commissioners may sell surplus crops

914, for election by municipality for urban renewal projects — House recommitted H 789, "the bone dry liquor bill."

Rites Held Sunday For Ernestine Grace

Ernestine Siggie Grace, a well known and highly respected Negro school teacher died suddenly on Tuesday, May 1st in the late afternoon at her home in Lexington.

Funeral services were held on Sunday, May 6th at Asia Baptist Church with the Rev. George Hines, Jr. officiating.

"Teen," as she was known to her family and friends had been in ill health for some time but was teaching at the Ebenezer Elementary School at the time of her daeth.

She had many years of teaching experience at Clower, Rose Hill and West Elementary schools and had been a church member since her youth.

"Teen" was the daughter of Narcissus Grace and other survivors are two brothers, Master Sergeant Andrew Grace of Gary, Indiana and Jesse Grace, Jr., Detroit; one sister, Lula Bell Grace, also of Detroit, several aunts, one niece and a host of relatives and friends.

Century Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Eulogy - Coxburg Harland's Creek

Mrs. J. A. Hearn, Reporter
Phone 649-W-1

Mrs. J. A. Hearn and Mrs. J. F. Harthcock went to Greenwood last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ama Wallis and Mrs. J. A. Hearn visited Mrs. Percy Taylor last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Cenie Stewart spent several days last week with her daughter Mrs. Wenzell Dickard.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rogers, Mrs. Lula Edwards, Mrs. Otto Wallis, Mrs. Rufus Netherland and Mrs. J. A. Hearn attended the Holmes Demonstration Attainment program in Lexington last Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. David Meek and boys spent the weekend in Mobile with her sister.

Several relatives from Memphis spent Friday night with Mrs. W. H. Cooksey.

Euell L. Dickard and family of Eupora came Saturday to see his mother, Mrs. A. R. Dickard. They and Mrs. Dickard along with Mr. and Mrs. Wenzell Dickard went to see Mr. A. R. Dickard at the V. A. Hospital in Jackson while here.

Mrs. Carl Rodgers and Mrs. William Cooksey were hostesses for a surprise housewarming party for Mrs. Peggy Edwards Saturday night in Mrs. Edwards' new home. Several amusing games were enjoyed by the guests, then refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles potato chips, nuts, mints with Coca-Colas were served. Everyone was amused by Mrs. Edward's delight with each gift she opened. About thirty guests were present for the occasion.

Miss Hal Ja Chung and Miss Ok Kang Yang spent the weekend with Miss Glenda Rogers. Miss Chung and Miss Yang are from Seoul, Korea and presently are students at Delta State College.

Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Gardner and children of Macon spent the weekend with the H. T. Abernathy's.

Mrs. F. C. McIntosh moved from the Eakin place to Lexington last Friday.

The pastor of Harland's Creek Church was ill and could not be present for services on Sunday. Rev. Wilbur Irwin of Jackson supplied for him. Rev. Irwin was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mabry Ables for the day.

Those present for the morning worship services at Harland's Creek Sunday enjoyed the song by Misses Chung and Yang, guests of Miss Glenda Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Adams visited Mr. W. O. Harthcock at the hospital in Yazoo City last Sunday. Mr. Harthcock is still very ill following a recent heart attack.

Mrs. Ama Wallis, Mrs. J. A. Hearn and Billy Wigley were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Cenie Stewart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bilbo Marshal and Allan visited with Mrs. Cenie Stewart Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Oscar Nance and Mrs. Joe Gilmore visited at Sanatorium Sunday with Mr. Nance and Michael Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pettus spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pettus.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jo Gilmore and baby were Sunday supper guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gilmore.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. McIntosh in her bereavement.

Mrs. Stanley Adams was hostess to the Coxburg Home Demonstration Club workshop on Monday. Six members and Miss Harpole were present. At the noon hour all enjoyed lunch served buffet style. Each member providing one dish for the meal. Two stools were bottomed three cushions started and one dress cut during the work period.

its Flower Show in the Community Club Room April 29. Mrs. Parham Williams, Sr. of Lexington was guest flower arranger. Mrs. Williams delighted everyone present as she graciously created many different and beautiful arrangements.

A lovely lunch consisting of fried chicken, beans, salad, asparagus casserole, sandwiches, rolls, ice tea and pie was served at noon.

Members present were Mrs. John L. Mason, Mrs. W. L. Wrght, Mrs. L. J. Hand, Mrs. Harvey Brister, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mrs. M. S. Rogers, and Mrs. A. J. Stevens, III.

Guests present were Mrs. Parham Williams, Mrs. Clyde Cade, and Mrs. Harvey Camp bell.

Mr. Victor Dunn of Greenwood came up Thursday and Mrs. Dunn returned home with him after being a patient in the hospital at Durant for a week.

Mrs. Luther Edwards of Kosciusko spent Saturday and Sunday with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Self and Rose.

Miss Lynn Tate accompanied her mother to Mississippi College Friday afternoon where she remained for a weekend visit with her sister Miss Sara Tate who is a student there.

Miss Bettie Lou Cade spent from Friday until Sunday with her aunt Mrs. Nell Snavely of Jackson.

Mrs. Katherine Welch of Parchman spent Friday in the home of her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Marion Weeks.

Mr. J. C. McCreary visited Mr. G. D. Thornton who is still a patient in the Lexington Hospital Thursday morning.

Mrs. T. D. Fultz and Mrs. William Welch were visitors to Kosciusko Friday.

Among those who attended the Holmes County National Home Demonstration Week Celebration and covered dish supper in Lexington Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brister, Mrs. C. M. Tate, Mrs. W. D. Brock, Mrs. Mable Melton and Mrs. Mary Dunning.

Miss Elizabeth Thornton of Meridian and Mrs. G. D. Thornton visited Mr. G. D. Thornton in the Lexington Hospital Saturday.

Mr. T. E. Cade of Okolona visited his mother, Mrs. Effie Cade and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bicker Friday.

Mr. John Arnold of Mississippi State was home with his mother, Mrs. Carl Arnold over the weekend.

Mrs. Allen Ramage entertained the senior class with a delicious supper at the Holmes County Park Thursday night. Her son Larry was one of the Durant seniors.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank each and everyone for the acts of kindness and sympathy shown in the death of Mr. William Ellard.

The beautiful floral offerings helped us to face our great loss.

May the Lord bestow his blessings upon you is the prayer of friends of the family.

A Friend

ton hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Campbell were dinner guests of Mr. Jimmy Hand of Durant on Thursday.

Mr. Herman Tucker of Vaiden visited his uncle, Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. Friday morning.

Mrs. John Rowlen and Mrs. James F. Tucker spent several days in Memphis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Edwards of Jackson visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Self Saturday.

Mr. Tom Brock and Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. shopped in Durant Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Tucker of Grenada and little grandson, Jimmy Smith of Jackson were dinner guests of Mrs. Mabel Bryant and Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tucker and Mr. L. B. Tucker, Sr. spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and children in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bowen attended memorial services in Grenada Sunday.

Miss Donna Bouchillon of Durant was a visitor here on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Autry spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Browning of Goodman.

Mr. and Mrs. Melton Powers and children of Jackson visited Mrs. Mattie Faye Thomas and Miss Bessie Owen Sunday.

Mr. Junior Welch of Parchman visited relatives Sunday and Mrs. Welch returned home with him after several days visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Simmons of Grenada and Holmes Junior College visited Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brister on their way to Fort Worth, Texas to make their home. Mrs. Simmons was Miss Sara Melton before her marriage recently to Mr. Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dodson and son, James of Durant; Mrs. Mosie Murphy of Arkabutla and her children, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Murphy of University Medical School, visited their brother and uncle, Mr. Bill Campbell recently.

Rev. Victor Shaw of New Albany and Millsaps College filled his appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday and was dinner guest of Mrs. Mabel Bryant.

Miss Doris Rigby attended the annual "class day" program held by the senior class of Durant Wednesday morning in the school auditorium. After the welcome address Miss Rigby read the class poem, "Inspiration."

Mr. Joe Cummins attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Bob Downs in Grenada Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Reeves and grandson Scott Richardson of Jackson, Mrs. Dollie Kyzer spent Monday with Mrs. Annie Mae Kettle.

Mr. R. A. Cade of Greenville was home with his family over the weekend.

H 382, supervisors purchase police dogs — H 291, regulate owing persons on skis — S 1955, bonds may be issued to match federal highway funds — S 1752, special tags for Guardsmen.

HERE ARE SOME BILLS — clearing final hurdles during week (unless otherwise indicated) and await action of governor: H 481, Delta counties retain one mill state advalorem and put up ¼ mill for research program at Stoneville experiment station — H 651, junior colleges borrow to buy transportation equipment (amended) — H 68, require jurors to be property owners — 328, salaries tax assessors — H 303, compensation county attorneys — H 519, relative to transfer of students — S 1819, strip building commission right to sell state lands — S 1842, vets farm-home loan board members must be veterans — H 622, how supervisors may create economic development districts — S 1908, exclude from city sales tax sales of manufacturing machinery — S 1579, beavers declared predatory animals — H 143, provide for organization non-profit dental service corporations — H 209, for increase tax limit school maintenance from 25 to 28 mills by election — S 1691, auto driver training in high schools financed by assessment on traffic law violation fines — H 46, reimbursements for indigent sick.

BILLS PASSING HOUSE — included: following major appropriations — H 1025, $25.5 million for homestead exemption refunds — H 1029, $2,018,275 for sanatorium — H 1030, $8,197,697 for bond-interest payments — H 1032, $966,186 for building commission — H 1033, $2.8 million for agri. extension-marketing — H 1034, $2,187,600 for agri-experiment stations — H 1045 $1,850,000 for Ellisville school — H 1047, $2,913,000 for state tax commission — H 1050, $650,,000 for vocational rehabilitation — H 1054, $3,700,000 for state board of health — H 1041, $485,000 for teachers retirement — H 1044, $2 million for east Miss. hospital — other bills of interest: H 1065 and 1066, cities buy city transportation lines and hire bus drivers — H 883, repeal law under which 3 coast counties retain 1¾c of state's portion of gasoline tax for seawall protection — HCR 64, amend constitution providing additional disqualification for electors — H 690, counties secure land for sanitary-garbage fills — H 822, require publication names persons seeking register to vote — H 899, insert "good moral" provision in statute on registering to vote — H 905, enforce "good moral character" requirement for voter registration — H 330, appropriator to use established minimum of a stream for industrial purposes — H 530, define legal residence of persons enrolling in junior-senior colleges — H 597, create Harrison-George-Jackson-Stone junior college district, and upgrade vocational training in attendance centers — H 702, counties pay adjoining counties for hospitalization charity cases— H 428, create new junior college commission — H 763, relative issuance gasoline revenue bonds for matching federal funds — H 534, privilege licenses for unincorporated general agents of fire and casualty companies — H 527, privilege licenses for general agents of insurance companies.

SENATE PASSED THESE BILLS — of note: S 2053, require health-accident insurance companies give premium due notices — S 1710, define authority campus police — S 2019, increase authority authority river ports issue bonds — S 2020, river ports execute assurance to borrow federal funds — S 1690, levy additional $1.00 case on liquor and 50c on wine for alcoholics fund — S 2039, rural communities may establish waterworks and sewage systems, receive federal aid — SCR 156, interim committee draft legislation separating office sheriff-tax collector if SCR 109 approved June 5 — SCR 145, Liberty amendment.

SENATE COMMITTEES REPORTED THESE BILLS — favorably, and now on calendar: S 1971, increase minimum surplus retained by domestic insurance companies S 1774, penitentiary commissioners may sell surplus crops — S 1913, for commutation sentence of convicts for good behavior — S 2084, penitentiary commissioners employ business administrator — S 2122, increase membership membership of penitentiary board to five, with overlapping terms — H 238, define method of sale or lease 16th section lands — H 561 state enter southern interstate nuclear compact — H 348, qualified electors within added municipal area not be eligible serve on county board of education — S 1984, establish planned parenthood clinics under State Board of Health — S 1992, interim legislative committee to study insurance laws — H 61, establish grounds and procedure for annulment of marriages — H 316, include right eminent domain for public utility districts — H 342, withdraw all U. S. highways from jurisdiction of constables — H 554, provide judge of county court may perform marriage rites — S 1627, highway commission regulate outdoor advertising — S 1949, uniform commercial code Unfavorably.

HOUSE COMMITTEES REPORTED FAVORABLY — these bills of note: H 884, counties and cities spend $100 for each million dollars assessed valuation for advertising and education and contribute to private agencies — S 1558, penalty for violating county zoning ordinances — H 1021, levy per ton tax on trucks —H 981, create board of physical therepy — H 781, for revocation retail beer license on affidavit of sheriff or law officer, or 25 reputable citizens — S 2059, require safety belts in 1963 cars and subsequent models — S 1784, include teaching American government in public schools.

INTRODUCTIONS OF NOTE — in House, included: H 1070, qualifications for penitentiary commissioners — H 1071, increase penitentiary commissioners to five — H 1073, define school bus and levy high way privilege tag — H 1022, special privilege-use tax on autos and trucks — In Senate: S 2119, raise $25.00 bidders license to $50 and extend to contracts let outside state and performed inside state.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ACTION — in House Friday — Passed 19 bills on general calendar, plus 11 local and private measures — Among most important bills approved were: S 1797, for obtaining permit to operate drug store (amended, goes back to Senate) — H 914, for election by municipality for urban renewal projects — House recommitted H 789, "the bone dry liquor bill."

rally day held at the Tchula Attendance Center on Saturday, April 28. About 1,500 persons viewed the parade held in downtown Tchula that morning and attended the program at the Tchula School.

Rites Held Sunday For Ernestine Grace

Ernestine Siggie Grace, a well known and highly respected Negro school teacher died suddenly on Tuesday, May 1st in the late afternoon at her home in Lexington.

Funeral services were held on Sunday, May 6th at Asia Baptist Church with the Rev. George Hines, Jr. officiating.

"Teen," as she was known to her family and friends had been in ill health for some time but was teaching at the Ebenezer Elementary School at the time of her daeth.

She had many years of teaching experience at Clower, Rose Hill and West Elementary schools and had been a church member since her youth.

"Teen" was the daughter of Narcissus Grace and other survivors are two brothers, Master Sergeant Andrew Grace of Gary, Indiana and Jesse Grace, Jr., Detroit; one sister, Lula Bell Grace, also of Detroit, several aunts, one niece and a host of relatives and friends.

Century Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Wenzell Dickard went to see Mr. A. R. Dickard at the V. A. Hospital in Jackson while here.

Mrs. Carl Rodgers and Mrs. William Cooksey were hostesses for a surprise housewarming party for Mrs. Peggy Edwards Saturday night in Mrs. Edwards' new home. Several amusing games were enjoyed by the guests, then refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles potato chips, nuts, mints with Coca-Colas were served. Everyone was amused by Mrs. Edward's delight with each gift she opened. About thirty guests were present for the occasion.

Miss Hal Ja Chung and Miss Ok Kang Yang spent the weekend with Miss Glenda Rogers. Miss Chung and Miss Yang are from Seoul, Korea and presently are students at Delta State College.

torium Sunday with Mr. Nance and Michael Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pettus spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pettus.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jo Gilmore and baby were Sunday supper guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gilmore.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. McIntosh in her bereavement.

Mrs. Stanley Adams was hostess to the Coxburg Home Demonstration Club workshop on Monday. Six members and Miss Harpole were present. At the noon hour all enjoyed lunch served buffet style. Each member providing one dish for the meal. Two stools were bottomed three cushions started and one dress cut during the work period.

"Smart! . . . with easier cooking, too!"

Famous for speed . . . and long-lasting service . . . gas ranges have so many new easy-cooking features . . . plus easy-to-keep good looks. Buy a Gold Star award-winning gas range during dealers' sales this month.

Doors lift off for easiest cleaning ever.

Thermostat top burner saves pot-watching.

clean thrifty fast blue flame

Mississippi Valley Gas Company

A Good Citizen Serving Mississippi

GREAT APPLIANCE SALE OF GOLD STAR GAS RANGES AT DEALERS NOW!

Follow the leader...

worship together this week!

Coxburg

COXBURG METHODIST
Rev. Dennis Johnston, Pastor
Sunday School at 10 a.m., R. S. Richmond, supt. Morning Worship each Second Sunday morning at 11:00. Fourth Sunday morning at 9:30 and Fouth Sunday night at 7:00.

COXBURG MP CHURCH
Morning Worship each First and Third Sundays

HARLANDS CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. Jimmy Jackson, Pastor
Sunday School, 10:00 a.m. Morning Worship, 11:00 a.m. Training Union 6:00 p. m. Evening Worship 7:00 p. m.
Mid-week prayer meeting each Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

Cruger

BAPTIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union at 6:00
The Rev. W. E. Greene, Jr., pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. Worship service is held the first and third Sunday at 11 a.m. and on the second and fourth Sunday at 7:00 p.m.
The Rev. Claude Fleming, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, F. J. Hines, Jr.

Durant

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Church School 9:45 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., also Adult and Children Fellowship Groups at 6:00
The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first, second and fourth Monday of each month. Wesleyan Service Guild on third Monday
The Rev. R. F. Wasson, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent Percy Joyce; Organist Mrs. Walter Odom.

Acona

ACONA METHODIST
Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour every third Sunday at 11 a.m. and every first Sunday at 7 p.m.
The Rev. J. E. Young, pastor, Sunday School superintendent K. F. Downer.

Lexington

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Church School, 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. and Baptist Training Union at 6:00. p. m.
Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday evening, followed by choir practice.
The Rev. P. D. Bragg, pastor; Louie B. Nichols Sunday School Superintendent; Charles Lee Truitt, Training Union director.
Women's Missionary Society, circles one two and three, meet each Monday afternoon at 3.
Business Women's Circle meets second Monday each month 6 p.m. and Sunbeams each Monday at 3.

OAK GROVE BAPTIST
Rev. Donny Clark, Pastor
Sunday School: 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship: 11:00 a.m
Training Union: 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship: 7:00 p. m
Prayer Meeting Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Episcopal Church
Services at 7:15 a.m. Church School, 10.00 a.m. Worship hour at 11:00 a.m.
Ladies' Guilds meet first Monday each month.
The Rev. Reynolds Cheney, vicar; Mrs. Doty Porter, choir director and organist; W. F. Thurmond, senior warden; M. K. Ginn, junior warden.

TEMPLE BETH-EL
Monthly services are conducted by Rabbi Perry Nussbaum of Jackson.
Sunday School is held each Sunday at 10:30
Sunday School Superintendent, Herman Flowers
The Julia Lewis Sisterhood meets the first Monday each month.

Ebenezer

EBENEZER METHODIST
Sunday School 10 a.m. Worship services are held the first and third Sunday at 11 a. m. and 6:30 p.m. also Methodist Youth Fellowship at 5:30.
The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first and third Monday at 2:30 p.m.
Rev. Dennis Johnston, pastor Sunday School Superintendent, K. D. Hendry; Organist, Mrs. J. E. Jones and Mrs. Harris Humphrey; and M.Y.F. Directors, Mrs. Gene Greer and Mrs. Effie Cock

EBENEZER BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. James Pugh, Pastor
Sunday School, 10:00 a. m.
Morning Worship, 11:00 a. m
Training Union, 6:00 p. m.
Evening Worship, 7:00 p. m.

Pickens

METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.
Prayer meeting each Monday evening at 7:30.
Women's Society of Christian Service meets every Monday at 9:30 a.m.
Wesleyan Service Guild every third Monday at 7:30 p.m.
The Rev. G. H. Ledbetter, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Hoover Maxwell; Training Union director, Jed Pepper.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Sunday services:
Sunday School at 9:45 a.m Worship hour on second, fourth and fifth Sundays held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Young People of the Church meet at 6 p.m.
Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday.
Women of the Church meet each Monday afternoon.
The Rev. E. Stanley Smathers, pastor, and Sunday School superintendent, Henry McNeese

BAPTIST CHURCH
Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and Union each Sunday at 6:00 p. m.
Wednesday prayer meeting at 7 p.m.

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p. m. Training Union at 6:00

The Rev. W. E. Greene, Jr., pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. Worship service is held the first and third Sunday at 11 a.m. and on the second and fourth Sunday at 7:00 p.m.

The Rev. Claude Fleming, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, F. J. Hines, Jr.

Durant

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Church School 9:45 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., also Adult and Children Fellowship Groups at 6:00

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets the first, second and fourth Monday of each month. Wesleyan Service Guild on third Monday.

The Rev. B. F. Wasson, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent Percy Joyce; Organist Mrs. Walter Odom.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School, 9:45 with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7 each Wednesday. Catechism class each Saturday at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Robert Glover Shoemaker, pastor;

Sunday School Superintendent C. H. Blanton, Jr.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Durell Makamson, Pastor

9:45 a.m. Sunday School
11:00 a.m. Morning Worship
7:00 p.m. Evening Worship
6:00 p.m. Training Union
7:30 p.m. Prayer Meeting each Wednesday
3:00 p.m. Woman's Missionary Society every Monday

Lindsay O'Rear, Secretary Sunday School Superintendent Leon Engelmann.

Training Union Director, R. J. Dorsett; and Choir Director Lindsay O'Rear.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Brian Van der Spuy, Minister

Worship service every Sunday
Morning worship at 11:00 a.m
Evening worship at 7:30 p.m
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Bible Study each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

EASTSIDE BAPTIST MISSION CHURCH

The Rev. H. C. Ellis, pastor

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Baptist Training Union at 6:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday at 7:30.

Choir Director, Miss Edna Townsend.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Rev. Tommy Loving, Pastor

Sunday School 9:45 a.m. worship hour, 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The Young Peoples group the NYPS meets each Sunday at 7:00 p.m.

Prayer Meeting at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

Sunday School Superintendent Johnny Toten; Choir Director, Mrs. Marion Bishop; NYPS Leader, Mrs. Houie Bishop.

PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

Rev. John Maddox, pastor

Sunday School at 10 a.m.
Morning Worship at 11 a.m.
Evening Worship at 7 p.m.
Prayer Meeting and Bible Study Thursday at 7:30 p.m.
Young Peoples Service at 7:00 p.m. Saturday.

and Catechism each Sunday at 3.

OAK GROVE BAPTIST

Rev. Donny Clark, Pastor

Sunday School: 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship: 11:00 a.m
Training Union: 6:00 p.m.
Evening Worship: 7:00 p.m
Prayer Meeting Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Episcopal Church

Services at 7:15 a.m. Church School, 10:00 a.m. Worship hour at 11:00 a.m.

Ladies' Guilds meet first Monday each month.

The Rev. Reynolds Cheney, vicar; Mrs. Doty Porter, choir director and organist; W. E. Thurmond, senior warden; M. K. Ginn, junior warden.

TEMPLE BETH-EL

Monthly services are conducted by Rabbi Perry Nussbaum of Jackson.

Sunday School is held each Sunday at 10:30

Sunday School Superintendent, Herman Flowers

The Julia Lewis Sisterhood meets the first Monday each month.

MISSIONARY EASTSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School, 10:00 a.m. and worship hour, 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. with Baptist Training Union at 6:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday night at 7 p.m. followed by the Women's Missionary Union and the Brotherhood meeting.

The Rev. Charles Cooley, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent and Church Secretary, G. R. Thompson.

ST. THOMAS CATHOLIC

Morning Mass is held each Sunday at alternating hours. Beginning June 26th, Mass will be held at 10:30, and the following Sunday, July 3, at 8:00 and so on throughout the year.

Members of the clergy are Monsigner John F. Clerico and his assistant, Father Clements both of Greenwood.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, followed by choir practice.

Woman's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday afternoon at 3.

Wesleyan Service Guild meets second and fourth Monday each month at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Crawford Ray, pastor; Ben Rathell, Sunday School Superintendent; Woodson Earle Youth Fellowship director.

BEULAH BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. David Skinner, Pastor

Sunday School, 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship, 11:00 a.m
Training Union, 6:00 p.m.
Evening Worship, 7:00 p.m
Prayer Meeting on Wednesday night at 7:30.

LIBERTY CHAPEL METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Dennis Johnston, Pastor

Worship services are held each First and Third Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

Goodman

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held only on the third Sunday, at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The Women of the Church meet each Monday at 9 a.m.

The Rev. Stanley Smather, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, Paul Hand.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Gatherings of more than 5 persons for the purpose of religious worship are henceforth prohibited

If you woke up one morning to find a notice such as the above plastered around town, even those Americans who are among the "Great Indifferent" might soon react with alarm. And they would be wise to do so. Freedom of worship should be a jealously guarded privilege. But like any privilege which we don't respect by its use, it can be lost.

Restrictions of this privilege are unthinkable to every American. But failure to take advantage of this privilege is widespread. When was the last time you and your family enjoyed the right to worship?

ADVERTISING COUNCIL · PUBLIC SERVICE

Worship together this week You need not walk alone

WORSHIP together this week · you need not walk alone

Goodman

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship meets at 6:30 p.m. The Wesley Foundation, college students' group, meets also at 6:30

Wednesday night prayer meeting is held at 7.

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday at 3:30 p.m. The Weslevan Service Guild meets at 7:30 on the first Monday of each month.

The Rev. B. F. Lee, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, W. W. Griffin, Jr.; church secretary, Mrs. D. K. Gulledge MYF director, Mrs. Nell Branch Wesley Foundation director, Mrs

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev.. J. B. Miller, pastor

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Training Union at 7:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7:00 each Wednesday night.

Women's Missionary Society meets each Monday at 3:30; Sunbeams at 3:30; G. A's at 4:00; R. A's at 4:00.

Roy McDaniel, Sunday School Superintendent; Leroy Jobe, Training Union Director; William Spell, Choir Director.

125 YEARS · The Lexington Advertiser · TRI-ANNIVERSARY · EDITOR HAZEL BRANNON SMITH 25 YEARS · THE DURANT NEWS · 100 YEARS

This advertisement in the interest of Religion in American Life as a basis of All Our American Freedoms is presented by The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News and is a Tri-Anniversary Ad made possible by friends of the editor.

West

MT. PLEASANT BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held the first and third Sunday, at 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Training Union each Sunday at 6:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting is held each Thursday at 7 p.m. followed by the Women's Missionary Society, the Brotherhood, the RA and GA meetings.

The Rev. James Sadder, Jr. pastor; Sunday School superintendent, Watt Tate; Training Union director, Bob McCreary; choir director, Jimmy McBride.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m. each Sunday with worship hour, held the first and third Sunday, at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The Women's Society or Christian Service meets each Monday at 2:30.

The Rev. Harold Robertson, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, John David Montgomery.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 10 a.m.

Worship services are held each second and fourth Sunday at 11:00 a.m.

Pastor of the church is Rev. Robert Bullard.

MT. PLEASANT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. James Saddler, pastor

Sunday School 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship 11:00 a.m.
Evening Worship 7:00 p.m.
Training Union 6:00 p.m.

Charles Wolfarth, Training Union director.

HEBRON METHODIST CHURCH

Near Lexington

Rev. Dennis Johnston, pastor

Worship services are held each Second Sunday night at 7:00 and each Fourth Sunday morning at 11:00.

Worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting each Monday evening at 7:30.

Women's Society of Christian Service meets every Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Wesleyan Service Guild every third Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. G. H. Ledbetter, pastor; Sunday School Superintendent, Hoover Maxwell; Training Union director, Jed Pepper.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday services:

Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. Worship hour on second, fourth and fifth Sundays held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Young People of the Church meet at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 each Wednesday.

Women of the Church meet each Monday afternoon.

The Rev. E. Stanley Smathers, pastor, and Sunday School superintendent, Henry McNeese

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and Union each Sunday at 6:00 p.m.

Wednesday prayer meeting at 7 p.m.

The Women's Missionary Union meets each Monday at 3:30 p.m. Business Women's Circle at 7 p.m.

The Rev. J. Price Brock, pastor; Sunday School superintendent, John Yarborough; Training Union director, George Wynne choir director, Price Brock, Jr.

Tchula

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Methodist Youth Fellowship at 6 p.m.

Prayer meeting is held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, followed by choir practice.

The Women's Society of Christian Service meets each Monday at 3 p.m. The Virgie Hines Guild meets each Monday at 4 p.m.

The Rev. Wilson Ray, pastor

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour at 11 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Training Union is held at 6:00 p.m. and Fellowship for Young People at 8:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The Women's Missionary Society meets each Monday at 2:30 p.m.

The Rev Roy Raddin, pastor; Sunday School superintendent O. C. Scott;

Training Union director, Bill Bole.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a.m. with worship hour, held on first, second and third Sunday, at 11 a.m.

The Women of the Church meet on first, second and third Monday of each month at 3 p.m.

The Rev. J. C. Watson, pastor

New Welfare Building Fills Long Felt Need

2,553 Clients To Be Served By Facility

By Hazel Brannon Smith

The attractive new Holmes County Public Welfare Building which opens formally Friday afternoon at 3:00 will fill a long felt need for adequate quarters for an agency that must be regarded as big business.

Welfare is a big business in Holmes County — last year over $1,519,000, in fact.

You may like it or not, say what you will, but welfare is here to stay — and we might as well make the best of it. It fills a need that must be met some way for many people of sub-standard incomes, or no income at all. Few informed people would advocate doing away with the welfare department.

The attractive new building which has been built by Holmes County at a cost of $86,000, for which Holmes voters approved a bond issue, may be criticized by some as an extravagance. But the fact is the new building will prove an economy in the long run, paying for itself within a period of ten years in rent saved. The department formerly paid $275.00 per month rent for cramped, inadequate quarters and a warehouse.

Overhead operating costs and maintenance of the new building will be economical and best of all it will be something that can better serve a large segment of Holmes County's population, almost ten per cent as a matter of fact.

More than 2,500 welfare clients are on the active rolls of the county now and each month payments to them runs in excess of $88,000 — and this figure is down from $90,000 to $96,000 average during 1961.

During 1961 a total of $1,136,636 was paid out in Holmes County and this does not include over $383,000 in surplus commodities distributed to welfare clients during

Holmes County's New $86,000 Public Welfare Building

MRS. WILNA LIPSEY of Pickens, seated at desk, is intake worker with the Holmes County Welfare Department and interviews every person who applies for assistance.

Mrs. Edith Aldridge of Lexington, pictured with Mrs. Lipsey, is supervisor

MRS. KETURAH POVALL, right, receptionist and file clerk, and Miss Necie Gwin, clerical worker with the Holmes County Welfare Department, are seated at their desks in the front office which occupies the entire width of the new building. This area controls the flow of applicants and visitors to the several offices.

Other clerical workers (some of whom blinked their eyes spoiling the picture) are Mrs. Joy W. Brooks, Mrs. Betty Maude White and Mrs. Virginia Chrestman, all of Lexington, and Mrs. Gayle Lewis of Durant.

Through Hazel Eyes . .

(Continued from Page One)

mune from criticism, or that we personally support all its decisions. We do not. Some of its decisions we cannot understand. We hope the day never comes when we cannot criticize either a local, state or national court — or Sen. Eastland.

But we can question and criticize the court without impugning the character and patriotism of the men who sit on the bench and who are, without exception, dedicated public servants. The same may be said of all the justices who sit on the U. S. Supreme Court. Certainly they are not traitors to our country.

Many people today wonder why Americans supposedly are not as "patriotic" as we used to be, why it is that the public generally seems not to show the proper appreciation for the American flag, our courts, laws and other institutions long held sacred.

We believe that irresponsible criticism of our courts and other institutions have aided materially in undermining public confidence in our courts and system, and in our American way of life. And

TCHULA NEWS

GARDEN CLUB NORTH DISTRICT MEETING

On Thursday, May 3rd, several members of the Tchula Garden Club attended the North Regional meeting of Garden Clubs in Grenada. Those attending were: Mrs. W. G. Gwin, Mrs. Everarde Jones, Mrs. Ellis Harris, Mrs. Henry Waterer, Mrs. Ned Parrish, Mrs. C. C. Wade, and Mrs. Jack Barwick. Mrs. Jones was moderator of a panel on "Program Planning" those taking part on the panel with her were Mrs. Gwin and Mrs. Waterer.

GARDEN CLUB

Lexington Future Farmers Of America Student Cops Honors In District Meet

A Lexington High School Junior was recent winner of a number of district honors and was named an outstanding member of the Lexington Chapter Future Farmers of America, at the District Four meeting in Tchula.

O. A. Cleveland, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cleveland was first place winner in the District Public Speaking contest after placing first in Council Public Speaking over three council winners in state competition; a district winner of the Farm Mechanics and Electrification Exami-

Leflore and Binford High.

Being a district winner in public speaking qualified O. A. for the Farmer Cooperative examination. Material used covered the Cooperative Creamery Association, Electric Power Association, Mississippi Federated Cooperatives, Mississippi Livestock Producers, Mssissippi Milk Producers, Staple Cotton Cooperatve and Federal Land Bank and Production Credit.

As winner of the Farmer Cooperative examination, he was presented a gold wrist watch and a trip to the Ameri

$88,000, for which Holmes voters approved a bond issue, may be criticized by some as an extravagance. But the fact is the new building will prove an economy in the long run, paying for itself within a period of ten years in rent saved. The department formerly paid $275.00 per month rent for cramped, inadequate quarters and a warehouse.

Overhead operating costs and maintenance of the new building will be economical and best of all it will be something that can better serve a large segment of Holmes County's population, almost ten per cent as a matter of fact.

More than 2,500 welfare clients are on the active rolls of the county now and each month payments to them runs in excess of $88,000 — and this figure is down from $90,000 to $96,000 average during 1961.

During 1961 a total of $1,136,636 was paid out in Holmes County and this does not include over $383,000 in surplus commodities distributed to welfare clients during a year's time.

In April there were 2,553 active cases on the Holmes welfare rolls and payments for the month ran $88,011. (See table in adjoining column for schedule of payments made last year.) The 2,553 cases in April were broken down in the following categories: 1,597 Old Age Assistance clients; 110 cases of aid to the needy blind; 528 cases in which aid to dependent children was given; 328 cases of permanently and totally disabled.

$40.00 is the maximum grant since July 1, 1960, that can be given monthly in every classification except dependent children. Prior to this time it was $33.00. A maximum for one child in ADC is now $25.00 and for a second child in the same family, $15.00. Thereafter $10.00 per child is the maximum with a ceiling of $90.00 as the most that could be obtained, if available.

Welfare payments are not handed out indiscriminately. Every case on the rolls is investigated and handled by the welfare workers according to laws enacted by the Legislature and rules promulgated by the State Department. Cases are subject to constant review.

Payments are based on absolute needs, not wants, and in Mississippi only 34 per cent of the established need may be given because of available funds.

Board Pleased

Members of the Welfare Board, appointed by the supervisors, have expressed themselves as pleased with th new building and commodity warehouse which they feel will be assets to Holmes County and enable it to do a better job for our needy people.

W. R. Ellis, board chairman, has served on the board since the inception of the welfare program in Holmes County back in 1935. In those days the department was housed in the Masonic Building — and the late L. W. Rabb was welfare agent. Mr. Rabb resigned in March, 1955 and Mrs. McLellan took over. She had been Child Welfare worker with the agency since September, 1953.

In 1954 the department moved to the Swinney Building owned by Norman Weathersby and on March 19 of this year the third move was made into the new building on Highway 12 east of Lexington toward Durant.

Other members of the board who serve with Mr. Ellis are R. E. Moore of Durant, B. W. Humphrey, Jr., of Ebenezer; T. E. Powell of Howard and W. G. Lowe of Tchula.

Commodity Warehouse

The Commodity Warehouse, located behind the new building is in charge of Joe Evans, distribution clerk. He is assisted by Miss Clarabel Rhyne assistant clerk. Commodities issued include dry milk, meal, flour, lard, rice, beans and lately issued have been chopped meat, cheese, peanut butter and rolled oats.

Andrew J. Noel is the Negro helper at the warehouse and Sarah Harris is the maid who will keep the new building spotless.

Builders

Shannon Engineering Co. of Belzoni was general contractor for the building for which ground was broken Sept. 11.

J. M. Hoff of Lexington is the electrical contractor and Tatum Plumbing and Heating of Grenada is mechanical contractor.

MRS. WILNA LIPSEY of Pickens, seated at desk, is intake worker with the Holmes County Welfare Department and interviews every person who applies for assistance.

Mrs. Edith Aldridge of Lexington, pictured with Mrs. Lipsey, is supervisor of the nine Welfare Visitors who are assigned to areas in the county.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE
HOLMES COUNTY — 1961

Month	Number on Roll	Amt. of Assistance
January	2,780	$96,941.00
February	2,755	96,311.00
March	2,758	96,409.00
April	2,759	96,606.00
May	2,753	96,428.00
June	2,752	96,097.00
July	2,744	95,876.00
August	2,723	95,133.00
September	2,690	93,517.00*
October	2,671	91,924.00*
November	2,643	91,038.00*
December	2,627	90,356.00
Total 12 Months		$1,136,636

* SS benefits increased nationally effecting a reduction in assistance.

HOLMES COUNTY — 1962

January	2,609	$89,580.00
February	2,591	88,964.00
March	2,567	88,401.00
April	2,553	88,011.00
1962 — First Four Months		$354,956

SAE PRESIDENT

Ed Thurmond, Lexington is the new president of SAE fraternity at MSU. He is a junior and secretary of the MSU Student Association.

Four Holmes Students Will Receive Degrees From Miss. State U.

Four Holmes County Students are among the 581 candidates for degrees to be awarded at Mississippi State University's Spring Commencement on May 28th.

Those announced to receive their undergraduate degrees for this area by registrar, Lynn B. Ferguson are:

Homer Alvin Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Evans of Lexington and James Buchanan Hutton, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. G. Hutton of Tchula, both from the school of Agriculture; William Wesley (Billy) Holder, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Holder of Lexington, from the school of Arts and Sciences; and William Edward Ellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellington of Lexington, from the school of Business and Industry.

VALLEY MATTRESS & UPHOLSTERY

All Types
Mattress Renovating
Furniture Upholstered
All Work Called For And Delivered

Free Estimates

Phone 1292 — Wrenn St.
Kosciusko, Miss.

Band Concert By SJC May 18

The Saints Junior College Band will present an open air concert on Friday night, May 18 at 8 p. m. on the Milton Olive farm, located on the Ebenezer road.

The band returned on April 29th from a successful western tour, under the direction of Professor of Music, Jacob W. Porter.

The concert will be sponsored by grades one and two of Saints Elementary School, Estelle Moody Talliaferro, teacher.

Legal Notices

IN THE CHANCERY COURT OF HOLMES COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF
MRS. ELLENA G. NORQUIST
DECEASED

No. 10294

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Letters of Executorship having been granted to Mrs. Donnis Norquist Beckman, Executrix on the 28th day of April, 1962, by the Chancery Court of Holmes County, Mississippi, upon the estate of Mrs. Ellena G. Norquist, deceased, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against the said estate of Mrs. Ellena G. Norquist, deceased, to present the same to the clerk of the Chancery Court of Holmes County, Mississippi, for probate and registration according to law, within six (6) months from the first publication of this notice, or they will be forever barred.

Dated this April 28, 1962.
Mrs. Donnis Norquist Beckman, Executrix,
Estate of Mrs. Ellena G. Norquist

William A. Bacon
Plaza Building
Jackson, Mississippi
Solicitor

decisions. We do not. Some of its decisions we cannot understand. We hope the day never comes when we cannot criticize either a local, state or national court — or Sen. Eastland.

But we can question and criticize the court without impugning the character and patriotism of the men who sit on the bench and who are, without exception, dedicated public servants. The same may be said of all the justices who sit on the U. S. Supreme Court. Certainly they are not traitors to our country.

Many people today wonder why Americans supposedly are not as "patriotic" as we used to be, why it is that the public generally seems not to show the proper appreciation for the American flag, our courts, laws and other institutions long held sacred.

We believe that irresponsible criticism of our courts and other institutions have aided materially in undermining public confidence in our courts and system, and in our American way of life. And that is not good.

To be noted was the fact that Senator John Stennis did not join in Senator Eastland's criticism of the court. He merely upheld Sen. Eastland's right to criticize the court, as do we.

But criticism should be constructive and for a good purpose, not on an arbitrary set of rules we write ourselves, as Sen. Eastland did.

And we have not said anything here that we have not already said to friend Jim's face.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday!

Gwin, clerical worker with the Holmes County Welfare Department, are seated at their desks in the front office which occupies the entire width of the new building. This area controls the flow of applicants and visitors to the several offices.

Other clerical workers (some of whom blinked their eyes spoiling the picture) are Mrs. Joy W. Brooks, Mrs. Betty Maude White and Mrs. Virginia Chrestman, all of Lexington, and Mrs. Gayle Lewis of Durant.

TCHULA NEWS

GARDEN CLUB NORTH DISTRICT MEETING

On Thursday, May 3rd, several members of the Tchula Garden Club attended the North Regional meeting of Garden Clubs in Grenada. Those attending were: Mrs. W. G. Gwin, Mrs. Everarde Jones, Mrs. Ellis Harris, Mrs. Henry Waterer, Mrs. Ned Parrish, Mrs. C. C. Wade, and Mrs. Jack Barwick. Mrs. Jones was moderator of a panel on "Program Planning" those taking part on the panel with her were Mrs. Gwin and Mrs. Waterer.

GARDEN CLUB SPONSORS PROJECT

The business district of Tchula is taking on a New look. The arden Club has sponsored the placing of shrubs in vacant lots and around buildings.

Attractive potted plants in green tubs have been placed along the side walks in front of all the business places in town.

The merchants of the city have cooperated with the Garden Club in this project.

Roommate Visits

Mrs. James W. Black of Jackson spent Wednesday with Mrs. Thatcher Walt in Tchula. Mrs. Walt and Mrs. Black were roommates at Holmes Junior College. Mrs. Black is the daughter of the former Miss Nettie Ingold of Lexington.

Lexington Future Farmers Of America Student Cops Honors In District Meet

A Lexington High School Junior was recent winner of a number of district honors and was named an outstanding member of the Lexington Chapter Future Farmers of America, at the District Four meeting in Tchula.

O. A. Cleveland, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cleveland was first place winner in the District Public Speaking contest after placing first in Council Public Speaking over three council winners in state competition; a district winner of the Farm Mechanics and Electrification Examination; and first place winner in the Farmer Cooperative examination.

He will receive a $50.00 cash prize at the State FFA Convention to be held in June.

The FFA Council includes Holmes, Madison and Attala Counties. Judges for the district contest were from Mississippi State University. Other schools entered in the district were Jefferson High, Leflore and Binford High.

Being a district winner in public speaking qualified O. A. for the Farmer Cooperative examination. Material used covered the Cooperative Creamery Association, Electric Power Association, Mississippi Federated Cooperatives, Mississippi Livestock Producers, Mssissippi Milk Producers, Staple Cotton Cooperatve and Federal Land Bank and Production Credit.

As winner of the Farmer Cooperative examination, he was presented a gold wrist watch and a trip to the American Institute of Cooperatives at the University of Ohio, which he will make in August.

This young man has been a member of the Lexington Chapter FFA for the past four years and being recognized for his outstanding work in this field is not a new experience. In March 1960 he was first place winner in the Big Black Council speaking contest, competing over Ethel, Zama and McAdams.

Congratulations are extended this outstanding FFA member as he goes forward in this worthwhile field.

READ AND USE WANT ADS FOR FAST RESULTS

NOTICE

$$ LADIES $$.
BEAUTY is our business. Why not make it yours? An excellent earning opportunity for women who qualify. Sell a product unconditionally guaranteed and advertised. Yes, it's "Avon Calling" for women who want to earn. For information write to Gertrude Freeman, Winona, Miss.

HELP WANTED — Man or woman wanted to supply Rawleigh Products to consumers in North Holmes County. Good time to start No capital required. See Mrs. W. P. Waldrop, Lexington or write Rawleigh's Dept. MSD-361-815, Memphis, Tennessee. 4-3tp

AGENTS WANTED TO SELL BURIAL INSURANCE. See or call Lindsay's Enterprise Funeral Home, Durant Mississippi, Telephone 337. 37-tfnp

SWARMING TERMITES ARE OUR BUSINESS . . .
Also Complete House Pest Control Service.
FREE INSPECTION SERVICE
Call Or Write To
CRAIG SUPERIOR TERMITE CONTROL SERVICE
O. K. In Business Since 1925
Lexington, Miss., Moccasin St.

WANTED AT ONCE: Second hand mule-drawn cotton poisoning equipment in good condition.
Write E. D. Poe, Rt. One, Lexington, Mississippi

SKIN ITCH
DON'T SCRATCH IT!
Scratching spreads infection, causing MORE pain. Apply quick-drying ITCH-ME-NOT instead. Itching quiets down in minutes and antiseptic action helps speed healing. Fine for eczema, insect bites, foot itch, other surface rashes. If not pleased, your 48c back at any drug store. TODAY at Peoples Drug Store.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT: Private apartment near court square, with garage attached. Day phone 666, night phone 1098, Mrs. Ruth Flower

MONUMENTS
Why pay undertakers and catalog salesmen 40% commission when you can buy direct from a manufacturer.
You will be better satisfied when you select from our display yard.
We will be glad to send our manager, Mr. Harold R. Sides or answer by mail or telephone.
DAVIDSON MARBLE & GRANITE WORKS
Kosciusko, Miss.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: Eighty acres of land on E. G. Saxton place near Pickens. Write G. L. Saxton (Midway) Benton, Miss. or phone 6938.
48-tfr.-np

HOUSE FOR RENT OR SALE — Three bedroom home at 107 Odom Street in Durant. Phone 462 or write Mrs. J. T. Vines at above address.

ATHLETE'S FOOT GERM HOW TO KILL IT. IN 3 DAYS
If not pleased with strong, instant-drying T-4-L, your 48c back at any drug store. Watch infected skin slough off. Watch healthy skin replace it. Itch and burning are gone. TODAY at Peoples Drug Store and Henrich Drug Store

Men and Women To Train For Civil Service Jobs
Home Study Course
The complete secret of how to get a civil service job is fully revealed in this course.
ROSE TRAINING SERVICE
Box 201
Tallahassee, Florida
51-tfnp

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man said that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach, due to undigested food he always had inside of him. Recently he started taking V.I.H. and says the "brick-feeling" disappeared. Now he is like a new man, eats anything.

V.I.H. is a new, scientific formula. It is taken before meals and works with your food. It not only relieves gas; it also gives the bowels a great cleansing; it brings out impurities that cause headache, foul breath, coated tongue and worn out feeling. Miserable people soon feel better all over. So don't go on suffering! Get V.I.H. at all leading Drug Stores.

Rita Jo
UNIVERSITY OF COSMETOLOGY
425 Meadowbrook Road
Jackson, Miss.
Enroll Now For Spring Classes
Now Open And Fully Accredited
JOE TINDALL, JR.
Directors

"Principles and Men: Truth—the Weapon we use in their Defence."

THE LEXINGTON ADVERTISER

ESTABLISHED IN 1837

LEXINGTON, MISSISSIPPI

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH
EDITOR

May 15, 1962

Mr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director, SRC
Room 205, 5 Forsyth St.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Dunbar:

I want to express my sincere appreciation for your interest and that of Will Campbell in us and your courtesy to me when I was in your office last week. Smitty and I both feel that your interest and assistance will help us some way to work this situation out.

If we can find strength and money to get us through another year (and a little more courage, too) I believe that we will have it made. First of all, with the increased business we have already worked up; secondly, next year is election year which will mean two things, more local business and printing in spite of the Citizens' Council and even more important, a chance to get the main offenders out of office by having someone run against them. As things stand now we will lose one and possibly two of our county representatives in the Legislature. This means Mr. Hooker, the local founder of the Citizens' Council and a member of its State Executive Board and of the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission, probably WILL NOT BE REELECTED.

It is being widely reported here that Mrs. Hooker is entering a suit for separate maintenance against her husband (Wilburn Hooker) because of his extra curricular activities in Jackson. Whether this proves out or not doesn't matter. People in the county, who already know about it, are talking it openly. They know it is true.

I am telling you this not to repeat local gossip but to let you know how it affects my position. Hooker was one of the founders of the CC newspaper in Lexington, The Holmes County Herald, and is keeping it going out of his own pocket. Once his political career is over certainly he will have no reason to keep on pouring money into the Herald.

Am enclosing , or rather sending under separate cover, copies of The Advertiser and also including a copy of the Mississippi Free Press carrying the organization story on the Human Relations Council and the latest issue of The Baptist Observer.

Did you see the story carried in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch by Hodding Carter about me? I don't remember but I thought you said something about national publicity would help. Whether this will do any good or not I don't know, but it will give you some additional background possibly, so am enclosing clipping.

If you look in your files you have some material on the Citizens' Council which I prepared for you right after they were organized -- but whether there is anything in there that can help now or not, I do not know. I rather doubt it.

I hope the resume enclosed is adequate. If not let me know what else you need. Again, thank you for everything.

Most sincerely,

Hazel

Hazel Brannon Smith

Copy to
Will Campbell

ITEM NO. I

Since January 4, 1962, the Mississippi Citizens' Council and the State Sovereignty Commission have conspired in an open attack upon me which has been well publicized in the state and national press. This attack came because I am printing a new newspaper for Negroes, the Mississippi Free Press, which is dedicated to working for Negro rights and freedom.

I am only the printer for this paper. I have no financial interest in it and (actually) no control over it. I am vitally interested in seeing it survive because it is badly needed. The men who have put their money into this paper, business and professional men of Jackson, have implicit confidence in me and are guided a great deal by what I tell them in the line of newspapering. I very much would like to be in a position financially where I could have the time to help more with this paper and make it into a quality paper of statewide distribution. This could be done if the money could be made available. I have the know-how and the willingness to do the job.

ITEM No. II

THE BAPTIST OBSERVER, now a monthly but already with authority to go weekly when funds are available, is strictly a church and religious paper. But the Negro ministers sponsoring this paper are keenly aware of the need of promoting greater participation for Negroes in the life, economy and government of our state. This paper will help ministers to develop leadership among themselves and their congregations to the end that some day they can speak with one voice. This they desire to do -- but naturally it will take time. They must get their own people together. We have in mind that some day The Observer will go into every Baptist home in the state. Adequate financing could make this a reality NOW.

ITEM NO. III

Organized labor is viewed with suspicion in Mississippi by the Governor on down. This is an attitude deliberately fostered by the top officials as labor leaders know. Labor needs a better press in Mississippi and better public relations. It has no paper of its own at the present time-- although it once did. A statewide weekly newspaper which would report labor news fairly, honestly and accurately could be of great assistance in educating Mississippians about the facts of life on labor -- about which they know very little at the present time. If Mississippi is to grow and progress industrially our attitude toward organized labor is going to have to change.

In our Jackson suburban paper, The Northside Reporter, we have a paper that already has a good following in Jackson. It could be enlarged and extended citywide first and then statewide -- if my husband (Walter D. Smith) and I had enough financial backing. We are able and what's more important, willing to do this job. We feel it would be making a contribution to the growth and development of our state and I have some definite ideas about how this could be done if anyone is interested.

ITEM NO. IV

We need money NOW.

(Note: If we could get our hands on $15,000 it would get rid of the one big note that is on our backs as well as the past due bills--leaving us still the $16,200.00 note in Jackson on which we pay 6 per cent and $200.00 monthly--when we have it)

$1,400.00	for past due taxes and insurance, now critical
2,000.00	on $6,200 loan from 1st National Bank of G'ville --also now critical. Entire loan must be liquidated soon.
1,000.00	must pay on paper bill, (Now $4,500.)
2,000.00	for assorted miscellaneous accounts including a partial payment on $1,800.00 engraving bill.

ALL OF ABOVE DESPERATELY NEEDED NOW
(We still have the $20,000.00 note to be repaid to Mr. Harrison --not worrying about it now)

RECEIVED
MAY 23 1962

The Lexington Advertiser

"Principles and Men: Truth—the Weapon we use in their Defence."

Volume 125 | Lexington, Mississippi — Thursday, May 17, 1962 | Number Seven

Through Hazel Eyes

By Hazel Brannon Smith

A strong United States prepared and willing to defend itself and human freedom everywhere is the principal hope for a peaceful world. Personally, we feel it is the only hope of the world.

We must not be reckless or foolish. We must proceed with caution as indeed we have, But we must be willing to fight, if necessary. And we must convince the communists that we can and are willing to fight.

Strength or force is the only thing the communists respect — and we must command their respect. Otherwise they will walk all over us — and the entire free world.

President Kennedy has shown commenable caution in his dealings with the communists and been roundly criticized for it. But he is well aware what another war would mean to America and the world and he will do everything possible in an honorable way to try to prevent it. This is not appeasement as claimed by his irresponsible critics, only common sense.

Let us hope the trouble in Laos can be settled around the conference table and at once — for little wars grow into big ones.

But the invited buildup of a 5,000-man American fighting force, including 1,800 U. S. Marines, in Thailand indicates that the Kennedy administration is determined the communists shall be stopped.

Let us hope the communists realize we mean business, as do our SEATO Allies.

Southeast Asia is not the only hot spot on the globe now.

What has been a cold political battle for Congress is warming up and threatens to be quite a conflagration before the June 5th Democratic Primary when Congressmen Frank Smith and Jamie Whitten collide.

As all of our readers know, the editor of this newspaper never seeks to influence their vote for any political office whether local, county, state, or national. This has always been our policy and we do not plan to change it — ever.

So we were a little suprised (and quite flattered) that Congressman Jamie Whitten saw fit to give us some attention within the past week saying this editor "approves" Frank Smith's policies and does not "approve" his (Whitten's) policies. (We didn't even know Whitten had policies.)

If Jamie Whitten can't figure out a better way than that to get votes he might as well withdraw right now — because all of our friends and foes know we never try to influence their vote.

But does Jamie really think that some people would vote FOR HIM because HAZEL SMITH is AGAINST HIM — that is, if we were against him?

If so, he must have a pretty low opinion of the intelligence of Holmes County people — for only an idiot would vote for a person just because someone else was against him — and idiots are not allowed to vote in Mississippi. Or, are they?

Anyway, we'll know come June 5th.

Lexington Clean-Up

New Buildings Dedicated At HJC

GOVERNOR ROSS R. BARNETT signs register at formal opening and dedication of Holmes County Welfare Department on Friday afternoon, as Mrs. Keturah Povall, receptionist, looks on.

Gov. Barnett Speaks At Formal Opening Of Holmes Welfare Building On Friday

Approximately 225 interested persons attended the formal opening, dedication ceremonies and open house of the Holmes County Welfare Department.

Second on the guest list to be recognized was Mrs. Georgia Pitchford of Green

$133,000 Library Honors McMorrough; Boys' $104,000 Dorm Is Attala Hall

"Without education our nation would perish and we would lose our way of life," George Thornton, Kosciusko attorney, told a crowd assembled at Holmes Junior College Wednesday afternoon for the dedication of two new buildings, McMorrough Library and a boys' dormitory, "Attala Hall."

Mr. Thornton, a widely known and highly respected citizen of Attala County, was one of two speakers appearing on the afternoon program. He spoke relative to the dedication of Attala Hall.

The other speaker was Edwin White of Lexington, well known attorney and former member of the Legislature who paid an eloquent tribute to another Lexington attorney, the Hon. G. H. McMorrough, for whom the new HJC Library is named. Mr. McMorrough currently is serving as President of the HJC Board of Trustees.

President Frank B. Branch served as master of ceremonies for the event in Carroll auditorium which was attended by about 200 persons throughout the county and a number of visitors from supporting counties. These counties, in order of their association with the Holmes institution, are Carroll, (since 1925), Attala (since 1956), Montgomery (1958), Grenada (1959), and Madison (1961).

Members of the boards of supervisors, boards of education and trustees from all of the counties were presented by Mr. Branch.

Mr. Branch

"If the boys and girls of your county have the ability

G. H. McMorrough

Tchula Graduation Program Scheduled Tonight At 8:00 P M

Sullivan Will Make Address On Athletic Field

Twenty Tchula High School seniors will receive diplomas at graduation exercises tonight (Thursday) at 8:00 p. m. on the Tchula Athletic Field.

Featured speaker for the commencement program will be Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale.

Gloria Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Powell, will give the valedictory address and Mary Lou Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jones, will deliver the salutatory address. Awards and diplomas will be presented by W. R. Huddleston, prin-

HJC, HAHS Combined Commencement Set Sunday; 113 Will Receive Diplomas

Ninety-one college sophomores and twenty-two high school seniors will receive diplomas at combined graduating exercises Sunday, May 20th at Holmes Junior College.

Baccalaureate will be held on Sunday also at 11:00 a. m. in Carroll Auditorium with the Rev. Clifton Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of West Point bringing the message. Rev.

President Kennedy has shown commenable caution in his dealings with the communists and been roundly criticized for it. But he is well aware what another war would mean to America and the world and he will do everything possible in an honorable way to try to prevent it. This is not appeasement as claimed by his irresponsible critics, only common sense.

Let us hope the trouble in Laos can be settled around the conference table and at once — for little wars grow into big ones.

But the invited buildup of a 5,000-man American fighting force, including 1,800 U. S. Marines, in Thailand indicates that the Kennedy administration is determined the communists shall be stopped.

Let us hope the communists realize we mean business, as do our SEATO Allies.

Southeast Asia is not the tion within the past week saying this editor "approves" Frank Smith's policies and does not "approve" his (Whitten's) policies. (We didn't even know Whitten had policies.)

If Jamie Whitten can't figure out a better way than that to get votes he might as well withdraw right now — because all of our friends and foes know we never try to influence their vote.

But does Jamie really think that some people would vote FOR HIM because HAZEL SMITH is AGAINST HIM — that is, if we were against him?

If so, he must have a pretty low opinion of the intelligence of Holmes County people — for only an idiot would vote for a person just because someone else was against him — and idiots are not allowed to vote in Mississippi. Or, are they?

Anyway, we'll know come June 5th.

GOVERNOR ROSS R. BARNETT signs register at formal opening and dedication of Holmes County Welfare Department on Friday afternoon, as Mrs. Keturah Povall, receptionist, looks on.

Gov. Barnett Speaks At Formal Opening Of Holmes Welfare Building On Friday

Approximately 225 interested persons attended the formal opening, dedication ceremonies and open house of the Holmes County Welfare Department's new building Friday afternoon at 3.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Roy D. Raddin, pastor of the Tchula Baptist Church, Mayor W. B. Kenna welcomed the visitors and guests. Mr. Kenna speaking on behalf of the City of Lexington and entire area, said it was his privilege to welcome Governor Barnett and other visitors. The city and county is proud of its Welfare Department, its agent and all its associates. He said, "Holmes County could boast the best Welfare Department that can be found in the State of Mississippi."

Visitors Recognized

William H. Moses, member of the Lexington Board of Aldermen and Colonel on Governor Barnett's Staff, recognized special guests.

First to be recognized was M. H. Brooks, of Carthage, acting commissioner of State Public Welfare. Mr. Brooks, in his brief talk, praised the department and workers of the present and past and said, "I feel no better any place in the world than at a meeting of a Public Welfare Department."

Second on the guest list to be recognized was Mrs Georgia Pitchford of Greenwood, supervisor of Holmes County Welfare Department. Mrs. Pitchford will retire in August.

Others recognized were the County officials, Wilburn Hooker, County Representative; Mrs. Andrew P. Smith, Sheriff of Holmes County; Mrs. Denton Rosamond, Tax Assessor; Henry B. McClellan, Circuit Clerk; and L. R. Thompson, Superintendent of Education. And the group responsible for having the new building, the Holmes County

(Continued on Page Eight)

Lexington Clean-Up Parade Held Friday

Lexington's Clean-Up Campaign was launched with a colorful start Friday afternoon with a parade around court square.

Leading the line of attractive and appropriate floats were city officials, Mayor W. B. Kenna and the Lexington Police Force.

Brownie Troop 214 received first place prize of $5.00 for having the most original and attractive posters. This group is under the leadership of Mrs. Herbert Hyman and Mrs. Mike Lammons.

Second place winner, $3.00 cash, was Girl Scout Troop 61, led by Mrs. Jack Dunn and Mrs. Joe Stern.

And winning third, $2.00 cash, was Boy Scout Troop 69, Harden Ervin, leader.

One of the attractions was the Berman Brokerage Float featuring Jamye Carson as Miss Clean-Up, Brenda Berman, Miss Paint-Up and Wanda Power, Miss Fix-Up.

W. P. Zemp was winner of the case of Dial soap given by Berman Brokerage Company. Mr. Zemp's estimated number of bars of soap was 142 and the container held 135.

Adine O'Reilly was second with her guess of 144 bars of soap. She received six bars of Dial.

The Lexington Junior High School Band, under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Wheeler and led by Suzanne McLellan, made an excellent performance.

Various other floats sponsored by merchants, the Holmes County 4-H Clubs, and school students participated in this big event.

Mr. Berman, chairman of the campaign committee, wishes to express his thanks to fellow committee members, Mrs. Dora Pearl Tidwell, J. E. Goss, Phil Cohen and Mrs. Juanita Smith, and all others whose cooperation and tireless efforts made the parade a success.

FIRST PLACE POSTER WINNER: Brownie Troop 214 received first prize of $5.00 cash for having the most original and attractive posters in the Clean-Up Campaign Parade in Lexington Friday afternoon.

Members of the troop are: Ann Rutledge, Faye Lawrence, Susie Bylsma, Bonnie Davis, Karen Lammons, Cindy Smith, Debbie Hathcock, Mary Agnes Hathcock, Sara Ellison, Suzanne Yates, Sandra Green, Becky Stark, Celia Ann Dunn, Cindy Frost, Pamela Rutledge, Barbara Hyman, Laura Elizabeth Hammett, Jackie Carnathan and Fran Wynne. Troop leaders are Mrs. Herbert Hyman and Mrs. Mike Lammons.

Lexington Man Killed Monday

J. C. Thomas Is Victim Of Wreck On Highway 12

A Lexington man was killed in a one-car accident about two miles west of Durant on Highway 12 at 11:00 a. m. Monday, May 14.

Dead on arrival at District Two Hospital in Durant was James Curtis Thomas, 42-year-old salesman at O. L. Ellison's store in Lexington.

Rayford Torry, 26-year-old Negro, also an employee of Ellisons, was in the car with him and was not injured.

The two men were returning from Big Black River where they had been fishing during a vacation from the store where they were employed.

Investigating officer was Highway Patrolman R. A. Salley of Durant.

The 1953 automobile, belonging to Mr. Thomas, was overturned when it went out of control in a sharp curve and struck a bank.

J. C., as he was known to his friends, was born in the Sand Hills, son of Mr. Eugene Thomas and the late Mrs. Ezma Tate Thomas. He was a member of the Bowling Green Baptist Church and a veteran of World War II.

In addition to his father, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Floyd (Anna Lynn Thomas) Autry, Lexington; two brothers, Kelly Thomas, Tchula and Hubert Thomas, Kosciusko.

Interment will be in Bethesda Cemetery. Funeral services will be held at Southern Funeral Home chapel upon arrival of his father, who is en route from California.

to the dedication of Attala

Tchula Graduation Program Scheduled Tonight At 8:00 P M

Sullivan Will Make Address On Athletic Field

Twenty Tchula High School seniors will receive diplomas at graduation exercises tonight (Thursday) at 8:00 p. m. on the Tchula Athletic Field.

Featured speaker for the commencement program will be Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale.

Gloria Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Powell, will give the valedictory address and Mary Lou Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jones, will deliver the salutatory address. Awards and diplomas will be presented by W. R. Huddleston, principal.

Members of the graduating class are:

Chester Baker, Gertrude Baker, Paul Baker, Jo Ann Holeman, Sam Hutton, Jr., Mary Lou Jones, Betty Sue Killebrew, Mary Ann Killebrew, Walterine Kuhn, Jack Lee, Linda McRae, Brenda McRae, Kenneth Newman, Gloria Powell, Kenneth Rutledge, Shirley Ann Shelton, Patricia Simon, Billy Ray Tutterow and Peggy Winstead.

Baccalaureate Service

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday night at 7:30 at the Tchula Methodist Church with the Rev. Wilson Ray delivering the message.

Special music was presented by the High School Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Sam Hutton, with Miss Bonnie Shelton and Mrs. Ellis Harris accompanying at the organs. This group sang "Praise Ye The Father" and "The Lord Is My Light."

Ushers were Jimmy Barrett, Vernon Mathias, Rod Holeman, Milton Thornton, Kenneth Howard, Marion Upchurch, Allen Johnson and Charles McWade.

Combined Bible School Set For May 28-June 1

The First Presbyterian Church, the First Methodist Church and St. Mary's Episcopal Church of Lexington will join together in holding their annual Daily Vacation Bible School immediately after school is out.

This school, which will have departments meeting in all three churches, will begin on Monday, May 28th and continue through Friday, June 1. Classes will meet each day from 8:00 to 11:00 a. m.

Miss Fan Sadler and Miss Ann Shepherdson, trained leaders in this field, will be in charge of the young groups and local teachers will teach the Intermediates.

Superintendents of the various departments are as follows:

Mrs. Roy Young, Beginners; Mrs. Dan Pepper, Primary; Mrs. Edwin White, Junior; Mrs. Parham Williams, Jr., Intermediate.

Committee chairmen are:

Hospitality, Mrs. M. K. Ginn; Refreshment, Mrs. Gor-

(Continued on page eight)

The other speaker was Edwin White of Lexington, well known attorney and former member of the Legislature who paid an eloquent tribute to another Lexington attorney, the Hon. G. H. McMorrough, for whom the new HJC Library is named. Mr. McMorrough currently is serving as President of the HJC Board of Trustees.

President Frank B. Branch served as master of ceremonies for the event in Carroll auditorium which was attended by about 200 persons throughout the county and a number of visitors from supporting counties. These counties, in order of their association with the Holmes institution, are Carroll, (since 1925), Attala (since 1956), Montgomery (1958), Grenada (1959), and Madison (1961).

Members of the boards of supervisors, boards of education and trustees from all of the counties were presented by Mr. Branch.

Mr. Branch

"If the boys and girls of your county have the ability and the need, we will see to it that they get a two-year education at Holmes Junior College," President Branch told the officials.

HJC has only "scratched the surface" in the service it is possible to give people of the supporting area, Mr. Branch contends.

"By expanding and having the necessary funds to carry on such a program, we can take care of anything needed in technical and vocational education to fill the state's growing industrial needs," he asserted.

Holmes Praised

Mr. Branch paid high tribute to all the supporting counties and told about the wonderful spirit of cooperation. He then said: "And I can't say enough for the people of Holmes County. They have supported the school tremendously. All buildings on the campus were built by the people of Holmes County except the new library which was built with money appropriated by the legislature. ($133,000 of a $350,000 appropriation from the Legislature went for the library, the remainder for much needed repairs and improvements).

Mississippi, along with Cali-

(Continued on Page Eight)

G. H. McMorrough

HJC, HAHS Combined Commencement Set Sunday; 113 Will Receive Diplomas

Ninety-one college sophomores and twenty-two high school seniors will receive diplomas at combined graduating exercises Sunday, May 20th at Holmes Junior College in Goodman.

The commencement program will be held on Branch Field at 3:00 p. m. Dr. Donald B. Roark, Executive Assistant and Personnel Director of Mississippi Chemical Corporation of Yazoo City will be featured speaker.

Diplomas and awards will be presented by President Frank B. Branch.

Baccalaureate Service

The Baccalaureate service will be held on Sunday also at 11:00 a. m. in Carroll Auditorium with the Rev. Clifton Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of West Point bringing the message. Rev. Perkins is a former pastor of the Goodman Baptist Church.

LHS Baccalaureate Service Set Sunday

The 1962 Baccalaureate sermon, honoring the graduating seniors of Lexington High School will be held Sunday, May 20th at 11:00 a. m. at the First Baptist Church of Lexington.

The Rev. P. D. Bragg, pastor of the church, will preach an inspiring message directed to the thirty-three members of the class.

Ushers will be Hugh Johnson, David Miles, Jr., Thomas Edwards, Don Barrett, Dale Russell and Donald Edwards.

The public is extended an invitation to attend.

Baptist VBS Set For May 28-June 1

Beginning Monday, May 28 and continuing through Friday, June 1st Vacation Bible School will be held at the First Baptist Church in Lexington. Preparation activities and enrollment will be at 3:00 p. m. on Friday, May 25th at the church.

Mrs. Sidney Henley will serve as principal of the school, which will meet during the hours of 8:00 and 11:00 a. m. each week day.

Those serving as department superintendents are:

Mrs. Reuben Netherland, Nursery; Mrs. Ross Willoughby, Beginner; Mrs. Mike Lammons, Primary; Mrs. Henry McClellan, Junior; and Mrs. Duane Tucker, Intermediate.

Children between the ages of four and fifteen years of age are invited to attend.

In Hospital

Mrs. Annie Ford Stewart is a patient in the Holmes County Community Hospital.

McMORROUGH LIBRARY at Holmes Junior College was dedicated Wednesday with appropriate ceremony. The $133,000.00 structure is named for G. H. McMorough, veteran Lexington attorney who has been identified with the school for more than fifty years, presently serving as president of the Board of Trustees.

Editorials

A Positive Approach

Mississippi Council On Human Relations

A Mississippi Council On Human Relations has been organized by white and Negro leading citizens representing every area of the state.

The purpose of the Council is to work toward understanding and better relations between the races in Mississippi.

None will question that both understanding and better relations are needed and few are who will not admit present relations are at a new, low ebb.

The mere fact there is a group of citizens who care enough about our state and its people to try to improve human relations is encouraging.

It is a well known fact nothing worthwhile can be achieved without understanding — and there can be no real understanding when people cannot communicate. This is basic to all human relations. It is also well established that when people do not communicate problems arise which seem to defy solution. An atmosphere of fear envelops and conflict becomes inevitable.

Only when we bring our problems out in the open and examine them, discuss them freely, is there hope for solution.

Thus the Mississippi Council On Human Relations should provide a vehicle whereby people of good will may work toward solving our problems by bringing them out in the open and discussing them and coming to understand each other. This kind of positive action offers Mississippi's only hope for preserving racial peace and preventing certain future conflict.

Mississippi cannot afford the type of racial conflict now in progress in other southern cities, such as Birmingham, Alabama. Our whole state tax structure is based on not only maintaining our present economy but increasing it. We are skating now on thin ice. Any serious racial disturbance will upset our economy and anticipated income will not only fail to materialize but actually decrease. (Mail order fear who never knew it before. It has divided and confused us as never before. For the future the Citizens' Council offers only defiance of law and order and closing of public schools and other public facilities which means a return to ignorance and the Dark Ages. The Citizens' Council also is a ready-made political machine for the political control of the people by demagogues who are interested only in exploiting us and advancing their own personal and political fortunes. They are a threat to every independent citizen who wishes to think and act for himself.

We do not know what the Mississippi Council On Human Relations may do — but could it do worse?

* * * *

State daily newspapers we have seen did not print anything about the Mississippi Council On Human Relations except a brief mention of officers elected. We have seen no editorial comment at all in any state newspaper.

In order that readers of this newspaper may be informed on the subject we have secured a copy of its declaration of purpose and a statement of its objectives which we believe you will find of interest.

The declaration of purpose formally adopted by the group said, and we quote:

Believing that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God, and drawing our inspiration and guidance from the Judaeo-Christian continuity of prophetic witness for social justice, and desiring to support in the State of Mississippi those objectives in this direction which elsewhere within our nation have won general recognition and acceptance, we hereby propose to form in Mississippi an organization to be known as The Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

Positive Approach

Stressing the positive approach to be used by the Mississippi Council in an effort to better human relations in

Through The Years

Items of interest from the past taken from our files of The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News.

By Ruth B. Flower

TEN YEARS AGO

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY WILL BE OBSERVED

National Hospital Day, Monday, May 12th will be observed as visitation day at the Holmes County Community Hospital in Lexington.

Every citizen in the county interested in seeing the improvements made to the hospital during the past twenty months is given a cordial invitation to visit the hospital on that day.

Hostesses for the visiting hours will be representatives of all churches with Mrs. E. W. Hooker serving as general chairman.

They are Mrs. Will D. Wilson, Mrs. Tom Shepherd, Miss Cecile Samaha, Mrs. W. Allan Ramsey, Mrs. Herman F. Flowers, Mrs. Allie Povell, Mrs. Joe Berman, Mrs. Edwin White, Mrs. William R. Ellis, Mrs. M. E. Blake, Mrs. Pat M. Barrett, Miss Eve Blake, Mrs. Parham H. Williams, Mrs. Sidney P. Rhyne and Miss Joyce Williams.

The Lexington Garden Club, with Mrs. J. F. Williams, president, will furnish flowers for the occasion.

The latest addition to the memorial rooms is one honoring the late Miss Tommie Foster of Tchula. Other memorial rooms which have now been transferred to the new wing honor Dr. R. M. Stephenson, Theresa Fritz, R. E. Wilburn, Dr. J. Thad and Alice K. Buck.

The incubator in the nursery was given by Lexington BPW Club, and the special lighting in the nursery was purchased with a Christmas vesper choir offering from St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

BIRTHDAY PARTY FETES LITTLE SONIA GILLIAM

Little Sonia Chason Gilliam daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Gilliam celebrated her fourth birthday anniversary on Saturday afternoon, May 2nd at the home of her parents at 205 Clifton Street.

Fourteen little guests enjoyed her hospitality, playing games such as pinning the ear on the rabbit and fishing for souvenirs which were balloons and whistles.

A May pole was used in the party decorations and Sonia's birthday cake was cut and served with Dixie cups at the conclusion of the games.

Mrs. Gilliam was assisted in serving by Mrs. Herbert Steele of Lexington, Mr. and Ed Stigler and Miss Mary Elizabeth Stigler all of Tchula.

EUROPEAN ATTACHE IS LEXINGTON VISITOR

Dewitt T. Warner, acting inspector in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice, Mobile, Alabama was in Lexington Friday visiting his brother, J. H. Warner and Lexington friends.

Mr. Warner has recently returned from Europe where he spent ten years in England and Germany. He was attached to the American Consular Service office in Berlin and was in Europe when World War II was declared.

While in Germany, Mr. Warner met Rudolph Hess and other high German officials and heard several speeches made by Adolph Hitler.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

MARRIAGE LICENSES SHOW BIG DECLINE

June is generally known as the month of roses and weddings but unless the demand for marriage licenses picks up says J. D. Weeks, Circuit Clerk, the roses will have little to bloom for, unless business gets better.

ADVERTISER HONORED ON 95TH BIRTHDAY

The Advertiser acknowledges a beautiful basket of flowers from Mrs. W. W. Wilburn of this city, bearing the message "Many Happy Returns for The 'Tiser", as a gift and remembrance on the Ad-

Guest Editorial

An Assassination Attempt

(Reprinted from the Greenwood Commonwealth)

The vicious foes of Frank Smith are trying in every conceivable way to discredit one of the most outstanding Congressmen in the nation. They're trying it in the only way their crowd knows, guilt by association. Over the years they have found it an effective tool.

We predict that this time, though their efforts will backfire on them. Frank Smith towers above scurrilous attacks from behind.

The latest under-the-counter nip at the leading man's heels comes in the form of a reprint from a column by Tom Etheredge of the Jackson Clarion Ledger. Etheredge has long run with the pack in Jackson which is pouring money, time, energy, lies and other forms of venom into the North Delta campaign.

Under the guise of being fair-minded. the columnist presents excerpts from editorial comment in four newspapers, two supporting Frank Smith and two supporting Jamie Whitten.

But which newspapers does he quote? Not the Commonwealth. That would have been fair editorial comment. But reprinting statements from the Delta Democrat Times in Greenville and The Lexington Advertiser, he reasons, will instantly discredit the man who stands for independence of mind and spirit within the framework of service to his people.

Independence, straight forward honesty in the face of tribulation, is a virtue that the crowd which the Jackson columnist serves as an organ, can't stomach. Independent thinking fill them with fear for their political security Independent thinking, honest action against the winds of hostility if allowed to impress Mississippians, will undermine this crowd's stranglehold on the people, erode their power, destroy their jobs. Frank Smith must be assassinated politically no matter what the cost, rumbles the drum beat from Jackson.

But the Jackson columnist's effort, as reprinted by the forces opposed to honest and straightforward representation in Washington, will fail. Sophisticated voters in this area will read the veiled attack carefully and note the following:

Hodding Carter doesn't write that Frank Smith is a man after his own way of thinking on the racial issue. He doesn't say that he and Frank are friends or that Frank ever worked on his newspaper.

He merely states that political bossism is trying to stab Frank Smith in the back because he has consistently refused to play along with them in their demagogic quest to strangle Mississippi. He merely says that Frank Smith exercises an independence of judgment in representing his people that certain forces cannot live with.

Regardless of what Hodding Carter and his newspaper stand for Carter is a man who admires and respects independence and honesty.

Likewise, Hazel Brannon Smith of The Lexington Advertiser writes only that Congressman Frank Smith strikes fear in Jackson because of his independence and that he can do more good for Mississippi in Washington than any of our other Congressmen.

That is precisely the Commonwealth's position.

We feel that wise voters in this area won't allow themselves to be stampeded by emotional tirades of the most vicious sort and turn on a man against whom his enemies can find only one charge — that he refused to go along with them.

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, May 17, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.)_____Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

fear envelops and conflict becomes inevitable.

Only when we bring our problems out in the open and examine them, discuss them freely, is there hope for solution.

Thus the Mississippi Council On Human Relations should provide a vehicle whereby people of good will may work toward solving our problems by bringing them out in the open and discussing them and coming to understand each other. This kind of positive action offers Mississippi's only hope for preserving racial peace and preventing certain future conflict.

Mississippi cannot afford the type of racial conflict now in progress in other southern cities, such as Birmingham, Alabama. Our whole state tax structure is based on not only maintaining our present economy but increasing it. We are skating now on thin ice. Any serious racial disturbance will upset our economy and anticipated income will not only fail to materialize but actually decrease. (Mail order houses do a tremendous business in Mississippi already.)

State business and professional men and women have long recognized and privately admitted the need for some kind of a constructive approach toward relieving the stress and strain existing now in race relations throughout Mississippi. The problem has long dominated the business and social life and government and affected industry. These business and professional leaders would do well now to join the newly formed Mississippi Council On Human Relations and help to give it strength and direction. Voluntary action now would be easier and of greater moral force and benefit than later action compelled by the crisis of dire necessity — as has been the case in many other places.

Governor Ross Barnett could add to his role as our leader and Chief Executive by giving encouragement and moral support to these people who are attempting to help our state move forward rather than backward through the Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

The white Mississippi Citizens' Councils have brought us steadily worsening relations between the races incited by fear, uncertainty, suspicion, and intimidations, both economic and social. They have brought us to the present impasse in race relations, a point of no return. We have been led down a blind alley and now have no place to go. People have come to know ment at all in any state newspaper.

In order that readers of this newspaper may be informed on the subject we have secured a copy of its declaration of purpose and a statement of its objectives which we believe you will find of interest.

The declaration of purpose formally adopted by the group said, and we quote:

Believing that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God, and drawing our inspiration and guidance from the Judaeo-Christian continuity of prophetic witness for social justice, and desiring to support in the State of Mississippi those objectives in this direction which elsewhere within our nation have won general recognition and acceptance, we hereby propose to form in Mississippi an organization to be known as The Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

Positive Approach

Stressing the positive approach to be used by the Mississippi Council in an effort to better human relations in the state, the organizational group formally adopted support of the following:

1. The traditional freedom of speech including its class-room counterpart of academic freedom for all teachers.

2. The basic freedom of assembly in which men who believe in democratic institutions may meet together without anxiety.

3. Absolute impartiality as to race in the enforcement of law by police and courts and in the selection of jury members.

4. The application of one set of requirements in one manner to all individuals who seek registration for voting, regardless of race.

5. Employment in industry and agriculture on the basis of merit.

6. Wise compliance with the spirit of the Supreme Court decision of 1954 within the living context of the situation in Mississippi through:

a. Voluntary removal of state and local laws enforcing segregation.

b. Prompt acceptance of qualified Negro applicants on the part of colleges and graduate schools.

c. Initiation on the part of men of good will of both races within local communities of plans for compliance in the lower schools in advance of compulsory action by federal courts.

d. Immediate representation by qualified Negroes on local and state boards of education where these posts are appointive.

Gilliam celebrated her fourth birthday anniversary on Saturday afternoon, May 2nd at the home of her parents at 205 Clifton Street.

Fourteen little guests enjoyed her hospitality, playing games such as pinning the ear on the rabbit and fishing for souvenirs which were balloons and whistles.

A May pole was used in the party decorations and Sonia's birthday cake was cut and served with Dixie cups at the conclusion of the games.

Mrs. Gilliam was assisted in serving by Mrs. Herbert Steele of Lexington, Mr. and Ed Stigler and Miss Mary Elizabeth Stigler all of Tchu-

Dewitt T. Warner, acting inspector in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice, Mobile, Alabama was in Lexington Friday visiting his brother, J. H. Warner and Lexington friends.

Mr. Warner has recently returned from Europe where he spent ten years in England and Germany. He was attached to the American Consular Service office in Berlin and was in Europe when World War II was declared.

While in Germany, Mr. Warner met Rudolph Hess and other high German officials and heard several speeches made by Adolph Hitler.

the Delta Democrat Times in Greenville and The Lexington Advertiser, he reasons, will instantly discredit the man who stands for independence of mind and spirit within the framework of service to his people.

Independence, straight forward honesty in the face of tribulation, is a virtue that the crowd which the Jackson columnist serves as an organ, can't stomach. Independent thinking fill them with fear for their political security Independent thinking, honest action against the winds of hostility if allowed to impress Mississippians, will undermine this crowd's stranglehold on

Likewise, Hazel Brannon Smith of The Lexington Advertiser writes only that Congressman Frank Smith strikes fear in Jackson because of his independence and that he can do more good for Mississippi in Washington than any of our other Congressmen.

That is precisely the Commonwealth's position.

We feel that wise voters in this area won't allow themselves to be stampeded by emotional tirades of the most vicious sort and turn on a man against whom his enemies can find only one charge — that he refused to go along with them.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

MARRIAGE LICENSES SHOW BIG DECLINE

June is generally known as the month of roses and weddings but unless the demand for marriage licenses picks up says J. D. Weeks, Circuit Clerk, the roses will have little to bloom for, unless business gets better.

Only three licenses for white couples were sold in Holmes County during the month of March, and during the month of April the amount sold was doubled, making a total of nine for both months.

The record shows licenses for Negro couples numbered twenty-nine for each month, making a total of 58 for both months.

BOBBY SWITTENBERG MAKES FAMOUS DRIVE ON GOLF COURSE

Bobby Swittenberg, young golfer and member of Lexington Country Club, joined the ranks of the famous the past week when he made a hole-in-one on Number 3 of the local links in a game with several friends.

The number 3 green is a shot of 116 yards and has been the means of one other player, H. L. Nichols attaining such a perfect shot.

Bobby is one of the younger players and has improved his game which placed him in the hall of fame with the more experienced players.

ADVERTISER HONORED ON 95TH BIRTHDAY

The Advertiser acknowledges a beautiful basket of flowers from Mrs. W. W. Wilburn of this city, bearing the message "Many Happy Returns for The 'Tiser", as a gift and remembrance on the Advertiser's ninety-fifth birthday. The beautiful blossoms were from the flower yard at her home, that is always an inspiring sight to flower lovers.

We also wish to thank others for their kind expressions and best wishes contained in letters mailed to the office.

Jack O'Kelly Will Receive BS Degree From Memphis State

Jack O'Kelly of Route 5, Lexington, is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree from Memphis State University on Saturday, May 26.

Commencement exercises will be at 10 a. m. in the University Field House.

Dr. C. C. Humphreys, MSU president, will confer degrees on some 325 students, including 32 graduate students, in one of the largest spring commencements in Memphis State's history.

Addressing the group will be General Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American National Red Cross and former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.

A reception for graduates, their families and friends will be held in the student center after the exercises. General Gruenther also will attend the reception.

Mr. O'Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. O'Kelly, is majoring in secondary education.

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, May 17, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.)_____Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

Legislative Bulletin

Monday begins 20th week of a session still difficult to characterize — Most predict two more weeks, with adjournment "around the 25th — Next two weeks will be hazardous ones, in an atmosphere not conducive for the most deliberate, sound-thought-out actions — solons are understandably tired and weary with it now apparent no more major money is in legislative reapportionment, however, in case of deadlock on this, most special session within next 12 months — how ever some mighty important legislation hanging in balance at present, and deserves your attendtion! — Senate adjourned for weekend on Thursday. See last paragraph of this report for actions in House Friday morning.

During 19th week Governor signed these bills of note: S 1571, requires banks to have in actual cash or due from banks, 15 per cent of demand deposits and seven per cent of time and savings deposits — S 1575, fix pay of jurors — S 1620, provide for partial payment of group policies premiums — H 143, providing for non profit dental service corporations — H 68, fix qualifications of jurors.

Bills clearing final hurdle and awaiting action of governor, unless otherwise indicated, during week were: S 1784, include teaching of American government in high schools — S 2039, rural communities organize non-profit corporations to service residents with water and sewage systems (amended in House, now goes back to Senate) — S 1577, for publication of school board proceedings in newspapers or post on bulletin boards — S 1888, additional powers for county port commissions — S 1903, permit defendants in suits on public contractors bond to require known claimants under bond to be joined as parties — 597, creating Gulf Coast junior college district — H 135, medical scholarship recipient may serve in city under 5,000 — H 348, certain electors ineligible serve on county board of education — H 403, board trustees institutions of higher learning may study on overlapping of facilities — H 82, authority for junior colleges to borrow funds from federal agencies to build dormitories and pay bonds with revenues from buildings — H 530, define one year legal residence for resident students in institutions of higher learning.

H 767, insurance agents may petition insurance commission or commissioner for hearing on rates and other matters affecting them (held on motion) — H 443, remove necessity for county executive committee allocate poll managers for citywide election municipal officials — S 1871, remove disability of minority of married minors for acquiring, selling and conveying homestead — H 238, revisions in 1961 action on sale or lease 16th sections lands to permit use such lands for underground storage and provide election feature in counties if not required by A & I Board — H 195, municipalities clean lands on its own motion — H 342, withdraw U. S. highways from arrest jurisdiction of constables (held on motion) — H 580, authorize domestic insurance companies make additional investments — H 561, Mississippi enter Southern Interstate Nuclear compact — H 709, junior colleges may establish accident contingent fund — H 862, general legislative investigating committee may meet during sessions — H 61, establish grounds in law for annulment of marriages — H 231, prohibit false use of "wholesale" advertising — H 316, eminent

(continued on page five)

MEDITATION

May 17

By their fruit ye shall know them. (Matthew 7:20)

The above saying is ideally illustrated in the Apostle Paul's remembrance that Timothy's unfeigned faith dwelt first in his grandmother Lois and in his mother Eunice. To my continuing wonder, I note regularly in my own church, and in others I visit from time to time, that there are generally two women to one man in the regular Sunday congregation.

Like the women of the Bible, women of the present day are, as a rule, more earnest in spiritual outlook. Like "waiting Mary" and "bustling Martha" they energetically use their talents in many ways to serve God and their fellowmen.

Ruth's devotion to God lives eternally bright in the lines of David and her other glorious descendants. Esther exhibited greatness in relieving the distress of her fellow Jews through her influence on a great king of Persia. The devotion of the women mentioned in the New Testament is well illustrated by the going of "Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre" on the first Easter morning.

PRAYER: Father in heaven, we are inspired by the works of faith of famous women mentioned in the Bible. May their examples serve to strengthen our faith. In Jesus' name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The lives of godly women impel us to greater works of faith.

Guy E. Snavely, (Florida)

ONE YEAR AGO — Durant graduates were, first row, reading from left to right: Dale Lewis, Dianne Weaver, Betsy Gardner, Diane Wells, Irene Belcher, Jimmye Lois McNeer, Minnie Ola Ammons, Estell McGehee, Charlotte McCrory; Second row: Miriam Alexander, Mary Ann Stapleton, Lena Rhyne, Johnny McCreary, Carl English, Johnny Vaughn, Carolyn Musslewhite, Mackie Huddleston; Third row: Benny Joel McBride, Wesley Lepard, Larry Ellis, Jerry Gilmore, Charles Myers, Jimmy Rigby, Donnie Browning and Charles McBride.

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, May 17, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.) _____Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

Editorials

A Positive Approach

Mississippi Council On Human Relations

A Mississippi Council On Human Relations has been organized by white and Negro leading citizens representing every area of the state.

The purpose of the Council is to work toward understanding and better relations between the races in Mississippi.

None will question that both understanding and better relations are needed and few are who will not admit present relations are at a new, low ebb.

The mere fact there is a group of citizens who care enough about our state and its people to try to improve human relations is encouraging.

It is a well known fact nothing worthwhile can be achieved without understanding — and there can be no real understanding when people cannot communicate. This is basic to all human relations. It is also well established that when people do not communicate problems arise which seem to defy solution. An atmosphere of fear envelops and conflict becomes inevitable.

Only when we bring our problems out in the open and examine them, discuss them freely, is there hope for solution.

Thus the Mississippi Council On Human Relations should provide a vehicle whereby people of good will may work toward solving our problems by bringing them out in the open and discussing them to understand each other. This kind of positive fear who never knew it before. It has divided and confused us as never before. For the future the Citizens' Council offers only defiance of law and order and closing of public schools and other public facilities which means a return to ignorance and the Dark Ages. The Citizens' Council also is a ready-made political machine for the political control of the people by demagogues who are interested only in exploiting us and advancing their own personal and political fortunes. They are a threat to every independent citizen who wishes to think and act for himself.

We do not know what the Mississippi Council On Human Relations may do — but could it do worse?

* * * *

State daily newspapers we have seen did not print anything about the Mississippi Council On Human Relations except a brief mention of officers elected. We have seen no editorial comment at all in any state newspaper.

In order that readers of this newspaper may be informed on the subject we have secured a copy of its declaration of purpose and a statement of its objectives which we believe you will find of interest.

The declaration of purpose formally adopted by the group said, and we quote:

Believing that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God, and drawing our inspiration and guidance from bringing them out in the open and discussing them and coming to understand each other. This kind of positive action offers Mississippi's only hope for preserving racial peace and preventing certain future conflict.

Mississippi cannot afford the type of racial conflict now in progress in other southern cities, such as Birmingham, Alabama. Our whole state tax structure is based on not only maintaining our present economy but increasing it. We are skating now on thin ice. Any serious racial disturbance will upset our economy and anticipated income will not only fail to materialize but actually decrease. (Mail order houses do a tremendous business in Mississippi already.)

State business and professional men and women have long recognized and privately admitted the need for some kind of a constructive approach toward relieving the stress and strain existing now in race relations throughout Mississippi. The problem has long dominated the business and social life and government and affected industry. These business and professional leaders would do well now to join the newly formed Mississippi Council On Human Relations and help to give it strength and direction. Voluntary action now would be easier and of greater moral force and benefit than later action compelled by the crisis of dire necessity — as has been the case in many other places.

Governor Ross Barnett could add to his role as our leader and Chief Executive by giving encouragement and moral support to these people who are attempting to help our state move forward rather than backward through the Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

The white Mississippi Citizens' Councils have brought us steadily worsening relations between the races incited by fear, uncertainty, suspicion, and intimidations, both economic and social. They have brought us to the present impasse in race relations, a point of no return. We have been led down a blind alley and now have no place to go. People have come to know

Believing that all men are of equal worth in the sight of God, and drawing our inspiration and guidance from the Judaeo-Christian continuity of prophetic witness for social justice, and desiring to support in the State of Mississippi those objectives in this direction which elsewhere within our nation have won general recognition and acceptance, we hereby propose to form in Mississippi an organization to be known as The Mississippi Council On Human Relations.

Positive Approach

Stressing the positive approach to be used by the Mississippi Council in an effort to better human relations in the state, the organizational group formally adopted support of the following:

1. The traditional freedom of speech including its class-room counterpart of academic freedom for all teachers.

2. The basic freedom of assembly in which men who believe in democratic institutions may meet together without anxiety.

3. Absolute impartiality as to race in the enforcement of law by police and courts and in the selection of jury members.

4. The application of one set of requirements in one manner to all individuals who seek registration for voting, regardless of race.

5. Employment in industry and agriculture on the basis of merit.

6. Wise compliance with the spirit of the Supreme Court decision of 1954, within the living context of the situation in Mississippi through:

a. Voluntary removal of state and local laws enforcing segregation.

b. Prompt acceptance of qualified Negro applicants on the part of colleges and graduate schools.

c. Initiation on the part of men of good will of both races within local communities of plans for compliance in the lower schools in advance of compulsory action by federal courts.

d. Immediate representation by qualified Negroes on local and state boards of education where these posts are appointive.

Memo from LESLIE W. DUNBAR

MJ - attached for Campaign
Story for B.Y. type my note below on lay

PRV
PAV
JMV
MCV
WBV

Think this a most interesting statement coming from Truman

LD

The Lexington Advertiser

"Principles and Men: Truth—the Weapon we use in their Defence."

Volume 125 | Lexington, Mississippi — Thursday, June 7, 1962 | Number Ten

2,147 Holmes Voters Ballot Tuesday

Whitten Wins Holmes County By Slender Margin Of Seventeen Votes

Approximately 55 per cent of Holmes County's qualified voters, a total of 2,147 went to the polls Tuesday to help elect a United States congressman to serve the newly created 24-county Second District for a two-year term beginning in January, 1963. There are 3,909 qualified voters in the county.

The electorate also approved, 1,326 to 802, a change in the constitution that will permit the separation of the offices of sheriff and tax collector thereby allowing the sheriff to succeed himself.

The vote was Congressman Frank E. Smith, incumbent of the old Third District, 1,065; and Congressman Jamie Whitten, incumbent of the old Second District, 1,082.

By a slender margin of 17 votes Mr. Whitten captured Holmes County in his column, although leading in only five of the county's fifteen precincts and tying in two others.

Mr. Whitten led by 21 votes in Lexington where the vote was Smith, 303, and Whitten, 324 for a total of 627 votes cast out of a possible 1,207, the total number of qualified electors in the precinct.

In Durant, where Mr. Whitten had an active organization led by Dr. C. E. Patton, his county campaign manager, Mr. Whitten polled 292 votes to 165 for Mr. Smith. This was a total of 630 votes cast out of a possible 803, the total number of qualified voters.

Other precincts in which Mr. Whitten led were Acona, 22 to 8; Thornton, 40 to 21; and Tchula, 148 to 87.

The precincts giving Mr. Smith a majority included all

HON. JAMIE WHITTEN

In Tuesday's Democratic primary Whitten won a 3 to 2 victory in the Second Congressional District over Frank Smith in the state.

R. L. Peaster Rites Held On Monday

Robert Lee Peaster, well known prominent businessman and planter of Quofaloma Plantation at Tchula, died at 9 p. m. Saturday at King's Daughters Hospital in Yazoo City, after suffering a heart attack a week before.

He was 89 years of age and an active member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Peaster is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mabel Cunningham Peaster and a son, Dixon Peaster of Tchula. Their daughter, Laura Lee preceded him in death several years ago.

Five sisters surviving are Mrs. E. M. Thompson, Tchula; Mrs. W. C. Pollard, Miss Lela

Cancer Fund Totals Listed For Holmes

With practically all campaign funds reported, Holmes County today is some $58.00 short of its $2,500 goal in the 1962 Cancer Crusade.

A total of $2,442.73 has been turned in to W. A. Ramsey, fund drive chairman, and only a few community chairmen have not reported. Anyone having funds not yet turned in is asked to do so immediately. It is hoped that at least $60.00 will be realized additionally to put the county

"MISS HOSPITALITY" AND ALTERNATES: Joyce Faye King, center, lovely 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King, will reign as Lexington's "Miss Hospitality" for 1962.

First alternate is Mary Thurmond, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thurmond and second alternate is Margaret Rush, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rush.

Miss King will represent Lexington in the state contest at Biloxi in July.

Joyce F. King Is Miss Hospitality

Mary Williams Is Lexington's Little Miss Hospitality

Miss Joyce Faye King and

"Little Miss Hospitality" for 1962.

Miss King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King and Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parham H. Williams, Jr. were selected Sat-

Miss Fonville Camp Castalian Program Director

Through Hazel Eyes

By Hazel Brannon Smith

One of the most absorbing programs presented at the Mississippi Press Association convention at Biloxi last weekend was a panel in which the new $200 million Mississippi Test Facility planned for Hancock County and the southern part of the state was discussed.

Appearing on the program were Bart J. Slattery, chief of Information of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center of Huntsville, Alabama; David Newby, Assistant Deputy for Administration, also of the Huntsville center and Phil Claybourne, Assistant Saturn Project Officer of the NASA Launch Operations Center at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

We have written a rather lengthy editorial (sorry it couldn't be shorter) based on information given by the gentlemen named which we know our readers will find of interest. It is mostly factual information about the test facility which every Mississippian should have in order to be informed on the most important development ever planned for our state.

The Jackson Citizens' Council, setting itself up as prosecuting attorney, jury and judge, (which is standard procedure for the Citizens' Council organization), says information has been presented now which "tends to cast doubt as to the (forged) telegram's authenticity."

Why don't the leaders in the Citizens' Council just come out like men with an honest statement saying they made a mistake and, in fact, committed a terrible injustice and are sorry for it? And apologize to the persons they have wronged?

We are referring of course, to the shameful incidents of May 16, 17 and 18 when the Jackson Citizens' Council sought to take over WLBT-TV, discredit a Jackson Episcopal rector, and intimidate the Mississippi Legislature — all in three consecutive days' time and in that order.

On our editorial page last week we printed Dick Sanders' "Comment" which he presented over WLBT on May 24th in which he protested treatment he received at the hands of a Citizens' Council employee, saying he was "unfairly used" and the facilities of WLBT taken advantage of

(Continued on Page Two)

Mississippi Woman Editor Named As National Headliner By Theta Sigma Phi

Highest Honor Of Professional Frat Given Hazel Smith

Indianapolis, Indiana, June 7 —(Special) — Two Washington news reporters and a crusading weekly newspaper editor from Mississippi have been named 1962 national Headliners by The Theta Sigma

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter

As a member of the Vice President's staff, Elizabeth Carpenter handles all arrangements for his foreign visitors, often edits his speeches, deals with an average of 150 telephone calls a day, and takes care of innumerable details which she describes as ranging from "so important it's frightening" to "so trivial it's lengthy editorial (sorry it couldn't be shorter) based on information given by the gentlemen named which we know our readers will find of interest. It is mostly factual information about the test facility which every Mississippian should have in order to be informed on the most important development ever planned for our state.

The Jackson Citizens' Council, setting itself up as prosecutor, judge, and intimidate the Mississippi Legislature — all in three consecutive days' time and in that order.

On our editorial page last week we printed Dick Sanders' "Comment" which he presented over WLBT on May 24th in which he protested treatment he received at the hands of a Citizens' Council employee, saying he was "unfairly used" and the facilities of WLBT taken advantage of

(Continued on Page Two)

"MISS HOSPITALITY" AND ALTERNATES: Joyce Faye King, center, lovely 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King, will reign as Lexington's "Miss Hospitality" for 1962.

First alternate is Mary Thurmond, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thurmond and second alternate is Margaret Rush, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rush.

Miss King will represent Lexington in the state contest at Biloxi in July.

Mississippi Woman Editor Named As National Headliner By Theta Sigma Phi

Highest Honor Of Professional Frat Given Hazel Smith

Indianapolis, Indiana, June 7 —(Special) — Two Washington news reporters and a crusading weekly newspaper editor from Mississippi have been named 1962 national Headliners by Theta Sigma Phi, the professional fraternity for women in journalim.

This year's winners of the coveted awards, highest honor bestowed by the fraternity, were announced today by Mrs. Robert R. Surgeon, Nashville, Indiana, national president of the fraternity. They are:

Elizabeth S. (Mrs. Leslie) Carpenter, for more than 15 years a Washington, D. C. newspaperwoman and now serving as executive assistant to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, the first woman ever named to such a post.

Ann M. Corrick, radio and television news reporter for the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company in Washington, D. C.

Hazel Brannon (Mrs. Walter D.) Smith, editor and publisher of The Lexington Advertiser and three other weekly newspapers in Mississippi, winner of numerous citations for her continuing fight against injustice and crime.

The three women, all members of the fraternity, will be honored at Theta Sigma Phi's national convention in San Antonio, Texas, Thursday, June 21, when they will be featured speakers at a Headliner Dinner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter

As a member of the Vice President's staff, Elizabeth Carpenter handles all arrangements for his foreign visitors, often edits his speeches, deals with an average of 150 telephone calls a day, and takes care of innumerable details which she describes as ranging from "so important it's frightening" to "so trivial it's almost insulting."

She accompanied Vice President and Mrs. Johnson on their around-the-world trip last year, when they conferred with heads of government in a number of Southeast Asian nations.

For the 15 years prior to her appointment by the Vice President, Mrs. Carpenter and her husband, Leslie Carpenter operated a Washington News Bureau, serving a number of newspapers in several Southwestern states. Her husband continues to run this business.

In 1954 she was the youngest correspondent to be elected president of the Women's National Press Club. In 1956, she was the first newspaperwoman to be selected by the Department of State to represent the U. S. in a journalists' tour sponsored by the NATO nations of Europe.

She is a journalism graduate of the University of Texas and the mother of two children, ages 12 and 15.

Miss Ann M. Corrick

Ann M. Corrick, a broadcast journalist in Washington, D. C. since 1943, is serving as president of the Radio-Television Correspondents Association, the first woman

(Continued on Page Two)

Joyce F. King Is Miss Hospitality

Mary Williams Is Lexington's Little Miss Hospitality

Miss Joyce Faye King and Little Miss Mary Martha Williams will reign as Lexington's "Miss Hospitality" and "Little Miss Hospitality" for 1962.

Miss King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King and Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parham H. Williams, Jr, were selected Saturday night at the "Miss Hospitality" contest held in Kenna Auditorium.

First alternate for "Miss Hospitality was Miss Mary Thurmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thurmond and second alternae was Miss Margaret Rush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rush.

The program began with a prelude of soft music by Mrs. Necie Povall at the organ and Rob Henley and Bill McLellan at the piano.

The Rev. Crawford Ray, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lexington, gave the invocation.

Mel Chrestman served as master of ceremonies.

During the two intermission periods entertainment was presented by Miss Marilyn White of Canton, who gave a reading entitled, "I Am An American"; a tap dance

(Continued on Page Eight)

Cottage Prayer Services Set For Next Week Here

Cottage Prayer Meetings will be conducted on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights of next week in six sections of Lexington in preparation for the forthcoming revival at the First Baptist Church in Lexington.

These sessions of prayer and devotional will be held from 7:00 to 7:30 p. m. in various homes, with appointed leaders conducting the service.

Regular prayer service will be held at the church at 7:30 on Wednesday evening, with the pastor, Rev. P. D. Bragg officiating.

Revival services are scheduled at First Baptist beginning Sunday, June 17 and concluding Sunday, June 24. Guest preacher will be the Rev. Malcolm Oliver Tolbert of Slidell, Louisiana and guest music director will be Dennis P. Bucher of New Orleans.

All members and visitors are urged to attend these prayer services.

Miss Fonville Camp Castalian Program Director

Miss Anita Fonville will serve on the staff as Program Director at Camp Castalian Springs. Nita comes from Cleveland High School where she was Physical Education teacher.

The girls' camp will begin with a two-week period, June 10 to 23, with a second and third period, June 24th-July 7th and July 8-14.

Boys camp opens July 15th with a two-week camping period ad two one-week sessions. The schedule for boys is July 15-18; July 29-August 4; and August 5-11.

W. S. "Monk" Fowler is chairman of the camp committee of the State YMCA, and Joe E. Pasley is camp director.

JOHN DOWNER RECEIVES DEGREE

John Gelston Downer received a BA degree, with a biology major at the University of Mississippi on Sunday, June 3rd. Members of his family attending his graduation were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Downer, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Scott all of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gelston of West; Mr. Paul Baldwin and daughter, Mary Ann of Atlanta, Georgia.

Impressive GA Coronation Held At Tchula Church

The First Baptist Church of Tchula was the scene of a very impressive Girls Auxiliary Presentation and Coronation Service Sunday night, May 27th.

The pulpit was arrayed to carry out G. A. colors of gold, green and white. Two baskets of white stock with a gold mum were placed on either side. Garlands of green ivy with small gold crowns were the background. On the table in the center were three large candles, one of gold, green, and white flanked by two floor candelabra each with twelve white tapers. Candidates carried a candle which was lighted at the end of the service.

Candidates were as follows:

Queens — Sandra Ables, Linda Brantley, Doris Bridgers, Dianne Henderson, Patricia Henderson, Jean Johnson, June Simmons and Brenda Wade.

Princess' — Patsy Shanks, Mary Jane Beeson and Debbie Gosnell.

Lady-In-Waiting — Linda Thomas, Debbie Dickard and Angelea Taylor.

Mrs. H. L. Nichols, Jr. is G. A. Counselor.

The Rev. Roy D. Raddin presented the awards and Queen's pages were David Raddin and Jack Bridgers.

GA CORONATION: Girls participating in the Girls Auxiliary Coronation at Tchula Baptist Church on Sunday, May 27 were: left to right standing, Doris Bridges, June Simmons, Diane Henderson, Patricia Henderson, Mrs. Hugh Nichols, Jr., Jean Johnson, Linda Brantley, Brenda Wade, and Sandra Ables.;

Seated: Debbie Gosnell, Linda Thomas, Mary Jane Beeson, Jack Bridgers, David Raddin, Angelea Taylor, Debbie Dickard and Patsy Shanks.

The vote was Congressman Frank E. Smith, incumbent of the old Third District, 1,065; and Congressman Jamie Whitten, incumbent of the old Second District, 1,082.

By a slender margin of 17 votes Mr. Whitten captured Holmes County in his column, although leading in only five of the county's fifteen precincts and tying in two others.

Mr. Whitten led by 21 votes in Lexington where the vote was Smith, 303, and Whitten, 324 for a total of 627 votes cast out of a possible 1,207, the total number of qualified electors in the precinct.

In Durant, where Mr. Whitten had an active organization led by Dr. C. E. Patton, his county campaign manager, Mr. Whitten polled 292 votes to 165 for Mr. Smith. This was a total of 630 votes cast out of a possible 803, the total number of qualified voters.

Other precincts in which Mr. Whitten led were Acona, 22 to 8; Thornton, 40 to 21; and Tchula, 148 to 87.

The precincts giving Mr. Smith a majority included all the four precincts in Beat Three, Pickens, 129 to 37 out of a possible 260 votes; Coxburg, 47 to 40, out of a possible 237; Ebenezer, 35 to 29 out of 138; Richland, 12 to 7 out of 34.

Cruger Scores

In the strictly Delta district of Cruger, Mr. Smith received the majority, 68 to 45 for a total of 113 votes cast. There are only 156 qualified voters in the precinct. This was the largest percentage vote recorded in the county in proportion to the total number of qualified electors.

Mr. Smith also received a majority in three precincts of Beat Two: West, where the vote was 112 to 29; Emory, 8 to 5; and Edsville, 7 to 1.

In two other Beat Two precincts, Goodman and Bowling Green, the men tied, with 58-all cast in Goodman and five each in Bowling Green. Goodman has 20 qualified voters and Bowling Green 24.

The complete unofficial vote in both the congressional race and the constitutional amendment is printed in a table elsewhere on this page.

An official canvass of election returns will be made today (Thursday).

Complete, Unofficial Vote

Holmes County

Tuesday, June 5, 1962

Precinct	Total No. Qualified Voters	Congressman Lindsey	Smith	Whitten	Amendment For	Against
Lexington	1207	0	303	324	381	247
Acona	63	0	8	22	7	22
Durant	803	0	165	292	338	105
West	226	0	112	29	96	41
Goodman	206	0	58	58	81	36
Bowling Green	24	0	5	5	0	11
Edsville	12	0	7	1	0	8
Emory	25	0	8	5	0	13
Pickens	260	0	129	37	97	69
Coxburg	237	0	47	40	50	39
Ebenezer	138	0	35	29	14	51
Richland	34	0	12	7	2	16
Thornton	116	0	21	40	34	30
Tchula	402	0	87	148	156	75
Cruger	156	0	68	45	66	48
	3,909	0	1,065	1,082	1,326	802

R. L. Peaster Rites Held On Monday

Robert Lee Peaster, well known prominent businessman and planter of Quofaloma Plantation at Tchula, died at 9 p. m. Saturday at King's Daughters Hospital in Yazoo City, after suffering a heart attack a week before.

He was 89 years of age and an active member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Peaster is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mabel Cunningham Peaster and a son, Dixon Peaster of Tchula. Their daughter, Laura Lee preceded him in death several years ago.

Five sisters surviving are Mrs. E. M. Thompson, Tchula; Mrs. W. C. Pollard, Miss Lela and Mss Hattie Peaster, all of Yazoo City and Mrs. E. Sledge of St. Petersburg, Florida.

Funeral services were held at the plantation home at 10 a. m. on Monday, with the Rev. Wilson Ray and the Rev. Karl Foster officiating.

Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery here.

MORRIS SCHUR RECEIVES DEGREE

Mr. Nathan Schur attended graduation on Sunday, June 3rd of his son, Morris Schur from the University of Mississippi. Morris received a degree in Bachelor of Public Admnistration in City Management and also receved a commission of Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Force Reserve. He is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma honorary fratenity, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schur.

Mrs. Schur is at the bedside of her father, Mayor Harry Applebaum of Yazoo City in Oschner's Clinic in New Orleans.

HON. JAMIE WHITTEN

In Tuesday's Democratic primary Whitten won a 3 to 2 victory in the Second Congressional District over Frank Smith in the state.

Cancer Fund Totals Listed For Holmes

With practically all campaign funds reported, Holmes County today is some $58.00 short of its $2,500 goal in the 1962 Cancer Crusade.

A total of $2,442.73 has been turned in to W. A. Ramsey, fund drive chairman, and only a few community chairmen have not reported. Anyone having funds not yet turned in is asked to do so immediately. It is hoped that at least $60.00 will be realized additionally to put the county over the top.

Of the $2,442.73 total the Negro citizens of the county contributed $478.03, Mr. Ramsey said. The Rev. C. L. Clark and the Rev. S. G. Carey headed the Negro drive in Holmes County.

Mr. Ramsey said he wished to thank all community chairmen, the Negro leaders and everyone in the county who contributed, white and colored.

The complete report from Mr. Ramsey shows the following contributions.

Lexington	$551.47
Durant	454.96
West	106.00
Goodman	188.30
Pickens	145.47
Tchula	202.00
Cruger	117.50
Ebenezer	37.25
Thornton	113.50
Acona	36.00
Bowling Green	12.25
Negro Citizens	478.03
TOTAL	$2,442.73

In the Negro community

(Continued on page eight)

"LITTLE MISS HOSPITALITY": Little Miss Mary Martha Williams, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parham H. Williams, Jr. was crowned "Little Miss Hospitality" by Jimmy Ray, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Crawford Ray, Saturday night at the Miss Hospitality contest held in Kenna Auditorium.

Editorials

Man On The Moon

Mississippi Moves Into Space Age — With Test Facility

Mississippi is going to help put a man on the moon and bring him safely back to earth — and within the decade.

Regardless of how one may feel about tampering with that ole man in the moon we've been seeing for years, we must confess the picture presented by America's manned lunar program is awesome in scope and thrilling to the heart and mind.

Let all Mississippians plan now to meet the needs of the Space Age in which we live and welcome this tremendous challenge to become an integral part of the nation we love whose citizenship we claim. Let us all open our eyes to the marvelous opportunity presented our state and its people to go forward and become part and parcel of this new day of progress, peace and prosperity.

Look and see what is happening in south Mississippi today:

Land is being purchased for the $200 million Mississippi Test Facility in Hancock and Pearl River Counties and in St. Tammany Parish Louisiana, an area of some 141,950 acres. The land being acquired through outright purchase is roughly about five miles square and contains 13,550 acres. The easement area, to be used as a buffer zone for dissipating the loud and low-frequency sound waves emanating from the test site, surrounds the purchased land area for about six miles and contains about 128,400 acres.

Total cost of purchased lands and easements acquired will be approximately $16 million. Land purchases will be completed this summer, by August 1, and the easement area by July 1, 1964, by a Corps of Engineer personnel operating out of a real estate which it will be considered an integrated complex or part for the manufacture and test of manned lunar landing vehicles.

At Michoud the Chrysler Corporation and Boeing Company have already received contracts to manufacture and assemble the advanced Saturn boosters — and by mid-1964 the Boeing Company will use its personnel at the Mississippi Test Facility to conduct test firings of the Saturn Booster (S-1C).

Two other important factors in the decision to locate the test facility in Mississippi, other than its nearness to Michoud, was the available water transportation and the sparseness of the population, the latter meaning that fewer families would be compelled to move.

Only one hundred families reside in the area where the facility will actually be constructed. About 750 residences and other buildings are in the easement area with the total being only 850 residences, churches, business establishments, etc., which must be displaced or relocated. Farming, grazing, timbering or mineral operations may continue in the easement area if desired by landowners.

Business and manufacturing firms throughout the state and area will gain.

Hundreds of individual and private firms will be necessary to provide the needed services and supplies at the Mississippi Test Facility. These will be privately contracted for under prescribed rules and regulations, standard government procedure. They will be in the fields of reproduction, photographic service as well as printing; communications, operation of telephone and teletype exchanges; food service,

Through The Years

Items of interest from the past taken from our files of The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News.

By Ruth B. Flower

ONE YEAR AGO — A former Coxburg school boy set a new record this week.

David L. Hearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hearn, became the first graduate of Coxburg High School to obtain a Master's degree from an institution of higher learning.

On Sunday, June 4, David received a master's degree in Business Education at the University of Mississippi. He had previously obtained his bachelor's degree in Business Administration at Delta State College where he attended two years following his graduation from Holmes Junior College.

DAVID L. HEARN

TEN YEARS AGO

TOM THUMB WEDDING

A Tom Thumb Wedding was held Monday in the Grammar School Auditorium at 7:30 sponsored by the Beacon staff, under supervision of Mr. James Reedy.

Sandra Hammett was the bride and Chris Myers the groom. Sarah Trotman was the jilted bride. Queens were Cynthia Heath, Tallulah King and Elizabeth Holder. Country cousins were Janie Moses, Patsy East, Steve Herring and Robert Autry.

John Murphy as Churchill and the rich uncle from Texas, Kim Kimbrough were wedding guests.

Bridesmaids were Lynn and Carol Holloman and Pat Slack; preacher, Don Barrett; best man, Wyche Hooker; ring bearer, Kirkham Povall; father of the bride, Jerry Fite; mother of the bride, Clara Sue Minyard; mother of the groom Janet Horseman; ushers, Tommy Taylor and Edward Lewis Schur; maid of honor, Amanda Povall; matron of honor, Ann Flowers; flower girls, Renee Gilliland and Virginia Hawkins.

Patsy Smith, soloist, sang, "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" with Mrs. Doty Porter at the piano.

A large and appreciative crowd witnessed the ceremony.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

BROCKS NOTE HUMOROUS SIDE TO HARD LUCK

"It's not so bad but that it couldn't be worse" is the attitude of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brock of Lexington route one, who brought in the following letter, after having suffered two heavy losses by fire in recent months.

Letter to a businessman in answer to his creditors:

Dear Friend:

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inmention a marriage license, dog license, hunting license and fishing license.

I am also required to contribute to women's relief, unployment relief, golddiggers relief, also Red Cross, Blue Cross and Double Cross.

I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, tornado insurance, fire insurance, crop insurance and burial insurance. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, examined, reexamined, in-

Sovereignty Commission PR Chief Asks For Racial Cooperation

Only Way To Keep Segregation In Schools, Johnston

Grenada — (UPI) — Erle Johnston, Jr., public relations director of the State Sovereignty Commission, said Friday night Mississippi's only hope of maintaining school segregation rests in the cooperation of its Negroes. He said extremists on both sides are preventing that cooperation.

"We already have many allies among the colored school teachers, bus drivers and other employers who want to preserve their employment. We can earn the cooperation of others with consideration and recognition and an honest attempt to provide colored citizens with facilities to which they are entitled."

Johnston, who edits the Scott County (weekly) Times at Forest, addressed gradutes of Grenada high. He described himself as neither "an extremist, liberal or moderate" but a "practical segregationist."

"Mississippi needs more white people who will publicly speak out for recognition without being branded as liberal leftists and more colored people willing to cooperate without being branded as Uncle Toms," he said. "We can be practical without being radical. We can be realistic without being ridiculous."

"I have often thought that if the extremists at both ends of this racial situation would quit wildly wagging their tongues and suspiciously pointing their fingers we could restore some racial harmony in Mississippi and make better progress."

* * * *

Johnston, without mentioning either group by name, had harsh words for the NAACP and the Citizens Councils.

The Negro group, he said, has clamored for special privileges rather than better treatment and has thrived "on "strained relations to strengthen their appeals for more funds from the North."

The white organization, he said, "believes in threat and intimidation." He said its members "mean well. They are dedicated to their cause able to take that mile whenever they please.

"It would seem far better to offer an inch of consideration across a table of harmony than to be forced to retreat further in an atmosphere of friction and bitterness."

Johnston, who was president of the Grenada Class of 1935, told the graduates:

"My generation, which is past the halfway mark, has been dedicated to educating the colored people and raising their standards of living. Many thousands have improved themselves educationally, morally and hygienically. As this number increases, it will become your decision as to how they should be treated in the future.

"Our colored people know about the hypocricies of the north. They know there is discrimination. They know attitudes cannot be legislated.

"Our separate school system of the future depends on our ability to earn and retain the cooperation, trust and confidence of the colored race in Mississippi. There are militant hot heads in both races. They must restrain theirs and we must restrain ours.

"As you contemplate the decisions you graduates may be called on to make, let me suggest that courtesy is better than coercion, interest is better than intimidation, recognition is better than retribution and friendship is better than force."

Johnston has been public relations director of the Sovereignty Commission since 1960. As part of his job with the official state agency he travels to the North speaking in defense of Mississippi views.

The trips have been effective, he said, but "we can expect no national movement of any strength which would support the Southern tradition of segregated societies.

Through Hazel Eyes—

(Continued from Page One)

to report "an out and out falsehood." The report was that a visiting segregationist minister, the Rev. Robert Ingram of Houston, Texas, had been "threatened and intimidated" if he appeared in Jackson to speak at the Citizens' Council annual meeting on

Mississippi Woman—

(continued from page one)

president in the 22-year old organization.

Before joining Westinghouse Broadcasting Company in 1958 as assistant chief of its Washington News Bureau, she was producer of the NBC radio and television programs "American Forum of the Air" and "Youth Wants To Know." As Washington correspondent for station WDCU-TV, she produced and moderated her own program, "Dateline Washington," which won a Sylvania citation for public service.

In addition to her daily spot news broadcasts, she produces and moderates a half-hour weekly radio interview program which frequently develops front page stories. She has reported every Democratic and Republican national convention since 1944.

Miss Corrick is a journalism graduate of the University of Texas, where she was president of Theta Sigma Phi student chapter.

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith

Hazel Brannon Smith, Lexington, Mississippi, has been campaigning the past 25 years for the equal rights of all men under the constitution and for freedom and responsibility of newspapers to publish the truth.

She purchased her first paper, The Durant News, in 1936. With her purchase of The Lexington Advertiser in 1943, she stepped up her fight against slot machine operators, liquor racketeers, gamblers and corrupt officials who were finding easy money and little opposition in her county. In 1946, principally due to her persistence, a grand jury voted 64 indictments after investigating organized crime in Holmes County.

Later, she was found guilty of contempt of court for interviewing a witness — the widow of a Negro murder victim — and was fined $50.00 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. The sentence was suspended and she was put on probation for a year. The Mississippi Supreme Court reversed the decision on appeal.

In 1954 she criticized the Holmes County Sheriff in a front-page editorial and was promptly faced with a $57,500 libel suit. The trial jury awarded him $10,000 but this decision, too, was reversed by the state's Supreme Court.

Her fight against injustice presented our state and its people to go forward and become part and parcel of this new day of progress, peace and prosperity.

Look and see what is happening in south Mississippi today:

Land is being purchased for the $200 million Mississippi Test Facility in Hancock and Pearl River Counties and in St. Tammany Parish Louisiana, an area of some 141,950 acres. The land being acquired through outright purchase is roughly about five miles square and contains 13,550 acres. The easement area, to be used as a buffer zone for dissipating the loud and low-frequency sound waves emanating from the test site, surrounds the purchased land area for about six miles and contains about 128,400 acres.

Total cost of purchased lands and easements acquired will be approximately $16 million. Land purchases will be completed this summer, by August 1, and the easement area by July 1, 1964, by a Corps of Engineer personnel operating out of a real estate project office in Bay St. Louis.

The test facility will take two years to build and is expected to be operational by the middle of 1964. In the interim workers will be used, beginning this fall, to construct the facility which includes stands for research and development and acceptance tests of stages to be used in support of the manned lunar program. In addition to the test towers there will be built an office or administration building, an engineering building, central data facility, and control center. The test support area will include shops, sheds, and warehouses for preparation facilities and for maintenance. A railroad spur and fuel storage area will also be required.

Cost of operating the Mississippi Test Facility after it is fully completed will be around $22 million annually. This figure is subject to revision, probably upward. Two thousand people will be employed. It will be a facility of and operated under the direction of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Alabama by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), with Dr. George N. Constan in charge.

The Mobile (Alabama) District, Corps of Engineers, is responsible for all design and construction at the Mississippi Test Center after criteria has been approved by the Marshall Center at Huntsville. Area development planning for the Mississippi Test Facility has been contracted (by NASA) with a St. Louis architect-engineer firm, Sverdrup and Parcel.

Mississippi was selected as the site of the test facility primarily because of its location near the big Michoud Operation in New Orleans of pelled to move.

Only one hundred families reside in the area where the facility will actually be constructed. About 750 residences and other buildings are in the easement area with the total being only 850 residences, churches, business establishments, etc., which must be displaced or relocated. Farming, grazing, timbering or mineral operations may continue in the easement area if desired by landowners.

Business and manufacturing firms throughout the state and area will gain.

Hundreds of individual and private firms will be necessary to provide the needed services and supplies at the Mississippi Test Facility. These will be privately contracted for under prescribed rules and regulations, standard government procedure. They will be in the fields of reproduction, photographic service as well as printing; communications, operation of telephone and teletype exchanges; food service, cafeterias and vending machines; medical, dispensaries and first aid; transportation, operation and maintenance, upkeep and routine repair of buildings and utilities; plant engineering provision of engineering service for routine maintenance, repair and minor alterations of buildings and utilities. Other support services will include security, fire protection, custodial, messenger and mail, and refuse disposal.

There will be hundreds of employment opportunities available from Boeing for highly skilled and educated personnel, all paying excellent salaries. To qualify for these positions persons must hold degrees in one of the following fields: Aeronautical Engineering, Architectural Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Civil and/or Structual Engineering, Electrical and/or Electronic Engineering, General Engineering, Industrial Engineering, Metallurgy, Mathematics and Physics.

The type of positions to be filled by Boeing include structural design, stress analysis, dynamics, acoustics, propulsion system design, propulsion systems analysis; industrial engineers in the fields of analyst, forecaster, procedure writers, schedulers and statistician; analysists for mechanical, electrical and electronic systems.

We believe we have told our readers enough for them to recognize the enormous potential offered by the Mississippi Test Facility in South Mississippi — and it is our fervent wish and hope that Mississippi people will make the best possible use of the opportunities presented to serve our nation and state in a most credible manner.

This is truly our golden opportunity.

The Lexington Advertiser

Thursday, June 7, 1962

HAZEL BRANNON SMITH (Mrs. Walter D.)_____Editor and Publisher
Established in 1837 — Published Every Thursday — Subscription rates: Anywhere in Holmes County, $3.00 per year; Outside Holmes County $3.50 per year. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Mississippi.

of Mr. James Reedy.

Sandra Hammett was the bride and Chris Myers the groom. Sarah Trotman was the jilted bride. Queens were Cynthia Heath, Tallulah King and Elizabeth Holder. Country cousins were Janie Moses, Patsy East, Steve Herring and Robert Autry.

John Murphy as Churchill and the rich uncle from Texas, Kim Kimbrough were wedding guests.

Bridesmaids were Lynn and Minyard; mother of the groom Janet Horseman; ushers, Tommy Taylor and Edward Lewis Schur; maid of honor, Amanda Povall; matron of honor, Ann Flowers; flower girls, Renee Gilliland and Virginia Hawkins.

Patsy Smith, soloist, sang, "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" with Mrs. Doty Porter at the piano.

A large and appreciative crowd witnessed the ceremony.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

BROCKS NOTE HUMOROUS SIDE TO HARD LUCK

"It's not so bad but that it couldn't be worse" is the attitude of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brock of Lexington route one, who brought in the following letter, after having suffered two heavy losses by fire in recent months.

Letter to a businessman in answer to his creditors:

Dear Friend:

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws and corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws and outlaws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay business tax, amusement tax, food tax, gas, light and water tax, carpet tax, income tax, furniture tax and excise tax. I am required to get a business license, truck license, not to mention a marriage license, dog license, hunting license and fishing license.

I am also required to contribute to women's relief, unployment relief, golddiggers relief, also Red Cross, Blue Cross and Double Cross.

I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, tornado insurance, fire insurance, crop insurance and burial insurance. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, examined, reexamined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled.

If I refuse to donate to something I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined. I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened this morning, I could not enclose this check.

The wolf that comes to everybody's door these days just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

STIGLERS WANT OTHERS TO ENJOY FINE ARTICLE

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stigler received an article written by Henry Ansley that appeared in the Amarillo News and sent to thtem by their daughter, Mrs. G. D. Lightner of Welasco, Texas.

As follows:

"I like the depression. No more prosperity for me. I have had more fun since the depression started than I ever had before in all my life. I had forgotten what it was like to have real friends or to eat common food. In fact I had become a little highhat.

It's great to drop into a store and feel you can spend an hour or two or three, without wasting anybody's time. Three years ago I ordered several tailor made suits at a time and was always dressed up, now I am mighty proud of my one Sunday-go-to-Meetin' suit and feel really dressed up. Three years ago I played golf on Sunday, now I go to church. I like the depression. I was so darn smart there wasn't a preacher in all Texas that could tell me anything. I go to church regularly and if this depression keeps on I may even be going to prayer meeting.

I am becoming acquainted with my neighbors who have lived next door for years. Three years ago I was so busy and my wife was so busy, we had no time for each other. My wife belonged to all the clubs and organizations in town, including the Young Mother's Club, and we have no children, but it was something for her to join.

We were so hifalutin' we took down the old family bed and bought twin beds. When I came home late she was already in hers and I crawled ino mine with a hot water bottle. Now we have discarded the twin beds, put the old bed back up as it requires only one pair of sheets. My wife has replaced the hot water bottle. I like the depression.

My digestion is better. Instead of breast of guinea hen, we have sow bosom with buttons. I like the depression."

Editor's Letter Box

Jackson, Miss.
364 Lee Circle
May 31, 1962

Dear Editor:

A few days ago one of the Jackson papers published a news story from Houma, Louisiana to the effect that a young science teacher of that town had been arrested and placed under bond for criticizing Governor Jimmie Davis and the Louisiana Legislature for building a million dollar mansion for the Governor of that state and his family to live in and refusing to give the poorly paid teachers a small raise. The 23 year old teacher's name was one Prof. Motto.

When I read of the arrest of that teacher I sat up and rubbed my eyes in utter astonishment. I wondered if there had been a misprint and the article had really referred to some incident in Communist Russia. Perhaps some correspondent had lost his sanity and had written the truth about some happening in Castro's Cuba. Surely a thing like that couldn't happen here in the South, the only true interpreter of the Constitution, especially the freedom of speech.

I had thought the only people who were trying to take our liberties away from us were the Kennedy's and the Supreme Court. Now here comes this incident in a neighboring state of a citizen arrested for daring to criticizing the governor. No, the offending teacher, as the news story shows, was not a colored man or a member of the NAACP. Here we have been criticizing the President and the United States Supreme Court whenever and wherever we pleased and I haven't heard of any white man being jailed for it. Why we have even said some pretty mean things about our governor's $10,000.00 bath room and a few other things and so far as I know nobody is in jail for those criticisms. If Governor Davis can get away with such usurpation of the freedom of speech and set up a kind of dictatorship just across the river from us, we here in Mississippi may be next.

W. J. Houston,
364 Lea Circle
Jackson, Miss.

liberal leftists and more colored people willing to cooperate without being branded as Uncle Toms," he said. "We can be practical without being radical. We can be realistic without being ridiculous."

"I have often thought that if the extremists at both ends of this racial situation would quit wildly wagging their tongues and suspiciously pointing their fingers we could restore some racial harmony in Mississippi and make better progress."

* * * *

Johnston, without mentioning either group by name, had harsh words for the NAACP and the Citizens Councils.

The Negro group, he said, has clamored for special privileges rather than better treatment and has thrived "on "strained relations to strengthen their appeals for more funds from the North."

The white organization, he said, "believes in threat and intimidation." He said its members "mean well. They are dedicated to their cause. But they have agitated the friction and bitterness and there is some question as to whether this attitude is a help, a hindrance, or merely creates hysteria."

Persons who want to keep segregation by "organizing and fighting" have only four courses to take, he said.

"They can fight through the courts, with weapons, with violence, or with boycott.

"Our attorney general and his staff are already doing an excellent job in the courts, but all litigation eventually reaches the dark corridors of the Supreme Court.

"Mississippians are courageous but not foolish. I don't believe we will open fire on U. S. marshals or soldiers in uniform.

"Mississippians are not barbarians. We will not don the sheets of an ancient era and inflict harm on colored people or destroy their property.

* * * *

"Boycotts would be ineffective because white employers are not going to fire colored workers from certain jobs and I don't believe retailers are going to refuse to sell merchandise to colored customers."

Some segregationists heatedly argue that to give up an inch is to give up a mile, Johnston said. "Yet they conveniently disregard the fact that the colored people of Mississippi, with the federal government and courts ready to support them, soon may be called on to make, let me suggest that courtesy is better than coercion, interest is better than intimidation, recognition is better than retribution and friendship is better than force."

Johnston has been public relations director of the Sovereignty Commission since 1960. As part of his job with the official state agency he travels to the North speaking in defense of Mississippi views.

The trips have been effective, he said, but "we can expect no national movement of any strength which would support the Southern tradition of segregated societies.

Through Hazel Eyes—

(Continued from Page One)

to report "an out and out falsehood." The report was that a visiting segregationist minister, the Rev. Robert Ingram of Houston, Texas, had been "threatened and intimidated" if he appeared in Jackson to speak at the Citizens' Council annual meeting on May 17 and that the telegram threatening him was sent by a Jackson Episcopal minister, the Rev. Edward H. Harrison.

It turned out that the telegram was not sent by Rev. Harrison — and that even if it had been — it could not have been construed as a threat or attempted intimidation wording.

Despite the fact that a vestryman of St. Andrews Episcopal Church told John Wright, president of the Jackson Citizens' Council, before the CC meeting started that Rev. Harrison had said he did not send the telegram, Mr. Wright permitted the telegram to be read and photostatic copies of it distributed to those attending. Mr. Wright also promised to permit the Vestryman to speak at the meeting but did not, later saying he "changed his mind."

The next day copies of the telegram were distributed to members of the Legislature in a further effort designed to smear the Rev. Harrison and intimidate the Legislature, possibly to keep it from selling a plot of land to the Episcopal Church for a day school. Fortunately the truth was learned and the Legislature was not intimidated.

But the whole truth has either not yet been learned, or told.

Responsible officials of the Citizens' Council should not stop until the person who sent the faked telegram is found and exposed.

paper, The Durant News, in 1936. With her purchase of The Lexington Advertiser in 1943, she stepped up her fight against slot machine operators, liquor racketeers, gamblers and corrupt officials who were finding easy money and little opposition in her county. In 1946, principally due to her persistence, a grand jury voted 64 indictments after investigating organized crime in Holmes County.

Later, she was found guilty of contempt of court for interviewing a witness — the widow of a Negro murder victim — and was fined $50.00 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. The sentence was suspended and she was put on probation for a year. The Mississippi Supreme Court reversed the decision on appeal.

In 1954 she criticized the Holmes County Sheriff in a front-page editorial and was promptly faced with a $57,500 libel suit. The trial jury awarded him $10,000 but this decision, too, was reversed by the state's Supreme Court.

Her fight against injustice and crime has been costly. Her husband lost his job as administrator of the county hospital in 1956 solely because Mrs. Smith had become "a controversial figure." Her opponents organized a concerted advertising boycott and in 1958 founded and subsidized a competing weekly newspaper in Lexington.

Among her honors are the National Editorial Association's Herrick Award for "editorial writing, embracing the highest type of American principles and ideals" in 1956; a citation from the Fund for the Republic to "an American whose actions have made an unusual contribution to advancing the principles of freedom and justice and the Bill of Rights" in 1957; a commendation from the Mississippi Press Association for "her epochal fight in the interest of freedom of the press" in 1957 and the 1960 Elijah Parish Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism from the University of Southern Illinois for "demonstrating the ability to perform under great stress — her role as editor of the community's newspaper so effectively as to win the approval and support in growing numbers of the right-thinking people of her town and county."

Return From Wedding Trip

Dr. and Mrs. Johnny Yarborough returned today from a southern wedding trip.

MEDITATION

June 7th

Read Ephesians 3:14-21

We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works. (Ephesians 2:10.)

After the early worship service in a chapel one morning, I remained in the pew and meditated for some time. At first lost in thought. I did not notice the man who was placing hymnals in the racks and collecting copies of the order of worship left in the pews. As he approached I saw a profound smile in his old rugged face. Shining rays of willing and blessed service seemed to radiate around him.

Each of us has responsibilities of stewardship to face. We have work to do which may generally be considered menial. However, our responsibilities in daily life become rare privileges for honoring God when we put ourselves into our work with willing hearts, pleasant attitudes, and thoughts — with a spirit like Christ's.

Yes, such stewardship not only becomes a privilege but also a beacon to all and sundry to Christian action, dedication, and service.

PRAYER: Let Christ shine in us, O Lord. May whatever we do, think, and say this day help those around us to feel the greatness of His love and see the beauty of His life. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

It is Christ's spirit in us which makes our stewardship meaningful.

Natty G. Barranda, (Philippines)

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

COUNTY OF HINDS

AFFIDAVIT

Personally appeared before me, the undersigned authority in and for said state and county, Albert Jones and A. L. Hopkins, who, being by me first duly sworn, stated on oath as follows:

On Friday night, December 15, 1961 at 8:20 P. M., affiants being together at the time, observed a meeting at an office building at 1072 West Lynch Street in Jackson, Mississippi, the window of which bore the name of "Mississippi Free Press." Those attending this meeting were William L. Higgs, a white Jackson attorney, Hazel Brannon Smith and her husband Walter Dyer Smith, both white, Medgar Evers, Negro Mississippi Field Representative for the NAACP, and two or three other Negroes that were not recognized. Affiant A. L. Hopkins definitely recognized Hazel Brannon Smith, William L. Higgs and Medgar Evers, while affiant Albert Jones definitely recognized Hazel Brannon Smith, Walter Dyer Smith and William L. Higgs.

Affiants further state that the said Hazel Brannon Smith was observed by them to be in conversation with one of the Negroes in said group, and that while in such conversation, she was standing facing the said Negro and was apparently emphasizing her statements by use of head and arms.

Affiants further state that a small compact white automobile with damage to the left front thereof was parked a few feet east of the above Lynch Street address and on the same side of the street, which automobile affiants believe was the automobile of the said Hazel Brannon Smith and Walter Dyer Smith, however, the affiants were unable to verify the ownership of the car due to the fact that a green tree, apparently a cedar Christmas tree, was in the trunk thereof and was tied to the rear bumper over the tag, making tag identification difficult.

Affiants further examined the Charter of Incorporation and Report of Incorporation of Hico Publishing Company in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Mississippi which reveals that it was incorporated by Robert L. T. Smith, Jr. and William L. Higgs of 2203 Barret Street and 707 N. Congress Street, Jackson, Mississippi, respectively, September 30, 1960 and that its purpose, among others, was to publish a newspaper, and issues of the said paper reveal that the said company publishes Mississippi Free Press at the above address on Lynch Street in Jackson, Mississippi with Paul E. Brooks as Editor. Report of Organization of said corporation shows the Directors thereof to be Robert L. T. Smith, Jr., Dr. A. B. Britton, Jr., W. J. Thompson, Cornelius Turner and Nolan Tate, and the officers thereof are said Robert L. T. Smith, Jr., President, Cornelius Turner, Vice-President, W. J. Thompson, Secretary and Dr. A. B.

Britton, Jr., Treasurer all of Jackson, Mississippi and the records further reveal that said corporation had authorized common stock of $20,000.00.

Albert Jones

ALBERT JONES

A. L. Hopkins

A. L. HOPKINS

Sworn to and subscribed before me this the 2nd day of January, 1962.

Helen Godwin

NOTARY PUBLIC

My Commission Expires:

January 1964

BACKGROUND

Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
Editor and Publisher
The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News
Lexington, Mississippi
(Holmes County)

PERSONAL: Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. D. B. Brannon of 2812 Sansom Avenue, (Alabama City) Gadsden, Alabama. Her mother was the late Georgia Freeman Brannon of the same address-who passed away in April, 1954. All of her family, on both sides, are Southern in origin. Mrs. Smith, the former Hazel Brannon, was born and reared in Alabama City (which has now been consolidated with Gadsden since about 1931) and is a graduate of Gadsden High School (1930). She worked two years on The Etowah Observer, a weekly newspaper there, for two years before resigning to enter college at the University of Alabama There she majored in journalism and was active in campus activities-was elected, by popular vote, as Women's Editor of The Crimson-White, U. of A. student weekly, and held other campus honors.

After graduation from Alabama (at Tuscaloosa) Miss Brannon went to Durant, Mississippi, where there was a weekly newspaper for sale. On borrowed money Miss Brannon bought this paper and paid it off in monthly notes. About two years after paying this paper off she obtained a loan and bought out the county site paper, The Lexington Advertiser, and combined operations in the same plant. (Both are in Holmes county, Miss.)

As editor of the two papers in Holmes county Miss Brannon has consistently upheld law and order, fought organized crime, and corruption in office, since 1943, earning for herself a number of bitter enemies, but also a large following. The papers have prospered and she has done exceedingly well for a small town publisher.

Marital: In 1950 Miss Brannon was married to Walter Dyer Smith, a native of Philadelphia, Penn. whom she met while on a trip around the world in 1949. Mr. Smith was working as a purser with the American President Lines at the time. He holds a bachelor's and a master's degree in education from Arizona State University-during the war did specialized educational work for the government and later specialized photographic work on the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos.

Because the editor did not want to give up her newspaper properties they agreed he would take a year's leave of absence from his company and see how things worked out for them to live in the small town (3,400 pop.) of Lexington and both work on the newspapers.

About three months later, however, the board of trustees of the Holmes County Community Hospital, asked Mr. Smith if he would take over the post of the Administrator of the hospital which was at the time being enlarged from a 25-bed to a 47-bed institution. Since this gave him an opportunity to establish his own identity in the community and county, they agreed it would be better in the long run-although the salary was not large. So he accepted the position.

Mr. Smith proved to be an able and a popular administrator. He took the hospital through its building program, built up a splendid staff, applied good administrative experience to putting it on a sound business basis-and took it out of the red into the black. The trustees showed their appreciation by advancing his salary periodically without being asked to, and by letting him run the hospital without any interference of any kind, taking his recommendations without question for hospital policy. This was the case until January of 1956-at which time they had already told him his salary would be advanced from $5200 to $6,000. Instead they fired him outright, without reason, stated or otherwise, and despite the fact that the entire medical staff of the hospital had unanimously gone on record asking that no change whatsoever be made in the office of administrator by the new board of trustees which went into office in January of 1956. (Only two of the old board members were still on-the new county board of supervisors having appointed three new trustees for the hospital.

The medical staff took this action because they wanted Mr. Smith to remain in the hospital where he had done in their own words "an outstanding job" and not let the hospital become involved in politics.

The reason Smith was fired was because, in the meantime, from July of 1954 specifically, his wife, Hazel Brannon Smith, had become a "controversial figure," in Holmes county. One of the old trustees, friendly to Smith and to his wife, told a Jackson Daily News reporter this and was quoted on it in the state press.

How Mrs. Smith became a controversial figure is stated as briefly as possible below:

1. In July of 1954 Mrs. Smith published a straight news story about the white sheriff of Holmes county, Richard F. Byrd, shooting a 27-year-old Negro man in the back. The Sheriff left town when he found she was investigating the shooting and didn't come back until the weekly paper was out. Mrs. Smith withheld any editorial comment the first week, leaving word for the Sheriff to contact her when he came back to town. He never did.

2. Without any word from the Sheriff the next week Mrs. Smith wrote an editorial criticizing the Sheriff's action in shooting the Negro-pointed to the abuse of six or seven other Negro citizens during the same evening, and ended the editorial by saying he was not fit to be sheriff and ought to resign.

3. The editor recognized the Sheriff as a menace to the peace and security of the community and county in which they lived-because of his racial bias and brutality. She actually feared what his official policy was doing to race relations in the county-which heretofore had always been good. (The Negro population in Holmes county is roughly 3-to-one then and now.) What she hoped to do was put the fear of God in his heart and make him exercise more care in the way he discharged his duties.

4. So much feeling against the Sheriff was aroused by the editorial that his friends told him he must "shut up the editor" or he would be forced to resign. A libel suit was agreed upon as the best means to silence the press.

5. The sheriff filed a libel suit for $57,500. which he claimed as "actual and punitive damages" from the news story and editorial as published in the two county papers.

All of this was in July, 1954, and followed the U. S. Supreme Court de-segregation decision by only two months-people in this area generally were beginning to be greatly concerned and fearful because of the court decision. However, no one seemed to take the lawsuit seriously-laughed about it, saying that it would never come to trial-that he was just trying to shut the editor up so he wouldn't have to resign, etc.

6. The editor did not discount the lawsuit or take it lightly-but she did not scare or back down either, because she knew that she had printed the truth-told her readers that she had and that when the time came to prove it the truth would be her defence.

7. In the meantime the Citizens' Council was organized in Holmes county, the latter part of July, 1954, the first Council to be organized outside of the original Citizens Council in Sunflower County (Indianola, Miss.)

8. The libel suit came up at the regular October term of Circuit Court in Holmes county, 1954, and the jury returned a verdict 10-2 in the amount of $10,000 for the Sheriff. Immediately appealed by attorneys for Mrs. Smith, to the Mississippi State Supreme Court.

What the lawyers for the editor found out was that lies circulated about her (the foremost of which was that she had a local Negro woman college president as a dinner guest in her home-) had done their dirty work. The case was not considered on its merits at all by the jury-but a racial case was made out of it. The editor had produced in court the Negro who was shot, the white doctor who treated him, a town marshal (white) who testified as to the good name of the Negro, etc. The jurors examined the scars on the front and back of his thigh where the bullet went through, etc.

9/ In September of 1955, one or two weeks before the appeal case was to be argued before the Miss. Supreme Court, a group of Citizens Council leaders in Holmes county called a mass meeting in which they "voted" that the white doctor who had treated the Negro and his associate, another white man, and their families "leave the county." This was because it was thought by the majority of those present that the two men were not in sympathy with the prevailing way of life in the South--they were believed not to believe in segregation, etc.

This mass meeting was a direct effort to intimidate the Mississippi State Supreme Court which was to hear the case appealed by Mrs. Smith. CC leaders also used this meeting to get a white minister fired (see below)*
The doctor (David Minter) was a high type professional man, a member of the hospital staff in Lexington and highly regarded by all of the scotors in Holmes county-he had a clinic in a rural area of Holmes county where he was engaged in a mission type of clinic, treating those who could not pay, etc.

Mr. Smith at the hospital and other doctors on the staff went all out to keep Dr. Minter and his family in the county-realizing the pattern was being set of getting rid of anyone and everyone who did not agree 100 percent with the status quo. This battle went on from the latter part of September until up in February, 1956, before it settled down. The families stayed on until the summer of 1956-and could have stayed indefinitely as far as economics were concerned-but they felt they would be happier elsewhere and left-the Minters' for Arizona and the other family for Tennessee.

* Dr. Marsh M. Callaway, pastor of the Durant Presbyterian Church. His offense was to stand up and condemn the mass meeting as "unchristian and unAmerican." He's now in Louisiana.

10. In November, 1955, the Mississippi State Supreme Court handed down its decision which was unanimous in favor of Mrs. Smith, dismissing the case and saying"the Sheriff by his own admission was guilty of an illegal assault upon the person of the Negro." She had proved her case.

In the year that had gone by between the Circuit Court trial and the appeal to the Supreme Court the Citizens Council had virtually taken over Holmes county-and friends of the Sheriff, members all of a Lexington political machine, had control of the offices in the Councils-and they were and still are uniformly hostile to Mrs. Smith because she is opposed to their principles and their methods and tactics.

This group had believed they were going to win the Supreme Court case-when it backfired on them their number one objective became to get revenge. Since that time this is some of the things they have done:

a. They had her husband fired from his job at the hospital-which would put them in a more vulernable spot economically. At the same time they circulated rumors all over the county they were going to put on an all-out boycott of her papers and force her out of business. This was printed in a newspaper published in the central Mississippi area, (Four-County News)

b. They pressured the three new supervisors, who took office in January, 1956, to award the county's contract for legal proceedings to a new publication (The Four-County News) published in a remote corner of the county by people who live in an adjoining county. This paper has a total circulation of less than 1,000 and claims only 600 in the Pickens and Holmes county area. (The Advertiser and Durant News have 4,200 circulation.) It had just been in business a little over a year and was trying to get business from a four county area that came together at a point about 20 miles distant from Lexington.

c. A group of seven CC members who were and are members of the Lexington Rotary Club, met and decided they didn't want Mrs. Smith to come to the Rotary meetings any more. She had been, on the club's invitation, a sort of honorary member of the Club and attended all their weekly meetings and gave them excellent publicity. They wrote her a nice little note and thanked her for her services and said someone else would now take care of the publicity for the club. Many other little things like this were done to try to make life miserable for the editor.

d. Some members of the CC went around to merchants and tried to get them to enter into a conspiracy against The Advertiser-to stop all local advertising in it. For some reason this failed-although it did make a big inroad on local advertising and commercial job printing. Still there were some eight or ten of the main local advertisers who continued to have their ads fairly regularly, although everything became harder to do. Many of these regulars have never come back-and are not expected any time soon.

e. Another crisis developed when it became known that Mrs. Smith was the subject of a prize-winning letter written by Hodding Carter of Greenville, Miss. in the American Democracy contest sponsored by The Fund for The Republic--this was a contest to honor those Americans who have made an outstanding contribution to the American Traditions of freedom, justice, etc. This was saved by an editorial written by Major Fred Sullens of

The Jackson Daily News-who pointed out the "fine way in which the Holmes county editor has upheld the freedom of the press in this state and in the nation" and lauding the editor for that worthwhile contribution, etc."

Mrs. Smith had also been awarded the Herrick Award for outstanding examples of American Democracy in action, etc. This is an award given by the National Editorial Association, the largest non-metropolitan newspaper group in the U. S. The latter award was in June of 1956--the Fund for The Republic Award was in February of 1957. No money was involved-just plaques and the honor.

Mrs. Smith also won the award for the best editorial written by a woman in the National Federation of Press Women in 1948 and again in 1955-the only women in the country to win this award twice. This second citation was the editorial criticizing the Sheriff of Holmes county for his abuse of the Negro.

Ever since the Holmes editor has been in business she has stood for racial justice and understanding-for equal rights in the courts, etc. Her efforts toward better race relations have been recognized by Negroes of the state as far back as 1948 when she was given the Certificate of Merit from Mississippi Negro School Teachers, who voted her as that white person in the state who had done the most toward better racial understanding, "for her outstanding service to Mississippi in the field of Human Relations."

f. The latest crisis to develop in Lexington was October 17, 1957, when the November issue of Ebony magazine was placed on the news stand. It carried a picture of Mrs. Smith as a person who had "campaigned for justice for all, regardless of race." It borrowed the picture from Time magazine which had published it in November of 1955 when Mrs. Smith won her case in the Miss. Supreme Court. The Ebony picture was used with an article and pictures of other white women in the South which, by suggestion or implication, made them all integrationists. The picture was published without the knowledge or consent of Mrs. Smith.

The same group of Citizens Councils members have brought copies of the magazine in from the outside of the county (only 7 copies were bought by the one news stand in the county which handles it) and passed these copies around, especially to all of the advertisers. Now more pressure than ever is being exerted against Mrs. Smith as a result of the picture in Ebony and the tactics of those who are using this incident to further smear her.

It is too early yet to ascertain how long this present intimidation will last-but merchants are definitely fearful.

Hazel Brannon Smith, Editor & Publisher

The Lexington Advertiser and The Durant News

Lexington, Mississippi

Background: Mrs. Smith is a native of Alabama City, Alabama, a graduate of Gadsden High School and the University of Alabama. Prior to attending the state university she worked for two years on The Etowah Observer, a weekly in Gadsden.

On graduation from the university in 1936, Hazel Brannon arranged a loan and bought the small weekly, The Durant News of Durant, Mississippi. In 1943, with the aid of a second loan, she bought The Lexington Advertiser and combined the operation of the two papers in the Lexington plant. Lexington, county seat of Holmes County, has a population of 3,400. Of the 33,300 persons in the county in 1950, 73.5 per cent were non-white.

As editor of the two Holmes County papers Miss Brannon upheld law and order, fought organized crime in the County and corruption in public office. While attracting the expected opposition she never-the-less earned for herself a large following and a stable place in the ~~local~~ community. The papers prospered and she did exceedingly well for a small town publisher.

In 1950, Miss Brannon was married to Walter Dyer Smith of Philadelphia, a purser on the American President Lines, whom she met on a trip around the world in 1949. Mr. Smith, who holds A. B. and M. A. degrees from Arizona State University, ~~During the war he~~ did specialized educational work for the government during the war and later photographic work on the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos. Because the editor did not want to give up her newspaper properties it was agreed that Mr. Smith would take a year's leave of absence from his company and come to Lexington where both would work on the newspapers.

Some three months after coming to Lexington, Mr. Smith was asked by the Board of Trustees of the Holmes County Hospital to serve as Administrator of the hospital which was then being enlarged. Mr. Smith accepted the position and served as an able and popular administrator until January 1956.

BACKGROUND: Mrs. Smith is a native of Alabama City, Alabama. On graduation from the University of Alabama in 1936, Hazel Brannon arranged a loan and bought the small weekly, The Durant News of Durant, Mississippi. In 1943, with the aid of a second loan, she bought The Lexington Advertiser, and combined the operation of the two papers in the Lexington plant.

As editor of the two Holmes County papers, Miss Brannon upheld law and order, fought organized crime in the county and exposed corruption in public office. While attracting the expected opposition she never-the-less earned for herself a large following and a stable place in the community. The papers prospered and she did exceedingly well for a small town publisher.

In 1950, Miss Brannon was married to walter Dyer Smith of Philadelphia. Because the editor did not want to give up her newspaper properties it was agreed that Mr. Smith would take a year's leave of absence from his company and come to Lexington where both would work on the newspapers. Some three months after coming to Lexington, Mr. Smith was asked to serve as administrator of the Holmes County Hospital Mr. Smith accepted the position and served as an able and popular administrator until January 1956.

July, 1954: In July of 1954 Holmes County Sheriff Richard F. Byrd shot in the back a 27-year-old Negro man who was not under arrest or resisting arrest. On learning that Mrs. Smith was investigating the incident the Sheriff left town. Mrs. Smith published a news story of the shooting, withholding editorial comment. She left word for the Sheriff to contact her on his return to town. He did not do so.

On the following week, ~~without any word from the Sheriff~~, Mrs. Smith wrote an editorial criticizing the Sheriff's action in the shooting and pointing to the abuse of six or seven other Negro citizens during the same evening. The editorial ended by saying the sheriff was not qualified to hold his office and should resign. This editorial was cited by the National Federation of Press Women as the best editorial written by a woman during 1954.

Commenting on her action and its aftermath, Mrs. Smith says, "The editor recognized the Sheriff as a menace to the peace and security of the community and the county in which he lived - because of his racial bias and brutality. What she hoped to do was put the fear of God in his heart and make him exercise more care in the way he discharged his duties."

Considerable community feeling was aroused by the editorial. The sheriff was told by his friends that he must prevent future editorials of this nature or resign. At this point a libel suit was agreed upon and the Sheriff filed suit for $57,500 "actual and punitive damages" from the news story and editorial as published in the two county papers. The community did not take the law suit seriously. It was treated as a humorous incident which would never reach court. The editor did take the lawsuit seriously but had no doubt that she would win the case in local court.

These incidents were taking place some two months after the Supreme Court desegregation ruling, a decision which was beginning to cause grave concern in the community. During July, 1954, a White Citizens' Council unit was organized in the County; the first to be organized after the original group in Sunflower County.

Mrs. Smith and her attorneys were to learn that a number of rumors were being circulated about her, the foremost of which was that she had a local Negro woman college president as a dinner guest in her home. Her major offense, however, was to defend the rights of Negroes when the whites of Holmes County had to "stand together".

The libel suit came up at the regular October term of Circuit Court. The editor produced in court the Negro who was shot, Dr. David Minter who treated him and a town marshall who testified to the good name and character of the victim. The jury, after deliberation, returned a 10-2 verdict in favor of the sheriff for payment of $10,000 damages by Mrs. Smith. The case was immediately appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court. In November, 1955, the Mississippi State Supreme Court gave a unanimous decision in favor of Mrs. Smith. The case was dismissed and the Court commented," the Sheriff, by his own admission, was guilty of an illegal assault upon the person of the Negro." Mrs. Smith had won her case, but in doing so she had incurred some $5,000 in attorneys fees and related costs.

In September 1955, several weeks before the appeal case was to be argued before the state Supreme Court, a group of Holmes County White Citizens Council leaders called a mass meeting. At this meeting it was "voted" that Dr. Minter and his associate, Eugene Cox, and their families "leave the county". Dr. Minter, in addition to his regular professional duties, conducted a mission-type clinic in a rural areaof the county for persons, Negro & white, who could not otherwise afford medical services. The WCC felt these men did not believe in segregation or "the Mississippi way of life." Realizing the pattern being established, Mr. Smith and the other doctors on the hospital staff did everything possible to keep the two families in Holmes County. Some five months later, however, the families decided to leave; the Cox family for Tennessee and the Minters' to Arizona. (Insert I)

Sheriff Byrd, supported by the White Citizens Council, had expected a favorable verdict from the appeal. When this proved not to be the case an organized campaign of revenge was undertaken, against the local "supporter of Negroes' rights."

January 1956: By January, 1956 Hazel Brannon Smith had become a "controversial" figure in Holmes County. Walter Smith continued his work as hospital administrator. He had taken the ~~hospital~~ institution through its building program, built up a well-qualified staff and had, through good administrative procedures, placed the operation on a non-deficit basis. The trustees showed their appreciation by ~~advancing~~ increasing his salary periodically without being asked to do so and by accepting, without question, all recommendations from him regarding policy and administration. In January, a new hospital board, consisting of two old and three new ~~appointed~~ trustees appointed by the ~~newly elected~~ county board of supervisors, was to take office. The entire medical staff of the hospital, fearing that politics were about to be injected into the administration of the hospital, unanimously went on record asking that no changes be made in the office or administrator ~~of the by the new board~~. Smith, however, had been told that his salary was to be advanced from $5,200 to $6,000. At the ~~meeting~~ January meeting of the hospital trustees Smith was fired without reason being given. One of the old trustees, friendly to the Smiths, stated to a Jackson Daily News reporter that the action was taken because of Mrs. Smiths politics. The trustee was quoted to this effect in the state press.

The firing of Walter Smith marked the beginning of an economic boycott against the Smiths and ~~the~~ their newspapers. The WCC leadership openly stated that they were beginning a boycott to force Mrs. Smith out of business. ~~and a newspaper~~ The Four-County News ~~in~~ a nearby small newspaper ~~the county~~ published stories of the boycott and its sponsors. The Delta-Democrat Times quoted a Lexington WCC member as saying, "we want to buy the paper from that woman and bring in a young man with the right attitude."

The firing of Walter Smith marked the beginning of an organized economic boycott against the Smiths and their newspapers. There had been earlier attempts, spasmodic efforts at having merchants withdraw advertising, but though felt these attempts had not seriously affected the paper. As of January, however, the WCC leadership openly stated they were beginning a boycott to force Mrs. Smith out of business. The Four-County News, a nearby small newspaper, published stories of the boycott and its sponsors. The Delta-Democrat Times quoted a Lexington WCC member as saying, "we want to buy the paper (the Advertiser) from that woman and bring in a young man with the right attitude."

The three new ~~county~~ supervisors did not review the contract ~~withdrew its~~ contract with the Advertiser. The contract for publishing the county's legal proceedings was awarded to The Four-County News, published in a remote corner of the County by persons who live in an adjoining county. The Four-County News had a circulation of less than 1,000, 600 in Holmes and Pickens Counties. The Advertiser and Durant News have 4,200 circulation.

WCC members visited local merchants in an effort to have them withdraw all advertising and job printing from Mrs. Smith's firm. The boycott was not completely effective although a number of accounts were lost. The peak effectiveness of the boycott was probably reached in August 1956 when the firm, for both advertising and job printing, failed to take in enough money to meet the monthly payroll. This month was atypical but since that time Mrs. Smith's object has been ~~to remain in business rather than make a profit on her publishing operation.~~ one of survival; to remain in business with little hope of significant profit in the foreseeable future.

The Smiths have ~~also~~ been ~~the object of~~ subjected to social as well as economic ~~boycott~~ reprisal. Typical is the siutation with the Lexington Rotary Club. For years Mrs. Smith has been, at the invitation of the club, an honorary member attending all weekly meetings and giving the club excellent publicity. After the boycott was begun, however, Mrs. Smith recieved a note from the club requesting that she not attend future meetings. The note thanked her for her past interest and stated that someone else would now take care of the publicity for the group. ~~Number 2 forever friends, acquaintances no longer speak to the Smiths.~~

Since the beginning of the boycott a series of crisies have developed for Mrs. Smith. Ironically, these have usually arisen from national publicity or awards for her newspaper work. One ~~of these~~ such crisis occured when the Fund for the Republic ~~awarded~~ made Mrs. Smith ~~one of its~~ a recipient of the American Traditions Award, on the basis of a letter written about Mrs. Smith and her newspaper work by Hodding Carter, Editor of the Delta-Democrat Times. On this occasion Major Fred Sullens, Editor of the Jackson Daily News ~~and~~ noted for his ~~segregation views~~ Johnson B, wrote of the "fine way in which the Holmes County editor has upheld the freedom of the press in this state and in the nation." Mrs. Smith has also been the recepient of the Herrick Award given by the National Editorial Association and has twice been awarded by the National Federation of Press Women.

The latest crisis to develope in Lexington occured on October 17, 1957 when the November issue of Ebony magazine was placed on the news stand. This issue carried an article of Southern women ~~engaged in campaining for equal justice in. among the women pictured was Mrs. Smith~~ engaged in ~~working~~ the current struggle for equal rights. ~~among the women~~ Among the women pictured was Mrs. Smith, ~~with the article. The magazine~~ described ~~Mrs. Smith~~ as being a person who had "campaigned for justice for all, regardless of race." This ~~article~~ magazine is now being distributed throughout Holmes County, especially to all advertisers. The article is considered ~~as~~ proof that ~~Mrs. Smith and her newspaper~~ the Lexington Advertiser & its editor are detrimental to the community.

Insert I

Subsequently a minister, Dr. Marsh M. Calloway, Pastor of the Durant Presbyterian Church was forced to leave the area. Dr. Calloway called the mass meeting which attacked Minter and Cox as "unChristian and unAmerican." ~~Mex~~ Dr. Calloway is now in Louisiana.

— some many months ago — Mrs. Smith was attempting to raise funds against a mortgage on her newspaper plant in Mississippi, or on her home. Estimates were at that time furnished to us by Mrs. Smith that the combined value of these properties was approximately $100,000. We were unable to secure anybody here who would lend a substantial amount to the Smiths on Mississippi property, but I then advised [redacted] that Mrs. Smith's borrowing problems would be minimal if she sought the funds from a lending institution in the South — fully aware, as we were, that in seeking that type of loan she would be revealing her need for funds, and would also encounter hesitancy on the part of an average Southern lending institution in light of the history of her need for funds.

However, when she seeks "contributions", the matter takes on a somewhat different aspect. It is my feeling that there would be a disinclination on the part of most national agencies to make substantial contributions either toward the $2500 fund or toward the still larger funds she will need during 1958. This is not to say that there is any lack of sympathy with her plight; on the contrary, we think she has been very courageous in the face of outrageous difficulties, and certainly we should like to see her continue publication of her paper. But we share with some other agencies with which we have discussed the matter a doubt that we could ever justify making a substantial contribution to people who have unencumbered property worth about $100,000. Moreover, it is the belief of one of the agencies that about $500 had been contributed toward the reduction of the legal fee. I have an idea that you might want to look into that, as well as into the other prospects of fund raising through mortgage, in the South rather than in the North.

Certainly I agree that the principle here is important, and the NCC should not be permitted to prevail. But we must also be hard-headedly practical about it, and not allow a more or less ready source of funds to be overlooked in our quest for contributions which, at best, will be very slow in accumulating — because they will come from relatively few agencies, if the information I received this morning is to be given credence.

(From a memo by Val L. HQ of NJC — file Hazel B. Smith

File

Subject: Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith
Lexington, Mississippi

Editor and Publisher of Four Weekly Newspapers in Mississippi
The Lexington Advertiser, Holmes County, Lexington, Miss.
The Durant News, Holmes County, Durant, Miss.
The Banner County Outlook, Madison county, Flora, Miss.
The Northside Reporter, Hinds County, Jackson, Miss.

Background: (Professional)

President of the Mississippi Federation of Press Women, an Affiliate of the National Federation of Press Women, 1957-1958

Mississippi State Chairman of the National Editorial Association (for past three years and current year also), an organization of some 10,000 non-metropolitan newspapers in the United States. Mrs. Smith has been an active member of this organization since 1940 and has regularly attended its meetings. The result has been a very wide acquaintanceship with other newspaper people throughout the country.

Active member of the Mississippi Press Association and the Inter-American Press Association, the latter an organization of leading newspapers in the U. S. and South America and Canada-the purpose of which is to promote good will, peace and understanding among the countries of this hemisphere.

Member and past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; also past district chairman. Currently a member of the Lexington, Miss. BPW Club and chairman of its Public Affairs Committee.

Phi,
Member of Theta Sigma, women's journalism sorority, national honorary organization.

Background: (Personal)

Daughter of D. E. Brannon and the late Georgia Freeman Brannon of 2812 Sansom Avenue, Gadsden, Alabama-Mr. Brannon a native of Georgia; Mrs. Brannon a native of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Born and reared in Alabama City (now incorporated in Gadsden) on Feb. 4, 1914; attended schools of Alabama City, Ala. and graduated from Gadsden High School in 1930 at age of 16; talented in public speaking and dramatics; considered an outstanding all-around student and student leader.

Worked two years on The Etowah Observer in Gadsden, a weekly newspaper, before resigning to go to the University of Alabama where she finished college, majoring in journalism, in three years. Active in campus life and received many honors, including being elected Women's Editor of The Crimson-White, University weekly newspaper, and most popular girl in her social sorority, Delta Zeta; elected to Chi Delta Phi, national literary honorary honorary.

Hazel Brannon Smith
(Personal background con't.)

Following graduation from the University of Alabama the then Hazel Brannon came to Durant, Mississippi, where she bought The Durant News (on borrowed money) and worked it out until she got it paid for. Seven years later she borrowed (again on the signature of a friend) money to buy The Lexington Advertiser and worked it out-in about five years time. Both papers are in the same (Holmes) county and printed now in the one shop at Lexington. Also printed in the Lexington shop is The Outlook, the Flora, Miss., paper which Mrs. Smith acquired in early 1954. The Outlook has possibilities of expansion into a countywide paper with the employment of additional personnel. At the present time the income from this paper is small, only from national ads and a few small local ads, but a greater potential definitely exists.

After getting her paper paid for in 1948 Miss Brannon traveled extensively in Mexico, Canada, South America, and Europe, having already in the earlier part of her life visited every section and almost every state in the Union. In 1950, October, she left for a 4-months trip around the world from San Francisco, and on this trip she met the man who later became her husband, Mr. Walter Dyer Smith, a native of Philadelphia, Penn. who was a purser with the American President Lines and stationed on the SS President Monroe, on which Miss Brannon was traveling.
The couple was married on March 21, 1950, at the First Baptist Church in Durant, Mississippi, of which she was, and is, a member.

Mr. Smith, whose parents are dead, was a Lutheran-but since there is no Lutheran Church in Holmes county he has become a member of the Durant Baptist Church-which they now attend. Durant and Lexington are only 12 miles apart and free telephone service between the two towns makes it very easy to work the two papers out of one office-especially since Miss Brannon lived in Durant up until 1950 when she married.

Since the newspapers were making very good money the couple decided for Mr. Smith to take a year's leave of absence and work on the newspapers-to see how he liked living in a small town like Lexington (3,400 population) before quitting the American President Lines. (He holds a Master's in Education from Arizona State, as well as a bachelor's degree, and has done some work on a PhD, specializing in audio-visual education. During the war he also did specialized photographic work on the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos, New Mexico.

After coming to Lexington Mr. Smith was offered (he did not apply) the post of administrator of the Holmes County Community Hospital in Lexington which was at that time being enlarged from a 25-bed to a 47-bed hospital-and they needed a full-time, trained administrator, to run the hospital. He accepted the post and filled it with distinction until January, 1956, when he was fired by the board of trustees because his wife had become "a controversial figure" in Holmes county. (The Medical Staff unanimously praised Mr. Smith personally, and as an administrator, saying he had done an outstanding job and asked "that no change whatsoever be made in the office of administrator." This was in the form of resolutions adopted by the Medical Staff before Mr. Smith was fired-and the resolutions were published in the county newspapers and in the daily newspapers of Jackson and throughout the state).

Mr. Smith has since January, 1956, been helping Mrs. Smith on the papers.

Professional Distinctions: Among the outstanding honors accorded this Mississippi newspaper woman are:

1. May, 1957: Mississippi Press Association in annual convention in Biloxi unanimously voted commendation to Mrs. Smith "for her outstanding contribution to a free press in Mississippi and the nation."

2. February, 1957: The Fund for the Republic invited Mrs. Smith to be one of four guests of honor at a banquet in Washington, D. C., Mayflower Hotel, in recognition of her efforts to maintain a free and impartial press. She was the subject of a prize-winning letter written by Editor Hodding Carter of the Greenville, Miss. Delta-Democrat Times in the American Traditions Contest which was sponsored by The Fund for The Republic.
   Judge Samuel I. Rosenman said: "In recent years, to maintain a free and impartial press in the deep South, to be an editor and a reporter in the American tradition, has required extraordinary devotion and courage; and, often in the face of deep-seated community opposition, Mrs. Smith has continued to exhibit both of these qualities. She has printed the news honestly and fearlessly as she saw it; she has refused to pass incidents over, even when reporting them has subjected her to great criticism and pressure." Award: Certificate and the right to designate a $500 gift from The Fund-(sent to American Friends Service Comm.)
3. June, 1956, at the national convention of the National Editorial Association held in Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Smith was awarded the HERRICK EDITORIAL AWARD, the prestige editorial award of the NEA for a series of editorials written throughout the year (1955-56) which best expressed the meaning of the American Way of Life, such as protection of the rights of minorities, the protection of our traditional freedoms, etc. Award: A plaque.

4. Spring, 1955: Mrs. Smith won first place for the best editorial written by a member of the National Federation Of Press Women-presentation of the certificate was made at the national convention held in New Orleans. This is the second time Mrs. Smith won this editorial award-and she is the only woman in the nation to win the coveted editorial award twice.

Hazel Brannon Smith
(Professional distinctions con't.)

5. In 1948 Miss Brannon was presented a Certificate of Merit by the Mississippi Association of Colored Teachers, in a program in Jackson which was attended by thousands of Negro teachers in the state. This award was given in recognition as "that white person who had contributed the most to the improvement of relations between the races" during that year in the entire state.

6. Stories on the work of this Mississippi editor have appeared in numerous magazines, books and other periodicals: Time, in November, 1955; Saturday Evening Post, Fall, 1955; Carl Rowan's "Go South To Sorrow," May, 1957 (Random House); The American Weekly, largest magazine supplement in the world; "Editor of the Week" in Publisher's Auxiliary in 1947 or 1948, newspaper that goes to every newspaper office in the nation--the "editor of the week" is usually not given anyone until they're very old, etc.; Damon Runyon wrote column on this editor back in 1940; INS feature writers have done stories on her.

7. Mrs. Smith has won too many awards in Mississippi Press Assoc- and Miss. Federation of Press Women circles to even name how many (she doesn't really know) as well as prizes for editorials on the state fair, etc. Among the citations she has won repeatedly however, are for the best newspaper published by a woman, for best news coverage, for editorials, service to agriculture, and for feature stories. She has won at least 60 or more of these during the past 12 years.

8. Mrs. Smith is probably the best known woman editor in the South- if not the nation. She is probably second only to Hodding Carter in Mississippi among all Mississippi editors who state their beliefs and fight for them against popular opposition, when necessary.

9. Mrs. Smith has twice been nominated for the Pulitzer prize, in 1956 and in 1955-for editorial integrity.

Political Background: Mrs. Smith is, and always has been, strictly an Independent.

Although she has served as a delegate to two national Democratic conventions and several terms as the Secretary of the Holmes County Democratic Executive Committee, Mrs. Smith is at heart an independent in everything political, or otherwise.

She believes in deciding each case or each issue on its merits and not by hide bound tradition. She judges political candidates the same way, which one is best for the country.

She supported General Eisenhower in his first bid for election and supported his bid for reelection. She is now a member of the Eisenhower Committee in Holmes county.

1

CREED OF MRS. SMITH! Almost every person has his own set of ideals and principles by which he lives, whether he is a Christian or not. Mrs. Smith, as a newspaper woman, has always felt keenly her responsibility to report the news of her community and county in a clear, unbiased way and give both sides on any controversial subject. She believes in tolerance for the viewpoints of all peoples-and for this reason she bitterly opposes the Fascist tendencies of the Citizens Councils and their completely closed minds on the subject of segregation and integration.

Because Mrs. Smith has practiced what she believes, and applies it to her profession, she has been the victim of two law suits, both within the past ten year period--both suits she has won unanimously in the Miss. State Supreme Court after being over-ruled in the lower court.

THE FIRST SUIT

The first suit, of some ten years ago, was when this editor was cited for contempt of court in a Holmes county Court by the Circuit Court Judge, the late B. F. Davis. Mrs. Smith, who was also correspondent for the Commercial-Appeal of Memphis, was questioning a Negro woman, wife of a Negro man who had been beaten to death by a group of six or seven white farmers of Holmes county for allegedly stealing a saddle. Judge Davis cited the then Miss Brannon for contempt of court for questioning a witness who "was under the rule of the court", a provision of which the editor was unaware because she had not been in the courtroom at the precise moment the Judge had instructed the witnesses.

What Miss Brannon was trying to do was to get a straight, unbiased news story in order that her readers and the readers of the largest daily newspaper in the entire tri-state (Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi) area could have the facts in the case.

At this time some white people in the county thought it very improper for a young white woman to be talking to Negroes, even if it was in the line of her duty as a newspaper editor. This attitude did not bother Miss Brannon in the least as she has always done what she thought to be her duty even if it did mean criticism, spoken or implied.

Miss Brannon had to appeal this case to the Supreme Court and one year later a unanimous verdict was returned in her favor.

The Judge came back only once to Holmes county-afterward he got some one else to sit for him, stating he was ill. In about two years he died-and mention of the "famous trial" was made even in the account of his death which appeared in the daily newspapers of the state.

(The white men were found "not guilty" by the all-white jurors of Holmes county. Ironically, several weeks later it was found that the step-son of the man was the one who had taken the saddle and he knew nothing what ever about it.)

But this case probably marked Miss Brannon as a "Negro lover" in the minds of some people in the county at least.

THE SECOND SUIT

On the weekend of July 4, 1954 Sheriff Richard F. Byrd of Holmes county, accompanied by a state Highway Patrolman, his own Deputy-Jailor and the Constable of beat 5 in Holmes county, drove up to a group of Negroes standing near a Negro Cafe on the highway near the town of Tchula, Miss. and told them all to clear out and go on home-- and in the course of doing this he pulled out his gun and told one of the Negroes to "get goin' " which he did--and as the Negro ran the Sheriff shot him in the back. The Negro was shot through the thigh, the bullet entering from the back of the leg and going clear through the front. The Negro was not drunk or disorderly-the Sheriff was not trying to arrest him for anything--he just, "made the mistake of being around when the Sheriff drove up." And that was the way Editor Hazel Brannon Smith put it when she criticized the Sheriff's conduct in an editorial. This editorial was instrumental in arousing widespread resentment against the Sheriff and his brutal methods-rumors of which had been heard before, but never could be verified.

Mrs. Smith went to work and investigated the incident-getting all the facts--and then she publicized them fully in a news story in the first paper that was published following the shooting incident. Sheriff Byrd left town and could not be found.

The next week the editorial was written and the editor said in effect that Mr. Byrd was not fit to be sheriff of Holmes county and should, in fact, resign. She said people of Holmes county did not approve of the abuse of people "just because their skins were black."

This editorial aroused public opinion in the county to such a pitch that Byrd's friends told him he either had to resign or find some way to "shut that editor up." Although physical threats have been made against the person of Mrs. Smith, threatening telephone calls, etc., the Sheriff knew he could not get away with violence on her person-so he filed a lawsuit for libel for "actual and punitive damages " he had suffered at the hands of Mrs. Smith. He was suing her for $57,500.

This law suit amazed everyone in the county and state-but no one took it seriously, except Mrs. Smith. No one believed it would ever come to trial, even Mr. Byrd's friends, because they knew the editor did not print a thing unless she knew it to be true.

But in the meantime in a nearby Delta county of Sunflower, some 45 miles from Lexington, county site of Holmes county, the first Citizens Council was organized--the same month as the lawsuit, July, 1954.

The first county organized in the CC outside of the Mother County, home county of Senator J. O. Eastland, was Holmes county--home of the editor.

Friends of the Sheriff were naturally members of the newly formed Citizens Council in Holmes county, but not in control of it-they were in the background. But they were very busy from the time the lawsuit was filed in July, 1954 until it was tried at the October term of Circuit Court, 1954. All kinds of rumors were put out, including one that Mrs. Smith had Negro people in her home socially; and rumors were revived from the previous lawsuit when Mrs. Smith "had taken up for a Colored man against the white men", etc. etc.

The atmosphere was such that the Sheriff won a 10-2 verdict of $10,000 against the editor-which she promptly appealed to the State Supreme Court.

One year went by as the principals awaited the outcome of the lawsuit. Meanwhile Mr. Byrd was really "wheeling and dealing." He was kicking everyone around to his heart's content, particularly the county's Negro citizens. (Holmes county is 3-to-1 Negro in population makeup with one third of the county's area being considered Delta country, with the remainder hills. Lexington is in the hills). Also in the meantime the selling of illegal whiskey and operation of illegal slot machines was brought out into the open and the Sheriff was making a pot of money.

Mrs. Smith, throughout her entire 21-year career as a community newspaper editor has believed in and consistently supported law-enforcement, believing that any government should be based upon laws, rather than the whims of men. She had continually fought bootlegging, vice, corruption in office and other evils-for she believed that it is the duty of the newspaper to try to build a better community and a better world for its readers.

But Sheriff Byrd had her tied in this instance-because as far as she knew the lawsuit might be brought back to the Holmes court for another trial-and in the meantime anything she had written against the Sheriff would be taken by the readers (potential jurors of the future) as malice, even though it would not have been so. So for a year Mrs. Smith was intimidated into silence and the Sheriff ruled with an iron hand.

In the meantime the Citizens Councils were spreading and growing like wildfire--and the idea behind each one was to get rid of everyone in the community who did not favor segregation, or was even suspected of not quite believing in segregation.

PROVIDENCE FARMS

Another weird aspect of the case was that a white doctor, Dr. David R. Minter of Providence Farms, near Tchula, had been the doctor who had treated the Negro, Henry Randle, who had been shot by the Sheriff. The 27-year old man's father had first taken him to a doctor right in Tchula but he was away from home-so they took him to Dr. Minter's Clinic which was nearer to where they lived, anyway.

Providence Farms, a cooperative project, had long been SUSPECT as far as the people of Tchula and Holmes county were concerned. There had been various rumors that these people were practicing "race-mixing" and that they didn't believe in segregation like other Southerners, etc. Some thoughtthey were Communists, or at least said they thought it whether they did or not, etc.

Well, all of these rumors were revived when ~~it~~ it became known that Dr. Minter had treated Henry Randle. And they went the rounds of the county, circulated by all of the sheriff's good friends who were also tried and true friends of the CC. They played a significant part in the jury's verdict.

After the first trial, which the Sheriff had won, he told another doctor in Lexington that he was "Going to get Dr. Minter" before he left office if it was the"last thing he did."

SUPREME COURT DECISION

The appealed case of Hazel Brannon Smith vs. Richard F. Byrd in the Supreme Court of Mississippi was to be heard and was heard the second Monday in October, 1955, in Jackson, Miss.

About two weeks before this time an incident happened in the Tchula neighborhood -of a group of Negro teenagers, about three boys, who allegedly made "obscene remarks" to a little white school girl who was on her way to the Tchula School. She happened to live out at Providence or near there.

Because of the prevailing tensions this incident was blown all out of proportion, magnified beyond belief, and used by the Sheriff and his buddies (who by now had secured control of the Citizens Councils in the county) to try to run Dr. Minter and his associate, Mr. A. E. Cox, and their families out of the county. (The sheriff had threatened to get rid of him as we have said before-although practically no one knew this.)

The Sheriff andCounty Attorney (who was head of the Lexington CC), the head of the county CC, who happened to be the sheriff's best friend, and the legal advisor for the CC in the county got together a made a tape recording of the questioning of these Negro teen age boys--and then they called a mass meeting, through the seven chapters of the CC organized throughout Holmes county, which was held in the Tchula school house just two weeks before the Supreme Court was to hear the Smith-Byrd case.

THE MASS MEETING

The idea of the mass meeting was to kill several birds with one stone-get rid of the Minters and Coxes from the county because they "didn't think right" and at the same time, by discrediting Dr. Minter they figured they could discredit the appeal of Hazel Smith to the Supreme Court. What it amounted to was an attempt to influence the thinking of the Supreme Court of the State of Mississippi--and when the Sheriff's attorney stood up before the Supreme Court to argue the case he attempted to intimidate the court by mentioning the mass meeting and saying that "he doubted Henry Handle was ever shot" (although he did not question the shooting in Circuit Court-Henry Handle was there with two bullet scars on his legs from the shooting).

The Attorney, S. R. King, told the Court "that it seems more likely that this whole thing is a pure fabrication of some subversive elements working in Holmes county."

The attempted intimidation of the court was 100 percent unsuccessful because a unanimous verdict was handed down for Mrs. Smith about the second week in November, 1955, following the oral argument. The case was completely thrown out and the court said "the Sheriff by his own admission was guilty of an illegal assault upon the person of Henry Handle."

At the mass meeting sponsored by the Citizens Councils the tape recording of the questioning of the Negro teen agers was played-it was about three hours or more long-Dr. Minter and Mr. Cox were there, having received an "invitation" a few hours just before the meeting was to be held. Both men indicated they welcomed an investigation of their activities, they had nothing to hide, etc. But the crowd was too well whipped up by some of the rabble-rousing speeches made--and at the end of the meeting the crowd "voted" that they should leave the county.

One of the few sane voices lifted that night was the Rev. Marsh M. Callaway, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Durant, who had risen at the beginning of the meeting to ask a question: "Mr. Chairman, by what right do you take this tape recording, which was taken as I understand it to be used in a court of law, and use it for any other purpose?"

The Rev. Mr. Callaway, who had been in the county only since Easter Sunday of that year, was not too well known to the group-and they booed him mightily.

Later on in the evening after the tape recording had been played and Dr. Minter and Mr. Cox had tried to answer the tape as best they could (and they could not even hear it all-so indistinct and blurred were portions of it) and the two men had asked for an investigating committee of the chairman's own choosing--the Rev. Mr. Callaway arose again and identified himself as a Presbyterian minister and told the crowd that its conduct was unChristian, unAmerican and contrary to every principle upon which this great country was founded. He told them he knew Dave Minter better than anyone in this room-since he was a 14-year-old boy." He then praised Dr. Minter as being the finest type of Christian citizen, the son of a minister and of a family of missionaries that has served their country and their God with distinction.

But all Mr. Callaway got was a lot of boos and catcalls for his efforts-and threats from one of the men present-which proved to be true--the loss of his job as pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Durant.

These threats were repeated the next morning in a call to Mr. Callaway, and they were made by a Tchula citizen who is a son of a very distinguished late Presbyterian minister.

The man who was the organizing head of the Citizens Councils in Holmes county was Wilburn Hooker, insurance, plantation owner, prominent family in Holmes county, a man who was chairman of the board of trustees of the Holmes County Community Hospital, as welll as holding other posts in civic clubs, etc. in Lexington and the county.

Mr. Hooker by this time had moved to to be on the executive committee of the State Citizens Councils which had been organized by this time--it just took one year. It would have been thought Mr. Hooker would have been at least a restraining influence in keeping the CC from doing things which were dishonorable-but this did not prove to be the case.

Hooker went over and talked to the Elders of the Durant Church and the outcome was that Mr. Callaway was kicked out of his pastorate.

THE HOSPITAL SITUATION

In the meantime the editor's husband, Walter Dyer Smith, was administrator of the Holmes County Community Hospital in Lexington-and Dr. Minter was a member of the medical staff of that hospital.

Mr. Smith knew and respected Dr. Minter as a man and as a doctor; Mrs. Smith had barely met Dr. Minter and that at a summer picnic for hospital employees and their families-she did not know him at all.

But Mrs. Smith did know that if an organization like the CC could tell people, any people, to get out of the county and they had to get out that Holmes county would be no better than Nazi Germany or Fascist Italy.

Regardless of anyone's views, and Mrs. Smith maintained a man had a right to believe like he chose, she knew that it would not do for the two families to be forced out of Holmes county.

So she and Mr. Smith both did everything possible to keep them there-engaging in endless conversations with people, going to a great deal of expense in contacting people to keep the situation from getting out of hand including the man who had just been elected as governor of the state in August, J. P. Coleman. Mrs. Smith sought and secured his help in helping keep the two men in Holmes county.

This activity continued from the last week in September up to and through the Christmas season and well up into the new year of 1956--until the situation had become quiet enough, people had been brought to their senses somewhat, that the Minters and Coxes could have stayed on had they felt it would have been the best for their families-they were not FORCED to leave. After so many tensions and so many incidents they felt that they could no longer do their best work so they decided to leave for a better climate and environment. The prevailing opinion in the county, however, remains that they were not forced to leave-but left of their own choice. And there are many people now who will openly say they think these people were given a "terrible" deal, etc.

When in November, 1955, the Supreme Court ruled in Mrs. Smith's favor the Sheriff and his friends, who thought they had things just like they wanted them and would have from here on out, got a rude shock. They could not believe they had been unsuccessful in their case against the editor. So they started out to "get" her in another way.

They put out the rumors they were going to get her husband fired from his post at the hospital and then start an economic boycott through the Citizens Councils of her newspapers, forcing her out of business.

The work Mrs. Smith and her husband had done to try to keep the families out at Providence was known to enough of these people that it had incurred their wrath-and this was used against them in January, 1956, when three newly elected supervisors of Holmes county took office.

These three men appointed each one new trustee of the hospital board who in turn voted unanimously to fire Mr. Smith, at a secret meeting held prior to the time they actually assumed office.

Mr. Smith was fired without cause-despite the fact that the medical staff at the hospital did everything humanly possible to keep him there, praising him as an able man and administrator who had done an outstanding job at the hospital. All of these resolutions were published in the county and state newspapers-and they asked "that no change whatsoever be made in the office of administrator." But the tide was just like Niagria--it couldn't be stopped.

When a Tchula friend of Mrs. Smith went to one of the supervisors to try to get him to stop the firing of Mr. Smith he said: "They're too close to Dr. Minter and that crowd." This man, who also knew Dr. Minter, said "Well, my God, man, there's nothing wrong with Dr. Minter. He's a fine man." But it was all to no avail.

Then the next move was an attempt to boycott the newspapers of Mrs. Smith-and now her husband was working with her on the papers.

In the meantime the editor had let it be known that she would fight to the last step on saving her newspapers-she had taken the loss of her husband's job at the hospital without public protest and fight-had such a dirty political deal been attempted by the supervisors and trustees of a public institution to anyone else she would have gone to bat for them in the public interest--but because it was "personal" and actually intended for her rather than him-she took it.

The CC has attempted a boycott and in some measure succeeded in its fight against its known enemy, Mrs. Smith. The complete boycott, however, has not been successful. Several merchants who were approached outright refused to have anything to do with what they called a "conspiracy." Also adding to the picture was the fact of the Montgomery, Ala. bus boycott, which indicated that a boycott could work two ways. Knowing Mrs. Smith to be determined to save the newspapers in which she had poured 20 years of the best years of her life, some of them may have realized that such a determined person could cause them a lot of trouble by attempting a counter boycott among the Negro people of Holmes county-all of whom knew the lady editor and knew she stood up for the right thing.

The Supervisors (the three new ones) did what they could to hurt Mrs. Smith by taking away from her the publication of their monthly proceedings and giving it to a small paper in Pickens, in a far corner of the county, which has no countywide circulation at all. Then they put out the rumor this was the beginning of the end-they had taken away all of the county business, etc. This was January, 1956 also and the Pickens paper still publishes the proceedings although the board does publish the bids in th Advertiser--they have to if they get any bidders as needed, because the Pickens paper could not get them due to small circulation.

The job printing department is where Mrs. Smith has been hurt most. This department is down and continues down more than half of normal. Advertising is down now about 45 per cent from normal--but last year (1956) it was even worse. Some of the advertisers who quit advertising are gradually coming back occasionally-and Mrs. Smith feels that eventually her business will be back to normal--but that it will be a minimum of two and one-half to three years. It's harder to sell advertising now.

For several months during 1956 the papers did not take in enough money to meet the payrolls and other operating expenses. At this time they are operating (but barely) in the black with only a modest living expenses being taken from them. There is no income from any other source to count on and everything has to come out of the papers. Including Mr. Smith's salary the couple's standard of living has been reduced to about 25 percent of what it was prior to 1956.

The strain of overwork for two and one-half years has been great-because the staff has been cut to the bone as well as the working force in the back shop-which means a great deal of work and worry for the couple. The bills which accumulated in 1956, when income did not take care of the operating expenses and savings and emergency funds were all spent, have not yet all been paid because there isn't enough money to pay them yet--and Mrs. Smith pays on them a few dollars as she can-enough to keep her credit good. But it's nip and tuck all the time.

WHAT'S NEEDED: Enough money to pay all past due bills and get on a sound financial basis-so that the couple can go on operating these papers to the best of their knowledge and beliefs in the interest of all of the people of the county and state.

This would keep at least one voice raised in the interest of truth, decency and justice in Mississippi and the South.

There are things to do

by

LILLIAN SMITH

Reprinted from

SOUTH TODAY (Winter 1942-43 number) published semi-annually at Clayton, Georgia

34 - Smith, Lillian

MARCH 5
1 9 4 4

The New York Times Book Review

Section 7

Copyright, 1944, by The New York Times Company.

"Georgia Jungle." By Alexander Brook. Courtesy The Carnegie Institute.

SEARING NOVEL OF THE SOUTH

"Strange Fruit"—a Moving Dissection of Moral Dry-Rot in a Georgia Town

STRANGE FRUIT. By Lillian Smith. 371 pp. New York: Reynal & Hitchcock. $2.75.

By WILLIAM DU BOIS

CERTAINLY there is no thornier subject in our literature than our own Negro problem. Pushed into post-war limbo by Washington, befogged by local die-hards, special pleaders and national indifference, America's peculiar dilemma has waited a long time for understanding—and for a two-sided fictional treatment. In "Strange Fruit" Lillian Smith has come close to achieving that impossible goal. Writing with genuine compassion — constructing her pattern with the severity of a Greek dramatist—adding miscegenation and the macabre horror of a lynching, she has produced one of the most rewarding first novels to come out of the South in years.

Maxwell, Ga., is the author's cosmos—a turpentine-and-cotton town near the Florida line—an evangelist's paradise of sand roads, sulphur water and a Fundamentalist God. On College Street, termite-ridden "mansions" stand four-square on the sun-weary lawns; on Main, the railroad's right-of-way knifes through the town toward the pine-barrens and Jacksonville; back of the bank and Deen's drug store the alleys snake across the ball park and hammock to Colored Town. The time is the early Nineteen Twenties. Cotton is down, and field hands are scarce after the wartime exodus to the North. But Maxwell is confident of its ability to take unrest in its stride.

Miss Smith leaves no corner of her world unexplored; she makes each burn with a hot, sullen life of its own. The novel opens with a study of the Andersons, the town's "first" Negro family—college-trained, with the blood of unnamed white ancestors raising peculiar hell in their veins. Ed is the only one who has broken free—a clerk in Washington, he is back on a holiday, and finding new reasons to hate Maxwell at every turn. Bess and Nonnie, for all their education, cook for cracker families across the tracks. Bess is married to a Pullman porter. Nonnie, lovely and near-white, is in love with Tracy Dean, the son of Maxwell's leading doctor.

Once this impasse is established, Miss Smith moves across the color line to College Street—with Tracy's passion for Nonnie as the connecting thread down which the drama pulses. Not that the novel needs this conventional situation to make its point. On each page the reader sees how both elements in Maxwell are caught in a skein (economic, ethnic, emotional) that only evolution can untangle or revolution break.

But Miss Smith does not permit her theme to get in the way of her characters. Her picture gallery is enormously varied, though she never strays from her milieu. There is Bill Talley, the humorous sadist, who hunts black men for sport; Tom Harris, mill-owner and would-be liberal, who despises the chain-gang economics of his logging camp, yet never quite manages to pay a union wage; mill-hand Willie Echols, who hates the Negro as only the poor Southern white can hate. There are Prentiss Reid, the newspaper man, who reads Tom Paine and eats crow in his editorials; Miss Belle, a spinster tortured by a lifelong dream of rape; Tut Deen, pharmacist and bumbling G. P., who would rather go fishing than think things through—and Tut's quiet-Xantippe wife, to whom sin and change are synonyms, and man's waywardness the cross that lady Christians must bear—with dignity, of course. And there is Brother Dunwoodie, the ham evangelist, who thunders the rightness of white supremacy and the status quo and turns calmly aside when lynch law invades the town.

Each of these people could have slipped into caricature in less expert hands: Miss Smith has made the least of them deeply and terrifyingly human. Perhaps her most successful character is Sam Perry, the colored M. D., utterly devoted to his work, bowing to the Georgia mores with a patience that never quite breaks over into despair. But it is in the handling of the Tracy-Nonnie love affair that the novelist shows her deepest understanding. There is no distortion here, no forcing of the tragedy that slowly engulfs the lovers. If Nonnie and Tracy are each a symbol of their race, they are people, too. They take on reality from their weakness, their fumbling after an impossible ideal, their collapse in the face of an iron convention. And when tragedy strikes at last, it has an irony, a grotesque inevitability all its own—as though Tracy and Nonnie were created (by Maxwell's Fundamentalist God) to destroy one another.

With Tracy's death (at the hand of Nonnie's brother) the climax that has been steadily building under Maxwell's facade is free to break. After Nonnie has left her employer's wreath at the Deens' back door (and what a scene that turns out to be!); after the mourners have pulled out the last tremolo stop at Tracy's funeral, the chill leitmotif of lynch law can dominate at last:

> Down the sand roads of the county they had come. Bill and Dee and the others. From Sug Ruston's turpentine farm, and the cotton fields; from Harris' sawmill, from a shanty back of Shaky Pond, and Ellatown; from old Cap'n Rushton's Commissary and the logging camp. Roads threading whitely through the county, curving around oak-black lake and pond, pushing across swamp and hammock, tying its cotton and little (Continued on Page 20)

AN ENGLISH TRANSLATION FROM THE PORTUGUESE OF

THE GREAT EPIC OF BRAZIL

Rebellion IN THE Backlands

(OS SERTÕES)

By EUCLIDES DA CUNHA

Admirably translated with an introduction and notes by SAMUEL PUTNAM

One of the strangest stories ever recorded as historical fact; a personal war waged between a ragged, fanatic preacher and the government of Brazil. It raged for ten months, and ended only when 5,200 houses and every man, woman and child in them had been destroyed. Sixteen editions of Os Sertões have appeared in Brazil, and it has also been published in a Spanish edition. It now takes its destined place among the greatest books of mankind.

CARLETON BEALS: "Among the great powerful books of universal literature. Fully the peer of Tolstoy's War and Peace."

N. Y. TIMES BOOK REVIEW: "If I had to choose just one book in Brazilian literature as representative of my country and my people, I would certainly pick Os Sertões. It is really our greatest classic . . . a literary landmark."—Erico Verissimo.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

558 PAGES, ILLUSTRATED, $5.00

THE BIBLE —a challenge to a world in upheaval

—a voice which speaks for today

—a tool for post-war planning

The Bible Is Human

By LOUIS WALLIS

Now in its second printing, this outstanding book shows how the monotheistic faith developed in a war-torn world, wherein great empires destroyed the liberties of small nations, and arrogant wealth bestrode the common people of every land. Showing that the ancient Hebrew people were not "line-bred" from a single ancestry, but evolved through intermarriage, the book goes on to interpret the great struggle of Israel's prophets against "other gods" as in reality a war against the concentration of wealth which the "other gods" symbolized.

"Will be a tremendous help in interpreting contemporary world events."
—Christian Register

"Appears at a momentous time in contemporary religious thought . . . a brilliant exposition."—Journal of Bible and Religion

"I am sure that it will find the audience it deserves, and appeal to readers who still have an open mind."—Professor James Moffatt, Union Theological Seminary.

"The story of this struggle of the common man and his prophetic protagonist against the power politics of court and moneyed interests gives the book current value."—The Anglican Theological Review

"A college professor, seeking to help his students, might well ask them to read THE BIBLE IS HUMAN. They will come to appreciate the Bible in its true light, and see its application to human experience today."—Professor L. T. Hites, Religious Education

330 pages • $2.50

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS • Morningside Heights • New York 27

Dry-Rot in Georgia

(Continued from Page 1)

cabins, its barrels of rosin and its turpentine and tall pines, mule and church and bank, white folks and black, to Maxwell and to each other. Down these roads they came, shadows falling foreshortened and stubby on palmetto clumps as they plodded along in the heat, hearts as slashed as the pines under which they paused now and then, bodies as drained as the sand at their feet. . . . And sometimes there was laughter, or drawled words of voices not unkind in sound and not without humor; but eyes were hard and hating as they hunted a black victim in sacrifice to an unknown god of whom they were sore afraid.

The lynch-mob strikes Maxwell, and finds its victim—not Tracy's killer, though that is only incidental. But even here, Miss Smith conveys her drama in strictly human terms. A Negro is burned alive in the ball park for all the town to see; the novelist conveys the horror, not by describing that scene directly, but by following her people home, both lynchers and onlookers, and showing the effect of this catharsis of hate, as Maxwell slips back into lethargy again—murder justified in its own group mind, its group soul at peace, its Fundamentalist God appeased. Tomorrow the shutters will be opened again in Colored Town. . . .

Even without her publisher's biographical notes, the reviewer would know instinctively that Lillian Smith had written this book out of the heart of her own life. Born into a Georgia family whose ancestry goes back to colonial times, she was raised and educated in the deep South. With three years out for teaching in a mission school in China, she has lived and worked in the deep South ever since. . . . Her "Strange Fruit" is a regional novel, in the finest sense. As such, it offers a magnificently detailed picture of the small-town South, lashed by an urge for self-destruction as old as time. The author has suggested no cure for that urge: you will find no black messiahs here, no white devils. . . . But the tragedy of the South is explicit in every line: the warped soul of Maxwell is nailed to the barn door for the world to see. "Strange Fruit" is an important book, by any standard. It should be required reading in every deanery, every parsonage—and every Legislature, on both sides of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Lillian Smith.

Classic literature is always modern

THE LOEB CLASSICAL LIBRARY

THE great literature of the Greeks and Romans has remained alive throughout the centuries because of the deeply satisfying pleasure it has given to each new generation of readers. The Odyssey of Homer, the poems of Ovid, the philosophy of Plato, the adventures of Aeneas — these are old friends of the classroom. But many other books, by both familiar and less well-known authors, provide reading as stimulating today as it was two thousand years ago. The witty dialogues of Lucian, the brilliant comedies of Aristophanes, the travels of Strabo, and the botanical discoveries of Theophrastus, founder of modern botany, are only samples of the wide range of subjects included in the LOEB CLASSICAL LIBRARY of over 360 titles.

In the LOEB CLASSICAL LIBRARY the original Greek or Latin text is printed on left-hand pages with a line-for-line translation on facing pages. Write for a descriptive catalogue. The price is uniformly $2.50 a volume.

VE RI TAS

HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS
CAMBRIDGE 38 MASSACHUSETTS

The New Pat Abbott Mystery

THE Applegreen Cat

BY FRANCES CRANE

Author of The Pink Umbrella and The Yellow Violet

2nd Printing

Murder—for a pair of nylons! But a U. S. Marine landed and got the situation well in hand. "Another Crane top-notcher."
—Saturday Review.

"A nicely told story, with good suspense and even better characterization."
—Chicago Sun.

"Neatly planned baffler . . . this is Frances Crane's best!" — Chicago Tribune. $2.00

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY
Philadelphia • New York

"More exciting than any crime fiction"
—Chicago News

INSIDE THE F. B. I.

By John J. Floherty

Foreword by Director J. Edgar Hoover

"Presents the complex and marvelously efficient organization with authority. The sections on spies, saboteurs and counter-espionage make better reading than Mr. Oppenheim's stories."
—N. Y. Times. Photographs. 4th Printing $2.00

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY
Philadelphia
New York

WHILE AMERICA SLEPT

While America Slept the evil designs of little men were shaping into ruthless war machines

Here is a book that is a contemporary events from the fall of France to P
the most chaotic time in our histo in his piercing broadcast anal of things to come, gives yo hitting precision.
It is a book every A read. Get your co
The
Foreig

Paper $1

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

April 24, 1944

Dear Lillian Smith:

This is by way of continuing the conversation which we began at Ira Reid's party some time ago. I didn't realize that the party was suddenly going to grow so big, or I would have talked much faster. I wanted to tell you a few more things about the SRC and chew the rag a little over the articles which you and Mr. Redding contributed to Common Ground. I had hoped to see you on another one of your trips to Atlanta, but I have been away most of the time — making speeches, seeing people, and trying to convince people that there are things to do. I have just received an invitation from the McClatchey's to come to their party for you on Friday afternoon, the 28th, but our Board of Directors is meeting that afternoon, and I won't have a chance.

Would you accept membership in the Council? Why you were not invited to the Atlanta conference in 1943, I don't know. I suppose it was for the same reason that I was not invited: the one or two persons who had most to do with making up the list probably didn't particularly like me. Whatever the reason you were not asked, I think it was a shame. Since the first group of charter members was made up arbitrarily of people who had attended one of the conferences and members of the Interracial Commission, you were also not invited to the charter meeting which took place on February 16-17. However, at this meeting the members had an opportunity to nominate additional charter members. Your name was among the first two or three to be nominated. There were quite a few nominations of persons whom we wanted very much to bring in as charter members. Well, after the meeting I was preparing letters of invitation to membership to these people when I was ~~rudely~~ jolted by an announcement by our counsel. He had been looking over the by-laws and the minutes of the charter-member meeting and of the Board of Directors which immediately followed it, and he had discovered that all of these people had only been "nominated" and that both the member meeting and the Board meeting had neglected to formally "elect" them. Furthermore, the Board had not set up a machinery so that we could proceed to invite or elect new members. Said counsel, "This is a corporation, and under its by-laws new members are elected only by the members or by the Board, or under definite rules prescribed by the Board. Too bad, but you have no authority to invite any of these people until the Board has met and authorized you to do so." Aren't lawyers terrible? Swell thing, to work so hard to set up a democratic structure with sovereignty absolutely vested in the members and then to get tangled in our own knitting! We've finally got a Board meeting lined up for April 28, and on that day you will most assuredly be "elected" in the most legal and approved manner. I'd like to know whether you would accept membership, because if you accept I would like to nominate you to the Board of Directors, since there is a vacancy to be filled. If you could drop me a note right away, I'd greatly appreciate it.

Sincerely yours,

This letter got there long ago to be a bit late, but I have been too many interruptions, and now the Annual Meeting is to be to stop and get pace ahead.

COPY

SOUTH TODAY

Editor
Lillian E. Smith

Clayton, Georgia

June 12, 1944

Dr. Guy B. Johnson
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
710 Standard Building
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I want to apologize for the delay in acknowledging your very pleasant letter in which an invitation was given me to become a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council.

I regret to say that I have already undertaken so much work and so many responsibilities in various southern and national organizations that I cannot accept more at the present time.

I would also like to be quite frank and say that while I appreciate the invitation, I would not feel comfortable as a member of any organization working for racial democracy that does not deem it important to take a firm and public stand in opposition to segregation and in defense of human equality.

Do not misunderstand me, there are many individuals in the S.R.C. whom I esteem highly. Many of them have made valuable contributions to the South. There are a few who are among my closest personal friends. Some of these, I know, hold firmly to the belief that it is most urgent to face segregation and attack it directly. But these few have not been among the policy-making group in the S.R.C. The policies, seem to have been decided upon pretty definitely by those who originally initiated the movement. And these policies, as far as I can now determine, could be changed only by a complete reorganization of the Council, and a profound alteration in the point of view of those now in control of its policies.

As you would doubtless agree, we are facing a most serious crisis in our American life today. We need new technics, a more profound philosophy, and all the courage that we are capable of, in order to avoid tragedy. I think we have looked at the Negro problem long enough. We need to right-about-face and study the problem of the white man, and the deep-rooted needs that have caused him to seek the strange, narcissistic satisfactions that are derived from worshipping his own skin-color. The white man himself is one of the world's most urgent problems today; not the Negro, nor other colored races. We whites must learn to confess this.

Segregation is not merely a southern tradition, a result of poverty, of certain economic patterns, etc. etc. Segregation is an ancient, psychological mechanism used by men the world over, whenever they want to shut themselves away from problems which they fear and do not feel they have the strength to solve. When men get into trouble they tend to put barriers between themselves and their difficulties. We white people got into deep trouble long ago when we attempted to enslave other human beings. A trouble we have never faced fully and never tried with all our strength to solve. Instead, we have tried to push it away from us; and in trying, we have used a mechanism so destructive that it, in itself, has become a menace to the health of our culture and our individual souls. Segregation is a way of life that is actually a form of cultural schizophrenia, bearing a curious resemblance to the schizophrenia of individual personality. It is a little chilling to note the paranoid symptoms of those among us who defend segregation: their violence, their sensitiveness to criticism, their over-esteem of themselves, their stereotyped replies to critics, their desire to withdraw from everything hard to face.

Racial segregation, political and economic isolationism cannot be considered apart from man's whole personality, his culture, his needs. Neither can man's needs be considered apart from the destroying effects of segregation. Nor can the South's major problems be solved by trying to put a loaf of bread, a book, and a ballot, in every one's hand. For man is not an economic or political unit. To believe that he is, is to ignore personality and cheapen the human spirit. And by ignoring personality, we over-simplify a complex, subtle, tragically profound problem. It helps us sometimes to see this in perspective if we will look at the restricting frame of segregation in terms of the needs of children. A child's personality cannot grow and mature without self-esteem, without feelings of security, without faith in his world's willingness to make room for him to live as a human being. Self-esteem and emotional security are to character what vitamins are to the body. No colored child in our South is being given today what his personality needs in order to grow and mature richly and fully. No white child, under the segregation pattern, can be free of arrogance and hardness of heart, and blindness to human need- and hence no white child can grow freely and creatively under the crippling frame of segregation.

I personally, would prefer that my own child do without shoes than do without the esteem of his fellows and I would prefer that he never look into a book than that he look down upon another human being. We simply cannot turn away and refuse to look at what segregation is doing to the personality and character of every child, every grown up, white and colored, in the South today. Segregation is spiritual lynching. The lynched and the lynchers are our own people, our own selves.

Twenty-Fourth June
1 9 4 4

Miss Lillian Smith, Editor
South Today
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Many thanks for the privilege of reading copy of letter to Dr. Johnson in which you decline membership in the Southern Regional Council. I admire your frankness but I do not admire the superficial way in which you treated the issue in question. You are capable of bringing to this question a more constructive appraisal than the one contained in the letter to Dr. Johnson.

May I say at the outset that I admire whites of the North for any boldness they may evince in grappling with the color question. But I have a kind of super-admiration for courageous whites of the South who dare to be democratic and Christian. Be you therefore assured in advance of my deep appreciation for what you are dong and it is this deep appreciation that forces me to take time out to write you in order that you may think further on this matter of declining an opportunity to do something constructive for the improvement of race relations in this our Southland.

Because the major portion of the dirty work in bringing the Durham Conference to realization, the Southern Regional Council is close to my heart, not because it is perfect but because it faces squarely a burning issue and faces it realistically. You would deny your influence and helpfulness to the cause just because we did not denounce more strongly segregation. You have made segregation your main issue. Miss Anderson of Common Ground and Professor Redding did the same thing. I was among those who felt that in our Durham Statement we might have omitted a statement on segregation in its entirety so long as all we asked was within the framework of segregation just as all past and present Negro progress is within the framework of segregation. However, I said at the Durham Conference if we mentioned segregation we would have to condemn it. This we did but we did not spend all of our energies denouncing segregation, for we realised that segregation as a social pattern is not going to be destroyed merely by fiery and scholarly denunciations, and so did Monroe Trotter and John Mitchell. I am not prepared to say that the denunciations of the present are more brilliant than those of the past. But segregation is still with us. You are not more opposed to segregation than the writers of the Durham Manifesto.

I am bitterly and unalterably opposed to segregation for reasons you and most opponents thereof never mention, namely because it is a form of elimination. Segregation of the Negroes themselves will go ! Knowing this I am unalterably and eternally opposed to it. But how are we to get rid of it is the question. I have been amazed with the superficial way in which you and Miss Anderson and Mr. Redding treated this whole matter of segregation. You seem to begin and end with a denunciation of segregation. You seem to overlook the major fact that segregation is a manifestation of racial prejudice and as such becomes incidental while race prejudice is fundamental. If a fraction of the time spent in denouncing segregation were spent in seeking ways and means of exterminating race prejudice my cause would be immeasurably advanced. The Southern Regional Council seeks to destroy race prejudice by getting after the roots of prejudice many of which are rooted in misunderstanding. It matters not how slow is such process it must prede any constructive interracial adjustments. In the long run we go farther and go faster by facing the ugly facts that sociological processes cannot be ignored however disinclined we may be to face the fact due to the urgencies of the hour. What we are trying to do must be done if race relations are ever t obe adjusted in this nation and world.

Your whole letter was beautifully analytical of race prejudice but you did not once prescribe a remedy and remember any remedy must be employed by both the white and the Negro South if it is to get anywhere in relieving the situation. Your position was essentially diagnostic but we of the Southern Regional Council have passed the diagnostic stage; we are trying to approach constructively the matter of therapy. You who make the whole issue one of segregation are overlooking the matter of prejudice, the more fundamental issue that we of the Southern Regional Council are trying to face. We are therefore facing the issue of segregation quite as squarely as you but we are less superficial in our general interpretation of the situation.

In your astute psychological analyses of race prejudice, you might have added with considerable force the pathology of the mental conflict. This is infinitely more disastrous to the whites than to the Negroes. While it is perfectly natural and normal for an oppressed group to resent their oppressions and oppressors, it is not natural nor normal for a man to profess one thing and practice another. In the long run there is something morally deteriorating about professing Christianity and practicing hypocrisy. Within recent months my major emphasis has been centered about this same danger in the mental conflict and whereas the older whites seem to ignore it the younger whites I am glad to say have faced with deep concern the tragic possibilities which inhere.

To sum up: The greatest difference between you and us of the Southern Regional Council is you seem chiefly concerned in getting something said; we are chiefly concerned in getting something done. You are primarily interested in denouncing the effects; we are primarily interested in attacking and destroying the cause. You are interested mainly in the incidental and we in the fundamental. You want a revolution--possibly an evolutionary revolution--we want an evolution--possibly a revolutionary ~~evolutionary revolution~~ evolution. I am sure you do not profess to say where one leaves off and the other begins. In other words we want the same thing and our modus operandi is our main difference. The absolutism you apparently would suggest in interracial adjustment is unscientific in the premise. Relativism has supplanted absolutism as a philosophical concept.

With deep appreciation for all you mean and do, I am

Yours very faithfully,

Gordon Hancock

Copy

Twenty-Fourth June
1 9 4 4

Miss Lillian Smith, Editor
South Today
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Many thanks for the privilege of reading copy of letter to Dr. Johnson in which you decline membership in the Southern Regional Council. I admire your frankness but I do not admire the superficial way in which you treated the issue in question. You are capable of bringing to this question a more constructive appraisal than the one contained in the letter to Dr. Johnson.

May I say at the outset that I admire whites of the North for any boldness they may evince in grappling with the color question. But I have a kind of super-admiration for courageous whites of the South who dare to be democratic and Christian. Be you therefore assured in advance of my deep appreciation for what you are dong and it is this deep appreciation that forces me to take time out to write you in order that you may think further on this matter of declining an opportunity to do something constructive for the improvement of race relations in this our Southland.

Because the major portion of the dirty work in bringing the Durham Conference to realization, the Southern Regional Council is close to my heart, not because it is perfect but because it faces squarely a burning issue and faces it realistically. You would deny your influence and helpfulness to the cause just because we did not denounce more strongly segregation. You have made segregation your main issue. Miss Anderson of Common Ground and Professor Redding did the same thing. I was among those who felt that in our Durham Statement we might have omitted a statement on segregation in its entirety so long as all we asked was within the framework of segregation just as all past and present Negro progress is within the framework of segregation. However, I said at the Durham Conference if we mentioned segregation we would have to condemn it. This we did but we did not spend all of our energies denouncing segregation, for we realised that segregation as a social pattern is not going to be destroyed merely by fiery and scholarly denunciations, and so did Monroe Trotter and John Mitchell. I am not prepared to say that the denunciations of the present are more brilliant than those of the past. But segregation is still with us. You are not more opposed to segregation than the writers of the Durham Manifesto.

I am bitterly and unalterably opposed to segregation for reasons you and most opponents thereof never mention, namely because it is a form of elimination. Segregation of the Negroes themselves will go ! Knowing this I am unalterably and eternally opposed to it. But how are we to get rid of it is the question. I have been amazed with the superficial way in which you and Miss Anderson and Mr. Redding treated this whole matter of segregation. You seem to begin and end with a denunciation of segregation. You seem to overlook the major fact that segregation is a manifestation of racial prejudice and as such becomes incidental while race prejudice is fundamental. If a fraction of the time spent in denouncing segregation were spent in seeking ways and means of exterminating race prejudice my cause would be immeasurably advanced. The Southern Regional Council seeks to destroy race prejudice by getting after the roots of prejudice many of which are rooted in misunderstanding. It matters not how slow is such process it must predede any constructive interracial adjustments. In the long run we go farther and go faster by facing the ugly facts that sociological processes cannot be ignored however disinclined we may be to face the fact due to the urgencies of the hour. What we are trying to do must be done if race relations are ever to be adjusted in this nation and world.

Your whole letter was beautifully analytical of race prejudice but you did not once prescribe a remedy and remember any remedy must be employed by both the white and the Negro South if it is to get anywhere in relieving the situation. Your positionwas essentially diagnostic but we of the Southern Regional Council have passed the diagnostic stage; we are trying to approach constructively the matter of therapy. You who make the whole issue one of segregation are overlooking the matter of prejudice, the more fundamental issue that we of the Southern Regional Council are trying to face. We are therefore facing the issue of segregation quite as squarely as you but we are less superficial in our general interpretation of the sitaation.

In your astute psychological analyses of race prejudice, you might have added with considerable force the pathology of the mental conflict. This is infinitely more disastrous to the whites than to the Negroes. While it is perfectly natural and normal for an oppressed group to resent their oppressions and oppressors, it is not natural nor normal for a man to profess one thing and practice another. In the long run there is something morally deteriorating about professing Christianity and practicing hypocrisy. Within recent months my major emphasis has been centered about this same danger in the mental conflict and whereas the older whites seem to ignore it the younger whites I am glad to say have faced with deep concern the tragic possibilities which inhere.

To sum up: The greatest difference between you and us of the Southern Regional Council is you seem chiefly concerned in getting something said; we are chiefly concerned in getting something done. You are primarily interested in denouncing the effects; we are primarily interested in attacking and destroying the cause. You are interested mainly in the incidental and we in the fundamental. You want a revolution--possibly an evolutionary revolution--we want an evolution--possibly a revolutionary ~~evolutionary revolution~~ evolution. I am sure you do not profess to say where one leaves off and the other begins. In other words we want the same thing and our modus operandi is our main difference. The absolutism you aparently would suggest in interracial adjustment is unscientific in the premise. Relativism has supplanted absolutism as a philosophical concept.

With deep appreciation for all you mean and do, I am

Yours very faithfully,

Gordon Hancock

Smith

June 26, 1944

Miss Lillian E. Smith
Clayton
Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Let me thank you for your letter of June 12. I regret that you do not see your way clear to becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council and of its Board of Directors, but I appreciate your position as set forth so forcefully in the letter. Since you feel that there is a more or less hopeless incompatibility between your position and the position of the Council, I think that your decision is quite understandable.

Thank you for sending copies of your letter to our Board of Directors and to other persons. Several of our directors have told me that they have not yet received a copy. I am very anxious that all of them see your letter, so I am enclosing a complete list of their names and addresses. I know that your burden of correspondence is very heavy, and if you want to check this list against yours, we shall be glad to send out copies to those who are not on your list.

Can't you pay us a visit some time? I am looking forward to the pleasure of a long conversation.

Cordially yours,

GUY B. JOHNSON
Executive Director

GBJ:m

Enclosure

SOUTH TODAY

EDITORS
LILLIAN E. SMITH
PAULA SNELLING

CLAYTON, GEORGIA

June 12, 1944

Dr. Guy B. Johnson
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
710 Standard Building
Atlanta,3,Georgia

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I want to apologize for the delay in acknowledging your very pleasant letter in which an invitation was given me to become a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council.

I regret to say that I have already undertaken so much work and so many responsibilities in various southern and national organizations that I cannot accept more at the present time.

I would also like to be quite frank and say that while I appreciate the invitation, I would not feel comfortable as a member of any organization working for racial democracy that does not deem it important to take a firm and public stand in opposition to segregation and in defense of human equality.

Do not misunderstand me, there are many individuals in the S.R.C. whom I esteem highly. Many of them have made valuable contributions to the South. There are a few who are among my closest personal friends. Some of these, I know, hold firmly to the belief that it is most urgent to face segregation and attack it directly. But these few have not been among the policy-making group in the S.R.C. The policies seem to have been decided upon pretty definitely by those who originally initiated the movement. And these policies, as far as I can now determine, could be changed only by a complete reorganization of the Council, and a profound alteration in the point of view of those now in control of its policies.

As you would doubtless agree, we are facing a most serious crisis in our American life today. We need new technics, a more profound philosophy, and all the courage that we are capable of, in order to avoid tragedy. I think

SOUTH TODAY

EDITORS
LILLIAN E. SMITH
PAULA SNELLING

CLAYTON, GEORGIA

we have looked at the Negro problem long enough. We need to right-about-face and study the problem of the white man, and the deep-rooted needs that have caused him to seek the strange, narcissistic satisfactions that are derived from worshipping his own skin-color. The white man himself is one of the world's most urgent problems today; not the Negro, nor other colored races. We whites must learn to confess this.

Segregation is not merely a southern tradition, a result of poverty, of certain economic patterns, etc. etc. Segregation is an ancient, psychological mechanism used by men the world over, whenever they want to shut themselves away from problems which they fear and do not feel they have the strength to solve. When men get into trouble they tend to put barriers between themselves and their difficulties. We white people got into deep trouble long ago when we attempted to enslave other human beings. A trouble we have never faced fully and never tried with all our strength to solve. Instead, we have tried to push it away from us; and in trying, we have used a mechanism so destructive that it, in itself, has become a menace to the health of our culture and our individual souls. Segregation is a way of life that is actually a form of cultural schizophrenia, bearing a curious resemblance to the schizophrenia of individual personality. It is a little chilling to note the paranoid symptoms of those among us who defend segregation: their violence, their sensitiveness to criticism, their over-esteem of themselves, their stereotyped replies to critics, their desire to withdraw from everything hard to face.

Racial segregation, political and economic isolationism cannot be considered apart from man's whole personality, his culture, his needs. Neither can man's needs be considered apart from the destroying effects of segregation. Nor can the South's major problems be solved by trying to put a loaf of bread, a book, and a ballot, in every one's hand. For man is not an economic or political unit. To believe that he is, is to ignore personality and cheapen the human spirit. And by ignoring personality, we over-simplify a complex, subtle, tragically profound problem. It helps us sometimes to see this in perspective if we will look at the restricting frame of segregation in terms of the needs of children. A child's personality cannot grow and mature without self-esteem, without feelings of security, without faith in his world's willingness

SOUTH TODAY

EDITORS
LILLIAN E. SMITH
PAULA SNELLING

CLAYTON, GEORGIA

to make room for him to live as a human being. Self-esteem and emotional security are to character what vitamins are to the body. No colored child in our South is being given today what his personality needs in order to grow and mature richly and fully. No white child, under the segregation pattern, can be free of arrogance and hardness of heart, and blindness to human need- and hence no white child can grow freely and creatively under the crippling frame of segregation.

I personally, would prefer that my own child do wihout shoes than do without the esteem of his fellows and I would prefer that he never look into a book than that he look down upon another human being. We simply cannot turn away and refuse to look at what segregation is doing to the personality and character of every child, every grown up, white and colored, in the South today. Segregation is spiritual lynching. The lynched and the lynchers are our own people, our own selves.

These are grave matters to me, troubling matters, which I feel must be faced, discussed, analyzed. For problems must be enunciated before we can know clearly what they are. We who do not believe in segregation must say so. We must say why segregation is unendurable to the human spirit. We must somehow find the courage to say it aloud. For, however we rationalize our silence, it is fear that is holding our tongues today. A widespread denial of a belief in segregation will shake the pattern to its roots. Each of us, in our hearts, knows this. In the beginning was the Word and today the Word is still powerful. To remain silent while the demagogues, the Negro haters, the racists, loudly reaffirm their faith in segregation and the spiritual lynching which this way of life inflicts, is to be traitorous to everything that is good and creative and sane in human values. I believe the time has come when we must take our stand.

In a recent issue of Common Ground, you seemed to criticize me and others who take seriously segregation and its effect upon human beings. You called us 'lonely souls', 'peak gazers'... In reply, may I say that I am proud to be a 'peak gazer'. I am proud to be one of the 'lonely souls',

SOUTH TODAY

EDITORS
LILLIAN E. SMITH
PAULA SNELLING

CLAYTON, GEORGIA

(although I must confess that 'lonely' may be a bit exaggerated as a description of my situation today!) You also said we (the lonely souls) "denounce segregation and are powerless to do anything about it." I doubt that you believe that. We have good evidence, certainly, that the Negro-haters and demagogues do not believe in our futility. They fight the people they fear and at present a good many guns are being turned in our direction.

One of the leaders of the S.R.C. in answer to a friend's inquiry as to why I had not been invited to the earlier policy-forming meetings of the Southern Regional Council, replied that my presence in their organization would be a handicap. I have seen the letter. Well...I am the same Lillian Smith. As far as I can discern, the organization is the same organization, with the same policies, attitudes, and people in control that it had at the time the letter was written.

I dislike to bring up these personal matters. I do not care for personal fights and I feel they are a great waste of emotion and energy that could be used more effectively in creative ways. And I am not going to fight individuals in the S.R.C. or carry on the controversy further by replying to your article in Common Ground although I was invited to. But as long as the leaders of the S.R.C. or any one who speaks officially for it belittle those who take a firm stand against segregation, as long as they refuse as a group to come to grips with this urgent problem, I would not deem it wise to have any connection with it. I fear my efforts would be ineffective, smothered by the official attitude; and I think also that my presence would still be embarrassing to many of its leaders. Hence, with an expression of thanks I decline the invitation.

Sincerely yours,

Lillian Smith

Lillian Smith

Copies to the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council

July 20, 1944

Miss Lillian Smith
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

I read with interest and general approval your letter of June 12 to Dr. Johnson. I think your thesis is sound. Furthermore, I would not have you change one whit either your platform or your allegiance or fidelity to it.

But I think the Negroes at Durham were trying to find a program of action which they could unite behind, and if possible, one that they could get the influential and powerful white South to accept, even if they were not actively behind it. Obviously. they were forced, with this aim, to face and to choose at the outset one of two paths: They could go to the root of the thing, which was segregation, and dedicate themselves to the immediate abolition of segregation, which admittedly, is the root of all the evils in the South. If and when it is wiped out, it makes possible everything else we want. Or they could attempt to by-pass this hedgerow, or strong point, by going on to things that seemed now possible of accomplishment, and which if accomplished in the plurality might mean the ultimate fall of segregation, and at the worst, would certainly weaken the hedgerow of segregation and make it easier to take by encirclement.

I don't, as a member of the Southern Regional Council, accept the position of being opposed to your thesis that segregation is the root of this matter. I insist that I am on your side there and we are agreed there as one. The real issue is whether it is permissible to postpone a direct attack on segregation, while attacking questions of equality in pay, upping the rights of labor,--oh, why mention them, you know all the rest of them. I was not at Durham, but when I read the Durham Statement, I thought it was practical and laid a course which might speed the solution of our problems here.

I will come back to that Durham Statement and its purposes later, now may I suggest that a direct attack upon segregation in the South would array against us solidly, stubbornly, and I'd say overwhelmingly, the complete opposition of practically all of the whites in office and in power. In that view, we probably would lose the friends that we now have, and who would be afraid to array themselves against the demagogues and reactionaries, who are most bitter in playing up this question of segregation,--open opposition to segregation is often called "Negro loving."

So while I think you as a Southern woman have done, and are doing, the most Christian-like thing that I have noticed anywhere, I think we as Southern Negroes have to choose and find our medium of most effective work and take it fearlessly, as you have taken your course. They are not necessarily the same, even though we do agree on the identical principles and the identical requisites for destroying segregation. How we can do the thing from our respective positions depends upon the circumstances and conditions in which we find ourselves.

Perhaps I can put what I am trying to say another way: I believe in the NAACP, which doesn't compromise on any issue, and I not only support it financially but I serve on committees, go to see the people, carry their stories, make editorial comment, go in the courts and fight uncompromisingly on the ir program. I think it is essential and I don't think it should change, and I think we need it. But I also think that there was a field for the Interracial Commission, and there was a field for the Southern Regional Council, and we need the type of thing that they could do just as much, and on occasions more, as we need the NAACP. We who are the minority, and who have such a large job, must learn to use all of the techniques to accomplish our purpose.

So I hold that the real issue isn't whether the SRC agrees that segregation must be destroyed before we can ever get real justice for Negroes in the South, the real issue is whether or not the SRC can in good faith by-pass segregation, temporarily, admitting that it is the core of the problem, or whether they must pitch their fight on that line and stand there if it takes all winter. Just as Russia has always left troops to make frontal attacks on the hedges by-passes, I think you should be where you are and stay there, but I think it is just as legitimate for the other forks of the Army to by-pass the hedge, and get to where it can cut behind it and encircle it and cut it off from its protection and support, as it is that we have the frontal assault. We must recognize that there is no one way to settle this problem, and that there are many facets to it.

I confess I have been troubled somewhat in my own mind as to whether the Southern Regional Council is following the Durham Statement as to purpose. I thought the whole reason for by-passing an immediate and direct attach on segregation was that we could have active, South-wide effort on the other things that we took as our immediate goals. Admittedly we are slow in the SRC to produce the type of activity which would justify our by-passing the hedge.

I for one don't think it will be sufficient to major in research, as a justification for passing the hedge of segregation. For we could make direct claims against segregation and go ahead with all the research we wanted without being hampered on it. It seems to me that it is only justifiable when, by not taking any stand to crystallize opposition of white Southerners against us, we get their cooperation actively on the things that are happening today, and will be happening when this war is over, to make this a better South.

Certainly, unless we are going to activate the things set out in the Durham Conference, by getting the support of the infuuential whites, there is no justification for avoiding the attack on segregation today. In my mind the main question is whether or not the SRC has had time to break down and adopt its real program, or whether we should be patient to see if it is going to swing into use of the thing that we were supposed to have been getting when we by-passed segregation.

For my part, I am not sorry that you wrote your article in Common Ground, or that Dr. Johnson answered you. The issue concerns the whole South, and to some extent the nation. The best way to clarify it is through discussion, and in my thinking discussion is no good unless it is honest and based upon an honest marshaling of the facts and ideas. It may be well to leave it out of the public press for a while, but I certainly think that the discussion through mail and in private conservation should go on, until we have at least crystallized the opinion of the better thinking Southerners on this all-important question.

Thanks for sending me acopy of your letter and I hope you will carry on the scrap, and may the best wbman win.

Very truly yours,

Carter Wesley

/d

cc: Executive Committee,
Southern Regional Council

August 4, 1944

Miss Lillian Smith,
Clayton,
Georgia.

Dear Miss Smith:

The copy of your letter to Dr. Johnson called my attention again to the articles in Common Ground which, when I read them, caused me to say to myself, "You'll have to do something about this, since, unless you've been dropped from the rolls (I didn't get to a meeting that was held this year) of the Southern Regional Council, you're due to write Dr. Johnson a letter." The copy of your letter to Dr. Johnson has served to give my mind and conscience a needed nudge and I am indebted to you for this.

I do not believe in segregation. I could not have been as profoundly influenced as I have been by the writings of Jane Addams and by living at Hull House and emerge from the experience a believer in segregation. Furthermore, segregation has no place in the philosophy and objectives of social work, it is counter to the ideals of the profession. My problem is one of the ways and means of practicing this belief - one concerned with the strategy of action. This problem does not arise with respect to my classroom teaching, the hundreds of white Southern students who have attended the Tulane University School of Social Work are aware of those aspects of the "race problem" that belong to the white man and they no doubt as to the convictions of the faculty on matters of race relations. However, in social work the "Word" must be linked with the Deed, even though the Deed may be but imperfectly conceived and imperfectly carried out. It is in relating the "Word" to the Deed that difficulties arise, and questions as to what to do, when to do it, and how to do it appear.

Social workers through a long experience with social reform, or as it is now called, Social action, are very aware of the implications of the word, social, when it is tied to action. The hoary abominations of society, of which segregation is one, can only be done away with through the "steady effort to accumulate facts and exalt the human will." To do this requires the cooperation of many people and to secure this cooperation, to make it effective it is usually necessary to proceed through an attach on a given and real situation. Even segregation can too often be turned into an abstraction like the Devil we talk about, describe as evil, and fail to recognize when we meet him face to face in our own front yard. To put one's finger and attention on a specific devil when appears, for example, in the form of separate waiting rooms for whites and Negroes, or separate staff rooms for white and Negro professional personnel in a social agency, to recognize and to exorcize him when he takes this guise, is an illustration of the long pull with respect to specific situations. I always remember the Y. W. C. A. Board member who want on record as approving the Industrial Division's statement regarding collective bargaining and then a week later, when faced with a specific situation, promptly reversed her approval since she had discovered that trade unions had something to do with collective bargaining.

Although in the short view we appear to inch along, situation by situation, any long view shows a substantial total of gains to the credit of that minority group known as social workers. Being human, some of us get tired too soon, others lack persistence it takes to continue year in and year out the "long, sweaty routine of building social justice and economic security." There are always debatable points regarding the ways and means of building, how fast we can go and still consolidate gains, how slowly and not lose all. To secure the understanding and cooperation of many people, of laymen with diverse interests and beliefs is a difficult and often a slow business. I've no doubt but that very often we move too slowly, that out timing is imperfect; for example, I am very impatient with our present slowness with respect to certain matters of race relations, for now is the time to run, not walk. The "white supremacy" boys are running and shouting as they go, their Words are effective, since it's easier to appeal to the forces of destruction than to those of cooperation and constructive change.

The demagoges "go to town" because, on the whole, the Southern highways are clear. We've all the "facts and figures" we need about Negro-white relations in the South and North, the tragedy lies in our inability to marshall our forces, plan a program of action (including more than statements of policy, and resolutions), give some priority listing to the problems we will take action on as well as to ways and means, and then act. Perhaps the S. R. C. should let those members go who at this time want a slow educational program that all too often turns out to be only slow. (Since I am sending a copy of this letter to Dr. Johnson, it will serve as a request for a statement covering the program of the S.R.C. as well as some discussion of the implementation of this program. I have been neither an active nor an effective member of the S.R.C., at the few meetings I have attended I've been a listener and a learner. I gained much of interest and use to me but I contributed little.) I'm enclosing a newspaper clipping you've probably seen regarding a recent episode in Jackson, it's a particularly hideous episode - one needs not too much imagination to sense the fear of the Negro - the easy way our white police shoot Negroes is as typical as is the "closing of the case." One need only change the scene of action to Germany, the Negro to a Jew, the detective to a member of the Gestapo, the citizens of Jackson to good German Christians!

The strategy of any action with respect to any problem such as segregation charged with fear and all we label as irrational is a complex rather than a simple strategy. I do not think that those like yourself, who choose to fight segregation directly - to make one aspect of this issue, the issue in their platform are "lonely souls" or "star gazers". I simply think that you and they choose to fight with different weapons and on one of the many fronts that make up the segregation battle area.

I think that the differences between yourself and some of the others interested in race relations can be increased or decreased. I would, of course, like to have them decreased since men and women of good will need to pool their strength. You write, "I, personally, would prefer that my own child do without shoes than do without the esteem of his fellows and I would prefer that he never look into a book than he look down upon another human being." You sound very either-orish, you talk as though people actually are presented with such choices. Shoes and esteem, books and fellowship, we want them all, we need them all, we may or may not get them. If you are to define segregation exclusively in your own phychological terms, then the differences between yourself and others interested in "race relations" will increase. If, however, it is agreed that there are patterns of segregation such as those that are found in residential areas, schools, courts, industries, at the polls, in hotels and eating places, on parks and playgrounds, as well as within the human mind, it can be seen that there is not just one aspect to segregation and not just one method of attack on it. I would agree with you that segregation with respect to persons in the places I've mentioned springs from the ideas that possess men. You may well ask why I then am not willing to put all attention and effort behind the job of releasing men from these possessive ideas. To which I will reply, I am advocating this, for I am of the opinion that the process of attacking such instances, is the means men and women use to free themselves from such possessive ideas. Freedom from the irrational is, as you know, far from being an original possession or gift. It is something to be achieved, more often thought, through retail rather than through wholesale methods, through action that vivifies and keeps the Word alive and meaningful.

I sound much more positive about all this than I really am. I too am very troubled, I often think how ironic it is to be chalking up "progress" when and if we really achieve the th eoretical definition of segregation (separate but equal treatment of equals). I would, for example, consider it a step in advance, given things as they are on the Southern scene, to obtain federal funds to enable us to equalize the educational opportunities for white and Negro children. I would prefer to obtain equal educational opportunities for white and Negro children without separation. I think, however, that this is impossible within my lifetime and yours; I see no virtue in becoming a martyr for a cause, I'm much more inclined therefore to take what I have some chance of getting a piece of at a time. Separate but equal treatment remains a step in advance over much that we now have. Again this is not an either-or proposition for, in some areas, we can obtain equal treatment of equals without the separation. Sometimes separation is reduced largely to a symbol, the green curtain in the diner.

I am not seeking to deny the truth contained in your statement that, "Segregation is spiritual lynching". I have no piece of teaching material as effective as your article, "Growing Into Freedom". In my opinion the S.R.C. should distribute this article for use in Southern schools and colleges. For, as Jane Addams pointed our, "Merely to inform people that such and such a group conflict is based upon ethnological misunderstanding, will not do away either with the conflict or its emotional associations in the minds of those implicated. The entire race situation demonstrates once more that mere information is not enough and that the various research bodies need to be constantly supplemented." Your article and your activities are for the illustrations of such supplementations. It is easier to accumulate facts, to let those become inert, than it is to "exalt the human will". Some of us can collect facts, some of us can keep the facts alive, but few of us can do what you can, i.e. "exalt the human will."

I regret more than I can tell you your refusal to become a member of the Board of Directors of the S. R. C. Your refusal prompts me to ask you where you expect to find a "prefabricated air-conditioned New Jerusalem?" Surely not in the deep South. I can't see withdrawing or refusing to work with others because of being unable to see eye to eye with them. How can you persuade others to see your way if you stay apart from them? You say that you can't be everywhere, that you have "so many responsibilities in various souterhn and national organizations" that you can't "accept more at the present time, "that "you would not feel comfortable as a member of any organization that does not seem it important to take a firm and public stand in opposition to segregation and in defense of human equality."

Since you assure Dr. Johnson that you are the "same Lillian Smith" your highlighting of your own comfort is a ray of humor in an otherwise serious note of refusal. You may say that there are groups and groups and that you prefer to put in your efforts where you think they will gain the most response. I'm not questioning this for the choice is yours to make but I am registering my regret over the fact that you have refused to become a member of the Board of the S.R.C. I am sending Dr. Johnson a copy of this letter for I hope that he will urge you to reconsider your decision.

Very sincerely,

Florence Sytz

cc: Dr. Johnson

PUBLISHERS · THE VIKING PRESS INC · NEW YORK 17 NY

Cable address • Vikpress 18 EAST 48TH STREET Telephone • PLaza 5-4330

February 14, 1955

Mr. George Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue N.E.
Atlanta, Georgia

FEB 16 1955

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

At the suggestion of Mr. Harold Moon of the NAACP, I am sending you a copy of Lillian Smith's Now Is the Time, which we published last week. The attached release will give you a general idea of the book's scope and message.

As we note in our release, our aim in simultaneous publication of this work with Dell Publishers is the very sincere hope that it will reach the broadest possible readership. It is also our hope that organizations concerned with the urgent problems discussed in Now Is the Time will want to aid in the dissemination of the book -- or at least in spreading the news of it. It seemed to me that the church groups in your Council might well have such an interest. In any event, I would be happy to learn of any suggestions you would have with regard to the promotion of this little volume.

Most sincerely,

Patricia MacManus

Patricia MacManus
Publicity Director

PMM/bmk

Smith, Lillian

February 18, 1955

Miss Patricia MacManus
Publicity Director
The Viking Press, Inc.
18 East Forty-Eighth Street
New York 17, New York

Dear Miss MacManus:

We are very much interested in Lillian Smith's new book and are already doing things to get it around. I have written Lillian Smith in warm praise of the book.

We have a meeting of church women coming up next week and I will have the copy of Viking Press' edition of it available for them to see. I confess that we have boughted the Dell edition for each of the ladies, but they will faithfully be shown the better edition.

If the book can get around widely in the South, it just might do its job.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM/eab

August 1, 1957

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Your article in the current Progressive reminded me that I had not thanked you for sending the copy of your recent Atlanta speech to me. Harold Fleming and I do appreciate your interest.

Enclosed is a copy of the Semi-Annual Report which Harold and I thought might interest you. Harold is away on vacation but before he left he asked that I also express his appreciation to you.

Again thanks and very best wishes.

Sincerely,

John Constable
Director of Information

JC:lec
Encl.

file Lillian Smith

December 16, 1957

No Easy Way, Now

A noted novelist who lives in Georgia asks why so few Southerners have spoken up publicly against segregation

by LILLIAN SMITH

WITH A FEW shining exceptions, when crisis has come to the Southern community the mob has come also; agitators have moved in; the people have seemed indifferent to law and order; the demagogues have put on their usual subversive act; the unwashed and illiterate and criminal and psychotic elements have taken over our streets. And we who think we are free and strong and intelligent suddenly realize we are dominated—not by a dictator but by a dictating idea.

The realization comes to us slowly but it finally strikes deep: that this dictating idea is embodied in a rabble so powerful that the police force, the churches, the best leadership of the community are helpless to deal with it.

How is this possible? Where does the mob's strength come from? It must have enormous strength to paralyze the people as it seems to do. It, apparently, has an almost magic power over men's minds for again and again we have watched a community grow mute and helpless when the mob gathers on the street.

But, when one looks for its strength one is puzzled. Actually, this mob which I shall call Mob No. 1, is few in number, its members are weak in community influence, many of them have criminal records, their intelligence quotients would certainly run pretty low: they are nothing but the riffraff, the hoodlums with no visible source of strength at all.

Then where on earth does their power come from?

To find its source, we must take two journeys:

The first one will be short. All we need do is walk over to Main Street and enter a few modern air-conditioned offices. There, sitting at their desks, are the men who quietly protect the rabble and give it its hidden strength. Some of these men are bankers, doctors, lawyers, engineers, newspaper editors and publishers; a few are preachers; some are powerful industrial leaders; most are known only in their home towns and state; but others have important connections in New York City and Washington. They hold not only economic power but moral and civic power, for they sit on church and education boards, on health boards, on various local and state planning committees.

This is Mob No. 2. Not all our business and professional men belong to it, by any means. But many do. It is a quiet well-bred mob. Its members speak in cultivated voices, have courteous manners, some have university degrees, and a few wear Brooks Brothers suits. But they are a mob, nevertheless. For they not only protect the rabble, and tolerate its violence, they think in the same primitive mode, they share the same irrational anxieties, they are just as lawless in their own quiet way, and they are dominated by the same "holy idea" of white supremacy.

They don't dynamite houses and churches—they leave that to Mob No. 1. They smother: By their use of boycott, by their quiet threats, and economic pressures, by suppression of news, they strip college professors, school teachers, preachers, writers, reporters, editors, students, their own employees, and many other white Southerners of their Constitutional rights to speak and write—and to be heard. These are precious rights to Americans. A man who takes them away from us is a law-breaker; as much one as is the rough-neck who throws his weight around on the street. And, in my opinion, far more dangerous.

Yet, because most people think only something noisy is violent, they tend to be deaf to this insidious form of spiritual violence, this whispered contempt for law—which is taking over much of our South, and is creeping into the North, also.

The men in Mob No. 2 are, for the most part, responsible, sensible professional and businessmen who have often shown a generous concern for the welfare of their community. They are usually completely reliable in their business affairs. Then why would they play this shady role of protector of the street mob? Why would they be willing to strip their fellow-citizens of their freedom of energy and of ideas than dynamic and imaginative policies do. That this atrophy of government, inevitably resulting from the atrophy of its purposes, has been acutely aggravated by the lapse of leadership at the top is too obvious to require elaboration; but it might be pointed out that that lapse of leadership was, in turn, made possible and perhaps even temporarily tolerable by that decline in purpose.

---

LILLIAN SMITH is the author of Strange Fruit and many other books and articles. This article is taken from an address to the Arkansas Council on Human Relations.

When we speak of the atrophy of government, we obviously do not refer to the quantity of institutions and their activities which go by the name of government; for there has been no decline of those. What we have in mind is a subtle quality which is vital to a democratic government: its quality as a teacher and leader. In its absence the government cannot govern in a truly democratic fashion, that is, with the freely given consent of the governed. Modern government—democratic or non-democratic—is not merely the formulation and execution of policies. It is also and necessarily the creation of public consent for the policies formulated and to be executed. In non-democratic societies this consent is created by the government's monopolistic manipulation of the mass media of communication. Democracies create it ideally through the free interplay of plural opinions and interests, out of which the consensus of the majority emerges.

SECRECY AND MISREPRESENTATION

From these different conceptions of consent two different attitudes toward secrecy and truth follow. A non-democratic government can afford to conceal and misrepresent because there are no autonomous social forces which could expose it to scrutiny and propose factual and political alternatives. Under certain conditions, it will even be compelled to conceal and misrepresent because it will have no other way to create consent for its policy. A democratic government, while having an obvious advantage in the contest of opinion, ideally at least can neither afford nor does it need to conceal and misrepresent. A responsible parliament and an alert public opinion force it to lay its cards on the table or at the very least check the government version of the truth against their own. And the assumption of democratic pluralism that neither the government nor anybody else has a monopoly of truth in matters political minimizes the temptation for the government to impose its version upon society by concealment and misrepresentation.

It is the measure of the decline of democratic government in the United States that the Administration has—not on occasion but consistently—concealed from the people and its elected representatives information in both the most vital and the most trivial matters and misrepresented the truth known to it. The Administration has been aware for a considerable period of time of the deterioration of American power in comparison with that of the Soviet Union, yet its most eminent spokesmen have assured us time and again that our strength vis-à-vis the Soviet Union was unimpaired if not actually increased. To this day what we have been told officially is at best but a hint of the actual state of affairs. To speak of very trivial things in passing, the American people have not been allowed to learn what present the King of Saudi Arabia gave the President on his visit in January, 1957.

Secrecy and misrepresentation, not as occasional aberrations but as a system of government, are in our case intimately related to the atrophy of government of which we have spoken earlier. The Administration, philosophically and politically committed to stagnation, and hence unable to lead and educate, has put appearance in the place of substance. Thus it is not by accident that the techniques of advertising have so thoroughly replaced the processes of free discussion in the relations between government and people. Judged by the standards of advertising, the result has been gratifying. The Administration has been popular, and the people have been happy. Yet judged by the standards of the American destiny and survival, the result has been disquieting in the extreme. We witness the beginning of a crisis of confidence in the Administration, and we must beware lest it turn into a crisis of confidence in the democratic processes themselves.

Before men want to be governed well, they want to be governed. Before they choose between good and bad policies, they want some policies to choose from. The great revolutions of the modern age—from the French Revolution of 1789 through the two Russian revolutions of 1917 and the Fascist revolutions in Italy and Germany to the Chinese revolution of the 40's—were carried forward by men who were dismayed not only at being governed badly but also and more importantly at not being governed enough. These revolutions owed their success to the determination and ability of their leaders to seize power, to hold it, and to use it, to govern perhaps badly but firmly. The modern masses have risen in despair and fury not against some particular policy, but against the weakness of government, reflected in spectacular failures.

Of the failures which are likely to be in store for us, we have only had a first and very partial glimpse. We are but at the beginning of our disillusions, frustrations, and tribulations. Faced with this crisis in its fortunes, as taxing as any it has experienced, the nation certainly stands in need of sound policies. What it needs worse is a government which restores its sense of mission, which galvanizes its latent energies by giving them a purpose, which, in short, is the guardian of the nation's past and an earnest of its future. The nation has no such government now.

speech and belief? Do we know? I am not sure that they, or we, understand their motivations.

But we need to understand. We need to find out why they are willing to risk so much of our future for so little of our past.

To find the answer, we must search for Mob No. 3.

This will take us on a much longer journey. For it leads us back home into the secret places of our hearts and minds. Mob No. 3 lives in the depths of every man's mind: It is activated by primitive fears, hatreds, guilts, some of which have nothing whatever to do with race. It is nourished on anxiety about the body image, on anxiety about our personal relationships, and on the terrors that rise like a miasma from ancient myths of birth, death, blood, heredity, animals, darkness. . . .

Mob No. 3 makes its home on the prehistoric, mythic level of the human mind. We are born possessing this symbolizing layer of mind—and everybody in the South seems to have an extra amount of it! It is a pity that reason is not also born in us. But we know, of course, that it is not: It is a talent, a skill, a method which has to be developed; we have the potentials, all right, for logical thinking but we are not born thinking logically. And unless we live in a culture which develops this skill in its people, we tend to have little of it.

It would be so much easier for us, when we are faced with crisis, were our mythic mind only a matter of emotions. We could then push it aside and say: "Let's not feel; let's think it out; let's be realistic." But often, when we assume we are speaking realistically, we are merely talking on a primitive level. The mythic mind has its own mode of thinking which is of a different nature from that of reason—and because it does think and talk in a different fashion, it can easily trick us. And often does.

When we reason, we look at facts; we evaluate them; we check and doublecheck for accuracy; then we put fences around their significance. We say, "Within this framework this concept is valid; outside this framework it loses much of its validity." Reason defines precisely; it tends to stave off generalization until it has collected enough facts and related them to each other and to a sufficient number of external situations to make the generalization stick. The chief characteristic of discursive logic is its tendency always to relate its facts to those in the outside world. (I hope you will forgive me for reminding you of what everyone of us knows, when we stop to think about it.)

On the other hand, the primitive mind never relates: it merges. It is like a whale: it swallows everything in one awful gulp. It reaches out and pulls in the most disparate facts, feelings, situations and concepts and squeezes them into one tight obsessive idea.

Its capacity for coexistence with inconsistency and irrelevance is unlimited. It takes the most diverse events and presses them into the same mold. A case in point is the facility with which Senator Talmadge, in a recent speech, stated that the marching-in of our American troops to Little Rock was of the same moral order as the Communists sending the Russian troops into Hungary That ridiculous, false analogy came out of Mr. Talmadge's mythic mind and slipped immediately without criticism into millions of Southern mythic minds, and quite a few Northern ones, too; and it lies there, today, festering with resentment.

Above all else, the mythic mind is demiurgic in its nature: It creates. It never criticizes itself or its own acts. Why should it? That is reason's job: to compare, measure, weigh, collect, test against past and present knowledge. Not so the mythic mind: It is impelled to make things, bad or good; to create things, bad or good. It can stir up a mob—or it can stir up a great symphony; it can scream lies and false analogies as our demagogues do (and a lot of other folks) or it can write a great poem, like Eliot's Burnt Norton. It can dream up obscene idolatries or the great religions of the world.

But only when mated with reason and critical intelligence can the mythic mind become the fabulous creative imagination which invents, discovers, builds, writes, paints what man looks at and calls great; only when it is impregnated with man's longing to be good, with his concern for others, with his hunger for meaning, his need for a significant place in the universe can it dream of God—or dream of man himself, growing in wisdom and awareness and grace.

Without this mythic mind, we should be less than animals and less than machines. For, of course, our power to symbolize comes out of it, and without symbols we could not reason, and without symbolic forms there would be no language, no art, no science, no great religions. Yet, when it is not controlled by self-criticism and reason and by the great ethical ideas so slowly thrust up through the centuries, and by concern and compassion, it is the most dangerous thing on earth. We saw it working without these controls, in Hitler and the Nazi party. We saw what happened when the potentially great creative forces in the German people—uncontrolled by self-criticism, uncontrolled by ethical ideas, but instead lashed on by primitive myths of blood and sex and race—made not great cities but concentration camps, devised not a good way of life but only a massive technic of murdering, and in the mad process pulled the whole world into a catastrophic war.

IN THE South, we long to be good; but we rarely tolerate criticism when we are bad. We want to be Christian; but we rarely permit clergymen to subject our way of life to the spiritual test of Christ's teachings. We long to be learned and we admire the physical sciences and the technologies, but we turn away from knowledge of our own minds and hearts and human relationships. We are not only afraid to talk about race we are afraid of all inquiry that comes close to man, himself. We are afraid of biology, psychology, psychiatry, psychoanalysis, afraid of all the social sciences. We are profoundly embarrassed when someone suggests that we look at the human condition as the existentialists are, today, urging us to do. We shudder and turn away as if we were shown a dirty picture.

Above all else, we are sensitive to criticism from our own fellow-Southerners; so much so, that we try to punish them if they dare warn us that we are close to disaster. We Southerners are endowed with a powerful and potentially creative imagination that could produce a rich culture and a great people. I believe that. But because we refuse to let it mate with critical intelligence and ethics, with poetry and mysticism, and compassion, it tends to produce not strong, vital, free creative individuals but sex-obsessed mobs; it thrusts up out of our soil not great leaders but irrational obscene demagogues; it produces not healthy-minded, morally strong children but children torn and ambivalent—weakened by learning to love ideals which they are commanded, even by state laws, not to live; confused, and made apathetic by their culture's inexorable directive to fit the moral necessities of the atomic age to the narrow framework of their grandfathers' code.

It is such a pity. It is more: It is our great tragedy. Like Medea, when she brought her murdered children to their father, we can cry: I have done it: because I loathed you more than I loved them. Mine is the triumph. . . . I tore my own heart and laughed: I was tearing yours.

ARE all Southerners like these I have described? Are we all bereft of self-criticism? and blind? and complacent? and avenging? Aren't some of us decent, sensitive, reasoning, honest, compassionate human beings who measure up well when compared to the best in our nation and other countries?

Of course. There are hundreds of thousands of Southerners who do. Perhaps millions. But their moral weight in their own region is as light as a handful of feathers. For they are hushed and silent. They do not speak out. They know: but they do not say what they know. They feel: but they do not act out what they feel.

Why don't we Southerners speak, in time?

Because we fear economic reprisals from Mob No. 2? Yes. Because we fear physical violence from Mob No. 1? Yes. But there is another reason:

To speak against segregation is taboo. More of a taboo than to break segregation by our acts. There are reasons why we feel the strength of this taboo: We were taught from early childhood never to speak against segregation and never to question it. Our honest young eyes might see its cruelty and did. But we must not admit it. It was our Lesson No. 1; and most of us learned it well. Now we are grown: we have read, traveled, thought, observed; we have changed. We want to speak out but we feel a dread of speaking; even though reason tells us we are right, we fear we may be wrong; our judgment may be bad; we may hurt our families by doing it, we whisper; we shall certainly lose "our usefulness." We grow anxious; we feel pressed on all sides of our nature, and we become hysterically mute. A good part of this "moderation" you hear about in the South is nothing but mutism —as of course you know.

But even so; we might more easily break the childhood training, were it not for that old primitive layer of the mind where the Word is always more powerful than the act. Children feel this; you have seen them show it: the word IS the object, their name IS as real as their body. And primitives feel this; always in a primitive tribe, the word not only represents something, it is something, a magic SOMETHING. Here is where the taboo is reinforced in us on deep levels.

And so: forbidden to speak, we hug to ourselves our secret belief that segregation is wrong; and that human dignity is every man's right; we stubbornly teach these beliefs to our children; and then, after teaching them, we let these children know in devious, subtle ways that they cannot live them and must never say them to others.

There are hundreds of thousands of white Southerners who feel this way. But they carry almost no moral weight in their communities. Why? Because secret beliefs do not create enlightened public opinion. And yet, only enlightened public opinion can stave off mobs and violence; and only enlightened public opinion brings about change in a creative way. The mob comes on the street when enlightened public opinion leaves it; the demagogues talk too much when the good, intelligent people talk too little.

This brings us back to Mob No. 2. Those quiet, college-bred economically powerful men would not protect the street rabble if they did not believe they were morally supported by the rest of the responsible community. They would not use the boycott and economic reprisals in order to suppress all who differ from them, unless they felt their acts were approved. A few are evil opportunists who would do anything to build their power and increase their wealth. But not most. Most are confused men. Most are just doing a lot of primitive thinking and feeling. And their consciences are almost clear: for their ministers, their newspaper editors, their friends in civic and business circles, their childhood training have not told them they are doing wrong. Almost nobody has told them, except perhaps their own wives, that segregation is not a sacred way of life.

It is easy to do wrong when everybody around you thinks you are doing right. It is difficult to take a stand all by yourself. It requires a whopping amount of moral courage—and more than most of us human beings possess. Especially in a region where, at best, the intellectual deviant is looked upon as a crackpot and "extremist" and, at worst, as a perverse immoral half-insane creature.

We are, we must humbly confess, in the same pitiable condition of all brainwashed people. You don't have to live in a Communist country to be brainwashed. It can happen here at home; and has been happening to us Southerners for nearly 80 years. We have heard on this subject of race—at least at home—only what the White Supremacists have told us. And there are too many people in other parts of our country who are brainwashed, also. They use the same old defenses, ask the same irrelevant questions, give the same mythic answers.

Even the President of the United States said in a recent speech on the Little Rock question that you can't "legislate morals." His variation was, I think, that "laws won't change men's minds." Now: who ever thought they would? Laws are to protect the rights of people—from those whose minds can't change; they are to protect the security of people from the criminals who have no morals. But the implication of this statement (most popular among highly educated people) is: laws are ineffectual because they do not convert men. Yet what alternative is there to the rule of law save the rule of dictators? Unless we are willing to sink into anarchy and chaos. And which of these speakers who talk about the futility of "legislating morals" would be willing to do away with traffic laws, etc., etc. (We might say, just here, that while laws cannot change minds and have no such purpose, they do condition men to behave in a certain, semi-automatic way, sometimes good, sometimes bad.)

Of course: When people speak like this, their reason is sound asleep. Yet, these same men, on other subjects, often speak with good sense and, sometimes, with extraordinary intelligence and wisdom.

This is what brainwashing does to a people. We talk like fools in Dixie—and north of Dixie, too—about race and segregation; the Russians talk like fools about capitalistic imperialists, etc.

Are we not creeping close to the heart of our trouble? Does it not center in two words: fear and silence?

We are acutely anxious, almost in panic, because silence has delivered us not only to the mob in the street but to the primitive, mob-like part of our own natures. And yet, we are so anxious that we dare not break the silence.

But: Were we to break it, we could quickly lift ourselves into the realm of reason and good feeling—just as we have done by our cancer drives which have substituted hope for anxiety and prompt action for neurotic procrastination.

We need a lot of real fear: the kind that looks at the actual dangers, and not at the imaginary ones: the kind that faces up to the danger that this racial turmoil may alienate new nations of Asia and Africa and throw them into the arms of Communism. This is real: this concerns the survival of our nation, and the survival of democracy, and the survival of our way of life. We do have an American way of life that is great and good and worth sacrificing for—but it is not the segregated way the demagogues cherish.

But I refuse to blame all the trouble on the fear of our people; or on this mutism.

There are thousands of brave Southerners ready to speak out today—who don't have a place to speak. Ministers, whose boards won't let them preach what they want to preach; teachers who have had to sign pledges of silence in order to teach at all; editors who have been commanded by publisher and business manager not to write those editorials they once dreamed of writing; writers whose books are boycotted and smothered.

There are, also, hundreds of gifted, articulate white Southerners ready to speak to the entire nation—and across the magnolia curtain to their South—but where can they do it? National magazines with mass circulation don't want articles from white Southerners who oppose segregation; they want articles from the "moderates" and from the separate-but-equalers, and the gradualists.

How many informed, white Southerners who are opposed to segregation have you seen on TV and radio networks? I have appeared once for a fleeting moment—but who else? There are hundreds who are willing and able. They simply have not been asked. Yet Talmadge and Eastland and the Grand Kleagle of the KKK and the muted moderates have appeared numerous times. And a few thoughtful, courageous, sincere Southerners who oppose mob rule and believe in obeying the law have appeared. But: when asked how they felt about segregation, they did not take a stand against it. I do not question their motives: I simply say the nation and the South have not heard white Southerners speak up against segregation in mass magazines and on the networks. The networks have done a superb job of news reporting but are they not failing us by not giving the full picture of the white South?

For some reason—and not necessarily an evil one—our friends in the North seem to have fallen for what is not only the White Citizens' Councils' line and Mob No. 2's line, but the Moderates' line, too: Let Negroes speak if they want to; let the Yankee speak; but don't let one intelligent white Southerner who opposes segregation speak. Keep them smothered; only in this way can we sell the idea to the rest of the country that the South is unanimously opposed to the acceptance of Negroes as full-fledged American citizens.

This is the "line." And an efficient job has been done, selling it at home and abroad. It forms an impasse—a difficult one—yet somehow, we must get around it or we shall be blocked a long time. (Eighty ministers of Atlanta's white churches made a big hole in the curtain of silence by taking their stand in a statement published on November 3. This could be the beginning of a new era. It is an important event.) But we must remember: These groups could not have run down the magnolia curtain had it not been because Mob No. 3 in millions of minds, North and South, acquiesced.

HERE IS where the moderates' so-called logic breaks down and becomes a devious form of primitive thinking: "If people don't talk, everything will be all right." They tell us that we must obey our laws whether we like them or not. And it sounds right; and it would be, if only human beings were made in a simple, uncomplicated way with neither mythic minds nor critical minds. But we are not animals; and we are not machines: we are human. And because we are, we want to know good reasons for a law. Our people, in this free country will not obey a law which the demagogues and our own silence tell them is a silly, evil, unnecessary law. And we should not expect them to. That "line" can be sold only to a people dominated by a dictator—and the dictator has to do the selling. But our would-be dictators here in Dixie are not going to sell the line that change is inevitable, and the decision of the Supreme Court must be obeyed.

No. That easy way out won't work. I am afraid we shall have to do it the hard way: the way free people have always changed themselves and their culture: the way they have always formed public opinion. It would be fine if we could climb this steep hill in neutral. But we can't; and the moderates should know this. (It isn't a very good idea to go down a steep hill in neutral, either.)

We must do it by emphasizing that laws must be obeyed, yes; and then we must give the reasons why this law is necessary:

1. We must convince our people that our actual survival as a nation depends upon the acceptance of Negroes as citizens;
2. We must convince them that this acceptance is not only necessary to survival but morally right and spiritually good for everybody concerned;
3. We must work against mob rule, yes; but we need to be sure we know which mob is the dangerous one;
4. We must quell Mob No. 3. And we can do it only by showing the people how irrational is their fear of accepting Negroes as citizens.

We must do these difficult jobs by encouraging the honest, intelligent, well-informed people to break their silence: to take their stand for reason and critical intelligence; for human dignity and human rights; for all Americans' public and private rights which must, in a democracy, be protected and which do not interfere with each other.

Encourage them to laugh off their demagogues' talk. Remind them that the fantasies and dreads they speak of are those of sick people—not realities to fear. There is only one kind of "mongrelization" we need fear: this is the mongrelization which results when White Supremacy interbreeds with democracy. There is a great deal of this kind of "mixing" being done today, for the White Supremacists are a potent tribe. Relating ourselves to others as fellow-citizens and merging and blending are as different as is the human reason from the mythic mind. Words are important, however, to all of us: we should do our best to avoid the over-sexed words, such as "mixing," "amalgamating"—and perhaps even "integration"—which has a connotation of fusion that is disturbing to some people.

But above all else, we need to remember that there is no conflict between our short-range and long-range objectives. Both are necessary. Both must be worked for simultaneously—not by the same person, perhaps, but both must be accepted as valid effort. This is an all-out war we are involved in: a non-violent war but a war just the same. Each must work according to his talent, his conviction, his role in society. But there is room for all of us: room for the writer who speaks out clearly and for the quiet one who bargains a little; room for the minister who takes his stand on moral grounds and the newspaper editor who takes his position that "the law must be obeyed, whether you like it or not"; room for those who accept Negroes as human beings and as personal friends—and room for those who accept them only as citizens. But there should be no room down here for the hater, the bigot. My strongest objection to the self-named "moderates" is their bigotry. Their intolerance of us who work perhaps with more non-violence but with more candor, too, would be an incredible thing were it not so human. They are cautious, they move inch by inch, and only when pushed from behind; and that is their privilege. But they refuse to let others move faster, or to speak more clearly and perhaps even more persuasively than they. They are almost fanatically religious in their view that their way is the only "holy way." Their word "moderation" is so foolish and empty Who on earth would want to be known as "moderately honest"? "Moderately reliable"? "Moderately intelligent"? "Moderately just?" "Moderately law-abiding"?

But, although it may seem immoderate to the moderates, all of us who are deeply concerned for the future of our country must work together; for only by combining our strength and our intelligence and courage and good will can we do this hard job of bringing about change in a creative way.

So: let us search our South and our nation for the people who value freedom, who put means before ends, who know they are working against evil not against men, who will risk a little for so much and who have shaken off the traumatic past and know that neither our American future nor the world's future can be bought with those old Confederate bills the demagogues keep passing out to the people.

March 13, 196

file

Dear Leslie Dunbar:

Please let me say thank you for that beautiful review you did of Killers of the Dream. I liked it very much--especially because you knew what I was getting at. Praise is not half as sweet to a writer as understanding; and I ~~felt~~ feel you understand with a fine sensitiveness what I was trying to say there--and indeed, what I am always trying to say, whether in fiction or nonfiction, Strange Fruit or The Journey or Killers of the Dream. or One Hour, I am concerned about excellence. We could almost leave it on that word. Concnered that we have evaded as a people, and often as individuals, the heart of the matter: what our way of life has done to us, the attrition that year after year adds up to a terrifying dehumanization. As you also felt, at least I felt you did, I am never "attacking" the South or our United States but always, like Cassandra I suppose, saying "Look, don't you see what we are doing to ourselves, to our quality as men and women; look, don't you see how we are wasting our brains and talents and having no fun, either! Look, don't you see what our fathers have done to us and what we are doing to our children, and what all of it together may be doing to the whole race of mankind!

Excellence . . . arete . . . paideia. How I wish that we could see that we have no paideia, we have only white supremacy, not arete, only pride, not excellence only evsiveness. Well—

I am not at all sure the piece I sent Maggie this time will do—written for the NewSouth but halfway through I saw I had my speech for Daytona and Ft. Lauterdale (or wherever it is I am going. Will someone tell me more?) If it won't do, I can send back the other I first sent, or I might do a little eight page piece on excellence. I'd certainly like to do, sometime, for you. (in a highway?)

Somehow, we have't been seeing the New South for the past two years. Probably because we haven't subscribed to it! I'll send in a check right away. Does it get to many people?

[Taken from "US" folder]

history in suppression. There were places where some of the testimony was published, but the blackout was remarkably widespread.

Perhaps it will be said that many of the practices reported here have no great bearing on our national future; that Selvage and Lee, for example, have scarcely managed to make Portugal a household word in Utah, and that not all the dollars squandered by Trujillo's local operative could save him when the moment of truth arrived. On the other hand, there is no exact way of measuring such matters; in a free society, we cling to the view that the printed word has a certain sanctity, and that exposure of abuse is the great corrective, and that "conflict-of-interest" is bad business. These are hallowed themes of all conclaves of journalists.

One is tempted to urge that some responsible newspaper body undertake hearings to discover what happened to newspaper coverage of the hearing. I would also urge that such bodies as the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the American Society of Newspaper Editors designate these hearings as required reading for their members, and place them on the agenda for full discussion at their next deliberations. But I offer the confident prophecy that there will be no serious response to that proposal. In most newspaper offices these documents will be quickly filed and forgotten while owners and editors prepare new indictments of the Kennedy Administration's "news management" policies.

Nearly a half century ago, in his celebrated indictment of the press, The Brass Check, Upton Sinclair wrote: ". . . when you pick up your morning or evening newspaper, and think you are reading the news of the world, what you are really reading is a propaganda which has been selected, revised, and doctored by some power which has a financial interest in you; and which for the protection of that financial interest, has been willing to take trouble, and go into the most minute detail."

Although he wrote in 1919, it would almost seem that Upton Sinclair was commenting today on the widely suppressed disclosures of the Fulbright committee investigation.

R&R Rel

The Progressive
Aug. 1963

All God's Chillun

by MARGARET LONG

It is the Southern fashion these days to speak of the "remarkable progress" of Southern Negroes who, we all agree, have "come a lawng way" since Emancipation.

Segregationists cite this advance to prove that colored people, though inferior and unworthy to be our peers, still enjoy such generous treatment under our separate system that "the exceptions" among them ascend rocket-like to professions, wealth, and artistic success. Desegregationists and "moderates" regard this rise as comforting evidence that Negroes will not debase our white schools, befoul decent housing, or marry our white daughters and sisters if they get their rights. "Extreme" liberals, or integrationists, who want us all to be not only legal equals but friends down here in the South, behold the general Negro advance, and the brilliant victory of a few over brutal obstacles, as a happy sign that all God's chillun got wings, and that the best of us manage to fly even with clipped wings.

We extremists on the human side also have a rather rabid tendency to believe and suggest, if not state outright, that Negroes are better than white people and can do no wrong. I think it is possible to substantiate the first notion, and now propose to do so, and even to proclaim the obvious fact that Negroes are leading the multicolored South out of our common bondage. But after fifteen years of occasional "mixing and mingling," as our conservative politicians call socializing friendships between Negroes and white people, I cannot, alas, conclude that Negroes can do no wrong.

Some Negroes I know can inform, delight, and enlarge, and others can misinform, exasperate, and, worst of all, bore. I have an admirable white friend, an energetic and intelligent woman whose devotion to our slowly-arriving free society is important to us in Atlanta. She likes and approves of all Negroes, as far as I can see, and I'm very much afraid that her rectitude and ardor have led her into another kind of racism. Many Southern Negroes are as wrong-headed, prejudiced, and tedious as many Southern whites, which seems inescapable since we have all been together in this mess for 300 years.

I cannot appraise the emancipated slaves of 100 years ago, or measure or demonstrate the extent of their advance this year in Dixie, as I don't know any emancipated slaves to stack up against the Freedom Riders, Ph.D's, domestics, clubwomen, and writers who are my Negro friends this century. I am, however, old enough to have known several former slaves who were, despite "emancipation" of fifty, sixty, or seventy years, still in a condition of real bondage, and who bore that bondage with a spirited strength, ironic sophistication, and transforming kindness which seems to me to animate and uphold the Negro movement presently liberating the South.

When I was five years old and my little sister was three, my mother and

MARGARET LONG is information director of the Southern Regional Council and editor of New South. She has worked as a reporter for a number of Southern papers and is the author of two novels, "Louisville Saturday" and "Affair of the Heart."

father, who, as I look back on them, suggest a variation of the simple felicity of the song, "Your pappy's rich and your mammy's good-lookin" (my pappy, a newspaperman, wasn't rich but my mammy, a blue-eyed, black Irish type, was certainly good-looking), would leave us with old Aunt Anne when they went out for gala evenings. I somehow blend the ironed starch and clean snuff smell of Aunt Anne with my mother's redolence of violet perfume and seal fur as she kissed us goodbye, Daddy's tiny Christmas-gift diamonds glittering in her ears. I don't know if it was the gayety of Daddy's party mood, or Mother's fragrance, or the presence of Aunt Anne that made their leave-takings so delightful and beglamored; but they departed, good-looking, good-smelling, and laughing, in a chorus of Aunt Anne's reassuring farewells and our high cries of good night and have-a-nice-time, a commotion comparable to take-off on a world tour.

Then we would turn with joy to Aunt Anne who stood there at the age of ninety (she calculated) small, shriveled, nut-brown in her drab long dress and impeccably starched white apron and head rag. We sat by her, touched her, felt her smile; her torchy old voice told us enthralling stories as she pinched snuff, endured us late, and got us to bed with no protest. Sometimes she lay down beside one or the other of us, and we loved the presence of the aged, strong body, the beloved face, and the rich, murmuring voice. I think she told us a lot of Bible stories, but she never scared us.

Before I was five, old Mrs. Keenan, a retired school teacher innocent of modern methods, taught me the alphabet, the phonetic sounds of each letter and diphthongs, and in a couple of weeks, long before school, I spelled out the words and recognized their sound with the exhilarating discovery that I could read. My parents were equally elated the time I put together the slant, black letters of a magazine name and cried out: "Saturday Evening Post!" A week later, when they were out and Aunt Anne couldn't, of course, find Miss Hazel Gewinner's name in the phone book to call and tell them about a long distance call, I was proud to find G-e-w—in the directory. I think it was then that Aunt Anne sighed out her ambition to read the Bible and I said, "I can show you how, Aunt Anne."

So I did, starting with the ABC's, as old Mrs. Keenan had started me. Sitting in her lap, with my little sister big-eyed at Aunt Anne's effort or falling asleep with her golden head on the white apron, I'd show her the letters and she would say them, short or long, and hard or soft, after me. The next time Aunt Anne came we started on my first-grade primer, and she quickly spelled and pronounced her marveling way through it, as Sister jumped and laughed at Aunt Anne's triumph. She started on the newspaper with my halting help, and we corrected one another. She began her Bible at home and in a few months had spelled and read her way through it, with loud praise to the Lord, and me.

I remember how her laughter rejoiced us little girls and enchanted my father. I can see now the expression of awed tenderness—awe for her sharply worded wisdom and tenderness for her tough, loving old age—on my mother's face when they talked woman-talk about men, children, cooking, friends, spites, and angers. I don't remember what Aunt Anne laughed at, but my feeling is that her mirth was comic and profoundly ironic. I don't know what advice or Biblical injunctions she offered my young mother, but I nostalgically feel them as tinged with forgiveness, cynicism, and a scorn which was high, humble, and tolerant of the human condition.

As an eighteen-year-old cub reporter in Macon, Georgia, I was sent to the Spring Street home of "an interesting old Nigra" to gather material for an uneasy and audacious feature story on her past grandeur as the wife of a city councilman during Reconstruction. She was Airey Sellers, whose forebears were embarrassingly rich, Ohio-educated, and said to have, at least one of them, fought on the Union side. When I ascended the steps of the cottage and entered the old-fashioned parlor, dark with ancient mahogany, walnut, and gold-framed portraits of formidable Negroes, I encountered an old woman of mulatto color and a shriveled, arrogant face with heavy lids over hazel eyes, flaring nostrils, and a wide mouth set in hauteur. She was enthroned in a rose-back chair.

"Airey," I began brightly, in the diffident and cordial voice with which nice white children address aged Nigras, "I hope you'll tell me about the Reconstruction days and your experiences after The Wah."

"Don't call me Airey," replied the dark dowager in a heavy old voice harsh with command and rebuke. "I am old enough to be your grandmother, so you are presumptuous and ill-mannered. Don't call me Auntie or Mammy. I am no relation to you. If you cannot bring yourself to call me Mrs. Sellers, perhaps you might say Madame Sellers. If that courtesy is impossible, then address me as Sellers. Will you sit down?"

I sat down, dizzy at the impact of this unknown viewpoint. Here was a Negro rebuking my white manners with high insolence, with brazen violation of my sacred, undefined duty to suppress Negro dignity. She also was laying claim to all the precepts and feelings of a respectful, inviting style in human encounter—that is, of good manners, especially of young people toward their elders—with which I had been equally indoctrinated. My confusion and dismay were so complete that I don't know what I said, but it was probably something like, "Well, yes ma'am, I'm sorry."

I am ashamed to remember that, from an awful sense of betraying a vague, fierce moral principle, I couldn't say "Mrs.," or "Miz" as we pronounce it, though my instincts pushed me close to it. She accepted my ridiculous "Sellers" and gave me an absorbing interview. My vivid memory of her rebuke and my confusion have obliterated all of what she said; I remember only her painful lesson in manners.

Mrs. Sellers talked so volubly, opening up a world so unsuspected, that we didn't complete the interview and I returned the next afternoon. I was eager and feeling grandly emancipated from the narrow use of first names for venerable old Negroes, and Mrs. Sellers was gracious. She presented her granddaughter, a pretty little lightbrown girl about my age, as Miss Sellers, and compounded the shock of presenting a Negro contemporary to me as a social equal by asking if I'd like some lemonade. My dilemma was again excruciating, with the sense of betraying some mysterious morality, as I drank lemonade with them. It was excellent lemonade on that sweltering August day, and as I departed I was so undone that I thanked both Mrs. Sellers and Miss Sellers for a lovely afternoon and the particularly refreshing lemonade. "What else could I do?" I asked myself. I don't know how long I pondered the question, finally to wonder what wickedness lurks in civility to Negroes.

The Reverend Isom Ivins was never a slave or a Reconstruction Negro in high political position over Southern whites, because he wasn't that old. He was a preacher in Macon, and like most Negro clerics of that day, I reckon he had to wash white windows and hoe white gardens and mow white lawns to support his family. We little girls were delighted when Isom came to mow the lawn or chop out the grass in the paving cracks or weed the collia and salvia beds around the house. We loved his deep and melodious preacher's voice, his embracing smile, and his pleasure in children. We also loved his children and grandchildren, black, handsome, hardworking, and entertaining "good Nigras" who gave you your money's worth and some of whom went to college.

One June morning my mother looked with a brooding puzzlement out of the window to the front yard. There my little sister, a fair five-year-old with golden curls and great blue eyes, was tagging after Isom at his yard work in the summer sunshine. Isom, a heavy black man with an aquiline face, smiled his sweet, white smile at her as she danced around him asking questions which amused him and as he made replies which fascinated her. I don't know what they were talking about, and only see now the sunlit picture of the little golden girl and the splendid black patriarch in soft rapport on the grass around our cedar tree.

"I sometimes think," my mother mused, regarding the fair child and Engelhardt in The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

"There's a Lion in the Streets"

the old black preacher, "that something is all wrong when you children can call a grand old man like Isom by his first name."

Of course, everything was all wrong when, in the Southern pattern of "good manners," we gently and inexorably degraded the Negroes we loved and respected most with this refusal to address them courteously or even to permit our children to accord their black betters this respect.

I am aware that it is suspect and offensive to recall, with love and wonder, the "old slave-type of darkies," but I can't forget the dark, humor-rich, and generous men and women who bore their oppressions with great grace. (I do not forget, of course, the Negroes whose drunkenness, rages, ill-tempers, and sullen humility filled the small-town jails on weekends, erupted in wild knifings and beatings in the dark alleys, and rendered white households wretched with silent servant hatred. Nor do I forget the stubborn refusal of whites to understand the anguish behind this behavior.) I know these generous, benevolent figures from my childhood, with their ironic laughter and easy airs of humility, are what rebellious young Negroes today call "Uncle Toms" and scorned "Old Mammy" folks whom the New Negro does not enjoy invoking.

It occurs to me that we New White Folks, or whatever we are, are entitled to much more shame at the recollection of our absurdly lordly forebears, strutting through the paces of a cruel and arrogant system, and that, as the years rolled by and the darkness is dissipating, the Negroes emerge wiser, braver, and sweeter by far than the masters they now assail with sacrificial and nonviolent demands and with their invitation to the forgiveness of freedom and friendship together.

I believe that the Negroes, in their most abject debasement and repression, must have been bigger and more human than the whites who underpaid, overworked, humiliated, and sometimes lynched them and then proclaimed the corroding lie that this Way of Life was mutually happy. I can remember the irony around the old black mouths, the occasional suppressed amusement playing around young lips at some "kindly" white admonition or other. I can remember the bitter but delicious laughter of the nurses who accompanied us afternoons to the playground or church steps. "And she say, look like all we done for you, Annabelle, you could git here fo' sebm-thirty!" and the young women's shrieks would rise, beginning low and rich and ascending high and helpless into the summer afternoon air, as Annabelle's friends remembered "all they done for her," like "she woulda been fired if she hadn't come to work sick, that wore out dress they give her and that two dollars they took out for a broken cup."

Ah, they could laugh, and they still can, having earned the sharp freedom of humor and having honed their irony on the hard edges of white fear, tyranny, and pious talk.

It is not the Negroes, it seems to me, who are crippled, confused, and frightened by a system of oppression. They are, rather, toughened, enlarged, and infinitely sophisticated by it—those who weathered it. And today, we see them all over the South, literate, illiterate, well-to-do, and poor, demanding with wisdom and grace the rights which many whites are still resisting with idiot shibboleths and crazy fears which are the wonder of the rational world. And when the white barriers topple and the astonished masters regard Negroes stepping over the broken barricades, it is the Negroes whose wise, generous, and graceful demeanor soothes the trembling whites. Their aplomb handles the confrontation on busses or at polling places, softly meets the gauche and fascinated stares of diners in an integrated restaurant, and gently and adamantly explains Negro requirements to the city politician who is suddenly astute enough to learn a fast lesson in manners and democracy.

I think it is the old love, irony, and patience which is at work on childlike and bewildered white neighbors clinging senselessly to an ancient stance once held sacred, and slowly yielding it with naive elation over the new and natural freedom between two peoples who belonged together all the time.

I think of a young girl named Ruby Doris Smith, who is "jail-crazy," they say in laughing pride. My friend Ruby Doris is an indefatigable revolutionary of that incomprehensible band called the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which sends young Negroes sitting-in, promoting voter registration, marching, demonstrating, singing, and popping in and out of the foulest jails in the South. By these means SNCC advances the revolution years ahead of the plans of more conservative Negro organizations, which must follow these mad youngsters into the wilds of the deepest South with lawyers, bond money, and big-name support, as in Albany, Georgia, and McComb, Mississippi, to name only two scenes of sensational uprising.

After the Freedom Ride to Jackson, Ruby Doris talked softly, rapidly, and carefully about her ordeal:

"Well, yes, they did put the wrist-breakers on me. You see, I'd had athlete's foot and was scared of the shower and wouldn't go, and the matrons, two big women, put the things on me—they screw, you know, and can break your wrist, but they didn't turn them that hard. They didn't give me a chance to walk, but just dragged me with these things—yes, it hurt—and then put me in the shower, with my clothes on, and they scrubbed me all over with wire brushes they scrub the floor with . . . It was all right, but I still have some trouble with my arms.

"No, I don't hate them; they are acting under orders, for one thing. And they got to where they were kind of friendly with us. We have to show them, it's all a demonstration, even with the wrist-breakers, and it shows them our kind of Negro. Yes, I believe in forgiveness and love and nonviolence. We have to live with these people, and we have to teach them, and they do seem to learn."

I first encountered Miss Ella Baker at a conference of uprising students a couple of years ago in Atlanta. After a speech from Martin Luther King, with his stirring call to heroism, suffering, and the nonviolent life, and his promise of Negro redemption of the South, and a round of the glorious singing which booms and rings through the movement, Miss Baker rose to address the meeting, by then nearly drunk with fervor, courage, and aspiration.

She looked beautiful, in a severely elegant hat, her heavy eyes big in her fine brown face and her busty figure chic in a dark dress. (Miss Baker, I understand, pays two and three dollars for her hats, so it must be the face which endows her with such a costly sheen.) Her voice was like a great bronze bell and she pealed out a demand for morality, self criticism, and mission from these excited youngsters which seemed scarcely attainable in this life. They listened to her as children to a beloved and stern maiden aunt, and seemed as moved by her admonitions as by the heat and beat of their tremendous singing.

She enjoined them to "be a real moral movement" and to purge out "hatred, resentment, and self-seeking." Freedom calls for intelligence, real emotions, and "moral stamina," she said. She warned against "headline hunting," vanity, and action without understanding and moral resolve. For the long pull to integration, she urged "a lot of information with your inspiration—on the history of the South, its psychology of human emotions, and its political forces."

My friend and contemporary, Grace, comes from a long line of elegant and protected Negro educators and was, for years, what a witty mutual friend of ours called "Miss Negro Communication with White Atlanta." She still does a great deal of fruitful communication with a white community which is, to put it kindly, still largely ignorant of Negro aspirations, accomplishments, and feelings. Grace was one of my first Negro friends in Atlanta, and greeted me with the generous hospitality and sensitivity at which upper-class Negroes excel and which charms innocent and unaccustomed whites out of their uneasy gaucherie. One night we sat up all night, telling one another our life stories, Grace talking with tart wit and candor, and tenderness for both our sets of children. By three a.m. our autobiographies seemed nearly identical, including sins, punishments, joys, and triumphs and reactions to them. And we thought, "What's it all about, this white-Negro business, anyway?"

The social grace and generosity of such Negroes is inestimable in helping strange and awkward whites over the barriers between us. Cultivated Negroes I know in several Southern states seem to exhibit all the charm and ease of Southern manner which whites have exalted for generations, but which many of them have to learn all over again from Negroes in the adventure of "socializing," or "mixing and mingling."

This social generosity is not, however, universal among militant new Negroes. The Reverend Wyatt Tee Walker, for instance, next man to Martin Luther King, Jr. in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is a tall, slender, dapper young man capable of cool hauteur. Reverend Walker does not exhibit the awesome depth of religious humility and pride which one feels in Dr. King, nor his sweetness of demeanor. You have to wait for Mr. Walker, or court his friendship, which is quite worth the effort. I have often wondered if Mr. Walker, a Virginian, is somewhere along the line kin to Mrs. Airey Sellers, or some haughty President-General of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. I feel sure Mr. Walker is completely committed to loving and forgiving nonviolence which will, Dr. King assures us and convinces me, redeem us all in the South through Negro suffering. But I don't think this loving business comes so easy to Mr. Walker.

I don't know why Mr. Walker reminds me of the Reverend Bascom Anthony, a white Methodist preacher in Macon who died a generation ago. Brother Anthony, as we all called this revered old minister, had none of Mr. Walker's—well, arrogance—but there's something about their preaching which is the same. Brother Anthony preached a sermon, both rousing and intellectual, and would move himself to tears as he stood, a tall, handsome old man with auburn curls about the back of his head, his fine profile raised to God and illumined by rays from the stained glass behind him. Everybody cried with him, and a lot of people hit the sawdust trail, or at least the red carpet in the aisle, to come to Jesus. And, in the course of his rolling sentences, he would lapse into the Middle-Georgia vernacular with corn pone jokes and the double negative-ain't type of ironies on the sins of the congregation.

Young Mr. Walker, when last I heard him, preached a rousing sermon in an Albany, Georgia, church. He was affecting a neat, cropped black mustache and beard trim on his pale-gold, black-eyed face, which made him look like an intense and suffering saint. His sermon began, grave and thoughtfully worked out, about the consecrating drop of blood on Aaron's ear, thumb, and great toe, and its strengthening call to mission. He rose to high demands on the children of God. As usual, in a Negro church, the "Amen's," "Yes, Jesuses" and questioning cries of "We-ell?" punctuated, lifted, and bore his sermon along, until it cracked like a whip as he described the recalcitrance of white Albany, the jailings, the job-firings, and the brutality to little children in county jails. Then he turned to burning satire phrased in pounding Negro colloquialisms, excoriating white oppressions and absurdities, until the high, musical cries and booming "Amen's" and "Well's" rose in ragged rhythm with his sentences. Mr. Walker did not weep, but some of his flock did. His stern call was not to come to Jesus, but to freedom by volunteering for jail the next day.

Brother Anthony was old and white and Methodist, and his style was rollingly grand and colloquially comic by

Herblock in The Washington Post

"You Don't Understand, Boy—You're Supposed to Just Shuffle Along"

turns, stressed, too, with assent from the amen corners. Mr. Walker is young and mulatto and Baptist, and his style is grave and fierce and satirically dialect-shot by turns, fired by congregational ardors. They are preachers of the same school, the one calling the children of God to Jesus and the other to freedom. Brother Anthony was socially delightful in the parlor of a Sunday afternoon, and Mr. Walker is equally so, if he admits you to his favor. Again, one must wonder, what's it all about, black and white preachers, and segregated churches for people who are the same?

As to my proposition, that these Negro Southerners are "superior" to the whites who resist them, it seems evident that people who suffer for what they believe, forgive their oppressors, and persist toward freedom for themselves and those who deny them liberty, are "better" than people who blindly fight so high-minded and human a change.

A trivial and clear example is the little adventure of Fred Powledge, an Atlanta Journal reporter, on one of his jaunts to intermittently erupting Albany. Mr. Powledge, a North Carolina boy, fell into a roadside race discussion with a South Georgia white supremacist.

"You think," the white aborigine demanded, pointing to a nearby Negro, "that nigger is as good as I am?"

"Better," replied Mr. Powledge.

"How come?" demanded the dumbfounded redneck.

"Because," Mr. Powledge rejoined, "he's a gentleman."

As James McBride Dabbs has pointed out, the Negro student movement, supported now by nearly all Negroes in the South, embodies and demonstrates the old professed virtues of the South—courage, love of freedom, religious faith, and good manners—virtues which the white Southerners, as masters, could never achieve. Mr. Dabbs said, more recently, that the Negro has the leadership in the South now, to which "the white responds, or more accurately, reacts . . . dragging his feet until he learns to cooperate," and "wherever the South is going, the Negro is taking him."

Already this seems a vastly better destination for which we are headed, led by better people who have ceased to hate, who risk and suffer for liberty, who offer friendship for enmity, and who embody the virtues the white South long proclaimed but could not practice.

A young member of the Indian parliament, Krishna Chandra Pant (son of the late Govindi Ballahh Pant, disciple and intimate of Gandhi, a minister under Nehru, and the deputy leader of the Congress Party), visited us recently and regarded with deep and wondering eyes the phenomenon of our change which the gentle and insistent Negroes impose on us. He reminded us that never in the long, bloody story of mankind have two races lived in the same place without oppression of one by the other, nor has a subject race ever freed itself without long violence. And with the excitement of a man beholding a great new thing, Mr. Pant predicted a grand and bloodless liberation for us.

Even without Mr. Pant's perspective, it is surely not too sanguine for us to believe that despite the fevers and fires of Oxford, the insane intransigence of Albany, and the mean-hearted fears of segregationists all over the South, our Negroes will bring us together in freedom and friendship such as no peoples of different color have had before.

October 8, 1963

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Joan Titus has several times offered to show me the film which Time-Life did of you whenever I was in New York, and last week I was finally able to see it. It is a beautiful film.

It is so largely because the producers had sense enough just to let you talk. And now that I have seen it, I can only be immeasurably annoyed that the film has not been distributed as yet. For what you say ought to be heard by a lot of people.

Joan told me that you had a copy of the film, though she doubted that you have ever been able to project it. Sometime when you are coming to Atlanta why don't you let me know, and I'll be delighted to have a projector and a screen rigged up for you.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

cc: Miss Joan Titus

MISS LILLIAN SMITH
BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA

dimly felt - the meaning beneath the "problem."

October 27, 1963

Dear Leslie:

Your letter pleased me, and touched me, too. A few days later I heard from a number of people in South Carolina who had written Time-Life Broadcast for permission to use the TV show. I would, of course, like to see it; and if you will make it possible sometime when I am in Atlanta I'll enjoy it (and wriggle a little, too, no doubt!). Joan says my lack of curiosity is "abnormal"--no; but I still have a hunk of narcism that gets hurt pretty often when I see films on me and TV shows. But of course I do want to see it. I plan to come down in early December for my check-up at Emory; maybe we could arrange something at that time. Just as soon as I get a date from Emory I'll let you know. I usually go down on Sun., and see the doctors Monday or Tues.

In the meantime, is there any way I can entice you up to the mountain? It is still beautiful; because of the drought the leaves will soon be gone; but the place has magic now; and I'd like for you to see it at this time of year. Don't you want to give me a ring someday and find out if things are all right up here (they usually are) and then come up--bringing anyone you like with you. I can give you a bite of lunch; and it would be good for me to see and talk with you. My strength, unfortunately, after this past virulent attack which has lasted so long, is not what it used to be; but I find I do better not nursing myself, and while visits tire me, certainly, they give me much to think about for days afterward. If I am living, I want to live; no half dying state for me! I do rest; I do "take care" but I need also to keep in the swim of things. Am not yet back to good writing but have caught up on much business that had been unattended to; and soon, I hope, can go back on a good writing schedule. So don't hesitate to come: you are doing me a favor when you help keep me au courant with all that is happening, especially those important matters on the deeper levels of experience. I am troubled about much; I was troubled by that recent speech of Martin Luther King's in Birmingham when he was telling his audience what God had just told him. Now hell, I say! Martin: you and God are not that intimate. Of course the audience became almost frenzied; it was the first time I thought MLK had become really demagogic. His dream speech barely escaped it, but it was beautiful and genuinely touching for the occasion made it so; and too, it was true. But it is not true that God speaks to Martin and tells him what to do about race relations; this makes me frown and laugh and then feel queasy for a long time. I realize the temptation is great. I'd better hurry and finish my piece called The Demagogue and the Poet. Martin needs it right now, I fear. Charisma. . . a wonderful thing to have; but it crawls out of the mythic mind and when the conscious mind whistles it out, then we'd better watch ~~xxxx~~ for the lie is close behind. My best to you. I do think the northern guys have smothered me so long, they used to say, "because we don't want to offend the South," that ABC, NBC, and CBS are literally afraid to show that film on me. And yet it might help; not me, but the things that count beneath the surface cause.

Sincerely, Lillian

Haven't Bruce is living not a very nice edition of Strange Fruit; the distortion is beautiful. After 20 years of growing their morally "I (they) bought it & fri- the original publishers, Reynal & Hitchcock—which deeply valued it—when Hitchcock died) Truly still deeply valued it & wrote very kindly & sensitively about it & the work they [illegible] Truly, Lillian

November 13, 1963

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Peggie and I shall ("will" also) be up to see you; may we bring our fourteen-year-old son along? I can't say now just when, but perhaps after the horrors of our Annual Meeting (November 25 and 26) are over, and before the New Year. We shall, of course, check with you in advance.

I enjoyed your letter, and want to hear more. This job I have is the foe of all reflection, and when you fight as well as you can against that enemy, you haventt much left over. But some day I would like to play a hunch and write you a long letter to see if I haven't, in a different way, been groping at the same point of view that you have defined against the mythic mind.

Please do let me know when you will be down in December, and if it is convenient for you, we shall arrange to show you your film.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

File
Smith, Lillian
(if no such folder file "Sm" - Gen. Corresp.)

May 4, 1964

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Maggie reports that you will consider doing our essay; we are delighted.

This is our twentieth anniversary, and that ritually calls for special things. We have already published a sort of commemorative issue of New South, and I suppose we'll fancy up our annual meeting. But a more worthwhile way of celebrating would be to give something, and that is why we have turned to you. We would like to give an essay to the public, by a Southerner who is both a name and a source of ideas. There are very, very few people who have all three of these attributes, and of them we would most want you.

I want to make altogether clear that we are not asking you to do a piece about SRC. We want an essay which would be, through our publication, a special contribution by SRC to public enlightenment or whatever it is that happens when clear perceptions and intuitions are made available.

Maybe you would feel like re-stating the theme of Killers of the Dream? Maybe you would like to write what would be a new chapter of it, if it were going through a revised edition? Maybe the events in the South and the nation (or in your personal life) of the last couple years have given you thoughts of another theme (so long as it has some recognizable relevance to the South) which you would like to write, and which the frustration of doing magazine pieces hasn't permitted?

You can judge better than we what space you need. Anything from 32-50 pages of double-spaced typescript would be good. We would, of course, want to publish it this year, though one time would suit as well as another. If we had the manuscript by November 15 we could do it. We would publish earlier, if we got it earlier. Our intention is to make the essay -- by itself, with no accompanying items -- a special issue of New South. We could pay $1,000, which -- as I don't need to tell you -- is not our usual.

Please do it, if you can.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

Leslie

MISS LILLIAN SMITH
BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA

May 18, 1964

Dear Leslie Dunbar:

Your letter was a lovely thing, full of grace. After reading it, I was of course willing to do almost anything for you that you might ask. But I also feel honored that you want me to do this piece for this special occasion and I shall try my best for you.

A piece that has been growing in my mind for two years may be the right thing for you. It has not only to do with race, segregation, worldwide political turmoil, and the South but has also a philosophical concern that might help the piece transcend the level of "one more piece about the South and human relations." The theme is The Poet and the Demagogue and this would probably be the title also. It is a phrase I have already used several times in recent essays; I tend to do this, as an idea is growing it will first give me a brief phrase long before it finally tells me what it is trying to say. These things come from deep down in one: and one waits patiently for them to sprout from the seed and to grow. But I happen to think that our fundamental troubles all over the world can be summed up in this question: Is this the poet speaking, or the demagogue? Are we seeking the Orphic truth which only poets can find or are we settling for half truths and half lies which demagogues use to bait the masses with? You may or may not have read Polanyi's Personal Knowledge. I met him and his wife in New York at a dinner party; we ~~xxx~~ talked all evening (Hans Kohn, the historian, Paul Tillich, several physicists among them the one who headed up the Manhattan project, Polanyi, his wife [her field is chemistry] and I was the writer of the group.) We had a wonderful evening and all we said there pushed me further on with this theme of the poet and the demagogue as being the two prototypes of our age, forever warring with each other; the poet appealing to the deepest and highest of our natures, the demagogue appealing to the deepest and the lowest of our natures. I think I might be able to do a piece that would have a certain philosophical and poetic glow --and this is what I would like to do.

To do this, I shall have to cancel off a piece I had promised the Catholic literary journal Ramparts; but this is all right. I do have to do a piece first for Saturday Review, for Norman Cousins heard I was having a rough time financially (all the long hospital sieges I have had during the past year) so he insisted on paying me in advance for an article "to be done when you feel like doing it," he said. This was most kind, most tactful of him; and I feel I must do it first. I think I'll get back on my theme of the shadowy role white women have played in race relations in this country and the melodramatic role colored women have played; I'll develop some of the ideas I have worked on before. Hope it won't shock Norman too much to use it; he is sweet and he is liberal but he is still not deeply oriented in the field of white man, black man, white woman, black woman. He has tried this past year to veer back to the theme of the 1930's that "economics is really the whole trouble" when of course you and I know it isn't; although the trouble plays

MISS LILLIAN SMITH
BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA

And their ends, interests, destroy the progress, opportunities to learn, to work together into the hands of economic exploiters who deliberately use old fears, old guilts as weapons to help them gain their ends. Well, anyway, I must do that first; then I'll get on your piece and try to have it to you by middle of October. Of course I never know when two or three weeks' of oppressive pain will make work impossible. There is always pain now but it reaches acute levels or peaks only every few weeks. I am just finishing up a bad three weeks and am praying for enough ease to complete that Redbook piece I was working on when I took pneumonia last summer. Of course the pneumonia took away from me my reservoir of strength and vitality and I have not got it back. But I am better and I hope for a good summer with sunshine to help me along.

I have been working on a new will; and am making tentative plans for a bequest that I'd like for Southern Regional Council to handle for me if the board is interested. But I won't take this up now; will do it later in a letter just about that. You can, in turn, take it up with the board if you think wise to do so. Jim Mackay has been working with me a little on this; but my last three months' illness made it a bit too difficult for me to struggle on wills; so it is still in a vague state. But Mackay is going to help me work it out and will be in Atlanta to discuss it with you, once I get it clear in my own mind what I want to do.

My regards to all,

sincerely,

Lillian S.

Lillian Smith

File
Smith, Lillian

May 28, 1964

Miss Lillian Smith
Box 766
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

We are delighted.

We do want you to know, however, that our greed for an essay by you, strong as it is, is a little less than our scruples about your comfort and health. Be kind to your whole self.

What you suggested in your letter as the theme for our piece has excited Maggie, Pat, and me all the way to the marrow.

The last paragraph of your letter -- a bequest -- is a great mystery

All the best.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

MISS LILLIAN SMITH
BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA

November 16, 1964

Dear Leslie Dunbar:

My face is red, my voice, if you were here, would stammer a little as I stare at your May 4th letter saying November 15th would have to be the outside date for the essay, The Poet and the Demagogue. For I don't have it done. I am working on it, it is coming along but it will be at least ten days before I can finish it --and I am counting on ten days when the old illness will let me work. Is this much too late? shall I just give it up for your project and use it in some other way? This is what I had arranged: Pocket Books, Inc., is doing a series of Credo books; they have asked me and others (among them, Fred Hoyle, Sir Herbert Read, Jean-Paul Sartre, Aron Copland, Robert Oppenheimer, Werner Heisenberg, Michael Polanyi) each to do our credo for this project. I told them what I was doing for you and asked if I could use it as part 2 of my little book and they said I could. The first half of the book (or perhaps two-thirds of it) will be a more personal "I" kind of thing; but I think after the personal, to turn and do my milieu,--the century out of which I was born and reared and during which I xx learned all I know-would enlarge the dimensions of the book in a valid and truly creative way. So, what I had planned to do and am now writing is (a) a good look from the philosophical and psychological and economic (etc.) planes at the contemporary South, during which I shall try to find six or eight strong patterns or threads that will lead me like Ariadne's thread back into the century of the South behind us. I am writing the thing on as poetic a level as possible (using the word to mean the searching for lasting truths) and am stating as my belief, almost my thesis, that the big struggle of our times is not between democracy and communism, not "the cold war" but the terrifying, abrasive, and possibly creative struggle between the demagogue with his half truths and mobs and the poet with his relationships with his entire world. I am, at the same time, coming to grips with specific problems which I believe have hung over us for a long time and which may be now taking a new turn; I am looking at phenomena that is metamorphosing.

to his inner self

Maggie was so polite when she was here that I got no sense that you were expecting the piece RIGHT NOW; you know pain and long illness play tricks on one's sense of time: it often turns into a deep pool instead of a stretched-out thing of calendar dates and clock hours. But this week, I dug into the piles of unprocessed letters, papers etc, that have piled up during this mean year of illness until I found your May 4th letter so I could see exactly what you did expect. Well --but I didn't meet the Nov. 15th date! so -- tell me what to do next. Shall I push and finish it for you? Can you still use it in the way you wanted to? Or shall I turn it right now into the book I am doing for the series? I couldn't possibly be hurt if you said you could not now use it; I could only try the harder to apologize for not looking earlier and pushing a bit harder. The surgery and long hospitalization in May-June pushed me away from my writing, as did the six weeks of cobalt in August-Sept.

MISS LILLIAN SMITH
BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA

The latter part of September passed like a heavy fog as I was trying to regain a bit of strength; October began to be better but I had small commitments and every-day duties (which also had piled up while I was so ill) and I didn't push, although I worked practically every day on the piece --either writing, or reading for it, or pondering the whole thing, as one does when trying something one believes is important.

If I've spoiled things for you or if you have perhaps in your distress turned to somebody else for help, don't mind just saying so frankly. The apologies are due only on my side. But if I've messed things up badly for you, do forgive me.

Please give Governor Collins my regards; I hope he liked my piece in McCalls this month. It did get to ten or twelve million readers but how many were moved by it or changed by it, of course I don't know. I have told Governor Collins that I am trying to help with this Community Service thing by writing a few pieces for the big circulation mags. I am now (after your piece) going to do one for Red Book on words to use and how to use them: a kind of simple, unpretentions, conciliating piece on things to do and things to say and things to think through again. I hope it, too, will help clarify this intellectual smog that has settled over our Deep South. Over other areas, too, but especially over ours. I was proud to discover that my county, good old Rabun, came through with a 4½ to one vote for Johnson; only one Georgia county got ahead of us: Franklin. I'd like to think the hundreds of my books the Ten Cent Store has sold here (in hardcover editions!) helped. One would like to believe it; of course, one never knows. But after the McCalls' piece I got a phone call from Atlanta threatening to dynamite my home up here; God knows, they could do it right easily. But this time, instead of hugging my troubles to myself, I told four semi-liberal young men in town (who are prominent and influential) about it; they were outraged and were marvelous to me; somehow it helped my feelings --even though it may not keep the dynamiting from happening one of these nights. Don't let this get to a reporter, please sir; that kind of news ruins you in a small town. And it can't help me or anybody else for it to be known. The four young men got in touch with GBI and FBI and I thought it was good for them to take on a little responsibility which they seemingly so warmheartedly assumed. I had ten lights put outside; we keep things well locked up; I moved Paula Snelling from a vulnerable room to one not so unprotected - and I stay where I am. We each stay in a separate cottage.

We enjoyed Maggie's visit: somehow we (mind) light each other up not like candles or searchlights but like a Roman holiday of fireworks. But it is always fun.

Sincerely yours,

Lillian Smith

November 30, 1964

Miss Lillian Smith
Box 766
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

I hope you got my note. We do want to publish your piece and will do so whenever you can get it done. This will still leave you free to put it also into your credo book - which ought to be great.

I have Our Faces, Our Words at home, still unread, but so too is Mr. Dabbs's new book, and so much else. Writers have not treated readers compassionately in 1964, and one lifts his way out of the avalanche of books on "the problem" piece by piece. I have read your McCalls article; it has the accustomed beauty of your writing as well as your enduring insistence that humanity will either learn to be humane - in every sense - or go on suffering.

I didn't get a chance to bespeak your greetings to Governor Collins, but did include them in a subsequent letter. He made a good talk and is, I think, a good man.

Maggie has worked so long and closely on her piece about you that we haven't got much other work out of her lately. I tell her that after all this she had better write a piece we all like. Take care of yourself.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:slw

file

June 25, 1965

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

I hope you will believe that we have put your words in the service of other good words. Your paragraph, quoted on the first page of the enclosed pamphlet and from which we took its title, seemed to us to say perfectly what we also wanted to say. Pat has done here, I think, a beautiful job.

All best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD:js
Enclosure - 1.

Julia
Sir - you
It might be good, if you haven't already - to pull her
Corresp. & make a folder for her

September 27, 1965

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

I am about to go on my way into the maelstrom of New York. These have been good years for me at the Southern Regional Council, and I hope I have done no harm to anyone else. It has been a fine privilege to work on the same side with you. I doubt very much that you are aware of what you have been and are for others.

My best wishes to you, and many thanks for your friendship both to me and to the Council.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

December 15, 1965

Miss Lillian Smith
Old Screamer Mountain
Clayton, Georgia

Dear Miss Smith:

Several years ago the Council established a category of Life Fellows to honor those distinguished Southerners whose contribut9ons to the region had been truly and uniquely outstanding.

At the Annual Meeting of the Southern Regional Council on November 16 this year, the Council voted unanimously to elect you a Life Fellow.

I am grateful for the opportunity of informing you of this move, and we shall be honored if you accept.

Enclosed is a citation setting forth the Council's action.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj
Enclosure - 1. (Life Certificate)

LILLIAN SMITH
P. O. BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA 30525

December 27, 1965

Mr. Paul Anthony, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council,
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.,
Atlanta, Ga. 30303

Dear Mr. Anthony:

What a beautiful thing to do for me! I am deeply moved by the Council voting to elect me a Life Fellow of the Southern Regional Council. I have the Life Certificate on my bookshelf above my bed and I show it with great pride to my family and close friends. Thank you very much.

I have been especially happy about the work the SRC has done during the past ten years; and recently, or during the past three or four years, I have found myself feeling very close to many of the Council's policies, projects, and the people in the Council. Let me help you whenever I can; and when the old cancer will let me do it!

May I use this opportunity to tell you that I feel especially pleased about your being the executive director; I do not know you well but my fleeting talks with you, sometimes hardly more than an exchange of smiles, and all that I have heard about you, make me feel that SRC is fortunate to have you.

Give my affectionate greetings to those I know at the Council's office, and let me wish all of you a good, a very good year.

Sincerely yours,

Lillian Smith

Lillian Smith

PS: The children of Ivy Hill --our Negro community--have been coming to my home for a Christmas party since 1930. Now they are integrated with the Clayton Elementary School and Rabun County High; so--they were asking their parents rather anxiously from Thanksgiving on, "Is Miss Lil going to h[illegible] our party now that we are integrated?" Of course I did h[illegible] and it was one of our best: held in my library which was decorated quite beautifully, I thought; I told the Buss[illegible] stories as usual --with the children taking the story fro[illegible] and telling it themselves --and we had General Boo Boo Vi[illegible] us (an Austrian toy military officer whose only skill is c[illegible] nuts in his big jaws which sent the children into hysterics) [illegible] the Sleepy Bear who could not wake up enough to go even to the integrated school --and all in all, it was hilarious fun w[illegible] old and young. Then Buss Eye brought the Magic Quarters (s[illegible] in old depression days but measly today!) and we reached our

How I would miss them if we failed from the party--

3 a.m. - Sept 6 1966
Emory Univ. Hospital
Atlanta - Ga -

Dear Paul -

My quiet hours - when I can think of my friends, & of many things?

One more, I want to thank you for all you have done for me. I'd like more than I can say for you to drop by the hospital to see me, but you may be on vacation (I don't know) or this may be a too busy time - I go to the mountain (hmm!) by ambulance Friday. Am in the middle of the 4th round of that awesome stuff they are giving me. I use the word deliberately for it is so powerful so lethal and yet I trust this human being's skill - I remember a time when I trusted no one that much.

They are letting me go for 2 reasons; one is, they think they have adjusted the dosage to my needs & resources so that my local doctor (a fine one) can carry on with a trip to hospital here for me about once a month. It will be rather good to get ~~[illegible]~~ home and by once more to write. I shall be in bed (I still cannot walk but we hope I can in six months) with electric hospital bed, wheel chair etc but it is going to work out. I feel confident.

2

I have even agreed to let Mike
Wallace do a show where I should talk & appear on picture. Dr. Brown & Dr. Huguley think I can go through it. He (Wallace) will come to the Mountains to make it.

Paul - I have a gift for SRL's private files. It gives me immense pleasure to present it to you: It is one of the most remarkable autobiographies
— a real piece of Americana I believe,
we have in this country.

It is not the original. But it is one of a few copies of the original.
It was written by an illiterate, aged negro. Spelling fantastic — no punctuation and yet you can read it. I must admit the heart & imagination have to work overtime!

I wrote the introduction to this book of Elys. It had to be tied up cleanly and it was the last piece of work I did — except to resign from Coe.

I shall send it to you when I go home. (It will be published this fall)

Paul, I also want you (SPC) to have copies of my memoir tapes. Don't you think it is perhaps a good idea? More fires, maybe! ~~even~~ bombings on the Mountain — how do we know? You remember my study & office & bedroom were burned in 1955 destroying thousands of mss., letters, pictures, 13,000 letters I had promised the Archives in Washington etc

But I cannot afford to make copies for you. They cost — but if you think

4. history can use them, or SRC should be a kind of archive itself, you are most welcome to copy any or all my tapes, & maybe a few hundred unusually historical letters.
[You understand the "rights" belong to me.]

Well – all this of course will & let me know how you feel about it.

Please thank Mrs Johnson for that beautiful work. I shall of course write her when I go home & get a little stronger.

My affectionate, admiring regards.

Lillian.

Miss Lillian Smith
PO Box 766
Clayton Ga. 30525.

William Smith
Emory University Hospital
Atlanta 8

ATLANTA, GA.
-PM
7 SEP
1960
28

5c U.S. POSTAGE

Personal

[maybe opened by his secretary if he is out of town]

Mr. Paul Anthony
Southern Regional Council,
5 Forsyth Street N.W.
Atlanta, Georgia

PA has original.

LILLIAN SMITH
P. O. BOX 766
CLAYTON, GEORGIA 30525

December 21, 1965

Mr. Paul Anthony, Executive Director,
Southern Regional Council, Inc.,
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.,
Atlanta , Georgia 30303

Dear Mr. Anthony:

We won't keep up this almost daily exchange of letters but I had to thank you for yours. It is so generous, so very decent --and really wonderful. You see, in 1944, I couldn't work with any organization that felt it "was not yet time" to take a stand against segregation; yet, I suspect I pushed them pretty hard with my "sense of integrity, etc.". And letting the New Republic run part of that letter --I think, I hope, I protected SRC's "face", but am not sure; I was not at that time quite as sensitive to the feelings of people who differed from me as I am today and I may have exposed my virtue flagrantly --I hope not, I just don't remember without looking up things. And as you know, the white boys burned down my house, study and office, with tens of thousands of letters, documents, papers, photographs, clippings, etc. etc. and it is difficult, and often impossible, to look things up. Nothing has ever hurt me quite as much as losing all my unpublished mss., all those thousands of marvelous and valuable letters, etc. I have everything from 1955 on but only a few files, a few boxes that had been stored elsewhere escaped the holocaust. (My three fires --the other two were forest fires set to burn the whole place up -- were pretty rough experiences.)

You see, the SRC --even though the personnel there at the time have for the most part gone--could not felt they could never forgive me for being right; it is hard to forgive people for that, you know; so much easier to forgive them for being wrong. And I was deeply touched by their warmth and generosity in doing so. No --I have not changed; I still think not only has "the Negro" been harmed beyond description, I think the white man (woman) has been harmed just as much --each in a different way. I think now, we have reached a new plateau, everybody is groping and that is good; but we, you at SRC and I and others who are able to think on multi-levels, should now been probing into what has happened to "white culture" and the Western man; this is the big problem ahead of us, actually; Negroes will (much like the workers) get their rights and opportunities; but not much will come of it unless white people change. Atlanta's feelings (newspapers and many of Atlanta's spokesmen) that we can change the situation without changing ourselves is dangerous and of course a big lie. It can't be done. I think we should now --all of us, I in my more creative way perhaps, SRC in its exploratory way, confront the deprived white, deprived once of money, still deprived culturally and morally and psychologically. There are as many of these as there are Negroes and they must be analyzed and their plight --our plight-- dramatised. Come up to see me, won't you? Sincerely yours,

Lillian Smith

[illegible] upper middle class people tr-

Board

March 4, 1966

Miss Lillian Smith
P. O. Box 766
Clayton, Georgia 30525

Dear Miss Smith:

I have been carrying your letter of December 31 around with me since receiving it. This hardly leads to a daily exchange of correspondence, although there is nothing I would enjoy more if it would not over burden you.

Let me say first, how much I enjoyed your letter to the Constitution about the Bond affair. It is a capsule of so much of the tragedy that we are, inevitably, stumbling through just now. We were pleased at the opportunity to reprint the letter in our new quarterly, NEW SOUTH. And I was even more pleased to see that the Atlanta Magazine featured it so promptly.

You are so right that we cannot change things in our society without changing ourselves. I think much of the frustration from within and without the Federal establishment right now comes because new programs are trying to produce revolutionary results without using a revolutionary means. For instance, I think all the Head Start Program's are fine. It is good to expose children to culture and for six weeks or so give them vitamins and perhaps a dental check up. But they go back to the homes they came from and I wonder if much is changed.

If in the South we are at a plateau as you suggest, and I think we are, then we have a magnificient opportunity to go on and change ourselves. But this implies a danger as well that we may miss this magnificient opportunity to build on all that has led us to this plateau. I think for the future SRC's responsibility is to address itself to this opportunity and be concerned with this danger.

Enclosed is a copy of the Director's Report for last year. If you can wade through it you will find near the end an outline of some of our new programs.

Warmest best wishes.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/km

Enclosure

MJ

Tel: GArfield 1-4960

LOOK

COWLES MAGAZINES AND BROADCASTING, INC. 625 MARKET STREET SAN FRANCISCO 5 CALIF.

August 30, 1966

Mr. Paul Anthony
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303

Dear Paul,

I happened to be in New York when your wonderful telegram on our Lillian Smith story came in. Thank you for it -- and for all the help your office has given me on this story and throughout the years.

All the best,

George B. Leonard /mk

George B. Leonard
Senior Editor and West Coast Editorial Manager

GBL:mk

9-6-66

AN INTERVIEW WITH LILLIAN SMITH

BY GEORGE B. LEONARD LOOK SENIOR EDITOR

Not black power, but human power

THIRTEEN YEARS AGO, Lillian Smith found out she had cancer. After surgery and two weeks rest, she went back to her writing. Two years and two books later, the cancer returned, and she was told she could not get well. She did not believe it. She went on writing, traveling, teaching, driven, as always, to the most outrageous and bewildering of human acts, which is saying the simple, obvious truth before people are ready to hear it. The cancer came back again and again, eating away at the most vulnerable parts of her small, slim body. As the body wasted, the spirit grew.

She had enemies, white Southerners who feared her for seeing Negroes as people. They burned her house, a mountaintop retreat near Clayton, Ga., destroying all her manuscripts, letters, mementos and pictures. But they did not defeat her. She moved to another house on the mountain and went on writing. There were other enemies, literate men in the South and North, who did something more hurtful than burning a house: They refused to comprehend her. Back in 1944, she had published Strange Fruit, a novel about an interracial love affair that had shocked the South and made her the darling of critics who thought themselves liberal on race. Some of these critics kept expecting another Strange Fruit, and when it did not come (her spirit grew; her writing encompassed not just race but all of humankind), they simply interpreted each new book in terms of their earlier favorite. To them, Lillian Smith would always be "that little lady in Georgia who wants to help the Negroes," and nothing more. They had their neat little box for her, and they tried to slap her down whenever she seemed to be escaping it. The stubborn incomprehension of these critics started to make her bitter, and sometimes, when she spent too many months on her mountain alone all day with nothing but her pain to focus on, she had to fight the bitterness as hard as she fought the cancer. But none of this could defeat her. She went on writing (at times with blood pressure as low as 50) and speaking the truth, explicit and unrelenting, no matter whether her words made enemies or friends.

Now, it was the summer of 1966, and she lay gravely ill in Emory University Hospital in Atlanta while Negroes rioted in overheated Northern city streets. And once again her words had startled the nation from South to North: Lillian Smith, bravest white champion of Negro rights, had resigned from the Congress of Racial Equality to protest its rejection of nonviolence.

When I entered her hospital room, she held out both hands for mine. "I'm sorry I've kept you so long," she said, with the smile of an old fighter who knows precisely how badly the fight is going. I took her hands and told her the few days I'd spent waiting for her to be well enough to see me had given me a chance to read Killers of the Dream for the first time. "It's a work of genius," I said without exaggeration, for I had discovered in that neglected and misunderstood book an angry, severe, yet beautiful explication of the hidden causes of Southern racism, the deep roots of shame and pride, sexual repression and self-deception that brought madness up out of the Southern earth. In it, as far back as 1949, Lillian Smith had said the unsayable words that many of us, including myself, had only got around to wrestling with more than a decade later.

continued

Dark eyes shone from a face that gave off a white aura, not of sickness but of an almost supernatural intensity, an impatience with unessential matters. The room was light and neat, and it contained none of the paraphernalia of mortal illness. "I'm a bit weak from lack of nourishment," she told me, after she had excused the friend who was staying with her and I had taken a chair. "They are feeding me intravenously, but I told them to take all the needles out while you're here. I also told them to leave us alone. Now, I'm going to get a little clinical for a moment. This new drug they're trying on me has the strange quality of making me look well. See my face?"

"Yes, you look very good."

"The drug works on my enzymes. It shakes me. If it works.... But this cancer—it's my ninth flare-up—it seems to be telling me that it means business. This may be my last interview."

"White Americans have not met creative Negro leadership halfway."

I HAD PHONED Miss Smith shortly after her resignation from CORE, and she had told me to come on to Atlanta. Since we knew and understood each other, she had said, we wouldn't have to waste time establishing contact. And she did want to make sure that her resignation wouldn't be misunderstood. "My telegram to CORE is a good expression of what I feel," she had told me on the phone. "It criticized the whites as much as it did CORE, but the news stories left out a lot of that part." She had sent the wire to CORE director Floyd McKissick and it read, in full, as follows:

"I strongly protest the dangerous and unwise position CORE has taken on the use of violence in effecting racial change. I am therefore resigning from your advisory committee.

"For many years, CORE was firm in its belief in the use of nonviolence and refused tactics dictated by anger and hate. Its leaders believed that only love and compassion, reason and a vigilant search for truth could bring about creative human relationships. Unfortunately the stubbornness and dishonest methods of segregationists, the violence of the Klan and the blind complacency of many white church people have made it easy for the haters to take over from the more wise and patient leadership.

"Now we have new killers of the dream.

"CORE has been infiltrated by adventurers and nihilists, black nationalists and plain old-fashioned haters who have finally taken over.

"But the whites must carry much of the moral burden for this having occurred. White Americans have not met the creative Negro leadership halfway. They demand that Negroes show more wisdom and patience than they themselves show.

"CORE was pushed hard by the inertia and violence of many white Americans before its wise leadership succumbed. But I do not believe in the use of violence, however great the temptation.

"We are working for something bigger than civil rights; we are working for better human beings, we are working for excellence in our cultural life. How can we achieve these goals unless all of us meet this challenge with honesty and intelligence and good will and speed?"

Now, we spoke of the telegram, and I asked her if the new rejection of nonviolence among many Negroes and the rise of the "Black Power" concept had surprised her. "No," she answered, "I feared it from the beginning. I was in India in 1946, just as Nehru was starting to take over a little piece of the mantle of Gandhi, and already that beautiful movement was dragging itself in the mud of jealousies, power, pettiness. I was there for six months again in 1954-55, saw Nehru and spent much time with his family. They talked quite frankly to me about the petty jealousies in something that should have been beautiful.

"Later, back in the States, I thought of this when I made a speech commemorating the first anniversary of SNCC [the militant Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee]. I chose as my title, 'Buying a New World With Old Confederate Bills.' I was reminding them even then of the problems they might have in the future. I said that after the Civil War—from 1865 on—America and England and Europe tried to buy the world of Africa and Asia with old Confederate bills—that is, with the belief that the white man's prestige was worth something. It wasn't.

"So I went on to remind the young men and women of SNCC how many good people had stood by them, and I told them I would choose to be their first critic. I said, 'You're going to have the same temptation that Jesus and Gandhi had—the temptation of personal political power. You will want to get power in your own hands, to manipulate, to use your own kind of old Confederate money. You will want to stir people's hatreds.' I warned them about all of this.

"At the end of my talk, John Lewis [then chairman of SNCC] came up to shake my hand. His hands were wringing wet, and he said, 'I had the strangest feeling when you were talking.' I said, 'If you had that feeling, you really didn't need my warning.' John Lewis is a bright and good person, and now he's out of SNCC. Or has he come back since I've been here in the hospital?"

"No," I said, "he's still out of power."

She shook her head. "I feared it would happen. Now Black Power will last until white people and black come together and say the only power that counts is human power."

She gave firm emphasis to these words, lifting her head somewhat painfully from the pillow, and I thought of a summer's afternoon I had spent with her just a year earlier at her mountain retreat. I had come to interview her for a LOOK issue on the South, but before the afternoon was over, she had moved far beyond "the South" or "race" to sketch luminous outlines of man's future, of a new human power that was becoming possible on this planet. Though weak from her illness even then, she spoke with tightly focused energy and conviction, delicately balancing her immediate concern about the ongoing racial struggle against her larger vision that could give the struggle meaning and direction.

We ended up sitting on the floor of her bedroom, going through boxes of research material, surrounded by papers and books on Persian history, medieval heresies, evolution, modern science and—most central to her thought—the works of the Jesuit philosopher-scientist Teilhard de Chardin. Totally absorbed, I did not realize until I smelled a subtle change in the thin, piney mountain air that it had started raining quite hard outside, for the air was utterly still and the rain was whispering down through needles and boughs. In the green and rainy light, Lillian Smith's pain-ravaged face, circled around by curly white hair, was radiant with the hope that has grappled with suffering and disappointment and has prevailed.

SEGREGATION (to summarize Miss Smith's view) is a strange but significant form of dehumanization. It is a striking example of mankind's most disastrous sin, the dualistic approach to life that separates body from spirit, dark from light, action from thought. By solving our race problem, we can show the way toward repairing all the chasms that split the world. But this we cannot do unless we see segregation not simply as something that concerns race but as an act, a defense, perhaps a ritual that can be used in numberless ways. We can segregate ourselves from each other, from our own true selves, from God, from an idea, from art, music, science. The American South, for example, segregated itself from the richness of a great part of the last 3,000 years and thus became a culturally-deprived region that is only now reawakening to the joys and opportunities of the present.

The worst thing about segregation is that it stops the human race from evolving. We started to evolve as human beings perhaps a half-million, perhaps a hundred thousand years ago, when individuals came closer together, used each other as mirrors, began reflecting, thinking. Because they were so near each other, their minds blazed from proximity. As Teilhard de Chardin said, the mental temperature shot up. Because the world is round, Teilhard pointed out, men cannot escape each other, but must always move closer. As they rub their minds together, they become keener, brighter, more curious, more human.

Today, in the chaos of a fast-changing world, many people are behaving like children who are upset because they cannot run away from a world that is round. Some want to escape human growth by jumping off into outer space. Some want to run backward into the past. Some turn to violence. Some try to withdraw into ideologies, abstract schemes that often become, to their believers, more important than living human beings.

But we cannot escape each other, cannot remain segregated. Just as the 19th century was the age of ideologies and segregation, the 20th century is becoming the age of human relations. Again, the mental temperature is shooting up. Suddenly, we are only a few hours from everyone on earth. Men in small groups, collaborating, can solve problems in a few months or weeks or even days that one man, working alone and in isolation, could never have solved had he lived a thousand years. At the same time, modern science is giving us the instruments and the insights with which to examine and understand ourselves so that we may open our hearts and minds to others. "It has crept upon us so quietly," Lillian Smith wrote in The Journey. "We have hardly noticed. But it is one of the significant events of the 20th century: these groups of men and women, finding their tongues, sloughing off the old mutism and doing it just as science gives them the means of worldwide communication. Not arguing, not debating, not defending and entrenching their past mistakes. Not on trial. Simply saying, 'It was this way with me.' "

She went on to write about ending the subtle segregations within us: "Now, for the first time, we are beginning to bring together the fragments: to bind childhood to the rest of our life so that our reason can control it and thus reduce the anxiety which dictators, inside and outside us, exploit so lushly; to tie body to mind to feelings to fantasies to belief; to relate these to the rest of mankind and to the world; to relate power to humility, and responsibility to honor and freedom; to keep tenderness and truth close together."

Lillian Smith believes that we must end racial segregation to make ourselves and our world whole again. To end racial segregation, however, we must, at the same time, start breaking down all the other barriers that segregate our lives. We can and must change ourselves, not just superficially but down to the second and third layers. We can and must evolve into different and better human beings, not by withdrawing into ourselves but by forcing ourselves right out into the crowd, by working with and changing the institutions—government, church, business, school—whose sole purpose should be to make each of us more human.

AGAINST THIS VISION of infinite and ever-evolving human power, it is easy to see why Lillian Smith had to protest a policy that would build new walls between black and white just as the old walls were beginning to crumble. Black Power. No matter how great the provocation that created it, or the immediate satisfactions and gains, Black Power eventually works against the human power that builds lifesaving bridges between all races, all people.

In an Atlanta hospital room, at a time when Negroes and whites taunted and cursed each other on city streets, when innocent children suffered the pain of ignorant bullets, Lillian Smith and I talked about building new bridges. "Just as segregation is easy to define," she said, "integration is impossible to define. The new human relations offer us infinite options, the options of spiritual freedom. This means not that we'll be free to do what we want but free to do what's right. Eventually, the two will be one."

Again, she lifted her head: "This idea of human evolution is so exciting. It's as if God is saying to us, 'You've been a baby long enough. Now, grow up. I don't have to give you childish things like miracles any longer. Learn to do these things for yourself. Take the world in your own hands.' And we are. We're beginning to evolve into this great human spirit." She lay down again. "I think you'd better go now. My pulse is speeding up so."

I lingered a moment at the door, then blew her a kiss good-bye. END

"We are working for something bigger than civil rights; we are working for better human beings."

DRAWINGS BY AUSTIN BRIGGS

File-Board
Lillian Smith

September 13, 1966

Miss Lillian Smith
Box 766
Clayton, Georgia 30525

Dear Lillian:

The wonderful news of your going home was marred only by the fact that your letter did not reach me in time for me to visit you before you left.

Let me hasten to say that the offer of the copy of the autobiography, the tapes, and any other items you are willing to share with us will be gratefully and enthusiastically accepted. And, we do have a small special grant to cover any costs involved in such a process. In fact, I hope you will let us know of any needs you may have in this regard, for quite possibly we might be able to secure small amounts of money for purposes of your own that were not related to SRC.

At some future date when you feel up to it I would be very grateful for an opportunity to drive up to Clayton to visit with you. Would you keep this in mind and write or call me sometime?

In the meantime, all of us here, and I especially, send you every good and warm wish.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/mmj

P. S. -- While the office is somewhat distant from Clayton, I hope you will think of this as your Atlanta office for any copying, typing, telephoning, detail work or anything else we might conceivably do for you.

PA

File Board Life Fellows: Lillian Smith

Lillian Smith, Georgia author whose books on the South are acclaimed around the world, died September 28 in an Atlanta hospital in her last struggle of a 13-year-illness, concluding the career of a Southerner "who never wanted to write about race, but just about people."

But Lillian Smith's first, and lasting, fame came with her first novel, STRANGE FRUIT, a small town story of a tragic black-white love affair. It sold 3,000,000 copies in 15 languages and made her a spokesman to the world on Southern sins of race. Her KILLERS OF THE DREAM, a psychological analysis of the Southern system of separation, became a classic of sectional understanding and a ringing demand for liberation of white and Negro Southerners from the bonds of segregation. Some of what critics called her "lesser books" she considered among her best. ONE HOUR, a story of cultivated white Southerners and the crisis of a town, she regarded as "my best novel," and ranked THE JOURNEY, an account of emotional and spiritual growth, as broader and deeper than earlier books. In OUR VOICES, OUR WORDS, of young people in the Southern Negro movement, she returned to "race," as in NOW IS THE TIME, a "tract" written after 1954. MEMORY OF A LARGE CHRISTMAS was a vivid, and profound, description of children's country Christmas when the convicts came to dinner.

In her later years, Miss Smith studied, mused and wrote about vast and troubling changes in human life leading to "the tremendous future" of man, and this year regretted, and withdrew her support from, the new disciples of "black power." "What we want," she said shortly before her death, is "human power."

Lillian Smith's friendships and influence reached to the powerful people of the earth and to humble neighbors on a Georgia mountainside. Students, politicians, writers from Europe, Asia and Africa visited her home on Old Screamer mountain, as did American intellectuals, literary people, old friends and plain book-readers on pilgrimages to a brave thinker.

She opened her home and her heart to youngsters of the Movement, soothing the troubled, encouraging the talented and refreshing the weary.

She divided her work between the practical and the artistic: tracts, speeches, seminars, picket lines, service on boards of national liberal organizations, civic politicking and persuading in the little town of Clayton, and a womanly response to family and friends in personal crisis. And these labors of love and duty often interrupted her writing, even as the experiences fed her art.

Miss Smith was intensely and tenderly concerned with children, teaching music in China as a girl and later running Laurel Falls Camp for girls on her mountaintop, where she and Paula Snelling introduced unprecedented intellectual and religious innovations along with the tennis, swimming, hikes and games.

Lillian Smith paid the price it costs a prophet to tell the truth to his own country. STRANGE FRUIT brought her fame and money, and persecution and insult such as few women have sustained. Other books of importance were, she felt, killed by silent censorship North and South. And up from Clayton beneath Old Screamer Mountain, three times came enemies to burn down buildings, so that she lost a novel and other manuscripts and treasured notes, documents and household goods.

The author summoned equal valor in her long fight with recurrent cancer, a trial she turned into a source of hope and courage for thousands with fatal illness and other ordeals.

It is to honor the brave intelligence, the righteous judgments and the penetrating work of this Southern Regional Council life member, that the Council proposes that a special committee of members be appointed by the Executive Committee to consider whether or not it would be desirable to have a Council award in honor of Lillian Smith, and if so, the particulars of such an award.

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT:

Smith, Lillian

REGARDING:

Article - "A Challenge to the South" - Presented at Atlanta University Commencement, 1957 (Re-printed in THE NEW LEADER, Aug. 26, 1957

DATE:

(SEE)

NAME OR SUBJECT:

American Jewish Committee - New York
Edwin J. Lukas - see Ltr. Aug. 29, 1957

34-Smith, Willia

~~A REVIEW~~

STRANGE FRUIT: A REVIEW BY GORDON B. HANCOCK

It is difficult to imagine a more subtle yet scathing indictment against the Negro race in general and Negro womanhood in particular than that presented in Strange Fruit by Lillian Smith. If it is staged and filmed as proposed, it will become an effective complement to the Birth of A Nation by Thomas Dixon. In any case, it will do irreparable damage to the cause of race relations and postpone further the already too indefinitely postponed better era of the Negro's full integration into American life. Whereas The Birth of A Nation made a flagrant indictment against the big "burly type" of Negro, the Strange Fruit indictment is against the educated Negro, the last hope of the Negro race. When Miss Smith portrays in Nonnie Anderson, a young Negro woman college graduate, no higher ambitions than to be a servant and the mistress and concubine of a dissolute poor white man, she stabs at the very heart of the hopes of the Negro race. When she makes a young Negro physician, Sam Perry, willing to take the cast-off concubine of the said poor white man, she makes doubly sure her contempt for the possibilities which we hoped inhered in the education of the Negro race. Being a novel set in the post-war period of World War I, it becomes particularly dangerous as we enter the post-war period of World War II. This treatment of the Negro-white relations in the South will serve as a mighty hypodermic to rally the Old South which some of us were optimistic enough to imagine weakening in the last agony of death. If Hitler died without reading Strange Fruit, he missed what to him would have been a rare treat, so thoroughly did it dovetail with his notion of Negroes and master-racism. The very popularity of Strange Fruit is in itself ominous! This popularity largely hinges about the fact that the Negro is cast in a subservient role with no possibilities for a higher. Nonnie Anderson becomes a symbol of the educated Negro woman and when such woman prefers a life of concubinage with a poor white man to the larger life offered in service to her race, she presents a sad commentary on the wisdom of those who seek larger educational opportunities for Negroes. No less sad is the commentary offered in the readiness with which an outstanding Negro physician is willing to take unto wife the cast-off of a white dissolute. The whole portrayal of the Negro principals is misrepresentative in the highest degree. In the first place, the typical Negro concubine of the Old South spurned poor white men who had nothing to offer but a "scandalized" name. The more favorable position of the mulatto of the South is further proof of this fact. The only explanation that the mulattoes were educated first among the Negroes and became economically secure, inheres in the fact that their white antecedents were whites of wealth and affluence who gave them a start. Among the poor whites, cases of bastardy and incest were far more common than concubinage with Negro women. I know not one case of a Negro professional taking to wife the cast-off concubine of a dissolute white man. Nonnie Anderson and Sam Perry are not typical Negroes of today. Any implication that education does not elevate the ambitions of Negroes is damnable, and Strange Fruit makes such implication. The book is one unrelieved picture of the sordidness of Negro life and morals.

The Negro is now becoming a literary "guinea pig" even as he has long since been a "guinea pig" for the social scientists with their "studies"and "researches" and "investigations". Unfortunately, better race relations must wait until writers are found who are quite as willing to peddle Negro virtues as they are to peddle his profanities, his vulgarisms and his sexual pecculations. Negro novels are always "best sellers" for the Negro typifies the murderers and rapists and rogues and rascals that the American readers are always hungry to hear about. This role of the Negro confirms preconceptions and prejudices and perpetuates popular misrepresentations and the very fact that this is so popular is one of the saddest commentaries on the intelligence and religion of this nation. Any trap set and baited with profanity, vulgarity and blasphemies almost always catch the American readers in large numbers. Strange Fruit is no exception. Taking her cue from Richard Wright, Miss Smith very awkwardly injects unnecessary profanities and vulgarisms. The book disparages the Negro race and blasphemes Negro womanhood; it plays into the hands of the master-racists and quite conceivably heartens Bilbo, Rankin and Eastland who no doubt would feel pleased and highly flattered to have autographed "pocket editions". It is difficult to harmonize the Lillian Smith, editor of The South Today, and the Lillian Smith, author of Strange Fruit. It is a minor calamity when her pronounced literary powers are sacrificed on the altars of this country's moral and intellectual depravity. There is something radically wrong with the Negro who does not resent Strange Fruit.

September 26, 1953

Editor South Carolina Christian Advocate
Columbia, South Carolina

Dear Sir:

Here's a pamphlet we have just got out. Its purpose is to help in the tremendous task of informing the Southern public on the issues now before the Supreme Court. It is a calm balanced treatment.

We want it to be helpfully used by small informal local discussion groups.

It has been widely noticed in the Southern daily press.

I hope that editorially you will agree that the South Carolina Christian Advocate could properly make some reference to the pamphlet and its timeliness.

Sincerely,

GSM/allc
enclosure

George S. Mitchell,
Executive Director

September 30, 1953

Mr. W. E. Solomon, Executive Secretary
1719 Taylor Street
Columbia 1, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Solomon:

Many thanks for writing September 6th.

I am a little disappointed about postponing until November, because these are precious weeks for getting the Southern people educated on this issue before the Supreme Court decide.

The Georgia State Teachers Education and Association has already bought 1000 copies and sent them out to teachers.

Couldn't you do the same for South Carolina nowabouts? If the Association is too broke to pay for them nowadays, we can wait on that, but now is the time for them to move.

I sold them to Mr. Harper for 10¢ apiece and will do the same thing for you.

I still desperately need a sizeable contribution from the Palmetto Education Association as outlined in my original letter, but that can wait; although moving the booklet should not.

Sincerely,

GSM/allo

George S. Mitchell,
Executive Director

September 30, 1953

Mr. W. E. Solomon, Executive Secretary
1719 Taylor Street
Columbia 1, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Solomon:

Many thanks for writing September 6th.

I am a little disappointed about postponing until November, because these are precious weeks for getting the Southern people educated on this issue before the Supreme Court decide.

The Georgia State Teachers Education and Association has already bought 1000 copies and sent them out to teachers.

Could'nt you do the same for South Carolina nowabouts? If the Association is too broke to pay for them nowadays, we can wait on that, but now is the time for them to move.

I sold them to Harper for 10¢ apiece and will do the same thing for you.

I still desperately need a little contribution from the Palmetto Education Association as outlined in my original letter, but that can wait, although moving the booklet should not.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell,
Executive Director

GSM/allo

President
John R. Bowen
310 W. Bartlette St.
Sumter, S. C.

Vice-President
J. M. McAllister
P. O. Box 446
Kingstree, S. C.

Treasurer
J. T. McCain
Palmetto High School
Mullins, S. C.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

First District
Mrs. Henrietta F. Francis
Frogmore, S. C.

Second District
L. H. Dawkins
Area Trade School
Denmark, S. C.

Third District
S. K. Dean
P. O. Box 143
Edgefield, S. C.

Fourth District
H. L. Barksdale
331 N. Dean St.
Spartanburg, S. C.

Fifth District
S. L. Finley
159 Loomis St.
Chester, S. C.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Sixth District
James A. Miller
Holmes School
Florence, S. C.

At Large
Mrs. Madge P. Harper
Goff Avenue Extension
Orangeburg, S. C.

C. W. Fields
Waverly School
Columbia, S. C.

Past President
J. C. Parler
Wilkinson High School
Orangeburg, S. C.

Department of County Presidents
I. C. Bracey
210 W. Oakland Ave.
Sumter, S. C.

PALMETTO EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
SIT LUX
FOUNDED 1918

W. E. SOLOMON, Executive Secretary
1719 Taylor Street
COLUMBIA 1, SOUTH CAROLINA
TELEPHONE 2-9383

September 26, 1953

Mr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

Our Executive Committee delayed action on your request until their November meeting.

Yours truly,

W. E. Solomon

W. E. Solomon,
Executive Secretary

WES B

RECEIVED
SEP 28

October 14, 1953

Mr W E Solomon, Executive Secretary
Palmetto Education Association
1719 Taylor Street
Columbia 1, South Carolina

Dear Mr Solomon:

The illegible note said that I did understand that the Palmetto Education Association had done its full duty and could not shell out any substantial sum to S R C.

But I do hope that the Association will buy some copies of Questions and Answers and get them moving. These are the weeks for that to happen.

Incidentally, here is a follow-up pamphlet to be used by groups that have already read Questions and Answers and are game to go on and dig up the facts locally.

Sincerely yours,

George S Mitchell
Executive Director

gsm:t
enclosures: 3

President
John R. Bowen
310 W. Bartlette St.
Sumter, S. C.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

First District
Mrs. Henrietta F. Francis
Frogmore, S. C.

Second District
L. H. Dawkins
Area Trade School
Denmark, S. C.

Third District
S. K. Dean
P. O. Box 143
Edgefield, S. C.

Fourth District
H. L. Barksdale
331 N. Dean St.
Spartanburg, S. C.

Fifth District
S. L. Finley
159 Loomis St.
Chester, S. C.

Vice-President
J. M. McAllister
P. O. Box 446
Kingstree, S. C.

Treasurer
J. T. McCain
Palmetto High School
Mullins, S. C.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Sixth District
James A. Miller
Holmes School
Florence, S. C.

At Large
Mrs. Madge P. Harper
Goff Avenue Extension
Orangeburg, S. C.

C. W. Fields
Waverly School
Columbia, S. C.

Past President
J. C. Parler
Wilkinson High School
Orangeburg, S. C.

Department of County Presidents
I. C. Bracey
210 W. Oakland Ave.
Sumter, S. C.

RECEIVED
OCT 6
Southern Regional Council

PALMETTO EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
SIT LUX
FOUNDED 1918

W. E. SOLOMON, Executive Secretary
1719 Taylor Street
COLUMBIA 1, SOUTH CAROLINA
TELEPHONE 2-9383

October 5, 1953

Mr. George S. Mitchell, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E., Room 432
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

I could not interpret the penciled note in your letter but I would like to make some facts clear to you.

For the past 9 years our Association has contributed $11,000.00 to the NAACP. We have contributed $4500.00 to the Clarendon County suit. We have never had 6000 teachers to pay membership in our Association and our membership fee was only $3.00 until two years ago. We have had to purchase approximately $4,000.00 worth of furniture and equipment, and now we are making plans for a $100,000.00 building.

So you see we cannot make contributions everywhere. I made this clear to your representative in Orangeburg this summer. Our Association is the only one that supports the NAACP. When we get this suit and some other things out of the way then SRC can expect handsome contributions from our Association.

We definitely appreciate the value of your research and your publications but we can't stretch our finance too far. At the next meeting of our Executive Committee a contribution to SRC will be discussed.

Yours truly,

W. E. Solomon

W. E. Solomon,
Executive Secretary

WES B

November nine, 1953

Miss Rachel Marks, Assistant Editor
SOCIAL SERVICE REVIEW
The University of Chicago
Chicago 37, Illinois

Dear Miss Marks:

Many thanks for your nice letter.

I am the son of a Baptist minister in Virginia.

We have done still another pamphlet which may or may not have reached you as follow up on the first one.

These last few months and weeks before the Supreme Court gives its decision are precious ones in which to build public opinion favorable to the changes that are to come. After the Court has decided there is every likelihood that minds will close in partisanship for or against what the Court will have said. Now people are puzzled and want to know what it would be wise to do. In any local community, the whole cause of integration would be much further along for whatever can be done in the way of organizing local and preferably bi-racial discussion groups. From a meeting of the minds and the finding of facts will come the steer to public opinion that we all want.

Sincerely yours

George S Mitchell
Executive Director

gsm-t
enclosure - 1

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
CHICAGO 37 · ILLINOIS
THE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SERVICE ADMINISTRATION

203 Cobb Hall
October 1[illegible], 1953

RECEIVED
OCT 15
Southern Regional Council

Dr. George C. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

Thank you for your prompt reply to my note, and for the copy of Questions and Answers. I am sending a check for $1.65 to pay for it, and for your monthly New South. DS.

I am delighted with the approach you have used in your little bulletin on the schools. I grew up as the daughter of a Methodist minister in Virginia, and I know something of the kinds of arguments people used to give my mother when she attempted to point out that discrimination against one group in the community inevitably leads to more problems for all. Her favorite story had to do with finding several white children who were not attending school. When she marched herself down to see the school trustee about it, she was told:"If we enforce the compulsory education law for the white children, we'll have to enforce it for the Negroes too, and then we'll never get our crops in." In your bulletin you have answered many of the questions people do ask. Of course we both realize that a rational approach isn't all one needs in dealing with a problem so tied-up with people's feelings, but it is certainly part of the story.

With all good wishes,

Rachel Marks

Rachel Marks, Assistant Editor
SOCIAL SERVICE REVIEW

SOUTHERN EDUCATION FOUNDATION
INCORPORATED 1937 FROM
(PEABODY—SLATER—JEANES—RANDOLPH FUNDS)
811 CYPRESS STREET, N. E., ATLANTA 5, GEORGIA

J. CURTIS DIXON
VICE-PRESIDENT & EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
FRED McCUISTION
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR

May 17, 1955

Dr. George S. Mitchell
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

MAY 18 1955

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

In Dr. Dixon's absence from the office, I am sending on to you the enclosed check # 1880 for $6 covering two copies of the volume "An Aftermath of Appamattox - A Memoir of the Life of Samuel Chiles Mitchell". Dr. Dixon will appreciate your bringing these by the office.

Sincerely yours,

Ruby Fordham

Secretary to Dr. Dixon

rf

Enc.

January 18, 1956

Mr. W.R. Solomon, Executive Secretary
Palmetto Education Association
1719 Taylor St.,
Columbia 1, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Solomon:

We are mighty glad to have you.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

GSM:mef

January 28, 1957

Mr. J. E. Soderlind
1310 Barnett Bank Building
Jacksonville 2, Florida

Dear Mr. Soderlind:

Eldon Edwards is still a General Motors employee and a union member. I'm not certain whether he is employed by Fisher Body or Chevrolet.

Sincerely,

Emory F. Via
Labor Consultant

EFV:
mm

South Africa

April 25, 1957

Mr. John Gunther, Co-Chairman
South Africa Defense Fund
4 West 40th Street
New York 18, New York

Dear Mr. Gunther:

The enclosed check for ten dollars is just a token of our iiterest in the defense of South Africans who suffer legal and other harassment.

We feel that our first concern must be with our own daily problems here in the South - through our own organization and other channels. But we do want to join personally with you and others to make some expression of interest in the South African situation.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony

John Constable

Harold C. Fleming

Frederick B. Routh

Emory F. Via

EFV:mm
Enclosure

DOMESTIC SERVICE
Check the class of service desired; otherwise this message will be sent as a full rate telegram
FULL RATE TELEGRAM	X
DAY LETTER
NIGHT LETTER

$
S
E

WESTERN UNION

W. P. MARSHALL, PRESIDENT

1206 10-51

INTERNATIONAL SERVICE
Check the class of service desired; otherwise the message will be sent at the full rate
FULL RATE
LETTER TELEGRAM
SHIP RADIOGRAM

NO. WDS.-CL. OF SVC.	PD. OR COLL.	CASH NO.	CHARGE TO THE ACCOUNT OF	TIME FILED
	PAID		SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL, INC.	%?#L?5/31/57

Send the following message, subject to the terms on back hereof, which are hereby agreed to

RIGHT HONORABLE BROOKS HAYS
SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SOUTHERN BAPTISTS FOR ELECTING AS LEADER

THE GREAT MAN YOU ARE.

Mrs. M. E. Tilly

July 3, 1957

Mr. Charles J. Mumford, Director
Department of Political Science
Southern Maryland Free State Library Association
P. O. Box 1493
Annapolis, Maryland

Dear Mr. Mumford:

Your letter to the Tennessee Council on Human Relations has been referred to us, since the group is not professionally staffed. The Tennessee Council is an autonomous, state-wide membership organization voluntarily affiliated with the Southern Regional Council. Because of these factors the group does not produce literature or brochures of note but makes considerable use of the materials of the Southern Regional Council. I believe you already have copies of these materials on file.

If we can be of further help please call on us.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Administrative Assistant

PA/mf

SOUTHERN MARYLAND FREE STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

— In the heart of old historical Annapolis —

P. O. Box 1493

ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

- HISTORICAL SECTION
- CIVIL LIBERTIES SECTION
- CURRENT AFFAIRS SECTION

CHARLES J. MUMFORD, DIRECTOR

June 18, 1957

RECEIVED JUL 1 1957

Tennessee Council On Human Relations
2005 Grand Avenue
Nashville, Tennessee

Gentlemen:

Our Civil Liberties Section is interested in your organization.

Currently studing the whole question and background of segregation, we would like to receive your tracts, pamphlets, brochures and other descriptive literature.

We would also like to be placed on your permanent mailing list to receive such bulletins that you may care to send along to us in the future.

In the event there will be any charge for this material, please kindly advise.

Thank you for your interest and prompt reply.

Yours sincerely,

Charles J. Mumford

CHARLES J. MUMFORD, Director
Department of Political Science

I am referring this letter to you since we are still inactive and do not mail out materials yet. Thank you

Virginia Grantham
Office Secretary.

CJM:kgk

"Educate and inform the whole mass of the people. They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty."
—Thomas Jefferson

September 23, 1957

Social Work
95 Madison Avenue
New York 16, New York

Gentlemen:

Please send us a copy of Volume 2, Number 3, of the Social Work Journal for July, 1957 and bill us for cost.

Sincerely,

John Constable
Director of Information

JC:lec

November 26, 1957

South Carolinians Speak
Box 806
Dillon, South Carolina

Dear Sir:

Please send us fifteen copies of "South Carolinians Speak" and bill us for cost.

Sincerely,

John Constable
Director of Information

JC:lec

July 18, 1958

Mr. Charles J. Mumford, Director
Department of Political Science
Southern Maryland Free State Library Association
P. O. Box 1493
Annapolis, Maryland

Dear Mr. Mumford:

We are in receipt of your letter of July 17th requesting a current list of the Southern Regional Council's board members and officers. Enclosed herewith is a copy.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Mildred Flowers
Secretary to the Executive Director

MF
Enclosure - 1 (Board List)

7/18/58

SOUTHERN MARYLAND FREE STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

— In the heart of old historical Annapolis —

P. O. Box 1493

ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

- HISTORICAL SECTION
- CIVIL LIBERTIES SECTION
- CURRENT AFFAIRS SECTION

CHARLES J. MUMFORD, DIRECTOR

July 17, 1958

VIA AIR MAIL

Mr. Marion A. Wright, President
Southern Regional Council
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Wright:

Last year, your office was very kind to send us a listing of your officers and Board of Directors members.

In order to bring our records up-to-date, can you kindly send us your current list of the aforementioned compilation? Thank you.

With very best wishes, I remain

Yours sincerely,

Charles J. Mumford

CHARLES J. MUMFORD, Director
Department of Political Science

CJM:kgk

"Educate and inform the whole mass of the people. They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty."
—Thomas Jefferson

February 15, 1961

Mr. Sebastian Sommer
Development Officer
St. Andrews Presbyterian College
Laurinburg, North Carolina

Dear See:

It was a pleasure to hear from you after so long a time. I'd like very much to hear what you're up to these days, and how the new career is progressing. If circumstances should bring you to Atlanta, don't fail to let me know. Our offices are more convenient now -- directly across the street from the Journal-Constitution.

Sigma Delta Chi isn't what it used to be, since you've left and McKenzie and I have slacked off in our attendance. You may be interested to know, if you don't already, that the Chapter now has a Negro member -- a teacher of Journalism at the Negro state college in Savannah. Though I wasn't present, I understand he showed up for the first time at last night's meeting, had a few drinks but couldn't stay for dinner because of another appointment. So far, not a ripple. It just goes to show that things can change!

My very best regards.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

P.S. -- You are lucky to have Henry Ruark as pastor, he's a very good man.

ST. ANDREWS

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE

DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

LAURINBURG, NORTH CAROLINA
February 11, 1961

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

It was good to hear an echo of a voice from the past. I miss our association, especially at the few gatherings of the Sigma Delta Chi meetings with uproarious(whatever word that might be) Bill Emerson and the modest Mr. McKenzie.

Even in this little community, however, we have a mutual acquaintance, I believe. Our minister, Henry Ruark of the First Methodist Church, is active in the Council on Human Relations. He is one of the finest preachers I have had the good fortune to hear.

The list of desegrated colleges in North Carolina is up to date as far as I know, but we are circulating your memo among our staff and you will hear from us if anything else turns up.

If your wanderings should happen to bring you near us, I hope you will do us the honor of coming by. I'd like to show you what we are doing here.

Sincerely,

Sebastian

Sebastian Sommer
Development Officer

SS/gb

July 26, 1962

Dr. James W. Kelsaw
Southern University
Department of Sociology
Baton Rouge, Louisiana

Dear Dr. Kelsaw:

Thank you for your letter of June 28. I have as yet had a chance to read only part way through your dissertation. I hope that I may be finished with it by the time you come through Atlanta.

I want to thank you again for your letter. It is not often that one person does another the favor of writing so honestly and engagingly about himself. If I may be permitted to respond with another kind of candor, I think you must accept the fact that until you make a mark in some activities lying beyond classroom teaching an organization such as ours cannot feel secure in appointing you to a senior professional position. I think you need to write and encounter the buffetings that come from matching your thoughts against the criticisms of others.

Within the last week we have filled the research position. One of the people with whom we had been talking turned out to satisfy our wishes and has accepted the spot.

I look forward to seeing you when you pass through Atlanta and to remaining in touch with you subsequently. I shall be on vacation August 5-9 and may perhaps be out of town on Council matters a day or so later in the month; so if you can give me advance notice of your schedule, I would be grateful.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director

LWD/mmj

SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY
SOUTHERN BRANCH POST OFFICE
BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA

RECEIVED
JUL 3 1962

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

June 28, 1962

Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Dr. Dunbar:

May I express appreciation for your letter of June 20.

Here is a copy of my dissertation. Perchance it will assist you through the difficulty encountered in making the needed evaluation.

The dissertation is the most objective piece of research and writing I can send you. My other academic efforts at research and writing are colored with an intense interest in race and region.

The non-racial thesis of the dissertation is not accidental. Washington State encouraged its Negro students to think and write beyond the level of race. I fought the policy for two and one-half years. The only C on my transcript was made in the process. I wanted to study Negro efforts to achieve equality in the South as a social movement. Finally, the matter became one of expediency. I could get the Ph. D. or continue the pursuit of my conception of truth. I took the degree.

But doing the dissertation was meaningful. Being a Negro and a Southerner had been the generating forces in my life. They would continue as such. Nevertheless, it was assuring to learn that my ability to reason, write, and manage a research problem possessed independent impetus.

My "honest reluctance to burst into print," if I may be frank, is a point of strength. It has enabled me to develop a maturity in perspective and orientation, a flexibility and creativity in procedure and execution. Your organization could release these through the performance of the "principal duties" Mr. Rillings specified as belonging to the Director of Research. In the process your organization could become, I firmly believe, the catalyzing force so urgently needed among efforts to make the South a decent place to live.

Before the summer session is over I will be presented with a contract which will require my service at Southern for the 1962-63 school year. My department head has already inquired as to my availability. I have been wondering if your leisurely fashion of filling the position includes as much time as a year. Perhaps you can let me know when I come through Atlanta enroute to Cleveland. Also, I will pick up the dissertation at that time.

Your regret "that we had to carry on our conversation under such unorthodox conditions" may be unfounded. Usually, the first impression that I make on people is "not too good"—be the setting orthodox or unorthodox. However, the experience of meeting you and the interaction we shared were, to me, unusually pleasing.

Sincerely,

James W. Kelsaw

James W. Kelsaw, Ph. D.

JWK/rom

Enclosure

December 28, 1965

Mr. Wendell H. Russell, Director
Southern Manpower Technical Assistance Program
P. O. Box 117
Oak Ridge, Tennessee 37831

Dear Mr. Russell:

Thank you for your survey report. I, and several others here, will read it soon. Under separate cover we are sending you our study of migrant farm workers "The Migrant Farmer", A Psychiatric Study by Robert Coles, M.D. Others are available if you have need of them.

All good wishes for the New Year.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony
Executive Director

PA/km

Enc.

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT

"SO" GENERAL

REGARDING

"Souther Accents-Northern Ghettos," by William Peters documentary produced for ABC News

DATE

July 1967

(SEE)
NAME OR SUBJECT

American Broadcasting File

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT

Southern Consumers' Education Foundation

REGARDING

Letter from L. W. Dunbar to Father McKnight regarding proposal.

DATE

7-7-67

(SEE)
NAME OR SUBJECT

FIELD FOUNDATION

Set up file on this
WK Card also

COPY

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE Washington University, St. Louis 5, Missouri

September 30, 1957

Dr. John W. Davis
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People
107 West Forty-third Street
New York, New York

Dear Dr. Davis

Mr. Frederick D. Patterson of the Phelps-Stokes Fund suggested that I contact you regarding a possible survey of the employment position and prospects of Negro public school teachers. I understand you have gathered a good deal of information on this subject and that perhaps we might gain your assistance.

Various groups in Saint Louis have urged that our Institute investigate the employment experience of qualified Negro teachers, particularly where desegregation has occurred and - depending on the facts - advance the development of an appropriate action program. There are many rumors as to how many teachers have been fired or not hired in Missouri, but one fact is established. The Negro teachers graduated from Washington University since 1956 and desiring school employment are unable to work as teacgers or they are limited to southern schools. We would like to appraise the situation in Missouri. The study might be extended to Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland, and West Virginia.

Our Institute, on Washington University funds, can provide only partial support for the inquiry. Professor Stuart Queen is prepared to direct an inquiry with the aid of competent research assistants, and we estimate in addition to the University resources that can be put into the project we need something like $4000 for this study.

Please let me have your reactions to this letter at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours

(initialled)

N. J/ Demerath
Director

ngp

("No Show" carbon to Dr. John Hope, II)

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE — Put here file — File

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
St. Louis 5, Missouri

COPY

December 14, 1957

Dr. John W. Davis
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People
107 West 43rd Street
New York, New York

Dear Dr. Davis

We were glad to receive your good letter this week confirming the meeting at Phelps-Stokes, 101 Park Avenue, at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, the 18th.

To those who will be present, I am mailing copies of the project proposal for their comment and discussion.

Thank you so much for your helpfulness.

Sincerely

N. J. Demerath
Director

ngp
Enc.

cc: Dr. F. D. Patterson
cc: Professor Walter Ridley
cc: Dr. Wilton Dillon
cc: Mr. Harold Fleming
cc: Mr. John Hope II

December 14, 1957
Draft for Comment

DESEGREGATION AND THE EMPLOYMENT OF NEGRO PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

A Research Proposal
By
The Social Science Institute
Washington University in St. Louis

The Problem:

Some time ago a professor of music at Washington University suggested that the Social Science Institute undertake the study here proposed. Along with other members of the faculty he had found the placement of Negro graduates increasingly difficult. His memorandum contained the following account of the problem.

> "The shortage of school teachers is an acute and growing national problem, as attested to by newspaper and magazine articles, and assertions almost daily by varied authorities. It is said that the shortage of teachers is impossible to solve without drastic changes in educational practices plus enormous efforts for recruitment of teachers. Educational television, teaching assistants, and other devices are being tried out in various parts of the country in an attempt to alleviate the situation.
>
> "The situation in Missouri is no less grave. This is particularly true since Missouri is one of the ten lowest states in terms of average salaries paid to public school teachers. As a border state, Missouri has many of the traditions and attitudes of the South. Prior to the Supreme Court decisions on segregation in public schools, a segregated pattern of education was followed in the state with Negro students being taught by Negro teachers. There were almost no exceptions to this practice. Following the decision, Missouri schools were among the first to effect desegregation. At the present time only a few Missouri schools continue to follow actively a policy of segregation.
>
> "Some months after the beginning of desegregation in Missouri, persons active in teacher training and teacher placement noticed a decided decrease in calls for Negro elementary and high school teachers. An equally alarming situation was brought to the attention of the public by newspaper articles. Negroes were being dismissed from positions they had held previously in segregated school districts. In some instances, suits have been brought against school boards, and in other cases similar threats have been made. Perhaps the most publicized of these cases of discriminatory practices in the employment and discharging of teaching personnel was in Moberly.

"At the present time it appears to persons interested in teacher placement that Negro teachers can be placed in almost no teaching positions, in Missouri, except those schools in which desegregation has been resisted, or in those which are located in areas populated entirely by Negroes and therefore with a 100% Negro enrollment. Many commercial teacher placement agencies are unwilling even to accept a Negro applicant as a client."

A number of other people -- including officers of prominent action agencies in St. Louis and in the South -- have confirmed the impressions of the faculty members and also urged the inquiry. The facts of this employment picture in one or more of the border states where desegregation has progressed -- how many teachers are fired, or not hired -- and, especially, knowledge of their social and cultural mechanisms involved need to be assembled and analyzed. This enterprise would provide an empirical basis for action than in the South where the largest numbers of Negro teachers are, and in the northern cities where shortages of teachers (and of particular interest, "science teachers") are so acute.

Approach:

The Social Science Institute, with the cooperation of the Washington University Graduate Institute of Education, proposes inquiry over a period of 6 to 8 months that would yield the following information for Missouri:

(1) Teacher employment policies in the public schools, nature and changes since 1954, by type of school district and community.

(2) Patterns of personal experience (perceptions, attitudes, beliefs) among teachers, would-be teachers, professional officers and members of lay boards.

(3) Suggestions for further inquiry perhaps, taking the Missouri inquiry as a "pilot study".

(4) Suggestions for programs of orientation and intervention aimed at several strategic audiences.

The study would move through the following phases and methods:

I. Reconnaisance of literature and research planning; including sampling procedures, schedule construction and testing, analysis plan. (1-2 months)

II. Data collection, chiefly by personal interviewing (2-3 months)

III. Analysis and writing. (2-3 months)

Administration and Budget:

As the University's agent for the project, the Social Science Institute would be responsible for staffing and providing general supervision. The Graduate Institute of Education would assist in these matters, and also facilitate public school contacts in the State. The project would be conducted primarily by its own Director, a faculty member, and his assistants. The Institute would provide office facilities and services. A full range of statistical equipment and services is available through the University's Computer Center. The project would benefit from a small Advisory Committee (a standard device for institute studies), and limited consulting carefully planned.

Budget estimates for the 6 to 8 month project period are as follows:

Study director (summer grant-in-aid only)	$1,800
Consultant	250
Research assistants (2)	3,750
Data tabulating and processing	300
Travel	1,200
Special typing services	1,000
Overhead (10%)	830
Total	$9,130

January 17, 1958

Mr. N. J. Demerath, Director
The Social Science Institute
Washington University
St. Louis 5, Missouri

Dear Nick:

A thousand apologies for my delinquency on the thirty minute memo. I guess I am the kind of guy who makes such suggestions without any thought of carrying them out himself.

As everyone says under these circumstances, I have been locked-jammed since our meeting - plus the fact that I know very little about the teacher-displacement problem. In order not to flunk out completely, I asked Emory Via of our staff to cast up what we know about ~~matters~~ on this subject and to outline such ideas as occured to him. Enclosed is a memo by him, including a bibliographical summary at the end, and copies of two issues of New South that had something to say about teacher integration. materials

I need hardly ~~to~~ say that the projected study will be of great help to us in developing programs consistent with our role that will facilitate the proper use of Negro teachers in desegregating systems. This means mainly fact and interpretation through publications, dealings with the press and other media, and direct consultation with educators and community groups. For that reason, I am particularly interested in what you may discover about the fears, preconceptions, and myths that determine decisions in this field - and of course the positive efforts that have dispelled them in given situations.

It was good to be with you last month, though I regret that we had no chance for less formal conversation. I hope we can remedy that soon.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
Enclosures: Memo by Emory F. Via on "Negro Teachers and Desegregation"
New South - December/1955; April/1957

January 17, 1958

MEMORANDUM

To: Harold C. Fleming

From: Emory F. Via

Re: Negro Teachers and Desegregation

This memo is in answer to your request for ideas relative to the problems of Negro teachers in the desegregation process. I am not conversant with the existing studies in this field, but I would guess that there are problems which have not received satisfactory attention. Some of these problems are matters of attitude, others are more in the nature of relating more readily obtainable factual information to this specific problem. Here are a few categorized comments which are meant to be suggestive:

I School Administrators.

a) To what do they respond in making their decisions regarding problems of teacher integration: their own personal prejudices, community fears, superiors, policy boards, regard for their professional standing, some particular group affiliation, or a particular set of values (e.g. strong adherence to democratic ideals, or to the "mandates" of the education profession)?

b) Administrative dodges to the proper use of Negro teachers.

c) Relate points (a) and (b) to the policy or political bodies responsible for the educational system.

II Negro Teacher Problems.

a) A report of the activities, materials, or personal contacts, that aided in the positive adjustment to a desegregated situation.

b) Teacher age, recency of training, and type of training, relative to the kind of adaptation to the desegregated situation.

c) Character of contacts with whites prior to desegregation as a key to successful participation in an integrated system.

d) The status of the Negro teacher in the Negro community once she is not identified with an all-Negro school. This assumes that Negro teachers generally occupy a high status position in their own communities and that white teachers generally occupy a much lower status in their communities.

e) How do the provisions for teacher tenure affect the placement of teachers in a desegregated system? Is tenure provided by law, contract, administrative decision, and is it guaranteed in part by a professional association or union? If problems of tenure are to be considered I would urge that contact be made with the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, and especially with their counsel, to get as broad an understanding as possible of the difficulties inherent in tenure problems even without the additional factor of desegregation.

III White Teacher Problems.

a) A report of the activities, materials, or personal contacts, that aided in the positive adjustment to a desegregated situation.

b) Teacher age, recency of training, and type of training, relative to the kind of adaptation to the desegregated situation.

c) Character of contacts with Negroes prior to desegregation as a key to successful participation in an integrated system.

d) The status of the white teacher in the white community once she is not identified with an all-white school. This assumes that white teachers generally occupy a much lower status position in their own communities than Negro teachers do in the Negro community.

e) How do the provisions for teacher tenure affect the placement of teachers in a desegregated system? Is tenure provided by law, contract, administrative decision, and is it guaranteed in part by a professional association or union?

IV Problems with Parents.

a) Attitudes of parents of white students under the Negro teacher, and vice versa.

b) The impact of scholastic competition when it becomes bi-racial. This might well be a point for some student attitude research.

V Miscellaneous.

a) Information on the "how" of desegregating faculties; relatively little attention, for instance, has been given to the problem of sending white faculty members to previously all-Negro schools.

b) Are there any indications toward possible federal or state programs or grants to subsidise the money loss or training needs during the transition period.

c) What information lacks, adherence to myths, etc. complicate the teacher's dealing with students of the other race? Is this reflected in such matters as compensatory behaviour, undue leniency and/or severity relative to the necessity for showing impartiality, for example?

"Kentucky is Successfully Integrating its Teachers" Report prepared by Kentucky Council on Human Relations.	New South April 1957
"Teacher Integration in St. Louis" By Margaret Dagen.	New South December 1955
"What of the Negro Teacher?"	The Harvard Crimson Special Supplement June 14, 1956
"Some Negro Teachers Favor School Segregation" Chapter 4 of "Jim Crow Schools on Trial" By Carl Rowan.	Reprinted from December 1953 Minneapolis Morning Tribune
"Desegregation at Work: Progress and Problems" By Henry Lee Moon.	The Nation December 18, 1954
"Balm for a Troubled Conscience" By Algo D. Henderson.	The Educational Record July 1954
"What Happens when Segregation Ends" By Cabell Phillips.	New York Times Magazine May 30, 1954
"Negro Teachers in 'Integrated' School Systems" By Paul Cooke and Inez Imogene Hairston.	The Delta Journal 1954
"Consider the Negro Teacher" By Nick Aaron Ford.	The New Republic April 15, 1957
"Let's Integrate Our Teachers" By Paul Simon.	The Christian Century February 20, 1957
"462 Negro Teachers Out, Many Land in New Jobs"	Southern School News November 1956

It is my understanding that there is a report of some New Jersey experience following the adoption of their new constitution in 1950. I believe that this is the Thoms Rivers report.

It might be useful to refer to "Schools in Transition", "Citizens Guide to Desegregation", the annual ACLU report, AJC's most recent "The People Take the Lead", and "A Miracle of Social Adjustment."

Possible other sources for leads, unevaluated by me, are the National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers, 123 South Queen Street, Dover, Maryland, and Rupert Picott, Executive Secretary, Virginia Teachers' Association, Clay Street at 4th, Richmond 19, Virginia, whom I understand is also the national head of the Negro teachers' associations.

RECEIVED DEC 26 1957

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
St. Louis 5, Missouri

COPY

MEMORANDUM

Dr. F. O. Patterson
Dr. O'Hara Lanier
Dr. Wilton Dillon
Dr. Aaron Brown
Mr. Elwood Chisholm
Dr. John W. Davis
Dr. H. C. Trenholm
Prof. Walter Ridley
Mr. Harold Fleming
Mr. John Hope II

Harold:
~~Gentlemen:~~

Please remember the "30 minute memos" each of you agreed to write up by January 5th. Your personal ideas for a practical study of The Negro Public School Teacher and Desegregation will be indispensable in our developing an efficient survey of maximum usefulness.

For your guidance, we seek anything each of you, individually and privately, have to say on these points:

(1) emphases of the survey,
(2) methods of data collection,
(3) existing data sources,
(4) analysis and presentation,
(5) uses of the study by your organization or otherwise.

Our meeting in New York was most rewarding, I believe. As soon as we get your comments, we will prepare the prospectus for presentation to likely sponsors.

Thanks much -- and season's greetings.

Nick

N. J. Demerath
Director

ngp
12-23-57

Memo FROM THE DESK OF EMORY VIA 37

To HCF:

The teacher memo was really a joint effort: MV was suggestive and aided me in getting down to specifics; MM laid up the materials on hand; FBR gave leads to resources and a couple of major ideas; Yan suggested the appropriate organization, etc.

The whole thing, since Nick responded and sent his proposal, is a neat package showing SRC's hand in developing research. Nick bought nearly our whole memo! Documenting our more informal and left-handed aid to others is difficult. I'd save this excerpt.

E.V.

1/30/58

January 24, 1958
Draft

DESEGREGATION AND THE EMPLOYMENT OF NEGRO PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

A research Proposal
by
The Social Science Institute
Washington University in St. Louis

The Problem:

As school desegregation occurs in the border states, and then in the areas farther south, will public school teachers also desegregate in their employment? Will Negro teachers be absorbed or rejected? Will other Negroes be attracted to teaching careers or repelled? These developments over the next few years will be of great importance to education in the United States at a time when education has assumed an unusually critical place in our national picture. What happens also will affect utilization of the national manpower, a resource that is ill squandered.

The Negroes' future in the teaching profession will be shaped by the decisions of school boards, teachers, parents, potential teachers, and a variety of opinion makers and school officials. These decisions, in turn, can and will be shaped by competing action programs mounted by educational, political and religious groups. Some of these programs will seek absorption, some will seek rejection, and others will attempt to be indifferent. The research here proposed starts from the premise that action programs in behalf of absorption deserve the support of social scientific inquiry under independent auspices. In other words, this is a proposal for action research in behalf of a social policy objective, but with no commitments as to the particular directions that the facts or suggestions will take.

The study is conceived as a pilot investigation over a period of six to eight months that would serve to outline a workable method and attract support and cooperation for a more definitive and more extensive survey to be conducted, perhaps from various quarters, following the completion of the pilot study. This first investigation in itself, however, is expected to provide some practical knowledge and suggestions for testing by action agencies. It should also provide theoretical scientific knowledge of decision making in a race relations context.

Approach:

As noted later, the actual study design would be developed during the first two months of the pilot study. On the basis of discussions between an informal advisory group, which met in New York in December, and other discussions held at Washington University and in St. Louis, a general approach or plan is outlined here.

The study will be made within a universe of school system-community situations, typed or classified on the basis of various "environmentalist" researches; including, for example, the Social Science Research Council's studies in the 1930's of cotton prices and lynching, as well as the recent research by Williams and Ryan, "Schools in Transition", 1956. It is expected that perhaps eight to ten types of school system-community situations would be identified, ranging from the metropolitan area with more than 500,000 persons, culturally heterogeneous, and with a mixed economy of varied industry, trade, and services on the one hand, to small rural situations with single crop agriculture and no manufacturing. One assumption or hypothesis behind the selection of a universe of such school system-community types is that there may be an ecology of absorption-rejection of Negro teachers. Another assumption is that there will be important differences from type to type in social relations and value systems affecting the employment of Negro teachers.

For each type situation, two actual school system-community situations where desegregation of students has occurred will be selected. In one of these, desegregation of teachers will have occurred with success, and in the second, they will have failed. Thus, we would have a sample of 16 to 20 communities located as near as possible to St. Louis, but not necessarily in the states of Missouri or Illinois.

This pilot study would probably rely mainly on personal interviewing in depth and with a fairly open format. It may be that some fixed choice, highly focused interviewing or questionnairing can be used later in the study, depending on the patterns of response that emerge from the first personal interviewing. Data collection will be centered on processes of decision and composite elements that lay behind the absorption or rejection of Negro teachers in desegregated schools.

In particular, we will be seeking data on the knowledge and belief, the values and attitudes, the motivations, fears, and anxieties that have gone into decisions to act or not act with respect to the problem. Also, the interaction processes which occur between individuals or categories and groups of persons will be of central importance. In this latter connection, we would look especially for sequences and for the functions of various situational factors in the decisive processes. For example, what difference is there between the situation with a strong board and strong superintendent on the one hand, and the weak superintendent and weak board, or mixed possibility, on the other?

There would seem to be five kinds of people and social roles of particular importance in these decision-making processes:

(pg 6)

(1) "Policy" board members,
(2) School administrators, local and perhaps state,
(3) Negro teachers,
(4) White teachers,
(5) Parents,
(6) Children.

For each of these categories, certain questions come to mind on the basis of random observation and advice.

Taking the board members and administrators, a memorandum from the Southern Regional Council asks: To what do they respond in making their decision on teacher integration--personal prejudices, community fears, the perceived attitudes of their supervisors, regard for their professional status, particular group affiliations, factual knowledge, underlying political or social-ethical attitudes? Taking the Negro teacher, one wonders about the background factors responsible for positive or negative adjustments in desegregated situations. Of what importance are age, time and type of training, character of personal contacts with whites before desegregation? Also, what happens to the Negro teacher's status in the Negro community once she is not identified with an all-Negro school? Does this concern become a factor in the Negro teacher's decision-making? And how do provisions for teacher tenure affect placement in desegregated systems? What about the white teachers, their backgrounds, previous contact with Negroes, and so forth, as factors in decision-making and adjustment vis-a-vis desegregated situations? What about the problem of sending white teachers to previously all-Negro schools? Are there experiences here and if so what can be learned? Finally, what of the knowledge, beliefs, and sentiments of parents and of children? How do these figure in the decision processes of school administrators and of teachers? Under what conditions are they of importance, and what are the effects of various kinds of leadership from school boards and other community groups? What information gaps, beliefs and attitudes make teachers' dealings with students across race lines more difficult? Is this reflected in such matters as compensatory behavior, undue leniency and/or severity relative to the necessity for showing impartiality, for example?

Results:

A variety of product is conceivable from even this modest pilot study. It is recognized, to begin with, that some action agencies and groups would be entitled to certain facts and advice coming from the study. These agencies, presumably, would be represented in an advisory body to the research staff. At the same time, the research director would make the ultimate decisions with reference to the planning and execution of the research. Also within his jurisdiction would be the publication of technical results in scientific journals, once he has consulted the advisory body as to the political or policy implications of this type of publication. As to the publication or other use of research results--for example, in training conferences, pamphlets, and so forth--these matters would fall within the jurisdiction of the advisory body, though in these cases the research staff would be consulted insofar as their competence in the applied area warrants.

In noting such arrangements as those outlined immediately above, the informal advisory group assembled in December, as well as research personnel, are aware of the highly sensitive and potent nature of the kind of inquiry envisaged here. A major result of the pilot study may be some kind of measured experiment with pre-selected action alternatives aimed at certain attitude and policy shifts. Or, a comparative analysis of the effectiveness of this or that kind of strategy or appeal in various type school-community situations may be indicated.

At the same time, it is also recognized that there is no hard and fast line between action research and theoretical research. It is planned that the pilot investigation outlined briefly here will yield new knowledge of decision-making processes, as well as new knowledge of the processes of desegregation and integration of different racial groups and subcultures.

Administration and Budget:

As the University's agent for the project, the Social Science Institute would be responsible for staffing and providing general supervision. The University's Graduate Institute of Education, as well as various educational leaders, both Negro and white, lay and professional, would assist in these matters, and also facilitate public school contacts. The project would be conducted primarily by its own Director and his assistants. The Institute would provide office facilities and services. A full range of statistical equipment and services is available through the University's Computer Center. The project would benefit from an Advisory Committee to the Director (as noted above).

Budget estimates for the 6 to 8 month project period are as follows:

Study director (summer grant-in-aid and release from teaching)	$3,000
Research assistants	3,700
Travel and per diem	2,000
Special typing services	1,000
Overhead (10%)	970
Total	$10,670

The study would move through the following phases and methods:

I. Reconnaisance of literature and research planning; including sampling procedures, schedule construction and testing, analysis plan. (1-2 months)

II. Data collection, chiefly by personal interviewing. (2-3 months)

III. Analysis and writing. (2-3 months)

N.J.D.

mih

RECEIVED JAN 29 1958

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
St. Louis 5, Missouri

January 24, 1958

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold

Don't apologize for your delinquency, especially when you sent me such a useful memorandum. Please convey my thanks to Mr. Via. I borrowed heavily in my re-draft of the proposal which I have sent to Phelps-Stokes and Wilton Dillon for their comment. Here is a copy for you and Via and John Hope and anyone else who wants to look at it in the next ten days. Then I want to give it the final wrap-up and take it to the potential donor, but I hope for your candid criticism, if any.

Cordially yours

Nick

N. J. Demerath
Director

neg
Enc:

Rec 2/17

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
St. Louis 5, Missouri

COPY

February 13, 1958

Dr. John Hope II
Race Relations Department
Fisk University
Nashville 8, Tennessee

Dear John

I, too, am sorry to have missed you in New York. There ought to be some kind of bulletin board in mid-town Manhattan showing who is in town and when. Maybe the Social Science Research Council could keep such a clearing house, and we could simply check in when we arrive. This assumes that enough of us have both the time and the inclination to do this.

The enclosed carbon of my letter to Ron Lippitt is, I think, self-explanatory. How we could possibly organize anything before May or June I don't visualize, but maybe I am just too long in North Carolina!

I have heard nothing more from Wilton, but it is my understanding that Dr. Patterson will usher the revised version of the project to the money sources.

Sincerely

N. J. D.
mlh

N. J. Demerath

mlh
Enc.

cc: Dr. Pendleton Herring
Dr. Wilton Dillon
Dr. Herman H. Long
Mr. Harold C. Fleming

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE
Washington University
St. Louis 5, Missouri

February 13, 1958

Dr. Ronald Lippitt
Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences
202 Junipero Serra Blvd.
Stanford, California

Dear Ron

How goes your year in sunny California? I must say I envy you what with snow 12 inches deep and my work basket about the same.

Several months ago, as a member of the Advisory Committee to the Society for Applied Anthropology, you suggested the prospect of one or more seminars to be attended by practitioners and research people. In Chicago, at the time of the American Anthropology meetings just after Christmas, about 15 members of the Applied Anthropology Executive Committee and Advisory Committee had two discussions. All of us thought well of your idea. More specifically, I was advised to suggest to you that one of the proposed seminars, and the sooner the better, might well deal with research and related action in the race relations area.

John Hope and the group around the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta, have inquired as to our interest in such an undertaking. Their rough notes on the idea accompany my letter to you. It occurred to our group in Chicago that this would be an excellent undertaking for the SPISSI and SAA and, with some reservations, perhaps, for the sociologists' Society for the Study of Social Problems as well.

Do let me have your reaction to this idea as soon as you can, plus any other thoughts you may have as a member of our Advisory Committee. Incidentally, the annual meetings will be held at Syracuse, New York, April 3, 4, 5, and the detailed program will be announced in the forthcoming issue of Human Organization, due out the end of this month.

Cordially yours

N. J. D.

N. J. Demerath
President

mlh

cc: Dr. John Hope II
Race Relations Department
Fisk University
Nashville 8, Tennessee
Dr. Wilton Dillon
Dr. Herman H. Long
Mr. Harold C. Fleming

FROM N. J. Demerath, Director
The Social Science Institute
Washington University
St. Louis 5, Missouri

TO Mr. Harold C. Fleming, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

WITH THE COMPLIMENTS OF

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
St. Louis 5, Missouri

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT

SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

SAINT LOUIS 5, MISSOURI

THE FACULTY ADVISORY BOARD

Professors

MARION E. BUNCH . . . . . (PSYCHOLOGY)
NICHOLAS J. DEMERATH . . . . . (CHAIRMAN)
THOMAS H. ELIOT . . . . . (POLITICAL SCIENCE)
WILLIAM EMORY . . . . . (BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION)
LEWIS E. HAHN. . . . . (DEAN, GRADUATE SCHOOL)
THOMAS HALL . . . . . (DEAN, LIBERAL ARTS)
WERNER HIRSCH . . . . . (ECONOMICS)
RICHARD LYMAN . . . . . (HISTORY)
GERALD NADLER . . . . (INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING)
ROBERT J. SCHAEFER . . . . . (EDUCATION)
ROBERT E. SHANK . . . . . (PREVENTIVE MEDICINE)
CARL TOLMAN (VICE CHANCELLOR, DEAN OF FACULTIES)

THE COMMITTEE OF THE UNIVERSITY COUNCIL

MRS. IRVIN BETTMAN, JR.

MRS. INGRAM F. BOYD, JR.

MR. RUSSELL L. DEARMONT

MR. N. J. DEMERATH (ACTING CHAIRMAN)

COLONEL H. SAM PRIEST

MR. EDWIN J. PUTZELL, JR.

MR. JAMES A SINGER

THE HONORABLE NOAH WEINSTEIN

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT

of

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

(July 1, 1957-June 30, 1958)

The Institute's objective is "to further the social and behavioral sciences and their practical applications". Professional personnel are retained only on a specific project or program basis, and are appointed chiefly from the University's regular corps of faculty and students. Thus, most of the salaries of faculty associated with the Institute are carried on departmental budgets. Financial support comes from contracts, grants, gifts, and University funds.

In its second year of operation, the Institute received $15,000 from the University. In addition, $150,000 came from contracts, grants, and gifts. What was accomplished on the basis of this financial outlay?

Central Office Services:

Seven book manuscripts typed and proofread by the central office staff was, perhaps, the most concrete contribution to scholarly work during the year. These were as follows:

Professors Eliot, Chambers, and Salisbury (in part), "American Government: Problems for Analysis"
Professor Robert Miller, "For the Welfare of Gods and Men"
Dr. Beatrice Miller (draft only), "Lamas and Laymen"
Dr. Burton Weisbrod (also a doctoral dissertation), "Nature and Measurement of the Economic Benefits of Improvement in Public Health"
Professor Harold Heye, "The Red Trade Opposition of Germany, 1928-1933"

Dr. Ronald Ridker (partial manuscript on the subject of Norwegian economic decision making)

In addition to the book manuscripts, more than 30 papers, monographs, chapters, memoranda were handled for the following members of the faculty: Bovard, Bunch, Carpenter, deCharms, Demerath (excluding Institute administrative work), Gerhard, Hamblin, Henry, Hexter, Hirsch, Kaplan, Macridis, Martin. For the Midwest Sociologist (editor Professor Paul Campisi), two issues were proofread and given editorial assistance. Accordingly, the scholarly work of six departments was advanced in some measure by this central office contribution, namely, Psychology, Economics, Education, History, Political Science, Sociology and Anthropology.

Specially Financed Research Projects:

"The Values Project", whose mentors are Professors Ralph Patrick and Huston Smith, was well along toward completion by the end of the fiscal year. Its financing had been assured by the end of fiscal '57. In cooperation with the University's Office of Television Activities and station KETC, the project will culminate in some 36 half-hour educational television programs on the theme "The Search for America", an application of social scientific and philosophical analysis to educational television. Scores of Americans, distinguished as well as little-known, were the "actors" in these highly original and promising productions. It may be that this project will provide a pattern for future applications of social science through the television medium. Support came from the National Educational Television and Radio Center in Ann Arbor, Michigan, a Ford Foundation undertaking.

The Adolescent Behavior Program, directed by Professor Robert Hamblin, began during the year, and is continuing during 1958-59 and perhaps beyond. Professor Hamblin has had an advisory committee composed of Dr. Norman Orgel (M.D.), Father Trafford Maher, S.J., of St. Louis University, and Mrs. Josephine Brown, Executive Director of the Missouri Social Hygiene Association. Dr. Hamblin has interviewed, with the help of a number of graduate student assistants, high school students throughout the metropolitan area. He is testing a number of theoretical propositions pertaining to the formation of behavioral norms and the dynamics of "deviant behavior" among young people. His preliminary reports have attracted favorable attention nationally, and his work with a Social Science Research Council seminar in Santa Monica at the Rand Corporation in the summer of 1958 will aid his research here and elsewhere.

For a continuation of his analysis of metropolitan economic growth and development, Professor Werner Hirsch had an Institute research assistant for part of the past year, as well as central office support. Professor Hirsch, with the help of his assistant, has finished at least four major papers dealing with inter-industry flow and the implications of metropolitan growth and intergovernmental consolidation. These papers represent a continuation of data analysis begun during the course of the Metropolitan St. Louis Survey. This stipend for Professor Hirsch's assistant came out of the central Institute budget.

To begin a population program on the St. Louis area, Professor Carpenter was given the services of a research assistant during the year. The objective here was to establish a variety of data series as a basis for identifying population trends in greater St. Louis, the data to be available to students, community agencies, and to firms. From this work there came two papers dealing with certain population characteristics and trends in one of the county school districts. This research assistantship was supported from the central Institute budget.

For the autumn 1958 meeting of the St. Louis White House Conference on Education, Professors Hirsch, Lee, and Unruh, with the assistance of Mrs. Peter Rosen, prepared background materials dealing principally with the financing of public education in the St. Louis area, in the state and nation. Most of this work was done in May and June on a grant from an anonymous donor. By their services to this community group, the faculty members involved have helped discharge part of the University's responsibility to the improvement of public education in the St. Louis area as well as more generally. The Institute's role here was one of coordination and provision of office services.

New Programs and Proposals for Financing:

A major task of the Institute's Director, in every instance working with members of the faculty, has been to develop and negotiate proposals for support of research and graduate education. During the past year, seven specific proposals were developed and forwarded to likely sources of financial support.

The greatest activity and achievement has been in the field of health research. This emphasis is justified, we feel, in view of the needs in the St. Louis area and the University's Medical School, the growing importance of social research in health in the social science profession, and the availability of funds. Accordingly, the Institute has aided the development of two proposals and two major personnel appointments in this field.

The National Institute of Mental Health has granted approximately $30,000 a year for five years (beginning June 1, 1958) in support of a training program of social scientists in mental health research, with particular reference to public health and preventive aspects. The Institute, in cooperation with the St. Louis County Health Department and two committees of the faculty (Advisory Committee, Technical Committee), will carry out this program leading to the Ph.D. either in sociology or psychology. Initially there will be four fellowships or "traineeships" available for graduate students beyond the M.A. level and some $17,000 for various outlays in support of the training program.

Awaiting a site visit in the fall is a proposal to the Commonwealth Fund, requesting support for research in a variety of health problems. This program will involve a number of people in the social science departments, as well as in Psychiatry, Preventive Medicine and Public Health, and certain of the hospitals.

The Institute, in cooperation with the Departments of Psychiatry, Sociology and Anthropology, and the Jewish Hospital, has participated in the recruitment and appointment of two assistant professors who will be working in the field of medical sociology and who took up their duties about September 1st--Dr. Albert Wessen from the University of Vermont, with a Ph.D. from Yale; and Dr. David Pittman from the University of Rochester, with a Ph.D. from Chicago. These men, in addition to the present faculty resources in both general and specialized aspects of social science applications to health, will give the University and the community one of the best facilities in the country for research and graduate training in this important and fast-developing field.

City and regional analysis is a second area in which the Institute, in cooperation with the faculty, seeks to develop further program and facility. Thus, we have participated in the development of a proposal to give technical assistance to the comprehensive planning and development of the Meramec Valley watershed area. The work on this problem should give several of our faculty opportunities for research and application, and it should also aid a number of graduate students both financially and professionally. The proposal for this has gone forward from Dean Passonneau of Architecture, Dean Fischer of Engineering, and the Institute Director, acting in behalf of the University, to the newly formed Meramec Basin Corporation. Professor Roger Montgomery of Architecture began work in the summer of 1958 on certain aspects of this problem, and we now seek a Director of a Meramec Basin Technical Office on at least a two-year basis, who may also aid in the development of a planning curriculum and a continuing research program in metropolitan research and planning. The projected financing would come to something like $80,000 to $100,000 a year over a period of two to three years, though not all of this amount would be utilized by Washington University.

In the industrialization field, a proposal has been presented variously in behalf of the research being done in Mexico by Professors Merle Kling and Joseph A. Kahl on the social and political consequences of industrialization in that country. To date, only a few hundred dollars support has been attracted to this project. Several St. Louis corporations have expressed their interest in this research by granting entree to their plants, their workers, and by aiding in contacts in Mexico as well as here. The nature of the project is such that it does not fall clearly within the sphere of operations of many of the larger foundations.

Support for the establishment of a "Small Groups Research Center", with a laboratory facility, several research assistantships, and other forms of aid, was requested by Professors Bovard of Psychology, deCharms, Graduate Institute of Education, and Hamblin, Sociology and Anthropology. [The Office of Naval Research granted support in the amount of $21,000 a year, 3 year basis, beginning in September 1958.] Laboratory facilities will be established in Ellenwood House, where the Institute's offices will also be housed in December 1958.

In the field of crime and corrections, the Institute, in cooperation with a number of faculty members and community leaders, has planned a conference on correctional policy to be held the first week in December 1958 at the University. To plan this conference, $500 was obtained by one of the interested civic leaders. The purpose of the conference will be to focus attention on the problems of correctional policy that confront Missouri and the opportunities and need for research and professional training in this part of the country. About 35 to 40 people will be invited to the conference, including leading professionals from the country and state, principal political figures, and judicial people from the state and nation. It is conceived as a kind of policy debate or discussion, with, hopefully, a product in the form of some kind of report and organized follow-up for the state and University.

Faculty Discussion Groups:

During the year there have been a number of faculty groups that have been more or less self-initiated and which have met with some regularity. Some of these groups have had a major part in developing the specific proposals referred to in the preceding section; first, a group on social research in health, which has included faculty from Sociology, Economics, Psychiatry, and Preventive Medicine--by name, O'Neal, Winokur, Guzé, Eli Robins, Lee Robins, Kantor, Glidewell, Weisbrod, Demerath; and for the Meramec Valley proposal, a group which has met around the common interest in urban studies, including Hirsch from Economics, McCandless from Political Science, Montgomery, Maki, and Passonneau from Architecture, Bishop from Social Work, Carpenter and Demerath from Sociology.

With leadership from Professor McCandless and his colleagues in Political Science, the planning and development of a curriculum in public administration has begun. The Institute has aided some of the contact work here, though no proposal for financial support has been developed. As yet undefined are the nature of a research activity associated with this program, and the program's relation to a curriculum in city and regional planning considered by Architecture and the urban studies group noted above.

Professors Kahl and Kling constitute a two-man team, and it is they who developed the Mexican study proposal.

Other groups that have met with some regularity, though they have not as yet developed concrete proposals or programs, include the following. In the field of industrial research, Professor Gomberg of Industrial Engineering has been the secretary for a group that has met at least six times during the past year and has included Bunch and Meltzer from Psychology, Schoen and Towle from Business Administration, Nadler from Industrial Engineering, Kahl and Demerath from Sociology, and Sobel from Economics. This group has scrutinized the various course offerings and degree programs that involve human relations and institutional considerations in industrial settings. They have considered the possibility of a coordinate program of graduate training and research that would involve the specialties noted above.

Around a joint interest in "comparative studies", Professor Macridis of Political Science has met with numerous faculty in the social sciences. Although no stable group has emerged as yet, informal conversations and planning are expected to continue, looking toward support for research following a comparative method in various parts of the world. Macridis' work in France, Spector's in Malaya, and perhaps other researches by our faculty may gain from this kind of exchange.

In response to the need in St. Louis for more adequate applied research and support therefor, Chancellor Shepley, Judge Noah Weinstein and the Institute Director brought together a small group of St. Louis and Kansas City people in January to consider the needs and prospects. This led to the formation of a group of social agency and University people representing a variety of research interests in the metropolitan area. This group included Professor Henry Schmandt of St. Louis University (Political Science), Mr. Campbell Murphy, Executive Director of the Greater St. Louis Health and Welfare Council (formerly the Social Planning Council), Dr. George Ulett of the Malcolm Bliss Hospital, Mr. Kenneth Foresman of the Metropolitan Youth Commission, Mr. Victor Brannon of the Governmental Research Institute, and a representative of the Federal Reserve Bank. This group, so far unsuccessfully, has sought financing for a small coordinating and promotional staff whose functions would include (1) a clearing house of research bearing on metropolitan St. Louis problems, (2) arranging for technical assistance to agencies engaged in research, and (3) a variety of other functions aimed at stepping up the quantity and quality of data collection and analysis as a basis for social and economic policy and program in the metropolitan area.

The Institute "Coffee-Conferences":

More than a dozen of these Wednesday afternoon meetings were held during the course of the year. For some there were no formal programs, the meetings representing simply an opportunity for faculty members to meet and talk around coffee and cake in the late afternoon. For other conferences, there were speakers from our own faculty, as well as visiting scientists and scholars. The formal programs were as follows: November 6, discussion led by Professor Macridis on the question of the social sciences and their concern with questions of policy; November 13, Professor Patrick, the SSI's television project on values in American life; December 4, Professor Peter Rossi (University of Chicago), "Politics and Social Structure in Local Communities"; December 11, Professor Chandrasekhar (visiting at the University of Missouri), "India's Economic Problem and the Second Five-Year Plan"; March 19, Professor Lyman, "The First Labour Government in Britain"; April 9, Professor Sobel, "The Role of the Labor Force in Industrialization"; April 14, Professor Rosenthal (Philosophy, Columbia University), "Method and Substance in the Philosophy of Religion"; April 25, Dr. Singer, of the United Nations Secretariat, "The Concept of Balanced Growth in Economic Development"; May 7, Professor Sylvia Thrupp (History, University of Chicago), "Comparative Study in the Twentieth Century"; May 14, Professor Kahl, "What are Social Classes?"; May 21, Demerath, "The Work of the Social Science Institute in 1957-58".

Institute Personnel 1957-1958:

The staff--not including recipients only of summer grants, typing and other office services--was as follows.

1.	Robert Bell	Research Assistant (Psychology)
2.	Sarah Boggs	Research Assistant (Sociology)
3.	Carl Camp	Research Assistant (Economics)
4.	David Carpenter	Research Associate (Sociology)
5.	Richard deCharms	Research Associate (Social Psychology and Education)
6.	N. J. Demerath	Director

7.	Muriel E. Ferguson	Senior Research Assistant (Education)
8.	Nancy E. Gaines	Typist
9.	Howard Gall	Senior Research Assistant (Social Psychology)
10.	Robert Hamblin	Research Associate and Director of Adolescent Behavior Program (Sociology)
11.	Marilyn Harrington	Editor and Typist
12.	Werner Hirsch	Research Associate (Economics)
13.	Joseph A. Kahl	Research Associate (Sociology)
14.	Mrs. Beatrice Miller	Senior Research Assistant (Anthropology)
15.	Ralph Patrick	Research Associate and Director of Values Project (Anthropology)
16.	Mrs. Nancy G. Pendleton	Office Manager and Secretary
17.	Oliver Rose	Research Assistant (Sociology)
18.	Huston Smith	Research Associate and Co-Director of Values Project (Philosophy)
19.	James Wiggins	Research Assistant (Sociology)

Principal Needs:

The Institute's first report, for 1956-1957, listed seven needs or problems in the University-Institute situation. With reference to six of these, definite headway has been made in 1957-1958; (1) increased research competence in the faculty, (2) attraction of better qualified graduate students, (3) more diversified contacts and promotions, (4) more funds for social science research and graduate education, (5) improved library collections and scholarly services in general, (6) space.

The contacts and promotional work by several of the faculty and the Director have made the Institute better known in Washington and among the national foundations. The Institute's position within the University and in the St. Louis community needs to be strengthened. Almost the entire effort has gone to the promotion and establishment of a few specially financed faculty-student research programs, and the establishment of central office services for the faculty at large.

The Institute's principal space needs in the foreseeable future will be met by occupancy in December 1958 of a part of the Chancellor's old residence, "Ellenwood House," at 6510 Ellenwood Avenue. The laboratory and offices of the Small Groups Research Program will be on the second floor. The central offices will be on the first floor, east wing. The parlor and dining room will be available from time to time for special meetings and conferences.

Nicholas J. Demerath
Director
December, 1958

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT:

John Hope, II - Memo from Hope to Demerath of the Social Science Institute

REGARDING:

Proposed Inter-Disciplinary Conf. of Social Scientists

DATE:
Un-dated

(SEE)
NAME OR SUBJECT:

"Consultant Service Program - John Hope, II, Chief Consultant"

Memo FROM THE DESK OF PAUL ANTHONY

HCF:

B. A. Jones – Society for the Study of Social Problems

10 AM – Tuesday

MF – I saw this man about Nov. 25. Please file this for future reference.

HCF

THE SOCIETY FOR THE STUDY OF SOCIAL PROBLEMS

An Affiliate of the American Sociological Society and the International Sociological Association

January 27, 1959

Dear Mr. Fleming:

Your name has been selected from a nationwide list of people as one who would make a major contribution to a conference of sixty people meeting in New York City on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th of May (Friday through Sunday) to consider ways and means for improving strategy in handling the crucial issue of desegregation in the nation's schools. This is not a discussion meeting, though there will be keen discussion. Nor is it in any sense an occasion for publicity; as a matter of fact, the aims of the conference will be served much better without fanfare. Every effort will be made to keep the gathering on a confidential basis, and we respectfully urge you to treat the matter in this way. Rather, it is a work conference in which the best energies of each participant will be focussed on practical, realistic issues in concert with some of the best minds in the country.

The proposal is this: a joint meeting on an invitational basis of (1) influential leaders in Southern communities; (2) representatives of intergroup, governmental, and educational organizations who are responsible for policies affecting desegregation, and (3) social scientists who, because of their significant contributions and interest in practical issues, can furnish leads for both policy and policy-related research. Many of this latter group, of course, are also Southern and some of them have already made a beginning on research in this area. The present plan calls for a conference of sixty people, twenty from each of the above groups. By restricting it to this size, we can assure participation on the part of all who attend. In order to obtain the greatest results from the New York meeting, it is planned to have a nucleus from each of the three major groups hold a preliminary meeting in March or April to prepare an agenda for consideration at the larger conference in May.

The sponsoring organization is the Society for the Study of Social Problems, an organization composed of social scientists and others who are committed to the application of research as basic to the wise formulation of policy and to the choice of effective programs for the handling of social problems. It is an affiliate of the American Sociological Society.

The S.S.S.P. has submitted the plans for this conference to a major foundation, requesting financial assistance to pay the expenses of all delegates, both for preliminary meetings and the final conference. Although no decision can be made on this until the middle of February, the prospects appear hopeful. May we then ask whether you can keep the dates of May 22, 23 and 24 open on your calendar for us until we have word for or against our proposal? We recognize that you are a busy person and are "jumping the gun" only because we want to be sure of obtaining a place on your schedule before it is too late.

For your convenience we are enclosing a card and self-addressed envelope the return of which we would appreciate no later than February 1st.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours,

R. A. Schermerhorn

Richard A. Schermerhorn
President, S.S.S.P.

Enclosure

April 15, 1959

Dr. Butler A. Jones
Professor of Sociology
Ohio Wesleyan University
Delaware, Ohio

Dear Dr. Jones:

Thank you for your letter of April 14 with the welcome news that SSSP is planning to go ahead after all with its conference on desegregation and integration.

It is very kind of you and the other officers of the Society to include me in the limited list of those whose expenses will be paid. I am happy to accept and will look forward with anticipation to the meeting.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

Rcd 4/15/59

OHIO WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY

DELAWARE, OHIO

April 14, 1959

Dr. Harold C. Fleming, Director
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N.E.,
Atlanta, Georgia

My dear Dr. Fleming:

This letter comes as a follow-up of President Schermerhorn's January letter alerting you to the plans of the Society for the Study of Social Problems for a meeting on desegregation-integration to be held in May. You may recall that President Schermerhorn emphasized in his letter that the proposed conference was to be small in size, without fanfare or publicity, and attended by a select group of persons representative of a fairly wide geographic base. A prime aim of the conference would be to bring together representatives from the action and academic areas for two days of discussion and planning. During this period an effort would be made (1) to identify some of the kinds of issues which tend to subvert or block effective action programs, (2) if possible, to clarify and restate these issues as researchable problems, and (3) to plan a program of continuing research upon the now defined problems with the ultimate end of finding ways either of resolution or of reducing their significance as impediments to intelligent and effective action. President Schermerhorn also called attention to the fact that the Society had made application to one of the philanthropic foundations for financial support of the project.

Unfortunately, our request for support of our proposed May conference has been rejected by the Foundations. In consequence of this, our plans for conference have had to be reconsidered. Upon such reconsideration President Schermerhorn and the officers of the Society felt so strongly on the question of the worth of this conference that they have decided to proceed with its planning. The conference will be held in New York City at the Henry Hudson Hotel on May 22, 23, and 24, but the limited financial support which the Society can give to the conference has necessitated a further pruning of the list of invitees. For some of the original list of invitees this will mean that attendance will have to be at their own, or institutional, or agency expense. There are, however, some among those who initially indicated that they could attend such a conference only if their expenses were paid, whose presence at the conference is so much desired that the Society has entered upon a program of soliciting support in the form of small individual grants to cover their travel and attendance costs. I am happy to say that you are among this latter category of persons and I take pleasure in extending in the name of President Schermerhorn and officers of the SSSP a cordial invitation to attend the May conference. The Society will pay your airline, travel, hotel, and meal costs. I hope it will be possible for you to accept this invitation. May I hear from you in this regard at your earliest convenience?

Sincerely and cordially yours,

Butler A. Jones

Butler A. Jones
Professor of Sociology and
Chairman, 1959 Program Committee, SSSP

BAJ:ma

THE SOCIETY FOR THE STUDY OF SOCIAL PROBLEMS

An Affiliate of the American Sociological Society and the International Sociological Association

Dept of Sociology
Western Reserve Univ.
Cleveland 6, Ohio

RECEIVED MAY 8 1959

May 6, 1959

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
Wesley Memorial Building
Atlanta Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

Butler Jones writes that you are planning to attend our meeting on Integration in the Public Schools under the auspices of the Society for the Study of Social Problems, May 22-24 at the Henry Hudson Hotel in New York City. Since I am now making up the program for the meeting, I am writing to ask whether you have been able to call together in Atlanta a group of interested people who would be able to suggest some lines of strategy suitable for research as seen by the Southern laymen. We should like to have you present this as the lead off point for the discussion on Friday afternoon. If you cannot get such a group together, we should like to count on you to present your own views on the subject that afternoon. It would also help if you could at least send an outline of this to Professor Jessie Bernard, Department of Sociology, Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania before the meeting.

Hoping to hear from you soon,

Sincerely,

R. A. Schermerhorn

Richard A. Schermerhorn
President, S.S.S.P.

RAS:ds

CROSS REFERENCE SHEET

NAME OR SUBJECT:

Society for Study of Social Problems Conf.

REGARDING:

Hotel reservations at Henry Hudson Hotel

(SEE)
NAME OR SUBJECT:

Oscar Cohen, ADL, N. Y.
Ltr. dated May 11, 1959

ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE

of B'nai B'rith

515 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK 22, N.Y., PLaza 1-1800

NATIONAL COMMISSION

HENRY EDWARD SCHULTZ
Chairman

MEIER STEINBRINK
Honorary Chairman

BARNEY BALABAN
A. G. BALLENGER
FRANK R. S. KAPLAN
HERBERT H. LEHMAN
LEON LOWENSTEIN
WILLIAM SACHS
BENJAMIN SAMUELS
MELVIN H. SCHLESINGER
JESSE STEINHART
Honorary Vice-Chairmen

JOSEPH COHEN
JEFFERSON E. PEYSER
MAX J. SCHNEIDER
Vice-Chairmen

JACOB ALSON
Treasurer

HERBERT LEVY
Secretary

BENJAMIN R. EPSTEIN
National Director

BERNARD NATH
Chairman, Executive Committee

PAUL H. SAMPLINER
Vice-Chairman, Executive Committee

•

PHILIP M. KLUTZNICK
President, B'nai B'rith

MAURICE BISGYER
Executive Vice-President, B'nai B'rith

ROBERT L. ARONSON
MELVIN A. BLOCK
WILLIAM P. BLOOM
DAVID COLEMAN
MAURICE N. DANNENBAUM
SAMUEL DAROFF
HENRY EPSTEIN
SAMUEL L. FENDEL
HERMAN FINEBERG
JOSEPH M. FINKLE
JEROME J. FRIEDMAN
EDWARD GOLDBERGER
FRANK GOLDMAN
ABE GOLDSTEIN
BENJAMIN GREENBERG
LESTER GUTTERMAN
SAMUEL J. HALPREN
JOHN HORWITZ
IRVING R. KAUFMAN
MRS. HY KORNBLEET
HAROLD LACHMAN
MRS. ARTHUR G. LAUFMAN
RICHARD M. LEDERER, JR.
DAVID H. LITTER
LOUIS MATUSOFF
EDWARD MILLER
PHILIP MITCHEL
ALAN R. MORSE
STANLEY MOSK
NORMAN NEWHOUSE
DAVID A. ROSE
EDWARD ROSENBLUM
MRS. ARTHUR G. ROSENBLUTH
NELSON STAMLER
MORRIS L. STRAUCH
MRS. HARRY STRAUSS
GEORGE J. TALIANOFF
ALLAN TARSHISH
SAMUEL TARSHIS
MRS. LEONORE D. UNDERWOOD
MRS. HYMAN C. WEISMAN
MRS. ALBERT WOLDMAN
HARRY YUDKOFF
LOUIS ZARA
Commissioners

•

STAFF DIRECTORS

NATHAN C. BELTH
Press Relations

OSCAR COHEN
Program

ARNOLD FORSTER
Civil Rights

ALEXANDER F. MILLER
Community Service

J. HAROLD SAKS
Administration

LESTER J. WALDMAN
Executive Assistant

RECEIVED MAY 15 1959

May 13, 1959

Dr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

Delighted that you will be coming to the meeting of the SSSP. Of course I was aware that you were No. 1 on the invitation list.

The meeting will begin at 11a.m., Friday, May 22nd at the New York Ethical Culture Society, 2 West 64th Street.

We have made reservations for you and Les Dunbar at the Henry Hudson Hotel, 353 West 57th Street. That's near 8th Avenue, I believe.

Look forward to seeing you.

Warmest regards.

Oscar Cohen

OC
ms

VIA AIR MAIL

May 14, 1959

Dr. Richard A. Schermerhorn
Department of Sociology
Western Reserve University
Cleveland 6, Ohio

Dear Dr. Schermerhorn:

Following the suggestion made in your recent letter, yesterday I got together with Dr. Walter Chivers of Atlanta University, Mr. Robert Thompson of the Atlanta Urban League, and Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar, the Southern Regional Council's director of research.

We do not know how tight the schedule of next week's meeting may be. But it was our collective feeling that -- time and agenda permitting -- it would be desirable to have at least two presentations by Southerners, representing two distinct approaches; that is, one by a social scientist in an academic situation and one by a practitioner in the field of intergroup relations. Of course, such remarks as I make will be from the latter perspective.

In our hour or so together, we tried to identify some of the strategic aspects of the segregation-desegregation situation in the South that invite research. Here, I will attempt no more than a rough topical listing, as follows:

(1) The role of the social scientist in the field of strategy and social action -- helping to define alternative approaches, interpreting prior experiences and relevant research findings to community leaders, etc.

(2) Studies of Negro leadership patterns within various types of communities. How decisions are made, coordination or the lack of it, complementary or conflicting roles, how status is derived, the degree to which "rank-and-file" attitudes are reflected and influenced, etc.

(3) Comparable studies of white leadership patterns regarding race relations.

(4) Further investigation of the role of economic institutions and leaders in the determination of racial policies; economic leverages that Negroes can effectively exert; national "power structures" that may influence Southern leadership, etc.

(5) The growth of the urban Negro "middle-class" -- dynamics, means of accelerating it, implications for social action.

(6) Motivational research -- better understanding of the causes and possible cures of "apathy" and inertia within the Negro group; more studies of the interplay of conflicting values which determine the responses of white Southerners to pressures for racial change.

(7) Intra-racial communication and conflict -- recognizing that the desegregation controversy increasingly reflects differences in philosophy and strategy within each of the racial groups.

(8) Studies showing in depth and detail the intricate involvement of the whole national society with the pattern of race relations deriving from the South. This requires no especially new research, but rather the scholarly synthesis of generally well-known facts. Such a subject, for example, as segregated housing has consequences for education, city planning, the economy of the central city, crime, etc; it is influenced by the policies and practices of the national government, insurance companies and banks. Another example of a similar study would be of the factors determining the policies of life insurance companies toward Negro applicants, and the social effects of those policies.

I hope this very hasty and sketchy outline will be of some help, and I am looking forward to seeing you next week.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf
cc: Professor Jessie Bernard

ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE

Of B'nai B'rith

515 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK 22, N. Y., PLaza 1-1800

NATIONAL COMMISSION

HENRY EDWARD SCHULTZ
Chairman

MEIER STEINBRINK
Honorary Chairman

BARNEY BALABAN
A. G. BALLENGER
HERBERT H. LEHMAN
LEON LOWENSTEIN
WILLIAM SACHS
BENJAMIN SAMUELS
MELVIN H. SCHLESINGER
JESSE STEINHART
Honorary Vice-Chairmen

JOSEPH COHEN
JEFFERSON E. PEYSER
MAX J. SCHNEIDER
Vice-Chairmen

BENJAMIN GREENBERG
Treasurer

HERBERT LEVY
Secretary

BENJAMIN R. EPSTEIN
National Director

BERNARD NATH
Chairman, Executive Committee

PAUL H. SAMPLINER
Vice-Chairman, Executive Committee

•

PHILIP M. KLUTZNICK
President, B'nai B'rith

MAURICE BISGYER
Executive Vice-President, B'nai B'rith

ROBERT L. ARONSON
WILLIAM P. BLOOM
DAVID COLEMAN
MAURICE N. DANNENBAUM
SAMUEL DAROFF
HENRY EPSTEIN
SAMUEL L. FENDEL
HERMAN FINEBERG
JOSEPH M. FINKLE
JEROME J. FRIEDMAN
EDWARD GOLDBERGER
FRANK GOLDMAN
ABE GOLDSTEIN
BENJAMIN GREENBERG
LESTER GUTTERMAN
SAMUEL J. HALPREN
IRVING R. KAUFMAN
MRS. HY KORNBLEET
HAROLD LACHMAN
MRS. ARTHUR G. LAUFMAN
RICHARD M. LEDERER, JR.
DAVID H. LITTER
IRVING LOUIS
LOUIS MATUSOFF
EDWARD MILLER
PHILIP MITCHEL
ALAN R. MORSE
NORMAN NEWHOUSE
DAVID A. ROSE
EDWARD ROSENBLUM
MRS. ARTHUR G. ROSENBLUTH
NELSON STAMLER
MORRIS L. STRAUCH
MRS. HARRY STRAUSS
SIDNEY SUGARMAN
GEORGE J. TALIANOFF
ALLAN TARSHISH
SAMUEL TARSHIS
LEONORE D. UNDERWOOD
MRS. HYMAN C. WEISMAN
MRS. ALBERT WOLDMAN
HARRY YUDKOFF
LOUIS ZARA

STAFF DIRECTORS

NATHAN C. BELTH
Press Relations

OSCAR COHEN
Program

ARNOLD FORSTER
Civil Rights

ALEXANDER F. MILLER
Community Service

J. HAROLD SAKS
Administration

LESTER J. WALDMAN
Executive Assistant

RECEIVED MAY 18 1959

May 15, 1959

Dr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Harold:

I suppose that you know that you are making a presentation at the SSSP conference? Probably on Friday you will give them an overview of the present situation in the South.

Warmest regards.

Sincerely yours,

Oscar

Oscar Cohen

OC
ms

HCF
Checked & added all not on a list to Research
list
MA

LWD

Did you get one of these. Might be useful for selected distributions.

HCF

MA - are the ~~people~~ owners checked on any of our mailing lists? if not, add to Research list

File

RECEIVED JUN 22 1959

CONFERENCE ON STRATEGY OF DESEGREGATION

The Society for the Study of Social Problems
May 22 through May 24, 1959
Ethical Culture Society, 2 West 64 Street, New York City

PARTICIPANTS

William Bagwell, American Friends Service Comm., 1818 S. Main St., High Point, N.C.
Warren M. Banner, National Urban League, 14 E. 48 St., New York 17, N. Y.
Jessie Bernard, 608 West Fairmount, State College, Pa.
Algernon Black, Ethical Culture Society, 2 W. 64 St., New York, N. Y.
Herbert Block, 1624 Wales Ave., Baldwin, L.I., N. Y.
JC on list ✓Will D. Campbell, National Council of Churches, 1716 West End Ave., Nashville, Tenn.
R ✓Walter Chivers, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.
Ethel Christiansen, National Board, YWCA, 600 Lexington Ave., New York 22, N.Y.
✓Oscar Cohen, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, 515 Madison Ave., N.Y. 22, NY.
IA ? ✓A. Lee Coleman, Univ. of Kentucky, Lexington 29, Ky. (presently on leave at Univ. of North Carolina, Chapel Hill)
? ✓Martin Deutsch, 465 West End Ave., New York, N. Y.
? ✓Dan Dodson, New York Univ., Center for Human Relations Studies, Washington Sq., New York 3, N. Y.
Leslie Dunbar, Southern Regional Council, 63 Auburn Ave., N.E., Atlanta 3, Ga.
Favorable ✓James Evans, Defense Dept., 3A-914 Pentagon Bldg., Washington 25, D.C.
IA ✓Jean Fairfax, American Friends Service Comm., 20 S. 12 Street, Philadelphia 7, Pa.
Harold Fleming, Southern Regional Council, 63 Auburn Ave., N.E., Atlanta 3, Ga.
? ✓Paul B. Foreman, University of Alabama, Box 6126, University, Ala.
Johan Galtung, Columbia University, New York 27, N. Y.
R- ✓Mary Ellen Goodman, White House Conference on Children & Youth, 330 Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. Now Houston, Texas
JC on list George Grier, N.Y. State Commission Against Discrimination, 270 Broadway, N.Y., N.Y.
✓John Hope, Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.
Paul B. Horton, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Robert Johnson, Nat. Conf. of Christians & Jews, 43 W. 57 St., New York, N.Y.
? ✓Butler A. Jones, Ohio Wesleyan Univ., Delaware, Ohio
David J. Kallen, Baltimore Council of Social Agencies, 22 Light St., Balti. 2, Md.
? ✓Otto Klineberg, Columbia University, New York 27, N. Y.
J.C. on list } William Korey, ADL, 1640 Rhode Island Ave., N.W. Washington 6, D.C.
J. Oscar Lee, National Council of Churches, 297 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Alfred E. Levin, American Jewish Committee, 386 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
J.C. on list } Mrs. Marguerite Levy, National Council of Churches, 297 Fourth Ave., New York, N.Y.
John Morsell, N.A.A.C.P., 20 West 40th St., New York 18, N. Y.
Earl H. Nash, Jr., Johns Hopkins Hospital (HPPC), Baltimore 5, Md.
Lionel Newsom, Southern University, Baton Rouge, La.
R ✓Mrs. Setsuko M. Nishi, National Council of Churches, 297 Fourth Ave., New York, NY
J.C. on list } Mrs. Olga Northwood, 635 High St., Newark, N. J.
Frederick D. Patterson, Phelps-Stokes Fund, 101 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y.
Benjamin Ringer, American Jewish Committee, 386 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
? ✓R. A. Schermerhorn, Western Reserve University, Cleveland 6, Ohio
R — ✓June Shagaloff, N.A.A.C.P., Legal Defense Dept., 10 Columbus Circle, New York, N.Y.
R — ✓Robert A. Thompson, Atlanta Urban League, 239 Auburn Ave., N.E., Atlanta 3, Ga.
R — ✓Melvin M. Tumin, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey
Leon Goldstein, American Jewish Committee, 386 Fourth Ave., New York, N.Y.
Peter Rose, Goucher College, Towson, Baltimore 4, Md.

RECEIVED MAY 21 1959

THE STRATEGY OF DESEGREGATION

Program Sponsored by
The Society for the Study of Social Problems
Friday, May 22 through Sunday, May 24
Ethical Culture Society, 2 West 64 Street, New York City

Friday morning	11:00 a.m. to 12 noon	Introduction. Officers of S.S.S.P.
Friday afternoon	2:00 p.m.	Harold Fleming. Overview of the changing situation in the South. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.
	4:00 p.m.	Martin Deutsch. Strategy suggestions for action research. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.
Saturday morning	9:00 a.m. to 12 noon	Case history session. William Korey of ADL on Arlington, Virginia; Tartt Bell or William Bagwell of American Friends Service Committee; Johan Galtung of Columbia University; Ernest Campbell of University of North Carolina. Discussion led by Dan Dodson
Saturday afternoon	1:30 p.m.	Melvin Tumin. Summary of research on desegregation for the past year. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.
	3:00 p.m.	Jessie Bernard. Suggestions for New Explorations in Research on Desegregation. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.
Sunday morning	10:00 a.m.	Lee Coleman. Research at the University of North Carolina on Desegregation. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.
Sunday afternoon	1:30 p.m.	Report of committee on strategy suggestions and new research projects arising from conference sessions. Plans for follow-up. Discussion led by Dan Dodson.

May 23, 1960

Mr. Paul Foreman
Professor of Sociology
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
University of Alabama
University, Alabama

Dear Mr. Foreman:

It is good of you to think of me in connection with the annual meeting of the SSSP. If you feel that my contribution will be of sufficient value to warrant the cost of getting me there, I shall be happy to accept.

I am glad that you have scheduled a session on "Sit-ins and the Strategy of Race Relations," for we need to do some new and heavy thinking about the meaning of this development for our future activities. I would welcome any guidance you might give as to the presentation or background materials that would be most useful.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
UNIVERSITY, ALABAMA

DEPARTMENT OF
SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

May 19, 1960

Mr. Harold Fleming
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I have just drawn responsibility for program of the sections of the Committee on Intergroup Relations in the annual meeting of the Society for the Study of Social Problems at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in New York, August 26 and 27, 1960.

Would you do me the very great favor of being our keynoter in a session planned for 10-11:15 a.m., August 26 to speak on "Sit-ins and the Strategy of Race Relations, 1960"? I know that the Council has done the basic work on this and I would very much like to have you present it to the SSSP. Peter Rose will present the annual research census at the same meeting. We want you to have the spotlight alone in presenting this material. You can plan on forty minutes. I will squeeze time for you if you need it. If you would like to have materials duplicated as handouts for the session, I will be glad to have them processed if you can get them to me no later than August 1.

Yours cordially,

Paul Foreman

Paul B. Foreman
Professor of Sociology

PBF: jm

June 1, 1960

Mr. Paul Foreman
Professor of Sociology
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
University of Alabama
University, Alabama

Dear Mr. Foreman:

Thanks for your further letter about the annual meeting of the SSSP. Of course, it is very much in line with SRC's interest to be represented there. The reason I raised the question of expenses is that we are planning to send Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar, our director of research, whom I believe you met last year. Les is the member of our staff who is best equipped to benefit from the sessions. Much as I would like to, our budget doesn't justify the expenses of two representatives.

In view of all this, I strongly nominate Les for the job you invited me to do. He prepared our reports on the sit-in protest and I know of no one who is more knowledgeable and more thoughtful on this subject. I have spoken with him and find that he would be willing to make the presentation if you would like him to.

In any case, I hope to see you again some time in the near future.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

HCF/mf

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
UNIVERSITY, ALABAMA

DEPARTMENT OF
SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

May 25, 1960

Mr. Harold C. Fleming
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue N.E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I certainly do feel that your contribution as keynoter on sit-ins to the panels of the SSSP would be worth the cost of getting you to New York--and then some. But, I'm embarrassed to say, the Society has no funds for travel or honoraria. I hoped you would be covering the joint meetings of SSSP--American Sociological Society and particularly the Intergroup Relations meetings where a good deal of current research will be audited and the question of further extension of the annual research census will be discussed.

I'm setting up plans now for an informal group, somewhat like the one we attended a year ago in New York, for an evening session. I hope a number of the people who attended the last New York meeting will be there.

I do hope you can see your way clear to come, even under these conditions. If the Council just cannot carry the expense, would you consider sending a paper up for one of your friends who will be there to read?

Yours cordially,

Paul Foreman

Paul B. Foreman
Professor of Sociology

PBF: jm

Rec'd 6/29

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY PARK • PENNSYLVANIA

College of the Liberal Arts
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Sparks Building

June 18, 1962

Dr. Leslie Dunbar
Southern Regional Council
